Students impress judges with exceptional, innovative projects

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Engineer and volunteer judge Ray Morin seemed enthralled with a project by Ridgeview High junior Angel Zheng.

So young to be so clever, Zheng was comfortable answering questions from a man who'd spent a career making difficult things seem easy, and it took a professional problem-solver to understand the complexities of Zheng's work.

Her project was called: "Waterproofing and Experimentation of Servo Motors: Obstructing Water Intrusion in the SG90 Servo Motor and Muizei 25KG Servo Motor in Submarine Robotics Needing to Achieve Angles of 90 (degrees), 180 (degrees) and 270 (degrees) While Utilizing Programming Language C and the Arduino Programming Integrated Development Environment Running on a Raspberry Pi."

Gone are the days of baking soda and vinegar volcanoes.

Last Tuesday, an array of ingenious projects was proudly presented at the Rotary Club Clay County Science Fair at the fairgrounds. Nearly 140 students presented 100 projects, turning the exhibition hall into a massive think tank.

Peaceful Price, a freshman at Ridgeview, created a mechanism that can turn fidgety finger movements into electric energy.

"If you like fidgeting with a pipe here or any of these fidget mechanisms, there is an energy converter and rudder that would have that electric energy run to this battery where it can be stored and charged," she said.

Big game pizzas, wings, chips and dips to satisfy big-time appetites

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

CLAY COUNTY – Millions of fans believe the best way to tackle football's biggest game is with a big appetite.

While Super Bowl Sunday isn't an official holiday, it ranks second for gluttony. Thanksgiving, which also has football, is the only other day Americans loosen their belts an extra notch.

Whether fans will stay home to watch the game or join a party, one thing is certain: the menu is as important as the game.

Which snack food is the most popular has been debated for years, but just about every get-together will feature one, if not all, of the three – pizza, wings and chips and dip. So who better to talk about Super Bowl fare than Dalton's Sports Grill, V Pizza and La Catrina Tacos and Tequila Bar

Every week, Clay Today will test or enlighten your knowledge on a variety of topics. This week, the Super Bowl.

Non-football fans watch the Super Bowl, but not for the game. Super Bowl commercials have become an attraction of their own. Budweiser purchased time in the first game in 1967, and the company will extend its streak to 58 consecutive games this Sunday. The King of Beers will air its 144th ad when the Kansas City Chiefs play the San Francisco 49ers in Las Vegas. Anheuser-Busch also plans to advertise Bud Light and Michelob Ultra during the big game. And guess who's made the most Super Bowl ad appearances besides a Clydesdale? Former racing diva Danica Patrick. She's appeared in one ad for the Daytona 500 and 13 for her one-time sponsor, GoDaddy.

Police, fire unions win pay increases in Orange Park

Hilt, Vogel to compete for Seat 4 on Municipal Super Tuesday

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

ORANGE PARK – After months of negotiations, the Town Council approved the collective bargaining agreements with employees in the Police and Fire unions.

“We have been working on this (since September) to make things right with our police. They do a great job. When you look at the local community our police officers (had been) underpaid. I want to thank them for everything they do. This is well deserved,” said Mayor Randy Anderson.

He continued, “I want to give a thank you to our fire department. This is well deserved, and I support where we are going with this.”

The Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) represents the Orange Park Police Department. The FOP was able to bring starting salaries for entry-level patrol officers in line with the new Clay County Sheriff’s Office starting pay. The result was a 20.9% increase for the lowest-paid positions and a 10.9% increase for the highest. The average pay increase across all positions is 14.36%.

The signed agreement brought $184,704 in additional wages and $55,411 in benefits.

Additional changes include the work period now being 14 days instead of 21 days, Juneteenth will be a federal holiday and mandatory shifts during storms and emergencies will result in double wages, regardless of hours worked.

In return, the FOP agreed not to engage in any strike, picketing or activity interfering with police work. Any employee participating in or promoting a strike may be disciplined or discharged.

Det. Jeff Yaeger is the current president of FOP Lodge 144, representing the Orange Park Police Department. Yaeger said the bargaining contract negotiations were delayed due to the police department’s transition from a former union to FOP.

“It wasn’t that the town wasn’t willing. It was because the police union was transitioning,” Yaeger said.

Samantha Frehulfer, the president-elect of FOP Lodge 144, said the town was cooperative and respectful during bargaining.

“The communication went really well when we went to the table. They were understanding and willing to help us out,” Frehulfer said.

The International Association of Firefighters represents the Orange Park Fire Department. The IAF negotiated standard pay increases to keep positions competitive in the local job marketplace. A base level increase of 6.5% will be applied to all positions. The signed agreement brought $79,306 in additional wages and $23,792 in benefits.

The IAF agreed to a similar “no strike” condition. Juneteenth became a federal holiday for firefighters and paramedics.

“I’d like to see the (impact) of the raises. I think we’ll see hiring back where it needs to be,” said Vice-Mayor Doug Benefield.

In other news, the council learned Glenn A. Taylor will run unopposed for Seat 3, while Madison “Maddie” Hilt will face Kenneth Vogel for Seat 4 during the Municipal Super Tuesday election on April 9. The qualifying period ended on Friday, Feb. 2.

The two spots on the Town Council came open in late December when members Susana Thompson and Daniel Cobreiro resigned.

Street walls, city seal also approved

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – A proposed industrial park on the southeast corner of U.S. Highway 17 and State Road 16 cleared a significant hurdle Tuesday when the City Council approved the first reading of an ordinance to amend its Future Land Use Map for a development that will be known as the Huntley Commerce Center or 17/16 Commerce Center.

If formally approved, the park will sit on a 58.12-acre lot where a manufacturing plant once operated but closed in 2010.

Developers HLM Investments of Orange Park originally approached the council in September to have the property rezoned from Mixed Use to Industrial. The council said it wanted more information and changes to the request before it could be considered.

Owners of the vacant building at State Road 16 and U.S. Highway 17 hope to convert the property into an industrial park. The council is considering a rezoning request and an amendment to its Future Land Use Map.

The group returned after city staff approved the modifications after being satisfied with the frontage design, entrances, lighting, buffering, mechanical equipment screening and signage compliance with Level of Service standards and Future Land Use elements.

The council voted 4-1, with Councilman Ed Gaw dissenting, to advance the request. The developer still must complete a traffic

'It's for the good of the city'

Resident hopes to sell land which would improve SR 100 and 21 intersection

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS – During the past few months, the City Council has pondered how to address the cumbersome and usually congested intersection of State Roads 100 and 21.

An analysis presented by North Florida TPO during a city council meeting in January offered some recommendations to improve traffic flow through the intersection based on guidance from the Florida Department of Transportation.

North Florida TPO proposed a dedicated right-turn lane going northbound on SR 21, where the vacant China Chef restaurant currently sits, improving traffic flow and reducing crashes by 12%.

Currently, the right turn is at a stiff 46-degree angle, which causes vehicles to slow down into the turn. The analysis said that slow turning movement leads to a higher probability of rear-end crashes. Residents agreed with that sentiment as they shared their difficult experiences behind the wheel. The intersection was an area of particular concern for the former City Manager Lynn Rutkowski.

With City Manager Charlie Van Zant Jr. sworn in, the City Council voted 4-0 to allow the new city manager to begin negotiations to purchase the plot of land where the vacant China Chef restaurant currently sits.

The plot of land is owned by Rashaun Patel, who purchased the land for $240,000. In a gesture of goodwill, Patel offered to sell the plot of land for the original price and no interest.

"It's no problem for me to sell to the city. I want to make the offer. I don't want interest (payments) from you. It's for the good of the city. I have no problem with how you handle it," Patel said.

Council members Stephen Hart and Tony Brown discussed the offer and how to use the land best when purchased.

"(The property) will probably be best as a turn land for the highway. It's a difficult turn, as testimony from the last meeting. Especially for trucks," said Hart.

"We've kicked the can around... we as a city should jump on the opportunity," said Brown.

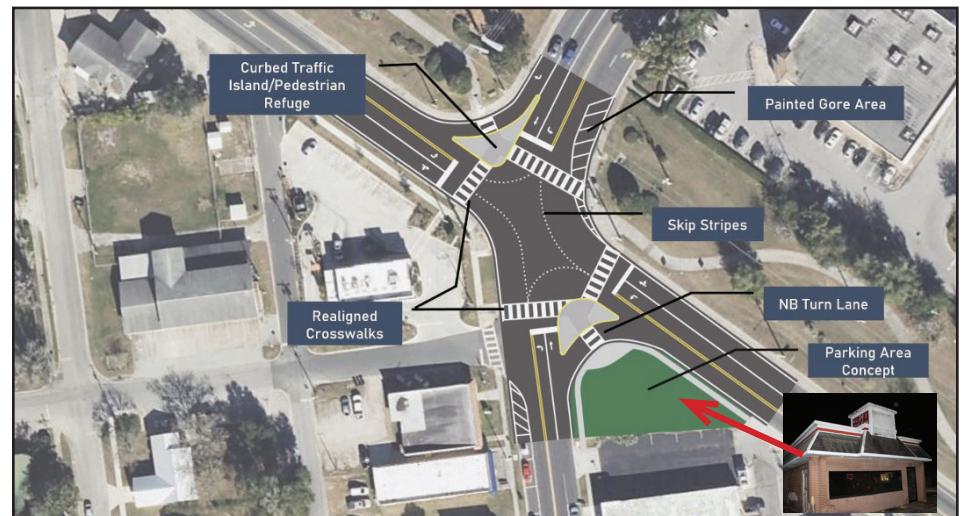

"You guys are trying to do good things for the city, and I'm happy to help," Patel said.

A deal will likely be ironed out during the city council workshop on Feb. 28 at 8 a.m. The workshop will also discuss the Smart City Plan, the parks plan and vandalism in city parks.

At the workshop, Mayor Nina Rodenroth plans to share statistics on how much vandalism has financially burdened the city. She hopes to discuss possibly kickstarting a community-led task force to address the issue.

City Manager Charlie Van Zant Jr. was sworn in with his family present. One of his first duties is to finalize the purchase and acquisition of a plot of land at the intersection of State Roads 100 and 21.

USO, NFL offering Super Bowl viewing parties for deployed soldiers

By StatePoint Media
For Clay Today

Service members stationed or deployed away from home often put the treasured Sunday NFL football game-watching ritual on pause because of work responsibilities, time zone differences or lack of access to the game broadcasts.

Fortunately, more service members can get this “home away from home” experience thanks to the generosity of the NFL, which donates NFL Game Pass to the USO’s overseas centers, where they can access the games through an app called DAZN. This partnership between the USO and the NFL’s Salute to Service initiative makes it possible for the people who serve to watch the game live on Sundays and join in the shared moments that unite millions of Americans.

Being stationed abroad can be isolating, making Sunday viewing parties more than just a fun weekly event. Watching the games live is also a way for service members to stay connected to family and friends back home. They text and call during the game, sharing the moments in real-time. Like much of USO’s programming, these events also provide service members with professional connections and a sense of normalcy under difficult circumstances, helping build a sense of camaraderie among attendees.

Bringing live games to those overseas is just one aspect of the USO-NFL partnership, which began more than 55 years ago. Through its support of USO Center expansions, holiday programming and various other events, the NFL helps deliver sports, entertainment and gaming to service members worldwide. Continuing the advancement of USO centers worldwide, the NFL is supporting a new USO center aboard the USS Dwight D. Eisenhower aircraft carrier. This center includes many of the amenities of a land-based center, such as comfortable seating, TVs, video and board games, USO program kits and snacks.

