Addressing overcrowding at Oakleaf High

School board hosting town hall to discuss plans

By Wesley LeBlanc

wesley@opclfa.com

CLAY COUNTY - The school district soon will hold a town hall with Oakleaf parents about redrawing boundary lines that may mean their children will attend a different school.

The town hall will be on Friday, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m. at Oakleaf High, and the parents with school children in the Oakleaf area are invited. Seniors and juniors will have the option to go to a different school after the boundary lines are redrawn but their spots at the original school is guaranteed. Rising eighth, ninth and 10th graders are

Residents at Signature HealthCARE, CCSO celebrate Martin Luther King Jr. Day

By Bruce Hope

bruce@opcfla.com

ORANGE PARK – Despite strict regulations in place to protect staff and residents from the transmission of the COVID-19 virus, Signature HealthCARE of Orange Park and officers from the Clay County Sheriff's Office took time on Monday, Jan. 18, to commemorate Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

"I just feel like they know what happened, and they were there," said Barbara Nicholls, Director of Activities for Signature. "A lot of them were there, and they understand it all. My goal is to make them happy and content, and if this is one of their feelings, this is what I want to do. I just do the best I can for my residents."

Nicholls reached out to the sheriff's office to ask if it could come by and support the event. With regulations in place for the residents' health and safety, entry into the facility is tightly controlled. That didn't stop the officers, who walked around the building, smiled and waved at residents through windows, while carrying a poster that celebrated the life and work of Dr. King. The poster featured some of his famous quotes along with a collage of pictures.

Meanwhile, some residents held a march in the hallways, reenacting one of Dr. King's most famous and duplicated strategies for bringing attention to injustice and trying to affect change.

"We're just showing our support for all of the citizens here that have been kind of cooped up with all the COVID and everything like that on the Martin Luther King anniversary day," said CCSO Lt. Vincent Hall. "Just wanted to come by and show them that we're still thinking about them even though we are kind of out of sight out of mind right now. Martin Luther King did do a lot of good for the civil rights movement. A lot of it's come to light recently, obviously, with the goings-on throughout the United States lot to him too. He stood for a lot of great things, and he certainly didn't advocate for any of the violence that we've seen in recent times. And we really appreciate the fact that we're supported here and a lot of that we owe to the elderly like these people here"

The opportunity to celebrate the life of a titan of the civil rights movement was not lost on Signature Healthcare's residents. Not only did some march the hallways, they also enjoyed the presence of the officers brandishing the poster at their windows.

Robert Garrett is the president of the resident council of Signature and has lived there for more than two years.

"It's Martin Luther King's birthday, and we're gonna celebrate it the best way that we can," said Garrett. "I think it means a lot to everybody because he was a great man in his own way. That doesn't go for color — nothing. Martin Luther King didn't see color. He saw the individual. And that's my opinion. That's why he was so widely respected. There are some people, and all they see is color. But he didn't. He lived his life for everybody."

Free business marketing workshop offered to provide new ways to reach customers By Wesley LeBlanc "Marketing is kind of like alphabet s

CLAY COUNTY – The county's tourism department is offering a one-of-a-kind marketing workshop next week free of charge to all business owners.

Marketing is an important aspect of owning a business, but it's a facet that's become increasingly important in light of CO-VID-19. Traditional marketing doesn't work the same way it used to, and businesses have had to shift to a more pandemic-inmind approach. This workshop was created to fill those gaps.

"One of our tourism development council members, Pat Sickles from the River Park Inn, requested that we provide a program showing businesses not only what we're doing but how best businesses can tap into the county's tourism efforts," said Clay County Director of Tourism Kimberly Morgan.

That's exactly how the upcoming marketing workshop scheduled for 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Jan. 27 at the Thrasher-Horne conference center came to be. It's free for everyone and registration begins at 1:30 p.m. before the workshop begins at 2 p.m.

Morgan said the goal is to educate of the possible platforms available to owners.

"Marketing is kind of like alphabet soup these days...there are so many different things to think about and each of them are just as important as the next," Morgan said. "With small businesses owners being more time-starved than ever before, digital marketing is a way to stretch their budget. The agency we contacted for this event, Evok Advertising, is going to come in and walk people through digital marketing, what it is and how to make it work for them and their specific needs."

She said the workshop will be recorded for those who miss the workshop or aren't yet comfortable with in-person events, although Morgan said the event will be socially-distanced and follow CDC guidelines. She said different Evok team members will be dialing in their specific specializations, be it search engine optimization, Google, social media or something else. The county's Evok account executive, Allison Braunstein, will be at the event to present what she knows.

"They're the people watching the trends, making sure there is a return-of-investment, and noticing when to change media focus," Morgan said. "The goal is to pass along that knowledge to our business owners here in Clay County."

Will Trump still play a big role in Florida politics for Republicans?

By Jacob Ogles

For Florida Politics

As the Republican Party of Florida holds its annual meeting, political leaders in Florida look to a future without Donald Trump as President. But with Trump and some of his adult children moving to Florida, it's not necessarily a future without Trumpism.

Even after the Capitol riots led to a second impeachment for the outgoing President, prominent Republican leaders say he remains popular with the base.

"The support in Florida is still strong," said JoAnn DeBartolo, Collier County state committeewoman. "We're still having rallies on corners." That included "Stop the Steal" rallies outside Senators homes ahead of certification of electoral results, which prompted upheaval in Washington last week. But in conservative areas like Naples, it has continued even in the period afterward

Christian Ziegler, vice chair of the Republican Party of Florida and Sarasota state committeeman, decried the violence in the Capitol last week. But he also said critics who hold Trump responsible only served to be more divisive and inspire defense of the President among his supporters

"Look, the energy and enthusiasm in the Republican Party has never been greater than it is under Donald Trump," he said. "With Donald Trump being a Florida resident with his home in Mar-A-Lago, and Southeast Florida really being a hub of activity for Donald Trump and Trump supporters, I think he is going to have a long-lasting impact on the party going forward."

Ziegler went so far as to predict Republicans running for office will continue to brand themselves as Trump-style politicians for years.

"After Ronald Reagan was President, for 20 years the first mailer out of the gate for any candidate was to say 'I am a Ronald Reagan Republican.' I believe the first one out of the gate for a long time, at least for the immediate future, will now be

Meyer's hiring comes with big risks; chances for bigger rewards

By Don Coble Managing Editor

The Jacksonville Jaguars hoped they finally found their man to lead the hapless, often laughable, franchise from the bottom on the National Football League.

It's clear the Jaguars needed a major overhaul. They needed a bold new direction. They needed a restart like no other.

Hiring Urban Meyer was the thunderclap that got everyone's attention. Added with presumptive pick of Clemson quarterback Trevor Lawrence with the first pick of the NFL Draft, 10 other draft picks and $80 million in salary cap, there's plenty of reason to feel good about the prospects of finally fielding a competitive team.

Meyer certainly has an attractive record. He won two national championships at Florida and another one at Ohio State. As a college coach, he was 187-32 and 12-3 in bowl games.

As a professional coach, however, his record is 0-0.

It's clear Shad Khan was laser-focused on resuscitating Meyer's career – literally – for the third time. He left Florida after six years for health reasons. He left Ohio State after seven years for health reasons. See a pattern?

The Gators won 65 of 80 games – including five of six against Georgia in Jacksonville – during his tenure, 31 of his players were arrested, including tight end Aaron Hernandez, who was convicted of murder.

He left after the 2010 season because of chest pains, which eventually was diagnosed as Gastroesophageal reflux disease.

Shortly after he left, there were reports the Gators' locker room had a "toxic atmosphere" with Meyer creating a circle of trust that only included star players who were allowed to skip workouts and whose positive drug tests results were kept from the public.

Florida went 7-6 the year after Meyer left.

Less than two years later Meyer made a miraculous recovery to become the head coach at Ohio State. He stayed with the Buckeyes for seven seasons, compiling an 83-9 record and the 2014 national championship.

A Clay County COVID vaccine success story

Dear Editor:

My 110-pound German Shepherd dog, JEB, who thinks he is RIN-TIN-TIN incarnate, woke me at 5:40 a.m. Sometimes he lets me sleep late. For some reason this particular morning he was adamant that I rise a little bit earlier.

While JEB was outside, I fired up my Ipad in earnest to see if I might snag an appointment for a COVID vaccine shot that was published to be happening in my county (Clay county, FL) on Jan. 18.

I had tried to navigate the Clay County government website to secure two coveted spots for my wife and me for several days prior and thought that I might be just barking up a tree at a squirrel like JEB does so often. This morning, at 5:46 a.m., I clicked on an 1:25 p.m. slot. BINGO, I got one for my wife! I tried several other times to get a second slot for me to no avail. At this time. JEB came back in after his business and feed and "barked" that these slots would go fast. He "suggested" that I not give up just yet and try the last slot at 3:40 p.m. BINGO, I snagged that as well for me. I received a confirmation email for my wife, but, alas, not for me.

I called the number given for the Ascension hospital vaccine clinic who were providing these shots at the Clay County Fairgrounds to ask if I might be able to get a shot as well. A very friendly phone receptionist named Wanda said that I should show up and someone would probably "stick my arm."

With paper work in hand and military ID for TRICARE insurance, MEDICARE card and Florida driver's license, we drove the 30 minutes from Orange Park to the fairgrounds to see what would happen. I fully expected to be turned away. We arrived 10 minutes early for her 1:25 p.m. appointment to see a crowd of old folks just like us standing patiently by outside the tent. I told my wife that this was going to be a wait that I would not want to experience again at my later appointment time. Very soon we were told that they were about 15 minutes behind schedule. We also learned that I could accompany her at her time slot and receive my shot as well. I'm now happy.

Precisely at 1:40 p.m., we both were called to the check-in tent. After a few minutes at that table, we were given numbers 1595 and 1596 and we were ushered to a covered table to fill out the appropriate medical forms. I was pleased to notice that there was an attendant that wiped down both seats and our table. After filling out that paperwork we were ushered to an adjacent covered area - with standup heaters no less - to wait our turn to be called to receive our vaccines. No more than 15 minutes later our numbers were called. Our credentials were checked and we went to another covered area and received the shots. We were then escorted to a final waiting area and sat there for 15 minutes to ensure there was no allergic reactions by either of us. At the expiration of that time, we presented our completed paperwork to a medical professional. He asked if we were feeling fine, gave us a date and time to come back for our second dose in four weeks and directed us to the exit where we received a gift bag from an Ascension hospital representative. We walked back to the car feeling pretty pleased with ourselves and the experience as a whole. We even passed a food truck that was on site for anyone who might be hungry. We thought that was a nice touch!

