Ward leaves Clay County's EMC

Will head operations, safety and security for county schools

By Wesley LeBlanc Staff Writer

GREEN COVE SPRINGS — Clay County's Emergency Management Director will leave his position at the end of April to become the Clay County School District's Director of Operations, Safety and Security.

John Ward will move into his new role following the retirement of Bruce Harvin. Ward's experience in county security, particularly with schools, should make for an easy transition, he said.

Fair soars into action

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The only sounds coming from the Clay County Fairgrounds Wednesday morning were the occasion clangs of wrenches tightening bolts and delivery trucks dropping off an assortment of foods that will be battered and deep-fried during the next 10 days.

The Tilt-A-Whirl was neither titling or whirling. The Typhoon was hardly a whisper. And the new Space Port was still a day away from launch.

But that all changed Thursday.

"At this point, if we don't have it ready to go, it's not happening," said fair general manager Tasha Hyder. "We're ready to roll out the green carpet."

Listen and Learn tour provides answers to lingering school questions

By Wesley LeBlanc Staff Writer

FLEMING ISLAND – In an effort to help the public further understand school security as it relates to the school district's new police department, Superintendent Addison Davis started a "Listen and Learn" tour around the county. His first stop was at Fleming Island High on March 28.

Thirty residents attended the first of seven stops. Most of the session, Davis explained the ins and outs of the school district's police department as well as the admittedly expedited timeline that saw this department come to fruition.

"As we talk about a timeline, one may say, 'this has been somewhat expedited and it's moving in a fast direction,' and I will tell you openly, I do not disagree," Davis said. "This is something I've told everyone: it's a tall order. However, it's a step in the right direction for our students. As Superintendent, my job is to implement and plan initiatives and we had to move at an expedited rate to make these initiatives happen."

The police department was approved by the majority of the school board earlier this year. The Clay County Sheriff's Office will be out at the end of the current school year. However, Chief of Police Kenneth Wagner made it very clear the school district police department will maintain a working relationship with CCSO.

"In May, I'm going to start the [Mutual Understanding Agreements] that we'll enter into with Orange Park Police Department, Florida Department of Law Enforcement, [CCSO] and Green Cove Springs Police Department because we do have to establish those relationships," Wagner said.

A lot of the information presented by Davis and Wagner during the Listen and Learn session already had been released. There was some new information to glean out of it such as the fact that according to Davis, he met with CCSO six times to determine how to keep CCSO in Clay County schools.

However, void of a compromise that worked for the school board's budget in time, the board voted to move forward with the school district police department.

Previously, Davis and his staff had discussed other options with CCSO to keep CCSO in schools, but it wasn't known until the Listen and Learn they had met six times. Following Davis and Wagner's presentation, attendees could write questions on cards for Davis and Wagner to answer. The first question asked was about salaries for the school district officers and whether their previous salaries would be matched.

"Yes, we will match salaries," Davis said. "Nobody that comes from a different department to work for us will be losing money."

Other questions concerned future taxes, which Davis said won't increase since the recent millage increase will provide enough funds for the police department, and guardians. Davis vowed they'll answer every question they receive at these Listen and Learn sessions.

Following the question and answer section of the session, Davis closed with a few final words.

"I'll tell you openly and honestly, our job with this organization, this police department, will be focused on being visible, focused on prevention, focused on enforcement and focused on engagement," Davis said. "That will be the priority of this division and to make sure they have a high standard every single day to protect our students."

Bill Breese spent 30 years in Jackson-ville working with the school board as an infrastructure and information technology technician. He found himself heavily invested in security and safety of schools with so many students, teachers and administrators. Before the Listen and Learn, Breese wasn't exactly sure how he felt about the school district police department.

"I wanted to see what the plan was," Breese said. "If you're going to start a police department, there are certain things you have to do. I don't think I care whether you have your own police department or not, as long as what you put in place is capable of doing what it needs to do, and I think my major concern is that we prevent the threat before it shows up on the schoolhouse door.

"If we wait until somebody shows up with a gun, then the whole system is failing."

Following the Listen and Learn session, Breese said he felt more confident in the school board police department, but he still wants to learn more. He also attended the April 1 session at Oakleaf High.

The next Listen and Learn is on April 16 at Keystone Junior/Senior High, followed by one at Orange Park High on April 19. After those, there will be a session on April 23 at Ridgeview High and on April 24 at Middleburg High. The final Listen and Learn will take place on April 30 at Clay High.

All meetings start at 6 p.m.

Ward

"I've been involved with planning, training and exercises that [Clay County] has continually done with the school district," Ward said. "Even before all of this that has surfaced recently [school security following the Parkland shooting], we've trained on active shooter incidents, worked with administrators on planning and Bruce Harvin was the director of safety and security then. He's retired so this position became open, and I've always had an interest in school safety so it's really just bringing skills and lessons learned to the district to help them improve even more."

Ward was an obvious choice due to his history and skillset with the district, school superintendent Addison Davis said.

"He's a significant plus for us," Davis said. "He is bringing such a rich history and knowledge and set of skills. Bringing him on only makes us stronger as an organization."

Ward will come in at a unique time as a director of security, among other things, as the school district is currently completing its efforts towards having its very own police department.

Because Ward will be involved with school safety, he'll be working side-by-side with the department's Chief of Police, Kenneth Wagner, according to Davis.

Ward is excited to work with Wagner and the school district's police department, but he also plans to work with many others.

"We will not only work side-by-side with [Wagner] but side-by-side with emergency management, fire and rescue, the sheriff's office and city police departments," Ward said. "It's an all-hands-on-deck if something is happening. It's a one-team one-fight mindset so all of those organizations will be more partners in the fold of work here."

Ward will be determining district response plans to fires, storms and emergency situations or a threat to security. Because each school has its own geographical location and structure build, each school requires a meticulously detailed plan to ensure the safety of everyone at the school. Ward and his staff will also be assisting the effort to make plans for and train teachers.

"We are really going to be continuing that training and planning for our teachers and administrators," he said. "Teachers and administrators are there to teach – we want them there to teach our kids – but they might be a first responder if a storm came through or something like that. We want them to know what to do, to know how to react until the actual first responders got there"

Davis sees Ward as not only a great hire for the position, but a great win for the school district's overall security.

"Bringing on John Ward just further tells us that we're doing the right things and that great people want to come work with this organization," Davis said. "This just strengthens and validates that safety is our priority. We have individuals ready and geared up to protect our students."

On the county side of things, Interim Clay County Manager Lorin Mock said that Ward's notice date was April 30, which lines up with Ward's start date with the school district in May.

Similar to the county's current search for a new County Manager, the county will select someone to serve as an Interim Emergency Management Director.

Fortunately for the county, though, Ward won't be leaving his position high and dry, he said.

"[Davis] has offered to allow me to meet and assist over here [Clay County] until they get that position filled," Ward said. "They're not being left high and dry. I'll still be involved in the community and like I said, I built this program here, so I wouldn't want to leave them like that."

Sheriff warns about sexual violence: Get hands off or put hands up

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – For most of the time he talked on April 1, Clay County Sheriff Darryl Daniels read from a prepared proclamation. But what was said off-script made a more-profound statement "I'm sick and tired of guys putting their hands on females," he said. "For those that can't keep your hands off your significant others, your days are numbered. Guys, stop putting your hands on women. If you can't, come to Clay County and we'll talk about it like grown men."

There were 295 reported sexual assaults in Clay County last year, the sheriff's office said. While some charges are dropped, the growing number of reported sexual and domestic assaults were a reason the county's reported crime rate increased by five percent last year.

"The stats are somewhat up," said sheriff spokesman Chris Padgett, "but in my opinion, it's because we've brought education, resources and support to the forefront."

Jennifer Rodriguez, Quigley House's director of sexual assault service, agreed.

"I don't think there's more assaults," she said. "It's just a safer climate to come forward. Women aren't as afraid. There was a time when women didn't feel comfortable coming forward. Now, they know they have a place to go. This behavior isn't acceptable."

Daniels vowed to defend anyone who's been victimized

"In Clay County, we take a stance on crime," he said. "Sexual assault and domestic violence, that's a crime, too. And, we're just as firm and committed to preventing that crime just like any crime in Clay County. That's a problem not only in Clay County, but across this country. When I grew up, men didn't do that."

Quigley House offers support in the county for teen dating violence, teen safety plans, sexual assaults and protection for the LBGT community. According to information provided by Quigley House, there are more than 20,000 calls placed every day to domestic violence hotlines nationally.

Changes needed to bill to allow state to regulate short-term rentals

By Scott Powers

FloridaPolitcs.com

The sponsor of a bill to pre-empt local government regulation of vacation rental homes was approved by a House appropriations subcommittee April 1 after its sponsor state Rep. James Grant promised there would be some significant changes before the next stop.

Grant, a Republican from Oldsmar, assured the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Government Operations and Technology that he intends to make major changes to the bill to give the Florida Department of Business and Professional Regulation authority to oversee vacation rentals, particularly to enforce rules against "bad actors."

With that, despite much of the opposition that had helped kill similar vacation rental bills in recent years, from local governments, hotel interests, and others, the panel voted with a split vote to move the bill along to the Commerce Committee. House Bill 987, as written, would eliminate existing city and county ordinances that would specifically regulate, limit or prohibit people from renting out homes as short-term vacation rentals.

(Orange Park Town Council acknowledge the lack of state guidelines during its March 5 meeting, saying it essentially was powerless to create any regulations.)

"There will be significant policy work done on this package," Grant told the committee, pointing out that such changes will have to be brought to a policy committee. "It is a complex and complicated issue ... There are things that I do not like in the bill. There are things that other stakeholders do not like in the bill."

Particularly, Grant said he wants to see the provisions in HB 987 that would eliminate grandfathered local ordinances and regulations revisited, and that he is talking with DBPR Secretary Halsey Beshears about ways that department could address "bad actors" in the vacation rental business, and that he would have the resources to do so

Grant expressed frustration that opponents have talked about all the grand-fathered ordinances that would be invalidated, yet that no one has offered them to him or anyone else to review, and he urged stakeholders to bring them forth and come to the table to talk about them.

Yet Grant remained emphatic about the goals of the bill: deregulating vacation rentals at the local level, supporting property rights of vacation rental homeowners, and supporting the rising economy of individual

Shaq and I: A tale of respect, trust and an overloaded Taurus

After covering sports for nearly 45 years, the question I get asked the most is: who was my favorite person to write about? Since I've covered more than 850 NASCAR races, 500 NBA, 100 NFL, 50 Major League Baseball and thousands of college and high school games, I can't pick just one.

But there are a few that really stand out.

It should be no surprise Shaquille O'Neal would be high on the list. He is a lot of fun. You've seen him on the set covering the NBA on TNT, and you've seen his commercials. What I can tell you is, that's not an act. He really is that playful and genuine.

When he was a rookie with the Orlando Magic in 1993, he asked me if I'd like to spend the day with him to see what it's like to be the biggest man – literally – in town. Of course, I said yes.

I drove him around in my Ford Taurus all afternoon with his knees pressed against my windshield. We went to practice and to a pizza joint. We picked up his dry cleaning and made a stop at Home Depot. Later in the afternoon, I told him I needed to pick my son up from elementary school. Although his school was across town, Shaq wanted to ride with me instead of going home.

When we got to Cheney Elementary, he uncoiled from the front seat and yelled, "Where's little Don?" Hundreds of children went into a frenzy. So did the teachers. My son eventually worked his way through the crowd, climbed into the backseat with Shaq holding the door open for him, knowing he had just become the coolest kid in the fifth grade.

