Many students and faculty members at the school contributed to the project, which features giant jigsaw puzzle pieces that stretched more than 20 feet of wall space in the school's corridor when pieced together.

BCC exploring CARES Act options to buy three Clay County buildings

By Wesley LeBlanc wesley@opcfla.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The of County Commissioners is looking at the purchase of three buildings for $8.7 million.

The county has been working to navigate the federal and state pathways of the CARES Act to get funding to local nonprofits, businesses and individuals. It's also been looking into using the funding to build a new health department. The commission narrowed its search to two buildings, but a third building might come with it at a discounted rate, the commission learned during its Oct. 27 meeting.

"During sales discussions, we were offered a third building," emergency management director John Ward said. "The owner [of the two buildings being purchased for the new health department] offered up a third building at a discounted rate."

Ward said it would cost about $3.8 million to purchase the two health department buildings and another estimated $2 million to renovate the two buildings for a total of $5.8 million. The third building is being offered to the county at a discounted rate of $1.9 million and this building would act as a combined communications center and a real-time crime center with some administration offices as well.

It would cost an estimated $1 million to renovate the building for a combined total of $2.9 million. The county is looking at a combined cost of $8.7 million for the purchase of these three buildings and renovations. CARES Act funding should cover these costs, which will provide numerous savings to the county, according to Ward.

Those savings come in the form of $500,000 that would have had to have been spent on necessary Department of Health repairs in order for the current facility to meet ADA compliance standards and to fix its roof and air conditioning. Another $500,000 would have gone to the current building's expansion as it is not sufficient for the size of Clay County.

More than $5 million is saved by the possible purchase of the third building as the county's emergency operations center needs $5.5 million in renovations, which is almost double the cost of the third building's purchase and renovation. Another $3 million is saved as instead of purchasing a building for the planned new Green Cove Springs fire station, the current health department building can be used as its home.

Advantages to the purchasing and renovation of the three buildings include room for future county growth, Department of Health consolidation, a more emergency-ready communications center, an expansion of public safety and more, according to Ward.

A vote wasn't made Tuesday night, but the BCC gave Ward and CARES Act lead Troy Nagle the greenlight to look further into the offer.

In other business, the county is opening up a second round of CARES Act applications for nonprofits in Clay County. Whereas during the first-round nonprofit had to present a plan and submit a receipt afterwards for reimbursement, Nagle said this time around, the money will be available to nonprofits that weren't able to fundraise as a result of COVID-19, but still incurred operating expenses. Nagle said this will be especially helpful for nonprofits like athletic associations.

The second round of applications will open on Friday.

New Citizen's Advisory Committee to enhance Green Cove's growth

By Bruce Hope bruce@opcfla.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The city of Green Cove Springs is consistently striving to be the best small city it can be. One of its newest initiatives is the formation of the Citizen's Advisory Committee.

The Citizen's Advisory Committee is a group formed to increase transparency in government operations and knowledge of city operations among residents, as wells as providing feedback to the city council on matters which would affect the public.

The input provided by the group could play a role in the eventual decisions made by the city council.

City manager Steve Kennedy addressed the city council about the creation of the CAC and the application process.

The application will screen things like the applicant's job, education, experience and civic involvement to decide whether or not they would make a good candidate for the committee.

"We will review those applications and rank those individuals based on how well they meet the expectation and then we will make a recommendation to the council," said city manager Steve Kennedy.

The intent is to get individuals who can add value and create an advantage moving forward with various initiatives.

Former Green Cove Springs Mayor and current council member Steve Kelley is enthused about the committee.

"I think honestly, its just going to add another layer of planning to the city," said Kelley. "I have a few younger folks who've already have expressed an interest to me about being more involved in the process, which is great because we're really hoping to find future leaders in some of the youth that are moving to Green Cove Springs."

Kelley expects the CAC will aid in providing more residents who are actively engaged in the process of government for the city. He feels like this should also get more people interested in even the more mundane issues of governance that while not exciting, are still of some importance.

"Timing is perfect for it," he said. "I think we're going to engage people of all backgrounds."

"We are working off a desire to engage the citizens more and making sure that we can show that we are very interested in transparency," said Kennedy,

Both are optimistic about the new organization and believe that it will be good for the city

Clay County's tourism continues to push forward despite COVID-19 pandemic

By Wesley LeBlanc wesley@opcfla.com

CLAY COUNTY - The landscape of countywide tourism has shifted as a result of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.

The Tourism Development Council met last week to discuss all things tourism in Clay County. And while fiscal year 2019-20 ended up looking different than anticipated, it didn't completely shut down the county's tourism.

That's due in part to the county's forward thinking in light of everything going on. It's working with hotels and local businesses to get safety certifications complete so customers feel safe, creating new events to churn potential revenue, and changing its budget accordingly. It's ready to spend some money as things begin to look up in the county.

"We had planned to spend more in research." tourism director Kimberly Morgan told the TDC last week during its regular meeting. "We cut that expense. Last year, we didn't spend any towards research so we would like to ask for a budget amendment of $15,000 for research."

The $15,000 will be used to further analyze tourism market trends and more to help Clay County tourism recover in the new fiscal year. Morgan also asked for an additional $50,000 for additional website development. The website has already cost the TDC $50,000 and while the new $50,000 request that can't go over budget, there is the possibility of another spent $50,000 becoming available, bringing the website's total cost to $100,000.

Morgan said she asked for $50,000 upfront, expecting not to spend all of it, instead of paying for individual projects as they arise. She said website projects can still come to the TDC for approval despite the 8-0 approval vote from the council.

"I thought we'd have more control and flexibility and we don't," Morgan said in regards to the website's current state. "Every plugin on the website affects another so if we tinker here, it could blow up over here. It's not quite as intuitive as I'd

How Florida's electorate has changed since 2016 general election

By Scott Powers For Florida Politics

How has Florida's electorate changed since the 2016 presidential election?

An examination of voter registration data in the election book closing reports for the 2016 and 2020 General elections shows Florida now has 14,441,869 registered voters. That's a 12% increase over 2016, when there were 12,863,773. There now are 5,303,254 registered Democrats, 5,169,012 registered Republicans, and 3,919,603 others.

Republicans increased their party's voter registration rolls by 618,000. Democrats added 426,000. The combined rolls of independent voters and those in third parties increased by 534,000. The Democrats' portion of Florida's electorate shrank to 37% while Republicans' grew to 36%. In 2016 Democrats' advantage was 38% to 35%.

Statewide racial breakdowns:

The voter registration data compiled and posted by the Florida Division of Elections for book closings for the 2016 and 2020 General Elections detail the declared race and ethnicity of voters by party and by county. The answers are self-definitions, and voters may decline to answer that question.

- Statewide, 61% of Florida's 2020 voters said they are white. That's down from 64% in 2016. Another 13% identified as Black. That's unchanged. Another 17% identified as Hispanic, up from 16% in 2016. Another 2% said Asian American or Pacific Islander, and less than 1% said Native American. Those are unchanged. The rest of 2020 General Election voters said multiracial, other, or declined to answer the question.
- Hispanic voters most significantly increased their clout in Florida's electorate since the 2016 General Election. The greatest increase of Hispanic voters came as independent or minor party voters. Beyond that, Democrats signed up more than did Republicans. There are 475,000 more Hispanic voters this year than there were in 2016. The independent rolls increased by about 201,000, Democrats by 149,000, and Republicans by 126,000.
- Hispanic voters now make up 18% of the Democratic Party's voter rolls, up from 16% in 2016. They make up 12% of the Republican Party's rolls, up from 11%.
- Florida has 215,000 more Black voters this year than in 2016. Almost all

Rest assured your vote will be treated with integrity in Clay

By Don Coble Managing Editor

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The staff at the Supervisor of Elections Office got to work at 5 a.m., and they won't go home until at least 10 p.m. It's a routine they've followed every day since the beginning of October.

Their workload won't slow down until the last ballot is counted during this year's General Election. Each vote by mail and early vote has to be verified, counted and counted again. And there's no margin for error.

Oon Coble

"At this point, I'm numb," said Supervisor Chris Chambless.

Chambless is known for being gregarious and direct. His handshakes are firm; his voice is commanding. For Chambless fatigue comes with assuring the integrity of an election, because there is no wiggle room for mistakes or easy shortcuts.

As of Wednesday morning, just six days before the polls finally close on Tuesday night, Chambless' office had already received 78,000 ballots. That's more that 47% of the county's registered voters. Each one of the ballots are handled separately to be counted, recounted and reconciled.

"I think we're going to be at about 60% [turnout] by Saturday," Chambless said. "We've been working 17 hours a day. We eat lunch about 4 [p.m.] so we can skip dinner. We wrap it up, go home, take a shower and a quick nap and we're right back at it.

"We don't want a thank you. We don't want phrase. We just want our citizens to know the system is sound."