I wish to thank the people at Ascension [St. Vincent's Clay County] for their outstanding organizational abilities to pull off giving 2,500 vaccines in one day They had scores of folks on hand and all were most helpful, friendly and skillful while putting everyone at ease. At the national level, I thank the administration who promised and made possible "Operation Warp Speed" to get the vaccine made and who held big Pharma company's feet to the fire to get the vaccines made in a remarkably short period of time. I thank the Florida state governor for making the decision to move up the 65 and older group more toward the front of the queue, a policy I believe to be accepted nationwide. And to the local Clay county government officials who made possible the location and to those under their purview that actually provided the ancillary support. Lastly, to the small Green Cove Springs community for doing the "small town thing" and providing for its citizens.

It was a pleasure to be surrounded by my fellow 65-year old-plus citizens who were remarkably calm and patient as they waited their turn, all wearing masks and socially distancing with nary a complaint. I trust the younger generations will follow our lead.

Oh veah, thanks JEB for getting me up that early and making me finish my business that morning. You have saved me from bears and varmints in the past and now possibly COVID! You can expect an extra treat in the morning. Just keep your big paws off of me when I'm sleeping, please!

Ascension St. Vincent's provides 2,500 COVID-19 inoculations

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – A orderly steady stream of cars pulled into and away from the Clay County Fairgrounds last Monday, Jan. 18, as part of a day-long vaccination event for COVID-19 provided by Ascension St. Vincent's. The hospital gave 2,500 inoculations during a nine-hour stretch, and for most, the event had few, if any, glitches. Patients who fit the first level of priority for the Moderna vaccine – people 65 or older or healthcare workers who have direct contact with other patients – signed up online for their free vaccinations in advance. Once they arrived, they were taken into a tent to register and fill out medical forms, then into one of the Exhibition Halls were 30 technicians, doctors and nurses were waiting to give the shot. After that, patients were asked to wait for at least 15 minutes to make sure there were no side effects. All patients also were given an appointment time for their second, and final dose, of the vaccine in a month.

GSC celebrates Acres' promotion at police department; approves Food Truck Fridays

By Bruce Hope bruce@opcfla.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The Green Cove Springs City Council and Police Chief joined Tuesday night for the promotion ceremony of Communications Officer Brandi Acres to Communications Supervisor.

Chief Derek Asdot commended Acres for her tenure, outstanding work and contributions to the department. Acres was then pinned with her new Supervisor badge by her husband before the meeting continued.

Acres's promotion was followed by a presentation from Kimberly Cobb-Ray of the Northeast Florida Community Action Agency. The NEFL is one of the leading anti-poverty organizations in the area. Cobb-Ray briefed the council on different issues facing the community, many of which were caused by the COVID-19 pandemic and its associated effects.

The consent agenda was accepted, with only one item pulled for discussion – the city's approval for the Food Truck Friday schedule and request for city support.

Mayor Van Royal and Vice-mayor Edward Gaw both abstained from the discussion because both have had personal involvement with the event and they wanted dents who may be affected, so the district is more interested in hearing from those parents.

"The school, simply put, is full and it's continuing to fill up," Clay County School District Coordinator of Planning and Intergovernmental Relations James Fossa said. "They've got kids everywhere and I was tasked with coming up with ways to get that capacity rate down."

Fossa presented several options to the school board during a workshop last week, and of the three options, the school board was heavily in favor of one that will send 362 students at Oakleaf High to Ridgeview. Oakleaf is significantly more overcrowded than any other high school in the district with a capacity rate of 106%. Fossa says it would grow to 115% if it's not addressed. Meanwhile, Ridgeview's capacity is at 67%

The remedy is to move boundary sections 9A and 26, which is made up of the Pine Ridge neighborhoods, Two Creeks, Fox Meadow and Whisper Creek, to Ridgeview. If those 362 students were moved to Ridgeview, Oakleaf High's capacity would drop to 92% and Ridgeview would grow to 84%.

The other options included moving Oakleaf students to Orange Park High, and a hybrid of the Ridgeview option, but the board concluded the Ridgeview option was the most desirable.

"Option 1 makes the most sense of them," board member Ashley Gilhousen said. "I think it seems to be the fairest when I think about what's offered at Oakleaf versus what's offered at Ridgeview. You have the IB program which is comparable to AICE and even the travel time is shorter instead of longer."

Board member Janice Kerekes said she was frustrated the district waited so long to address it because she said it now feels like the district is rushing to remedy the problem. She said ideally the district takes another year to discuss more in-depth with parents about the boundary lines and student movements, but that she understands the district has to move fast to remove the strain felt at Oakleaf.

As the capacity at Oakleaf continues to rise, the district is looking to reroute students to a different school next school year. Ridgeview High is being considered.

The board could simply could have voted to recommend the Ridgeview option at its Jan. 26 meeting. A second vote to approved to plan would follow in March, but the board decided to put a town hall on the calendar to hear what parents and students think

Fossa said neither option is set in stone and what the parents say at the town hall will likely help influence the board's decision. The decision will ultimately up to the five board members in March. Oakleaf is just one of the problems the district is currently facing in terms of capacity. Not far behind is the Lake Asbury area, which Fossa said is the epicenter of the county's incoming growth

Fossa said that Lake Asbury Junior

High is currently at 83% capacity but if left untouched, it will rise to 113% with incoming developments. The option Fossa presented would have some Lake Asbury students diverted to Lakeside Junior High. The board didn't like it as much as the Oakleaf plan, but it did decide it will make moves for the school in such a way that it doesn't affect the students currently attending.

Fossa said the board is shooting for an effect of change for the 2022-23 school year as a result. He said a town hall and many other meetings will likely be held before such a decision is made, much in the same way the district is having a town hall before making its decision.

The final piece to the district's boundary stress is Keystone Heights. Fossa said the district looked at two things when figuring out capacity: the Florida Inventory School House number, which is the number of seats at the school for children in classrooms, and the cafeteria size. He said whichever is lower is the number used for capacity.

Keystone Height Junior Senior High's capacity appears higher than it actually is because its cafeteria is quite small.

"That's the cue for us to make more room for the cafeteria," Fossa said.

Instead of building a larger cafeteria, the district may build a dedicated junior high. Fossa said this idea stemmed from a piece of land by the McDavid Park baseball field which has the potential to be a school. He said it could work out but that there's a lot of questions that must be answered before the district can even consider that land as the site of a new school.

One question with the new school was: can the parent pick up line intersect with the school bus line? "It can't do that," Fossa said. "Does it have the required amount of land drainage after a storm?

"While it might look good on paper, there's a lot that can get in the way of building a school there. So now, our goal with that is to get a professional architect out there for a feasibility study. Once we have those results, then we can go from there."

Oakleaf and Lake Asbury are just a few of the capacity-related dilemmas the district is facing as the county continues to grow. There are elementary schools like Tynes, Lake Asbury and Patterson with high capacities that need remedying as well. Fossa said the district is actively working to solve those challenges while also preparing for the arrival of School R, which is a new school on County Road 315C set to open for the 2023-2024 school year.

The district will likely be utilizing its full arsenal of tools to satisfy all capacities and parties: town halls, workshops, board meetings and above all else, communication with those that this affects.

The board has made it clear that it wants to hear the voices of those with children at these schools and it's these voices that will shape the future of the Clay County School Districts boundaries.

Orange Park High becomes Community Partnership School

Program joins academics and mental health to help students

By Wesley LeBlanc

wesley@opcfla.com

ORANGE PARK — Orange Park High became the district's third Community Partnership School, which unifies a focus on academics, counseling, mentoring, health and more for any and all students at the school.

The program represents a 25-year commitment from the Children's Home Society and its regional partners in Orange Park Medical Center, St. Johns River State College, Palms Medical Group and the Clay County School District. The school held a symbolical ribbon cutting in its cafeteria last Friday, Jan. 15. to officially kick off the 25-year partnership.

"Here at Orange Park High School, we have the opportunity to meet the needs of 1,600 students," OPH principal Clayton Anderson said. "These students come to us from all walks of life and various backgrounds. This is truly the melting pot of the county...and it is imperative that we as educators grow with our students and build their capacity while building our own."

Orange Park High held a ribbon cutting ceremony to celebrate the status of it as the district's third Community Partnership School.

Superintendent David Broskie said it takes a team effort of teachers in the class-room and partners outside of the school in order to prepare students for what lies beyond high school. He said the fact that so many of the community members showed up to the ceremony and that so much of the community is behind the Community Partnership School shows that Clay County is committed to this idea of helping students in not just education, but in every facet of their life should they need it.

The chief medical officer of the Orange Park Medical Center, Bradley Shumaker, said that the hospital's involvement alongside the Palms Medical Group is to ensure that students get the medical attention they need.

"Our involvement is multifactorial really," Shumaker said. "We'll be helping out with everything from basic access to preventative care and wellness to dental care to mental health needs like depression, eating disorders, and substance abuse and nutritional issues as well. It's about ensuring these kids have access to the...medical attention they might need or want."

Shumaker said alleviating the healthrelated stress off a student's back can help them focus more on their academics, which he said beyond actually helping them medically, is the overall goal.

OPH Senior D'Marre Graddock spoke to the greatness of his school.

"[The year] 2020 was a difficult year and a disappointing one, but I can say confidently that Orange Park High School has never lost hope for the future. Orange Park High School has never lost hope in the students and Orange Park high school has never lost hope in each other.

"Orange Park High school will continue being the cornerstone of diversity (working) to give students a sound education. What I want to see is this high school..take our vision and conquer anything that lies ahead in the future."

Children's Home Society regional executive director, Ernest Hamilton, said the organization and its partners are dedicated to the school, which is why it made a 25-year commitment.

"In collaboration with our Orange Park community, we work to bring the right solutions to the right place and to the school where kids and their families can easily access the help they need to succeed," Hamilton said. "As we celebrate the Community Partnership School model at Orange Park High School. We are taking one significant step forward to empower our children and strengthen the future of this community."

Mom, baby return to OPMC to celebrate first birthday with blood drive

by Bruce Hope

bruce@opcfla.com

ORANGE PARK – Eliyanah Brusoe began celebrating her first birthday on Wednesday, Jan. 13, at the same place where she came into the world amidst great difficulty for both her and her mother.