All three of us then drove to Dennis Scott's house. Scott was drafted by the Magic a year earlier out of Georgia Tech, and he and Shaq were good friends. Scott, Shaq and my son shot pool until it was time to go home.

Twenty-five years later, my son ran into Shaq in Atlanta. He started to tell him of spending the afternoon with him and Scott when Shaq interrupted and said, "You're not little Don, are you?" Yes, Shaq remembered. And yes, it was little Don – only he's now 36 and not-so-little.

Of course, there's a large degree of luck and skill to build a long career that allows you to work with superstars, and I've certainly had more than my share. At the same time, I've learned that if you treat people with respect, they will do the same.

rentals being marketed worldwide through such platforms as Airbnb and HomeAway.

The platforms have enabled individual houses or condominium units to become competitors with hotels, motels, and traditional bed-and-breakfasts, which have been pushing for regulation that could at least hold them accountable for safety and sanitation rules the traditional lodging establishments face. Similar arguments had emerged from taxicab companies in the face of platform-driven Uber and Lyft businesses, and now also from rental car companies in the rise of individual car rental platforms like Turo.

"The notion of tech-enabled services is an issue that we as legislators cannot hide from. And so there have been attempts to try to define what a platform is ... and start regulating inside all of these different industries, rather than simply understanding that tech-enabled services are not only a massive portion of the economy of tomorrow, they are an increasing portion of the economy of today," Grant said. "We can protect the entrenched stakeholder, or we can allow for innovation."

That nonetheless still brings the complaints and concerns of local governments that houses or condos here or there becoming vacation rentals have at least occasionally led to profound disruptions in neighborhoods and municipalities, with horror stories ranging from out-of-control parties to porn-movie filming.

Grant argued that if the same complaints keep coming up since the Florida Legislature first began restricting and trying to eliminate local regulations in 2012, it suggests to him that the local governments are failing at controlling them anyway. And he argued that most, if not all, of the complaints should and could be addressed through normal local laws about such problems as noise, drinking, drugs, parking or other troublesome behaviors.

On Monday, lobbyists for homeowners associations and condo associations groups added the concern that, contrary to Grant's assurances, they are convinced that the bill also could bring challenges to HOA and condo association restrictions against vacation rentals.

OPMC Surgical Services awarded Excellence in Nursing

For Clay Today

ORANGE PARK – Orange Park Medical Center earned Unit of Distinction in an annual program that recognizes and rewards exemplary nursing units at HCA Healthcare facilities.

Their Surgical Services team was ranked No. 10 in the county across all HCA Healthcare facilities. HCA Healthcare is made up of 185 hospitals and 119 freestanding surgery centers across 21 states and the United Kingdom. The hospital's three South nursing units that focuses on medical surgical care was also ranked in the top 10 percent of HCA Healthcare, receiving honorable mention for the award.

Kathy Hester, OPMC's Chief Nursing Officer says the recipients were selected based on a number of different measures including the quality of patient care, staff engagement, education and patient satisfaction.

OPMC is dedicated to providing support to all nurses from the bedside to the board-room through professional development, investments in technology and a commitment to helping nurses deliver excellent care to patients.

"The Unit of Distinction Award recognizes and celebrates excellence in nursing and acknowledges that it takes a high-per-

Also, whether you're working a Super Bowl or standing on the sidelines for a Friday night high school football game, the real secret is to take the conversation into a more-comfortable topic.

If you're an accountant, the last thing you want to do is balance a checkbook when you get home. Some mechanics I know, especially in NASCAR, have someone else change their oil. If you've just spent the last eight hours doing "scattered, smothered and covered" over a hot grill, the last thing you want to do is go home and cook dinner.

The same goes for superstars.

If you're talking to Michael Jordan, that means talking about golf and golf courses. If you're former Atlanta Braves manager Bobby Cox, you talk about NASCAR. If you're actor Patrick Dempsey, you talk about sports-car racing. If you're seventime NASCAR champion Jimmie Johnson, you talk about physical fitness. (In fairness, I really don't contribute a lot to that conversation). If you're the late Payne Stewart, you talked about the Orlando Magic or his daughter's volleyball team. If you're NASCAR driver Brad Keselowski, you talk about the Detroit Red Wings.

And away from the track, the late Dale Earnhardt would rather talk about his fried chicken recipe than his race car.

Most of my working relationships were made long before social media evolved. Before Twitter, Instagram and Facebook, both sides understood the difference of being "at work" and being "off duty." More important, both sides understood and respected the difference, and rarely did we cross the line.

Now it's so difficult to create a friendly working relationship since every word, every action, is subject to being shared by millions in just a matter of seconds. Communications now are done in 140 characters or less, and in the process, we lose the opportunity to make the kinds of personal connections that sometimes leads to an afternoon with Shaquille O'Neal.

For me, I'll just keep asking questions and telling stories. And who knows? Maybe I'll have a great tale to tell about us some day.

Drugs, cash, weapons seized in massive Orange Park SWAT raid

By Don Coble Managing Editor

ORANGE PARK – A woman had just stepped into her garage just after noon on March 28 when she was terrified by an incursion of military-like trucks and swarms of police running past her house.

Moments later, she heard several loud bangs.

"It was scary," she said. "When I saw those two big trucks, I didn't know what was going on. Then, here they came. They were walking and running. Some were in green [fatigues]. Some were in uniform." Officers from the Clay County Sheriff's Office's SWAT team and Organized Crime Unit, Department of Homeland Security and U.S. Postal Inspection Service were there to raid a home in the Secret Harbor neighborhood off College Street.

Three men soon then were arrested after officers found drugs, cash and guns in the home.

A day later, several windows still were knocked out and were boarded up, but neighbors were relieved.

"I'm a mother," said another woman.
"I'm glad they're gone."

Neither women wanted to be identified.

Nearly 50 years in the making, Clay County welcomes home Vietnam War veterans

By Don Coble

Managing Editor

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Retired U.S. Air Force Col. William "Bill" G. Byrns was tortured and beaten when he was held prisoner for 309 days during the Vietnam War

But his pain continued for nearly another 50 years after he returned home by a society that seemingly forgot, if not ignored and demeaned, the soldiers who fought in one of the country's most-unpopular wars.

The inaugural Vietnam Veterans Day Ceremony March 30 at the TAPS Monument was, at long last, a way to finally say, "Welcome Home."

Byrns, of Fleming Island, spoke to several hundred veterans and friends. His voice was strong, his commitment to his mission never wavered. A pair of passing trains couldn't keep him from telling a story of proudly serving his country – even if it wasn't always popular.

"I got in the military because my dad was in the military," he said. "I grew up in a family who was unapologetically patriotic.

"I'm just a fighter pilot, not a speaker." President Donald Trump declared March 29 as National Vietnam War Veterans Day in 2017.

"Today is a day of healing for all of us," said Gary Newman, past president of the Clay County Chapter 1059 of the Vietnam Veterans of America. "Today, we all come together as one family. Yes, it's been a long time. What's really relevant is this isn't an isolated event. As a combat veteran, all I can say is thank you to our nation and to our president."

Others were there to say, "thank you" and "welcome home," too. A busload of veterans from Moosehaven were special guests, as well as Clay County Commission chairman Mike Cella, Clay County Sheriff's Office, Green Cove Police Department and 14 members of the Patriot Guard, a group that originally was formed to block military funeral protests from the Westboro Baptist Church.

"This took a long time -50 years for some of us," said David Treffinger, president of the VVA's Clay County Chapter.

"We're finally being accepted. It's good to say, 'welcome home.'"

The TAPS monument honors fallen Clay County soldiers dating back to the Civil War. With 21 fallen soldiers, the Vietnam War, which lasted from Nov. 1, 1955 to May 15, 1975, was the deadliest in county history. Nationally, 58,320 died, and there currently are 1,600 who still are listed as missing in action.

"This is a story that needs to be told," Cella said. "Some Americans turned their back on you, but you never turned your back on America.

"Welcome home. And well done."

When Byrns spoke, it was 46 years and two days after he won his release from the notorious Hanoi Hilton prison camp during Operation Homecoming. He was shot down

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT FOR CAMP BLANDING JOINT TRAINING CENTER REAL PROPERTY MASTER PLAN AND CONSTRUCTION AND OPERATION OF A NEW READINESS CENTER

DESCRIPTION: Interested parties are hereby notified that the Florida Army National Guard (FLARNG) has prepared a final Environmental Assessment (EA) and draft Finding of No Significant Impact (FNSI) regarding the Proposed Action described below.

STATUTORY AUTHORITY: This notice is being issued to all interested parties in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) of 1969, the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) regulations for implementing the procedural provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act (40 Code of Federal Regulations [CFR] Parts 1500–1508) and Environmental Analysis of Army Actions (32 CFR Part 651).

PROPOSED ACTION: This EA evaluates the potential environmental, cultural, and socioeconomic effects of approving the Camp Blanding Joint Training Center's (CBJTC) Real Property Master Plan (RPMP) consistent with the military use of CBJTC and the goals and objectives established in Department of Defense's (DoD) Unified Facilities Criteria (UFC) 2-100-01. This EA also evaluates the implementation of one project: the construction and operation of a new Readiness Center, which is the number one priority on the FLARNG Infrastructure Requirement Plan The RPMP will inform future planning and programming decisions for real property construction, renovation, maintenance, and repair at CBJTC over the near-term (within 5 years) and long-term (5-25 year) planning horizon. The CBJTC RPMP is needed to be in compliance with DoD's Master Planning standard, UFC 2-100-01. ARNG issued a memorandum to the ARNG Construction and Facility Management Officers, in December 2015, outlining requirements for the preparation of UFC 2-100-01 compliant RPMPs for 48 specified training installations by 1 October 2018. The RPMP will also guide the FLARNG through the development of CBJTC in a clear, sustainable manner that supports current missions, preserves long-term military capabilities, supports the DoD's mission, and enriches the community it serves.

The new Readiness Center is needed to remedy problems at existing facilities which are overcrowded, lack adequate functional space and are outdated. This project entails the construction and operation of a new approximately 100,000 square feet Readiness Center with associated parking lots, access roads, sidewalks and fencing, located on an approximately 25-acre parcel within the northeast portion of the Cantonment Area. The Readiness Center would serve as a gathering point for ARNG personnel and a mobilization platform during federal and state activation of ARNG troops. The Readiness Center would house three assigned units including the 927th CSSB, the 221st EOD and the 256th ASMC. These units, with approximately 180 service members in total, are housed within other facilities on CBITC and would be relocated to the new centralized facility. The new Readiness Center will consolidate these three units in a modern facility that would increase training and strategic capabilities and help CBJTC become a leading training installation for the FLARNG. The new Readiness Center would provide the necessary administrative, assembly, classroom. physical fitness, kitchen, storage, and maintenance space for the three assigned units.

PUBLIC REVIEW: The EA will undergo a 30-day public comment period from 8 April to 8 May 2019 in accordance with 32 CFR § 651.14, Environmental Analysis of Army Actions. During this period, the public may submit comments on the EA. The EA can be accessed at the Clay County Library located at 175 Oriole Street, Keystone Heights, FL 32656. Persons interested in receiving copies of the EA or the FNSI may contact Matthew Welsh at (904) 823-0226.

COMMENTS: Comments on the EA are welcomed and should be submitted during the 30-day comment period to: Mr. Matthew Welsh, Environmental Specialist, Florida Army National Guard, Construction & Facilities Management Office, Environmental Branch, 2305 State Road 207, St. Augustine, Florida 32086, or via e-mail to matthew.e.welsh2. nfg@mail.mil requires a meticulously detailed plan to ensure the safety of everyone at the school. Ward and his staff will also be assisting the effort to make plans for and train teachers.

