Guest shares fond memories at artist's 132nd Birthday Gala

FLEMING ISLAND – The Augustus Savage 132nd Birthday Gala included a special guest.

"I am humbled to share my little slice of history," said Dr. Cathy Powers, who shared her fond memory of meeting Augustus Savage last Saturday during the ceremony at Sacred Heart Catholic Church's Sullivan Hall.

Powers was 7 and living in New York at the time. It was summer, and she was the only girl attending her father's summer camp. During that summer, her parents had commissioned Savage to sculpt a bust featuring her.

She recounted how she curtsied for Savage when they met.

"I remember that very well," Powers said.

She described Savage as being calm, pleasant, and serious but not severe.

The bust of Powers that Savage was commissioned to create. To this day, you can still see where Powers etched in the eyes.

"Her attention was profound. Her fingers were nimble. I remember her eyes. She would look back and forth at me and then at the block of clay. Her fingers were always moving. Her eyes were always focused."

Powers recounted how she had to sit still for Savage. The boys at the summer camp were working on their own arts and crafts projects off to the side, which was sometimes distracting. Anytime Powers glanced away, Savage reeled her back in.

"She was always confident and respectful. She had a job to do. We hardly spoke unless it was, 'Come back to me,'" Powers said.

She said the sculpting sessions took place over a couple of days or weeks. Her mother did her braids for her every day before the sessions. She said she could not see the finished product until the end.

"I was not allowed to look. When I first saw it, I was so impressed. She got the braids so right," Powers said.

Orange Park Police Chief Goble to retire

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

ORANGE PARK – Gary Goble will key his microphone and provide dispatch with a code 10-7, followed by 10-42. With that, he will be retired as the town's police chief.

Code 10-7 means out of service. Code 10-42 means ending the tour of duty.

The final act for a police officer is more ceremonial than necessary. It's a brief moment where everyone on duty can pause to reflect on his 35-year law enforcement career.

Because the job of keeping the community safe is never-ending, everyone will get back to work.

Goble will concentrate on tee times and selling shaved ice from his family's Hawaii Fyve-Sno food trailer. One thing is certain: Goble won't slow down.

"I've got some opportunities that have been presented to me. We'll see where they go," he said. "I'm not sure what I'm going to Every week, Clay Today will test or enlighten your knowledge on a variety of topics. This week, if you're driving, someone's always watching.

Remember when you believed your car was your only sanctuary? While you're still free to listen to whatever radio station you want, remember someone's probably watching. If you're on the roadways in Clay County, law enforcement has several tools to quickly locate people of interest by using one of 119 License Plate Readers and 21 closed-circuit television cameras. If law enforcement needs to locate a car, or if they need to identify a possible suspect, they can put the license plate number in the system and they will be notified when it passes one of the LPRs. The cameras help the Clay County Sheriff's Office monitor traffic. The Orange Park Police Department utilizes seven red-light cameras, while Green Cove Springs has five strategically placed on busy roadways. And don't forget, most businesses have outside surveillance cameras that can also pinpoint your location.

Clay High cheerleading team honored by commissioners

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The Board of County Commissioners commended the Clay High Competitive Cheerleading Team, led by coaches Lori Davis and Daniel Richardson, for its championship win at the 2024 FHSAA Class 1A Competitive Cheerleading State Finals in Lakeland and for finishing third in the nation.

“Through their extraordinary efforts, this dynamic team proved to be the best executing and highest scoring team in 1A Medium Coed in Florida and successfully brought the Class 1A FHSAA State Championship trophy back to Clay County,” said Commissioner Kristen Burke during the proclamation.

Some of the Clay High competitive cheerleading program accomplishments include six regional titles and four state titles, and it is currently ranked third in the nation in the Medium Coed Gameday division and fifth in the country for Small Coed Traditional division, said Burke.

“The entire Competitive Cheerleading Team contributed to this success, and these remarkable young men and women should be commended for their hard work, dedication and perseverance,” she said.

Councilmember-elect Taylor shares his vision

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

ORANGE PARK – There are two open seats on the town council following the resignations of Vice Mayor Susana Thompson and Councilman Daniel Cobreiro.

Glenn Taylor was geared up for his campaign for Orange Park Town Council Seat 3. He had more than $2,000 in professionally designed signs ready to be placed around town. He was ready to meet his soon-to-be constituents and make his pitch for why he should be on the town council.

Glenn Taylor

Now, he doesn't have to.

Taylor had two opponents. Both withdrew their applications. Madison “Maddie” Hilt withdrew her application to run for Council Seat 4 instead. According to Taylor, Hilt gave him a call to congratulate him and inform him of her decision.

Taylor said that her decision was made because she believed she had a better shot against Kenneth Vogel.

Taylor reflected on his admittedly anti-climactic win. Now, he wonders what to do with the more than $2,000 worth of signs he purchased with campaign funds.

“Yeah, no one ever got to see them. We never got to put them up. A friend has them in his barn. He said I could put a sticker to say ‘re-election’ and put them up. That’s three years from now,” he said.

However, he is nonetheless thankful for the opportunity. Saved the trouble of a campaign, Taylor can focus on his vision for when he’ll be seated at the dais in April.

A key tenet of his campaign was securing sufficient compensation for first responders. With the collective bargaining agreements signed earlier this month, Taylor says he wants to ensure wages remain competitive.

“Orange Park is so special because of our first responders who keep us safe,” he said.

Taylor wants to manage the growth and development within the town by finding a balance between attracting businesses and keeping the community safe to raise a family.

“I am a big believer in the importance of local businesses. It is important to find that middle ground between businesses and residents, especially with the safety of children in mind. I’m sure the business doesn’t want that (an unsafe community) either,” he said, referencing Blake Avenue.

Taylor has been practicing law and accounting for nearly 30 years.

He graduated from the University of Florida School of Law in 1990, and he’s been practicing real estate law since 1997, he said.

He said he wants to use his career experience to work with the citizens and local legislatures to obtain more state funding for local projects such as waste management.

Most importantly, he said he wanted the voice of the citizens.

“I will listen to and be an advocate for the needs of the community,” he said.

Taylor has two sons, Justin and Joshua, who are fraternal twins. He raised them as a single dad. With his children now in their junior years at the University of Florida, he is ready to take on the responsibility of being a town council member.

“I have wanted to do stuff like this sooner. Now seemed like the perfect time to give back to the community that has blessed me and my family for many years,” he said.

His law office is at 462 Kingsley Ave., Suite 103, and he’s a member of the Orange Park Rotary.

Fleming's Josh Skipper part of barbecue show with chef Michael Symon at Daytona

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

DAYTONA BEACH – Sweet smoke pierced through steady rain at the Daytona International Speedway, providing a tasty consolation to postponements of two days of racing.

Under large tents and a few yards away from 101,500 empty grandstand seats, four of the country's top pitmasters were competing to make the best taco, with the winner facing chef and Food Network celebrity Michael Symon. The man who has shows like "Symon's Dinners Cooking Out," "Throwdown with Michael Symon" and "BBQ USA," came to Daytona 500 weekend to film a pitch for a new cooking show. Cold and rain created another challenge but didn't stop grills from slowly turning raw meat into delicious treats.

"It was crazy out there with all the rain," said Josh Skipper, a member of Blue's Hog. "It was wet, cold and nasty. The camera crew was there on Saturday and Michael came down on Sunday. We still had a good time, and the food turned out great."

NASCAR's Xfinity race was scheduled for Feb. 17, and the 500 was supposed to take the green flag a day later. Both races were pushed back to Monday night. Skipper, who lives on Fleming Island, often cooks for Brandt Racing and its Xfinity Series driver Justin Allgaier. Skipper fed Brandt and worked with Blues Hog in the taco throwdown.

the 2022 Memphis in May, considered the world championship, with their whole hog.

"We prepped the hog on Saturday and had it going all night," Skipper said. "They want me to do more NASCAR races. We'll see where it goes."

Blues Hog competed against Mike Johnson and Sugarfire Smokehouse, Brad Leighninger and Gettin' Basted and Joe Pearce and Slaps BBQ. Blues Hog owner Tim Scheer said the teams had little advance notice, but they all quickly accepted the invitation.

"It was a good opportunity to do a little small talk with the other teams and do some marketing and stuff like that," Scheer said.

Symon said he wanted to promote barbecues and travel to unique locations, Scheer said. "He wanted to see local barbecue and the different takes on it and shed a light on it. I think that's what he's trying to pitch (for the new show)."

There wasn't anything more unique than cooking at the grandest stock car race in the world.

Skipper said he may put the road course race at the Circuit of the Americas track in Austin, Texas, on his schedule. Austin is home to many of the iconic barbecue joints worldwide, including Franklin Barbecue, where hungry customers generally get in line hours before the doors open at 11 a.m.

"Austin, I'm not scared of that," Skipper said. "They (Brandt) want me at more races. I will go anywhere if it has to do with barbecue."

And hopefully, the weather will be more accommodating.

Instead of ignoring the problem, Freddie Mac reminds homeowners there are a variety of options when you can't pay your mortgage.

Keeping a roof over your head Understanding options when you can't pay the mortgage

StatePoint Media For Clay Today

If financial hardship has put you at risk of missing a mortgage payment, you should familiarize yourself with the relief options available and be prepared to act quickly.

According to Freddie Mac, your first step should be to contact your mortgage company to determine which course of action makes the most sense for your circumstances. You may also want to brush up on the terms below to more fully understand the best path forward based on your situation:

Short-term hardship options

If you are unable to pay your mortgage, whether due to disaster or other financial hardship, the most popular and widely available mortgage assistance is "forbearance." This is when your mortgage company allows you to make a reduced payment or pause your payment for a specified period for as long as 12 months.

When this period ends, you will make up your payments in one of several ways. The fastest way is through "reinstatement," which means getting current on your mortgage by paying the owed amount in one lump sum. Alternatively, you can set up a "repayment plan," whereby you pay a little more each month on top of your mortgage.

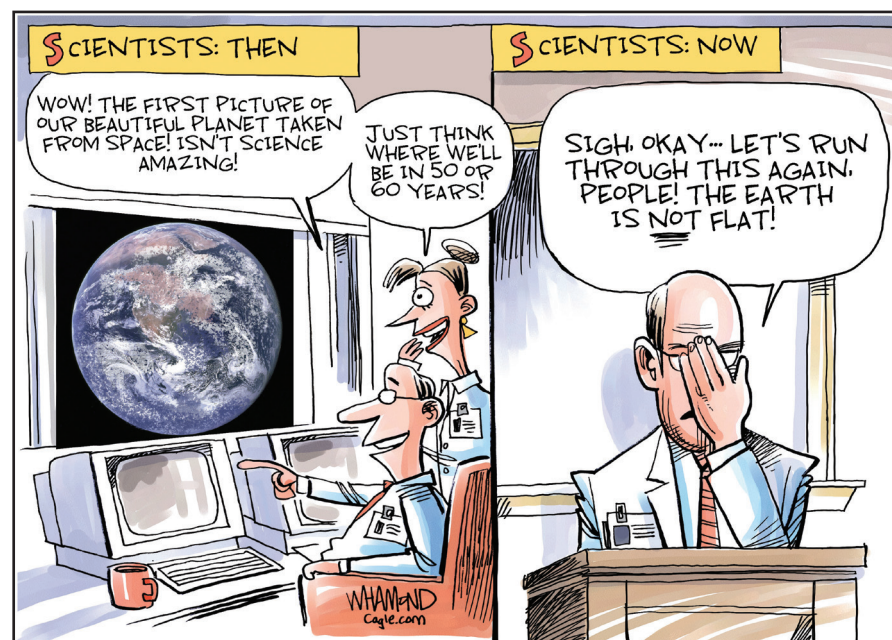

If you have overcome a short-term hardship but cannot afford these options, a "payment deferral" may be a good solution. This reinstates the mortgage to "current status" by deferring missed payments into a non-interest-bearing account that becomes due when you sell or refinance your home or pay off your mortgage. You will not be required to make monthly payments on the deferred balance until the payoff date.

Long-term hardship options

If you anticipate long-term financial struggles, you may wish to speak to your loan servicer about a "loan modification." This written agreement will permanently change one or more terms of your original loan agreement to make it more affordable and sustainable.

OPINIONS

Here's a vote of confidence for certainty of our elections

It shouldn't matter what side of the aisle you're from. We can all laugh at a Facebook post featuring a mail truck among headstones, with the caption reading: "I saw a mail truck in the cemetery today... I guess they have started delivering ballots!"

Sometimes, a joke is just funny. Laugh and move on. I think we too often forget to remind ourselves of that. Life is too hard to look under rocks for excuses to be offended.

Admittedly, too many of us don't find claims of election improprieties to be amusing. It's become a crutch for losing candidates who believe they didn't win because the election process was rigged.

Al Gore had us looking for hanging chads in 2000; Hillary Clinton said Donald Trump stole the election from her; Stacey Abrams said Georgia participated in voter suppression in the governor's race in both of her losses to Brian Kemp.

Then there's Donald Trump. The jury's still out – literally – on how he tried to affect the last election with his unfounded accusations of ballot-stuffing.

Without proof, why did we listen?

It's time we move away from political party gibberish and the blatant biases of network news. The empty, misleading rhetoric is an attack on the most basic sanctity of a democratic society – free and fair elections.

Don Coble

Neither Gore, Clinton, Abrams nor Trump have yet to present verified evidence to support their claims. Instead, they created political turmoil to further divide the country to appease their disappointments.