The Orange Park Medical Center welcomed mother and daughter back with a blood drive held in the baby's name on the birthdav.

Eliyanah was born 12 weeks early and spent the next seven weeks of her life in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit until she could be released. She weighed only 2 pounds, 10 ounces at birth.

The mother, Melissa, also had a rough time with the delivery.

"She was in the OR [operating room] for an emergency c-section, and then she started to have complications where she started to bleed out," said Christy Love, an ICU registered nurse. "Mass transfusion protocol; she had over 30 units of blood. Baby went to NICU, and mom had to come to our trauma ICU."

The massive transfusion protocol saved Melissa's life.

Dr. Craig Sussman is a neonatologist at OPMC and a member of the team that took care of baby Eliyananh.

"Mom lost a lot of blood, and baby lost some blood as well," Sussman said. "Eliyanah's biggest challenge was that she was born so early. At least a couple months early. So everything about her was just immature and premature. She was just so small that she had to be in an incubator for a long period of time until she was able to be stable enough to grow. She needed blood transfusions as well."

"It means the world to me to be here and to give back to a hospital, so many doctors and nurses that did so much, worked so tirelessly to save our lives," Melissa said. "So to be here a year later, doing as well as we are, thanks to God putting the right people, in the right time, in the perfect place; I just can't – It's hard for words to describe. And all the blood that was donated to even make that possible, I mean I'd hate to of if they didn't have the blood that they needed to save us."

Special discs assist in spreading treatment, awareness for autism patients

Idea was born by a regular disc golfer at Ronnie Van Zant Park

By Bruce Hope

Bruce@opcfla.com

LAKE ASBURY – About two years ago, Kaiyne Faucett discovered that his son Kayden has autism. Instead of wallowing in sadness, he dug into research on the topic, learning everything he could in order to better parent his son.

Now he also has a plan to bring more awareness of autism, starting in Van Zant Park, where he plays disc golf about four or five times every week.

"So I've been doing a lot of research and as much studying on it, as much as I can, so I can learn more, especially as a parent so I can learn how to deal with it," Faucett said. "Before I got into it, I was like, I love playing disc golf. I wonder if I can show my support for autism and autism awareness and my son. So I drew up this design, and I had a family friend of mine, and she helped me redo the design so I can get it put on a disk "

After he talked to some fellow disk golfers in the park, it's Faucett's goal to have the design printed on disks in the park and give them out to other players. By doing that, he hopes to increase awareness of the condition and spread knowledge about it.

Kayden is diagnosed on the lower end of the autism spectrum and should become a high-functioning autistic adult, his father said.

"We have him in a whole bunch of therapies the last couple years, and it's helped out a lot," he said.

Faucett said after talking to other disc golfers about his plan, there is some interest in the project. Often, people don't know very much about the condition, which would be a way for him to bring awareness within his community. Hopefully, other players can spread the information.

"I talked to a few other players, and they thought it was an amazing idea, and they would love to get one [a disc with the design on it]," said Faucett. "I didn't realize how many other people that played had relatives that deal with it on other levels other than just hearing about it."

For now, he's planning to make any money from his idea. He is just trying to raise awareness. However, if the demand grows, he said he would consider selling them and donating the proceeds to an autism charity.

Applications accepted for grant opportunities for Black artists

Delores Barr Weaver expands Art Ventures program

JACKSONVILLE – Applications are now open for individual artists in Northeast Florida to apply for an Art Ventures grant of $3.500.

Interested artists who reside in Clay, Baker, Duval, Nassau, Putnam and St. Johns County are encouraged to apply for the funding, which is designed to help Northeast Florida artists emerge to the next level of their artistic careers. Applications are due by 5 p.m. on Feb. 15.

Applications will be judged on the applicants' artistic accomplishments, their proposal to use the funds to advance their work, and the extent to which their artistic practice is rooted in Northeast Florida. More than 200 individual artists have received Art Ventures' grants since 1990.

As part of the Art Ventures initiative, this year area Black artists will have additional opportunities for grants, thanks to the newly created Delores Barr Weaver Black Artists Endowment. While the Art Ventures Fund has always supported Black artists and has made grants from the Independent Life Minority Arts Fund, the Delores Barr Weaver Black Artists Endowment will specifically fund three Black artists each year. These will be additive to the Art Ventures cohort of grantees.

"There's no doubt that our Northeast Florida artists are among the finest in the nation," noted Delores Barr Weaver on the creation of this new endowment. "I continue to be inspired with the work of local Black artists particularly, and I wish to acknowledge and help sustain their important contributions to the vitality of the region."

Art Ventures began in 1990 as a commitment to invest in local individual artists as well as small arts organizations, and has granted more than $1.4 million to more than 200 artists and 125 small arts organizations. Funding for 2021 Art Ventures Individual Artist grants comes from the Art Ventures Endowment, the Baker Family Fund, the J. Shepard, Jr. & Mary Ann Bryan Arts Endowment, the Independent Life Minority Arts Fund, the Anne and Sallyn Pajcic Art Ventures Endowment, the Alynne Sharp Art Fund the Delores Barr Weaver Black Artists Endowment.

The Community Foundation for Northeast Florida, Florida's oldest and largest community foundation, works to stimulate philanthropy to build a better community. The Foundation helps donors invest their philanthropic gifts wisely, helps nonprofits serve the region effectively, and helps people come together to make the community a better place. Created in 1964, the Foundation has assets of $483 million and has made approximately $550 million in grants since inception.

Military Museum in Green Cove a treasure trove of Florida artifacts

By Don Coble don@opcfla.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Thousands drive by it every day, often noticing the massive LARC-LX amphibious vehicle parked close to the roadway or the five-inch 38 caliber gun positioned a few yards away.

But tucked behind huge oak trees is an old Quonset hut crammed with artifacts from of the most remarkable military artifacts ever assembled, dating back from Florida's first soldiers, the Spanish Conquistadors to the men and women who fought in the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq.

More important, every piece of memorabilia comes with a story.

The Military Museum of North Florida, located on 1 Bunker Ave. along State Road 16 at Reynolds Industrial Park, is more than an exhibition hall of old guns and military uniforms. It's a kaleidoscope that tells the story how Florida evolved from a swampy conclave of European explorers and Indians to the thriving state that mixes an outlook of culture and vision with an appreciation for its past.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur once said: "The soldier above all others pray for peace, for it is the soldier who must suffer and bear the deepest wounds and scars of war." The Military Museum currently is updating and remodeling its exhibits to show the arms and sacrifices of both sides of war.

Displays that were put on tables now have been divided into sections that start with the earliest recorded days of the state to the present. Uniforms have been put on mannequins; patches and weapons have been mounted on display boards, complete with old photos and descriptions. More important, displays now are enclosed in glass-covered cases to preserve the integrity of the keepsake — and to provide a three-dimensional view.

"We've been doing a lot of work in here the last year," said Cooper Goodnight, a 16-year-old volunteer who serves as a tour guide. "Right now, they're up to the Korean and Cold wars. It's really amazing who much this place has changed."

Goodyear has emersed himself in military history. He knows the names, descriptions, benefits and drawbacks of every weapon and battleplan on display.

This old World War II German machine gun was found buried in a barn. It's now one of the prized exhibits at the Military museum. There are thousands of old weapons and artifacts on display at the newly-remodeled attraction.

Local shooters rack up fun, tournament-level competition

By Bruce Hope

bruce@opcfla.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The Corner Pocket pool hall in Green Cove Springs, which doubles as a diner, is an exciting place. Whether it is hosting poker tournaments, darts, Karaoke, pool or Bingo, with rewards of up to $250, there is usually something going on.

But most of all, people come to shoot pool.

"We have 11 pool tables. We play APA and NAPA," said Cheri Starnes, co-owner of Corner Pocket with her husband, Noel. "We have quite a few people who play on Thursdays and the same way on Sundays."

The Corner Pocket also has a team that competes in the American Poolplayers Association and North American Poolshooters Association.

While Thursdays and Sundays are the primary days for players in the NAPA, patrons can play any day.

Corner Pocket has been a local establishment for about 20 years. The Starnes owned Corner Pocket for the past two years and two months.

"We decided to buy the pool hall because it was for sale, and my husband loves pool," said Starnes. "And I just thought it would be a good thing for us to own."

The pool hall entertains many long-time players as well as those who are more recent arrivals to the game.

"I just started [playing pool] two years ago," Starnes said. "My husband's been playing since he was in high school. He played here before we ever owned it [Corner Pocket]."

Meanwhile, Steve Fuller has been playing for six years and is on the eightmember team that won a qualified in a local Orange Park tournament last year that earned them a spot at the Las Vegas tournament to compete against players from around the globe.

Corner Pocket is the main pool hall where Fuller plays. The team is a part of the First Coast APA.

Fuller said the Orange Park qualifier featured about 90 teams fighting for the chance to move onto the more significant competition.

The team went to Las Vegas to compete in the World Pool Players Association Tournament and placed around the middle of the pack, finishing 358th out of 750.

The tournament lasted for one week, and the Corner Pocket team lasted until Day 5.

Corner Pocket players – Bob Clark and George Falcon (Black Ballers Matter), Noel Starnes and Nick Watts (Gators) and Calvin Rollins and Cheri Starnes (Ebony and Ivory) – also competed a week ago at the NAPA Scotch Doubles National Championship at Brunswick, Georgia.

Fuller loves being a member of the Corner Pocket team.

"I love the camaraderie," he said. "I love the people that play there. We play there all the time. We don't care about whether we go to Vegas or not. If we get to go, we get to go. We don't care about that. We just love the people that are associated [with Corner Pocket]. When we were in Vegas, it brought all of us together. It's like, we were there together, and we were playing together, and we played as a team together. It brought us a little bit closer."

Fuller says if he speaks to someone who's never played before, he would tell them to give it a try.

"Just shooting pool and having fun with others, that's the important thing," he said.

Does God Know Who I Am?

"For you created my inmost being; you knit me together in my mother's womb" (NIV).

