Kitchen closing: 'Rachael Ray' bids farewell to daytime TV

After 17 seasons of weekday food and fun, the kitchen is closing for "Rachael Ray."

That's the program that goes by that name, not the title personality, who is already looking toward new media horizons for herself.

The last episode of her syndicated talk show airs Wednesday, May 24, and it's sure to celebrate many of the top moments Ray has put forth over the better part of the past two decades — both as a culinary and lifestyle authority, and as someone whose interviewing skills have developed considerably during the show's run.

"I'm a good cook who learned how to talk to anybody over time," the ever-lively Ray says in assessing the longevity of her eponymous show, "and that's because of practice. I have always believed that anybody in America can be successful at anything if they can close their eyes and see themselves trying it. If you're not ashamed of where you come from, you never have to be ashamed of where you might go."

When "Rachael Ray" began in 2006, its bubbly host already was widely known for the cooking shows she made principally for Food Network, including "30 Minute Meals," a concept the former waitress and pub manager originated while she was a buyer for an upscale food market in Upstate New York. She parlayed that job into classes she taught to customers, which drew the interest of an area television station; the segments she did there paved the way for NBC's "Today" to feature her regularly, then for Food Network to begin showcasing her. Recurring spots on "The Oprah Winfrey Show" progressed to the point where Winfrey became an executive producer of Ray's own talk show from its inception.

Throughout the run of "Rachael Ray," the host has had a true partner in her husband, musician and lawyer John Cusimano. Besides contributing melodically to the program, he effectively became Ray's co-host when the coronavirus pandemic forced her to shift production from a Manhattan studio to the couple's home in Lake Luzerne, New York.

As for what lies ahead for Ray, she intends to work again with many of her "Rachael Ray" colleagues in channeling much of her focus and energy into her new venture, Free Food Studios. It has a commitment for an A&E series tentatively titled "Rachael Ray Meals in Minutes," the first effort in a new library of programming she intends to build with fellow producers she has worked with before. She also plans to nurture new talent in the food-show space.

"There's tons of great content out there, now more than ever," Ray reasons. "We're going to be working on platforms on multiple levels. The world is constantly changing in that way, and I feel so lucky as an American woman in her 50s to still be relevant. It's exciting and cool, and it proves the point that you can do anything you want."

Ramsay returns: Gordon entices entrepreneurs in 'Food Stars'

He's been around for decades, but fans have yet to tire of the brutal honesty, invaluable tips and delicious recipes that superstar chef Gordon Ramsay serves. With shows such as "Hell's Kitchen," "Ramsay's Kitchen Nightmares" and "Gordon Ramsay Uncharted," the Scottish chef has traveled to share his experience worldwide. Now, Ramsay is on the hunt for the next big name in food. "Gordon Ramsay's Food Stars" premieres Wednesday, May 24, on Fox, following the Season 13 premiere of "Master-Chef."

In this new series, Gordon makes his way out of the kitchen and into the boardroom, trading in his cast iron skillet and cutting board for revenue reports and marketing meetings, this time putting his own wallet on the line. An American adaptation of the British TV series, "Gordon Ramsay's Future Food Stars," the show follows Ramsay as he looks to find the next culinary entrepreneur he'd like to (personally) financially support, offering the most impressive contestant $250,000 to follow their dreams.

Ramsay tests these hopeful entrepreneurs in every facet of running a successful business, challenging contestants at every phase of production, from initial marketing to product development.

"The aspiring moguls will be challenged in all aspects of running a food enterprise, including creating, marketing and selling to real customers. ... As Ramsay pushes contestants to their limits, they'll have to prove they possess the raw ingredients required to succeed – drive, dedication, creativity, passion and talent," Fox said of the series in a news release.

Ramsay explained further in an interview with Variety: "I've hand-picked some of the most promising culinary innovators to compete for not only my investment but my partnership in business. They will have to hustle through tough challenges, break through and set themselves apart from the other competition, and make noise to prove they have what it takes to be successful."

Joining this season's inaugural competition are: Aaron Valentine, founder of Snow Cone King; Caroline D'Amore, CEO of Pizza Girl Inc.; Elisa Strauss, owner of Confetti Cakes; Jake Aronskind, founder of the cooking app Pepper; Kagen Cox, owner of Kagen Coffee & Crepes; Lan Ho, owner of Fat Miilk; Queen Precious-Jewel Zabriskie, spice purveyor of Indulgent Essential Spices; Sydney Webb, co-founder of Toto Foods, Inc., and more.

To see who receives the $250,000 (and who earns the most iconic insult), tune in for the premiere of "Gordon Ramsay's Food Stars," airing Wednesday, May 24, on Fox.

Verstappen is in it to win it

At just 25 years old, Formula 1 driver Max Verstappen has already made his mark in the racing world, taking home the F1 World Drivers' Championship two years in a row, in 2021 and 2022. Verstappen shows no sign of slowing down in 2023 as the racing season starts to ramp up.