"We are really going to be continuing that training and planning for our teachers and administrators," he said. "Teachers and administrators are there to teach – we want them there to teach our kids – but they might be a first responder if a storm came through or something like that. We want them to know what to do, to know how to react until the actual first responders got there."

Davis sees Ward as not only a great hire for the position, but a great win for the school district's overall security.

"Bringing on John Ward just further tells us that we're doing the right things and that great people want to come work with this organization," Davis said. "This just strengthens and validates that safety is our priority. We have individuals ready and geared up to protect our students."

On the county side of things, Interim Clay County Manager Lorin Mock said that Ward's notice date was April 30, which lines up with Ward's start date with the school district in May. Similar to the county's current search for a new County Manager, the county will select someone to serve as an Interim Emergency Management Director.

Fortunately for the county, though, Ward won't be leaving his position high and dry he said

"[Davis] has offered to allow me to meet and assist over here [Clay County] until they get that position filled," Ward said. "They're not being left high and dry. I'll still be involved in the community and like I said, I built this program here, so I wouldn't want to leave them like that."

Three incumbents win re-election to Clay Electric's board

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS — Clay Electric Cooperative's members re-elected three members to the board of trustees during the co-op's 81st annual meeting on March 28

Incumbent Carl Hagglund of District 1, Jo Ann Smith of District 8 and Karen Hastings of District 9 were re-elected and did not face opposition. Members also approved amendments to the Cooperative's bylaws by a vote of 1,823 to 134.

The co-op estimated that approximately 2,000 people attended this year's annual meeting. Members who attended the day-long annual meeting enjoyed a grilled chicken lunch during the noon hour. They also had opportunities to visit information booths, talk with vendors at a variety of exhibits and listen to music under the big tent that was provided by bluegrass band Back from the Brink.

During the afternoon business session, General Manager/CEO Ricky Davis and Board President John Henry Whitehead spoke to the annual meeting crowd about the co-op's accomplishments in 2018. Davis said the co-op returned $12 million in Capital Credits to entitled members in March.

Whitehead spoke about the many unique benefits of being a member of a cooperative

Davis presented the co-op's annual

Employee Recognition Award to Patti Tyson, customer service representative in the Call Center. Tyson has worked for the co-op for 14 years and was nominated by co-workers for her dedication to excellent customer service.

Several members won $25 vote by mail credits, including John Wilson of Middleburg, Dan Hansen of Fleming Island, James Wais of Fleming Island, Suzanne Pierce of Middleburg, Mark Maxwell of Keystone Heights, Julie Ann Potts of Melrose, Kathy Brooks of Orange Park, Thomas Chase of Middleburg, Sherri Johnson of Green Cove Springs. GCS runs aground dealing with abandoned Gambit

By Nick Blank Staff Writer

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The city and the county have an 85-foot, $170,000 problem on the bank of the St. Johns River with a derelict vessel, the "Gambit."

According to city documents, Clay County officials applied for a 75-percent Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission grant to remove a Burger steel cabin cruiser run aground the Muddy Cove area. The cost of removal is $172,805.

The grant requires a 25-percent match, or $43,201.25, and the final grant agreement will go before county commissioners April 9

The county asked the city to "participate" up to $10,000 in assisting the county due to the boat's location. The county listed 10 derelict boats it removed since 2013. Most boat removals cost between $600-$38,000, though FWC offers reimbursement for some vessels. The total cost for the 10 removals, however, was $134,677.

you, you are not alone," said Anna Martinez-Mullen, CEO of Quigley House. "We are here for you. We have advocates that are highly trained and specialized and available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Actions define us, but most importantly, they shape the world around us. Speaking out against violence is necessary to end this epidemic and we ask you today to join us in ending violence in our community."

Daniels' proclamation read in part:

"We must work together to educate our community about sexual violence prevention, supporting survivors and speaking out against harmful attitudes and actions.

"Prevention is possible when everyone gets involved. The first step is increasing education, awareness and community involvement. It's time for all of us to take action to increase a safer environment for all.

"Today, I join Quigley House, advocates and communities across the country in taking action to prevent sexual violence. April is Sexual Assault Awareness Month, and each day of the year is an opportunity to create change for the future."

When he was finished reading, he made one final warning.

"Heed my words: Keep your hands off." For more information or to help, contact the Quigley House at (904) 284-0061 or at quigleyhouse.org or the National Domestic Violence hotline at thehotline.org or by calling (800) 799-7233.

School grants available to improve physical, emotional health

Schools want what's best for student health and academic success, and yet many lacks the necessary resources to implement high quality programs and activities to improve our students' physical and emotional health and their preparedness to learn.

Since 2009, Action for Healthy Kids has provided $8.7 million in grants and technical support to help schools achieve their student wellness goals. Now through April 5, schools and parents can apply for the following grants available for the 2019-2020 school year:

• Game On Grants: Secure funding and resources for your school to introduce or improve nutrition and physical activity programs. With a grant of $1,000 or more utilizing AFHK's flagship program, Game On, you can build a school garden, jump-start active recess, purchase physical education equipment, host taste tests, kick-off an after-school activity club, and so much more

- Parents for Healthy Kids Grants: Parents, here's your chance to make your mark on school health! Parents and parent-led groups (PTAs, PTOs) can apply for a $1,000 school grant to provide funds and resources to introduce or improve fitness or nutrition programs and engage families in health at school and at home. Help ensure all students have access to healthy choices
- School Breakfast Grants: Expand access to school breakfast for hungry and undernourished kids. Grants from $1,000 to $3,000 can support equipment and other resources needed to implement or expand Breakfast in the Classroom, Grab-and-Go Breakfast, or other alternative breakfast programs that help students start their day right.

For more information, visit http://www.actionforhealthykids.org/grants for more information and to learn how to apply.

Saint Leo University offering scholarships to Catholic seniors

ST. LEO - Saint Leo University announced it will offer a significant new scholarship to help make higher education more accessible to Catholic high school students in Florida.

Available for students beginning in the Fall 2019 Semester, the Catholic Promise Scholarship will award Florida students who have attended four years at a Catholic high school with an annual scholarship of $14,000 toward their tuition at Saint Leo University's main campus. The scholarship is renewable each year for up to four years and will provide up to $56,000 in financial aid by the time the student graduates. When combined with the Florida Effective Access to Student Education (EASE) grant of $3,500 per year and an annual $5,500 to $7,500 in Stafford Loans, Saint Leo University's annual tuition will be significantly reduced for recipients of the Catholic Promise Scholarship every year.

"As the first of its kind in Saint Leo history, the Catholic Promise Scholarship will effectively bring the cost of a high-quality, private, liberal-arts education within the reach of many Catholic high school students across the state of Florida," said Dr. Senthil Kumar, Saint Leo University vice president for University Campus Admissions & Center for Global Engagement.

To receive the scholarship, students must meet the following requirements: complete four years at a Catholic high school; have an unweighted 3.0 GPA; be a U.S. citizen and Florida resident; attend Saint Leo's main campus; live on campus for all four years; and, maintain a 2.5 GPA and full-time status while earning a degree. This commitment to promoting accessibility and affordability of Catholic higher education demonstrates Saint Leo's Benedictine core values, both as an institution and pillar of the Catholic community.

"As a Catholic Benedictine university, we place a high importance on serving others," said Saint Leo University President Jeffrey D. Senese. "This scholarship will serve Catholic students from all economic backgrounds, providing an opportunity for them to continue their education in the Catholic tradition."

Saint Leo University will hold a Catholic Promise Scholarship Open House on April 7, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., on its main campus at 33701 State Road 52, at St. Leo. Mass will be celebrated as part of the open house events at the Saint Leo Abbey Church at 10 a.m. There is no cost to attend the open house. To register call (352) 588-8283. Additional information about the Catholic Promise Scholarship may be found on the Saint Leo University website:https://www.saintleo.edu/campusscholarships.

And while she doesn't experience such direct bouts of racism and xenophobia today, she does find herself catching glances left and right from people passing by, people wondering if she's Latino, Greek or Middle Eastern.

While that day on the swings might not have been a direct causation, Reyes went to Florida State University, where she started her journey to pursue a career in law, specifically helping immigrants through the country's legal systems.

"I look very Hispanic, but I don't have an accent, so I've been able to swing by with people not really knowing who I am," Reyes said. "People are always confused about where I'm from because I don't have an accent, so I don't think I've experienced as much of that [racism] as an adult. There are those who have an accent and look like me that likely do, though.

"I immigrated to the States and my father petitioned for us, through work visa, my sister and [me]. A lot of my family was able to fix their statuses through the amnesty that President Reagan did those decades ago. So, my family, like many immigrant families, had mixed statuses — some were documented, and some were not — I kind of just grew up knowing that ... and my passion for immigration really developed in undergrad through this mentor. From there, I just dedicated everything else around immigration."

Now, years, later, Reyes is the owner and immigrant attorney of Reyes Legal, a Jacksonville-based legal office with arms that stretch deep to into Clay County. Reyes and her staff help immigrants make their way through the legal system, including deportation defense, family-based immigration and family reunions.

They also handle humanitarian visas

- Andrea Reyes

where individuals who are victims of crime, domestic violence and human trafficking are able to get help through immigration relief, she said, and they work with a lot of waivers. In Reyes Legal's five years, a lot has changed in the field of immigration.

"When I came into the practice of law in 2014, it was an absolutely different time," Reyes said. "President Obama, in November of 2014, laid out some things that he wanted ICE to focus on in terms of priorities for enforcement of deportation and he created these priorities that basically said, 'if you've been here undocumented 20 years, you've paid taxes, you have a family, you don't have any criminal record, then you're not a threat to our society. You are not a risk to the public."

Since then, things have changed.

"Under this new administration, in February of 2017, they immediately brought forward travel bans and a lot of changes to immigration policies," she said.

According to Reyes, the most devastating blow to the immigration community came when President Trump's administration took away Obama's priority enforcement for ICE. "There isn't priority enforcement for ICE anymore," Reyes said. "ICE is told that anyone is a priority to deport."

Beyond that, Reyes said that there is an overwhelming feeling throughout the immigration community that there is a systematic and intentional erosion of due process, something Reyes said many of her colleagues feel too. According to Reyes, former Attorney General Jeff Sessions required immigration judges to adjudicate 800 cases a year.

"There's 365 days in a year," Reyes said. "Let's give the judges 10 days of vacation. There's 104 weekend days. After all of that, the judges are working for 251 days. They have to adjudicate 800 immigration cases in 251. Do the math. They have to do three cases a day.

"An immigration judge has to make a decision, listen to evidence, listen to testimony, read the briefs that the attorneys file, look at the supporting documents and supporting evidence that we're submitting, right? They're supposed to do all that three times a day. It's not possible, and what it's creating is a pressure on immigration judges to adjudicate these cases without really focusing on the evidence and everything presented, which is a violation of due process."

The Hispanic population is about 10 percent, she said. Reyes said she is doing all that she can to not only help those who must endure the harsh legal parameters set on an immigrant's court case, but educate the public on what immigrants are currently going through.

"I want immigrants in Clay County to know their rights and my biggest goal is to educate the population, both immigrant communities and people who are interested in learning about the real immigration system, because unfortunately, what you hear on the news is not what is true," Reyes said.

According to Reyes, without immigrants, Florida's economy would find itself in the throes. The American Immigration Council found that in 2017, immigrants, documented and undocumented, made up 20.2 percent of Florida's population. They found that these immigrants hold $73 billion in spending power and pay $17 billion in federal taxes and another $6 billion in state and local taxes. Undocumented immigrants themselves pay another $600 million in state and local taxes.