Equally important is creating the perception of a fair and open election. That's where there may be some gray area.

Florida has the best voter protections in the country. Vote-by-mail ballots are mailed only to voters who request one. And when it's returned, the signature on the ballot is compared to the signature on the voter registration card.

Ballots are printed, one at a time, as needed, including at polling stations in November.

In California, Colorado, Hawaii, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Vermont, Washington and the District of Columbia, every registered voter gets a "universal vote-by-mail" ballot whether or not they request one. Have you ever moved or received someone else's mail by mistake? Just asking.

I have no verifiable evidence to prove people illegally filled out mishandled ballots. Until there is, it's just a perception, not reality.

According to the U.S. Agency for International Development, a country cannot function without a legitimate and democratically elected government that is responsive and accountable to its citizens. Elections provide an important opportunity to advance democratization and encourage political liberalization.

Mortgage

If homeownership is no longer affordable for you, there are strategies to help you avoid the costly impacts of foreclosure. One of those is “selling with equity.” With this option, you can use the proceeds from selling your home to pay off any remaining mortgage debt. If the home’s value is greater than the amount you owe, you keep the excess funds. Alternatively, you can voluntarily transfer your property title to the mortgage company in exchange for a cancellation of your debt and a graceful exit from your home. This maneuver is known as a “deed-in-lieu of foreclosure.”

Finally, if you’ve exhausted all other options, a “short sale” may be your best choice. This refers to selling your home for a lower amount than you owe. It also forfeits your negotiating power on the property’s sales price. With a short sale, you will not see proceeds from the sale, and you must wait a certain period, which may be anywhere from 2-4 4 years, before qualifying for a new mortgage.

Elections also serve to encourage political debate and public dialogue.

Most of us trust our local election officials and Supervisors of Elections. The Tyson Group asked 1,000 likely voters if they have faith in local elections. More than 76% said yes.

Moreover, 88% of voters in Florida said they support multiple election options, like mail-in ballots, early voting and going to the polls on election day. And in Florida, 87% said they support early in-person voting, while 76% said they approve of mail-in ballots.

“Florida voters trust in their local election officials and support early voting and vote-by-mail among many options to ensure voter access,” said Daniel Griffith, senior director of policy for the Secure Democracy USA foundation.

“Despite growing polarization across America on some issues, when it comes to elections, Florida voters across the spectrum voice strong support for policies and processes that improve access and strengthen trust.”

The best way to support the fair and accessible process is to participate. The Presidential Preference Primary will be on March 19, with early voting from March 8 to March 16. The last day to request a mail-in ballot is March 7.

The Municipal Super Tuesday Election will be on April 9, followed by the Primary Election on Aug. 20. The General Election will be on Nov. 5.

See you there.

John Stephen Watson

Our Superman, John Stephen Watson, passed away expectedly this week at the age of 70 years young.

As a teen, a long and lanky farmer of the clay and rock hills of Northeast Alabama, Quarterback for the Springville Tigers High School football team, a self-made Hot Rod mechanic scouring the junkyards for parts, making do with whatever he can find with little or no money. This fireball of a young man used to doing the rocking and rolling, himself gets rocked at the local skating rink when he meets a tall drink of a young woman, a softball player, country through and through, his life partner, wife of 53 years, Virella Watson. Impressed by a woman actually strong enough to hang on to the rodeo of dealing with his strong, sometimes brash and overbearing persona to be with the man she sees through all the madness and theatrics... the loving, dedicated, powerhouse who needed a strong woman to partner with and point all that energy in the right direction.

John Stephen Watson

Soon after they marry and have a son, Cary Craig Watson, a butterball of a baby with a serious appetite. With John working two and sometimes three jobs, together, they set out to change the usual script of young couples from their neck of the woods. One day in the mail, draft papers show up for the Army. Not wanting to be in the Army, John quickly goes to see the Air Force recruiter. Gotta wait, recruiter is at lunch. While waiting, the Navy recruiter starts talking to him...Well, John never gets to talk to the Air Force guy. Duty stations over the years include Orlando, FL, Millington, TN, Norfolk, VA, Jacksonville, FL, Key West, FL and Alameda, CA.

In celebrating one of his first few promotions in Millington, his first daughter Stephanie, was born. She's a bit stubborn and a challenge for him, which he meets head first being just as stubborn. It works... sometimes. He knows quickly he has created his match and someday it would serve her well.

Then things got moving ... literally. Naval Tours include:

- Participation in the Vietnam War aboard the aircraft carrier USS Saratoga, CV-60, building bombs and supporting aircraft maintenance for more than 1500 sorties, including air-to-air engagement of enemy MiG-21 aircraft, close air support of ground operations, bombing runs over enemy troop concentrations and search and rescue missions

- Working in aircraft ground support, John is on several deployments aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea CV-43, including:

- a World Cruise to change ports from Alameda, CA to Norfolk, VA doing military maneuvers and training along the way

- a Western Pacific cruise with participation in hostage rescue mission attempts during the Iranian Hostage Crisis

- Aviation Intermediate Maintenance Department (AIMD), Naval Air Station (NAS) Memphis, TN and Key West, FL

- Helo Squadron Ground support, Com-HelTacWing One, Norfolk, VA

- P-3 Squadron Ground support, VP-16/VP-30 as Chief, NAS Jax, Jacksonville, FL

- Squadron Ground Support Maintenance Division Senior Chief, NAS, Cecil Field, Jacksonville, FL

While there are many accomplishments in the Navy along the way, his top honors include:

- 3 letters of Commendation, 1 each from:

- Rear Admiral T. F. Brown III, Commander Carrier Group 1, San Francisco

- Vice Admiral A. A. Less, Commander Naval Air Force, US Atlantic Fleet

- J. D. Taylor, Captain, USS Coral Sea

- Navy Commendation Medal, awarded by, Vice Admiral A. A. Less

- Navy Achievement Medal from Secretary of the Navy, James A. Webb, Jr.

- Aviation Warfare Specialist Wings from L. D. Presnell, Captain, Commander Helicopter Tac Wing One

- 2 Letters of Appreciation from G. P. Harper, Commanding Officer, VP-16 Squadron

While the promotion and all his unique experiences detailing the honor of being in the military is great, for him it is never about that. John's truest honor is that of being a husband and father and accomplishing making sure his Family never needs for anything, his children graduate High School and go on to become responsible adults, all while having some fun along the way. Mission accomplished.

In 1992, Malin, an exchange student from Sweden, flies into John's family life and is quickly claimed as his second daughter. She lives with the Family through her High School graduation and continues to bring smiles each time she calls or brings her husband and children to visit.

John retires in 1993 and quickly realizes only fishing and working around the house or sitting on his duff watching races to occupy his time doesn't work for him. Enter the trucking business and racing...He's on the road making good money and he's home for racing on the weekends at Jax Raceways and St. Augustine Speedway dirt tracks. Open wheel modified racing is occupying a lot of energy for several years and allows for quality time with Family, especially his son, teaching him the ins and outs of working on cars and building engines.

As interest in racing slows he turns his sights to more rest and relaxation. While still trucking cross country, John finds time to gamble, where legal to do so, and starts to enjoy going on cruises with Virella. What cruises? Well, in true form for John... about every destination that can be reached from a Florida cruise line at one point or another is a destination.

As John lives his entire life as either 100% in or not in at all, not much in between, he continues trucking until, well, he physically can't.

He lives his life full out, sliding sideways and backwards across the finish line.

His death is preceded by:

- Lydia Ann Bass (Mother)
- William Lewis Watson (Father)
- and numerous Aunts and Uncles

He is survived by his:

- extraordinarily loving bride, Virella Watson
- son, Cary Craig Watson, Pam (wife) and children Ryan and Lauren

- daughter, Stephanie Spano, Eric (husband) and children Sidney, Kyla, and Avery
- daughter Malin Wieser, Andreas (husband) and children Kasper, Nils, and Ake
- adopted granddaughter Kalani Smith, and parents Elizabeth and Jeff

Donations ... we only ask, in honor of who he was for people, before your head hits the pillow tonight you give of yourself to your loved ones... a kiss or hug, a conversation, a moment of time where you are with them and only them, not thinking about what should have been yesterday or what's to come tomorrow...only right here, right now, such that they are left with how important they are to you.

do yet – if anything.”

Goble started with the Clay County Sheriff's Office in 1989 before he moved to Orange Park in 1993. His retirement countdown clock began five years ago. He's proud of his department's growth, especially how it adjusted and embraced modern techniques.

“We've come such a long way,” Goble said. “I came here in 1993 and worked my way through the ranks. And since I took over as chief almost 13 years ago, I think the department has done a great job just keeping up with technology. Our equipment and our fleet are in so much better shape than it ever was. I think we've done a lot of good things – not just me, but all of us. I've got a lot of good people working around me.”

The town is accepting applications to replace Goble. According to the town's website, an “ideal” candidate must at least have a Bachelor's degree in criminology, criminal justice, police administration or public administration; five years experience as a police officer and at least two years experience as an assistant police chief; completed training in the FBI National Academy, Florida Department of Law Enforcement Leadership Program or other related training; and meet state police minimum stands and meet requirements of periodic in-service training and weaponry qualifications. The town also believes its next chief should be approachable by all residents and fellow officers, maintain high standards and work to prevent crime.

Tamara and Gary Goble will spend time playing golf and serving shaved ice to happy customers from their family's Hawaii Fyve-Sno food trailer.

The application deadline is March 10. Additional information can be found at townoforange.com. Click the police department tab, then Join Our Team.

Goble said he and his wife Tamara are looking forward to the next chapter in his life.

“I do have the Hawaii Fyve-Sno snow cone trailer that I work at a lot of events and things on the weekends, as well as schools and football games,” he said. “That keeps me pretty busy. So we may do that for a little bit. And we plan on doing some traveling. We both like to golf, and we want to play a lot of different golf courses and do some things that we didn't get to do while we were working.”

While he will be Code 7 as the police chief, he will be Code 8 – in service – for a life away from the badge.

Sowing the seeds to rezone the Agricola Property

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The highly anticipated, highly ambitious Agricola Property is one step closer to breaking ground after smoothing some concerns during a workshop last Tuesday.

The property has to be rezoned before there can be any development. At the workshop, Agricola made its pitch for why it should be rezoned from “agriculture” to “planned community.”

“Our guiding principle is to create a complete community – parks, homes, healthcare, places to work, retail, agriculture, schools, churches,” said Brian Wright, a consultant for Agricola.

“We want to be good stewards of the land and environment... that’s the reason we’re doing this in the first place,” he said.

Agricola aims to be not merely a neighborhood, but an “agri-hood.” The community has a unique commitment to fostering environmental sustainability and a rural character.

That commitment has some weight behind it, too, since Agricola’s development agreement ensures the community must follow through on its promises.

“The PUD (planned unit development) and binding agreements prevent a ‘bait and switch,’” Wright said.

Map that shows the relative position of the Agricola Property with Green Cove Springs and the Bayard Conservation Area.

Agricola’s comprehensive plan was reviewed by several state agencies – St. Johns River Water Management District, Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission, Florida Department of Transportation, Florida Commerce and more.

SJRWMD and FDOT expressed no concerns.

FWC had no objections either but offered some feedback.

The Agricola team said they would follow the guidelines the FWC suggested, such as providing bear-resistant garbage containers. Additionally, wildlife corridors would remain interconnected to maintain habitat connectivity. After all, it’s better for wildlife to pass through natural corridors than through someone’s property.

Following the question-and-answer section, the PC was reassured that Agricola would incorporate constructive feedback.

“I love your development,” said Commissioner Kristen Burke.

“I love all the attention to detail. One negative that comes to mind is I wish this development came years before the others I see right now – because I would have lived in it, actually,” she said.

If its rezoning application was approved, Agricola would begin development in the northeast corner of its property, the closest along U.S. Highway 17. Agricola is eager to show a successful proof of concept that interested residents and businesses can buy into. The 30-year development is planned to accommodate about 4,000 residential units, and Agricola estimates it will provide over $236 million in ad valorem revenue for Clay County.

State of Clay:

Elected officials said preparation for future growth starts now

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

ORANGE PARK – County Mayors and the County Commission Chairman shared a common theme Wednesday at the annual Clay Chamber State of the County luncheon: the time to prepare for the future is right now.

BCC Chairman Jim Renninger joined Mayors Connie Butler of Green Cove Springs, Randy Anderson of Orange Park, Adrian Andrews of Penney Farms and Nina Rodenroth of Keystone Heights to share their municipality's vision to prepare for unprecedented growth already on planning boards. They shared their visions with a room filled with elected, business and community leaders at the Thrasher-Horne Center. Officials said as many as 10,800 new homes are planned for five different developments, and with that comes the immediate need to repair and build infrastructure to meet the demands.

"My fellow Commissioners and I passed the budget surpassing $731 million for this fiscal year, a huge amount of money," Renninger said. "A majority of those dollars are earmarked for increasing infrastructure, public safety and services to our community."

Renninger said in the next 15 years, 4,000 homes are planned for the Governors Park community; another 4,300 are expected at Saratoga Springs; the Rookery will have 2,000 homes and as many as 500 are slated at Sunrise Road and Fox Run Road developments in Keystone Heights.

The county will spend $174 million on road projects to keep pace. It will also build four new fire stations and remodel many of the 12 existing stations.