We find strength in our loved ones. They know us and accept us for who we are. The comfort that comes from being known and accepted makes these relationships so influential in our lives. The bonds we have forged with those closest to us bring empowerment, identity, and peace. These people are irreplaceable in our hearts because of how interconnected our lives have become. Sometimes, God can feel distant. Do you ever wonder if He even knows who you are? Well, no one knows you better than God. Psalm 139:13 says, "For you created my inmost being; you knit me together in my mother's womb" (NIV). Everything that makes you unique was shaped by God's hand. Before you met your own parents, God knew you in the womb. He loved you unconditionally then, and He loves you unconditionally now. His acceptance has always been with you, no matter what you've done. This truth makes the empowerment. identity, and peace that we find in Him incomparable to any other relationship that we have. The all-powerful Creator of the universe not only knows you but created you out of the loving vision that He has for your life. Our lives today are filled with distractions and trials because we live in a fallen world. But you can rest assured that God knows you deeply and wants to enter an intimate relationship with you.

Never doubt His presence in your life. Welcome God into your life daily, allowing Him into the deepest reaches of your heart. There. He will show you things about yourself that you didn't even know. He will walk alongside you through everything you experience in life, bringing you the comfort and peace that comes from being known and loved.

Psalm 139:13

Clay's graduation rate of 93.4% climbs to sixth in Florida

For Clay Today

CLAY COUNTY – The Florida Department of Education's release of the 2019-2020 graduation rates shows that Clay County District Schools has achieved the highest graduation rate in county history. Clay County District Schools demonstrated an increase of 1.5 percentage points from the previous year, progressing from 91.9% in 2018-2019 to 93.4% in 2019-2020.

Since 2003, Clay County District Schools has improved its graduation rate 34.5 percentage points, reaffirming that students are better prepared to successfully transition to the workforce, military or college. The latest release from the Florida Department of Education also revealed that six of the nine targeted subgroups of learners have reached a record high, and all subgroups performed higher than the state average. While the state average in graduation has consistently trended upward in recent years, Clay County District Schools has continued to remain above the state average and is currently tied for sixth place among Florida's 67 school districts.

Collectively, the results illustrate that Clay County District Schools is focused on improving the academic wellbeing of every learner, Superintendent David Broskie said.

"As an educator who has served Clay County District Schools for three decades, I am extremely proud of what our students and educators have been able to accomplish together as shown in our new graduation rate. There are innumerable benefits that accompany the attainment of a high school diploma, and the fact that our community's students continue to graduate in record numbers can only speak to a better and brighter future for Clay County," Broskie said.

endeavor. Many people, who Brusoe will never know, literally gave of themselves to give others the gift of life.

"I would not be here to enjoy celebrating my sweet girl's first birthday if they had not donated blood," she said. "They'll never know the extent of what their gift- their donation did. My oldest is 24, and she gets married next month. And I get to be there to see her get married."

The blood drive took place from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in a mobile donation center in front of the hospital's main entrance.

"It means so much that they were willing to put this together and do this drive," Brusoe said. "It'd mean so much more if it was a packed bus, I guess, how you would say it, that they were able to replace all the blood that we used and just so much more to help others because you just don't know what people are needing and going through so they too can celebrate more milestones and happy birthdays with their families because of the donations."

Lifesouth Community Blood Centers facilitated the drive in conjunction with OPMC.

Clay vs. State Graduation Rates

Graduation Rates of Subgroups

Once again, Clay County District Schools set record high subgroup data points as African-American, White, Asian, At-Risk, ELL (English Language Learners), and Economically Disadvantaged students climbed to an all-time high. Also, Clay County District Schools continues to excel above the state average in all nine subgroups. These accomplishments are a direct reflection of focus on eliminating the achievement gap in order to create access and opportunity for all learners. This information provides evidence that Clay County educators are continuing to differentiate instruction for all students with the goal of preparing students to meet grade-level expectations.

Bulkheads Taphouse and Kitchen brings the taste of Chesapeake cuisine to Orange Park area

By Bruce Hope

bruce@opcfla.com

ORANGE PARK – Bulkheads Taphouse and Kitchen is one of the newest eateries in the area

Opened three weeks ago, owners David and Carolyn Marquis, transplants to Florida by way of Annapolis, Maryland, were looking to bringing their distinctive Mid-Atlantic flavors to Clay County.

"We previously had owned a restaurant and a bed and breakfast down in Crisfield [Maryland], which is considered the crab capital of the world," said Carolyn said. "So having two crab houses on one side [of the Chesapeake Bay] and an oyster house on the other, you learn pretty quickly; you know you just learned a lot more than you ever thought you'd know about seafood."

That knowledge, along with closures of nearly everything due to COVID-19, pushed the Marquises to pack up and head south, looking for proverbial greener pastures.

The new restaurant is located at 664 Kingsley Ave.

"Maryland's still shut down," Carolyn said. "And we have family here. For the last two years, we'd been looking at different areas in Florida before COVID ever happened. Once COVID hit, it just kind of sped up our plan by about six months."

They selected Jacksonville and Orange Park in particular because there is a high military personnel concentration, both active and retired. David Marquis is a retired Navy pilot. At one of their Maryland restaurants, they had two beers that saw wide distribution, one of which was the Beat Army Lager. That distribution spread as far south as the First Coast and helped educate the Marguises about the market. They also love the access to water and the ability to live in suburban and semi-rural settings while still having almost immediate access to the city. As well, a large portion of the crab supply in Maryland between November and March came from Florida as regulations there prohibited crabbing during that time-span.

One of the specials of Bulkheads – of course – are the crab cakes, which only have five ingredients but are purportedly excellent.

Carolyn and David Marquis left the shutdowns in Maryland to bring the taste of the Chesapeake area to their Bulkheads Taphouse and Kitchen on Kingsley Avenue.

"A lot of our dishes like the crabby flatbread is really popular. Our sauteed seafood cabbage is really popular. Our cream of crab is also outstanding," she said.

On the beverage side, Bulkheads supports local breweries, selling 18 different Florida beers, such as Pinglehead Imperial Red from Orange Park and Aardwolf Styrofoam Pony from Jacksonville, among others.

"We're just glad to be here in Florida," said David Marquis. "Enjoying the weather, enjoying...you know we've been open a couple of weeks and so far, so good. Met a lot of new people, and it's going well so far. Just happy to be here serving beer and good food."

Bulkhead's patrons are enjoying it so far, according to Carolyn Marquis.

"We're getting really good positive feedback, which is why I really didn't do a grand opening. I like to do things slow and steady. And so, I believe in that turtle and hare race concept. We've gotten a lot of really good reviews, and the community has been really supportive," she said.

The Marquis's goal is not to compete with current establishments but to create something that wasn't already there.

Bulkheads is that, and in this, it's early existence, it seems to be doing just that.

'Winter Comfort' program keeps birds happy, healthy

By Carolyn Warren

Birds, Bees and Butterflies Chairman for The Garden Club of Orange Park

ORANGE PARK – The month of February was designated in 1994 as National Bird-Feeding Month due to the harsh conditions endured by birds during one of the coldest months of the year.

This year's theme is: "Winter Comfort" – Feed the Birds and Keep Them Happy and Healthy.

Feeding birds is a hobby that is easy to start, low on expenses, and everyone in the family can enjoy.

You can start by placing bird feeders in your yard and keeping them filled.

The best bird foods include sunflower seeds, thistle, nuts, suet and millet.

Providing a water source is also helpful for the birds. Research has shown that bird watching can make us feel better and it is an activity we can all do from the safety of our homes.

Keep looking out the window and you will be amazed at what your heart can feel, and your eyes can see.

FDLE lays out its evidence against former Sheriff Daniels

Agency also reports he pressured CCSO officers to making campaign donations

By Don Coble don@opcfla.com

CLAY COUNTY – The State Attorney's Office revealed last week the Florida Department of Law Enforcement currently has 67 witness who've been interviewed in the case against former Clay County Sheriff Darryl Daniels related to an extramarital affair, subsequent coverup and pressuring CCSO officials to make campaign contributions.

Daniels was arrested on Aug. 13 on one count of destroying or tampering evidence and making three false claims to law enforcement about his girlfriend. His legal team demanded the state turn over all investigative reports related to his arrest and the long-standing extra marital affair he had with a former subordinate when he worked with the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office

The state's discovery exhibit was filed on Jan. 6 with the Clay County Circuit Clerk of Courts, and it contained details of the affair, Daniels attempts to cover up some of his exchanges with the girlfriend and other agency officials and his demands for campaign contributions from fellow officers.

The report detailed what it believes was a desperate attempt to hide personal information relating to the affair with Cierra Smith. The affair became public on May 6 when Daniels called CCSO and demanded Smith be arrested for stalking him. FDLE and Smith contend Smith had a prearranged meeting set up by another deputy at 370 Oakleaf Plantation Parkway with Daniels to return some CDs.

Daniels sought an injunction against Smith earlier in the day for following and harassing him, but the Fourth Judicial Circuit of the State Attorney's Office in Jacksonville refused, saying he lacked significant evidence, according to the FDLE. CCSO conducted a traffic stop on Smith and Daniels demanded her to be arrested. She was taken to the Clay County Jail, but was quickly released without charges.

The FDLE then was called in to investigate the charges, as well as an anonymous letter to the FDLE Daniels threatened his deputies about working against him.

The state agency said Daniels met with Undersheriff Ricardo Wright, Community Affairs Chief Patrick Golemme and Patrol and Community Affairs Director David Barnes before the arrest and told them charges were going to filed against him and "that he may be going to jail."

The FDLE contends Daniels asked the sheriff's office to reset his personal phone because there was information on the phone he didn't want "to see the light of day." The report said Daniels denied ever using his sheriff's office cellphone for personal business

On Aug. 11, the FDLE said Daniels said at a Fraternal Order of Police Meeting he was going hunting and when he returned, there would be a reorganization and "that some people may not want to stick around because they are not going to like where they were going to be put."

According to the FDLE, (Chief Joseph) Bucci said Daniels told him on Aug.12: "I know you want to be the sheriff one day; you've talked about it. I want to give you a little taste of what it's like, So, I need you to reach out to all of the staff: $5000 per director, $2000 for chiefs, etc. Look, I'm not saying all of their money. I want their boots or toes in the water."

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement also contends former Clay County Sheriff Darryl Daniels pressured his administration for donations to his re-election campaign.

Daniels was arrested on Aug. 13. He was suspended by Florida Gov. Ron De-Santis on Aug. 14 and defeated by Michelle Cook in the Aug. 18 Republican Primary.

Daniels continues to insist the timing of his arrest was to keep him from winning re-election. Some of the witnesses listed by the FDLE include: Bucci, Wright, Golemme, Barnes, Smith, Clay County Schools Police Chief Kenneth Wagner, former Undersheriff Raymond Walden and Jacksonville Sheriff Mike Williams.