"What would happen if you deport these immigrants?" Reyes asked.

Despite the uphill battle Reyes finds herself in with the country's current legal system set up for immigrants, she finds great joy in the success stories, and often finds herself looking back at former president Ronald Reagan's final speech as president, a speech many, including Reyes, have dubbed a love letter to immigrants:

"I've spoken of the shining city all my political life, but I don't know if I ever quite communicated what I saw when I said it. But in my mind, it was a tall, proud city built on rocks stronger than oceans, windswept, God-blessed, and teeming with people of all kinds living in harmony and peace; a city with free ports that hummed with commerce and creativity. And if there had to be city walls, the walls had doors and the doors were open to anyone with the will and the heart to get here. That's how I saw it – and it still.

"And she's still a beacon, still a magnet for all who must have freedom, for all pilgrims from all the lost places who are hurtling through the darkness, toward home."

Charter amendments, not candidates, highlight Super Tuesday ballots

By Nick Blank Staff Writer

CLAY COUNTY - This year's Super Tuesday election will feature nine charter amendments for two municipalities and seven officials with uncontested elections automatically taking city council seats.

Residents of Green Cove Springs and Keystone Heights can head to the polls at their respective city halls next Tuesday from 7 a.m.-7 p.m.

In Orange Park, Town Council Member Connie Thomas will retain her position, and U.S. Navy Veteran Randy Anderson will replace term-limited Mayor Gary Meeks. In Keystone Heights, Marion Kelly will enter her second three-year term without opposition, and former Mayor Tony Brown will replace Steve Brown on the council. Steve Brown announced he wouldn't run for a second term because of work and family commitments.

The mayor and two council members remain in office in Green Cove Springs. Mayor Connie Butler and Council Member Steven Kelley will enter their second terms, while Van Royal will begin his final term.

Clay County Supervisor of Elections Chris Chambless said there were two ways to look at the lack of candidates.

"If citizens feel that their representation is doing a good job, then of course they

"If citizens feel that their representation is doing a good job, then of course they would like to keep them in office... On the contrary, there is a lot of effort that goes into it whether you're a city council member or a county commissioner. With little free time in this day and age to commit to that is a rather large ask."

—Chris Chambless, Supervisor of Elections would like to keep them in office," Chambless said. "On the contrary, there is a lot of effort that goes into it whether you're a city council member or a county commissioner. With little free time in this day and age to commit to that is a rather large ask."

Last year's Super Tuesday election drew 1,040 of 7,275 registered voters for a single race in Orange Park and Keystone Chambless said it was unfortunate candidates and issues were what drove voter participation. He said it was a mistake to only vote during a presidential election.

"Apathy is a serious problem in America. The message I continue to preach is that the effort on our end is the same regardless of the type of election," Chambless said. "Whether one person shows up or 100 people show up, the effort is the same because that's what the process demands.'

Local government has the most direct impact on residents, Chambless said, and these charter amendment changes should interest all the residents in the municipalities.

Two Keystone Heights amendments concern council vacancies, one amendment changes an election formality and Charter Amendment No. 4 would rebrand the Keystone Airpark as the Keystone Heights Airport.

Charter Amendment No. 1, if passed, would require appointees to that city council must meet residency requirements if a vacancy occurs, which is living one year within city limits. Charter Amendment No. 3 is tied to council vacancies would allow the temporary transfer of duties to the vice mayor if the mayor's seat was vacant until the next general election.

Charter Amendment No. 2 would allow voters to file absentee ballots at the Supervisor of Elections office in Green Cove Springs, where votes are counted. The potential change would give city staff flexibility Keystone Heights City Attorney Rich Komando said at a previous meeting.

Green Cove Springs' Charter Review Committee forwarded five amendments that the city council unanimously approved for the ballot in November.

Charter Amendment No. 1 would acknowledge and tighten state and federal nondiscrimination laws in the charter.

To increase efficiency of city staff, Charter Amendment No. 2 would propose to increase the Green Cove Springs' city manager's spending authority from $15,000 to $25,000. The council is not removing the requirement that money spent must be a budgeted item.

Charter Amendment No. 3 would define the scope of city manager's emergency powers and spending for specific situations such as operational disasters, public health and safety disasters. It stipulates the city council would review emergency expenses, "within a reasonable time thereafter."

The city clerk is appointed by council members. Charter Amendment No. 4 would see the city manager conduct the city clerk's annual review instead of the city council.

And Charter Amendment No. 5 would delete the requirement that the city attorney live or maintain an office within Green Cove Springs' city limits.

OP council wrestles with the inconvenience of abandoned RaceWay station

By Wesley LeBlanc Staff Writer

ORANGE PARK – An hour-long discussion about Orange Park's ongoing problem with an all-but-abandoned building that used to be a RaceWay gas station ends around round of negotiations.

Previously, the council tasked Town Manager Sarah Campbell and Town Attorney Sam Garrison with negotiating an agreement with the owners of the building that used to be a RaceWay on 151 Park Ave. During the April 2 regular town council meeting, Garrison presented this agreement that had already been signed by the RaceWay side as a show of good faith.

"The proposal that RaceWay has put forward is that they would, within the next 90 days begin with demolition and removal of the existing structure of 151 Park, haul it away and clear the land with the exception of the property encumbered by an easement which they're legally required to maintain," Garrison said. "If the council agreed to this, to the town's satisfaction, the existing liens on the property of $69,000 plus...would be forgiven by the town."

The council debated the idea of forgiving the liens. Some council members, like Roland Mastandrea, believed the liens should be paid in full. Others, like Alan Watt, felt there was a middle ground with the lien amounts that could serve as a winwin situation for both parties involved. After nearly an hour of discussion, it was clear the council was not in favor of that proposal.

As such, Watt made a motion to task Garrison and Campbell with a new negotiation that would see the RaceWay owners fix the environmental issues associated with the property — issues related to gas lines and more — perform a demolition of the building and pay a healthy chunk of the fines.

This motion failed with a 2-3 vote, with council member Connie Thomas, Mastandrea and Vice Mayor Ron Raymond voting Raymond made a new motion to have Watt, who's a civil engineer with expert knowledge on a topic like this, join the negotiations with Garrison and Campbell. This motion was passed with a 3-2 vote, with Thomas and Mastandrea voting no.

what kind of visioning process they'd like to see performed in Orange Park. In recent meetings, the council discussed the idea of a town vision to determine where the town could and should be in five, 10, 15 or even 20 years. During the April 2 regular meeting, council members explained what they thought this visioning process should entail

Before doing that, Campbell presented some questions she felt the council's selected process should answer.

"What is the timeframe you would expect this vision to cover?" Campbell asked. "How many community preparatory sessions do you expect? What type of data do you want? What kind of public outreach do you want?"

Thomas said there should be a steering group that handles this process and that she believes the visioning process should be a year-long study and that it shouldn't cost more than $80,000. Watt said he believes the visioning process should look farther into the future, with a look at Orange Park 10 to 20 years from now. He could see it taking anywhere from six months to 12 months and no more than $100,000.

Raymond suggested the council hold a workshop to discuss and debate what the town's visioning process should be, something everyone on the council agreed with. From there, Mayor Gary Meeks directed Campbell to select a date for the workshop to be held later.

ment of this vessel, the recovery and removal may require the use of a commercial tugboat," the project proposal stated.

Assistant City Manager and Public Works Director Mike Null said the boat was the biggest dot in the cove on Google Earth. Vice-Mayor Steven Kelley joked that it wasn't as if the owner lost a lawnmower.

"For the activities and the more use, we have for the park and the view, [removing the vessel] would be well worth it," City Manager Steve Kennedy said. "No one is denying that."

City council members agreed to the county's request and directed staff to find an appropriate source for funding.

Council Member Mitch Timberlake said it bettered the county when the abandoned boats were removed. He called the boat a hazard that had become dilapidated.

"We as a council have worked hard for a way to get those abandoned and derelict vessels removed from Green Cove. I think it would be disingenuous on our part if we didn't do something to assist the county," Timberlake said. "It's in worse and worse shape. It's not only a hazard, it's a danger."

In other business, council members approved a 2019 After Action Report for the city sponsored Augusta Savage Cultural Arts Festival held Feb. 23. The report said the festival made more than $1,500.

Friends of Augusta Savage President Henrietta Francis touted the event's hands-on activities for kids and advertising that made the festival a success at Spring Park. She thanked the city for its effort.

"You all are very supportive, and we want to let you know how much we appreciate that," Francis said.

City council members also approved $55,198 for new playground equipment as Spring Park.

"There's some equipment that really needs to be replaced," Mayor Connie Butler said.

LaShan O'Brian, 29, William Byrd, 24, and David O'Brien Smith, 25 all were arrested. Byrd and Smith were charged with resisting, obstruct and opposed multiple law enforcement officers after they tried to elude them by running from the house. O'Brian, who originally identified himself as Daniel Liburd, was charged also was charged with battery against a law enforcement animal after he was apprehended by police dog Diesel.

LaShan O'Brian

Sabouy Williamson, 26, was arrested for cocaine trafficking, giving false names – Jam P. Cole and Jolly Williams – and other charges. He was stopped at 950 Blanding Boulevard during the raid, about 1.4 miles from the home in Secret Harbor. Deputies with CCSO, Homeland Security and the Postal Inspection Service searched the car and found one kilo of cocaine with fentanyl, along with $46,569 in cash. Williamson listed the same address as O'Brain, Byrd and Smith on his driver's license. He was being held in the Clay County Jail with a $260,007 bond.

The sheriff's office issued the following statement:

"[Thursday, March 28] our SWAT team executed a Narcotics search warrant in Orange Park off College Drive. This was an extensive investigation that could not have been successful without the Department of Homeland Security and the U.S. Postal Inspection Service who we worked in conjunction with.

"The entire investigation yielded an excessive amount of cocaine, fentanyl, methamphetamine and other illegal substances. Along with all this, the subjects arrested were also in possession of firearms, large quantities of cash and other illegal items. Some of those arrested refused to cooperate, as well; however, K9 Diesel and our members were able to safely apprehend them.

"The community that had been terrorized by this illegal activity has reached out thanking us and we appreciate your support. These cases are complex and lengthy, but we're listening – we promise."

Most neighbors seemed surprised.

"What's happening to this neighborhood," the first neighbor asked.

"I'm definitely glad," the second neighbor said. "I hope they lock them up. This is a quaint little community. We don't need that here."

All but Williamson have posted bond. The Sheriff's office said it still was investigating and additional charges were likely.

UPDATE 2,664 Miles Keystone Heights to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho

Brock passes 1,000-mile, five pairs of shoes barrier on five-month odyssey

By Don Coble Managing Editor

BOLIVAR, Mo. – Ken Brock literally had a little trouble gaining traction last week on his 2,664-mile odyssey to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

He not only had to buy two pairs of shoes, he had to replace both tires on the cart he uses to carry supplies and his service dog, Pam.

"I had two flat tires," Brock said after he inched ever-closer to Kansas City. "I wore them out. And I've gone through five pairs of shoes. I've been struggling a little bit with shin splints, too. It's been challenging, but we're pushing on."

Brock left Amvets Post 86 in Keystone Heights on Feb. 1 on a cross-country journey to raise awareness to Wounded Warrior Project. The Army veteran said WWP empowered him to work through his post traumatic stress disorder to complete the five-month walk. And it's a story that continues to grow in the miles ahead.

"I get stopped 10 times a day on the side of the road by people who want to thank me or take a picture," he said. "Every town I come to, it's like they're waiting on me. The people absolutely motivate me."

He stopped at a mall in Springfield, Mo., to buy new shoes. A group of five girls recognized him from a television interview, and they asked if they could take their picture with him.