Renninger said other Northeast Florida Regional Council counties are working with Clay to create a regional plan. According to the U.S. Census, more than 300,000 people moved to Clay, Duval, Nassau, St. Johns, Baker, Putnam and Flagler counties last year. "The Regional Council helped us to develop our first five-year strategic plan," he said. "They helped us develop such things as substance use disorder, transportation and resiliency."

All while maintaining a "small county" feel.

"I just want to say we are all about small towns and big passions," he said.

Andrews said Penney Farms is replacing its water pipes and electronically mapping out the town to be better prepared when the property around the 1.46-square-mile sleepy community is sold for development.

"We're trying to catch up with the technology that's out there to keep us abreast of what's going on in our town," he said. "Gold used to be the No. 1 investment. No longer. So we know we are surrounded by land that belongs to a corporation. When that group sells out, we're going to be able to handle the growth, those homes, and whatever business is coming our way."

Butler said Green Cove Springs is bracing for developments that will come when the First Coast Expressway is completed near the city's south side.

The city council has developed comprehensive plans to maintain its historic nature while welcoming new growth.

County and municipal officials shared a common theme of working ahead of unprecedented growth expected in the next 15 years.

"As we know, our county is growing, and it's growing by leaps and bounds," she said. And in the process, we don't want to forget about the residents. You hear a lot about the growth, the growth, the growth. So, we're looking at ways to embrace the growth and have that balance."

Butler gleefully reminded everyone Green Cove Springs will celebrate its 150th birthday as a municipality this year. While the official event will be on Nov. 2, other events will be celebrated as lead-ups to the big party.

Orange Park's Anderson boasted that his town operates on a $24 million budget and has no debt. He said the town is working to replace the last 45 septic tanks inside the city limits. Orange Park has also invested significantly in buying wetlands and improving drainage to address frequent flooding. Finally, Rodenroth reminded everyone of Keystone Heights' historic and recreational past. The city has rebuilt and opened the Keystone Beach Pavillion, and the water levels in the lakes will soon rise again when the Black Creek Restoration Project is completed by next year.

"After 15 years of the lakes in recession, we experienced a dramatic change in our physical landscape, property values, businesses and tourism appeal," she said. "The Black Creek project promises the return of our lakes' waters back to their pristine beauty and abounding shorelines.

"Fifty-seven percent of our residents were born in Keystone Heights. I value their input and vision as it will shed light on just how truly amazing the return of those precious lakes will be. Partnering with our Clay County tourism marketing team will be critical for our short-term future plans for success. Keystone's growth and tourism potential will deliver much excitement and thrill as we create our own moments in time. It can be yours."

The event was hosted by the Clay Chamber, and Baptist Medical Center Clay was the presenting sponsor.

FIHS CTE students stage wedding to gain real-life hospitality skills

By Don Coble

don@claytodayonline.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Alyssa McAlpin and Ihsan Nairne started planning their wedding in August. They meticulously worked through the details and quickly learned that there seemed to be more questions and doubts than answers.

“I will definitely say I learned that we need to plan everything out,” the groom said. “As much as you might feel like you can do this later, you need to do it. Now. You need to do it before everything needs to get done, so when it comes down to that crunch time, you’re ready.”

Instead of completing their vows with a kiss, Fleming Island High seniors Alyssa McAlpin and Ihsan Nairne form a heart with their hands. The school held a mock wedding Thursday in Green Cove Springs as part of its Career and Technical Education training for its Hospitality, Photography, TV Production, Sign Language and Chorus classes.

The event was magical and picturesque. The nuptials were on the shoreline of the St. Johns River last Thursday in a historic stretch of homes and towering oaks.

When told he could kiss the bride, Nairne and McAlpin formed a heart shape with their hands. After greeting guests and taking photos, the young couple went their separate ways.

Career and Technical Education programs at Fleming Island High staged the event. The Hospitality and Tourism class was joined by photography, television production, American sign language students and members of the school’s chorus to create the perfect mock wedding.

Students spent six months gaining practical experience in their related fields.

“So for the hospitality students, this is their event,” said CTE instructor Laura Kirk. “I am just here to answer their questions. This is a student-led project. This is their grade for the third quarter. They get to see the logistics that goes into something this big.”

Students had to secure a venue, find a gown, formal wear, music, a “minister,” photographers, snacks, and cake, and set up a “mocktails” station. There also was a rehearsal, setting up and taking down the event and planning transportation.

Nairne said this year’s seniors added more elements to the annual CTE event, including the chorus.

“I think we pulled it off,” he said. “We’re pretty happy with the results.”

Two students, Ray Araujo-Tee and Taylor Collins, were the wedding planners. Collins had a clipboard with instructions and a headset to ensure everything went smoothly and on time.

Fleming Island High Principal Thomas Pittman walks bride Alyssa McAlpin down the aisle.

“There’s a lot that goes into a wedding,” Kirk said.

McAlpin said the most important thing she learned was planning. Those lessons will be invaluable when she attends the University of North Florida next year as she adjusts to a college schedule.

“The main thing is to stay within a plan,” she said. “This is our senior year. You prepare yourself for a wedding, but then you also need to look at these things, prepare yourself for college, and take what you learn in a different aspect.”

Principal Thomas Pittman walked McAlpin down the aisle. He said the mock wedding has become one of his favorite school year projects because students use real-life skills without a real-life marital commitment.

When Nairne graduates, he knows the level of planning and hard work that awaits if he continues his interest in hospitality and tourism.

“I would say one of the things I’ve learned, I could probably speak for us both, is preparation,” he said. “I feel like that’s everything. I mean, as much as we thought we were prepared, I guess it finally came down to the last week when we were good to go.”

After the wedding, guests, including school board member Mary Bolla, were invited to enjoy “Mocktails” and snacks.

For Clay Today

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The Blank Check Society completed its monthly mission on Saturday, Feb. 24, by honoring veterans at Little Ruth and Mt. Olive cemeteries.

A total of 100 US Flags were proudly placed upon the graves of fallen heroes. We were honored to be in the presence of many soldiers who participated in numerous conflicts and served in multiple branches of the US Military. BCS members also removed debris to display the stones identifying some of these brave men and women. Joining the BCS were members from the American Legion, VFW and VFW Auxiliary. The BCS is forever grateful to the VFW Post 1988 – Green Cove Springs for allowing the use of their facilities to gather, hold meetings and conduct fundraisers.

The Blank Check Society is a non-profit organization. The membership consists of veterans or family members of a veteran, living or deceased, who want to be a part of a brotherhood to honor veterans. All BCS members possess a deep appreciation for our veterans and love for our great country. BCS members visit local cemeteries monthly to place flags upon veteran grave sites. Quarterly, the BCS conducts cemetery clean-ups/flag placements. The BCS, furthermore, escorts funerals for fallen veterans at no charge to the family.

All funding to operate the BCS is earned through membership dues, fundraising and donations. Our next fundraiser, Blood Drive/Fish Fry, is scheduled for Saturday, March 23, at 11 a.m. This event will be at VFW Post 1988, at 421 S. Orange Ave., in Green Cove Springs.

Dinners are $10; anyone who donates blood will receive a free dinner. All proceeds will help purchase U.S. Flags to honor fallen heroes.

Fresh strawberries, games, entertainment, contests to highlight Strawberry Fest

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – If it has to do with strawberries, you can find it Saturday and Sunday, March 2-3, at the Clay County Fairgrounds.

The eighth annual Strawberry Fest traditionally attracts large crowds. Gates will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days.

In addition to truckloads of Plant City strawberries, the festival will include arts and crafts, bounce houses, a Frisbee dog show, a free petting zoon, monster truck rides, live entertainment, sack races, pony rides, Hula Hoop and cornhole contests, face painting, rock painting, axe throwing and a “berry” cute baby contest.

Anyone with a sweet tooth can also enjoy a pie-eating contest, bowls of strawberry shortcake, chocolate-covered strawberries and strawberry lemonade.

Admission is $7, while children 2 and younger are admitted for free. A portion of the proceeds will benefit the Guardian Ad Litem program and the Food Pantry of Green Cove Springs.

Elections Office hosting Open House Friday for Logic, Accuracy tests

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The Clay County Supervisor of Elections Office will host an open house ahead of the Presidential Preference Primary on Friday, March 1 at 9 a.m.

The PPP Logic and Accuracy Test will be at the Supervisor of Elections Office at 500 N. Orange Ave.

Logic and accuracy tests are required for public testing of the election equipment held before an election. Test ballots are processed through the tabulation equipment to certify it’s accurately counting and recording votes. The process is open to the public. Supervisor of Elections Chris Chambless wants voters to cast their ballots with confidence.

“We’re dedicated to the process of conducting fair, secure and transparent elections,” he said. If you have questions or need more information, call (904) 269-6350 or visit ClayElections.gov.

Keystone Heights sixth-grader calmly wins county spelling bee

Jillian Huntley correctly spells 'cauterize' to advance to Northeast Florida Regionals

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

LAKE ASBURY – Just like she did with her 10 previous words, Jillian Huntley calmly asked three questions about her championship round word at Thursday night's Clay County District Spelling Bee.

Then she stepped up and, without hesitation, answered.

"Cauterize. C-A-U-T-E-R-I-Z-E. Cauterize."

Parents and school officials waited for two excruciating seconds for judge Amanda Strickland to say "correct" or ring a bell for a wrong answer.

"Correct."

The Keystone Heights sixth-grader flashed a calm, soft smile.

"I've always been a good speller," Jillian said after receiving her first-place trophy – and a trip to the 14-county Northeast Florida Regionals at LaVilla School of the Arts in Jacksonville on March 25. That winner will advance to the Scripps National Spelling Bee at National Harbor, Maryland, on May 28.

The Bee started with 39 contestants from the county's public and private schools. With words like "luciferin," "coccidiosis," "avens," "Pleiades," "pronaos," "retinitis pigmentosa" and "Trinidadian," 34 contestants were eliminated in the first four rounds.

It took eight rounds to pare the field to three – Jillian, Aidan Watt of Lakeside Junior High and Peyton Holloway of St. Johns Keystone Heights Elementary's Jillian Huntley gets her first-place Spelling Bee trophy from Superintendent David Broskie Thursday night.

Classical Academy-Fleming Island.

Jillian correctly spelled "ficus," Aidan spelled "cataclysmic" and Peyton spelled "Florentine" to move to the 10th round.

When Aidan misspelled "peradventure" and Peyton missed "extraneous," Jillian won with a word that meant "burn the skin or flesh with a heated instrument or caustic substance, typically to stop bleeding or prevent the wound from becoming infected."

Jillian said her favorite subject in school is math, but she spent "15 to 30 minutes a day, when I have time," studying the list of Spelling Bee words.

Some of the other words she correctly spelled were "unscathed," "dissemination," "rhythmically" and "campanology."

Jillian said she's competed in five Bees. She attended Melrose Elementary last year and won the Putnam County Bee. At Keystone, she can keep spelling for two more years since the limits are 16 years or not past eighth grade.

Before she left for Lake Asbury Junior High, Keystone Heights third graders made her a good luck poster that read: "We Bee Lieve in You." Her parents had the sign in the audience.

In addition to having a knack for remembering words from the hand guide and being a good speller, Jillian said she also relies on "sounding out words."

Principal Elizabeth Turbeville was euphoric about the win. She said she texted teachers and staff throughout the competition to keep them informed.

"I am beyond proud," Turbeville said. "I'm glowing with pride. This is the best part of my job. Being a principal isn't easy, but nights like this make it worth it."

Classmates heard about Jillian during Friday morning's announcements, and the school is expected to further celebrate the victory on Monday.

"She is a sweet, spirited girl," Turbeville said. "You really want to get behind someone like her."

Jillian brought the Spelling Bee trophy home to Keystone Heights for the third consecutive year. Junior/Senior High's Rena Reddish won in 2022 by correctly spelling "dicey." She followed that up by winning with "eradicates" last year.

However, Powers thought the eyes were a bit off. She took a pencil and tried etching to correct the eyes, which furthered her disappointment. She thought her father would be furious for damaging an expensive commission, but he wasn't.

"I thought he was going to be upset. Instead, he said, 'Well, now you've added your own piece to it,'" Powers said.

She said the sculpture of 7-year-old Powers was tucked away in a closet for 70 years. She was conflicted about what to do with the bust for many years. She said it didn't feel right to leave it on her mantle. She said it would be better for the whole world to see Savage's story so others could know it.

Powers ended up donating the bust to the New York Historical Society. You can still see the etchings in the eyes today.

Augusta Savage was born in Green Cove Springs on Feb. 29, 1892. She made animals from red clay from the Clay County Brick Works. Her father was a Methodist minister who abused her to discourage her creative interests, according to the Smithsonian American Art Museum.

"(He) almost whipped all the art out of me," Savage once said.

Her passion waned when Savage's family moved to West Palm Beach in 1915. Quality sculpting clay was hard to find (since leaving "Clay" County, after all). In 1919, a local potter gave Savage sculpting clay, which she used to model a group of figures that she entered at the West Palm Beach County Fair, according to the Smithsonian.

The figures received critical acclaim at the county fair, which encouraged Savage to continue pursuing her passion. She moved to New York City in the 1920s and contributed to the Harlem Renaissance, a blooming rebirth of Black art and culture.

She earned a reputation as a portrait sculptor, completing busts of prominent Black figures such as W.E.B. Du Bois and Marcus Garvey.

Savage believed in the cultural significance of art and the importance of teaching. She established the Harlem Community Art Center in 1937 and became its first director. The center was closed in 1942 when federal funds were cut during World War II.