Daniels, who was released without bond, is scheduled for a pretrial hearing on March 8. A trial date hasn't been set.

The Florida Supreme Court has ruled Circuit Judge R. Lee Smith of the Seventh Judicial Circuit, will preside over a possible trial. The seventh circuit is comprised of Flagler, Putnam, St. Johns and Volusia counties.

Man charged with firing a gun during traffic dispute

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS – A man was arrested for shooting at a man who chased him down for driving a truck through his front yard.

Charley Cecil White, 28, of Keystone Heights, was charged on Jan. 18 with aggravated assault with intent to commit a felony, discharging a firearm from vehicle within 1,000 feet of another person, possession of a firearm and ammo by a convicted felon, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of a controlled substance and attempting to flee or elude law enforcement with lights and sirens active .

His bond was set at $305,017. According to the Clay County Sheriff's Office, it responded to a call about shots fired at the intersection of Oakleaf Road and Hot Springs Court.

They met the victim, who said a man drove his extended cab pickup truck at a high rate of speed on Oakleaf before pulling into his driveway and through a ditch in his front yard before turning onto Hot Springs. The truck came to a dead end and made a U-turn where he was intersected by the victim who wanted to know why he drove through his yard.

White sped away without a response, according to CCSO. The victim was standing in the dead end when White stopped down the street and fired at least one shot toward him. White was eventually arrested a short time later following a high-speed pursuit that included more gunshots.

A man riding with White said they veered into the yard after they cut off the victim, who was driving a minivan. He said the man driving the minivan followed them to the dead end.

Interlachen man jailed for trio of child pornography charges

ORANGE PARK – A search of an Interlachen man's cellphone led to a trio of sexrelated charges involving children.

Christopher Adam Harrington, 41, was arrested on Jan. 13 and charged with lewd and lascivious behavior with a victim between the ages of 12 and 16, using or allowing a child to create sexual images and compiling child pornography on a computer.

Christopher Harrington

His bond was set at $158,009 - $50,003 for each count.

Orange Park man arrested for having child pornography

ORANGE PARK – A local man was arrested Jan. 13 following a two-month investigation by the Clay County Sheriff's Office's Internet Crimes Against Children Unit.

Kenneth Michael Breeden, 58, of Orange Park was arrested for possessing 10 images of sexual acts performances by a child. His bond was set at $300,030 – $30,003 for each charge.

According to the heavily-redacted affidavit for an arrest warrant, deputies got a subpoena to search an Internet Protocol believed to be connected with child pornography. They learned the account belonged to Breeden. He was arrested following a search of his electronic devices.

Breeden's Facebook page said he works as a software technology project analyst.

The massive Vietnam-era Light Amphibious Recovery Craft is the most-visible part of the impressive collection at the Military Museum of North Florida. Thousand drive by the museum every day in Green Cove Springs.

Those who served at Benjamin Lee Field include Roy Geiger, who was born in Middleburg and was the first Marine Corps general to lead an Army-sized force, television celebrity Ed McMahon and Joe Kennedy, brother of President John F. Kennedy.

The museum is open Thursday-through-Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and on Sunday from noon to 4 p.m. Admission is free, but donations are accepted to maintain and update the thousands of exhibits.

There are exhibits from Spanish Florida, Indian Wars, Revolutionary War, War of 1812, Civil War, Spanish-American War, World War I and II, Korean War, the Cold War, Vietnam, Persian Gulf War and wars against ISIS and Taliban terrorists.

Along with the amphibious vehicle and big gun, there's a collection of military vehicles from the Korean era through the Vietnam era outside the Quonset hut, as well as airplane parts recovered from the swamps around the old airfield.

While business is steady during its regularly-schedule hours, Goodnight said the museum is very busy during special events, including the Fall Show and Swap Meet from Feb. 19-21. The event includes a battle re-enactment on Feb. 20-21 at 1 p.m., rides in a Vietnam-era Huey helicopter and weapons firing at dusk.

To register a display for judging, visit www.flmvpa.org.

There are tanks, Jeeps, ambulances and parts from a crashed FSF Hellcat parked outside, but there's so much more to see inside at Quanset Hut at 1 Bunker Avenue.

Cooper Goodnight, a 16-year-old volunteer, is eager to provide a guided tour. The high school junior knows the history, as well as the faults and assets of each weapon used in warfare. The museum is open Thursday-Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Sundays from noon to 4 p.m.

Meyer

In his final year, before the season Meyer was placed on administrative leave after the university learned Meyer knew about spousal abuse allegations against assistant coach Zack Smith.

Meyer returned to take Ohio State to a 12-1 record and a 28-23 victory against Washington in the Rose Bowl. Meyer announced his retirement before the game due to health reasons.

Now he's back.

The reality is, if Meyer can last on the Jaguars sideline for six or seven years, that would be a tremendous sign of success. That means Jacksonville not only was competitive, but a winner. Fans won't put up with many more losers and pennypinching decisions that keeps sending its best players to greener playing fields on another team.

Win now, or pack up for London.

Khan was prudent not to fall into the Tim Tebow trap. While the Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback may have been one of the greatest college players of all time, his skills didn't translate well to the NFL game. Signing Tebow would have put fans in the stands, but it wouldn't help the team win games.

Khan apparently is convinced Meyer isn't a Tebow in disguise.

To be successful, Meyer will have to avoid all the other pitfalls of legendary college coaches who were complete failures at the professional level. Who remembers how Steve Spurrier was supposed to save the Washington franchise? He lasted two years and had losing records in both.

And let's not forget Nick Saban. Arguably one of the greatest college minds of all time, Saban was a flop with a 15-17 record with the Miami Dolphins.

The biggest college-level loser in the NFL was Bobby Petrino. He left a successful Louisville program to take over the Atlanta Falcons. He was 3-10 in his first season when he walked out on the team with three games remaining. Not since Gen. William Sherman had Atlanta been burned so badly.

But there have been winning crossovers. Jimmy Johnson left the University of Miami and took the Dallas Cowboys to a pair of Super Bowl wins. Speaking of Cowboys, Barry Swtizer left Oklahoma after winning three national titles and he took Dallas to a 1995 Super Bowl win.

To join Switzer and Johnson, Meyer will have to learn to adjust to the NFL way of life. That means dealing with men who have big contracts. He can't have any inner circles, and he must understand he has to work with authority without being distant.

If not, Spurrier is always looking for a fourth to play golf.

Seven local students on Valdosta State's Dean's List

VALDOSTA. Ga. - Seven former Clay County high school graduates earned spots on the Dean's List at Valdosta State University for the Fall semester.

They were: Nolan Lowery of Melrose, Kyleight Reedy and Timothy Hinson, both of Middleburg, Ashley Heichel and Julia Higdon of Orange Park and Zachary Blankenship and Kiley Amlaw of Fleming Island.

To qualify for Dean's List at VSU, students must achieve a semester grade point average of 3.50 or higher on nine or more semester hours with an institutional grade point average of 3.00 or higher. Developmental studies, transient, and graduate students are not eligible for Dean's List

Established in 1906, Valdosta State University is a premier comprehensive university that offers both the extensive academic, cultural, and social opportunities of a major university and the small classes and close, personal attention of smaller institutions.

Burns makes Dean's List at Mercer University

MACON. Ga. – Orange Park's Maegan

Burns, a senior in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, was on the Dean's List for the fall 2020 semester at Mercer University, Inclusion on the lists requires students to meet rigorous grade-point-average standards specific to the college or school within the University.

Founded in 1833, Mercer is a dynamic and comprehensive center of undergraduate, graduate and professional education. The University enrolls more than 9.000 students in 12 schools and colleges - liberal arts, law, pharmacy, medicine, business, engineering, education, theology, music, nursing, health professions and professional advancement - on Georgia campuses in Macon, Atlanta, Savannah and Columbus and two regional academic centers in the Atlanta metro area.

Pair of Fleming Island students on Utah's Dean's List

SALT LAKE CITY - Jackson Flynn and Kendall MacMillan, both of Fleming Island, were among the 9,700 selected to the fall Dean's List at the University of Utah.

Flynn is majoring in Business Administration; MacMillian is majoring in ballet and film and media arts.

The University of Utah is the flagship institution of higher learning in Utah. Founded in 1850, it serves over 32,000 students from across the U.S. and the world.

Green Cove Springs' Porter on Dean's List at Bucknell

LEWISBURG. Pa. – Bucknell University released the dean's list for outstanding academic achievement during the fall semester of the 2020-21 academic year, including Danielle Porter of Green Cove Springs.

A student must earn a grade point average of 3.5 or higher on a scale of 4.0 to receive dean's list recognition.

Bucknell is a highly selective private liberal arts university that offers majors in the arts, engineering, humanities, management, and social and natural sciences, along with broad opportunities outside of class, to its 3,600 undergraduates.

Adkins earns spot on Mercy College's Dean's List

TOLEDO, Ohio – Middleburg's Tiffany Adkins, who's studying for a Bachelor of Science in medical imaging, earned a spot on the Dean's List at Mercy College of Ohio.

To earn a spot on the Dean's List, a student must achieve a grade point average of 3.3 or higher and be enrolled for 12 or more credit hours. To be named on the Honor's List, a student must achieve a grade point average of 3.3 or higher and be enrolled for six-11 credit hours.

Mercy College of Ohio is a Catholic institution with a campus in Toledo and a location in Youngstown, Ohio. It focuses on healthcare and health science programs.

Emory & Henry puts Silvis on its Dean's List

EMORY, Va. – Morgan Silvis of Green Cove Springs earned a spot on the Emory & Henry College Fall 2020 Dean's list.

To be named to the Dean's list, students must be a full-time student and receive a 3.6 GPA for the semester.

Located in the Highlands of Virginia, Emory & Henry College has devoted itself since 1836 to the belief that education can have a transformative effect on an individual, a place and ultimately the wider world.

Facebook Question of the Week

Do you favor Donald Trump's impeachment?

By Wesley LeBlanc

wesley@opcfla.com

CLAY COUNTY – President Donald Trump has been impeached for a second time by the House of Representatives, and the generally Republican Clay County sees the process as waste of time and effort in the federal government.

Trump's impeachment came days before the end of his term. He was not charged during the Senate trial after the first impeachment and it's still a question of whether or not he'll be charged during the trial for the second one, but Clay Today readers view all of this as a waste of time.