Vote by mail ballots are grouped into batches. Workers first verify their identification that's been provided by the voter. Once the envelope is opened and the ballot removed from a protective sleeve, another worker will insert the ballot into the voting machine, and another verifies the ballot has been accepted. As a safeguard, the number of ballots the are compared to the number of envelopes to make sure nothing fell through the crack.

Early voting ballots received the same meticulous care. Ballots are collected at all seven early voting locations and compared to the figures provided by the voting machines at the end of the day. Ballots then are transported to the Supervisor of Elections Office. Once they arrive there, they are counted again to compare the tallies from the poll locations.

The process will be repeated every day until there are no votes to count. There are as many redundant safeguards to protect each vote as there were on the Space Shuttle.

And yet, some still question the legitimacy of the process.

Orange Park council deadlock not good for town business

By Wesley LeBlanc wesley@opcfla.com

ORANGE PARK – The town council has a problem and it's not its budget, its amendments, its ordinances or the like. It's the fact the council can't decide who should be a fifth member – and deciding vote.

The council had a relatively quiet night in terms of voting on ordinances and purchases during its most recent meeting, but it did approve a lease agreement, a purchase of public works vehicles, a purchase of police tasers and more. It made all of those decisions with four votes instead of five. These votes were less impactful on the grander scale of town issues but they were votes nonetheless and because the council can't agree on a fifth seat, the risk of a deadlocked vote was present all night.

And the stalemate has lasted for more than two months.

Two members have supported Daniel Cobreiro. Two have supported Virginia Hall. And neither side is budging.

"There has to be three votes (in favor of someone for the fifth seat) or it'll remain open until next election," council member Roland Mastandrea said. "We've looked at it, rehashed it, discussed it, reviewed it ... what are we doing to do to fill the seat?"

Every council meeting that passes without a non-deadlocked vote for a fifth seat council member is a meeting that could possibly prove pointless as the risk of deadlocked votes remains. It's hasn't been a big problem right now, although townsfolk have expressed their disappointment in a budget passed with four members rather than five, but such a problem could arise. There's a reason the council is supposed to be made up of five members and not four — an odd number of members removes the possibility of tied votes.

A tie means the city's business isn't getting done.

• Today Black voters make up about the same proportions of the major parties they did in 2016. They constitute 29% of the Democratic Party's base. They make up just over 1% of the Republican Party statewide voter registration rolls.

• Florida has 611,000 more white voters now than in 2016. Most of the increase went to Republicans. Democrats increased their registration by 41,000 more White voters. Republicans increased 10 times as much, by 417,269.

to be made up of five members that represent the entire town and yet, the council is passing its budget, purchase orders, and more as just a four-member board.

To its credit, the council once again discussed their fifth seat problem during its Tuesday night meeting on Oct. 20. That conversation led to the same place the conversation has gone for weeks.

"I think we need to reevaluate our choices and [tell each other why we're at where we're at with who we want to vote for]," Mastandrea said. "I believe we have a chance and remember this seat will only be filled through April and then an election can occur in May and the people can decide what they want."

Mastandrea and council member Eddie Henley want Cobreiro appointed to the council. Mayor Alan Watt and vice mayor Randy Anderson want Hall. Henley and Mastandrea like Cobreiro because he attends town meetings and puts in the work. Watt and Anderson want Hall because she has experience on a city council, city boards and has a great resume of experi-Mastandrea argued that Hall's past experience doesn't trump the work Cobreiro has been doing. He even took a shot at vice president Joe Biden in doing so.

"I hate to use this but it's a current example," Mastandrea said. "Let's look at what's taking place in the country right now. Joe Biden, 47 years [in government] ... was Vice President for eight years. I wouldn't say he's more qualified than anybody. Time, names, credentials, in my eyes, don't mean vou're right for the job. In my eyes, how engaged have you been and how engaged will you be [is what matters]."

Watt disagreed with Mastandrea.

"I have felt and still feel that Hall is immensely qualified with a broad range of experience and not just government, but all the stuff she does to help people ... I've always felt she was the better candidate by some distance."

Mastandrea floated the idea of starting the entire selection process over again but it begs the question: why would restarting the process end with the council selecting someone else or arriving at a conclusion different from a deadlocked 2-2 vote?

It seems the council may continue as a four-person board until May when the voters do the work the council is unable to do: select someone to represent them on the Orange Park Town Council.

Two dozen Clay County educators share $20,000 grant

Money provided by Clay Education Foundation, Community First Cares Foundation

By Wesley LeBlanc

wesley@opcfla.com

CLAY COUNTY — More than two dozen school district teachers received a portion of $20,000 of the Clay Education Foundation and the Community First Cares Foundation.

The two foundations delivered grants ranging from $500 to $2,000 to 26 educators in the Clay County School District to help teachers fund new and unique STEAM projects for their students this year. The goal is for the grant to cover the cost of this year's project for each teacher and the goal of each project is to tap into unique STEAM ideas that can be replicated for future classes.

"The grants are part of the Great Ideas Program, which is an annual program where each year, we look for innovative classroom projects in the areas of STEAM," Clay Education Foundation executive director Makayla Buchanan said. "One of the main goals is to help stimulate unique STEAM projects in the school system that impact students in a special way."

Grants were given to 26 recipients across 15 elementary, junior high and high schools. When teachers learned that their grant application was accepted however, they had no idea what was in store.

Buchanan said teachers were told they had a Google Meets meeting with someone from the county to discuss online learning and other things. This naturally put teachers on edge. The meeting started and in a couple of minutes into it, they were surprised to hear about winning a grant.

"It made me cry happy tears," McRae Elementary sixth grade language arts teacher Amy Batchelor said. "I was going into the meeting to talk about online school and then all of a sudden, they jumped in and told me I was getting the grant. It was so nice and I was so excited and happy that I started crying."

Batchelor is using the $500 grant to purchase 22 sets of the "Hunger Games" trilogy books. Her project is a nine-week project centered around the young adult

Darleen S. Lockwood, 77, formerly of Green Cove Springs, FL passed away October 7, 2020 at Palm Beach Gardens Medical Center after a 15-year battle with Alzheimer's

Darleen was born in Stamford, CT to Gerald and Roseann Shults. She met her husband Vince when she was a customer at the Shell service station where he worked, on Summer Street, in Stamford.

Darlene S. Lockwood

Darleen and

Vince moved from New Milford, CT to Green Cove Springs (Lake Asbury) in 1974. Darleen worked various jobs from property management to financial management over the years, but work did not define her as she was most proud to be a loving and devoted wife, mother, grandmother, and great grandmother.

Darleen loved plants and gardening, her many cats through the years, riding her motorcycle, and traveling the country in an RV with Vince, until his passing in December 2011.

Darleen downsized her RV, her car, and her motorcycle in 2012, and then her home, when she moved to Southern Florida in 2015 to be nearer to her son Scott.

Her final moves were to Harbor Chase in 2018 and then to Your Life of Palm Beach Gardens in 2019, both are Memory Care facilities.

Darleen was predeceased by her husband Vince, after 50 years of marriage, in 2011.

She is survived by her brother Randy Shults, her sons Scott and Todd Lockwood; granddaughters. Kavla Hunsberger. Savannah Lockwood, Mackenzie Small, and Haley Lockwood; along with 4 great grandchildren.

In lieu of cards and flowers, donations can be made in her name to the Safe Animal Shelter, in Middleburg, Florida, a no kill shelter for dogs and cats. This nonprofit shelter was very dear to the hearts of Darleen and Vince.

For Clay Today

ORANGE PARK - St. Johns River State College is ready to help local residents get back to work. The College has been awarded a Rapid Credentialing grant through the Governor's Emergency Education Relief Fund under the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act (CARES Act). The $449,000 grant will support rapid career and technical training that can lead to middle and high-wage jobs throughout Northeast Florida.

SJR State President Joe Pickens said new skill set," Pickens said.

"An additional benefit is that many of the programs serve as a springboard to future learning." Pickens continued. "It enables students to find jobs with their new credentials, yet remain at SJR State and continue their education, since many of the courses

The Rapid Credentialing program will include in-demand, short-term CTE programs in several workforce fields. Participants in the Rapid Credentialing program will have access to excellent CTE training, tailored student support and placement assistance. Specific Rapid Credentialing opportunities include:

Students must meet program and grant requirements to be eligible to participate.

The RC grant also provides support to defray certification exam costs for students currently enrolled in several health programs, provide additional academic, career and placement assistance, and purchase hands-on training equipment for the manufacturing program.

The Rapid Credentialing program criteria and applications are available online at http://SJRstate.edu/rapid_credentialing. html. For more information, call (386) 312-4232 or email RCinfo@sjrstate.edu.

The program's purpose aligns with Florida's Workforce Education Initiative "Get There" (https://gettherefl.com/) and the state's overarching goal to be number one in workforce education by 2030.