In the twilight of her career, she taught children art in local summer camps. She continued to create commissioned sculptures, such as the one she made for Powers.

"I have created nothing really beautiful, really lasting, but if I can inspire one of these youngsters to develop the talent I know they possess, then my monument will be in their work," Savage famously said.

While many of Savage's greatest works have been lost or destroyed, her legacy has continued to inspire young artists at the Augusta Savage Museum & Mentoring Center.

Sponsored by the Friends of Augusta Savage Arts & Community Center, the fundraiser gala was a celebration of Savage's legacy and the achievements of the community center, from which the proceeds will help fund.

A painting made by Patrick Harris from Penney Farms, illustrating "The Harp," one of Savage's greatest sculptures that was commissioned for the 1939 New York World's Fair. Due to financial limitations, it was unable to be preserved and now no longer exists.

Middleburg High JNROTC earns 'Outstanding' distinction

For Clay Today

MIDDLEBURG – The Middleburg High School Navy Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps conducted its Annual Military Inspection on Feb. 22.

The annual event showcases all the hard work of the cadets in the unit with a personal uniform inspection, administrative review, a briefing of the unit's accomplishments and goals, and ending with a formal Pass in Review Ceremony. The Inspecting Officer, retired Cmdr. Johnathan Shaw, attended, as did Principal Martin Attack, Assistant Principal Miranda Knox and several other special guests.

"The (Annual Military Inspection) is a very important event," retired Cmdr. Shannon Clark, Senior Naval Science Instructor for the Middleburg JNROTC Unit, said.

"It not only teaches these young men and women the importance of preparing for a formal inspection, but it allows them to actually execute the planning, preparation, and execution of the event," she said. "It teaches them attention to detail, organization, and planning and allows them to show they are capable and is a huge confidence builder in their leadership growth and maturity." The all-day inspection culminated in an overall score of Outstanding, the highest mark achievable. "I couldn't be more proud of what these talented young men and women have demonstrated and accomplished today and this year!"

ORANGE PARK – There was a good reason patrons and owners Jenn Hawk and Heather Kile were serving champagne instead of styling hair. A 40-foot move to an open shop next door in the Bellair-Meadowbrook Terrace completed the expansion that will allow the salon to expand services.

"In our old location, nine stylists worked in about 1,500 square feet. We were there for 8½ years, and we couldn't grow anymore. Our new salon is twice the size; we can have up to 15 stylists. Now, we have the opportunity for new growth."

#RunFlemingIsland

First-hand account of 3.5-mile run every Thursday

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

FLEMING ISLAND – Noel Reforma is a Boston Marathon finalist, but another cherished accomplishment is a little closer to home – he's run every road on Fleming Island.

"At this point, I've run almost all single runnable roads and trails in the area. I learned from this experiment that Fleming Island is a clean, safe, and runner-friendly place," he said in an Instagram post, illustrating his filled-in Strava Heatmap.

Fleming Island has a thriving running community.

Lisa Miller is an organizer of a running club that meets at Your Pie in Fleming Island every Thursday night at 6:30. It is an open invite for runners of all ages and all paces.

"Bring your dog. Bring your kids. Bring your kids in a stroller. Bring your dog in a stroller," Miller said.

Miller pairs up each new runner with a guide. The 3.5-mile loop begins at Your Pie on County Road 220, continues south along Town Center Boulevard, circles back north along U.S. Highway 17 and finishes back at the Your Pie restaurant.

Last Thursday, I laced up my running shoes and slipped on my Gate River Run hat to come out for the group run. I stretched, warmed up, and was paired up with Reforma. We hit it off instantly.

We talked about running, naturally. On Fleming Island, running under the shady pines along Eagle Harbor Parkway was a favorite route for both of us.

We found out we ran in the same Ameris Bank Jacksonville Marathon a few years back, although Reforma finished over an hour ahead of me. His 3:07 time qualified him for the Boston Marathon, which is the oldest and one of the most exclusive marathon road races in the world.

Reforma helped popularize the #RunFlemingIsland movement, which encourages recreational running in the community. The Your Pie owners have supported the movement and continue to be welcoming for the joggers and athletes who come out on Thursdays, he said.

I enjoyed the 3.5-mile loop – the scenery, the stunning sunset and the prize at the finish line.

As a courtesy from the owners of Your Pie, runners who sign in and complete the loop receive a ticket that can be exchanged for a complimentary soft drink, alcoholic beverage, or gelato dessert.

It's a casual open invite. The runners are friendly and have many great tips for those trying to get back in shape – like me. Come out to Your Pie on Thursdays at 6:30 for exercise, community and a sweet treat.

Scots, many in kilts, converged at Northeast Florida Scottish Games

Annual event at fairgrounds a prelude to October's Scottish Athletics Masters World Champions

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – More than 1,000 revelers, many in kilts, attended Saturday's Northeast Florida Scottish Games and Festival at the Clay County Fairgrounds.

Even those not sporting kilts or speaking with a brogue accent were able to enjoy an afternoon of athletics, including traditional caber tosses, sheaf and hammer throw, weight over bar tosses and one-handed weight tosses for distances.

Despite the shutdown of County Road 218 from Henley Road to State Road 16, vendors said this year's crowd was one of the best. The event in Clay County has become so popular the Foundation for Scottish Athletics selected the fairgrounds for its Scottish Athletics Masters World Championships on Oct. 5-6.

The lines were long, but patrons came away happy with plates filled with popular Scottish and British foods.

The Northeast Florida Scottish Games allows those with Scottish heritages to proudly display clothing that accentuates their homeland's culture and identity.

The hammer throw takes both strength and finesse to release the ball at the optimum time.

The caber toss is one of the most recognizable athletic events at Scottish Festivals.

The hammer throw features a round ball weighing between 16-22 pounds for men that's attached to a four-foot shaft.

'Turning Points in History' presented during History Fair

Students at Grace Episcopal, OPJH defend their theses

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

ORANGE PARK – The course of human history has taken twists and turns, sometimes abruptly so. This is why "Turning Points in History" was an exciting theme for the Historical Fair and an interesting lens for analysis and presentation.

Last Thursday, students from Orange Park Junior High and Grace Episcopal Day presented poster boards, websites and documentaries to defend their theses for the chance to represent Clay County at the State History Fair.

Some topics included the D-Day Normandy Invasion in WWII, Jonas Salk's polio vaccine, the Seneca Falls Convention, the Beatles Invasion, the Internet and more.

The presentations came after months of research, research and more research. Students were asked to provide 10 primary and secondary sources to support their theses. However, the work wasn't grueling. Instead, it allowed students to dive deeply into the topics they chose and were interested in.

Sophia Pre, Amara Hassan and Tung

Thai from OPJH shared a mixture of nervousness and excitement before their presentation, arguing Jonas Salk's polio vaccine was a turning point in history.

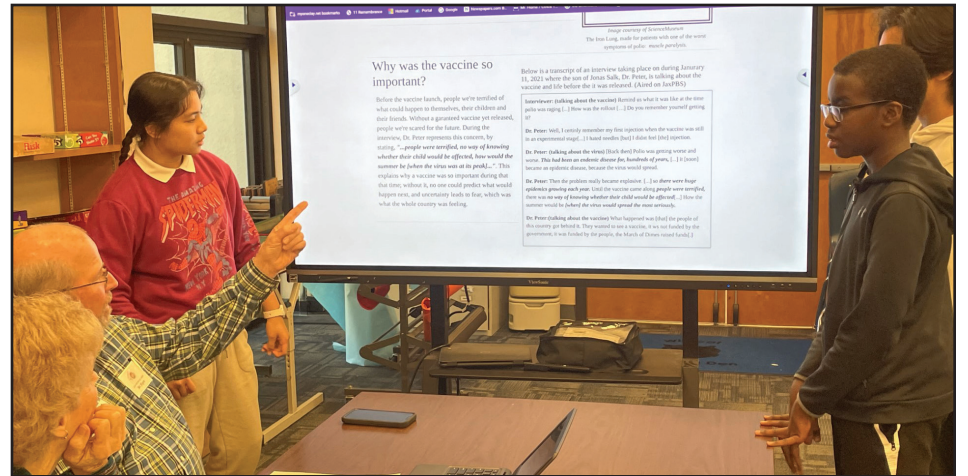

The group presented a website they created, which displayed a graph of the U.S. polio cases and death rates. The graph peaked in the early 1950s before it abruptly plummeted and leveled off entirely by the 1960s, dubbed a "miracle."

The group pointed to the rapid success of Jonas Salk's vaccine, developed in 1953, and the nationwide campaign that followed.

It was a monumental moment in medical history, they said.

Reilly McInnis from Grace Episcopal was eager to present a historical moment that was personally meaningful. His great-grandfather fought in World War II, so he was drawn to the conflict, D-Day in particular, which he argued was a turning point in the war.

The largest amphibious landing in history incurred significant casualties, but by successfully landing over one hundred thousand soldiers at the five beachheads, the Allies could begin the liberation of France and the rest of Western Europe, he said.

STAFF PHOTOS BY JACK RANDALL

Sophia Pre, Amara Hassan and Tung Thai won first place in the group website category for their presentation, "The Beginning of Medical Advancements: Jonas Salk and the Polio Vaccine." The group also received the award for Best Use of Primary Sources.

Vishi Garig, the Archives Supervisor for Clay County, served as one of the judges for the History Fair. She was impressed by the presentations, the students' scholarship, the attention to detail and the passion for historical events.

Reilly McInnis won first place in the individual exhibit category for his project, "How did the Allied Powers' victory at D-Day change the outcome of World War II?" McInnis also received awards for the Art Hall and Creative Expressions categories.

Caitlin Garrett from Grace Episcopal was runner-up and the Women's History Winner for her project, "How did the Match Girl Strike of 1888 lead to improved working conditions for women?"

Sophia Pre, Amara Hassan and Tung Thai won first place in the group website category for their presentation, "The Beginning of Medical Advancements: Jonas Salk and the Polio Vaccine." The group also received the award for Best Use of Primary Sources.

Andreas Alvarez and Cameron Nixon were the runner-up group for their website presentation, "Revolutions in the Technology World: Invention of the Intel 4004."

Sophie Aranaga from OPJH won first place in the individual documentary category for her video presentation, "The British Invasion: How the Beatles Revolutionized America."

Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: Faith and Deliverance

The story of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, found in the book of Daniel, is a story of unwavering faith, courage, and God’s miraculous intervention in the face of adversity and danger. Their journey through a fiery trial serves as a powerful example of devotion to God, even in the most perilous circumstances.

Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego were young Israelites living in Babylon during the reign of King Nebuchadnezzar. When the king erected a golden image and demanded that all bow down and worship it, these three young men faced a profound moral dilemma. Their faith in the one true God, which they held dear, prevented them from bowing to any idol.

When King Nebuchadnezzar learned of their refusal to worship the golden image, he summoned them and gave them an ultimatum: bow down to the idol or face the punishment of being thrown into a blazing furnace. Unyielding in their faith, they responded with remarkable courage, saying, “If we are thrown into the blazing furnace, the God we serve is able to deliver us from it, and he will deliver us from Your Majesty’s hand. But even if he does not, we want you to know, Your Majesty, that we will not serve your gods or worship the image of gold you have set up” (Daniel 3:17-18).

The moment of truth arrived as Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego were cast into the fiery furnace, which had been heated to an intensity so great that it killed those who threw them into the fire. To everyone’s astonishment, a divine miracle occurred. A fourth figure, described as “a son of the gods,” was seen in the furnace with them, and they emerged from the flames unharmed, not even smelling of smoke. This miraculous deliverance was a clear demonstration of God’s power and protection. King Nebuchadnezzar, awed by what he witnessed, acknowledged the greatness of the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and issued a decree that honored their God.

The story of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego teaches us the importance of standing firm in our faith, even in the face of seemingly insurmountable challenges. It serves as a reminder that God is ever-present, even in the midst of our trials, and that unwavering trust in Him can lead to miraculous intervention and deliverance. Their courageous example continues to inspire those who face adversity, reminding us that faith in God is a shield in the fiercest of fires and a beacon of hope in the darkest of times.

Real issues, fictional 'Regime': Winslet, Grant star in new political drama

"Apples Never Fall" (Peacock — Mar. 14, Limited Series Premiere)

Based on Liane Moriarty's New York Times bestselling novel, this series centers on the seemingly picture-perfect Delaney family. Former tennis coaches Stan (Sam Neill) and Joy (Annette Bening) are ready to start their golden years, while they look forward to spending time with their four adult children (Jake Lacy, Alison Brie, Conor Merrigan-Turner, Essie Randles). But, everything changes when a wounded young woman knocks on Joy and Stan's door, bringing the excitement they've been missing. But when Joy suddenly disappears, her children are forced to re-examine their parents' so-called perfect marriage as their family's darkest secrets begin to surface.

Flip through the pages of your local newspaper or turn the television to your preferred news network and you'll see it: a plethora of stories chronicling the ins and outs of national politics. Often times, the politics are related to your own nation, but in order to understand one's own country's goals, desires and needs, the news must also look abroad. While these news updates and articles center exclusively on real-world issues in a 24-hour news cycle context, one HBO series is going above and beyond to bring real concerns into a scripted environment.

"The Regime," a new limited miniseries from creator Will Tracy ("Last Week Tonight With John Oliver"), takes an in-depth look at the intricacies and concerns that come hand in hand with an authoritarian government. Set in Europe and created as a peek behind the curtain of fascism in the making, "The Regime" premieres Sunday, March 3, on HBO and Max.