"I think it's a waste of time, money and effort," Tammy Roberts said. "We need to be focused on our country, not a person leaving office in days."

Patrick Baller said the only reason to impeach is so Trump can't run again in 2024. A president charged by the Senate in their post-impeachment trial is barred from running for federal office ever again, and they also lose access to a number of post-presidency benefits like expenses, secret security and more. Baller said this also is a waste of taxpayer money.

Missy Leilani called it ridiculous and Larry Cross said it's "another pointless (Democratic) stunt.

"It's a big waste of our money and everybody's time," Janet Brooks said. "Instead, they should get busy working to fix the real problems in this country – getting businesses open again and people back to work. Everybody needs to stop the finger-pointing blame game and get busy."

Teri Hartley said impeachment is a "waste of taxpayer dollars" and that's it shown her Congress and the Supreme Court need term limits.

But there are those that believe Trump should have been impeached and should be charged by the Senate as a result of what happened at the Capitol Building the first week of January though.

Teresa Sanday said she believes Trump incited insurrection at the Capitol, something she said a leader should never do. She said his leadership status should be canceled as a result.

Fey said Trump should be impeached and charged for the lies she believes he's made during his presidency.

"Yes, Clinton was impeached for [a sexual act] and lying about it [to a grand jury]," Fey said. "Trump has lied his whole way through his presidency."

Where do you fall on Trump's second impeachment?

Was it the right call? Was it the wrong call?

Was it a waste of taxpayer money? Let us know what you think on the official Clay Today Newspaper Facebook page and keep an eye out for this week's Facebook Question of the Week.

'I am a Trump Republican,'" Ziegler said. "That brand is one that speaks to people, that you are someone who fights for people and goes against the grain, who fights for Americans that feel they don't have a voice."

It's a different response than that seen in Washington, D.C., where a record 10 Republicans in the House just cast votes to impeach a member of their own party. But every Florida Republican in the House voted against or denounced impeachment.

Before the Electoral College vote or the riots, RPOF state chair Joe Gruters said the strong position of the party in the Sunshine State owes a lot to Trump. "This is Donald Trump's party and he will play an oversized role in national politics and in Florida," he said. "All you have to do is look at the influence with the base and our elected officials. Ron DeSantis wouldn't be Governor if it wasn't for Donald Trump."

Randy Ross, the Orange County chair for Trump's campaign in 2016, said support for Trump simply hasn't waned. "Trump has forever changed the Republican Party," he said. "We'll never be a [Jeb] Bush/[Marco] Rubio party again."

That last part seems especially relevant, since Rubio, who is expected to seek reelection to the U.S. Senate, will appear on the ballot again in 2022. Gruters said DeSantis' and Rubio's reelection campaigns will be the top priorities for the party in two years.

But there's angst within the party about whether Rubio showed sufficient loyalty to Trump in the aftermath of the election. He spoke against objections to Joe Biden's electoral college win on the Senate floor following the riots. Leaders like DeBartolo were already calling for Rubio to resign ahead of that vote, and Trump ally Roger Stone, who spoke at some of the Stop The Steal events in Florida, has made noise about challenging or recruiting a primary challenge to Rubio.

Doctors, nurses and technicians give Michael Tropepe a much-deserved standing ovation after he performed a short program to show his appreciation from being brought back from death to being back on tour in a month.

Unit and at a hospital conference room for a handful of medical people dressed in scrubs, while doctor coats and masks.

The professional violinist returned to Orange Park Medical Center on Wednesday, Jan. 13., for what he called the mostimportant concert of his life, playing a short program for the people who saved his life.

For minutes, the music really died for Tropepe on Dec. 5. He was brought into the ORMC with no pulse after collapsing in his garage. Emergency Room doctors and nurses revived him, followed by critical care for days in Intensive Care.

Less than a week after walking out of the hospital. Tropepe returned with his violin to say thank you the best way he knew - with his music.

VISIT For more information visit https://www.michaeltropepe.com.

"I immediately responded that would be terrific," Tropepe said. "I did the show in case I never see those people again. They did such a great job. You want them to know how appreciative you are."

He played "Allemande, "Corrente" and "Giga" from Johann Sebastian Bach's Partita in D minor, Niccolo Paganini's "Paganini Cantabile" and Henryk Wieniawski's "Etude No. 4 for Two Violins" while doctors. nurses and technicians watched. For most, it was the greatest show appreciation yet during a year of COVID-19 and shutdowns.

"To have an event like this, where vou really get to see the people's life that you've impacted, not only professionally, but personally, it's a constant reminder of why we do what we do, why we make the sacrifices that we make," said Emergency Room Physician Dr. Justin Deaton. "It's special to connect with someone at that level. I didn't know Michael before he came to the hospital. Now, through our brief interaction here. I feel like I know him and I've connected with him. I think about that every time a patient comes through the hospital. This is a person with a family, with feelings, with pets, who has their whole life ahead of them.

"I hope our young learners, our residents, understand the message that we have a special ability to positively affect lives, especially nowadays when we constantly get negative things. We're constantly dealing with COVID and young people who die. There's nothing you can do about it when you're dealing, in general, with healthcare issues."

Tropepe was diagnosed with Wolff-Parkinson-White syndrome a year ago. It's an ailment where the electrical pathway in the heart causes rapid heartbeat. Some of his treatment since was derailed by the restrictions put in place for COVID-19.

Shortly after his girlfriend found him collapsed on his Orange Park garage floor, EMS found his pulseless at the scene and started CPR. He was revived, but he remained on life support for 10 days.

Once off life support, concern shifted to his brain activity.

"When you get cases like that where their heart is not beating and their brain isn't getting any oxygen, you're working against the clock," Dr. Deaton said. "Just by nature, the odds are against you. The quicker you act, the sooner you can restore their circulation and get oxygen to the brain, the better their chances. When your heart stops, there's something seriously wrong with you. The odds are not in your favor. It's a challenge when someone comes [here] in that extreme condition to completely resuscitate them and treat them to the point where they are then able to walk out of the hospital – completely without any lasting effects from that event."

Tropepe's father told doctors his son wanted his violin. They thought it was a good way to see if there was any loss of memory during his medical emergency. Tropepe soon started playing music in his hospital room, and it brought a unique sense of joy and calm to everyone on the ward, Dr. Deaton said.

"The doctors thought, well when someone's brain is deprived of oxygen, you never know how long it will take be firing back on all cylinders," he said. "Anything that's familiar to him, can start that process earlier. You get their synapsis firing in parts of their brain, the sooner you implement that, the more likely they are to improve auite auickly.

"Let's bring the violin in, let him play it and see if it jumpstarts some things, get is mind back on track. On top of that, it was nice to hear a professional musician playing this classical music during day. Patients, families and nurses and doctors all really enjoyed the experience.'

For Tropepe, the violin not only brought normalcy back to his life, it proved to be

"I was practicing during my stay at the hospital," he said. "They brought a violin in there for me to play. I was itching to play again after being there for a week. That meant so much to me. It was wonderful to play again."

Other than some short-term memory loss, Tropepe said he didn't suffer any significant damage. Weeks after being brought back from the dead, he was back on the road performing in concert halls this week.

"I've never heard someone play the violin like that." Dr. Deaton said. "Literally one month ago, he was in the ICU on life support. Now he was standing in front of us playing the violin at a level that blew us away. I can explain parts of the medicine to you, but there are certain times there are things I can't explain. This falls in that category.'

Knights lose shootout, now 15-1

By Randy Lefko Sports Editor

HAWTHORNE - Oakleaf High's Fantasia James hit her first three pointer with just eight seconds off the clock in what looked to be another Lady Knight's high-flying blowout of a state contender, but the Class 1A defending champion Hawthorne High Hornets did not blink from the early setback, but instead set about their own retaliatory response with 10 straight points; two past the three point stripe, on the way to thrilling 51-47 Oakleaf loss Monday afternoon at the Martin Luther King Day Shootout at Hawthorne High School.

"Senior Geniyah Durante stepped up again for us like she did on Thursday against Nease and made big plays at the end," said Oakleaf coach Fred Cole, now 15-1 while Hawthorne improved to 12-3. "That was a good team. I don't believe the whole 1A, 5A, 7A thing because there are only five people on the court. That's why they are state champions."

Notably off their game after holding off 7A Nease just four days ago, Cole, who was without Kaylah Turner, one of his "Three Amigas" while Hawthorne's two point guards; Jayla Williams and Kentavia Hagins showed off their three point shooting acumen, was mixing and matching defensive schemes to slow the momentum down.

"She will return to the team soon," said

Ridgeview High guard Paetyn Miller drives past Fletcher defender in thrilling match won by Fletcher on last second three pointer.

So close to a major upset!

By Randy Lefko Sports Editor

ORANGE PARK - A 23-7 first quarter lead by visiting Fletcher High, 16-1, was not enough to squelch the intensity of the Ridgeview High Lady Panthers in their Friday night clash with sophomore Mia-Bella Gutierrez's lockdown defensive effort and a 24 point effort from freshman center Nia Blocton as the team fought back, took a lead, but, in the end, a three point shot at the final buzzer ended the night with Fletcher stealing a 60-57 win in the Ridgeview High gymnasium.

"I told them at halftime to put their foot on the gas and not to take it off in the second half," said Ridgeview High coach Amber Amato. "Mia-Bella was told to stay with their top scorer; three point ace Elana Espenship, and stay in her face the rest of the game."

Espenship, near 1,000 points in her Fletcher career, rocked the Lady Panthers for four three pointers in the first eight minutes of play got the Fletcher the early lead with Amato and her team scratching their heads for a solution.

"She was just throwing the ball up from the top of the key and making it and we had to get in her face," said Amato. "It would have been a long night if Mia did not do her job."

Espenship sank one more three in the second quarter as Fletcher continued to surge despite a strong first half effort from Blocton, a leading scorer, rebounder and assist maker in north Florida, making plays in the paint throughout the night to keep pace.

"She has been averaging nearly a triple double every night since the season started," said Amato. "As she goes, we go and she goes hard every night."

Turner, Ferebee, fuel Knights battle with Nease

By Randy LefkoSports Editor

OAKLEAF - With top scorer Taliah Scott exiting early with fouls, the "Three Amigas" of Oakleaf; Scott, Kaylah Turner and Fantasia James were one down against one of the top coaches in Florida in a clash of powerhouses Thursday night at Oakleaf High School.