"There are people who already don't trust the government, and some of that is amplified by disinformation," Chambless said. "One of the oldest myths is about what used to be balled absentee ballots, now called vote by mail, is they aren't counted unless it's a close election. Actually, they're the first that's counted. Our first batch was 11.000 ballots. With two pages [of the ballot], that's 22,000 sheets of paper. We will be processing our third batch by this weekend."

Chambless expects about an 80% turnout for this year's election. The General Election ballot also includes races for the Presidency, U.S. House, Florida House and Senate seats and the Clay County school board. There also is an allimportant referendum to approve a halfcent sales tax for maintenance projects and the construction of new schools in the county, in addition to six statewide referendums to amend the state's consti-

In a matter of days, the current election cycle will end and Chambless group can get some rest. The bitter campaigns, negative ads and endless phone calls and texts by the candidates also will go away.

Many roadside signs will be collected. Others will be left to become little more than weathered and tattered litter that will reminder residents how deeply divided we were by politics.

While the backbiting may continue for days, if not months, at least we finally can begin to look for common solutions to rebuilding relationships and solving problems. We can get back to fixing what's wrong and strive to making things better for our children and grandchildren, instead of steeping them into a political environment of hate and destruction.

Elections were once about the exchange of ideas and a respectful debate on platforms. Our national campaigns have been far from respectful, and both sides this is the most-important election of our lifetime.

Either way, Chris Chambless' office will treat each vote with the veracity it deserves.

Challenge Enterprises to move into new headquarters

By Bruce Hope bruce@opcfla.com

ORANGE PARK – After 48 years at the same location, Challenge Enterprises will be moving its headquarters and main offices from Green Cove Springs to Kingsley Avenue in Orange Park.

Challenge Enterprises will be 50 years old in 2022. The organization is moving into a new, modern environment to keep up with growing demands.

"Now that we're 48 years old, we're finally getting space. Brand new space. I've been with the agency almost 30 years, and I've never seen this," said Challenge Enterprises Chief Operations Officer Katie Vineyard.

Challenge Enterprises provides employments opportunities for people living with differences/disabilities. Last year, they provided 180,139 employment hours.

The new facilities will provide a better working space for Challenge's brain trust to conduct their mission. Executive management will be located at the new offices along with administration.

"I think it's going to help us be right here in the heart of Orange Park; the town of Orange Park is right here. We're going to be right in the middle of it," Vineyard said. "It'll make a big difference I think in events that we can have. It's going to have grass and lighting and it's going to be beautiful."

The new location has spaces for multiple individual offices, two kitchen areas, a large conference room and a file room. In addition to newly expanded and renovated office space, there is a large outdoor area which will eventually be used for gatherings and celebrations of thigs such as National Disabilities Employment Awareness Month.

"Moving into this space is kind of our, first time new headquarters," said Stephanie Young, Activities Coordinator for Challenge Enterprises. "This will be mostly for our administrative staff and executive staff and sales teams and things like that.

We're going to keep quite a bit at the Green Cove location but what it was, is we just have grown. And when you grow, you add more kids to the family and you need more bedrooms, so that's basically what has happened. We've grown so much that we now had to create another space in Orange Park to accommodate all of our operations."

dystopian novel series written by Suzanne Collins. Students will be placed into districts, much like the districts system in the story of "Hunger Games," and then tributes will be selected.

"I love reading and I want my students to love it, too," Batchelor said. "This grant allows me to enrich my students' lives with reading in a very special and unique way."

Batchelor is excited to continue this project and hopes to swap in other young adult dystopian series' like "The Maze Runner" and "Divergent."

Executive director of the Community First Cares Foundation, Missy Peters, was able to help Buchanan announce the news to teachers, and she said it was a wonderful experience. Community First is a credit union created by educators for educators and the foundation is just a natural extension of that. Peters said the foundation was presented $10,000 to the program. Clay Education Foundation matched that $10,000, which brought the total to $20,000.

"It was a no-brainer for us," Peters said. "2020 and COVID-19 have posed some unique challenges and opportunities for teachers so to be able to fund teacher-led projects for virtual and in-person classrooms was something we were happy to have the opportunity to do.

"To see the joy these teachers had firsthand, and to know our foundation was able to help make that happen, it means a lot. It was a joyous experience for everyone involved." 10 CLAY TODAY • October 29, 2020 CLAYTODAYONLINE.COM

Facebook question of the week Who won the third, final presidential debate?

By Wesley LeBlanc wesley@opcfla.com

CLAY COUNTY – Local residents agree last week's final debate of the 2020 presidential race was more watchable than the train wreck of the first debate.

The first presidential debate last month knows that it was less of a debate and more of an hour-and-a-half of television of two men arguing like children on a playground. The debate commission found a way to quell the constant interruptions between the two by enforcing a muted mic rule during each candidate's initial two minutes for each question and it made for a much better debate experience.

"Unfortunately, for the first time in history, one of the candidates was so disruptive and uncivil [during the first debate] this is the only way to have this kind of event," Clay Today reader Domenic Musco said on our Facebook Question of the Week. "It won't much change the trajectory of the race either way."

More than 40% of registered voters in America have already voted through early voting but there are still those out there watching, undecided, looking to debates and other things to help them decide on their candidate for the 2020 race. Clay Today reader Scott Harrington said neither candidate appealed to uninformed or undecided voters.

Our readers said they believe President Donald Trump won the final debate.

"Trump won," Candy Baylor said. "Why? Because of these words: I ran for president because of you and Obama, and that is why Trump won in 2016 and he will win again on Nov. 3."

Harrington agreed and said Trump won because of how straightforward he was and how contradictory Biden was during the debate. Reader Lou Tennant poked at both sides of the aisle instead of throwing his support behind Trump or candidate Joe Biden.

"Neither person really cares if you have food on your table," Tennant said. "Not one of them sitting up on that hill either. [It's] time Americans realize 'We The People' are who's going to Drain the Swamp.'"

Rich Klinzman said muting was definitely the way to go, "due to the candidates being awful." He also said he doesn't understand how someone could vote for either. Tracy Lynn said she wished the moderator had been muted as well, as she's "sick of hearing them join in the debate instead of hearing solely from the candidates."

Both candidates now will likely take shots at their opponent in the final days of the race. Expect both of them to focus on states where they know a vote battle will take place.

What did you think of the presidential debates? What did you think of the debate commission's new mute rule?

OPMC among top 10% in nation for pulmonary, critical care

For Clay Today

ORANGE PARK — Orange Park Medical Center is among the top 10% in the nation for Pulmonary and Critical Care according to new research by Healthgrades, the leading resource that connects consumers, physicians and health systems. Each year, Healthgrades evaluates hospital performance at nearly 4,500 hospitals nation-wide for 32 of the most common inpatient procedures and conditions.

"Our colleagues and physicians have done incredible work throughout the COV-ID-19 pandemic and our Respiratory Therapy and Intensive Care teams have played a critical role in that. After seeing their dedication and compassion for our community this year, I could not be more proud to see them recognized among the top 10% in the nation," said Dr. Bradley Shumaker, Chief Medical Officer.

Orange Park Medical Center has also been recognized as a 5-star recipient in multiple categories. Hospitals receiving a 5-star rating have a lower risk of dying and a lower risk of experiencing one or more complications during a hospital stay than if they were treated at hospitals receiving a 1-star rating in that procedure or condition. From 2017 through 2019, if all hospitals as a group performed similarly to hospitals receiving 5- stars as a group, on average,

The pulmonary and critical care teams at Orange Park Medical Center were selected in the top 10% by Healthgrades. OPMC was among 4,500 hospitals considered for the award.

218,785 lives could have been potentially saved and complications in 148,681 patients could potentially have been avoided.

Five-Star recipient categories include:

- Heart Failure
- Defibrillator Procedures
- Pneumonia
- Pancreatitis
- Sepsis
- Respiratory Failure
- Diabetic Emergencies

"The importance of hospital quality is top of mind for consumers, as they are becoming more aware of the differences of care provided by different hospitals. Consumers can feel confident knowing that hospitals that are recognized for their performance provide high-quality care and superior outcomes," said Dr. Brad Bowman, MD, Chief Medical Officer, Healthgrades.

For its analysis, Healthgrades evaluated approximately 45 million Medicare inpatient records for nearly 4,500 short-term acute care hospitals nationwide to assess hospital performance in 32 common conditions and procedures and evaluated comparative outcomes in appendectomy and bariatric surgery using all-payer data provided by 16 states. Healthgrades recognizes a hospital's quality achievements for cohort-specific performance, specialty area performance, and overall clinical quality. Individual procedure or condition cohorts are designated as 5-star (statistically significantly better than expected), 3-star (not statistically different from expected) and 1-star (statistically significantly worse than expected).

Earlier this year, Orange Park Medical Center was named in the top 250 Hospitals in America for 2020 and was recognized in 10 categories for their women's care, including being among the top 5% of hospitals for labor and delivery and obstetrics and gynecology.