Previously operating under the working title "The Palace," "The Regime" stars "Titanic" (1997) and "Mare of Easttown" actress Kate Winslet in the role of Chancellor. Although the term has often been associated with Germany, Winslet's chancellor is the sinister and darkly comedic leader of a fictional European country. As the HBO teaser trailer illustrates, the titular regime is determined to see "a new Europe without limits [and] without cruelty," but what that means for the regime is wildly different from what that means for its country's people.

According to HBO, the miniseries "tells the story of a year within the palace of a modern European authoritarian regime as it unravels," and who better to tell that story than the people behind some of the most successful business and political dramas of recent years: "Succession" and "The Crown."

Brought to life by directors Stephen Frears ("The Queen," 2006) and Jessica Hobbs ("The Crown"), series creator Tracy made sure to bring many talented satirists into the writers' room with him. Helping him realize his vision for a dark and satirical political dramedy are Gary Shteyngart ("Succession"), Juli Weiner ("Last Week Tonight With John Oliver"), Jen Spyra ("Our Cartoon President"), Sarah DeLappe ("Bodies Bodies Bodies," 2022) and Tracy's "The Menu" (2022) co-writer, Seth Reiss.

In front of the camera, big-name stars Hugh Grant ("Love Actually," 2003), Andrea Riseborough ("To Leslie," 2022) and Martha Plimpton ("Generation") join Winslet.

Additionally, Matthias Schoenaerts ("Red Sparrow," 2018) and Guillaume Gallienne ("Marie Antoinette," 2006) star in recurring roles alongside Patrick Fusco ("Quiz"), Vinodini Patel ("Wicked Little Letters," 2023), Alasdair Hankinson ("The Lost King," 2022), Donald Sage Mackay ("The Following Events Are Based on a Pack of Lies") and Louie Mynett ("The Man Who Fell to Earth").

While "The Regime" takes place in a fabricated Middle European nation, several locations in the series may look familiar to Austrian viewers, or those who have previously visited the country's capital city of Vienna. The city, which was used as the series' primary filming location, is filled with Baroque architecture and an old-world European vibe that provides "The Regime" with a perfect setting, complete with grandiose palaces and gardens. Chief among these edifices is Liechtenstein Garden Palace, which is reportedly the location of much of the series photography, per the German-language online newspaper, Kurier.

While travelers may be taken with the backdrop, movie buffs may recognize the sardonic, over-the-top dark humor from Tracy and Reiss's recent popular horror film, "The Menu." A deeply critical commentary of the absurdity and pomp of the modern luxury dining experience, if "The Menu" is any indication of Tracy and Reiss's writing style, "The Regime" is bound to be a scathing reflection of international politics.

Tune into the premiere of "The Regime" Sunday, March 3, on HBO and Max. New episodes air weekly until its anticipated April 7 finale.

It's go 'thyme': 'MasterChef Junior' returns with more Ramsays than ever

If you like your Ramsays sweet, not spicy, then this competition will tickle your taste buds. Season 9 of "MasterChef Junior" premieres Monday, March 4, on Fox.

On air since 2013, this series sees the softer, more encouraging side of chef extraordinaire Gordon Ramsay ("Hell's Kitchen") as he instructs, motivates and mentors young chefs (all between the ages of 8 and 13) to be better at their craft through increasingly difficult challenges. This season, Ramsay plans to tackle the task by sprinkling in a taste of home, inviting his daughter, Tilly Ramsay ("Matilda and the Ramsay Bunch"), 22, to join his judging panel alongside the returning Aarón Sánchez ("Chopped After Hours") and Daphne Oz ("The Chew").

Tilly, the fourth of Ramsay's six children, has picked up her father's flare for fabulous cuisine, having previously appeared in shows such as "Next Level Chef UK," "Celebrity MasterChef Australia," "Step Up to the Plate" and Ramsay's own "Hell's Kitchen," proving that she can take the heat in the kitchen just as well as her pops. Now, before moving on to host her own series — "Dish It Out," which is currently in pre-production — the second-generation Ramsay hopes to inspire young cooks, acting as a relatable bridge between the kid contestants and their adult mentors — not to mention, she's always ready to shoot a few zingers back at the clever and quippy Gordon.

Featuring many of the same challenges as its predecessor (the far more intense "MasterChef"), this season asks its budding chefs to face skills tests, team challenges, pressure tests, elimination rounds and more, narrowing down the competition until only two or three cooks remain. These finalists, then, go on to face each other in an extravagant, three-course cook-off. After all three rounds of judging have been completed, one overall winner is crowned, this season earning themselves $100,000, the "MasterChef Junior" trophy and the impressive title that comes with it.

Gordon Ramsay, Tilly Ramsay, Daphne Oz and Aarón Sánchez are judges for "MasterChef Junior"

Based on a format created by Franc Roddam ("Celebrity MasterChef"), this delectable, family-friendly series is produced by Endemol Shine North America and One Potato Two Potato, in hopes of encouraging aspiring young chefs across the country and offering life-changing opportunities season after season.

Plural partners: All-new season of 'Seeking Sister Wife' sees some familiar faces

For some, one wife will do. For others: the more, the merrier. The highly popular, polygamy-based reality series "Seeking Sister Wife" returns for its fifth season, premiering Monday, March 4, on TLC.

In sharing a brief synopsis of what's to come, TLC promised: "The new season will document the lives of five polygamous families as they navigate the challenges of actively searching for and courting potential new sister wives. ... With two returning families and three new couples, these families are determined to open their hearts and homes to new wives, even if a few growing pains are felt along the way."

While there has been no official announcement from TLC regarding which families will be returning, some eagle-eyed fans may have noticed some glaring clues being shared across social media, all regarding one (potentially) returning couple — Dannielle and Garrick Merrifield, introduced in "Seeking Sister Wife's" first season.

Dannielle Merrifield, now 36, recently shared an Instagram story on her personal account (@wifey_merrifield) that showed filming equipment overtaking the Merrifield's living room, posting the caption "We are coming back for Season 5!" alongside one photo and "Excited to finally share with you all" in another.

Later on, Dannielle also shared some selfies that featured her husband, Garrick, 40, tagging TLC's Instagram handle and sharing the show's hashtag (#seekingsisterwife) — in the last photo she shared, Dannielle appears in a black-and-white selfie, standing in her kitchen with one hand on her midsection, only captioning the date and time of the Season 5 premiere.

Last we saw the Merrifields, the duo were looking to add to their plural marriage, as Garrick courted two women —

April, Vera and Nick Davis from "Seeking Sister Wife"

Roberta and Lea — and soon ended his relationship with both, sending Roberta back to her home in Brazil. The couple, who currently share two sons, are still looking to add another wife to their family, and seem to be excited to return to the series, both hopeful for a little more luck than they shared in their last appearance.

TLC has yet to name the second returning family, but fans can tune in to see whether the Merrifields will be joined by the Snowdens, the Alldredges, the Brineys, the Winders, the Joneses, the Clarks, the Davises, the Foleys or the Epps in Season 5 of "Seeking Sister Wife," premiering Monday, March 4, on TLC.

“Manhunt” (Apple TV+ — Mar. 15, Miniseries Premiere)

Based on The New York Times bestselling and Edgar Award-winning nonfiction book from author James L. Swanson, this series is a conspiracy thriller about one of the best known but least understood crimes in history, the astonishing story of the hunt for John Wilkes Booth (Anthony Boyle) in the aftermath of Abraham Lincoln’s (Hamish Linklater) assassination. Tobias Menzies, Lovie Simone and Will Harrison star.

“Irish Wish” (Netflix — Mar. 15, Movie Premiere)

When the love of her life gets engaged to her best friend, Maddie (Lindsay Lohan) puts her feelings aside to be a bridesmaid at their wedding in Ireland. Days before the pair are set to marry, Maddie makes a spontaneous wish for true love, only to wake up as the bride-to-be. Welcome Pastor Larry Grunden Pastor Larry is a graduate of Wright State University and a 2015 graduate of Trinity Lutheran Seminary in Columbus, Ohio. A second career pastor, Larry was reared in the suburbs of Cincinnati and has lived in the greater Dayton area since 1996. His previous life experience was in home remodeling and his undergraduate degree was in vocal music.

Pastor Larry is passionate about youth ministry, music ministry, and missional ministry. He and his wife Angela live with their cats Ellie Mae and Katy. Together they enjoy traveling, cooking and eating gourmet meals, festivals, gardening and hosting dinners for friends and family. Pastor Larry also enjoys woodworking, fishing, bicycling, playing guitar and many other activities.

Pastor Larry believes that "discipleship" is a verb. To believe in Christ is to be in motion in our churches, in our communities, and in our world. In addition to the Sacraments, one of the most powerful activities in which we can participate is prayer. It is here that we connect with God and become closer to our Creator. It is also through our hands that we experience Jesus Christ as we use them to help others in need. He believes that together we can make a difference in the world! Please join us! All are welcome! A 'Magnificent' remake that wasn't really needed

The 2016 remake of "The Magnificent Seven" is quite enjoyable. And quite unnecessary.

The original 1960 Western — inspired by Akira Kurosawa's Japanese classic "Seven Samurai" — still holds up beautifully, but after three sequels and a TV series that was a modest success for CBS over a couple of seasons, it's not hard to understand why a studio would return to one of its most famous properties. BBC America shows the most recent version Sunday, March 3.

The story basically stays the same: A town is besieged by a villain (portrayed in this case by Peter Sarsgaard, "Garden State," 2004) and his followers, and the citizens realize they'll have to hire defenders. Haley Bennett ("The Girl on the Train," 2016) plays the woman who spearheads the deal.

First up for the job is a bounty hunter played by Denzel Washington, reunited here with director Antoine Fuqua, who led him to an Oscar in 2001's "Training Day" (and also worked with him on the "Equalizer" movies). Another collaborator from that film, Ethan Hawke, plays one of the other six — with the rest made up of the likes of Chris Pratt ("Guardians of the Galaxy," 2014) and Vincent D'Onofrio ("Godfather of Harlem"), each character possessing certain skills that are effective in battle.

And about that battle: You just know a big showdown is coming, and while it's violent enough, it stayed within the constraints of the picture's PG-13 rating. Those rules were even tighter for movies in 1960, and if director John Sturges could pull it off then, Fuqua certainly can here.

An updated "Magnificent Seven" is all well and good, but the original remains a wonderful example of filmmaking and storytelling that's just as rich today. One of the tests of remaking a classic is whether the update supports or diminishes the legacy of the original. This "Magnificent Seven" is perfectly serviceable, so it gets credit for not taking anything away from the allure of the title.

Also, Washington makes a solid successor to the first version's Yul Brynner ("The King and I," 1956) as the leader of the seven. Both iterations of the character hold back on using words when actions will do, so there's a nice lineage there. (A sad note: This was the final film of composer James Horner, who died in an airplane accident before the picture was released.)

Rachel McAdams went 'Live' for the first time

Rachel McAdams guest stars in "Saturday Night Live"

Q: I saw a reference made about Rachel McAdams' recent appearance on "Saturday Night Live" being her first time on the show. Is that true? – Jonathan Ford, via e-mail

A: It is, which might seem surprising, unless one considers that McAdams seems to eschew the limelight quite a bit — somewhat unusual for a celebrity, admittedly. She had turned down an opportunity to reunite with several other "Mean Girls" (2004) alums in a commercial recently, reasoning that it didn't quite feel like the right thing for her. (She later said that she hadn't known that so many other former co-stars of hers would be participating.) Though she did television at the start of her career, McAdams has kept her main focus on movie work, the second season of HBO's "True Detective" and several episodes of FX's "Dave" being notable extensions later on. That made her previously unannounced stint on "Saturday Night Live," which amounted to her introduction of musical guest Renee Rapp (who assumed McAdams' Regina George role from the original "Mean Girls" movie in the recent stage and film versions) and participation in a skit as a Rachel McAdams look-alike, even more of a surprise.

Q: It's good to see "Ride" getting another opportunity for an audience with its current run on The CW. Will there be a second season of the show? – Tara Williams, Buffalo, N.Y.

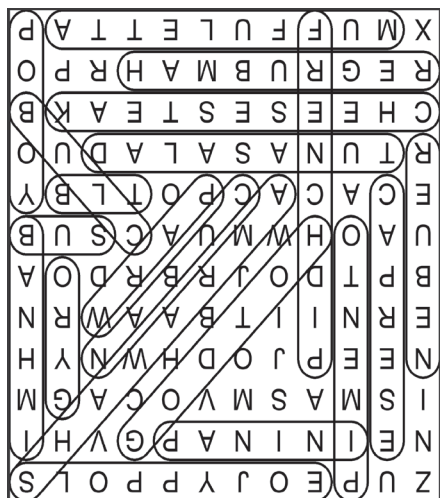

A: Apparently not, which makes its CW pickup interesting since that network had to know it would be an automatically finite run — unless The CW should make its own move to revive it, but it's known that the intention there now is to keep production costs low, thus the many acquisitions of shows already produced elsewhere. CTV Drama ran the Nancy Travis-starring "Ride" in Canada, where the program originated, but there evidently aren't any plans beyond repeating the 10 existing episodes.

Q: I enjoyed seeing Vivica A. Fox in "The Wrong Life Coach" on LMN recently. I know she has made a lot of movies with "Wrong" in the title. When will the next one be coming? – Jean Murray, via e-mail

A: It's hard to predict when that will be, since the titles are usually announced only a few weeks before they premiere. However, you can bet that Fox will keep the "Wrong" franchise going, as an executive producer as well as a star. Those pictures traditionally get good ratings, also indicated by the marathons that LMN and sister network Lifetime often do by showing several of the titles on the same day.