The son of two racing drivers, many would agree that Verstappen has a "need for speed" in his blood. He began competing at the junior level in 2006 and, by 2014, had risen to the professional level, becoming the youngest driver in history to complete in an F1 racing weekend. By the end of the season the next year, Verstappen had taken the title of F1A Rookie of the Year, cementing his place in the racing world.

In 2016, Verstappen signed with Red Bull Racing, the team he currently drives for. Since signing, Verstappen has clinched several awards and championships and then dominated the 2022 racing season. Verstappen has taken that energy into the 2023 season, as he's currently ranked the top driver in Formula 1 racing just a few rounds in.

Verstappen is a fan favorite worldwide — especially with his Dutch countrymen in the Netherlands. He was voted the most popular F1 driver in 2021 and consistently fills dedicated sections of Grand Prix grandstands with excited fans. If the 2023 season is to be anything like Verstappen's last couple of seasons, fans will surely be in for a heart-racing schedule of races with Max Verstappen leading the way.

Full name: Max Emilian Verstappen
Birth date: Sept. 30, 1997
Birthplace: Hasselt, Belgium
Height/weight: 5'9"/158

Teams: Scuderia Toro Rosso (2014-2016), Red Bull Racing (2016-present) 2023 F1 Race Number: 1

Honors and achievements: Dutch Sportsman of the Year (2016, 2021), Au-tosport International Racing Driver of the Year (2021), Laureus World Sports Award for Sportsman of the Year (2022), Officer of the Order of Orange-Nassau (2022) Did you know: Even though Verstappen was born in Belgium, he also holds Dutch citizenship. Because he competes professionally with a Dutch racing license, he is considered a Dutch competitor. Verstappen speaks four languages: Dutch, Limburgish, German and English.

OF MAYANS M.C. ON FX

Q: As your "Mayans
M.C." character — biker-group chapter president
Ezekiel "EZ" Reyes — nears
the end of his journey on the series as the fifth and final season starts, how do you see his arc?

A: Especially when I think about it, when it comes to EZ, it's in these dark places that there's a sense like an awakening that happens. It's like you almost have to go through the fire, and experience the lowest of the lows, to understand who you are and to test it. I think that that's where you find these characters.

Q: What do you think EZ represents on the broader scale of the human condition?

A: It's like a lot of times, we use people or situations as excuses and crutches because we are afraid to be who we are. We are afraid to acknowledge who we might be.

What I have always loved about "Mayans M.C.," and it's a separation from "Sons of Anarchy" and other shows of this nature, is that this isn't a character that just goes into prison and spends time there and comes out and it's like, "Oh, it is just another day." It is the story of this human being who goes to prison and who is transformed by it, who is traumatized by it, who carries that with him every day.

Q: How do you think that manifests itself in who we now see EZ to be?

A: He lost a bit of himself in there. He "died" in there. So, EZ has always been trying to go back to this place to regain who he used to be, when that's just not the truth anymore.

"Deadloch" (Prime Video — series premiere,

The Tasmanian town of Deadloch, a once sleepy seaside hamlet, is left reeling when a local man turns up dead on the beach. Two female detectives are thrown together to solve the case: Fastidious local Senior Sergeant Dulcie Collins (Kate Box. "Rake") and a rough as guts blow in from Darwin, Senior Investigator Eddie Redcliffe (Madeleine Sami, "Super City"), along with their overeager junior constable Abby (Nina Oyama, "Utopia"). As the town prepares to launch the annual arts, food and culture event - Winter Feastival the trio have to put their differences aside and work together to find the killer.

"Ant-Man" supplies big entertainment

One of the smallest characters in the Marvel Universe has shown himself to be good for sizable entertainment on multiple occasions.

The screen exploits of Ant-Man began in 2015, and if it was thought then that Paul Rudd had too bemused a screen attitude to be effective in the overall franchise, he quickly proved how well-suited he was ... especially in that specific role. TNT shows the original "Ant-Man" movie Friday, May 26, and it still exhibits the promise that led to a couple of "Ant-Man and the Wasp" follow-ups.

Movies

Abominable ★★★ (2019) A teen and her two friends embark on an epic quest to reunite a Yeti with his family. FREE Sat. 11:55 p.m.

Aladdin ★★★ (1992) A talkative genie grants the wishes of a Baghdad thief and a princess. Sat. 7:45 p.m.

Amazing Spider-Man, The ★★★ (2012) Having acquired superhuman powers, Peter Parker begins a quest to solve his parents' disappearance. FX Mon. 8 p.m., Tue. 5 p.m.

Rudd also co-wrote the first picture's screenplay with two other talents known for their irreverence, Edgar Wright ("Shaun of the Dead") and Adam McKay (a veteran of many Will Ferrell-starring comedies). Along with director Peyton Reed ("Bring It On"), who also would return to the "Ant-Man" series later, they give just the right tone to the proceedings — mixing humor and adventure quite successfully.