Sweeney Todd opens at Island Theater for two-week run

by Bruce Hope bruce@opcfla.com

FLEMING ISLAND - The Island Theatre will be performing "Sweeney Todd: the Demon Barber of Fleet Street" opening Friday, Oct. 30, through Nov. 8. The shows will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and then Thursday through Sunday the following weekend.

Daniel Osofsky is the director of the production.

"We auditioned on Aug. 2," said Osofsky. "We've been going almost exactly three months from when we open." The show is 2 hours and 40 minutes long, including a 15-minute intermission.

Four members of the cast are local high school students. One of those attends Clay High and another attends Fleming Island. Anyone 14 or older was able to audition for the show, due to the mature subject matter that Sweeney Todd entails.

Todd is a barber from Fleet Street who murders customers with a straight razor and then gives their corpses to his partnerin-crime, Mrs. Lovett. She then bakes meat pies from their flesh.

The production is perfect fit for Halloween.

"It's a great Halloween, ghost story, dark humour; it's a fun show," said Osofsky with a chuckle. "It is definitely murderous. We kept it as family friendly as you can with murder."

Tricia Williams has been the managing director for the Island Theatre since it opened three years ago. She is also a teacher at Fleming Island High.

"We're a 501-C [nonprofit organization], so our mission is theatre education," Williams said. "That's our whole mission. So when we put on shows with the local talent, with the students, as well as adults who've never been able to do something like this before, we're educating the community. Our voungest actors are like four or five, and I believe we've got one in the lobby right now, who's rehearsing who's like 75.

Sweeney Todd will be a challenging show for the actors according to Williams. The challenge comes not only from managing the subject matter and learning the lines as with any performance, but in doing so while adhering to health and safety guidelines for everyone involved.

They were cast because they were actually able to learn new ways to interpret the material," said Williams. "Especially right now with COVID [19]. They had to practice with masks and face shields and then they still had to use all of their energy and all of their acting so that way the audience still gets it.'

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the show will be at 7:30 p.m., and 2 p.m. on Sunday.

artist Tim Kelly said when the project started in 2011.

Sharon Marsh is a teacher for gifted students. She said supplies were purchased from grant money provided by the Clay Education Foundation.

"It was grant money that we used to purchase the blank pieces," said Marsh. The puzzle is a collaboration project that was started over a decade ago with the artist Tim Kelly in New York. He started it with a youth group, and then everybody saw it when they put it together, and everybody wanted to participate."

Marsh found information about it on Facebook and she reached out to him to find out how to get some of the pieces. She then worked with the guidance counselor to move the project forward. This started before classes were interrupted by the COVID-19 shutdown. At the time, the guidance counselor was working on the seven mindsets with the students, and coincidentally was on the "we are connected" module. That's when the project became a

The art teacher then became involved, working with students to help them decide what to put on the different pieces. Different faculty teams each got a part of the puzzle to work on as well.

"Fifth-grade teachers made a piece, third-grade teachers made a piece, guidance made a piece, administration made a piece, art, P.E., music, everybody got to make a piece," said Marsh.

By then, the students had also been busy working on their contributions.

Two days before it was to be assembled and mounted, the school was closed due to the pandemic, so it had to wait until the new school year.

The puzzle has a wide variety of colors, textures and designs, showing the different thoughts, ideas and feelings of everyone involved. Some pieces have paintings on them; others have multi-colored tissue paper ribbons arranged in patterns. One four-piece stretch in the middle of the puzzle features the word 'Love' with one letter on each piece in a different color. Some other pieces are as simple as '2020.' annotating the year in which the puzzle was created or are painted with mottos such as "Together we succeed."

After returning to school in August, faculty decided since the pieces were all long completed, it had to go up, even if some of the students had moved onto junior high and wouldn't see it.

"We couldn't put it in the cafeteria any longer because we needed to space out the distance eating," Marsh said. "So we just said let's find an area where everybody can see it. It's now in the hallway where the children pass it on the way to art class."

Lilly McAllister, Cali Mars and Alexia Asfaw are all second graders who participated in the project.

"I got to do it with my friends, and I feel like it's good. I like it," said Asfaw.

"I feel good because we all did it together, and we made it pretty," said Mars.

"It was really fun, and also, it made me feel like I was actually a part of something," McAllister said. "I'm pretty amazed because it looks really good, and a lot of people spent a lot of time on this."

The puzzle took about two months from beginning to completion, according to Marsh, followed by a long hiatus before it was connected and mounted. However, with the closed campus and limited visitation for health and safety reasons, few people have had the chance to see it in person.

The project is now a worldwide phenomenon. There has been so much participation that all the pieces can go up and down the Empire State Building twice. TPC architect Pete Dye, right, and project coordinator Vernon Kelly discuss construction of TPC Sawgrass. More than 40 years later, the course is one of the most iconic layouts in the world.

From swamp to second-to-none TPC Sawgrass celebrates its 40th birthday

By Don Coble don@opcfla.com

PONTE VEDRA BEACH — While others considered a 415-acre plot in Ponte Vedra Beach as nothing more than swampland more than 40 years ago, Deane Beman had a vision for something completely different and revolutionary.

One dollar and 20 years of planning later, TPC Sawgrass was raised from primordial swale to one of the most-iconic layouts in golf.

The course, which has been the permanent home to THE PLAYERS Championship since 1982, transformed the way fans watched the sport. High banks along the fairways and a favorable layout to accommodate NFL-like crowds provided a stage like no other.

For Beman, it was the culmination of a lifetime of work and vision.

"I can remember it used to be a couple thousand people watching a golf tournament – maybe 10,000 or so would watch an important event," Beman said. "Of course, today the galleries are much bigger. Building a golf course that speaks to the people coming to watch the tournament, I thought was very important concept. It was christened stadium golf. My idea for stadium golf goes back to the early '60s."

When Beman became the second PGA TOUR commissioner in 1974, he finally had the authority to turn his dream into a reality. At the same time, he could make TPC Sawgrass the permanent home to THE PLAYERS after bouncing from Atlanta, Fort Worth, Texas, South Florida and across the street at Sawgrass Country Club in the first eight years.

It wasn't easy to convince others of his unique plans. He had talks with then-PGA TOUR Commissioner Joe Dey as early as 1960 about building a different kind of golf course that would be more fan-friendly.

"It took Joe about five minutes to say he didn't like the idea," Beman said. "That was that. It went in the drawer and it sat there until I was responsible for building the PLAYERS Championship. I had the opportunity to build the golf course to accommodate the event and that's how stadium golf got started."

Beman bought the original plot for $1 from Jerome and Paul Fletcher. TPC now is the mothership of a network of 30 other spectator-friendly stadium courses around the world

But none are more revered than the first, TPC Sawgrass.

"I'm particularly proud of it," Beman said. "A lot of people were involved in getting it done. It was difficult to do. A lot of people said it couldn't be done. We prevailed over an extended period of time to bring it about. We made sure it served, not only the players, but served the public's interest.

"For a lot of reasons, the concept of stadium golf is very, very successful. [Saw-grass] was the first stadium golf course built. Others have been built after it. One that you would recognize would be Phoenix [TPC Scottsdale Champions Course]. I think the last number that I saw was the Phoenix Open got 300,000, 400,000, 500,000 people. Years ago, that was unheard of."

With the U.S. Open being conducted by the USGA; the Masters being run as an invitational; the PGA Championship being part of the PGA of America; and the British Open being the flagship event of the R&A, THE PLAYERS is the biggest tournament on the PGA TOUR schedule because the players are the stakeholders of the Tour and the course.

Although Beman clearly was ahead of his time, TPC probably has evolved into something grander than his original expectations

But it all started with one man's dream – and a single dollar.

Horatio Spafford was a 43-year-old lawyer who lived in Chicago in a suburb on the north side of the city. He was married to Anna and they had five children – one son and four daughters.

In 1871 his only son died at four years old. Later that same year the city was consumed by the great Chicago fire. Horatio Spafford's real estate investments were lost and suddenly his entire life savings were gone.

Two years later the Spafford family took a vacation in Europe. Horatio was delayed by business but his wife and four daughters sailed for their vacation on the S. S. Ville du Havre. Horatio planned to join his family in a few days.

Their ship was struck by an iron sailing vessel on November 22, 1873. The S.S. Ville du Havre sank in twelve minutes and 226 lives were lost. Among those who died were the four daughters of Horatio Spafford. When Anna Spafford arrived in Europe she cabled her husband the message: "Saved alone. What shall I do?"

Spafford immediately left Chicago to join his wife and bring her home. On his way to meet his wife, while sailing near the place where his daughters died, in the depths of his sorrow, he wrote the words to the hymn "It Is Well with My Soul."

When peace, like a river, attendeth my way,
When sorrows like sea billows roll;
Whatever my lot,
Thou has taught me to say,
It is well, it is well, with my soul.

Though Satan should buffet, though trials should come, Let this blest assurance control, That Christ has regarded my helpless estate, And hath shed His own blood for my soul.