No matter who else is in the cast of any given one, Fox is always a selling point of them — giving herself a role in each as a corporate boss, an athletic coach or whatever. No matter what career she's portraying, the character typically gets to put a coda on the story with some variation of the same line: "You messed with the wrong (check the given title)!" Viewers have come to expect that, and Fox enjoys doing it, as she has told us.

Georgia man back in Clay facing multitude of shoplifting charges at Home Depot, Target NASSAU COUNTY – Following a two-year investigation, a man suspected of participating in a three-state robbery spree, including stores in Clay County, was arrested on Feb. 22 after being returned from custody in the Camden County, Georgia, Jail.

Brian Lee Wallace, 31, of Kingsland, Georgia, was charged with racketeering, eight counts of grand theft and a single count of petit theft after the Florida Department of Law Enforcement completed a two-year investigation that determined four people stole a total of $86,083 of merchandise from 73 Home Depot and Target stores in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina.

David Alexander was a Clay County Sheriff's Office deputy until he joined FDLE in 2022. He investigated the robberies for CCSO before he left for the FDLE.

Deputies in Georgia met with Clay County Sheriff's Office deputies in Nassau County to return the prisoner to Clay County.

According to a 10-page affidavit for an arrest warrant, the two primary figures in the robberies were Robert Bryant and Kimberly Thompson of Brunswick, Georgia. Bryant was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance, providing a false name or ID to law enforcement, shoplifting, arson and obstructing law enforcement on Aug. 17, 2022.

According to the affidavit, while Bryant was in the Glynn County Jail, he phoned Thompson and instructed her to find new accomplices and continue to rob stores. Those conversations were recorded.

The affidavit states Wallace was one of three recruited to participate in the robbery spree.

Wallace was arrested in Kingsland on May 20 after being charged with child cruelty, aggravated assault, making terrorist threats, felony probation violation and family violence battery after Wallace beat and threatened his brother, according to the arrest report.

Alexander's affidavit said the group usually returned a small item and received a gift card since they didn't have a receipt. They then filled shopping carts with merchandise and acted like they were ringing them up at one of the self-checkout lanes. Alexander said they really rang up less than $10 worth of goods and used the gift card for payment. Everything else was considered stolen.

Alexander wrote that the thieves sold the stolen items to prearranged buyers who provided a list of what they wanted or sold the merchandise on Facebook. A search of Facebook Messenger data revealed the items generally sold for less than half of their retail value.

The primary source of financing was the Cash App. Stores in Clay, Columbia, Duval, Volusia, Alachua, Flagler, Nassau and St. Johns counties were targeted in Florida.

Bryant told investigators he researched Home Depot policies and learned store employees aren't allowed to intervene once the merchandise passes through the doors.

Wallace's bond was set at $85,026.

Oakleaf woman charged after woman brutally attacked

OAKLEAF – A 38-year-old woman was arrested after another woman was savagely beaten at The Villages at Oakleaf apartment complex.

A Clay County Sheriff's Office deputy responded to a battery in progress on Feb. 22 shortly before 6 p.m. He found a pool of blood, a bloody handprint on carpeting and a woman with blood covering her face in the parking lot. The victim was taken to Baptist Oakleaf Emergency Room, but she was transferred to UF Health Jacksonville because the ER center wasn't equipped to handle the level of trauma sustained by the victim.

Following an investigation, deputies arrested Luendy Valerie Creese, of Oakleaf, seven hours later and charged her with aggravated battery. According to the arrest report, her only injury was a swollen right hand.

The victim suffered swelling to her right hand, a cut on her forehead and scraps on her right forearm consistent with being rubbed against concrete. The victim wasn't physically able to complete a written statement.

Creese, whose bond was set at $75,003, will be in court on March 25.

Palatka man arrested for driving with permanently revoked license

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – A man driving with a license tag not assigned to his SUV went to jail for driving with a permanently revoked license.

Jeffrey Dean Rife, 61, of Palatka, was charged with driving with a revoked license, driving with a permanently revoked license and driving with a replaced tag when a deputy on "proactive patrol" in the downtown area checked a tag on a car that was driving on Orange Avenue. He stopped Rife after he was alerted the tag was supposed to be on another car. The original tag expired last March.

A search through the Driver and Vehicle Information Database revealed Rife and been arrested seven times for driving with a suspended license. Rife's license was permanently revoked on Oct. 5, 2004, after he was convicted of his third driving under the influence charge.

Rife's bond was set at $25,003.

Green Cove Springs man charged with having child porn on phone

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Acting on a tip, investigators with the Clay County Sheriff's Office and Homeland Security Investigations charged a 19-year-old man with five child pornography files on his cellphone.

Adisson Tyler Reedy was taken to the Clay County Jail on Feb. 21 after being arrested for five counts of possessing, controlling or viewing obscene material depicting child pornography and using his cellphone to facilitate a felony.

According to a heavily redacted affidavit for an arrest warrant, Reedy is suspected of using the Snapchat app to obtain the files between Sept. 22 and Nov. 29. At least three of the files contained "apparent prepubescent children." Investigators traced the IP address back to Reedy.

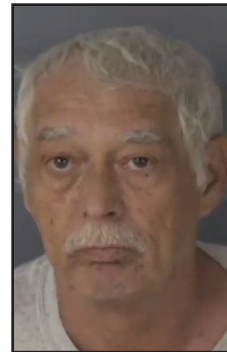

After getting search warrants for the phone, Snapchat account and his mobile service provider, the CCSO digital forensics lab determined there was obscene material on the phone.

Reedy's next court appearance will be on March 26. Until then, he will be held with a $550,018 bond.

Sanderson man charged with brawling with CCSO deputies

MIDDLEBURG – A man already in custody following an altercation on Feb. 23, went into a rage and racked up five additional charges for fighting five Clay County Sheriff's Office deputies and resisting arrest.

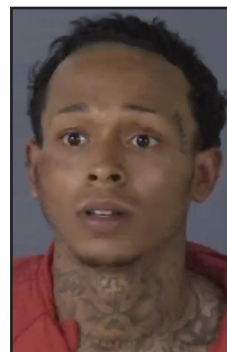

Christian Blake Lee, 25, of Sanderson, in addition to the struggle with deputies, Lee was also charged with two counts of vandalism and domestic battery.

According to the arrest report, a family called CCSO about an assault. When they got there, Lee was gone. He was arrested after he was tracked down about a half-mile away.

After being placed in the backseat of the patrol car, Lee slipped his handcuffed hands under his feet and to his front while kicking the back door of the car.

When deputies removed him from the car to re-handcuff him, he brawled with them by "flailing his arms," head-butting, kicking, scratching and spitting on deputies.

He was tackled and finally subdued. Lee was fitted with leg shackles and his hands were handcuffed to a chain around his waist with he was taken from the patrol car to the Clay County Jail.

Judge James E. Kallaher set Lee's bond at $270,022.

Elementary school bookkeeper pleads not guilty to shooting at CCSO deputies

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – A Doctors Inlet Elementary bookkeeper accused of shooting toward five Clay County Sheriff's Office deputies after she was fired for using school district credit cards to make 12 different transactions pleaded not guilty to attempted second-degree murder of law enforcement officers and three counts of credit card fraud last Monday at her arraignment.

According to the arrest report, Tammy Jo Saucier, 51, of Middleburg, was charged with firing a single shot from a handgun in the direction of five deputies who cornered her in a Middleburg cemetery after deputies were called after school principal Carolyn Ayers completed an audit on several "suspicious purchase with multiple different accounts."

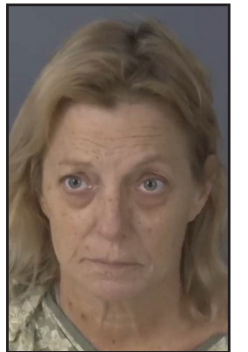

The school's Clay County District Police officer said Saucier made suicidal threats in a text message on Jan. 23. CCSO deputies spotted her driving along Branan Field Road and turning onto Old Jennings Road before pulling into Hardage-Giddens Holly Hill Memorial Park.

During the standoff, CCSO said Saucier shot at deputies. They responded by shooting her with a bean bag.

Once in jail, she was charged with three counts of fraudulent use of a credit card after using one card at Walmart two times for a total of $564.19; and, Home Depot twice for $451.95; and eight times at Publix for $746.84.

One deputy said some of the items may have been purchased for school use.

She is being held without bond. A pre-trial conference was scheduled for March 11.

GREEN COVE SPRINGS - Fleming Island High's wrestling team kept their foot on the gas pedal for the two-day Region 1-2A wrestling championships held Friday and Saturday at rival Clay High School and, with workmanlike precision, fended off an early front running spot by the hosts to win the ninth straight region title for Fleming Island coach P.J. Cobbert.

"Nine in a row; Class 3A and Class 2A," said Cobbert, after Fleming Island wrestled away the team title from Clay; 169.0 to 122.0, to take the region title; just a week after a similarly tight district title for Cobbert a week ago over Clay, as area wrestlers now must pack their collective busses to head to the FHSAA state championships in Orlando, Feb.29-March 1. "We just grind and keep wrestling our style no matter who is in front of us."

In an unprecedented boon for Clay County wrestling prowess in north Florida, Fleming Island's win highlighted a 1-2-3-4 finish for area programs with Clay second, Middleburg third and Oakleaf fourth; all above 100 team points and ahead of Panhandle powerhouses Tallahassee Lincoln and Gulf Breeze and Daytona Beach-area power New Smyrna Beach.

Also, locally, Ridgeview finished 16th and Orange Park finished 22nd.

Fleming Island's stalwart veterans, led by seniors Kaden Schaefer, unbeaten at 150 (41-0) and Christopher Chop at 175 (44-6) smashed through their rounds with Schaefer hoisting a 57-second pin, a 17-2 tech fall, a 9-1 major decision and a finals' 5-0 win over JJ Martinez of Ft Walton Beach (50-6) and Chop muscling his way to three first period pins to the final and a 5-0 win over a very agile footballer,

NEW ARRIVALS
BENNINGTON

Girls off to state

Four Middleburg High girls wrestlers and one Oakleaf wrestler will head to the FHSAA Girls State Wrestling Championships on Friday. For Middleburg, Skyla Fisher (region champion 105m ranked 13th), Memphis Moses (4th at region 115 ranked 15th), Sarah Walsh (4th at region 120 ranked 14th) and defending state champion Cheyenne Cruce (region champion 190, ranked number one) will travel while, for Oakleaf, Kailani Barrientos (region champion 135, ranked second).

Meet

Edward Craig of Beachside (30-3).

"I've wrestled just about everyone in my weight class and look forward to facing off in the state final with Tampa Jesuit's Draven McCall (23-2)," said Schaefer, who signed to wrestle at NCAA Div. I Bucknell University next fall. "I just stayed focused and wrestled one guy at a time."

Also on Schaefer's radar will be Brandon's unbeaten Thomas Gernhart (52-0). For Schaefer, both Gernhart and McCall are on the same side of the 150-pound bracket set for the state meet. Schaefer was third last year after losing to Lake Gibson champion Hayden Whidden in the 145 semifinal then beating Middleburg senior Logan Moore in the consolation semifinal to advance. Moore finished fifth.

"We wrestle the way we wrestle, who cares who is on the mat," said Cobbert. "That's just a singlet."

For Chop, a disappointing fifth last year with a second-round loss bouncing him into consolations, who has been mechanically tactical in his approach on the mat while seemingly easing through matches with confidence and power, had some difficulty nailing down the very fast and agile Craig from Beachside and resorted to simple grind wrestling to take the region title.

"Having the meet here made it very weird because it was in the Clay gym, but we just win wherever we go," said Chop, ranked third at 175 behind Elijah Penton of Winter Springs (44-5, defending state champion at 170 last year) and Ryan Beirne of Satellite (39-4, 1-2 at state last year) in one of the toughest weight divisions in all Classes of Florida with just one wrestler; Manatee's Mason Miller, with just one loss on the season (40-1, finished sixth with loss to Fleming Island's Ronan Bozeman). "We give a lot of thought to my style; just to keep grinding my guy to break him. Anyone in front of me, I'm going to beat."

In two of the best pseudo-upset matches of the day; at 285, with Fleming Island first-year wrestler Kevin Reyes facing off against Goliath-sized opponents in his semifinal and final; the top seed Ryder Luck of Lincoln, who beat Reyes in the regular season, and was top seed before the region championship, and Logan McAllister of Mosley, who was number four before Clay with Reyes fifth.

"Maybe that will change now," said Reyes, after the burly power wrestler and state Olympic Snatch weightlifting champion, outmaneuvered the two much-taller and weightier opponents for wins of 3-1 over Luck with a third-period takedown in a flurry as Luck came heavy at Reyes, and a 10-4 finals win over McAllister, who was five inches taller and much heavier than Reyes.

"Our strategy was to not let him get me on the ground," said Reyes. "I trusted my speed against his size and, in the end, I prevailed. I guess I won't surprise anyone at state now."

For Reyes, now 46-9, the prize was a number one ranking going into the state championship with Luck second and McAllister sixth. In the championship bracket, Reyes will only face one of the two in the final with both on the opposite side of the bracket to Reyes. Reyes does have the fourth and fifth-ranked wrestlers on his side of the bracket; Jaxon Newton of Charlotte and Carmine Morton of Tampa Gaither; both with 41 wins, Newton with nine losses, Morton with three. "Coach P.J. has taught me more and more each week about how to move around these big guys and I listen to him," said Reyes.