"That was a real shocker," he said. "I can't believe this is happening. They knew my entire story."

Brock was 137 miles from Kansas City

Wednesday morning. Once he reaches that milestone, he will have a couple months of flat terrain.

"I will be able to do 30-35 miles a day once I finally get out of the Ozarks," he said.

He plans to arrive at Coeur d'Alene by July $4. \,$

With 1,043 miles down, he still has 1,621 to go.

"Meeting people wasn't something I expected," Brock said. "But it keeps me going."

Along with new shoes.

Good news travels fast: Ken Brock's fan club seems to be waiting for him at every step. He stopped in Springfield, Mo., to buy shoes and was met by five girls who saw him on the news and wanted to meet him. "The people absolutely motivated me," he said.

Clay man wanted for sex crimes against children caught in Texas

 $\begin{array}{c} \text{ORANGE PARK} - \text{The man wanted in} \\ \text{Clay County for sexual battery against a} \\ \text{child and other child sexual abuse charges} \end{array}$ was arrested in Texas early Wednesday, the Clay County Sheriff's Office said.

Michael Glenn Chope, 55, had been the target of an intense manhunt since he was spotted last week near the Clay-Duval county line

Michael Chope

CCSO reached out to its media partners on March 29 to ask for help finding Chope.

The sheriff's office issued the following statement on Wednesday:

"Michael Glenn Chope was located and arrested in Texas today. He has been arrested for sexual battery against a child and numerous other crimes related to child sexual abuse.

"Huge thanks to not only our Internet Crimes Against Children's Unit, but also to all of our federal partners, like the US Marshals Service, Homeland Security Investigations, Customs and Border Patrol, along with Texas law enforcement agencies, and the citizens who helped us in this successful capture.

"Our list of thanks goes on, but to everyone involved, we appreciate you."

a two-hour standoff with the Clay County Sheriff's Office's SWAT team.

Joshua J. Ransford, 35, was arrested March 31 for false imprisonment and simple battery.

Deputies were called to the Forest Hammock subdivision after a woman ran to neighbors asking them to protect her from her husband.

According to CCSO, Ransford broke into the neighbor's home and carried her back to their house.

Joshua Ransford

According to the neighbor, the wife repeated yelled, "Don't let him take me."

The woman also curled on the floor in the fetal position until Ransford grabbed her by her arms and threw her over his shoulder.

When deputies arrived, they heard a loud argument from the back of the home. After they refused to open the door, SWAT and Negotiations teams arrived.

A partial evacuation of the neighborhood followed by Ransford continued to ignore demands to come outside.

He finally surrendered two hours later.

Speeding ticket leads to host of charges for Middleburg man

MIDDLEBURG – A man caught speeding wound up in the Clay County Jail March 30 after being caught with amphetamine or methamphetamine, heroin and marijuana, according to CCSO.

Christopher Dale Terry, 35, of Middleburg was charged with trafficking in am-phetamine or methamphetamine, possession of marijuana with the intent to sell, manufacture or deliver, and use of drug paraphernalia, possession of heroin, driving on suspended license and provide a false identification.

He was being held in the county jail in leu of $160.015 bond.

According to the arrest report, Terry originally was stopped for speeding on Sesame Street. Terry gave the name Billy Terry, but a subsequent check revealed Billy Terry having brown eyes and red hair. The man pulled over had brown eyes, CCSO said.

When he got out of the car, the deputy noticed a pipe on the floor. That led to a search that resulted in the drug arrest.

Terry also had an outstanding warrant in Duval County for driving with a suspended license and leaving the scene of an accident resulting in property damage.

onto Blanding Boulevard, he had no idea he was about to get more than a traffic ticket.

When a Clay County Sheriff's Office deputy approached the car, he noticed the strong odor of "raw cannabis," which led to a search of the car and the arrest of Kennedy, 30, and Terry A. Goins, 35, for possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana, possession of marijuana with the intent to sell, manufacture or deliver and possession and use of drug equipment. Goins also was charged with possession of cocaine.

According to the arrest report, Goins tried to eat the cocaine, but deputies were able to make him spit it out.

A search led to the recovery of four bags of marijuana totaling 114.10 grams and jar with another 30.46 grams.

Kennedy was being held at the Clay County Jail with a $50,003 bond, while Goins' bond was set at $77,508.

Caton receives property appraiser's state certification

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – DeJuan "DJ" Caton became the latest recipient of the Certified Florida Evaluator certification within the Clay County Property Appraiser's Office.

The Florida Department of Revenue is charged with the general supervision of the assessment and valuation of property placed on the tax rolls.

The supervision of the Department consists primarily of aiding and assisting county officers in the assessing and collection functions, with particular emphasis on the more technical aspects.

In this regard, the Department conducts schools to upgrade assessment skills of both state and local assessment personnel.

Caton now is certified as a residential appraiser.

"These are not easy courses. I am very proud of the dedication and commitment to excellence exemplified by DJ", Assistant Property Appraiser Tracy Drake said.

In the furtherance of its duty to conduct schools to upgrade assessment skills, the DOR has established the Certified Florida Evaluator (CFE) Program.

Assessment personnel participating in the CFE Program must complete a minimum of 120 hours of approved courses and pass properly monitored written examinations. The 120 hours is divided into four, 30-hour courses.

In addition to the course requirement, assessment personnel must have a mini-

Annual Concert on the Green moves to Fleming Island park

FLEMING ISLAND - The Concert on the Green is moving to accommodate thousands of music fans.

The annual event now will on May 26 at the Plantation Sports Complex, 321 Old Hart Rd., near Thunderbolt Elementary, on Fleming Island.

The Concert on the Green is the largest music fest of its kind in Clay County.

Gates will open at 4 p.m. Tickets are $15, which allows patrons to enjoy performances by a lineup of local bands and musicians, culminating with the Jacksonville Symphony starting at 8 p.m., followed by fireworks.

Concert on the Green's principal purpose is to provide music and visual art scholarship opportunities to Clay County students by organizing a festival event for families and visitors, along with the experience of a live symphony orchestra in a natural, beautiful outdoor setting.

Concert goers are encouraged each year to bring their blankets and lawn chairs for relaxed enjoyment of music, activities and to savor a variety of food and beverage options.

Pre-sales tickets will be available in May at The Urban Bean, 2023 Park Ave. in Orange Park, Arlette's Place at 1960 E. West Pkwy., Suite 102, Fleming Island, Expressions Salon at 1912 Debarry Ave., Orange Park and online at www.concertonthegreen.com.

Sponsorships, VIP and Patron packages and donations are available by contacting Lauren@concertonthegreen.com. Last year, Concert on the Green delivered $12,000 in scholarships to local students.

Girls Scouts summer camp planned or North Fork Leadership Center

MIDDLEBURG – Girl Scouts of Gateway Council announced the sites of its two North Fork Leadership Center in Middleburg was selected as one of two summer camp sites for the Girl Scouts of Gateway Council.

Girl Scout Summer Camps, including North Fork Leadership Center in Middleburg.

Registration currently is open for both camps to all girls in Northeast and North Central Florida. Campers do not need to be a member of the Girl Scouts to enroll.

"Girl Scout camp is a place where girls explore nature, take on new challenges, master new skills, and develop a stronger sense of self — all in a safe, all-girl environment," said Gateway Council CEO Mary Anne Jacobs. "Our girls can get out of their comfort zones to take healthy risks, try new things and create their own one-of-a-kind experience."

North Fork Leadership Center in Middleburg will be the site for day camp with exciting outdoor activities. Day campers may also choose the STEM emphasis session, combining nature with the sciences. Transportation is available for day camp sessions.

The Counselor in Training option is available for high school girls looking to mentor younger girls in a camp/outdoor setting this summer.

Girls can sign up for summer camping events at Camp Kateri and North Fork Leadership Center.

Both locations are offering a variety of camp activities and experiences.

Camp sessions begin on June 9. Camp Kateri offers multiple resident camps that features a wide array of outdoor experiences, including canoeing, outdoors skills, kayaking, hiking, campfires and more.

Visit the Girl Scouts of Gateway Council website, www.girlscouts-gateway.org, for more information on 2019 summer camp offerings and how to register, or contact TriciaRae Stancato at tstancato@girlscouts-gateway.org or (904) 421-3484.

Orange Park Medical Center raises $45,000 for tragedy victims

ORANGE PARK – Orange Park Medical Center raised $45,000 on March 22 for the HCA Healthcare Hope Fund at its unique Shooting for Hope clay shoot.

The event attracted nearly 100 shooters at the Bradford Sportsmen Farm to raise awareness for victims of tragedy.

Last year HCA Healthcare, Orange Park Medical Center's parent company helped over 6,000 employees with $6.4 million in grants during financial hardship due to natural disasters, domestic violence, death of a loved one and other special situations, thanks to the Hope Fund. The employeesupported charity helped many OPMC employees on the First Coast get back on their feet following Hurricanes Irma and Matthew

"Being in healthcare, it's natural for our people to rally together when devastation strikes," said Richard Michaux, OPMC's Director of Facilities and Shooting for Hope Organizer. "Not only does our staff standby during disasters for our community, they also step-up when it's one of their own going through a difficult time."

The 501(c)3 charity is funded by both employee and public contributions. Michaux says a gift of just $2 per pay check by one employee at Orange Park Medical Center can change a life and employees do not hesitate to give to the cause.

"What's special about the Hope Fund is that it's colleagues helping colleagues. Spreading awareness and getting the community involved is really exciting for us."

UF scientists sequence vanilla genome could support domestic industry

By Brad Buck

UF/IFAS Communications

GAINESVILLE – University of Florida scientists have sequenced the genome of vanilla, which will help them select the best types for breeding new varieties of the popular plant to grow in Florida.

Some consumers crave vanilla. The U.S. leads the world in imported vanilla beans, said Alan Chambers, an assistant professor of tropical fruit breeding and genetics at the UF Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences. Madagascar grows about 80 percent of the world's vanilla, but that island lies thousands of miles from the companies that buy vanilla beans and convert them to extract.

That's why Chambers is leading a group of scientists trying to develop new vanilla varieties to grow in Florida.

In new research published in the journal Scientific Reports, Chambers and Elias Bassil – a UF/IFAS assistant professor of plant stress physiology – led a group of researchers that established a vanilla collection with 112 potentially unique individuals.

These individual plants create the basis from which a scientist can select the best plant for commercialization and genes needed to produce ideal vanilla varieties through conventional breeding, Chambers said. With the new findings, researchers can see which types of vanilla grow best in Florida and which might have useful genetics for plant breeding.

In their research, scientists also constructed a "draft genome" of vanilla DNA, a basic version of all of the DNA in vanilla.

The genome is all the DNA in an organism that contains the instructions for how it should do everything. For vanilla, this includes functions like how to make leaves or roots, how the plant responds to pathogens and how the plants make the aroma of the beans, said Chambers, a faculty member at the UF/IFAS Tropical Research and Education Center in Homestead.

Chambers described the findings and their implications in simple terms.

"If a genome was a car, a draft genome would be a basic vehicle with no frills — no radio, no air conditioning, no power windows," he said. "It does some things just fine, like getting you to work. The next step is to go from the basic vehicle to a luxury sports car.

"So, while it's only a draft genome, it's a great resource for the scientific community."

Some surprises from this study included the identification of vanilla hybrids between different species, Chambers said.

In the U.S. and Europe, you can only use two types of vanilla beans -- vanilla planifolia and Tahitian vanilla -- and call it "vanilla extract," he said. This study identifies those individual plants that would clearly fall within these labeling requirements and allow a grower to access premium markets within the current regulatory framework.