OPINIONS & VIEWPOINTS

You can bet there are many reasons to watch Super Bowl

By Don Coble
Managing Editor

There is no more stressful day of the betting year than Super Bowl Sunday. Who’s going to win? Who’s going to score first? Will the winning team cover the point spread? What was the price of Bitcoin stock before and after the game?

Wait, Bitcoin?

Strange but true, but you can bet on whether the stock price of the cryptocurrency will increase from kickoff to the final play.

Nothing stirs a bookie’s imagination more than a Super Bowl. It’s a cultural extravaganza that attracts millions of non-football fans with weird proposition bets. And you don’t have to know anything about blocking, tackling, running, passing, catching or kicking to get into the action. All you need to know is pop culture.

Foreign-based online sportsbooks are trying to cash in on the widespread focus on Taylor Swift and her boyfriend, Kansas City tight end Travis Kelce. BetOnline, based in Panama, is offering 89 Swift-Kelce proposition bets, like will former President Donald Trump mention Swift on Truth Social during the game, will she be shown eating a hot dog or will the couple kiss on camera? It’s such a circus, one site is accepting wagers whether you see her bra straps or any other undergarments.

One of the challenges of creating prop bets is finding a storyline, Dave Mason, brand manager of BetOnline told NPR’s Becky Sullivan. They hit a gold mine when Swift and Kelce recently became their own sideshow.

“Of course, this year, the crème de la crème fell into our laps,” he said.

Sportsbooks in the United States are prohibited from legally participating in the “Taylor Swift Effect” because their props must be related to an official on-field statistic, activity or score.

Like what color of Gatorade will be dumped on the winning head coach, the length of Reba McEntire’s “Star Spangled Banner,” how many and which songs Usher will sing during his halftime show and will the pregame coinflip land on heads or tails?

Here are some curious facts about the game. Since the Chiefs are considered the home team, they got to choose which jersey they wanted to wear and picked red. Of the previous 57 Super Bowls, teams wearing white jerseys have won 37 times.

The Gatorade splash has become a very popular prop bet. According to Canada’s FanDuel, the favorite color is red, while bet365 said it has more money bet on purple. In the past five years, blue has been the color of choice three times, including the last two years. Orange and purple each made a splash the other two years. I wonder how many gamblers have tried to become friends with the team trainers who mix the Gatorade for each team?

Bet

If you want to take a risk, you can bet $100 to win $1,300 if the coach is dowsed by water.

Odds makers set the time for Reba McEntire to sing the National Anthem at a snappy 1 minute, 26 seconds, which is shorter than the quickest anthem of 90 seconds 17 years ago by Billy Joel. Wonder if McEntire is allowed to bet.

You can also make money on whether the word “Brave” takes less or more than 3.5 seconds.

One of the game’s biggest attractions is the halftime show. After all, where else can you be entertained by Usher and put some coin in your pocket?

The line on the number of Usher’s songs is 8.5, which means there can’t be a tie. If he sings eight or less, under is a winner. If he sings nine or more, the winning bet would be over. But there’s more. You can wager on which songs he sings and which song will be his first. Perhaps the easiest money to be made is whether he will sing “Yeah!” Since the money line is 100,000, the return would be .001%. In all, you can bet from a list of 21 songs.

If you want to make $2,500, put $100 on “Boyfriend” to be his first song.

What will be the best job on Super Bowl Sunday? Usher’s wardrobe supervisor, because you can bet on his shirt color at the start of the concert concert. The favorite is black, while orange is a long shot.

While coin flips are a 50/50 proposition, you can wager on heads or tails. For the record, seven of the last 10 flips have been tails.

For traditionalists, the 49ers are a two-point favorite – maybe because of the white jerseys – and the total number of combined points is 47.5.

Odds are, there will be about 116.5 million people watching. Of course, you can bet on that number, too.

Super Bowl

Another example of the partnership is the USO-NFL Mobile Gaming Trailer, which complements brick-and-mortar USO centers by bringing gaming stations to remote locations. The annual Salute to Service Showdown, an EA SPORTS Madden NFL 24 tournament that began in 2021, brings military members together over a shared love of football and gaming. Each year, the tournament winners score two tickets to the Super Bowl.

Speaking of the Super Bowl, attendees can visit the USO exhibit, get a firsthand look at a mobile gaming center and show their support for service members.

To learn more about USO programming that strengthens the well-being of the people serving in America’s military and their families, visit uso.org.

Watching football on Sunday is something that most Americans take for granted. Thanks to USO programming, more members of the military are able to share in the experience.

County still looking for homes for last few surrendered dogs

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Two rows of cages that were an emergency home to 94 dogs are now gone from the Clay County Fairgrounds. But as long as one dog still needs a home, Courtney Sumner of Animal Services will stay on watch.

Most of the dogs surrendered by a woman in Middleburg on Jan. 23 have been adopted, Animal Services Director Ernest Hagan said. With about 20 to go, the department wanted to make sure the community was still mindful of the project.

“These are the happiest dogs,” Sumner said. “They’re all in such good moods. Some are older. Some are young. We’ve got something for everyone.”

All animals can be adopted for free, and each have been spayed or neutered, fitted with a microchip and had their vaccinations updated.

A litter of puppies that were six days old when Animal Services received them is now available, Hagan said.

“We have a very varied selection of animals to choose from,” he said.

Including a dog named Olof.

“He’s everybody’s favorite,” Hagan said. “He loves attention. He’s really just a big, playful goof.”

ORANGE PARK – A shopping cart was parked at the back door of the Orange Park Senior Center on Saturday, carrying two opened boxes of cereal, assorted clothes, a blanket, and water bottles. It wasn't much, but for one person eating lunch provided by The Kitchen of Clay County, it was likely the meager accounting of everything he owned.

That didn't matter once he entered the dining room. There were no questions, Volunteer Ben Woods gave a woman a much-needed hug of encouragement and compassion after she finished her meal.

"I didn't know about this," he said while spooning hot soup with one hand and eating a sandwich with the other. "This means a lot to me."

The kitchen handed out meals in a drive-through at the First Baptist Church of Orange Park since the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic. Not only was Saturday's undertaking the first at the senior center, but it was also the first time in years residents were allowed to come inside, sit down and be served their meals.

"When COVID hit, we weren't allowed to serve the seniors," said Jennifer Knight. "It's so good to have a place where people can come in and sit down to eat. There's such a need here in Clay County. Last year, we served just short of 19,000 meals between our three kitchens."

Vulnerable family members can be registered at Clay Watch

Sheriff's Office creating databank to help find those prone to wandering

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

FLEMING ISLAND – Imagine the rush of terror and uncertainty when a family member who has autism, dementia, Alzheimer's disease or a traumatic brain injury is suddenly missing. The Clay County Sheriff's Office is now collecting information on vulnerable residents so that they can be found quickly and brought back home safely.

Because every minute counts.

After a year of research, planning and training, Sheriff Michelle Cook said Monday the agency now offers the Clay Watch program to build a database of information on individuals prone to wandering.

The program allows family members to voluntarily provide information about loved ones to the sheriff's office, which will help the agency send immediate alerts to deputies. The time saved by providing a photo, description, background, and tendencies can lead to a quicker response and outcome.

"I'm going to give you a specific example. We have a person in Clay County who tends to wander away, and this person likes to climb trees," Cook said. "We also have a whole lot of new deputies on the street. So, if we have this person registered in the Clay Watch database, they (deputies) are sent to the area or the house because the person has gone missing again. They can pull up the Clay Watch registry and look at the characteristics of the person who likes to wander and see that this person likes to climb trees.

"You know, some of these folks have challenges where they're drawn to water. Or they're drawn to retention ponds. So having information ahead of time can potentially save a life."

Family members can decide how much information they want to reveal. And while the information is secured, Cook said the more her agency knows, the quicker they narrow their search.

"When we find missing people wandering the street, and they are not sure who they are or where they live, we can check the Clay Watch registry to see if we can locate them," she said. "Again, if any individual would like to register a loved one but is unsure of how to do it or would like some additional information, you are more than welcome to stop by our workstation (at the Middleburg Substation), and we will be happy to have somebody walking through the registration process."

"The program also includes how a person communicates and their aggression and anxiety triggers," said Lt. Mike Layne.

"One of the hardest things is checking somebody who cannot communicate with us," he said. "If we check in with somebody walking down the sidewalk and can't identify themselves, we wanted to be able to search based on any of the descriptors we have, the neighborhood we were in, their physical description, what characteristics they were presenting to us.

"We have a very robust search system built into this. We can take any of that, and it will provide a list of the folks and their photographs for anybody meeting that criteria. Then, we can simply the process. It's taken a lot of work for us to get there."

'God's Trombones'

Performance celebrates Black History Month through poetry, song

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – “God’s Trombones” is a powerful collection of poetry and negro spirituals deriving from the oratory traditions of African Americans during slavery. The Mt. Pleasant Missionary Baptist Church performance was an inspiring, fitting start to the Black History Month events planned by Friends of Augusta Savage Arts and Community Center.

“God’s Trombones” was written in 1927 by James Weldon Johnson, a Black poet and civil rights activist born in Jacksonville. Johnson also wrote the lyrics for “Lift Every Voice and Sing,” which became known as the Black National Anthem, and was the leader of the NAACP from 1920 to 1930.

On Sunday, Feb. 4, Friends of Augusta Savage proudly presented a “God’s Trombones” production directed by Dr. Barbara Bouie. It was the second annual “God’s Trombones” performance and the sixth annual musical presented by Friends of Augusta Savage.

“The first ‘God’s Trombones’ performance was last year by Mt. Pleasant Missionary Baptist church honoring Mrs. Ethel Lee Wright. I was there and thought it would be perfect to bring it back to the community,” said Henrietta Francis, Board Chair of Augusta Savage Arts and Community Center.

“God’s Trombones” was written in the context of African Americans in slavery, Dr. Bouie said. Singing negro spirituals was one vital way slaves were able to endure the hardships and injustices of slavery, and it is essential for the spirituals and stories to be heard today, she said.

“We can’t let the Negro spirituals die. They’re packed with meaning and messages which the masters didn’t understand. As the slaves were forced to do what the masters said, they sang themselves through the misery and trials.”

For those enduring under the yoke of slavery, the negro spiritual was sometimes all they had.

“God’s Trombones’ allows the modern generation to hear the spirituals of the slaves.” Bouie said. “It is important for the next generation to hear the negro spirituals.” Friends of Augusta Savage will continue Black History Month with the Dunbar High Legacy Wall Hallway Reveal open house this Saturday, Feb. 10, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. The event will be at the Augusta Savage Museum and Mentoring Center, 1107 Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd.

Rev. Rose Wilson was the preacher during “God’s Trombones.” She is also the pastor at Mt. Pleasant Missionary Baptist Church.

Rev. Dwayne McCallister was the prayer leader during “God’s Trombones.” He is also the pastor at First African Missionary Baptist Church.

'They can carry this with them for the rest of their lives'

Children get free dental checkups at 'Give Kids a Smile Day'

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

ORANGE PARK – As dental student Frederick Campbell wrapped up a filling in Liam's mouth, the 9-year-old was already biting his cheeks and tongue.

The boy's words were muddled when he tried to tell Dental Assisting Program Director Christine Eason his mouth wasn't working.

That eventually changed when the No-vocain wore off.