For Cobbert, Reyes' IQ is his strength. "First-year wrestler and he buys in, simple as that," said Cobbert.

Also winning titles for Cobbert were Jordan Mukaddam at 120 who beat Middleburg's Grady Woodard 7-0 for his title and Laird Duhaylungsod at 138, 47-4, who beat Jonathan Bruner of New Smyrna Beach 5-2. Duhaylungsod advanced with three pins; two under a minute and his semi in the third.

Mukaddam, 45-3, who showed a little power early in the season with a Knockout Christmas title blasted through his bracket with three pins before facing Woodard.

Fleming Island's region champions will be joined by Matthew Newman, third at 113 over Nathan Harvey of Middleburg, and Dylan Beck, third at 157 with a 6-2 win over Ft. Walton Beach's Matthew Sinclair. Beck workhorse his way to the state meet after losing his first match to Ridgeview's Preston Lewis winning five straight matches to earn his ticket.

Blue Devils get close, but still finish second

By Randy Lefko
randy@claytodayonline.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS - Clay High's 113-pound wrestler Jacob Bucci has taken the tough road to recovery from knee injuries and had been dropped to No. 7 in rankings, but nevertheless, stayed undeterred, as the state placer last year got a second ticket to the FHSAA state championships with a region title Saturday in his home gym at Clay High School.

"After I won my district title last week, I was out running and working because I know I lost a lot of time with my knee injury," said Bucci, a freshman third-place finisher at 106 last year. "It's not been easy, but I feel like I have something to prove."

Bucci, who was first man up in the Blue Devils' chase of perennial region champion; nine times, Fleming Island, set the tone for some scrappy wrestling despite the odds on Clay beating Fleming Island after a duals loss and a district final IBT loss last week.

With sophomore Landon Willard, with just 2-3 season record, having to face off with top-seed Middleburg's Gavin Fisher in his second match and getting pinned quickly, it was up to Bucci to reverse the momentum for the Blue Devils.

Bucci, whose arch rival county-wide, Fleming Island's Matthew Newman, was eliminated from the championship bracket by Gulf Breeze freshman Gavin Samons (46-8) with a 5-2 match, that left Bucci to answer in the final with a new face.

Samons beat two Clay County athletes; Ridgeview's Timothy Danz and Newman along the path to Bucci with Newman eventually beating Middleburg's Nathan Harvey for third.

Landon Martin celebrates after overtime win over Ghais Cooper of Oakleaf in 157 semifinal. Martin lost in finals but advanced to Class 2A championships.

"I've been training with Rylan Herrera and Drew Holmquist; bigger guys, to get ready," said Bucci. "Because I got a late start, I haven't seen the two, three and four guys, but I'm confident that, if they are human, they are cutting weight and training just like me. Why not me? It's unfinished business."

After the region title, Bucci jetted to the top spot with Erick Vargas of Lakeland (7th at 113 last year), Malachi Ortiz of Tampa Jesuit (formerly Belleview) and Landon Quiroga of Merrit Island, the 106 runnerup last year, behind him. Newman, who lost to Quiroga in the 106 semis last year, is number nine with Middleburg's Nathan Harvey Clay High's Rylan Herrera is dynamic, judo-style wrestler, here hip throwing in region semifinal.

Clay High's 215 Aaron Stacey wrestled tough to get into Class 2A championship bracket opposite Middleburg rival Tucker Cody.

At 126, Clay's Rylan Herrera, just 5-1, but one of the more explosive wrestlers on the Blue Devil roster, completed a two pin prelims and a 12-0 semifinal to face off with Oakleaf's sophomore sensation Sebastian Bonachea in a clash of high-flyers on the mat.

Herrera, the number two ranked 126 prior to Clay, dominated top seed Coby Shields, a seasoned ninth-ranked senior out of Gulf Breeze (50-6) with a 12-0 shut-out in their semifinal with Shields unable to keep Herrera in his grasp for much of the match.

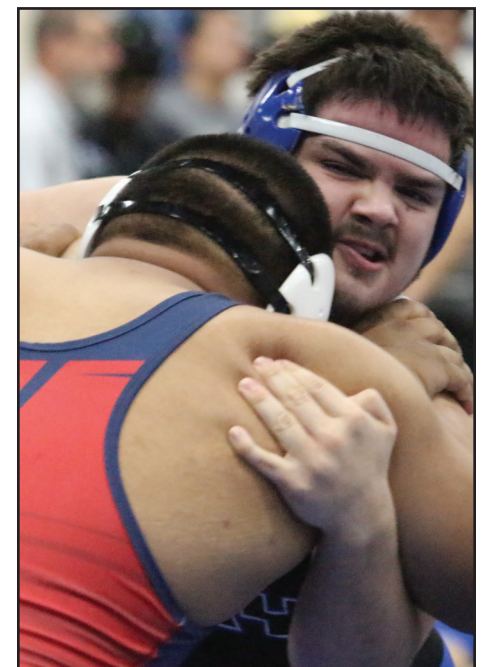

In a thrilling semifinal match at 157, Clay's Landon Martin looked to avenge a district duals loss to Oakleaf's Ghais Cooper and the two made the match very personal right down to the final points in the third overtime period.

"He wasn't going to quit and I sure wasn't, but I think when I scored on that first escape overtime, I broke him," said Martin, who simply stayed on top of Cooper the final 30 seconds seemingly unopposed for the region title. "We had that long break with the question about where his leg was on a possible reversal of two points, but the refs kept the score tied to force the overtime. I just had to refocus and regroup."

Martin will go to state following big brother Dominic Martin as the 11th seed in a weight division full of dangerous pits; top seed and defending 152 champion Gianni Maldonado of state champion Lake Gibson who has an incredible 61-5 record and second seed Kawayran Vazquez of Tampa Jesuit at 27-2.

In the state bracket at 157, Martin avoids Maldonado and even Terry Parker's Jeffrey Brown, who beat Martin for the region title 10-6, until a possible finals match, but does have Vazquez, just a freshman and even Fleming Island's Dylan Beck who stormed back to get a ticket to Orlando with five wins after losing his opener at regions.

Clay's final state ticket went to junior Aaron Stacey, just 5-1, who pinned another Gulf Breezer at the top of the bracket; senior London Taylor (40-16), only to have to face Middleburg's Tucker Cody (56-1, lone loss to Matanzas Jordan Mills top seed 190 48-0) in the final at 215 with Stacey lasting until a third period pin by Cody.

Clay 285 Jaden Bell faced off against region runnerup Logan McAllister of Mosley and lost in consolations to end his season at 4-3.

Should Stacey survive a treacherous bracket to the final where his 5-1 season record faces off against three guys with season slates totaling 106-38, he could find Cody in the final.

Clay senior Jaden Bell faced off against two of the biggest 285ers in the gym; Mosley's Logan McAllister (52-9) and Riverside's Demontra Burnett to finish out of the top four.

Lost as a state qualifier last year was Drew Holmquist at 132 who lost in the semifinals and then lost the consolation semis to end his season.

Vonte Burke, at 120, got to the semifinals before losing by pin to Middleburg's Grady Woodard then losing a tough 9-8 consolation semifinal to Ponte Vedra's Jaiden Zajni to end his season.

Will Kelly, at 190, lost his first match to Ridgeview's Rayhn Hutchinson, who finished 2-2, then battled back with two wins in consolation before a pin in the consolation semifinals.

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS REGIONS 1-1A

Keystone Heights eighth-grader Atreyu Contes finished just a match away from his ticket to the Class 1A FHSAA state championships at 106 to fall one match short for a second year at the Region 1-1A championships in Wewahatchicka. With Contes, for the Indians were Mikey McCall at 113, who finished 1-2; Jared Goetzman at 120, who finished 1-2; Phoenix Contes at 132, who finished 1-2 and Marcellus Beam at 150, who was 0-2.

Spartans send two to state

St. Johns Country Day School with a brand new wrestling program under former Clay coach Hunter Hill, will send two wrestlers to the FHSAA Class 1A championships with Kevin McLean (33-4) getting second at 106 and Howard Hill (41-11) getting third at 113. MIDDLEBURG REGIONS

Middleburg, Oakleaf feature sibling staters

By Randy Lefko

GREEN COVE SPRINGS - With Middleburg and Oakleaf high wrestling breaking into elite status with five wrestlers apiece heading the FHSAA state championships, a family connection on both teams will make the trip down even more intriguing.

For Middleburg, sister-brother region champions Skyla Fisher and Gavin Fisher both stormed through their post-seasons explosively to get tickets to the "Big Show" with mom Sara Fisher buying some roller skates to stay on the sidelines of her two athletes as much as possible.

"I'm going to be going crazy down there trying to keep up with the schedule, but it will be worth it," said Sara Fisher. "You don't often get to have both your kids competing for state championships on the same weekend. We had separate Saturdays for districts and regions."

Fisher, who easily dominated his way to the region title; two pins, 12-2 major decision, 1:40 pin and state ticket, cited the family competitiveness as part of the family's DNA.

"I'm just thinking about four more matches and wrestling smart," said Fisher. "It's more of a rivalry between Skyla and me. We support each other."

Fisher will travel with two more region champions; 144 Wyatt Leduc and 215 Tucker Cody as well as teammates Nathan Harvey at 113 (fourth) and Grady Woodard at 120 (second).

For Oakleaf, region champion sister Kailani Barrientos will have brother Keon along for the ride to Orlando with Keon overcoming two injuries over the season to come back and win third place in his region match at 144.

"I didn't get to go last year because of a weight issue," said Barrientos. "Going with Keon is special. I did lose one, but I know I can beat the girl who beat me."

Kailani Barrientos noted she trains with 106er Connor Barnes, also a state qualifier, in the Oakleaf room.

For Keon Barrientos, the season has had its ups and downs health-wise and emotionally.

"It's an unbelievably good feeling right now," said Barrientos after finishing third even with a poke in the eye. "I tore my meniscus and this year, I sprained it bad. Halfway through the season, I sprained my knee and didn't know if I was going to make it here."

Having sister Kailani along for the ride as a region champion, Keon Barrientos has sought the wisdom and critiques of coach Mark Detoro, a third-place finisher for Clay High in his wrestling days with P.J. Cobbert as a teammate.

"He knows what it takes to get there and what to do when we get there," said Barrientos. "The whole program has a better mindset."

Joining Barrientos will be sophomore sensation Sebastian Bonachea who scorched his way to a title at 126 with a fast-moving 10-4 win over Clay's Rylan Herrera while Barrientos was third at 144, Jeremiah Baker was third at 165 and Connor Barnes at 106 and Micah Thomas at 132 both finished fourth.

Nobody was surprised with Middleburg's 215 Tucker Cody walk through his region lineup as the senior has just one loss in the season to 190 region champion Jordan Mills of Matanzas, who remains unbeaten.

ORANGE PARK - Nearly 500 energetically costumed runners; Spiderman, Superman, Wonder Woman, Ghostbusters and a lot of firefighters and police, descended up Grace Episcopal Day School for the annual Superhero 5K/8K running race double-header on Saturday on one of the best running days in nearly a month.

With windy rains and cold weather on Friday night, runners were greeted with a superbly sunny, cool morning for the 3.1 miles and 4.97 miles races with 51-year-old Bob Massaglia taking an early lead ahead of John Webb, 53, in a battle of super masters that finished in the same order with Massaglia clocking in at 28 minutes, 28 seconds and Webb about a minute behind. Massaglia won the DONNA Marathon 5k last weekend in Ponte Vedra and the prestigious Kilwins Jacksonville Ice Cream last March.

In third, was 41-year-old Nicholas Scheib who finished in 31:20.

For the women, in 10th place overall, Chelsie Hurren, a visitor from Gorleston, England and former Delta State University soccer ace, battled to a 21-second win over Liv Ade, 26, of Jacksonville, with times of 36:28 and 36:49, respectively, in the best race of the day.

In the 5K, 99.9 Gator Country radio host Eden Kendall, a top 50-plus runner in Jacksonville, finished fifth overall in dominating her race with a 24:56 split with second place going to 22-year-old Jodie Stevenson in 26:45.

Josh Lewis, 17, won the 5K at 21:30 ahead of Joseph McLaren, 15, at 21:49.

Teenager from Texas unleashes bullish knockout

By Randy Lefko
randy@claytodayonline.com

JACKSONVILLE - A 91.0 point ride; the top eight-second ride of a two-hour night of high-flying bull riding action Saturday night; the Unleash the Beast Professional Bullriders (PBR) in the Jacksonville Memorial Arena as the race to the 2024 World Championship, created the same spectator response as a 15th round knockout of a heavyweight boxing championship as worldwide rodeo riders and fans got to see the best in the world at last eight seconds on rock and roll machines of flesh weighing as much as a ton.

After an hour or so of preliminary qualifying between 37 rodeo cowboys from as far away as Spain and as close as Geneva, Florida, it was an 18-year-old Texan; John Crimber, who stole the show with the 91.0 point ride on the final ride of the night. Crimber's ride came after 39-year-old veteran Joao Ricardo Vieira, of Spain, clocked off a 90.0 ride to jet to a top-three slot. Vieira knocked out Crimber in January in the Tulsa PBR event.

"We don't go against the riders here, it's all against the bull," said Crimber, a home-schooler in Decatur, TX. "For me to be competing against a guy like him (Vieira) means a lot to me. And to get my first win means a lot."