Rudd's alter ego Scott Lang is an excon, something that automatically makes this Marvel hero different. While staging a robbery once he's out of prison, he steals a costume that he doesn't realize will shrink whoever wears it, drastically. It's the invention of an agenda-driven ex-colleague ("Billions" regular Corey Stoll) of Hank Pym, an alum of S.H.I.E.L.D. who used his experiments to make himself an earlier incarnation of Ant-

Angst is a trait shared by many Marvel figures, and Ant-Man also has his share of it. That being said, there's also a great degree of wonder to his exploits, which are quite unique to him and his circumstances. As a result, the introductory "Ant-Man" movie round delivers a lot of pleasure that probably will be just the right size for numerous view-reality†\ A 'Scandoval'-ous reunion: 'Vanderpump Rules' returns for 'out of control' reunion

All things must end, it seems. Friendships, relationships, reality shows ... nothing can last forever. But in true "Vanderpump" tradition, all that ends, ends with a bang.

The explosive "Vanderpump Rules Reunion Special" commences for a 10th year – split into two non-stop, drama-filled installments – with "Part 1" premiering Wednesday, May 24, on Bravo.

Each and every season of "Vanderpump" serves hot gossip and jaw-dropping moments, but it's safe to say that Season 10 truly takes the cake. Avid 'Vander-lovers' will know that February and March were show-stopping months for some of the show's regulars, and as the season wraps up, fans are desperate to know where the Toms (Schwartz and Sandoval), Raquel, Ariana and Katie all stand.

To recap, "Vanderpump" returned with new episodes in February of this year, following the split between Tom Schwartz and Katie Maloney. When Schwartz and "Vanderpump" regular Raquel Leviss engaged in some public flirting, fans were hungry for more details — and as March rolled in, that's exactly what they got (and then some). News soon broke that Leviss and "Vanderpump's" other Tom, Tom Sandoval, had engaged in a months-long affair, resulting in the end of his nine-year relationship with Ariana Madix.

Hosted by Andy Cohen ("Watch What Happens Live"), the Season 10 reunion is set to be "a real reckoning" (per Cohen) as it was filmed only days after news of Madix and Sandoval broke. Cohen continued, hinting at what unfolded during the soon-tobe-aired taping: "If you are looking to hear their story — you will. If you are looking for them to be confronted to their face about what they've done, in what I would say in an aggressive manner — you will get it." Cohen also filmed one-on-one interviews with Madix, Sandoval and Leviss, and teased more potential content, claiming that extended versions of all interviews will be released after the special.

'Blue Bloods' will stay on its beat

Q: Will "Blue Bloods" be back next season? – George Ryan, Grand Junction, Colo.

A: The answer to that is finally "Yes," though it was held up for a while. One of CBS' most reliably performing shows will get a 14th season, but the cast and crew (including Tom Selleck, who had to have gotten a sizable salary during his "Magnum, p.I." years) had to agree to budget cuts to make that happen ... reportedly encompassing a 25-percent reduction for the law-and-order-family drama's top-billed stars.

"Red Heat" (1988): Schwarzenegger and James Belushi make an entertaining pair as a Russian policeman and a Chicago cop — guess which plays which who become temporary partners to catch a foreign drug kingpin.

"Predator" (1987): A clever merging of brawny military adventure and sci-fi

saga casts Schwarzenegger as the leader of a team sent into a jungle on a mission that eventually pits them against a lethal

"The Running Man" (1987): The televised, much-viewed game that involves Schwarzenegger's character and others had a deadly undercurrent in this adaptation of a Stephen King story.

"Twins" (1988): Schwarzenegger and Danny DeVito as ... the title twins? Well, sure, when it comes to this rather wacky comedy from director Ivan Reitman.

"Total Recall" (1990): Easily one of Schwarzenegger's best movies, director Paul Verhoeven's intriguing sci-fi fantasy features the star as a man who carries another person's memories on Mars. And that's just one slice of the plot that also includes Sharon Stone and probably the most unusual cabbie you've ever seen.

"Kindergarten Cop" (1990): Though the picture has its tougher moments, this Schwarzenegger vehicle has mass appeal as his police-detective character opposes as a schoolteacher and wins over his very young class.

"Eraser" (1996): Schwarzenegger sees plenty of action as a marshal in the Witness Protection Program who tries to keep a corporate whistleblower (Vanessa Williams) safe ... but some of his opponents turn out to be quite close to home.

"Jingle All the Way" (1996):

Schwarzenegger had a fun change of pace with this family comedy about a devoted dad determined to get a much-coveted and scarce action figure for his son as a holiday present.

"The 6th Day" (2000): Shocked to find that a clone of himself has replaced him at home, a man (Schwarzenegger) sets out to make things right before he can be eliminated.