Liam was one of 26 children who got a free dental checkup and was taught the importance of proper oral hygiene during the Feb. 2 Give Kids a Smile Day: Spreading Smiles, One Child at a Time event at Fortis College. Children 3-17 received X-rays, cleanings, examinations, sealants, fluoride and dental supplies. Students learned the importance of patient interaction while getting hands-on experience.

"You want them to learn good habits while they're young," said Campus President Wyman Dickey. "If you do, they can carry this with them for the rest of their lives. It's also a great experience for our students."

Give Kids a Smile Day was started by the American Dental Association Foundation's national program. Fortis joined the effort in 2009. The service also falls during National Children's Dental Health Month.

Children learned what foods affect their teeth and how to brush them before seeing a dentist – some for the first time.

"We tell our students it's important to make a child feel comfortable," Dr. Joslyn A. Vann said. "You want it to be a good experience. If they feel traumatized, they won't come back."

According to the Center for Disease Control, one in five children aged 5-11 already suffers from tooth decay. Give Kids a Smile Day started 22 years ago in St. Louis, and it has expanded to more than 5,000 institutions serving more than six million children.

That's why Derick brought his 3-year-old daughter, Jaylea, to the college.

"Whenever you can find dental insurance, it's expensive," he said. "With her only being 3, I wanted her to get checked up. I want her to learn how to take care of her teeth."

Children's Dental and Orthodontics reported 40% of children younger than 18 suffer from preventable tooth decay. The CDC also said of the children aged 6-8, 52% had a cavity in their baby teeth.

Fortis and the ADA want to change that. "Getting children into pediatric dentistry is so important," Dickey said. "That's why this program makes a difference."

Program Director Christine Eason (left) and student Frederick Campbell used an LED curing light on Liam's filing. The light helps the dental resin harden in less than 60 seconds.

Part of the Give Kids a Smile Day is teaching children the importance of dental hygiene, Campus President Wyman Dickey said. Jaylea and Zachary used putty to create a tooth mold.

Gugel praised for fostering fine arts, securing $1.2 million grant

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

FLEMING ISLAND – School Board Chairwoman Ashley Gilhousen cut the red ribbon to formally introduce the student art gallery wall, featuring student-crafted visual artworks throughout the year.

It was a ceremony that also symbolized the continued commitment of the school board to support fine arts programs throughout the county.

“Together, we’re creating an environment where creativity, dedication, and excellence are celebrated. Thank you for being an integral part of your students’ artistic journey,” said Christopher Gugel, the Fine Arts Specialist for the school district.

Gugel has fostered music, art and theater programs as a fine arts specialist. He helped coordinate the curriculum and fostered a sense of community among fine arts teachers were a positive presence in the classroom and could reel in a $1.2 million state-funded grant to support music education in elementary schools.

The district’s fine arts teachers unanimously praised his efforts during the school board meeting on Feb. 1.

“Hearing earlier that there is a $1.2 million grant award – that is amazing. (Also amazing) are the many other things Mr. Gugel has done to help advocate for the fine arts teachers,” said Justin Coker, a band director at Keystone Heights Junior/Senior High.

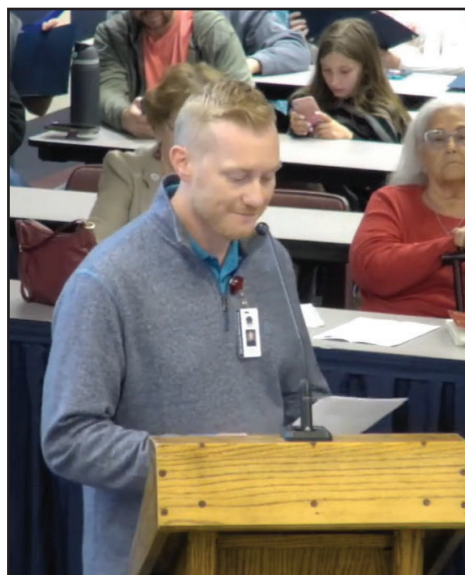

“I see this as a huge positive for our county. There are so many things he’s done this year, and I am truly excited to see what is coming forth in the future.”

An art teacher at Lakeside Junior High shared how Gugel has helped. She said Gugel fostered a sense of community in the fine arts community, met with teachers to discuss new art programs, been a resource for lesson planning, checked in and offered help and made art teachers feel appreciated.

“We can’t wait for the opportunities and advancements he has in store for us,” she said.

“In my nine years since coming from Leon County, this is the most support I have seen – financially and hands-on in the schools. I’m very appreciative,” said Brett Pikuritz, the band director at Orange Park High.

“He’s secured funding, which is difficult for music educators who are working 14-15- and 16-hour days to keep their programs alive and marching on the field,” he said.

“In my 22 years in Clay County schools. I’ve seen support for the fine arts only grow. My first year in the county, I was very nearly cut (due to budget cuts), and unfortunately, that was not the last time,” said a music teacher at Oakleaf Village Elementary.

“(In recent years), we have felt very secure, and I no longer have to hold my breath when allocations come out. We know we are supported. There is music in every school,” she said.

“It’s wonderful to work with theater teachers in Clay County. He’s been super supportive. He’s been in our classrooms. It’s been a wonderful experience. We’ve had an All County for theater for the first time, which was amazing. Our students can see that. And that is important to them,” said a theater director of Ridgeview High.

Gugel overflowed with emotion during the meeting.

“It was incredible to hear about things we accomplished. Seeing fine arts teachers from all disciplines – I was overwhelmed with joy and pride,” Gugel said.

“I am reminded every day that I am in the classroom and why I am here in Clay County. But to see that made me proud, seeing the teachers be advocates for their students’ artistic journeys,” he said.

The $1.2 million grant will allow elementary school music teachers to strengthen and expand their programs. The grant will allow the purchasing of new instruments – like Orff instruments, like xylophones – new sheet music and supplies. The grant will fund field trips – such as the one planned for the Jax Symphony – curriculum resources and professional development for teachers.

After a competitive audition and nomination process, 15 students from Clay County performed during an all-state ensemble. Gugel said the students traveled to Tampa after lengthy rehearsals, resulting in a breathtaking performance.

Grand Funk Railroad comin’ to Thrasher-Horne to help you party it down

The American Band to play renowned set list Saturday night

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

ORANGE PARK – Don Brewer still remembers looking out an airplane window in the early 1970s as Grand Funk Railroad hopscotched town-to-town on another grueling concert tour. He thought, “We’re coming to your town. We’ll help you party it down.”

With those two lines in mind, Brewer wrote a song that remains one of Grand Funk’s most identifiable songs – “We’re an American Band.”

The band that united a kicked-up version of rhythm and blues with loud and underground sound will make its third stop of its “An American Band” tour Saturday night at 7:30 at the Thrasher-Horne Center on the St. Johns River State College campus. There are about 200 tickets available at the box office or thcenter.org.

This year’s tour celebrates the 50-year anniversary of one of their No. 1 hits – “The Loco-Motion.”

The show will focus on many of the band’s hits, Brewer said in a telephone interview with Clay Today.

“Everybody knows songs like ‘We’re an American Band,’ ‘Footstompin’ Music,’ ‘The Loco-Motion,’ ‘Some Kind of Wonderful,’ ‘I’m Your Captain’ and, of course, ‘Inside Looking Out,’” Brewer said. “We have a couple of new ones this year, too.”

Brewer formed the band with bassist Mel Schacher and lead guitarist Mark Farner in Flint, Michigan, in 1969. They were more interested in their raw underground sound than commercial success. Farner eventually left the band. The current lineup still includes Brewer and Schacher, along with former 38 Special singer Max Carl, former Bob Seger keyboardist Tim Cashion and guitarist Mark Chatfield.

Brewer said the drive to be on stage hasn’t waned.

“This is 55 years of doing what you love,” he said. “What else am I going to do? I’m extremely fortunate. How many people get to do what they love when they’re 75?”

Grand Funk became immediate rock stars to a new audience when they drifted away from long, hard rock songs to shorter songs more acceptable for FM stations. They sold out Shea Stadium in Queens, New York, in 1971 in less than three days. Grand Funk also equaled The Beatles’ attendance record at Shea, although selling every ticket took the Fab Four several weeks.

Drummer Don Brewer and bassist Mel Schacher are two of Grand Funk Railroad’s three original members and are still playing together after 55 years.

The band also appeared in front of 180,00 fans in 1969 during the three-day Atlanta Pop Festival at the Atlanta Motor Speedway (formerly known as the Atlanta International Raceway). Grand Funk recorded their 77-minute “Live Album” at the festival, and it peaked at No. 5 in the United States and earned two Platinum Awards.

Brewer said the live shows, like Saturday’s concert at Thrasher-Horne, are still what the band loves most because they get to see the energy and excitement in the audience.

Super from page 1

Bar, especially since all three won Best of Clay awards last year?

According to the National Restaurant Association, Mother’s, Valentine’s and Father’s days are the busiest for eating at a restaurant, but restaurantware.com reported right behind the night before Thanksgiving, Super Bowl Sunday is the second-busiest day of the year to order takeout.

“Most of our business will be takeout orders,” said V Pizza kitchen manager Paul Kelly. “We were very busy last year, although we only had one party here for the entire game. Others were eating here but weren’t interested in the game. Most of our business were people picking up to-go orders for the game.”

Kelly said one of the challenges will be having enough dough. He said his staff has made as many as six batches on a busy night, so he doesn’t know what to expect. Also, all of the ingredients are either fresh or imported from Italy.

Nationwide, 12.5 million pizzas will be ordered on Sunday. The favorite toppings are mushroom, sausage and pepperoni.

And for those who want more than pizza, Kelly said the Fleming Island restaurant will also offer trays of 60 wings baked in their brick ovens.

But when it comes to wings, Dalton’s started bracing for the rush of orders five days before kickoff. Owner Skylar Davis said his Lake Asbury restaurant started accepting pre-orders for the Big Game last Tuesday. He expects to sell so many wings the kitchen staff had to re-arrange the walk-in cooler because he will need more than three-quarters of a ton on top of his weekly order.

“I’ll be on the verge of running out,” he said. “I’ll double in one day what we normally do in a week. About 60% of those will be to go.”

The grill will also have boneless wings on the menu. And of the 23 sauces on the menu, Davis said his house-made Cajun Ranch and medium Buffalo are his best sellers.

Davis said there’s a reason his restaurant’s wings have been voted Best of Clay for five consecutive years.

“It’s a secret recipe,” he said. “There’s a certain temperature we cook at and a certain type of oil. Most important is the people cooking them. There are only a few who can cook our wings. Those three things are our secret ingredients.”

Most publications list wings as the most popular food for the Super Bowl. In fact, more than 1.42 billion wings – more than 100 million pounds, will be consumed, according to the National Chicken Council.

But no party is complete without chips and dip. La Catrina Tacos and Tequila Bar in Middleburg will make mountains of chips and buckets of sauces ahead of the game.

Manager Kenneth Morales said his restaurant will start with 100 gallons of fresh-made salsa, but they will make more as needed.

“You don’t want salsa to sit too long,” he said. “We keep ours fresh. We make it here with fresh jalapenos, cilantro and onions. It doesn’t last long.”

Morales said crispy homemade chips are the secret to a perfect chip and dip combination. According to Better Homes and Gardens, fans across the country will eat 8.2 million pounds of bagged tortilla chips. Moreover, Morales said he doesn’t let the corn chips sit too long.