And Lord, haste the day when my faith shall be sight,

The clouds be rolled back as a scroll; The trump shall resound, and the Lord shall descend,

Even so, it is well with my soul.

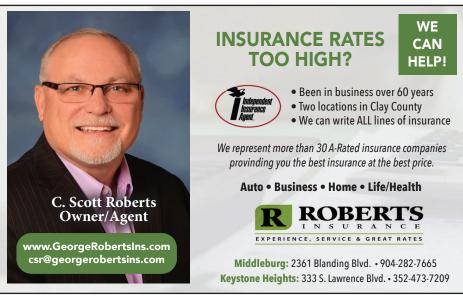

It is well, with my soul, It is well, with my soul, It is well, it is well, with my soul.

Horatio and Anna Spafford moved to Jerusalem in 1881 to serve the needs of the people there. They ministered Christ to poor Arabs and Jews bringing compassion to others from the depths of their own suffering and sorrow.

Jacksonville man arrested for robbing Walgreens

ORANGE PARK - A Jacksonville man was arrested on Oct. 15 following an armed robbery of the Walgreens at 42 Blanding Blvd.

According to the Clay County Sheriff's Office. Jerry Lee Jackson. 40. attempted to buy cigars at the front counter. He asked the cashier to change at $5 bill. When cash register opened, he pointed a gun at the back of the cashier's neck and into the cashier's throat. Jackson then grabbed about $500 cash from the drawer, CCSO said. Deputies fingerprints at the scene. They also had the robbery on surveillance tape.

The Neptune Beach Police Department reported a similar robbery at another Walgreens on Oct. 20. CCSO identified Jackson's girlfriend on County Road 220 on Oct. 21. They saw Jackson leaving her Madison Commons apartment and deputies pulled him over a couple blocks away.

Jackson remains at the Clay County Jail without bond.

Former CCSO deputy pleads guilty to child pornography

JACKSONVILLE – Travis Ryan Pritchard, 37, of Green Cove Springs, pleaded guilty to one count of producing an image of a child being sexually abused and one count of possessing an image of a prepubescent child being sexually abused. He faces a minimum mandatory penalty of 15 years, and up to 50 years, in federal prison, as well as a life term of supervised release.

Pritchard was indicted on May 20.

According to the plea agreement, at the time of the offenses. Pritchard was employed as a deputy with the Clay County Sheriff's Office and was assigned to the DUI unit. From December 2019 through May 2, 2020, Pritchard used an online chat application to communicate in a sexual manner with a 15-year-old child.

Beginning on April 29, an undercover detective from the Green Cove Springs

Police Department assumed the child's identity and continued chatting with Pritchard using the online chat application. Late in the night of May 1 and into the early morning hours of the next day, Pritchard encouraged the "child" to sneak out of the child's home to meet with him for a "quickie." In anticipation of their meeting, he sent the "child" a photograph of himself from the waist down, wearing only boxer shorts. At approximately 2 a.m. on May 2, Pritchard arrived near the child's home in his patrol vehicle, and sent the "child" a message saying, "I'm here."

A short time later, Pritchard was arrested by officers from the Green Cove Springs Police Department.

A forensic review of Pritchard's cellphone vielded multiple conversations between the child and Pritchard, as well as an encrypted secure digital folder that contained multiple depictions of child sexual

This case was investigated by the Green Cove Springs Police Department and Homeland Security Investigations. It is being prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Kelly S. Karase.

This is another case brought as part of Project Safe Childhood, a nationwide initiative launched in May 2006 by the Department of Justice to combat the growing epidemic of child sexual exploitation and abuse. Led by the United States Attorneys' Offices and the Criminal Division's Child Exploitation and Obscenity Section, Project Safe Childhood marshals federal, state, and local resources to locate, apprehend, and prosecute individuals who sexually exploit children, and to identify and rescue people experience domestic violence."

Quigley House is the county's only registered facility for persons who've been victim of domestic and sexual violence. All of the beds are filled victims of teen dating violence, LGBTQ violence, elder abuse, financial abuse, emotional and verbal abuse, stalking, sexual assault and, of course, domestic violence. But the calls keep coming.

"These are some of the most dangerous calls for service our deputies respond to," Cook said last week during a joint press conference. "This year alone, we've responded to over 1,100 calls for service involving domestic violence. Unfortunately, it's something that happens quite a bit around here. On these calls, deputies are trained to safely assess the situation, deescalate it when possible and work with the family to hopefully get them to the resources they need so they can be a happy, healthy and functioning family. Domestic violence happens at every level of society, every ethnicity, every culture.

As a personal note, it happens in every family. Unfortunately, Brandi Brooker, who was killed last week in a domestic violence situation in a neighboring county [St. Johns] was a distant relative of mine. This has affected by family personally, and our thoughts and prayers are still with Brandi's close family."

The COVID-19 pandemic has compounded the challenges for those committed to protecting victims. Traditional fundraising festivities have been postponed or reduced to virtual events. The victim hotline is manned around the clock and the phone doesn't stop ringing.

"Through July, our hotlines received over 1,200 phone calls," Rodriguez said. "Those phone calls weren't all domestic violence or sexual assault survivors, but because our staff was well-trained, we were able to manage the demand that the county has. I ask the [residents] of Clay County, who I know are so caring, kind and compassionate, to continue to offer support to us by making donations to our thrift store [at 1017 Blanding Blvd. in Orange Park] or sharing our Facebook page to help build awareness and prevention efforts and to going to our website and making a donation. During COVID, we've had a very difficult time. We had to abandon our fundraising events that make it possible for us to provide things like transportation, pet food for animals that are in a shelter and other grants can't pay for."

In the past month, there were 29 domestic and eight sexual violence arrests made by the Clay County Sheriff's Office. According to Talking Parents, 53% of domestic violence cases go unreported. The reasons are varied: embarrassment, fear of retaliation, economic dependency and an unhealthy imbalance of power in the household. Of the 29 Clay County cases, five included attempted strangulation, one was with a deadly weapon and five included a violation of protection against the accused

Brooker received a similar protection order, but the St. Johns County Sheriff's Office said she was stabbed by her estranged husband on the day it was supposed to be delivered. Derrek Wayne Perkins, 41, of Green Cove Springs, was charged with her murder

"We at the Clay County Sheriff's Office are committed to fighting domestic violence," Cook said. "In fact, we've added a number of detectives in our agency who focus solely on this crime. Part of what they do is to curb the behavior of repeat offenders. We've also expanded our platforms for reporting so we can receive information in a multitude of ways of domestic violence – victims or people who have information regarding domestic violence occurring at a location. Our domestic violence detectives, our victim's advocates, our special victims unit sergeant work in partnership with the Quigley House on an ongoing basis, making sure every victim is aware of the help that's available to them in Clay County through Quigley House, churches and various other charities and organizations in our community.

"During this pandemic, we recognize there's an opportunity for these cases to rise and go unreported. That is why it is so important for our community to speak up – speak up on behalf of the kids; speak up on behalf of the neighbors, on behalf of the victims. You can call our non-emergency number at (904) 529-5900. Of course, you can dial 911 if there's an emergency.

"We end this by bringing awareness, bringing training and holding offenders accountable."

Rodriguez said the first step is providing an outlet for someone who's been abused. "When someone comes to you and you suspect they're involved in domestic violence or sexually assaulted, please refer them to our helpline," she said. "Tell them that you believe them. You don't have to counsel them; you don't have to understand what's happening. Offering them that first initial line of support, saying 'I believe you,' can make all the difference in them continuing to move forward in their process. Our helpline is (904) 284-0061. We have advocates available 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

Rodriguez closed by asking the community to remember all of the victims.

"Let's take a moment to remember the survivors who made it out ... and those who did not."

Community still grieves for Fleming Island's Susan Mauldin one year after she was murdered

FLEMING ISLAND – Halloween decorations cover the entrance to Susan Mauldin's house on Harbor Island Drive. In fact, they've been there for more than a year. Other than a poster that reads: "FLY HIGH WITH THE ANGELS SUSAN" and several strips of evidence tape that seals what Clay County Sheriff's Office deputies believe is a crime scene, little else has changed at Mauldin's house. Local handyman Corey Louis Binderin was charged with her murder after she demanded a refund for remodeling job that wasn't completed to one of her bathrooms. Deputies said Mauldin was taken to the Rosemary Hill Waste Management Transfer Facility in Clay County, then transferred to the Chesser Island Landfill in Folkston, Georgia. Her body eventually was discovered three months following her disappearance.

Eagles close second at district swims

By Randy Lefko Sports Editor

Panama City - Fleming Island High swim coach Jordan Bright has said that his relay teams last year were good; state champions 200 medley relay good, but that 2020 was going to a shot to get gold in all three relay events; 200 medley, 200 free and 400 free.

At the District 2-3A championships, Fleming Island went two out of three with gold in the 200 medley and 200 free relays, but second to district champion Tallahassee Chiles in the 400 free relay by just a tad over one second.