Chambers envisions specialty market opportunities for South Florida farmers who want to grow vanilla.

"Alternatively, the identified hybrids could represent a unique branding opportunity if a grower wants to produce something unique in all the world," Chambers said. "These hybrids will most likely have distinct aromas and disease resistance.

Now we can focus on a handful of promising vanilla types to accelerate our objective to bring vanilla cultivation in Florida one step closer to reality.

Oakleaf tops Fleming in region weightlifts Keystone Heights Dodd hoists 730 lbs.

By Randy Lefko Sports Editor

OAKLEAF – With four individual champions and three top three finishers, the Oakleaf High Knights boys weightlifting team won a clash of titans with Fleming Island High to take the region 2-2A weightlifting team title, 43-41, at Oakleaf High School on Fri., March 29.

In region 5-1A, Keystone Heights, with five champions, won convincingly by 30 points; 74-44, over Tavares High School.

The Indians, under coach Lantz Lowery. got titles from five lifters; Zach Glover, Holden Knapp, Josh Hughes, Carter Semione and Dan Dodd to dominate the field. Dodd landed an impressive 730 pound total with a 380 bench press and a 350 clean and jerk.

In region 3-1A, Orange Park got individual titles from David Araujo and Zykiem Sermons en route to a fourth place team finish. Sermons won at 183 by 10 pounds with a 600 total with Araujo winning at 199 by 30 pounds with a 675 total.

Araujo, a district champion two weeks ago with Sermons, waited until his competition nearly completed their clean and jerk lifts before winning his region title with a best of 335 in the clean and jerk.

"I was going to come in at 290 figuring that would win and see how the field reacted," said Araujo, after his 290 lift. "Going above 300 was just to see what I could do."

Also in region 3-1A, Ridgeview got a second place finish from junior Ralando Grey at 139. Clay got fifths from Isiah Jones at 119 and Wilguens Dorvilus at 169.

For Oakleaf, senior Michael Williams, sophomore Paul McGee, senior Tayari Otis and sophomore Kevin Davis won titles for the Knights to automatically advance to the Blue Devils' defense rides early lead to win

Oakleaf, Ridgeview on deck

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Clay High held a first inning 3-0 lead to the end of seven strong defensive innings to take a 3-2 win over rival Baker County Wed., March 27. Baker County, a former 6A rival to Clay now a 5A team, had beaten Clay 1-0 in the first game played on Tues., March 26 after scoring the solo run in the third inning.

"We had some critical errors and didn't get the hits to score runs because their pitcher was in her zone," said Clay coach Matt Lewis, now 9-5 with a 4-0 slate in district 4-6A. "I challenged the girls to play out of their comfort zone for this one and you saw some girls diving and hustling to make plays tonight. We had solid defense and solid pitching tonight."

struck out 11 in game one while game two starter Taylor Crews gave up four hits and three runs in game two. Lagle came in to relieve in game two and pulled five strikeouts in two innings. Baker County falls to 12-4, 1-0 in district 3-5A.

In game two, with Clay pitcher Morgan Crutcher controlling the mound with seven strikeouts, Clay got on the scoreboard early behind three singles; Marianne McDonald, Ali Sarman and Morgan Silvis that set up a Dakota Worley two run single and a Sydney Lewis sacrifice bunt to get the early jump on the Wildcats

"If we put the ball in play and get baserunners, we can score," said Lewis. "We don't have the power hitters we've had in the past so we have to be smart baserunners."

Oakleaf Knights take 'Friday Knight Lights'

OAKLEAF — Friday night lights excitement typically means football season except for an extra innings extravaganza at the Oakleaf High softball complex that saw the resurgent Lady Knights return to overwhelming firepower in taking an undefeated season away from visiting Mandarin High School via a 4-3 victory.

"We knew they were going to be a very good, well coached team with some great athletes," said Knights Head Coach Christina Thompson, who had earlier in the week put down the lone team to beat the Knights; Atlantic Coast. "Coming into this game, their pitcher had like a .88 ERA, just exceptional so we knew it was going to be a tough game."

Scoreless for the first half of the game with pitcher Cambria Arturo going toe-to-toe with Mandarin's rapid fire hurler Ashley Wiebenga (10-1, 96 strikeouts), Oakleaf finally lassoed the Mustangs with a run in the fourth inning, only to have Mandarin come back stronger in the fifth

For three innings, both teams could do no better than a single runner on. In the bottom of the fourth, Baylee Goddard used a Mustang error to get onboard. On the first pitch to Jaycie Brookshire, Goddard took off like a bolt of lightening and was sitting on second. Brookshire drove the ball deep center for an out, moving Goddard to third after tagging up. Kaylee Lambrecht hit a grounder to third base who made the play to first and Goddard crossed the plate to put Oakleaf up, 1-0.

When the Mustangs came up, with two runners on and only one out, a ground ball to Goddard at third base was played to home for the second out and stopping another score. With two outs, a fly ball to left, and an error at second base brought the score to 2-1, Mandarin.

After Oakleaf went three up, three out, Mandarin scored another run on an error when the ball dropped with several players not calling for it. The inning retired with Mandarin stopped at 3-1. Back in the office, it was wake up time as Coach Thompson delivered a motivation speech to the players which paid huge dividends.

"I'm passionate, but I don't yell, but every now and then, they push me too far and I got to give it to them," said Thompson, who hosts Clay on Tues., April 2, then heads to the uber-tough Kissimmee Klassic for some more high-powered competition with the Knights opening Thursday with Lake Region. "They got it tonight because we just weren't awake on some plays. Cambria (Arturo) did an awesome

Guy breaks Nadler 1600 record

By Randy Lefko Sports Editor

GAINESVILLE - Fleming Island High freshman distance runner Mei Chiang continued her attempt to get to the top of the state mile list with a fourth place finish at the prestigious Pepsi Relays at the University of Florida on Fri., March 29.

Chiang, who owns most of the distance school records at Fleming Island High, finished in five minutes, 16.17 seconds to take fourth behind winner Kayla Gholar, of Richmond Hills (GA), who won in 5:10.03. Gholar was sixth in the Class 6A 1600 in Georgia last year in 5:25.57 and sixth in the 800 in 2:20.61. Timber Creek freshman Amber Schulz was second in 5:10.93 with Fort Myers junior Stephy Ormsby third at 5:13.28.

Also in the race and running a best time was Fleming Island sophomore Marisa Kortright who took 19th in 5:23.11. Freshman Lauren Schaudel was 24th in 5:25.35 with Keystone Heights sophomore Camryn Williams 35th in 5:31.92.

In the boys 1600, Keystone Heights High senior Alex Guy took fifth place in 4:23.53 to own the Keystone Heights High School record look long held by Enoch Nadler, 33,

MIDDLEBURG — Middleburg High rode a strong 8-1 won/lost record into March, but found the 'Ides of March' unsatisfying as the Broncos lost three in a row to end March

"The boys have just been playing hard," said Middleburg coach Daniel Pearce. "We've been finding ways to win. The team stays positive and we keep taking good approaches at the plate."

First on tap after Middleburg won their eighth game with a 10-7 win over 5A-Keystone Heights on a cold, blustery night in Keystone Heights, was a 6-2 loss to 6A Pedro Menendez (2-11) before the Broncos lost two to district 3-7A rival Gainesville High; 5-4 and 18-3 in Gainesville. While Gainesville improves to 5-8 overall, Middleburg slips to 8-4.

"The guys played hard and I'm proud of how they competed," said Pearce.

The test gets even harsher as Middleburg heads to 6A-Clay High on Mon., April 1 with 3A-Cook High of Georgia visiting Tues., April 2.

"We'll continue to play tough baseball with high energy," said Pearce.

In the first game with Gainesville, which Pierce dubbed the first test of the season, Middleburg got a three-run homer from Cameron Faucett to take a 3-1 lead. Singles from Hunter Conaway and an error to a Joe Justino grounder set up Faucett's blast.

Gainesville chased the Bronco lead with a run scoring double in the third to close the score to 3-2.

In the sixth, the Broncos pushed to a 4-2 lead off a passed ball and walks to Collin Henderson, who stole second base, and Justino.

With Clayton Simmons on the mound for Middleburg in the seventh, Gainesville scored off a single and a triple before adding to the total with another single and a double off a glove stab attempt by Faucett at the right center field fence.

"That was a great play, but it just didn't go our way,"said Pearce. "We'll just get back at it tomorrow and come to play again."

Down 5-4, the Broncos got a double from Simmons to juice the dugout with Anderson answering with a double to push Simmons to third, but a nifty double play on a left field fly stab and throw back to first base cleared the bases before Luke

In the second game, Gainesville, chased four Bronco pitchers as they piled up 17 hits; four homers, with a six run first inning and a 10-run fourth inning to put the Broncos in third place in district play. Middleburg had two district wins over Ocala Vanguard prior to the Hurricanes from Gainesville coming to town.

Columbia, 6-7, 3-1, shares the district lead with Gainesville, 5-8, 3-1, with Middleburg now 2-2 in district play and Columbia coming to town April 11 with game two in Lake City April 12.

Spartans' 2-0 with wins over Ridgeview, Fleming Island

RIDGEVIEW- The St. Johns Country Day Spartans took the trip down Blanding Blvd to meet up with the Ridgeview Panthers in the Jungle for a twilight matchup during 20 plus mile per hour winds of the passing Nor'easter and returned home with yet another win; a 3-1 effort, over the Panthers that couples up with the Spartans recent win, also 3-1, over Fleming Island.

"The smallest school in Clay County.

We have these games circled," said Spartan Head Coach Tom Lucas, who coupled the non-district win with a Tuesday 5-0 win over district 2-3A rival St. Joseph. "Whenever you play any of the big Clay public schools, you're playing playoff-like baseball. I tell them, I'm going to make the schedule as tough as possible. "He's our number one," Clay coach Josh Persinger said of Faulkner, who will pitch for Tallahassee Community College next year. "He goes toe-to-toe with Division I arms, and I think he's got a bit of a chip on his shoulder."

The senior lefthander threw an 86 mile per hour fastball, a changeup and a kneebuckling curve ball, striking out nine and walking only two.

Though Clay left a runner on third base in the second and fourth innings, it was the Bulldogs who scored first when Jackson Mayo walked, stole second and scored on a single to left center field by catcher Cal Henrichsen in the bottom of the fourth.

The Blue Devils tied the game in the fifth inning thanks to some small ball strategy by Persinger. After shortstop Colin Gross singled, Persinger had Nate Lewis and Faulkner bunt, moving Gross to third base with two out for Blake Parker, the Blue Devils' number nine hitter. The sophomore justified Persinger's faith by grounding a Libby fastball sharply up the middle, scoring Gross.

"I always trust him [Parker]," Persinger said of his second baseman. "He has always been the big dog on travel teams and on j.v."

After Parker made his second diving catch of the game to end the bottom of the fifth, Clay took the lead in the sixth when Justin Mosley led off with a sharp single to center field, and Holman followed with a line drive down the left field line. It was Holman's second double of the game.

Faulkner took care of the rest, inducing Bulldogs designated hitter Connor Stoll to hit into a fielder's choice to strand a runner at third in the sixth and retiring the Bulldogs in order in the seventh.

The game had a playoff atmosphere, pitting the Blue Devils, a Class 6A semi-finalist last year, against a Bolles program that had won the Class 5A title in 2016 and 2017 and had been the state runner-up in 2018. The Bulldogs were coming off a fourgame sweep of their opponents in the Florida League Invitational in Sanford, Florida in which they allowed only two runs in four games.

"Our goal is to make the playoffs, and we schedule playoff contenders so we can be prepared," said Persinger. "We have probably seen four or five Division I arms [pitchers] already.