“We normally cook chips two times a day,” he said. “It will be a lot more on Sunday. If you let them sit for too long, they get a funny taste, so we don’t keep chips.”

La Catrina will also sell gallons of queso and guacamole.

Two out of three fans will buy chips, salsa, queso and guacamole for the game.

Whether you plan to snack on pizza, wings or chips and dip during the big game, beer is, by far, the most popular way to wash it down. Revelers will drink 323.5 million gallons – enough to fill 2,000 Olympic-sized pools.

County accepting nominations for Veteran, Volunteer of the Year

For Clay Today

CLAY COUNTY – For the first time, the Clay County Board of County Commissioners wants to spotlight a veteran or a volunteer who has made an impact through their service and the time they’ve donated. The Board voted to create a Clay County Veteran of the Year Award and a Clay County Volunteer of the Year Award; nominations are open. The deadline is the close of business on Feb. 16.

You can learn more about the criteria and nominate your choice at the Newsroom tab at claycountygov.com.

“We want to promote pride in their community, and to acknowledge the service and sacrifice of those individuals who have gone above and beyond,” Commission Chair Jim Renninger said.

“Volunteers are essential in moving us forward as a county. It’s thanks to that person picking up paper on the side of the road, or driving one of our veterans to a doctor’s appointment, or feeding one of our shelter cats, so our staff can focus resources on major projects to improve Clay County.”

The veteran award will recognize a veteran who has made significant contributions to their community through exceptional service and dedication to veterans, veteran families, and the community. To be eligible for the veteran award,

- The nominee must have received an honorable discharge from the U.S. Armed Forces, which includes the Reserves, National Guard or Merchant Marines.
- The nominee demonstrates leadership, excellence, creativity and initiative in the community.
- The nominee has made significant contributions at the local, state, and/or national levels, as demonstrated by going above and beyond the call of duty, specifically for volunteer work supporting veterans, the military and the community.

•The nominee participates in activities that help promote veterans and their families, enhancing the awareness of veterans and their sacrifice.

•The nominee’s volunteer work must have contributed to the advancement of veterans, the military, and their families in Clay County from Jan. 1-Dec. 31 of the previous year.

Suppose you know a stand-out veteran or volunteer who matches this description. In that case, you can submit the application using the online form or download the nomination form, fill it out, and hand-deliver it or mail it to the Clay County Veterans Services Office at 420 College Dr. in Middleburg.

The volunteer award will recognize an individual who has made significant contributions to the community through their volunteer work. To be eligible,

Her classmate, Zaria Jamison, studied the benefits and drawbacks of using solar power. She created a solar-powered oven and compared the differences between battery- and solar-powered lights.

"I basically had a discussion with my grandparents. Their house runs solely off of solar panels," she said. "So, I collected data about that. My conclusion was that solar panels are more efficient in the long run and they're efficient because, eventually, they pay for themselves since you don't have to pay for the energy. But in the beginning, it's a really high cost in the beginning. So, it's a big commitment."

She also said battery-powered landscaping lights are brighter but more costly because the batteries have to be replaced every six months.

She also said the solar ovens worked but took twice as long as a conventional oven.

Judges met during a lunch break to tackle the challenging task of determining the winning projects. Winners will be announced on Thursday, Feb. 15.

Bartram Trail District installs 27 new Eagle Scouts

The 42nd Annual Bartram Trail District Eagle Scout Recognition Dinner

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

FLEMING ISLAND – Last Saturday, the Bartram Trail Eagle Scout Recognition Dinner honored 27 scouts who achieved the flagship, highest attainable rank of Scouts BSA during 2023.

Richard Knoff, the ceremony’s keynote speaker, reflected on his own challenging “Trail to Eagle” but affirmed the importance of that journey, which has continuously shaped his character, career and commitment to his community.

Knoff learned practical and lifesaving skills as a scout, which he often put into practice during his career in the military and as fire battalion chief. He shared moments of his life where he evoked scouting lessons and principles. He once saved a man dehydrated and lost in the woods and a teenager who drifted out and struggled to stay afloat in the St. Johns River.

Achieving the Eagle Scout rank is a tremendous honor that requires at least 21 merit badges, planning and executing a community service project, demonstrating the Scout Oath and Law, demonstrating leadership and passing an Eagle Scout Board of Review.

Usually, only 4% of scouts finish the Trail to Eagle. However, Knoff was pleased to report for 2023, the figure was 6%.

Knoff honored the 27 scouts, their parents and scout leaders for completing the difficult and meaningful endeavor that will lay a foundation for the rest of a scout’s life.

Richard Knoff, the ceremony’s keynote speaker, reflected on his experience as a scout and how it laid a foundation for the rest of his life.

David Broskie, Clay County District Schools Superintendent, congratulates the newly honored Eagle Scouts.

The newly honored Eagle Scouts are awarded new scout neckerchiefs and letters of accolades from state officials, county officials and community leaders.

The food comes from Waste Not Want Not and through other volunteer drives. Organizations like St. Catherine’s Catholic Church volunteer as servers each week.

One woman sat alone, slurping small bites of soup. A church member filled a bag with breakfast sandwiches and treats and left it beside her. She said it’s been a while since anyone reached out to help.

“Until lately, I didn’t need it,” she said, “but things happen.”

A series of unfortunate events forced her to live at an extended-stay hotel in another county. Not only did The Kitchen feed her, but they also gave her the attention and empathy she desperately missed.

“My apartment was condemned, and they changed the locks so I couldn’t get in,” she said. “All of my belongings were in there. Everything I have now is what I had in my car. I love to get out, so it’s been real difficult.”

Between Social Security and her pension, she only has $300 left after paying her hotel bill at the end of the month.

“My bills are $350,” she said. “I’ve maxed out all of my credit cards.”

Her ex-husband is helping, she said. He makes her car, insurance and cellphone payments and may try to help with her rent.

And she’s grateful for what she has.

“Now that I know about this, I will be back,” she said. “This makes a difference.”

Winn-Dixie offering nonprofit grants during Black History Month

For Clay Today

CLAY COUNTY – Winn-Dixie, together with the SEG Gives Foundation, is honoring Black History Month and its enduring commitment to belonging, inclusion and diversity with the launch of its annual grant program and community service initiatives.

The grocer is now accepting applications from nonprofits throughout the Southeast for its 2024 Romay Davis Belonging, Inclusion and Diversity Grant. The grant supports organizations that address racial disparities in health care, food insecurity and education while building a more inclusive and equitable future for all. Nonprofit organizations with missions to elevate underserved communities throughout Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi are encouraged to apply at seggives.com/grantapp through Aug. 31 to be considered for grant funds ranging from $5,000 to $25,000.

There are seven Winn-Dixie stores in the county.

In 2023, SEG celebrated the milestone of $1 million awarded in belonging, inclusion and diversity grants to nonprofits throughout the Southeast.

Raymond Rhee, Chief People Officer for Southeastern Grocers, said: "Black History Month is a time to honor the rich contributions made by Black visionaries, innovators and leaders – like Ms. Romay – and we are proud to continue to nurture the diverse communities we serve every day. Our vital grant program and partnerships with organizations like the American Red Cross and the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Foundation are an extension of that recognition and allow us to further contribute to positive change in marginalized communities.

Embracing diversity, both inside and outside of our stores, fosters inclusivity, fuels creativity and propels our collective journey towards a more vibrant and equitable future for all."

SEG also recently celebrated the life and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. with its continued participation in the annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Foundation Holiday Grand Parade in its hometown of Jacksonville. As a recent recipient of the grocer's Romay Davis Belonging, Inclusion and Diversity Grant, the staff and supporting families of Sanctuary on 8th Street joined Harveys Supermarket and Winn-Dixie volunteers along the parade route for a memorable experience to encourage and empower Jacksonville youth in need.

The grocery store will also partner with the American Red Cross for a day of service Monday, Feb. 12, by participating in the organization's Sound the Alarm campaign to protect underserved communities from hazardous home fires.

To keep families safe from the nation's most frequent disaster, Winn-Dixie associates will help the Red Cross and area fire departments install free smoke alarms for Orange Park residents in need and share important safety information to protect themselves and their loved ones further.

The SEG Gives Foundation will donate $100,000 to help the Red Cross in its mission to save lives through its Home Fire Campaign, with $300,000 donated to the cause over the past three years.

Founded in 2014, the initiative aims to prevent fire-related deaths and injuries that take the lives of seven people each day and cause more than $7 billion in property damages each year.

Mexican sunflowers are beautiful pollinators

By Carolyn Warren
Birds, Bees and Butterflies Chairman

CLAY COUNTY – Spring is coming, and I am starting to plan what flowers in my garden again this year.

Certainly, one of them will be Mexican sunflowers.

This plant has striking bright red and orange petals with yellow centers. It has nectar-rich flowers and is a magnet for butterflies and bees. Three good reasons to have this plant in your garden are: it can attract ladybugs and lacewings, which help control pests in the garden; it can take different types of soil; and it can tolerate both drought and heat.

This plant can grow up to 10 feet tall and will bloom from summer to first frost. When the flowers fade and dry out, birds eat the seeds. This plant is a champion for all three of the above pollinators.

Samson: Strength and Redemption

The tale of Samson stands as a powerful story of strength, weakness, and redemption. With his extraordinary physical power and a series of dramatic events, Samson’s life is a captivating story that continues to inspire and challenge us.

Samson’s story unfolds in the book of Judges, beginning with his miraculous birth. His parents, who had been unable to conceive, were visited by an angel who foretold Samson’s birth and his future as a Nazirite, a person dedicated to God from birth. This divine calling bestowed upon Samson a unique gift—unrivalled physical strength.

Despite his incredible abilities, Samson’s life was marked by a series of moral lapses and impulsive decisions. He was often driven by his desires and emotions, which ultimately led to his downfall. One of the most infamous events in his life is his involvement with Delilah, who, after being bribed by Philistine leaders, attempted to discover the source of Samson’s strength.

After several failed attempts to deceive Samson, Delilah succeeded in coaxing the secret from him: his uncut hair was the source of his strength. As he slept, his hair was cut, and his strength was gone. The Philistines captured him, gouged out his eyes, and imprisoned him.

However, in a final act of redemption, Samson’s hair began to grow back while he was in captivity. In a climactic moment, Samson, in his weakened state, prayed to God for strength one last time, and God answered his prayer. Samson brought down the Philistine temple, killing the enemies of God’s people by the thousands, as well as himself.

The story of Samson reminds us of the consequences of succumbing to our weaknesses, as well as the possibility of redemption through faith and divine intervention. His life serves as a cautionary tale but also demonstrates that even in our lowest moments, there is a chance for transformation and a renewed purpose.

Samson’s story, like many in scripture, highlights the importance of maintaining faith, seeking forgiveness, and recognizing the capacity for change and redemption in our own lives. It is a timeless narrative that will always offer valuable life lessons and resonate generations upon generation.

Assistance, information for Clay County farmers and landowners

STARKE – According to UF/IFAS, Clay County is home to more than 400 farms of varying sizes and types of operations: cow/calf and beef, beekeeping, timber, hay, hydroponics and aquaponics, vegetable, fruit and citrus operations.

The county has a proud rural culture. However, rural living can be challenging. Sunlight, rainfall, weather, invasive species, pests, soil and erosion are all confounding variables that can make or break a harvest.

That’s why Bradford and Clay Soil and Water Conservation Districts are partnering to host a multi-county event to help farmers across North Florida.