For the district title, Chiles edged Fleming Island 460-453.5 in one of the closest finishes in recent history.

Two of Fleming Island High's fast foursome gold medal swimmers; Christine Johnson and Abree Clark get some practice in before heading to the Region 1-3A swimming championships to be held this week in Panama City. Johnson and Clark with the Grimm sisters; Emma and Sarah won the 200 medley relay gold last year and are top-ranked in numerous individual events so far into regions.

BARTRAM TRAIL - Oakleaf High quarterback Walter Simmons put on an offensive showcase of his skills with a 70 yard scoring pass to Cobie Bates in the first quarter and an 80 yard breakaway scoring run of his own in the second quarter, but his final pass of the night, a bomb attempt to a wide open Bates skirted off Bates' fingernails as the Bartram Trail High Bears, with a

ORANGE PARK - Orange Park High rode the legs of running back JoJo Restall for a fourth straight win as Raider head coach Tom Macpherson snagged his 100th career win with a 28-14 win over Eastside High Friday night at Hoyt B. Cotney Stadium.

"We are maturing and learning from our reps in the games," said Macpherson. "We opened with four big games; Baker County, Clay and Raines that we were just not ready for as a young team. Against Ridgeview, in game four, we missed by a touchdown, but showed we can play up to teams. The kids are not rookies anymore."

For Macpherson's career, which included a 15 year tenure as head coach at Ridgeview High School, a two year stint at Baker County and a return to Clay County to take the Orange Park slot three years

Ridgeview High wide receiver Keon Kendricks breaks for score in Panthers win over Menendez on Friday

Whipple four-score fuels Panther comeback win

ORANGE PARK — Ridgeview's Eddie Whipple had 212 all-purpose yards and scored four touchdowns as the Panthers roared back from an early deficit to clip Menendez 38-24 on Fri., Oct. 23 at Ridgeview High School in a key district matchup.

"Eddie Whipple does what others cannot do," said Ridgeview head coach Matt Knauss. "He reminds me of [former Florida Gator and NFL star] Percy Harvin."

With the win, Ridgeview improves to 6-1, setting up the Panthers' biggest regular season game in years, a date on Friday at Clay in Green Cove Springs. The Blue Devils are 6-0 after a 56-20 victory over Middleburg on Friday.

Whipple, a six-foot, 190 pounder, played wide receiver, running back and quarterback to ensure he would have the ball in his hands when the Panthers needed a big play. The junior's three catches were as many as all other Panthers combined. His 57 receiving yards accounted for half of Ridgeview's passing yards. As a running back and quarterback, the junior rushed for 155 yards on 12 carries. No other Panther had more than 45 rushing yards. All of Whipple's touchdowns came on sweeps around the end, two on jet sweeps from his receiver position and two on sweeps as a wildcat quarterback. Whipple broke tackles at the line and then found a higher gear once he broke into the clear.

Menendez dominated the first quarter. Quarterback King Benford, who finished with 180 rushing yards on 19 carries despite cramping that forced him to miss the second quarter, slithered through and around the Panthers for touchdown runs of 27 and 50 yards. Though Ridgeview's A'Taj Brown crashed in from the edge and blocked the second extra point, the Falcons led 13-0 at the end of the first quarter. Knauss explained the slow start.

"They are teenage kids," said Knauss. "I think they had their eyes on next week, the unofficial district title game (vs. Clay)."

At fullback, Panther starting linebacker Miika Tuisano ignited the Panthers' rally by getting them on the scoreboard in the second quarter with a four yard run. A Nate Jonston interception at midfield led to a 22 yard field goal by Austin Leonard, closing the deficit to 13-10. The first of safety Keon Kendrick's two interceptions, coming on a Hail Mary pass at the end of first half, made sure the Falcons would not extend their lead.

After Whipple scored on a one yard run to put Ridgeview up 17-13 on the opening possession of the third quarter, it appeared the Falcons would respond as they drove across midfield. But Benford's next pass was bobbled by wideout Tabias Brown and intercepted by Kendrick, who returned the ball 50 yards to the Menendez 9 yard line.

On the next play, Whipple took a jet sweep to the right, stiff-armed a tackler and reached the pylon, giving Ridgeview a two-score lead with 3:34 remaining in the third quarter.

The Falcons fought back with an 80-yard drive that culminated with Noah Lawless' six yard burst up the middle. When freshman Zander Martin ran for a two-point conversion, the Ridgeview lead was 24-21 with 11:55 remaining in the game.

Buchholz turns back Fleming Island after second-half comeback

By Joshua Wilson

GAINESVILLE – For the Fleming Island Golden Eagles, close games and comebacks have been a common theme so far with a dramatic come-from-behind win over Creekside and an overtime loss to Oakleaf in previous weeks.

In Gainesville, against a Buchholz High team that has annually been a thorn in both Oakleaf and Fleming Island's sides, another comeback, unlike a few weeks ago against Creekside, was not as successful as the Bobcats turned back the Golden Eagles' late-game efforts to claim a 24-21 home victory at Citizens Field

"Our kids know to stay the course," said Fleming Island head coach Damenyum Springs. "They know to stay the course, don't drop your head, stay focused, do your assignments and just keep playing until the whistle blows."

Things got started quickly for Buchholz who took the first possession down the field with a four-and-half minute drive torching the Golden Eagles defense through the air that would be capped off by a 25-yard touchdown pass from Creed Whittemore to Adrian Sermons with 7:36 to go in the first quarter.

With the ball in hands of the Golden Eagles for their first drive, it was time to see they would respond to the impressive drive that the Bobcats. Fleming Island tailback Timothy Thomas romped for 41 yards to the Bobcat 21 in a show of force to respond, but the Golden Eagles stalled and a field goal attempt was blocked.

However, the blocked field goal was mirrored with a Buchholz wide-left field goal by Buchholz near the end of the first quarter that kept the score the same.

Things from there seemingly got worst for Fleming Island instead of better after the missed Buchholz field goal

Ray runs roughshod in Clay to win over Broncos

By Bruce Hope Staff Writer

MIDDLEBURG – The Clay High Blue Devils' football team continued their undefeated season Friday, with an emphatic 56-28 win over the Middleburg High Broncos Friday night at Middleburg.

"The offensive line really opens up a lot of holes for that guy [Ray]," said Clay head coach Kyle Kennard. "He's a special, special kid. He runs hard, and I'm glad he's on my football team; I'll tell you that. We have a really good offensive staff that understands how to run the football and which way we need to run the ball and the certain plays we need to put our guys in to be successful, so we got a really good staff, and our guys do a really good job of scheming up teams and getting our kids in good play to be successful."

A dominant ground game was the catalyst for the Devils' success, compiling 424 yards on the ground. Star Blue Devils running back Al'querious Ray literally and figuratively carried the Blue Devils offense, averaging a hair under 16 yards per carry on the night, for a total of 284 rushing yards and five touchdowns in less than three-quarters of work.

Clay High linebacker Tristan Keith goes low to take down Middleburg tailback Austin Dillon in Blue Devils' win over Broncos.

Overall, the focus was on the Blue Devils' running game, who attempted only seven passes on the night, completing five. Junior wide receiver D'Maurion Frazier was the most significant weapon through the air, hauling in receptions of 50 and 40 yards to set up touchdown runs.

"We take what defenses give us," said Kennard. "If we need to throw the

I think it took three games to get my first win and we finished 3-7. But, we went 7-3 the next two years and went to the playoffs both years." Moore miracles fall just short stymie Panther playoff hopes

ST. AUGUSTINE - An emotional Tom Macpherson had tears in his eyes in front of his Ridgeview High Panther football team after their hard-fought 35-26 FHSAA Region 1-6A loss to unbeaten St. Augustine and congratulated his boys for being the best-ever football team he has coached in his 12 years at the helm. "You guys are truly family because tonight you proved that you would do anything to make this team win and you fought to the very end tonight," said MacPherson, who finishes at 9-2 for the year. "When it's this close and you lose like this, it's tough."

More pointedly, Macpherson, afterward, admitted that he had not adjusted his defensive scheme quickly enough to offset the two scores put out by the Yellowjackets on a simple draw play that helped St. Augustine running back Levent Sands hit for 261 rushing yards with a game-opening 70 yard score on the third play of the game and an 80 yard score in the fourth quarter.

"We worked on the draw all week," said Macpherson. "It's been a great season, but, in the end, we have nothing to show for it. St. Augustine is a great program."

The best finish for Macpherson, as he recalled, was winning a district title against Columbia Lake City in 2008, his first title.

"They were one of the winningest programs of all time back then and continue to be," said Macpherson. "That one was pretty good."

One of the biggest heartbreaks for Macpherson was a close game loss to Raines while at Ridgeview that wound up a 13-7 final. Macpherson, after his 2008 district title, remembered a third round playoff game against Daytone Beach Seabreeze that would have propelled the Panthers to the Final Four.