Gross and Garrett Chun had two hits for the Blue Devils, who improved to 8-4 and will host Middleburg in their next game Monday, April 1.

Eagles lacrosse tops Georgia power

FLEMING ISLAND - With a first score by Daniel Schreiber just 17 seconds into their Saturday afternoon game against visiting Johns Creek High of Georgia, the Fleming Island High boys lacrosse team ousted the visitors 14-8 to bolster a possible region playoff run in just two weeks.

"We have Bolles here on Tuesday and they were the district champions last year," said Fleming Island coach John Hawley. "We have seen some outside the state teams to try and get the team playoff ready and it seems to be working."

Johns Creek, a Class 6A-7A lacrosse program with a 9-4 overall record, visited Fleming Island after a Friday night 16-11 win over Bartram Trail, had no answer to the Golden Eagles front trio of Eric Dobson, Schreiber and Daniel Horrell who scored repeatedly on front line attacks on the Gladiator defense.

Dobson finished two runs before the half to put the score at 9-5.

In the third, Dobson took a feed from Suhrer on a crossing pattern after a whiff from Matt Welsh and pushed another goal in before Hayden Spiller pushed the score to 11-5.

Schreiber added one to 12-5 to end the third.

After Johns Creek snuck one by goalie Korbin Hamilton to get the game to 12-6, Dobson took an assist from Horrell to answer before Clark took off from behind the Johns Creek net and scored off a twisting backhand to hit the final 14-8.

Eagles super season pushed to SUPER 11

By Randy Lefko Sports Editor

FLEMING ISLAND – With an historic playoff run that ended at the Class 8A semifinals, the Fleming Island High boys basketball team, led by senior guard Gianfranco Grafals and sidemate Sebastian Astor put up a handful of top choices for the Clay Today SUPER 11 boys basketball selections.

Chosen by Clay Today Sports Editor Randy Lefko and his A-Team sportswriting team, the SUPER 11 is the county collection of the top 11 players for 2018-2019.

Fleming Island High coach Traavis Chandler, 22-3 in his best season at the helm, had his special blend of fast and furious to keep opponents on their heels for most of the season with Grafals, a senior, averaging near 20 points per game, the leading force down the court and Astor, a junior, with six assists per contest, making a perfect 1-2 punch on the Golden Eagles offense.

Underneath, Chandler had stealthy Jordan Miles, a junior, as his backboard patrol captain with the defensive star likely on the floor for pulling offensive charges while also yanking down key rebounds; five per game, to keep the offense moving downcourt at a rapid rate.

The one guy though that became the team's spark plug was senior sixth man Khalid Pogue who electrified the Golden Eagles with his timely three pointers; team-leading 24, and disruptive midcourt steals for layups.

Joining the first four of the SUPER 11,

- 1. Gianfranco Grafals, FIHS, Sr., Guard
- 2. Sebastian Astor, FIHS, Jr., Guard
- 3. Jordan Miles, FIHS, Jr., Forward
- 4. Khalid Pogue, FIHS, Jr., Guard
- 5. Kenny Thomas, OHS, Sr., Guard
- 6. Chantz Williams, OHS, Jr., Center
- 7. John Abate, OPHS, Sr., Guard
- 8. Kenneth Banks, OPHS, Sr., Center
- 9. Cooper Vaughan, CHS, Sr., Center
- 10. Eddie Thomas, KHHS, Sr., Center
- 11. Layton Veon, MHS, Sr., Forward

Oakleaf senior guard Kenny Thomas was coach Jason Price's go-to guy on both ends with his rugged defensive pressure as well as his ability to penetrate the paint for tough layups. Thomas, averaging near 15 points per game with 33 three-pointers, was one of just two or three players that found a way to slow down the Fleming Island attack with their upset district win a season classic game for the Knights. Oakleaf wound up losing in their region round one playoff game against a Robert E. Lee team that the Knights defeated in a Christmas tournament to dampen an otherwise stellar season by Thomas.

Thomas' defensive efforts were paired up with junior center Chantz Williams who accumulated a bucket-load of rebounds (9 per game) and blocked shots (4 per game) to set new school records and even turned up his offensive production in the final games with a smooth turnaround hook shot.

Across the county, Orange Park coach Derek Kurnitsky (16-11) got thwarted from a third straight district title, but not without the baseline-to-baseline effort of senior guard John Abate. Abate, who hit the 1,000 point career mark near the end of the season, put up near 20 points per game to lead the Raiders with five rebounds off the boards. Abate, who finished with 45 three pointers, had his best effort in a tournament upset of 6A-region finalist Palatka with 32 points.

Abate's compliment underneath was senior Kenneth Banks, who had less than a year to adjust to the Raider 'Chuck n Duck' attack, but finished the season with eight points per game and a strong six rebounds underneath. With a year or two more under the K-man tutelage, Banks could have been one of the more dominant baseline players to come from the Raiderdome.

Head west to Clay High and senior center Cooper Vaughan was the emotional catalyst for a handful of near-misses for coach Jared Moses in what 'almost' was a great season. At Keystone Heights, under new coach Jay Schofield, senior center Eddie Thomas put up 20 points per game with an astounding 292 rebounds (11 per game) and gave the Indians one of their more competitive seasons. Finally, at Middleburg, senior guard Layton Veon led the county with 49 three pointers shot at a 35 percent success ratio. At the free throw stripe, Veon, who put up near 11 points per game, shot 69 percent while also putting down eight rebounds per game.

state championships to be held April 15 in Panama City.

Only region champions earn an automatic state meet berth to fill the top eight of 16 slots in each weight class. The final eight will be determined by weight totals from all the regions combined.

Fleming Island, with two individual champions; Andrew Thomas and Jeremiah Jackson, chased the Knights with both teams filling the top five slots of seven of the eight weight divisions.

Oakleaf topped the region field with Fleming Island second and Bartram Trail a distant third with 23 points.

Middleburg, with a third place from Trevor Shearin and a fourth from Cole LeClair finished with 10 team points.

In region 2-2A, at 119, Williams beat Fleming Island's Ian Ali by 20 pounds with a 410 total. At 129, Mcgee won with a 325 total that was tied with St. Augustine's Aidan Harnage, but Mcgee weighed in at 124.4 pounds with Harnage at 129 giving Mcgee the title for weighing less.

At 139, Fleming Island's Will Stephens was second by five pounds with a 450 total.

At 154, Oakleaf's Zech Nesby was second with a 490 total that tied for the top total, but Nesby outweighed Lincoln's Isaiah Hendley, 151.6-149.6.

At 169, Thomas won big with a 610 with teammate Broden Domenico second with a 555 total

At 183, Otis won at 550 by five pounds over Fleming Island's Azzie Ramirez with Middleburg's Trevor Shearin third at 515.

At 199, Davis won by 10 pounds with his 645 total over Columbia's Marlon Pollock

At 219, Oakleaf's Dexter Moore was third at 555 with Tyler Johnson Jones of Columbia winning at 675.

Ridgeview High's Ralando Grey seeks a higher power to get his clean and jerk up. Grey earned second berth to state meet with 440 total at region championships.

At 238, Jackson won at 655 by 70 pounds over Jourdan jones of Lincoln with Oakleaf's King Solomon third at 530.

At Unlimited, where Chiles' Daniel Ward won at 665, Middleburg's Cole LeClair was fourth at 590

At Keystone Heights, Glover won by 50 pounds at 119 with a 355 total; Knapp won at 129 by 15 pounds with a 340 total; Hughes won by 20 pounds at 219 with a 615 total with teammate Colby Townsend second; Semione won at 238 by 50 pounds with a 625 total and Dodd crushed the Unlimited by 45 with his 730 total.

Lady Knights avenge 'Rays loss

Kistler with key hits

By Dennis Bergin Correspondent

JACKSONVILLE – To go from a good team to a great team everything matters. Oakleaf head Coach Christy Thompson knows that all too well.

"We have to do the little things right all the time, " said Thompson. "We need to execute on our bunts and hustle out of the box with every ball we hit."

Senior righty Madi Davis threw a complete game giving up three hits, struck out nine, and walked two while Katie Kistler had a two RBI single and scored a run to propel Oakleaf to a 3-1 victory over host Atlantic Coast.

The Knights, who are ranked nationally, move to 13-1 on the season and now have won six straight games. The Stingrays drop to 8-5 on the season. Oakleaf avenged an early season 9-8 home loss to Atlantic Coast on March 7th.

Davis, who threw a total of 77 pitches including 48 for strikes, was masterful on the mound. She sat down the side in three of the seven innings and was overpowering at times.

"Madi really stepped up tonight," said

Thompson. "Early in the game she was going too deep into the counts but made some nice adjustments."

After the Stingrays tied he score at 1-1 in the bottom of third inning the Knights struck for two runs in the top of the fourth. Jazmine Lamug, Caitlyn Lamug and Jadrianna Serrano each had one out singles to load the bases them Kistler lined a single to left plating the Lamug sisters to move out to a 3-1 lead.

"We want to dominate innings," said Thompson. "That was a great response from our team."

Oakleaf pounded out 10 hits on the night including senior 3B Baylee Goddard who went 3-4 with two singles and a double while Kistler was 2-3 and reached on an error.

Atlantic Coast didn't get a base runner past second base over the last four innings. Davis induced four pop-outs and recorded five strikeouts over those frames to close out the Stingrays.

Oakleaf beat unbeaten Mandarin in extra innings on Friday.

The Lady Knights head to the Kissimmee Klassic Tournament for four days of competition against state and nationally ranked teams.

Oakleaf High grad Chris Westry finished four years of football at Kentucky and is now on the NFL circuit as possible player next fall.

Westry: Can't change work ethic

By Randy Lefko Sports Editor

Note: This conversation was not complete before deadline last week and was scheduled to be part of last week's sports story on Chris Westry.

JACKSONVILLE — Oakleaf High football standout Chris Westry awaits some phone calls and some traveling to determine his next step on his path to the National Football League.

"I'm in Jacksonville with a trip planned to visit the Dallas Cowboys in April," said Westry, a four year starter at the University of Kentucky as a defensive back. "It's a lot of phone calls and waiting around. I'd like to think the Jaguars might call."

Westry, a standout defensive back while a Wildcat as well as while a Knight, put up some impressive numbers at the recent UK Pro Day with an astounding 4.31 second 40 yard dash and a second dash at 4.37, plus a team-best 10-foot broad jump.

"The numbers are a lot of what the NFL teams look at and they are important," said Westry. "I like to think my work ethic and game experience will also be a big part of any team's decision. I know being 6'-4" and fast are good numbers, but they are looking for guys who see the whole field and know the game of football."

Westry, who finished with 134 tackles for Kentucky and three interceptions, job and there were three hits that should not have been hits."

The girls snapped out of the funk and came alive. In the bottom of the sixth, Oakleaf got Jaeda McFarland on with a double to left field. Goddard followed right behind her in left field to add another Knight score. 3-2.

With only three outs to play, Aspen Windesheim used a huge gap in right field to earn a standup double, moving to third base on a sacrifice bunt with one out. A passed ball was all Windesheim needed to take her shot, slid into home and tied the game 3-3

With new life in the top of the eighth inning, the Knights again play shut down defense with Arturo striking out the first two batters, then ending the inning with a ground out to second. In the bottom of the eighth, McFarland singled on a surprise bunt on the first pitch. The Mustangs were frozen for a second, long enough for McFarland to be safely onboard. Next up was Goddard who gladly accepted an intentional walk after McFarland stole second on the first pitch. McFarland tagged up and made it to third when Jaycie Brookshire hit a deep fly to right field. Goddard stayed put. On the first pitch to Caitlynne Lamug, Goddard shot over to second base as the crowd erupted. On a missed bunt attempt, McFarland was caught stealing home for the second out. With Goddard still sitting on second and Lamug getting walked, Aspen Windesheim stepped into the batter's box and sent the first pitch into the gap through second base. The grounder was deep enough for Goddard to round third and cross the plate standing, ending the game 4-3 in an extra inning.