The inaugural Landowner Assistance Expo will showcase resources and assistance for landowners, such as best management practices, technical help and con-

“We’ll be able to talk to landowners individually about how to manage their properties best and improve their land for conservation,” said Morie.

“We’ll be exhibiting an irrigation equipment demo. It’s based on a new technology, a soil moisture sensor, that can be controlled with a phone,” she said.

The event will be held in the Governor Charley E Johns Conference Center in Starke on Feb. 15 from 6 to 8 p.m.

“Last Week Tonight With John Oliver” - Season 11 (HBO/Max — Feb. 18, Season Premiere)

A satirical, insightful and meticulously researched look at current events in the U.S. and around the globe, this series features host John Oliver’s hilarious, expertly honed perspective on today’s pressing political, social, and cultural issues, as well as lesser-reported topics that both inform and entertain.

Justin Hartley in “Tracker”

Steadily and surely, the stars of “This Is Us” have been moving on to other projects.

Milo Ventimiglia was first with the ABC series “The Company You Keep,” while his former television “wife,” Mandy Moore, made her series comeback recently with the second season of Peacock’s “Dr. Death.” Sterling K. Brown appears in the current movie “American Fiction,” and his ex-spouse from “This Is Us” — Susan Kelechi Watson — has been working on a Netflix series titled “The Residence,” which also involved Andre Braugher before his recent death. Chrissy Metz, meanwhile, starred in the holiday horror movie “A Creature Was Stirring” (2023) and has been advancing her singing career.

Now, it’s Justin Hartley’s turn. Formerly the commitment-phobic and trouble-prone Kevin Pearson in “This Is Us,” he plays someone much more in command in “Tracker,” a drama series that gets a post-Super Bowl premiere slot, Sunday, Feb. 11, on CBS and Paramount+. The series will stay on Sundays thereafter, with Hartley (also an executive producer of the show) playing Colter Shaw, a survivalist who crosses the country, using his specialized skills to help people — both police and private citizens — with searches and collects rewards for the missions when they’re completed. His complicated family history has given him demons he tries to exorcise in the course of doing his work.

Also featuring Abby McEnany (“Work in Progress”) and Robin Weigert (“Deadwood”) as the managers of Colter’s business affairs, “Tracker” is one of the first new series to debut after last year’s strikes by writers and actors. The friendly Hartley admits he was “a little nervous” as those protests continued, but he marvels that “we were somehow able to save our premiere date and get back into production in enough time to let us keep going like it never happened ... which is pretty amazing. We’d worked so hard on this, there was some stress, but it’s wonderful to report for work as normal — just a reminder of what a great business we have.”

“Tracker” is based on the bestselling novel “The Never Game” (which was also the series’ original title) by “The Bone Collector” author Jeffery Deaver, and that name adapts Shaw’s credo that he uses to advise people he assists: “Never let panic take the wheel.” Indeed, the first episode starts with him assisting a fearful hiker who has been seriously injured, then follows him as he seeks a missing youngster. In both cases, he stays calm as he informs his new companions of their odds for survival under their respective circumstances.

The opening story involving woodlands, rivers, high cliffs and the like suggests that much of “Tracker” will be set in visually rich locations, and Hartley reports that he’s an outdoorsy sort anyway. He also appreciates that Colter, who typically would rather just do something than explain it, “can be so intense. He doesn’t just let life happen to him, like Kevin did [on ‘This Is Us’].”

“With this guy, if there’s some kind of a problem, he’s the one who’s going to figure it out. And selfishly for me as an actor, it’s wonderful to take on a different role. I loved playing Kevin, but I’m having the time of my life. [‘Tracker’ is] cool, but it’s also believable. I like that Colter is not a superhero. If he gets shot, he bleeds. He doesn’t have an iron skin.”

Mangia, mangia: See good eats galore in an all-new season of 'DDD'

It's time to set the table — the king of flavor is coming to town. Guy Fieri is behind the wheel and ready to eat, as Season 36 of "Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives" is in full swing, with an all-new episode airing Friday, Feb. 16, on Food Network.

He may be the mayor of Flavortown, but Guy Fieri has become a nationwide delight as he drives his bright red, 1968 Chevy Camaro SS convertible from city to city across America, sitting down for meals that would make even the pickiest chefs ask for seconds.

So far this season, Fieri has traveled to taste some unbelievable eats, diving headfirst into what the network calls a "meaty smorgasbord." From Tennessee, to Florida, to North Carolina and New Hampshire, Guy Fieri has been driving his way to restaurants of all shapes and sizes, digging into everything from bomb bagels and some classically delicious pizzas and tacos, to elevated versions of American classics, like shrimp and grits. As he tackles the latest and greatest in side-of-the-road cuisine, Fieri has taken to this latest season of "DDD" like a fish takes to water, and the adventure has just begun.

A description given by Food Network shares that this upcoming sixth episode will see Fieri jumping into a full-fledged culinary adventure, "starting in San Diego, where there's a 2-for-1 spot servin' Baja-style seafood and rich bone marrow tacos, and a funky food truck puttin' out next-level shawarma. Then in Taos, [New Mexico], a pan-Asian joint is pullin' out the stops with curry noodles and a bison Reuben banh mi."

Following that, the mayor of Flavortown will pack his bags yet again and head out in search of some delicious Thai food, some pie and some hearty fries. "In San Diego," Food Network says, "an amazing Asian spot is servin' phenomenal fried fish and righteous ribs. Plus, in Arroyo Seco, [New Mexico], a New Zealand food truck is making mouthwatering meat pies and a modern comfort joint is cooking up a mushroom masterpiece and loaded bison chili fries."

As episodes air, some of Fieri's favorite, newly found recipes are shared on Food Network's website, including the likes of chicken chipotle pie, fried rockfish, pollo borachon (drunken chicken), boss hawg and pastrami beef rib boards, allowing viewers to participate in the chef's mouth-watering road trip from right at home.

With a never-ending appetite, Guy Fieri continues his culinary adventure in each new episode of "Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives," airing Fridays on Food Network.

Jenny's odyssey: Lopez releases feature film alongside new album

Jennifer Lopez is back with her first studio album in a decade, and this time the artist has her sights set on the big screen: "This Is Me ... Now: A Love Story," premieres Friday, Feb. 16, on Prime Video.

From the Grammy-winning director Dave Meyers ("The Hitcher," 2007), the mind behind hundreds of music videos over the past 20 years — for artists such as Taylor Swift ("Midnights," 2022), Ariana Grande ("Eternal Sunshine," 2024), Harry Styles ("Harry's House," 2022), Kendrick Lamar ("To Pimp a Butterfly," 2015) and more — Amazon claims that this upcoming, feature-length, album-long adventure will be "nothing like you've ever seen from Jennifer Lopez."

"Alongside director Dave Meyers," says the Prime Video press release, "Jennifer has created a narrative-driven cinematic odyssey, steeped in mythological storytelling and personal healing. Dropping in tandem with her first studio album in a decade, this genre-bending Amazon original showcases her journey to love through her own eyes. With fantastical costumes, breathtaking choreography and star-studded cameos, this panorama is an introspective retrospective of Jennifer's resilient heart."

The record, "This Is Me ... Now," will be Lopez's ninth studio album. It shares a story of love and is said to explore the artist's personal journey to love — and back to husband Ben Affleck ("Air," 2023), perhaps — as equally as it explores the importance of self-love and self-acceptance, both critical themes for Lopez.

With 13 new songs, including "not.going.anywhere.," "Dear Ben, Pt. II," "Hummingbird," "This Time Around," "Mad in Love" and many more, this upcoming cinematic odyssey is said to star Lopez, of course, alongside the likes of other singers, actors and celebrities, such as Affleck, Trevor Noah ("The Daily Show with Trevor Noah"), Kim Petras ("Feed the Beast," 2023), Post Malone ("Austin," 2023), Keke Palmer ("Big Boss," 2023), Sofia Vergara ("Modern Family"), Neil deGrasse Tyson ("Cosmos"), Tony Bellissimo ("La La Land," 2016), Matthew Law ("Ahsoka") and more.

Leading up to the release of her larger-than-life visual album, the first single off Lopez's upcoming album (the rest of which will be released in tandem with the film), "Can't Get Enough," was released on Jan. 10, with its own music video now available to stream on YouTube as a taste of what's to come.

From "Jenny on the Block" to this groundbreaking moment, see Jennifer Lopez at the top of her game in "This Is Me ... Now: A Love Story," premiering Friday, Feb. 16, on Prime Video.

Welcome Pastor Larry Grunden

Pastor Larry is a graduate of Wright State University and a 2015 graduate of Trinity Lutheran Seminary in Columbus, Ohio. A second career pastor, Larry was reared in the suburbs of Cincinnati and has lived in the greater Dayton area since 1996. His previous life experience was in home remodeling and his undergraduate degree was in vocal music.

Pastor Larry is passionate about youth ministry, music ministry, and missional ministry. He and his wife Angela live with their cats Ellie Mae and Katy. Together they enjoy traveling, cooking and eating gourmet meals, festivals, gardening and hosting dinners for friends and family. Pastor Larry also enjoys woodworking, fishing, bicycling, playing guitar and many other activities.

Pastor Larry believes that "discipleship" is a verb. To believe in Christ is to be in motion in our churches, in our communities, and in our world. In addition to the Sacraments, one of the most powerful activities in which we can participate is prayer. It is here that we connect with God and become closer to our Creator. It is also through our hands that we experience Jesus Christ as we use them to help others in need. He believes that together we can make a difference in the world! Please join us! All are welcome! Tom Cruise tackles another ‘Mission: Impossible’ in ‘Fallout’

Very simply, “Mission: Impossible - Fallout” was the movie of the summer of 2018. And it certainly was one of the movies of that year.

In promoting the spy adventure — which FX shows Sunday, Feb. 11 — Tom Cruise said he just wanted to give the audience its money’s worth, and did he ever. For any and all complaints that there are about needless sequels, the sixth round of the “Mission” franchise is a series-best (at least to date), thanks to the know-how of Cruise and returning writer-director Christopher McQuarrie.

The picture not only offers a jaw-dropping series of action sequences, it does a deep dive into the personhood of IMF agent Ethan Hunt, as those closest to him face threats of very bad things from an enemy. That alternately sways and doesn’t sway Hunt from his mission to stop the theft of plutonium, to be used on very specifically chosen targets.

That’s the nominal plot. As for the action? Hunt makes a HALO jump out of a plane. Hunt has a major brawl with a CIA man (Henry Cavill) in a restroom. Hunt goes racing through the streets of Paris at breakneck speed. And all of it is thrilling, especially since you can see that it’s really Cruise doing it.

Also back for this mission – and neatly tying together virtually every other movie “Mission” that came before – are Ving Rhames, Simon Pegg, Rebecca Ferguson, Michelle Monaghan and Alec Baldwin, with great additions in a steely Angela Bassett as an espionage boss and a lethal Vanessa Kirby as an agile killer.

Back in 1996, some “Mission: Impossible” purists had concerns about the first feature-film variation being less about the spies’ masks (which still figure in this time) and more about massive stunts that weren’t parts of the television series all that often. It’s somewhat ironic, then, that the stunts largely have become what drive the “Mission” movies ... to general audience pleasure.