"We learned that we can rely on our sixth, seventh and eighth players to hold the line," said Oakleaf coach Fred Cole, who saw Turner, normally a defensive stalwart for Cole, turn up the volume on offense after Scott sat with nearly seven minutes still in the very intense game. "Next man up, we practice hard for these types of games from the top down. They roared and we responded."

The dagger for a Nease final finishing surge went to junior forward Trinity Ferebee who hit a key layup and grabbed the game ending rebound in a scrum to halt the Panthers' final efforts to steal the game.

"We all work together, but when I got out there, I knew I had to make the play," said Ferebee. "I kind of felt it was a momentum changer, but at the time, I just wanted to hit the shot and contribute."

Turner, with a three pointer at 1:32 left in the first period, got Oakleaf a 16-14 lead as both teams traded aggressive, in-your-pocket defenses for offensive strategy.

"I've developed my midrange shot all season and got that pretty solid for games like this where everyone has to contribute," said Turner. "When Taliah fouled out, I had to step up."

Cole. "No excuse, her not out there makes a difference."

With his now two of "Three Amigas"; James and top scorer Taliah Scott, seemingly befuddled by the turned tables, it would a strategic shift in defense on Hawthorne's center post player; 6'-3" University of North Carolina-Charlotte commit Mya McGraw that would determine the Lady Knights second half woes and goes.

"I think we came out kind of sluggish and then woke up at halftime," said Cole. "We outplayed them in the second half, but the fact is, they outplayed us in the first half and we had a big hill to climb."

In the first half, with Williams and Hagins rattling the Knights cage with their own brand of bombs away shooting and McGraw and 6'-1" teammate Saideriel Oliver sweeping the boards, Oakleaf was reduced to an unlikely 35-14 gap at the half.

With a second half defense intent on slowing down the Hornet roll, Cole employed a collapsible cage on McGraw with Scott and James tasked to preventing the incoming overhead pass under the backboard and senior guard Geniyah Durante pestering Williams from the halfcourt stripe

With James misfiring on her first pass from the start, Durante regrouped her team and hit a driving layup that Hagins responded to with another three-pointer.

Shutting down the Hawthorne lanes, Durante on top; Scott and James in Mc-Graw's shorts, Oakleaf got their scoring engine running with a 12-3 run; a Durante three, a Durante jumper plus a free thrown and a third Durante jumper with James squeezing a jumper in as the Lady Knights rebounded to a 38-26 hint of a comeback.

Cole's wrap on McGraw was effective as Hawthorne slowed their game uncharacteristically, thus, opening the door to the Durante show to bring Oakleaf back into the fight.

James ended the stanza with a blocked shot and breakaway layup to put Oakleaf within striking distance at 38-28.

James went on a tear to open the fourth with three straight jumpers off a Scott free throw to put the score at 43-35 near the six minutes to go mark.

At 5:07, Scott hit what looked to be the incoming salvos of the finishing dagger for Hawthorne's efforts with Durante swishing two threes from the corner to get Oakleaf to within a field goal; 46-44 with 3:20 on the clock.

Unfortunately, Oakleaf's up-tight defensive strategy proved costly in fouls with Hawthorne awarded bonus free throws near the two minute mark. Without that intel, Hawthorne went to a full court pressure defense to force mistakes and make Oakleaf work to get the ball upcourt.

A Durante to Scott pass got the Knights to within one point; 48-47, with a three and a trap on McGraw from Scott and Trinity Ferebee force Hawthorne into a timeout to squelch a big momentum explosion should Oakleaf nail a go-ahead shot with 28 seconds to go.

Hawthorne played keep away, got two runs to the free throw line and finished the game 51-47.

"Now that pressure of who is going to beat us is off," said Cole. "We have to respond with big games against Flagler Palm Coast, Terry Parker, Bishop Kenny and Andrew Jackson to finish the season."

Fleming Island High forward Ahman Greenidge takes down rebound in Golden Eagles win over Oakleaf High School.

Fleming Island avenges early loss to Oakleaf

By Ray DiMonda Correspondent

OAKLEAF - Fleming Island High boys basketball coach Traavis Chandler said the 2021 Golden Eagles team would be a lot better than the 2020 team that lost a home match against Oakleaf High.

And, on Friday. Chandler proved prophetic

"We are a different team than we were when we first met" said Chandler. "We are much more confident than we were a month ago, and we know what we are looking for on offense." After falling behind 12-9 early in the first quarter, Fleming Island slowly and methodically in the second quarter tightened their grip and kept pulling. With a layup from Ahman Greenidge at 3:14 in the second, the Golden Eagles took a lead that they never relinquished to a 52-44 in the Oakleaf High gym.

Using a zone defense during what at times looked like full contact basketball, then moving to a heavy press early in the fourth quarter, the Golden Eagles kept the Knights against the ropes as Oakleaf

James answered with a three pointer to add to Turner's salvo as Oakleaf started to get hot on the three point stripe including Scott as the Lady Knights befuddled the Nease tight defense to go up 31-18 in a span of just two minutes.

"We knew they were not going to quit and we had to stay on the offensive," said Cole. "That's a Hall of Fame coach with a handful of deep playoff runs. We knew she would adjust at the half. We got split a lot on our press and will work on that. They were getting rebounds and second, third shots out there, but they are a Final Four program."

Oakleaf continued to singe the nets to a 42-28 seemingly insurmountble lead en route to Scott sending the Panthers into the lockers with a final three and a 47-37 lead.

Cole's prophecy of the Panthers' surging after the half proved prophetic as coach Sherri Anthony had her team meeting the Knights offense nearly at halfcourt to squelch open three point shots while taking advantage of a rather loose foulcalling whistle by the referees; both teams were over 10 team fouls early in the second quarter with Oakleaf tagged to giving up bonus free throws near the six minute mark of the fourth quarter.

"Teams of this caliber should be just playing ball and not shooting free throws all night," said a clearly agitated Anthony as she left the court. That being said after the game, Nease did come back to as close as 59-55 with 1:25 to go in the third before Turner hit a three that rolled Anthony's eyes on the sideline in an exasperation of her defensive efforts.

"I have said, you guard one, we have one with an off night, it's nice to have the rest of the team on the same page," said Cole. "We have had four big games in a row this week and needed this to prepare us for playoffs."

James would double down to start the fourth with her own three with Turner again bringing the house down with a bomb to get the score to 69-60. Scott exited the game at 69-60 with Nease sensing another opportunity to dent the Knights' lead but Turner quickly extinguished the thought with a will-breaking jumper then an offensive rebound conversion to push Oakleaf to a 73-64 lead. With Cole trading in his speed game for inside prowess with Ferebee, Adrionna Coleman and Dasiah Mason clogging the lane, it was Ferebee who took a baseline pass from guard Geniya Durante and sunk a layup that put a screech on some Nease momentum for a final run. Ferebee would hustle down court on defense and come up with a game-ending rebound in a scrum under the Nease basket to end the game.

Cole's season had just two days to simmer down with a gauntlet of games to follow; Hawthorne (11-3) on Monday, Flagler Palmer Coast (10-5) on Tuesday and Terry Parker on Wednesday.

Alyssa Sherman traded baskets throughout the second period with both hitting threes as the Lady Panthers chipped away at the explosive Fletcher lead to get to the half down just 35-29.

In the third, Sherman got the hot hand for most of her 15 points with Gutierrez nailing a key three point play; layup plus a foul, to give Ridgeview their first lead; 47-43 with just two seconds left in the third.

Fletcher would regain the lead, 49-47, as the fourth quarter started, but Blocton battled for three successive offensive rebounds before nailing a layup to keep pace.

Miller added two free throws off a drive to the basket for two of her 12 points and a 53-50 Ridgeview lead with 3:52 left in the game as Amato had her fingers crossed that her team's gas tank still had some fumes.

"The whole team was outhustling them to loose balls and playing big time playoff caliber ball," said Amato. "We were holding on one of the top teams in the state and the girls were definitely riding the momentum.'

A jumper by Sherman got the lead to 55-50 with just about two minutes go go, but a jumper and a three pointer by the other Espenship, sophomore sister Olivia, tied the game with less than a minute.

A drive by Miller yielded no basket and no foul call on the mugging under the boards and Fletcher went to running the clock for a final shot.

Finding Elana Espenship off the corner with just four seconds with Gutierrez plastered to the front of her jersey, Espenship threw up the three pointer and hit all net.

"I told them this one stings, but our effort proved that we can play at a high level against good teams; Fletcher being a top Class 6A school; ranked 20th on Maxpreps," said Amato, now 10-6. "We played terrible in our win against Keystone Heights on Thursday, a much improved team with just one win, and then do this. When we want to, we can play."

Against Keystone Heights, a 40-38 win with Keystone Heights scoring 24 fourth quarter points after quarters of 2, 5, 7, Miller was top scorer with 18 points with Blocton held to 12, but with 14 rebounds.

Trinity FerebeeOakleaf High, Basketball, #22

Trinity Ferebee, a sixth man player for the undefeated Oakleaf High girls basketball team, had two of the biggest plays of the night in a tense game with district and region rival Nease High, then 14-2, with a key layup on one end to push the Knights' lead and a rebound on the defensive side to seal the 82-77 victory.

Clay winning at 71 points, Middleburg at 47 and Ridgeview edging Oakleaf for third; 39-37. "We've got a pretty good team at Middleburg and now they are with the bigger schools. This was our first time seeing them (Clay). We'll see them at districts next week."

In probably the most competitive weight class of the day; 110 pounds, Oakleaf High's Tamira Briley and Clay High's Sam Migliore traded upsmanships throughout the day with Briley's record-setting bench press prowess holding the line winning a duel that showcases two possible state champions coming home in February. Briley benched at 170 with Migliore at 135, while both cleared impressive clean and jerk lifts; 160 for Briley and 155 for Migliore to put both hats in the ringer for state podium finishes. "That's a good matchup for the county championships, but we are 3A and they are 2A," said Oakleaf coach Ben White. "It would be nice to see both coming home with golds."

Both totals; 330 for Briley, 290 for Migliore were 80 plus pounds ahead of third place, Gabrielle Etheridge of Clay at 210.

Clay got wins at 101 from Morgan Greer over Ridgeview's Brianne Adams with Orange Park's Dianna White third; 119 from Riley Ledford; 139 from Bailey Kumm; 154 from Janiyah Stevens' 169 from Serena Torres and Unlimited Kyleigh LeFary.