Devils

third base, Delaney Anfinson hit a grounder to third base that got bobbled and got Worley in for run three.

Baker County's championship pedigree emerged in the ensuing inning with the Wildcats testing the Blue Devil defense after Crutcher got two flyouts; one a whistling line drive to the glove of Clay third baseman Madison Alexander, the other a running snag by Clay second baseman Ali Sarman.

"That one went right off the wrist (Alexander), but she held on to it," said Lewis. "That had to hurt, but she's tough."

Baker County kept the pressure on with a floater over first base, a walk and steal of second base and Crutcher hitting a batter loading the bases. A second diving stab by Sarman was unsuccessful and allowed two runs to score, but Crutcher got a grounder right back to Sarman to close the inning.

"I don't mind a play like that because she laid out trying to get a ball that was just off her glove," said Lewis. "We'll get a few of those in big games. We are working on our range and telling the girls to go for balls like that."

From there, both pitchers handled their respective batting lineups with Kylee Stacy getting to second and Baker County getting one baserunner to second also the best both teams could advance.

Crutcher and Lagle staged a strike out mano-a-mano duel with both pitchers dominating with a 10-strikeout showdown; five apiece in the final two innings, to end the game.

Clay has a non-district away game with Oakleaf (13-1) on Tues., April 2 and a rescheduled district 4-6A match with Ridgeview (10-6, 2-2) on Wed., April 3.

Ridgeview returns to action after ending March with a 2-2 slate at the Leopard Slam Tournament in Hernando County with wins over 6A-Springstead a region semifinalist (3-2) and Wiregrass Ranch (6-0) and losses to Tampa Sickles (4-1) and George Steinbrenner (2-1). The Panthers got back in the 'W' column with an 11-1 win over Nease and a 3-0 win over 5A runnerup West Nassau. Orange Park upended the Panthers 2-1 on March 29 with Middleburg set for April 2 at Ridgeview High.

By Randy Lefko Sports Editor

ORANGE PARK — With two district champions and three district runnerups among them, Clay County high school girls basketball teams showed off some prowess during regular season play, but just one team made the second round of region playoffs; Middleburg High.

Led by the dynamic duo of senior Mallory Roney and junior Britany Range, the Lady Broncos had the unlucky draw of, first, having eventual 7A-runnerup in their district Nease High three times in regular season play, in the district 3-7A final and, finally, in the region semifinal; all games with the wrong result for Middleburg fans, on top of having 6A runnerup Bishop Kenny on their slate. The final loss to the Lady Broncos came by way of 5A region semifinalist Orlando Jones, who lost to eventual runnerup Lake Highland Prep.

Range pushed her game up a bit from last year with more points; 19 per game with 44 threes with an efficient basket of six rebounds, four assists and four steals per game for coach Michael Hayward.

Range may draw top billing on the Clay Today SUPER 11 girls basketball team, but teammate Mallory Roney was a razor thin number right behind her in stats and effectiveness with her own 17 points with 45 threes; seven rebounds, three assists and three steals to give Hayward a 1-2 combination of attack.

Middleburg High's three all star players; left to right, Britany Range No. 2, Mallory Roney, No. 3, and Skylar Baltezegar, No. 14, had great stat seasons with great wins, but also, had the misfortune of having to face Class 7A runnerup Nease High throughout the year.

Under the boards, sophomore center Skylar Baltezegar was privy to double digit rebounds 15 times through the season; plus 10 points per game, plus 76 blocked shots to keep the Bronco attack rolling.

Unfortunately, Nease had more.

Chosen by Clay Today Sports Editor Randy Lefko and his A-Team sports page team, the SUPER 11 is the county collection of the top 11 players for 2018-2019.

From the district champion lineups, Orange Park center Shamia Capers, a junior, performed magnificently against much taller opponents in most games to get her 14 points and seven rebounds while being the cleanup batter off coach Fred Coles battery of three-point bombers.

Tops on the faraway stripe, junior guard Macie Faucett, with 44 from long range, added a fearless defensive attack that led to plenty of Raider layups at the other end. Faucett shared duties from downtown with teammate Yoly Rosado who finished with 47 threes and joins the SUPER 11 lineup off the perimeter.

One other supershooter, Keystone Heights senior guard Haley Julius pulled the trigger for an incredible 57 field goals while pushing the Lady Indians to their district title under coach Jessica Sykes-Carter. Julius also had the unique distinction of making an ESPN highlight reel with a long-distance toss for a score.

Orange Park High junior center Shamia Capers was normally outsized by her counterposition foes, but used speed and guile to win many battles under the boards.

Not as much a big shooter, but more of a driving force behind a best Ridgeview High season, was junior guard Trenity Gilford who had strong drives into the paint to nail her 28 points per game as the Lady Panthers made the district final; losing to the Raiders, and enjoyed a first-time region playoff game.

For St. Johns Country Day School, junior guard Kendall Sage again commanded all the offensive attention of coach Yolando Bronson and responded with her slick combination of layups and three pointers for 14 points per game with five rebounds as the Lady Spartans finished as district runnerups to Trinity Christian of Deltona.

In an erratic season of emotions, Fleming Island High, who had Final Four finisher Bartram Trail as their thorn in the side, did not quite have the return season of two straight playoffs runs under coach Joey Williams, but not because former Clay Today Player of the Year Aubrey Burke did not play out. Burke hit for 16 points per game with seven rebounds, four steals and three assists and got double play from sophomore backfield mate Emma Richards who added a spark to the Williams' attack with 13 points, six rebounds and two steals on the opposite side of the court. Fleming Island's district 4-8A had three teams; Bartram Trail, Creekside and Fleming Island ranked in the top 30 in Class 8A.

Spartans

but the wind played havoc with the ball, forcing fielders to shuffle constantly.

In the bottom of the third, with a dramatic head first slide, the Panthers got on top early, 1-0.

In their next at bat, the Spartans struck hard with three runs.

St. Johns freshman Finn Howell started on the hill for the Spartans and looked strong all evening, going the distance and allowing only four hits.

"If I keep having pitching performances like Finn gave us tonight, a complete game, we're going to go a long way," said Lucas.

After two innings and both teams doing no more than a single runner on base, the top of the third looked like St. Johns would be ready to strike. Off a wild pitch, the Spartans had a runner on third poised to get the first run on the board

That was until the Panther defense pulled a double play, third base pickoff, extinguishing the effort.

At the bottom of the inning, the Panthers seemed to draw off of that momentum and with one out, bring Calvin Gunsaulus home on an Evan Wickeri ground ball single to left field.

The Panthers retired the inning leaving one on onboard, but the score-board was lit up and momentum was rolling, 1-0. "We've had a motto, we want to try and score first, but we task offense if somebody scores on us," said Lucas.

The Panther defense would follow suit, holding the Spartans to two up, two out.

Howell, showing he is not just a good pitcher, singled to center field with a grounder. With Jack Hodges at the plate, a pickoff attempt went awry and Howell took off to second. Hodges walked putting two runners on, two outs

Enter Tyce Moore with another shot to center field that scored Howell. Next was Jack Tolbert with a right field, line drive two-run triple, bringing the score to 3-1 as the inning ended.

"When they scored, we scored three," said Lucas. "The guys really take pride in that. Tolbert just hammered it and got it over his head."

Both teams would battle and get no more than a single runner to the bases until the top of the sixth inning where the Spartans would get runners to first and third before having their hopes dashed.

Ridgeview would take the frustration out on the Orange Park Raiders the next evening with a 9-2 road victory. St. Johns travels to 7A-Creekside (10-1, region finalist last year) on Wed., April 3.

Broncos go to hook-and-ladder for win

By Randy Lefko Sports Editor

MIDDLEBURG — Middleburg High utilized the old Hook 'N Ladder pass and lateral play to wide out Brooke Swenson taking the lateral to paydirt with just four seconds on the clock to defeat Bradford County last week.

Two days later, the Lady Broncos piled on to defeat Orange Park 19-0 in county action with quarterback Taylor Swagel slinging the rock for three scores and defensive back Abby Wallace snagging a second half interception to set up a score.

Middleburg High defender Abby Wallace, showing some Deion Sanders savvy, snagged a second half interception in Broncos 19-0 win over Orange Park.

Clay continues as the top ranked team from the county with just one team of five teams scoring against the Blue Devil defense.

Fleming Island, with their two quarter-back system; Ash Byrd and Hope Rozier, is ranked 19th in Class 2A and still unbeaten with a recent 19-0 win over Robert E. Lee.

Keystone Heights, led by quarterback Haley Julius, is unbeaten with back-to-

Fleming Island High graduate Peyton Billings, below, now at University of North Florida, finished two strokes off the mark at the Florida Juniors Tournament held March 30-31 at Eagle Harbor Golf Club in Fleming Island.

Billings, who shot two rounds of 71 to finish third behind winner James Nieporte of Boca Raton's 140 (68, 72) and runnerup Sam Nicholson of Atlantic Beach's 141 (71, 70). Nieporte finished 18th in Class 3A last year for Boca Raton High School. Nicholson was fourth in Class 1A for Providence.

Also from Fleming Island, Jacob Godwin finished 42nd with a 159 (84, 75).

In the girls competition, Keystone Heights High's Camille Jackson, below, 24th in Class 1A last fall, finished 13th with two rounds of 80s (160) with winner Alyssa Mercado, seventh in Class 3A for Lake Mary High, taking top honors at 150 (72, 78) with Lacey Tucker, 11th in Class 2A for Bishop Kenny, and Nicole Cee also hitting 150 for a tie at second.

utilized his impressive 75 inch wing span and foot speed to be in the right spots for the Wildcat defense.

"At the college level, the great high school athlete has to understand the entire defensive scheme," said Westry.

"What the defensive line is doing, what the linebackers are doing is just as important as what my job as a defensive back is. That's what makes the difference."

Westry credited his move quickly into the Wildcat defense with his own work ethic. Though Westry switched commits from an early Florida, early Auburn possible, Kentucky was the first team to ask him about that 'total' defensive picture.

"There are a 100 great athletes that play defensive back, but Kentucky was very interested in my overall knowledge of the game," said Westry.

As for the recruitment game, Westry commented that college coaches from all over scour the football countryside as much as the NFL scours the college practice fields.

"Getting to a Division I school is tough, but there is a lot of opportunity to play college football at the other levels; Division II, Division III, NAIA and even junior college, and great players at those levels will get found by NFL scouts," said Westry. "I believe that family circumstances, a little luck and a lot of hard work are the what keeps players playing. Play hard, work hard and learn as much as possible and the scouts will find you."

Westry, who was part of an undefeated season at Oakleaf under coach Derek Chipoletti that got Oakleaf to a region championship game, played alongside the likes University of Miami linebacker Shaquille Quarterman and University of South Florida safety Nick Roberts, said he keeps an eye of 'Shaq' but tries not to interfere.

"He's doing great things down there and I just watch him go," said Westry. "I chat occasionally, but I try to let him do his thing."

For college preparation, Westry cited work ethic as the key to success.

"No one can take that away from you as an athlete," said Westry.

"Do well in school, be respectful of others and work hard in season and off season. Eventually, the moment comes and you have to be 100 percent ready; mentally, physically and emotionally. I believe that."