A huge factor is that it clearly is Cruise doing that risky work, and the payoff for viewers is enormous. That he took a panicky James Corden skydiving on CBS’ “Late Late Show” at the time of “Fallout” only confirmed how adventurous Cruise is, and even if producers and insurers sweat out every chance he takes with his safety, the results hit the mark exactly where the filmmakers want them to.

Anthony Anderson is all about 'Family' now

Anthony Anderson during his time hosting "To Tell the Truth"

Q: Since Anthony Anderson is hosting "We Are Family" now, does that mean "To Tell the Truth" is over? – Carrie Lowe, via e-mail

A: At least for the time being, especially since "Mama Doris" has traveled along with him to the new Fox contest. His ABC revival of "To Tell the Truth" had a good six-year run, and it achieved Anderson's personal aim of making his mother a TV star, something she had hoped for, though she gave up that career ambition earlier to raise Anderson and his half-brother.

As it happens, Anderson wasn't supposed to be the "We Are Family" host initially. Jamie Foxx and his daughter Corinne were to preside over the show, but a medical condition that reportedly hospitalized Foxx evidently necessitated another host. Foxx does retain an executive-producer credit on the program, however.

Q: It's been interesting to see the 60th-anniversary celebration of "General Hospital." As the only other two daytime dramas on broadcast network television, how long have "The Young and the Restless" and "The Bold and the Beautiful" been on the air? – Helen Richards, Raleigh, N.C.

A: "The Young and the Restless" began in 1973 on CBS, expanding from a half-hour to a full hour each weekday in 1980, and it will mark its 51st anniversary in late March. Its success eventually prompted executive producers William J. Bell and Lee Phillip Bell to launch "The Bold and the Beautiful" as a separate but related show in 1987, and it also has an anniversary coming up in late March ... its 37th.

Though "Days of Our Lives" now streams on Peacock instead of being broadcast by NBC, it's another still-running daytime serial that deserves mention for its longevity. That program began in 1965 (it marked its 58th anniversary last November), and in 1975, it also expanded from a half-hour to an hour. It will be continuing its Peacock run at least through September 2025.

Q: On the recent telecast of The Kennedy Center Honors, Rob Reiner said that Billy Crystal was cast as his friend on "All in the Family." How long was Crystal on that show? – Paul Wright, via e-mail

A: Just for one episode, the 1976 story "New Year's Wedding," along with a couple of variety-show stints. It was enough to get Crystal noticed for the role of Jodie Dallas on the comedy "Soap," which began the following year and helped lead to the career that earned Crystal his Kennedy Center Honor, one of the most prestigious of all accolades in the entertainment world.

Q: Who is the actress who played Susan, George's fiancée who met her fate by licking stamps, on "Seinfeld"? – Doug Bachman, Oswego, N.Y.

A: That's Heidi Swedberg, who has appeared in many other series, but her "Seinfeld" part arguably is the one she's known best for — and certainly for the way she exited that show, by sealing wedding invitations the old-fashioned way. "Matlock," the original "Quantum Leap," "Northern Exposure," "Touched by an Angel," "ER," "Bones," "Murder, She Wrote" and "Star Trek: Deep Space Nine" are among other programs she had roles on, though she hasn't done much screen acting in recent years. Swedberg is also a musician who specializes in playing the ukulele.

Bond set at $300,006 for man accused of beating up 70-year-old landlord

MIDDLEBURG – A 29-year-old man was arrested on Feb. 1 after the Clay County Sheriff’s Office said he beat up his 70-year-old landlord, who was trying to remove him from the property.

Shawn Michael Culbertson, of Middleburg, was charged with aggravated battery and aggravated assault to commit a felony after deputies found the victim on the ground lying in a “large amount of blood” and a cut on his left eye. After he was taken to the hospital, CCSO said an examination determined the victim also had several fractured ribs and a subdural hematoma.

Culbertson’s bond is $300,006.

CCSO: Former employee arrested for armed robbery, kidnapping

FLORAHOME – A former employee was charged with robbing a woman with a pocket knife, then using the knife to keep her from getting help on Jan. 31.

Clay County Sheriff’s Office reported

John Henry Howard Jr., 32, of Lake Butler, was charged with armed robbery and false imprisonment after she called CCSO after Howard entered her home without permission.

The sheriff’s office used K-9s to search homes and the wooded area near the scene. They also searched an area where Hampton was reportedly living in a tent. But the search was suspended since “uncontained aggressive” dogs were in the area. CCSO alerted the Putnam County Sheriff’s Office and the agency found the suspect in a vacant house on Cardinal Street.

His bond was set at $250,003. He will appear before Judge James E. Kallaher on Feb. 26 for a review.

Green Cove Springs woman sentenced to six years for trafficking drugs

JACKSONVILLE — U.S. District Judge Brian J. Davis sentenced Alyssa Brooke Avery, 32, of Green Cove Springs, to six years in federal prison for possession with the intent to distribute methamphetamine, fentanyl, cocaine base, and cocaine. Avery entered a guilty plea on Oct.

According to court and arrest report documents, on Jan. 30, 2023, deputies with the Clay County Sheriff's Office observed Avery driving in a rental car in Lake Asbury. The deputy knew she had a suspended license, and when she left a grocery store parking lot on Henley and Sandridge roads, he conducted a traffic stop.

K-9 Dante alerted deputies to the likely presence of illegal narcotics in the car. Deputies searched the vehicle and found more than 20 grams of fentanyl in 17 individual sealed baggies, 60 grams of pure crystal methamphetamine, more than 13 grams of cocaine, Loratab, Alprazolam, paraphernalia and more than 16 grams of cocaine base in a metal box that was wedged between the driver's seat and the center console.

Detectives learned Avery had been released from the Florida Department of Corrections the month earlier for trafficking methamphetamine.

According to the National and Florida Crime Information Center, Avery's license has been suspended 19 times since 2014.

The Drug Enforcement Administration and CCSO investigated the case. Assistant U.S. Attorney Aakash Singh prosecuted it.

Blue Devils go big in second half for soccer title

Clay High's boys soccer team celebrates a first-ever district title after their dramatic 2-0 win over Tallahassee Rickards on Thursday. Clay, St. Johns Country Day School and Fleming Island all advanced to the region playoffs next week.

By Randy Lefko

GREEN COVE SPRINGS - Clay High boys soccer coach Wale Leyimu's quick philosophy is almost like a no-snap huddle in football only on the soccer pitch.

"We say 'next five minutes' and it means when we have a break in the game; a timeout, an injury, a substitution, whatever, we surge right from the whistle for the next five minutes to try and catch our opponent off guard," said Leyimu, as his Blue Devils captured its first district 2-5A championship with a second-half burst and a 2-0 win over visiting Tallahassee Rickards on January 31. "We've been a scrappy team all season; taking some lumps, but never giving in."

Against Rickards, with both teams zooming up and down the pitch for the first half but missing the marks amidst great goalie play on both ends and just-miss shots on the goal frame, Clay regrouped after the halftime break and got two goals; from Aidan Pinnex and one from Louvens Jorssaint; both on breakaway one-on-one with Rickards goalie Adam Kaninda, a formidable 6'-3" target in front of the net.

For Clay, goalie Anthony Fiore registered his second shutout of the district tournament following a 4-0 win over Columbia in the semifinal round.

Clay, now 11-3-3, advances to the region 1-5A playoffs as the lone district champion of the county, but with a long road trip to second seed Booker T.

ORANGE PARK - After being down nine points at the half, the Orange Park Raider basketball team went on a third-quarter run of 21 points to close the gap on the visiting University Christian Fighting Christians, lighting a fire inside the Raider's players.

With a throw-in with 3.8 seconds to play, senior Johnnie Johnson put up a buzzer-beater lay-up off the glass to drain with 1.1 seconds to play. Using a face guard defense, Orange Park denied University Christian from even getting a shot off in the last tick of the clock, winning the near heart-stopping regular season-ending game 51-50.

“Jacob Henson was our key to clawing our way back into this game,” said Orange Park Head Coach Derek Kurnitsky, who got his sixth straight win before this week's district tournament opener against Fleming Island and third buzzer-beater win for the season. “He just took over. Tonight, he was the guy. The kids just bought into our defense and at halftime, they bought into our gameplan. We had a long talk with them about the game plan and the kids just believed in us; they just believed. That locker room after the game; it was like we just won a national championship. You can't buy that feeling.”

With a Friday night regular season closer in the Raiderdome, the band adding to the atmosphere, not much could be added to bring the intensity level higher.

At the end of the first quarter, the Fighting Christians only held a single-point lead, 10-9. The Raider plan was to slow things down, not allowing the University Christian twin towers, Adalbert Allotey and Augustine Ayelyine both all of six foot nine inches of slam dunk machines, the opportunity to move freely inside the paint.

“We had a plan, and we were on them like flies. We were on them,” said Kurnitsky.

Orange Park guard Jacob Hensen has slashed his way to key buckets for Raiders.

Below: Orange Park coach Derek Kurnitsky has gutted out three buzzer beater wins en route to a six game win streak to end regular season play.

to hold the ball mid-court and let the clock burn off. Kurnitsky said of the tactic, “If he would have sat in a 2-3 zone all third quarter, it would have been 25-16 going into the fourth quarter.”

The idea was to take the ball out of the Fighting Christians's hands and just frustrate them with no ability to score. With three seconds until half, the Raiders tried one last drive without success, going into the break down 25-16.

In the locker room, it was the adjustments made on defense and the hot shooting of Jacob Henson; game-high 19 total points, and Archie Triggs iii; 12 points, the difference makers. With the Raiders shifting from zone to man-to-man whenever they need it, it simply frustrated the Fighting Christians on offense. When the Raiders had a fast break, they jammed the lane and were on fire. Other offensive setups just slowed things down to set up long developing plays which disrupted University Christian. At the end of three, Orange Park outplayed University Christian 21-10 in the third quarter alone, taking the lead 37-35.

The fourth quarter had all the momentum on the Raider bench, allowing Kurnitsky to go to work like a mad scientist. The basketball professor had players swapping in and out at every stop of the action, slowing the game one moment, then running around the gym like track sprinters. Like a horse race, the lead went back and forth until the end. With 3.8 seconds to play, off another Triggs iii layup, the Raiders were down 49-50. Knowing what was needed, off a time-out Kurnitsky left the line throw-in player alone, face-guarded every player, and prepared for a court-long throw. As the five seconds approached, University Christian Head Coach Jody Bailey called a time-out to prevent a turnover. Back in action, Kurnitsky ran the same defense, this time forcing the Fighting Christians to exceed the five seconds resulting in the turnover. With a timeout plan, the Raiders set up Johnson under the net. With the play execution and drain, the Raiders were up 51-50 with 1.1 left. “Coach told me to come off the screen and lay it up,” said a breathless Johnnie Johnson just after the buzzer. “I didn't even think. It was just score, just score. Let's win. It was like a dream.” University Christian attempted one last gasp after another timeout, getting the ball to mid-court, only to have their player, untouched, lose his balance and fall, never getting off a shot.

“It's going to be exciting to play Fleming Island in the Raiderdome,” said Kurnitsky. “They are well coached, a really good program, and a really good team. It should be a really fun night in the Raiderdome. It should be a fun night for Clay County Basketball. I'm glad it's in the Raiderdome and we don't have to travel.”

Lady Spartans groove to 8-0 splash

ORANGE PARK - With a freshman and two sophomores scoring goals, the St. Johns Country Day School girls soccer machine seems to have picked up from history with a first 8-0 playoff win in their district 3-2A final against Christ's Church Academy on Thurs., Feb. 1.