"Not that getting to the third round was bad, but we had a great season going, we had three playoff games at home and, I thought that game was most disappointing because we had a good chance of taking the program somewhere it never went in a short period of time," said Macpherson. "That team had guys like Josh Moore, Stanley Dye, Qhahlin Patterson and Ramsey Meyers who all wound up playing good college football after Ridgeview."

For underrated athletes under Macpherson's watch, Orange Park High wide receiver Diego Soto and safety Spencer Kirkham jogged his memory for players that came in with little fanfare, but produced on the field.

"Both Diego and Spencer when they got here as freshman were considered decent junior high players, but not many people thought they would finish as three year starters and big time players for Orange Park High," said Macpherson. "At Ridgeview, guys like Tyler Thomas and Zack McGee came back to coach with me. Derek Hatcher was a big time player. Shane Hoskins was just a guy that when that team got off the bus, you would think they would be a factor in the game but we got to the third round of the playoffs."

The guy Macpherson coached that was his most impressive player was, ironically, CeCe Jefferson, out of Baker County, who wound up on scholarship at the University of Florida and had a short stint in the NFL.

"He was a defensive end with enough athletic ability to play tight end or fullback on offense," said Macpherson. "Around here, Kendy Charles was a multiple sport athlete; track, soccer, weightlifting and football that is now a freshman defensive end at Liberty University. Josh Moore, at quarterback and kicker, was great at both and pushed the program to that 9-1 season."

Macpherson' guy to tap into for football advise and knowledge is St. Augustine's retired legend Joey Wiles, a common nemesis for Clay County football.

"My go to has always been Joey Wiles," said Macpherson. "We played against him during the year and twice in the playoffs. He got St. Augustine to being a great program year in and year out." Macpherson's top nemesis on the sideline had been former Clay High coach Joshua Hoekstra.

"He beat me more than I beat him, but we were similiar guys on the sidelines; extremely excitable," said Macpherson. "We were both running up and down the sideline, yelling across the field at each other. He made it fun."

For Macpherson, his biggest asset, in his mind, is his loyalty and resilience to the players under his care. "I've never been a guy that goes out and gets kids to make my program better, but I take what I get and try to get the most out of them," said Macpherson. "The county being with six high schools very close to each other makes it easy to go to a different school each year. The longevity of it is what tells the kids that I'm here for the program. I have taken my licks, but keep showing up. I've been 1-9 and 9-1. I'd like to be known as a guy who builds something and not a guy who inherits then moves on to the next thing.

Silkert outkicks Mussante for County XC title

LAKE ASBURY - Throughout the 2020 cross country season, Oakleaf High's girls duo of Taylor Silkert and Sierra Barrera have been just outside the top five finishers of races, but with steady improvement of time that has created tense moments for Knights' coach James Henderson.

"They have both been running hard since the summer and both have great track finishing speed in the 400 and 800," said Henderson. "It has just been a matter of time before their distance buildup would catch up to their track speed. Finishing under 20 minutes is going to happen soon."

At the Middleburg Bronco Classic, Silkert finished fifth in 20:52 with Barrera on her side in 20:56.

On October 17, at the Fleming Island Invite, Mussante outdid Silkert in their first head to head dual; 20:33 to 20:51 on the same Van Zant course with Barrera fourth at 20:59.

In the Clay County Cross Country Championship race, held Saturday at Lake Asbury's Ronnie Van Zant Park, both Silkert and Barrera were on both sides of Middleburg High's Emma Mussante throughout most of the race. Orange Park's Sofia Menendez bravely was amongst the threesome in the early part of the race, but later succumbed to the pace and fell back.

At the halfway point, just Silkert, Mussante and Barrera were up front as harrier fans anticipated some kind of dramatic finish.

Notable was that Fleming Island's front five squad; Emma Millson, Grace Adams, Marisa Kortright, Mei Chiang and newcomer Allie Knotts, were running as a pack just 10 yards behind and would eventually win the team title.

"We knew the Fleming Island girls would run as a pack so today would be for someone else although Mussante has run great times all season and Millson has been the top runner in the county so far, Taylor and Sierra have been steadily improving from 22 minutes to just about 20 as the season has progressed," said Henderson.

dramatic 54 yard field goal, beat Oakleaf 30-27 Friday night at Bartram Trail High School.

"We talked to the kids all week that this was the de facto district championships," said Oakleaf coach Frank Garis, referring to the recently released playoff schedules for 2020 with teams paired through a blind random drawing despite records. "We have too much in our program to say, 'don't worry, we'll see you again', we put it all out on the table tonight."

In yet another classic matchup of the two northeast Florida powerhouses, Oakleaf High jetted to a quick 20-3 lead off the Bates catch and an Adrian Gray scoring run to answer Bartram Trail's opening drive field goal.

"They are the number one team in the area," said Garis. "The reason is that they play a full 48 minutes of football, great execution and they make it insanely hard on us with their style of offense; that triple and quadruple option style. We have to be technically sound on every play."

Garis' frustration comes from playing great games against Bartram Trail but no wins.

"We are a program beyond moral victories against teams like this," said Garis.
"It's about finishing these games and winning these games."

Oakleaf High's defense, led by interceptions from Larry Smith and Trey Thomas, kept the Bears high-octane offense in check for most of the game with linebacker Deric Andrews nearly blocking a second quarter field goal attempt that went wide left on Andrews' hurry. Bartram Trail had one blocked PAT kick of Drew Ammon in the first quarter.

"Our defense dictates that we can take some fourth down chances in a game," said Garis. "Those guys on defense give us the confidence to do that."

Garis noted that Bartram Trail's success was found off the corners of the Knights' defense scheme.

"Our two big guys in the middle; Lamon Robertson and De'Areion Scott, made them not be able to give the ball to the dive back in the middle of the field," said Garis. "Those two kind of flat-walled the line of scrimmage and made them more and more of a pitch team on the triple option. Those two made them turn the game into our unblocked defenders on the outside."

In the second quarter, Bartram Trail flipped the field and forced two Oakleaf punts from the end zone that set up one touchdown on a four yard run as the Bears cut the early lead to 13-10 just before Simmons, with a start at the Knights; 20, found a seam off his center guard gap and galloped to paydirt on the first play after the kickoff to put the lead back at 20-10.

"That was just a big hole with a lot of space and I just ran," said Simmons, who has time on the Oakleaf High track team in the 100 and 200 meter dashes. "Our line moved them."

play for Bartam Trail with a full horizontal interception that gave the Knights the ball near midfield. Bartram Trail's defense locked down with a tackle for loss of Gray that put Ammon on the for a punt.

Ammon, in the Knights' quarterback rotation with Tanner Walker, calmly threw a perfect pass to Bates that put Oakleaf's offense back on the field, but Oakleaf stalled on four downs.

"We've worked that during practices and it was a good time to try it," said Garis.

Bartram Trail got a big run from tailback A.J. Jones, but also stalled and settled for a field goal to score the game 20-13 with 3:36 left to the half.With Bartram Trail kicker David Kemp putting all of his kickoffs out of the end zone and forcing Oakleaf to start most of their drives from 80 yards away, Gray exploded for 24 yards on the first carry after the kickoff to put Oakleaf near midfield with about a minute to halftime, but Simmons misfired on passes to end the half.

In the third, Oakleaf was hampered by a Devin Outlaw fumble on their first drive that ended at midfield.

Oakleaf punched in with strong defense that ended with a fourth quarter pass break up from Isaiah Jones at the Oakleaf 35. Bartram Trail got their own four and out defensive stand with Gray stopped short on fourth and three yards.

"We still are focusing on finishing, we started out strong in the first half which I was excited about," said Garis. "We played unbelievably well on defense, but we have to convert."

Bartram Trail took over at their own 39 and moved swiftly into Oakleaf territory, but Thomas stepped in front of a drag route to snag an interception at the Knight 19 yard line.

Into the fourth period, with the scoring knotted at 20-20, Gray broke through the line and outran the Bears defense for an 80 yard scoring run that gave the Knights a 27-20

"Adrian week in and week out will deliver for us," said Garis. "He's a volume guy that wants the ball and when he hits, he hits big. He ran away from kid on that play that has three or four Division I offers."

Again, Oakleaf's defense got a turnover with cornerback Darrell Livingston emerging from a scrum with the ball at the Bears' 44 yard line. The Bears caught Simmons for a sack on fourth and two to take over at their own 22 with 5:37 left in the game.

A quick pass to Jones downfield turned into a 50 yard gain with missed tackles with Jones finally wrestled down at the Oakleaf 30. Two more quick passes put the Bears at the Knights' nine yard line where Jones finished the effort to tie the game at 27-27 with 3:40 to go.

Bartram Trail knocked down a Simmons pass on fourth and two to thwart an Oakleaf scoring effort at the Bears' 40 with 2:32 left.