For Stevens, just a sophomore and a state qualifier last year, another dominating win has come simply by focus. Behind Stevens was Middleburg's Ali Cox.

"She simply does everything in her day to improve her weightlifting and that's the sign of a champion," said Clay coach Rodney Keller, noting Stevens total at state last year was 260; her total at Oakleaf was 340. "Sleep, eat, rest, recover, lift, cardio, study is all about improving her sport. It's a beautiful thing."

Stevens only executed two lifts for the win with districts next week.

"I was pretty comfortable coming in for the win and confident that I didn't have to go big to win," said Stevens. "I'm pretty Zen-like when I'm out there. I was pushed at Suwannee."

Stevens, who crushed the competition before the Christmas break at a pseudopre state invitational against powerhouse Suwannee High School, the formula is a combination of working hard and having the coaching of experienced state meet former Clay lifters like Lindsey Brooks and Autumn Null in the room.

"They are both relaxed competitors that focus on the details," said Stevens. "They are very reassuring."

Middleburg got titles at 199 from Katlyn Griffin; at 183 from Jewell Taylor and 129 from Leslie Catlett.

"Katlyn Griffin is a possible state placer, she's been there twice before," said Weiskopf. "We have two or three girls that can get to state. With districts next week, we were not going all out so we'll see."

Steinmetz 'psyches' for gold

By Randy LefkoSports Editor

ORANGE PARK — Ridgeview High junior weightlifter Jordan Steinmetz utilized a little gamesmanship at the FHSAA state weightlifting championships Saturday afternoon in Kissimmee and the gamble paid off with a first-ever state weightlifting title for Ridgeview High. Steinmetz won the 199-lb. weight division.

"My technique was a lot more solid this year," said Steinmetz, who finished in top five last year. "I was stronger, faster and more confident. It was very intense."

Hopper commented that Steinmetz was in the middle of a cadre of great lifters from around the state, but that in the two weeks from her sectional qualifier until the state meet, she worked almost exclusively on technique.

"We always say that heavier weight doesn't create flaws, but reveals them," said Hopper. "We saw some footwork that we could adjust and also worked on the snap of the lift. The judges at the state meet are very tough and will negate a lift on the slightest technique flaw. We went almost perfect."

At the sectional meet in St. Augustine two weeks prior, Steinmetz had lifted two personal best lifts in both events; the bench press and the clean and jerk, so the state meet was going to have more drama as she would have to be better than those two lifts once again.

"We kind of thought that the two lifts from the sectionals would get her close to third or fourth, but that if she lifted flawlessly, another girl might make a mistake and move us up," said Hopper. "There were two or three girls that had better qualifying lifts than her, but the nerves at state are incredible."

Steinmetz opened at 170, hit at 180 and then benched 190 to put the pressure on her opponents.

"Once I hit the 190 on the bench, I knew I had a good shot at the title," said Steinmetz. "They had to catch me."

On the clean and jerk, Steinmetz lifted up to 160, her best, and was techniqued out at 170.

"I tried to get another personal best, but I bumped the weight to my shoulders and they called it," said Steinmetz.

In the final rounds of the meet, Steinmetz stayed relaxed as she was the target and had already put the pressure on the rest of the field.

"Another thing we say about weighlifting is that courage can be a deciding factor in how much weight a competitor is willing to put over their head," said Hopper. "It is unnatural to want to lift 170 pounds over your head or to put it on your chest. Jordan's confidence in her technique made the difference."

In the unlimited division, Keystone Heights' Morgan Boettcher and Sabrina Stidd of Clay battled to third and fourth place spots.

Other area competitors who placed were Bryanna Bincreek (CHS), 20th at 101-lbs.; Alexandra Hamilton (CHS) and Krysten Scarborough (MHS) both scratched on clean and jerk in 101; Aleyah Litchfield (CHS) 8th at 199, Angelica Greene (FIHS) scratch at 199; Telesha Felder (OPHS) 15th at 183; Lexi Taylor (OPHS) 21st at 154; Alisha Lauderdale (FIHS) scratch at 154; Breanna Fitzhugh (CHS) scratch at 139: Sara Teschendorf (CHS) 16th at 129; Diondre Clinksdale Bell (MHS) 20th at 129; Maleah O'Shea (FIHS) 18th at 119; Jealyn Miller (KHHS) 21st at 110; Shawna Kirlew (OPHS) scratch at 110.

became their own worst enemy by going only 37 percent from the line on free throws; points that may have changed the outcome.

Fleming Island's Greenidge was on fire, especially from the line, going 8 for 13 on his way to a team high 16 points. Colton Zapp was a monster from the outside hitting four 3-pointers on his way to a 14 point night. The balance on offense showed as Fleming Island found the secret sauce of who to have on the court together to compliment each other, as well as find ways to shut down the Knight's attack.

"We just had to find guys who could get the stops" said Chandler. "The tough part was finding the combination of guys who could get stops and put the ball in the basket. Just finding the right combination that, fortunately, we found something that worked."

After Greenidge worked the Golden Eagles into the lead, the team cashed in on the Knight's misses, grabbing the boards, and draining shots in the last two minutes of the half to push out to a 31-22 half lead.

The third quarter was a defensive showcase as both teams scored a combined 13 points. There was action, but it was all take-aways, and passing for a 37-29 Golden Eagle lead.

"It's an in-county rivalry and we just tried to settle them down as much as possible, trust the offense, and from there," said Chandler. "We were able to find a little bit of separation."

In the fourth, Fleming Island flipped a switch with 6:30 left to play and simply harassed the Knights right from the throw-in. Wearing the Knights like a jacket, Fleming Island frustrated the Knights, keeping them from getting any sort of quality shots, scooped up the rebounds, then took it to the house over and over. The Knights went to intentional fouls to try and get the ball back, but Fleming Island did not have the same issue from the line that the Knights were suffering, going 50 percent on free throws all night and opening up the lead. Price, seeing there was not enough time left to mount any sort of charge, pulled his team back in the closing seconds, and could do no more than watch Fleming Island demonstrate their passing skills until the last buzzer on the 52-44 loss.

According to Chandler, the Golden Eagles are nowhere close to where they ultimately want to be.

"In December we were still trying to figure out a lot of new varsity guys. Now we are settling down, a 5 game winning streak, picking it up at the right time."

The Golden Eagles have one week and three games left to fine tune before tournament play begins January 26. Oakleaf as well has a week of three games to try and find the balance if they want to make any sort of run in the post season.

Lake Asbury wins county wrestling title

Clay, Fleming Island: HS Duals States Jan. 22-23

MIDDLEBURG - Buoyed by numbers in the finals, Lake Asbury Junior High's wrestling team used just three individual champions to win the Clay County Junior High Wrestling Championships with Green Cove Springs placing second with nine champions.

The six-team field was tight in the top four team scores with Lake Asbury getting 303.5 points just 10 points ahead of Green Cove with Wilkinson at 248.5 and Oakleaf at 220.0. Lakeside was fifth with Orange Park sixth.

In an awesome display of wrestling on their own, four female wrestlers, led by 77 pound champion Payton Dias of Lake Asbury, who won a grueling 8-7 title over Oakleaf's Connor Barnes was top female wrestler of the day in competitive matches that sprinkled throughout the weight classes.

At 82 pounds, Wilkinson's Bayleigh Girgis lost a tough 10-7 semifinal to Lake Asbury's Braden Phenneger before roaring back in the third place match with two near falls of Orange Park's John Humer to win a 9-1 major decision.

Lily Bradshawn, 85 out of Wilkinson, got pinned in her semifinal then turned the tables on Lakeside's Joseph Hill with her own third period pin for the bronze medal.

At 97, Wilkinson got Kylie Gerber in the finals with Brady Glavin winning a tougher than the score looks 10-0 major decision.

After Dias' opening match win, Lake Asbury's team got titles from Michael Micelli by pin over Phenneger at 82; Lemmy Kirkland by pin over Angel Rodriguez of Oakleaf at 85 and Jordan Hernandez with

For Green Cove, nine individual titles wasn't enough to upend the Lake Asbury depth with the Cougars getting titles to Brady Glavin at 97 over Wilkinson's Gerber; Shane Duhaylongsod at 102 over Lake Asbury's Jacob Bucci 2-1; Vonte Burke at 108 with a pin on Oakleaf's Sebastian Bonachea; Laird Duhaylongsod at 115 with a pin over Caleb Eastwood of Lake Asbury; Cooper Beck at 122 with a 10-3 win over Rylan Herrera of Lake Asbury; Eli Erby at 134 with a 9-0 major decision over Oakleaf's Kailani Barrientos; Angel Salitre-Garcia at 140 who survived a near fall situation to turn Mason Phillips of Lake Asbury over and pin just before the third period ended; Dylan Beck at 147 who pinned Merrick Joiner of Wilkinson and Tayshawn Tate at 154 who pinned Braden Ringer of Lake Asbury.

Oakleaf got two champions in Bryant Taylor at 162 who pinned Walter Poe of Green Cove and Jeremiah Baker at 172 who pinned Brody Lyda of Lake Asbury.

Wilkinson got three titles; Jordan Walker at 92 with a pin over Chris McKeel of Oakleaf; Dyllan Dalager at 184 with a pin over Lukas Graham of Lake Asbury and Kendric O'Neal with a pin over Aaron Stacy of Green Cove Springs.

In high school wrestling duals state tournament action, Fleming Island and Clay both advanced to the championship tournament to be held Friday and Saturday, Jan. 22-23 at Osceola High School.

Fleming Island heads to the region 1-3A championship on Friday after winning bouts of 56-16 over Flagler Palm Coast and 58-19 over Gainesville Buchholz last week to advance. Fleming Island will face Timber Creek for the region title and the green light to head to the 3A Final Four on Saturday with South Dade the defending state champion in the mix again.

and Yulee (62-10) in their region openers advances to face long-time rival Wakulla High on Friday. Clay recently got a dual meet win over Flagler Palm Coast as a tune up for the state tournament.

A win by Clay over Wakulla puts the Blue Devils, back under the direction of Jim Reape, in the mix with the likes of Cardinal Gibbons, Hernando, Somerset Academy, Anclote, Lemon Bay and Palm Bay. Wakulla posted wins of 81-0 and 73-6 in their region wins over Rocky Bayou and South Walton. Multiple time Class 1A champion Lake Highland Prep is no longer in the FHSAA playoff system and will not compete.

Wilkinson got a title from Daniel Raines at 128 with win over Chrstian Rodriguez.