St. Johns has had a history of shut-outs and is 8-0 wins over the past decade in district and region playoff games with last year's loss, a 2-1 contest to Lakeland Christian, the lone goal scored against the Spartan defense in three region playoff wins at 8-0 and a state semifinal won at 8-0. St. Johns repeated the 8-0 four-score in 2022 en route to a 2-0 Class 2A championship over Shorecrest Prep.

In 2021, the Spartans went 8-0, 9-1, 5-0 and 8-0 to the final with St. Johns winning a 6-0 title over Canterbury.

For St. Johns coach Mike Pickett, who has lamented a bit about his low scores for the 2024 regular season, he has a bit of solace in senior goalkeeper Roxy Mathews who has been near flawless in front of the net with 10 shutouts this season.

St. Johns, the top seed at 12-2-5, will host No. 8 St. Joseph Academy in the region 1-2A opener with No. 4 University Christian (10-2-2) hosting No. 5 Lafayette (12-5-0).

On the opposite end of the bracket, No. 7 Academy at the Lakes (8-6-0) travels to No. 2 Christ's Church Academy (8-5-1) while No. 3 Mount Dora Christian (14-3-0) hosts No. 6 St. John Paul II (10-4-0).

In region 1-5A, Clay High, 12-2-1, was somewhat shocked by top seed (13-5-1) Tallahassee Lincoln 4-2 in the district 2-5A final.

the Lady Blue Devils, who got to a slow start according to coach Stephanie Waugh before surging with two second-half goals; Danica Nguyen and Madison Quang, to close the game. Clay's double-whammy forward scorers; Brooke Bunton (32 goals) and Kirra Dodson (17 goals), were held to just two shots on goal.

Clay will stay home for their region opener with county rival Orange Park, the sixth seed with a 14-2-0 record, visiting on February 13. Orange Park got beat 8-0 by Beachside in the district 3-5A final with six Beachside players scoring goals. Orange Park goalie Anna Wages repelled 15 shots on goal.

Orange Park has their own double-whammy scoring machine in sisters Ry-anne (30 goals) and Rylynn Robinson (26 goals) looking to make a scoring fest out of the matchup with Bunton and Dodson at Clay.

Around the county, Fleming Island, in district 3-6A, got a hat trick from forward Sophia Portieri in a 4-2 win over Oakleaf in their opener, but went scoreless to Ponte Vedra, 3-0, in the semifinal. Ponte Vedra, ranked No.1 in the USA at 17-1-1, beat Nease 3-0 in the final. Fleming Island first-year coach Taylor Berry's efforts against the top-ranked Sharks went unrewarded with Nease getting the region slot along with Ponte Vedra.

In district 2-5A, Ridgeview got a 3-0 upset over Middleburg in their opener, but lost a 6-1 contest to Lincoln to finish at 5-6-1. Middleburg, under first-year coach Joy Rosano, finished 7-7-1.

In district 4-3A, Keystone Heights (12-6-1) got wins of 7-0 and 3-2 to advance to their final against P.K. Yonge (13-3-1), but the goal machine stalled in a 5-0 loss. Top scorer Kiersten Shaw finished with 34 goals.

One key element of Spartans offense is sophomore Reygan Roper, No. 3, who has become more authoritative in front of the goal. The Spartans teams rests a lot of its success on senior goalie Roxy Mathews, in light blue, who has 10 shutouts.

Washington (12-1, 13th ranked USA) in their opener on February 13. On the other end of the bracket, Beachside (8-3-5), the sixth seed who beat Orange Park 2-0 in their semifinal, will travel to Fort Walton Beach (9-8-3). Beachside lost in a penalty kick shootout with Englewood in the district 3-5A championship game after the game ended at 0-0 after two overtimes.

No. 8 seed Lecanto (11-5-1) travels to No. 1 seed Arnold (17-1-1, No. 2 USA, No. 2 in FL), the top seed, and No. 5 Englewood (17-5-0) visits No. 4 Choctawhatchee (11-8-2) in the upper two openers in region 1-5A.

St. Johns (6-7-1), the No. 6 seed, travels to No. 3 seed Christ's Church Academy (9-8-1) on Tues., February 6, for a rematch in their region opener with No. 7 Harvest Community (4-3-0) headed to No. 2 St. Joseph Academy (6-8-1).

In the upper end of the bracket, top seed Oak Hall (13-0-1) will host No. 8 Community Christian (7-5-1) and No. 4 Bell (10-4-0) will host No. 5 Academy at the Lakes (Land O' Lakes) (11-4-1).

In region 1-6A, Fleming Island (12-6-1) enters as the sixth seed with a road trip to No. 3 Chiles (12-4-1) while No. 7 Nease (9-5-3) heads to No. 2 Gulf Breeze (12-5-1).

In the other end of the region, No. 1 (18-2-1, Ninth ranked USA, 3rd in FL, 1st in 6A) hosts No. 8 Ocala Forest (15-7-2) with No. 4 Buchholz (11-1-3) hosts No. 5 Tate (13-4-1).

Around the county, Oakleaf lost an overtime battle with Nease in the district 3-6A semifinals after closing at 1-1 to end their season at 6-3-3; Keystone Heights lost 9-3 to district 4-3A runnerup Williston (lost 3-1 to No. 1 P.K. Yonge) to finish at 13-3-2; Orange Park lost 2-0 to Beachside in the district 3-5A semifinal to end at 7-6-3; Ridgeview lost 4-1 to Rickards in the district 2-5A opener to finish at 3-9-1 with Middleburg losing to Columbia in their 2-5A opener 2-0 to close at 6-6-3.

Clay sophomore Louvens Jorssaint rounds the Rickards goal box for first half shot on goal. Jorssaint scored the Blue Devils' second goal in the second half in 2-0 win.

Saturday. “Jacob Bucci is a state medalist (third last year 106) and we haven’t had him in the lineup for about a month or so and this we his first big test back,” said Clay coach Jim Reape, who got 192.5 team points to Somerset’s 262.0 for the runnerup finish. “He didn’t get to wrestle his finals match because of a medical forfeit to Somerset’s Jake Austin (46-3), last year’s state runner-up at 106 as a seventh grader.”

Bucci, who dropped from being top-ranked in 2A to seventh before returning to the number one spot recently, returned with a fervor with three pins and a 17-0 tech fall before pulling from the meet. Austin is top-ranked at 113 in Class 1A for Somerset.

“I just finished with the knee and I was more interested in my endurance and stamina out there,” said Bucci. “I got a little gassed and I was wrestling away from my knee but it felt good to be out there again and we’ll just keep icing and heating it.”

Also hindering the Clay chase was a medical forfeit at 126 by Rylan Herrera who was nursing a minor injury. Herrera had a much-anticipated semifinal match with Oakleaf’s Sebastian Bonachea at 126 who came in with just one loss with Herrera at 33-8.

Last year, Bonachea finished fifth at 126 after losing his second match to eventual champion Maximus Brady of Mariner.

“Sebastian is a steady, strong wrestler and one of the best out of Oakleaf,” said coach Mark Detoro, who finished eighth with 107 points but also missed some key athletes in Keon Barrientos and Ghais Cooper.

“They had some family issues, but both will be back in the lineup for districts,” said Detoro.

Districts are scheduled for Feb. 12-17.

Bonachea lost in his final to Buchholz’s Jedidiah Brown 1-0 in a hard-fought match.

Brown was ranked 8th in Class 3A at 27-5; Bonachea third at 132 in Class 2A.

For Detoro, Connor Barnes lost in the 106 final to Middleburg’s Gavin Fisher 8-5. Fisher is now 51-2 and ranked sixth in Class 2A with Barnes 11th at 22-8.

For Reape, the forfeits are good for rehabbing for the postseason in a week.

“We have districts coming up soon and it’s better to be safe and have them ready for that than risk more injury,” said Reape. “Other than that, the team did fine against a pretty good field; 40 teams were here this weekend with 3A-Buchholz (third) bringing a strong team.”

Clay had 120 Vonte Burke in the final against Florida’s Jasper Croom in a match of ranked athletes; Burke ninth at 25-7, Croom third at 31-4 with Croom catching Burke in the final seconds of the match with a pin. Note: Croom lost to Somerset’s Jake Austin in last year’s Class 1A semifinal.

At 157, Clay’s Landon Martin also lost by pin to Fernandina Beach’s unbeaten (44-0) Enzo Gamba. Jaden Bell was third at 285 with Aaron Stacey fifth at 215 and Will Kelley sixth at 190 after forfeiting his fifth-place match for injury.

For Middleburg coach Coll Robertson, who has traveled his team to far-away destinations in preparation for upcoming districts, the Clay Rotary lineup was as good as he has seen on his road trips.

“All of our good guys are doing as expected; Grady Woodard, Tucker Cody, Gavin Fisher, and we keep getting the younger guys to get better each week,” said Robertson, who had three finalists; Fisher, Wyatt Leduc as 150 runnerup to Gavin Nolan of Clearwater Central Catholic and Cody, champion at 215. “We love the competition; went to St. Cloud, saw Somerset here and Key West.”

One match that was slightly anticipated was a possible rematch of Cody (49-1) against Matanzas Jordan Mills (41-0) who was responsible for Cody’s lone loss of the season.

“We wrestled against each other at 215 and he got me, but now he is back at 190,” said Cody. “I learned a little about my mental preparation from that loss and I think it helped me to refocus my tactics.”

Robertson concurred that Cody ranked second at 215 in 2A, has improved his practice methods because of the loss to Mills, ranked first at 190 in 2A.

“He learned that he had to work on getting to his opponent’s legs and not relying on under hooks and throwing guys,” said Robertson, who was missing Grady Woodard who is fourth-ranked at 120 in 2A, sees Cody, Fisher, Woodard and LeDuc as legitimate state medal contenders. “He’s got sneaky good shots that have made him a more complete wrestler instead of just being a brute out there.”

In fourth, Middleburg scored 132 points with Buchholz at 172 for third and Florida High fifth with 123.5.

Clay Rotary Wrestling:
2004 champions in the gym!

GREEN COVE SPRINGS - With probably the two smallest athletes in the Clay High gymnasium stealing center stage and a return to glory from a power packed team of the past, the Clay Rotary Wrestling Invitational showcased one of its more explosive teams with a 20th reunion of sorts of the 2004 Class 1A champion team.

“It’s great to come back here and feel the energy of Clay High wrestling as well as seeing my old team; the 2004 state champions,” said one guy, Robb Baudendistel, who coached the squad with Hall of Famer head coach Jim Reape and former Middleburg High coach Ronald Warner, now a referee on the mat, who were all in attendance.

For Cory Baudendistel, now 35 and in Kennesaw, GA, who was with state champion weightlifter sister Brooke Baudendistel, now 31, the circle around to the Clay gym brought back the stories and memories from years ago, but for Baudendistel, the return to the mat was equally emo-

Lady Broncos tango with 3As

MHS Fisher vs. CHS Burke:
Match of the day

By Randy Lefko

GREEN COVE SPRINGS - Middleburg High undefeated defending state champion wrestler Cheyenne Cruce cruised to her second Clay Rotary title with two first-period pins against the solo opponent in her 190 weight class, while the rest of the Lady Broncos team, the defending Clay Rotary team champions, battled relentlessly to a third place finish against defending state champion Matanzas and a highly-touted Flagler Palm Coast team with the girls matches maybe overshadowing some of the boys matches according to Clay High wrestling coach Jim Reape.