With Kemp warming up on the sideline, Bartram Trail coach Darryl Sutherland was banking on his all star kicker with runs putting ball at the Knights' 35 yard line. Oakleaf linebacker Chrystian Sellers smashed Jones on third down and put Kemp's spot at 54 yards away, but, undeterred, Kemp nailed the kick for the apparent gamewinner.

Again, starting at their own 20 after Kemp's end zone kickoff at 1:23 to go, Simmons missed twice before lofting a fourth down rainbow in Bates' direction behind the Bears secondary that caromed off Bates' fingertips and fell to the ground to end the game.

Middleburg did their best to keep the game close, pulling to within 22-15 with 1.28 remaining in the first half. Ray would score two more touchdowns in the next 63 seconds on runs of 25 and 47 yards to stretch the lead to 36-15 going into half-time.

Broncos quarterback Luke Padgett was their best weapon, rushing for four touchdowns and 190 yards. In the end, though, the rushing defense left the Broncos down as time after time, Ray and company gashed them en route to the win.

their next possession, but the defense came through by forcing a fourth Falcons turnover. Defensive end Josh Dorsanvil stripped Benford as he raised his arm to throw, picked up the loose ball and returned it 27 yards to the five yard line.

"He is six-foot five [inches], and he comes off the edge fast," Knauss said of Dorsanvil, who was an All-County tight end in 2019 but moved to defense this year upon the request of his coaches. "He has just been making plays."

Whipple, lined up as the wildcat quarterback, took a direct snap, broke a tackle and followed a caravan into the end zone on the next play to give Ridgeview a 30-21 lead. Menendez responded with a 24 yard field goal by Bryce Addison to trim the Ridgeview lead to 31-24.

On the ensuing possession, a bad shotgun snap and a loss of yardage on a running play left Ridgeview with a third and 20 from their own 32 yard line with two minutes remaining. Again out of the wild-cat formation, Whipple ran to his right, followed a crushing block by receiver Spencer Calise, turned the corner and outran the pursuit to the end zone for his fourth touchdown, putting the game away.

"Everyone in the stadium knew who the ball was going to go to," said Knauss, who was just hoping to make Menendez burn a time out before Ridgeview punted. "He [Whipple] is just an all-star."

The Panthers gave up 307 rushing yards, but Knauss was pleased that they had faced an athletic team that runs the read option as much as Menendez did, and with the fact that his charges rallied from the two-score deficit. The four turnovers forced by the Ridgeview defense led to 17 points.

"We will see the best read option offense in Clay County next week," said Knauss. "We have to force them to do what they do not like to do. If we trust our reads, we will stop it."

Menendez, which fell to 2-4, lost to Clay 49-7 on October 16. The Falcons host Orange Park on October 30.

Bobcats defense shut things down quickly forcing Fleming Island to go three-and-out.

On the ensuing snap for the punt to give the ball back to the Bobcats, the snap went off weak hitting the ground, but by the time punter Colt Hyams had the ball recovered the Buchholz defense swarmed him, taking him down at the 35-yard line to set the Bobcats up with their best field position of the night.

Buchholz capitalized swiftly with running Quan Smith capping off the short drive with a 10-yard touchdown drive with 8:25 left to go in the second quarter.

The only spotlight of the first half for Fleming Island came from Darius Harris who intercepted a deep pass that resulted in a 50-50 ball being aimed for Buchholz's Quan Lee deep inside Fleming Island territory. Buchholz's last touchdown of the game, to go up 21-0 before the half, would come with 1:26 left in the first half with a nine-yard touchdown run by Jacarree Kelly. "On defense, we weren't getting lined up. We weren't getting lined up with what they were running," said Springs. "Didn't know exactly what they were running so we went into the second half and made adjustments. On offense, we kind of expected that, but not really that. That is not our starting quarterback [about Kojak starting], he was out."

On the opening possession of the second half, Fleming Island didn't take much time off the clock when the Golden Eagles finally found a way to punch back against the Bobcats' aggressive defense with a Sam Singleton 55-yard touchdown run to cut Buchholz's lead to 21-7 with 9:27 left in the third quarter.

Buchholz's defense wasn't letting go of things, making the Golden Eagles pay after tight end Timothy Lawrence caught a TK Kocak pass when Damien Curtis was able to land a big pop on Lawrence and striping Lawrence of the ball and recovering the fumble at the Buchholz 49-yard line with 2:43 left in the third quarter.

The Bobcats, however, were unable to convert the turnover into points, giving the ball back to the Golden Eagles.

It only took two plays thanks to an 89-yard touchdown pass play from Koack to Timmy Thomas, who had been shut down most of the night in the run game thanks to the Bobcats' defense.

That touchdown cut the Bobcats' leads down 21-14 with 1:42 left in the third quarter.

With the comeback game on for the Golden Eagles, finding their grove both offensively and defensively when Darryl Nesmith intercepted a Whittemore pass to give the Golden Eagles two interceptions on the night.

That interception set things up in great field position for the Golden Eagles which would be spurred further by another big Singleton run to the red zone that would then be capped off by a five-yard touchdown run by Kocak with 10:42 left to go in the game. Attempting to run the clock out, the Bobcats settled for a 23-yard field goal from Hunter Smith who has previously missed the first-quarter field goal to put

With still enough time left to get the go-ahead score or at least tie things up, it wouldn't be the case in this situation for the Golden Eagles when Bobcats safety Donny Hiebert intercepted the pass with 2:26 left in the game, allowing the Bobcats to run out the clock.

"We went in and made our adjustments on defense, we got our guys lined up in the right spots and our guys went and started making plays," said Springs. "The offense saw something that we could slip some guys out and make some big catches and take it the distance and they executed the game plan well in the second half."

Fleming Island, which falls out of the FloridaHSFootball.com Class 7A rankings with the loss, will close out regular-season action on Friday night at Atlantic Coast in Jacksonville with the tilt kickoff at 6 p.m. before taking the following week off in preparation for hosting Cantonment Tate in an FHSAA Class 7A play-in playoff game on Friday, Nov. 13.

With a 10 yard gap in front of them, Mussante and Barrera staged their own dramatic battle to the finish line with Mussante mustering up enough finishing speed to edge Barrera.

Silkert would hit 20:19.60 with Mussante in at 20:30.00 and Barrera third at 20:30.35.

"I had Homecoming last night," said Mussante at the finish. "They both ran strong."

Behind the trio, Fleming Island's five rolled in to take fourth through eighth with Kortright dubbed top finisher at fourth.

Fleming Island would get a new name as a sixth runner in Elliott Baker in ninth at 21:59.99.

Middleburg finished second behind a strong front from Whitney Mathis at 10th in 22:05.58.

Oakleaf finished fourth with Clay third.

Clay High had a strong showing with four runners finishing in the top 20; Savannah Hill (11th), Ulyana Damme (12th), freshman Kaygon Williamson (18th) and Madisyn Blackburn (19th).

In the boys race, Fleming Island High senior Jaydon Scherer dominated from the front wiht a 17:16.63 run with freshman teammate John Keester IV second at 17:27.90 and Ridgeview High's James Snipes strong at third in 17:29.91.

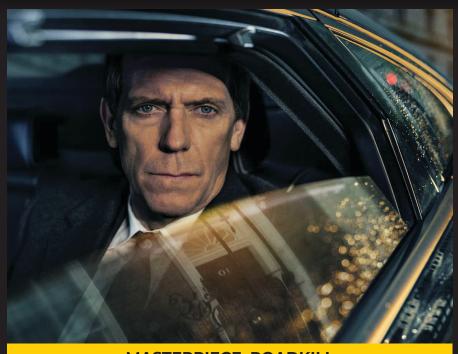

Fleming Island won with 18 points with Middleburg at 68 and Ridgeview 82 for the top three.

Lake Asbury was led at quarterback by Cassidy Miceli with speedster Yulianna Garcia who befuddled the defensive efforts of Oakleaf aggressive front line.

On the Lake Asbury defensive line, Saige Bialek wreaked havoc on the Oakleaf offense with fast rushes and a handful of sacks behind the line of scrimmage.

Wide receiver Janiya Anderson got the Tigers on the scoreboard first with a pass play from Miceli, but wideout Emma Rayes could not snag the PAT pass in the back of the end zone as the score stood 6-0.

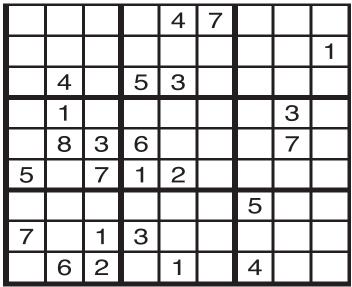

An interception by Savannah Milam set up Lake Asbury's next score with Rayes holding on to the six pointer in a second shot at the end zone.

The score stood 12-0 at the half with Lake Asbury coaches James Black and Rodney Ivey knowing the championship pedigree of Oakleaf under coach Wanda Franklin would not sit back in the second half.

A final punt return for touchdown from Garcia was the final score for Lake Asbury.