“I think the girl’s event had a little more firepower than the boy’s events only because we have had the likes of Tampa Jesuit, Charlotte and Fleming Island here in past years,” said Reape. “Most of the girl’s matches were either decided quickly or were battles to the final whistle.”

For Middleburg girls wrestling coach Jamie Harrison, the Lady Broncos are right on the bubble of being a legitimate state contender this season.

“I’d say wait until next year as most of our girls are freshmen and sophomores with Cheyenne a junior,” said Harrison. “The team is getting tougher and tougher each match and when we show up with a five-loss team record, some teams may take us lightly, but that is a strong five-loss record. We don’t shy away from competition.”

To start the final round of competition, two of the smallest athletes in the Clay High gym; Middleburg’s 106 Skyla Fisher (11-5, 13th in 105), take on Clay’s Vasheer Burke (26-5, 12th at 100) in what became a crowd favorite such that tournament officials had to halt the match to clear fans from crowding the outside of the mat.

Ironically, on the boy’s championship match, Fisher’s older brother, Gavin Fisher, was taking on Oakleaf’s Connor Barnes for the same title.

With Fisher taking control with two takedowns; one a headlock hip throw, in the first period, but unable to get Burke on her back, the duo ended at 4-3 after the first period.

In the second period, Burke had Fisher on her back in a cradle with just two seconds on the clock before the period ended with Burke now leading 6-4.

On the boy’s side, Gavin Fisher was up 8-3 in that second period with Fisher holding to an 8-5 win.

After officials cleared the mats of fans wanting to get as close as possible to the Fisher/Burke match, the score got to 9-9 with a Fisher takedown before the match ended with a pin by Skyla Fisher.

“While I was wrestling, I was just trying to focus on staying calm and keeping composed and not making mistakes,” said Skyla Fisher. “I pushed her head hard into the mat and that got her mad and she made a mistake and I got the pin.”

Though her brother was less than 15 feet away, Skyla Fisher never took a glance.

“I couldn’t see Gavin on the next mat, but it was nice to win a gold medal at the same time as my brother,” said Skyla Fisher, a sophomore.

In the team scores, Matanzas dominated with 167.5 points with Flagler second at 138.0 and Middleburg third at 107.0.

Middleburg got their points from Fisher and Cruce wins; a third by Lily Bradshaw at 100, a third by Callia Kuroski at 110, a fourth from Memphis Moses at 115 and a second at 120 from Sarah Walsh.

In 2023, Middleburg finished fifth at the state championships behind Matanzas, Freedom, Apopka and Osceola. Flagler a noted Class 3A power in boys wrestling reversed a no-state meet season to a powerful while Matanzas won the championship with four champions also and two runner-ups.

Oakleaf had Jazmine Sotofourth at 105 and Jazzmine Moore second at 235, losing by a pin to Matanzas’ Ani Brown in the third period. Oakleaf was without state qualifiers Kailani Barrientos, currently ranked second at 135, and Jayla Harrison, currently ranked 10th at 170.

Fleming Island had one wrestler; Auryanna Phelps, who won one match and lost two.

Clay also had Robynne Myer at 125 who beat Amorita Nazario of Atlantic Coast by major decision before losing two.

Pals and Paws Dog Agility

Dogs flyin', tubin' and freezin'

By Randy Lefko

JACKSONVILLE - A massive Doberman named Spyder, a tiny Boston terrier named Frankie and even a tiny Dachshund named Kepler all showed off their best athletic talents at the Pals and Paws Dog Agility Club's weekend contest held Friday and Saturday at the Cecil Equestrian Center on Normandy Boulevard.

"We have three or four events each year and this is one of them," said Lauren Hansen, Pals and Paws Agility Club out of north Florida. "We have dogs of all sizes, shapes and abilities doing courses of 20 or so obstacles for time, points and treats at the end."

Dogs start with 100 points and end up with deductions for infractions along the way; missing an obstacle, stopping on the course, going the wrong way as well as the time element.

On one end of the Cecil Equestrian Arena, an obstacle course was set up to test dogs and trainers through tunnels, teeters, hurdles and tubes while on the opposite end, the big dogs blasted for speed, height and turning ability in the arena dirt with the likes of Dalmation high-flyer Aspen soaring above the 20-inch hurdles with Edwin Moses-like ease. "It takes a trainer and dog sometimes about 3-5 years to become synchronized," said Pals official Rita Browning, who has been in dog agility since 2008. "It's just like a coach and a runner or swimmer. You put in the time and when it clicks, it clicks."

Browning noted that, Tulsa, is the 'mecca' of dog agility where the nationals have been held with a huge national event in Tampa as well. "You will see these dogs get just as excited to get on the course as any athlete," said Browning. "You also see the dog that looks like he has no interest, but when he gets the go, he sets off like he's on fire. They just click a switch and go."

Browning coined a phrase used by dog owners, Biddable, which is the word to describe the dog that has 'the look'.

"When the trainers look at dogs and say 'he's biddable', it means he has the look," said Browning. Biddable by definition is said "to be biddable" or do the bidding of the trainer with German Shepherds the top breed with Poodles, Border Collies, Doberman Pinschers and Labrador Retrievers in the top five "biddable" breeds.

"Then, you get a Boston Terrier like we have here, that's a national champion," said Browning. "A lot depends on the trainer and owner and that relationship."

ORANGE PARK - St. Johns Country Day School wrestling coach Hunter Hill; wait? Isn't he the guy in the corner at Clay High?

"It was just a great opportunity to start a new program and also to start a new program with my son, Colt, a seventh grader, a big part of it," said Hill, also a state runner-up wrestler for the Clay High 2004 state champion Blue Devils. "For now, we're training a lot out of my garage and wherever we can get to some weights and running tracks. It's a challenge."

Hill, a long-time wingman for Clay High Hall of Fame wrestling head coach Jim Reape, and, for a short stint, the head guy while Reape considered retirement, has returned with a tornado of ideas to take a Ground Zero idea into fruition and, thus far, likes the enthusiasm at the St. Johns Country Day School campus about wrestling and the energy of new Athletic Director John Sgromolo.

"John has great energy and a passion for building programs up," said Hill. "We are working on upgrading the weightlifting facility on campus."

Note: Sgromolo too is a Clay High Blue Devil former athlete as a standout first baseman with a short stint in Major League Baseball for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Hill, running the Clay Rotary Wrestling Invitational at Clay High the past weekend, noted his ties to Clay sports were a great foundation.

"We got four kids now, Colt and Kevin McLean who are experienced with two more that it is a first time for them," said Hill. "It gets down to the roots of being an athlete in a sport and just kind of making things work with whatever the situation brings. My garage is our training center."

Hill, who has run the Green Cove Springs area wrestling summer team for the past few years, has developed his Grapple Academy which is tasked to get interested athletes on the mat.

"We hope that the boys do well this year and then one guy talks to another guy and they get him to come to a practice and then it builds," said Hill. "Look at the weightlifting here. Coach Frisbee started with a handful of girls and now he has a team at regions with a possible two-time state champion this year. Just look at soccer here. Champions all over. It's a great atmosphere."

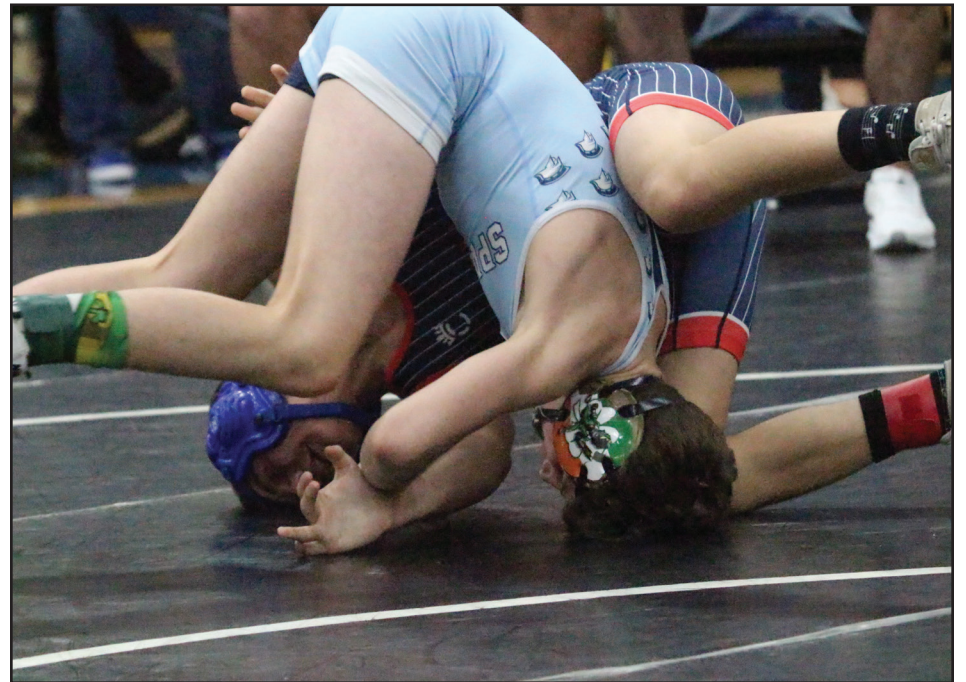

At the Clay Rotary on Saturday, Hill was able to coach and watch his son wrestling against a state runner-up from last year in the semifinals before finishing third in his 113 weight division.

"I'm proud that he battled into the third period before the guy from Somerset, number one ranked in Class 1A, pinned him," said Hill. "He'll learn from it, maybe see him at the state meet."

Spartans baseball to play nation's best

ORANGE PARK— Last week, USA Baseball, the national governing body for baseball in the United States, revealed the 16-team field for the 2024 National High School Invitational (NHSI) presented by the Greater Raleigh Sports Alliance and the Town of Cary. For the second time in three years, St. Johns Country Day School has been invited to attend.

"There is no better way to begin our 2024 schedule than with the 11th annual National High School Invitational," said USA Baseball Executive Director/CEO Paul Seiler. "This tournament offers an unrivaled history of phenomenal players and talented champions, and we look forward to adding to that in just a few months. We are extremely excited to welcome all sixteen teams, as well as their families and fans, to the USA Baseball National Training Complex in April."

The Spartans debuted at NHSI in 2022 and made its mark, coming out second overall. The Spartans downed a trio of

"We are extremely honored to be selected by USA Baseball this year to attend the NHSI event," said Spartan Baseball Head Coach Tom Lucas, who finished as Class 2A runnerup last year to Lakeland Christian and, in 2021, to Out-of-Door Academy. "This is an invite only event and largely regarded as the best of the best in high school baseball across the country. I'm very excited my guys get to compete in this very special event for the second time in three years."

Since 2012, the NHSI has hosted some of the nation's most talented players, many of whom have gone on to illustrious careers in professional baseball. Among some of the most notable major leaguers who have taken the field at the tournament are 2016 NL MVP Cody Bellinger and 2021 World Series champion Max Fried, as well as All-Star Matt Olson and Gold Glove winner Anthony Volpe. Additionally, nine picks in the 2023 MLB Draft participated in the event, including Garrett Baumann, Eric Bitonti, Landen Maroudis, Noble Meyer, Adrian Santana, and Ralphy Velazquez, who were all drafted within the first four rounds.

The NHSI is a single-elimination championship tournament, with each participating team guaranteed to play four games. The bracket and full schedule will be announced at a later date.