Crimber jokingly said he was to return home to continue his high school after the Jacksonville event.

"I'll go back and take care of that," said Crimber. "I don't do any sports in high school, I'm just a bull rider cowboy."

Crimber's exciting finish moved him to No. 2 in the World Championship Rankings behind No. 1 Cassio Dias, a Rookie World Champion from Brazil. Diaz unloaded a 94.75 score last week to win the Michelob Ultra PBR Los Angeles event with Crimber second.

Ironically, Crimber's 91.0 scores in Jacksonville, on a bull called Doze You Down rated at just 78 percent buck off meaning the bull itself has been ridden to eight seconds numerous times, came after a scintillating ride a few slots back by a 39-year-old veteran who scored the first 90.0 of the night.

Joao Ricardo Vieira of Spain, who was among the most seasoned riders on the docket in Jacksonville and a recent winner in a tie at the Tulsa PBR event in January, knocked out a 90.0 point ride on his final ride to put the pressure on the rest of the field; with a dozen rides to follow him hoping to jump to the top of the field.

Crimber, a runnerup finisher in his recent PBR events, had to have at least an 86.5 score to get past leader Dalton Kasel who hit an 89.5 to jet to a 261.00 point lead. Vieira's 90.0 point ride, jettied him to second with 179.0 points which was vulnerable with Crimber still in the chutes with rides of 87.0 and 87.75 keeping him in the chase.

Kasel moved into the top spot with an 89.5 ride to put pressure on Crimber against his total of 261.0. Crimber's ride put is total at 265.75 for the win and a $38,000 winners check plus a $4000 bonus check. Crimber earned $4,000 bonus money for the best ride of the night.

Kasel finished second with Vieira third with a distinct 179.00 points.

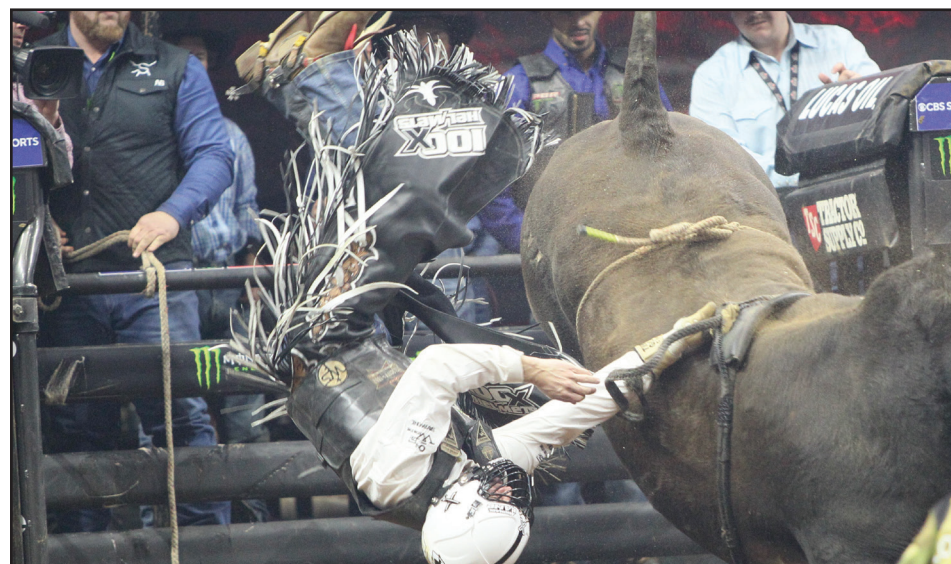

One guy who got a lot of "ride" time was Daylon Swearingen, of Georgia, who got to ride six bulls for the weekend due to Red Flags, or sub-par bull performances.

Swearingen, the 2022 World Champion, finished fourth with 173.25 points.

Texas 18 year old cowboy John Crimber rode out his eight seconds to finish with a flurry and a 91.0 point score to take the top prize at the Unleash the Beast PBR championship event on Saturday in Jacksonville. The win was Crimber's first of the season with two runnerup finishes in the last month.

MIDDLEBURG - KK Hagen blasted a grand slam homer on her second at bat of 2024, then crushed another in the sixth inning of a 0-0 deadlocked game as the Middleburg High Lady Broncos softball team has exploded from the gates in week one of area softball action.

Hagen's big bats came at the expense of Paxon in game one which ended as a 10-0 win for Middleburg with Kerra Clarida bombing one in the sixth to finish off the game.

In game three, against a top-rated Baker County squad, Kagan's sixth inning blast fueled a tough 2-0 win for coach Ashley Houston. Ironically, and maybe a trend is developing, Clarida blasted a solo shot just after Hagen.

"KK and Kerra are arguably the best duo in north Florida," said Middleburg coach Ashley Houston. "They both complement one another so well. Their maturity in making in-game adjustments and sticking to their plan paid off when we needed someone to step up and get it done. And, they did."

Sandwiched between the two games, Middleburg held off a late charge from West Nassau to walk away with a 4-3 win. In that game, Clarida went solo over the fence while Hagen had two hits; one a double, in three at-bats. Clarida's blast scored Hagen.

Down the road at Oakleaf, coach Heather Han has put up football scores in her openers with the Lady Knights ripping Ponte Vedra 13-2 and then Keystone Heights 13-5 as the Knights bats are ringing behind Mighty Mite Meshayla Pettaway who had two doubles and a single against

Panthers' Goforth stamps his ticket; Laycock one away

By Randy Lefko

GREEN COVE SPRINGS - Ridgeview High's Raymond Goforth lasted to the third round with Middleburg's Tucker Cody, the region champion at 215, then won a 9-2 consolation semifinal to beat the "Blood Round" to get his ticket to the FHSAA state championships in Orlando on Friday and Saturday.

Goforth, 38-9, got to the third round of his third-place match before falling to New Smyrna Beach's Kyle Nillson to finish fourth, but the ticket was punched.

Ridgeview had a handful of "just misses" with Roman Ortez (35-12) forfeiting out of the 125 consolation semifinal; Preston Lewis (34-18) getting to the consolation quarters at 157, James Laycock (43-16) losing his consolation semifinal at 175, 285 Braylon Hawkins (22-17) losing his consolation quarter.

Hutchinson (36-12) went 1-2 at 190 with Danz (14-27) going 0-2 at 113.

Orange Park had just five athletes; Joseph Sneed at 106 finished 2-2; Elijah Grant at 120 went 1-2, Jonathan Garland at 126 went 2-2, Joseph Ellis at 138 went 2-2 and Justin Garay at 144 went 1-2.

Ridgeview's James Laycock, at 175, lost in the blood round that determined a top four finish with a strong 8-4 decision to James Optiz of Niceville to end a stellar season at 43-16.

Fleming Island 138 Laird Duhaylungsod, left, iced his way to a region title with three pins and a 5-2 in in the final.

Fleming Island 120 Jordan Mukaddam has quietly stormed his weight class with a Knock-out title and now a region title. Cobbert: "He's a workhorse wrestler."

Eagles' flags keep rolling

FLEMING ISLAND - With a tie in pre-season action against Tallahassee Chiles, the daunting task of replacing all-everything quarterback Mykala Maddox has slowed the massive point production that Fleming Island flag football fans are used to, but junior quarterback Devyn Dudones, a converted defensive back, has stayed the course with a 7-0 win over a tough Stanton team on Monday keeping Fleming Island unbeaten at 3-0.

Dudones connected with wide-out Daisy Fletcher, normally the Eagles front rusher, for a score with just seven minutes to go against Stanton. Wide-out London Jenkins took the reins for the PAT and hit Emily Poucher for the PAT.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER IMPOSITION OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS PURSUANT TO SECTION 170.07, FLORIDA STATUTES, BY THE SHADOWLAWN COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER ADOPTION OF ASSESSMENT ROLL PURSUANT TO SECTION 197.3632(4)(b), FLORIDA STATUTES, BY THE SHADOWLAWN COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT

NOTICE OF REGULAR MEETING OF THE SHADOWLAWN COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT

The Board of Supervisors ("Board") of the Shadowlawn Community Development District ("District") will hold public hearings on March 26, 2024 at 2:00 P.M., at Reinhold Corporation, 1845 Town Center Blvd., Suite 105, Fleming Island, Florida 32003, to consider the adoption of an assessment roll, the imposition of special assessments to secure proposed bonds on benefited lands within the District, a depiction of which lands is shown below, and to provide for the levy, collection and enforcement of the special assessments.

The District is located entirely within unincorporated Clay County, Florida. The lands to be improved are generally located south and west of County Road 218, north of State Road 16 and east of Thunder Road, and are geographically depicted below and in the Capital Improvement Plan, updated February 20, 2024 ("Capital Improvement Plan"). The public hearing is being conducted pursuant to Chapters 170, 190 and 197, Florida Statutes. A description of the property to be assessed and the amount to be assessed to each piece or parcel of property may be ascertained at the office of the District Manager c/o Wrathell, Hunt and Associates, LLC, 2300 Glades Road, Suite 410W, Boca Raton, Florida 33410 ("District Manager's Office").

The District is a unit of special-purpose local government responsible for providing infrastructure improvements for lands within the District. The infrastructure improvements are currently expected to include, but are not limited to, roadway improvements, stormwater management, potable water, reclaimed water and sewer utilities, underground electrical conduit, hardscape, landscape, irrigation fencing and signage improvements, amenity facilities and parks, and other infrastructure ("Improvements"), all as more specifically described in the Capital Improvement Plan, on file and available during normal business hours at the District Manager's Office. According to the Capital Improvement Plan, the estimated cost of the Improvements is $91,895,349.

The District intends to impose assessments on benefited lands in the manner set forth in the District's Amended and Restated Master Special Assessment Methodology Report, dated February 20, 2024 ("Assessment Report"), which is on file and available during normal business hours at the District Manager's Office.

The purpose of any such assessment is to secure the bonds issued to fund the Improvements. As described in more detail in the Assessment Report, the District's assessments will be levied against respective benefited lands within the District. The Assessment Report identifies maximum assessment amounts for each assessment area and land use category that is currently expected to be assessed. The lien for assessments is proposed to be allocated on an equal assessment per acre basis, and will be levied on an equivalent residential unit ("ERU") basis at the time that such property is platted or subject to a site plan or sold.

The annual principal assessment levied against each parcel will be based on repayment over thirty (30) years of the total debt allocated to each parcel. The District expects to assess and collect sufficient revenues to retire no more than $126,030,000 in debt, exclusive of fees and costs of collection or enforcement, discounts for early payment and interest. The proposed annual schedule of assessments is as follows:

| Product Type | Total Number of Units | Total Cost Allocation* | Total Bond Assessments Apportionment | Bond Assessments Apportionment per Unit | Annual Debt Service Payment per Unit |
|--------------|-----------------------|------------------------|--------------------------------------|---|--|
| SF 40' | 130 | $12,904,558.78 | $17,697,974.62 | $136,138.27 | $12,864.69 |
| SF 50' | 387 | $48,019,848.54 | $65,856,886.31 | $170,172.83 | $16,080.87 |
| SF 60' | 208 | $30,970,941.08 | $42,475,139.08 | $204,207.40 | $19,297.04 |
| Total | 725 | $91,895,348.40 | $126,030,000.00 | | |

* Please note that cost allocations to units herein are based on the ERU benefit allocation illustrated in Table 4
  Includes county collection costs estimated at 2% (subject to change) and an early collection discount allowance estimated at 4% (subject to change)

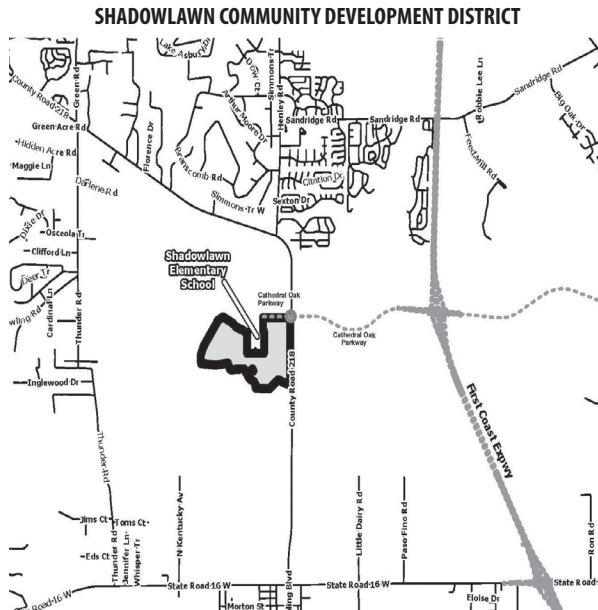

The assessments may be prepaid in whole at any time, or in some instances in part, or may be paid in not more than thirty (30) annual installments subsequent to the issuance of debt to finance the improvements. These annual assessments will be collected on the Clay County tax roll by the Tax Collector. Alternatively, the District may choose to directly collect and enforce these assessments. All affected property owners have the right to appear at the public hearings and the right to file written objections with the District within twenty (20) days of the publication of this notice.

Also, on March 26, 2024 at 2:00 P.M., at Reinhold Corporation, 1845 Town Center Blvd., Suite 105, Fleming Island, Florida 32003, the Board will hold a regular public meeting to consider any other business that may lawfully be considered by the District. The Board meeting and hearings are open to the public and will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of Florida law for special districts. The Board meeting and/or the public hearings may be continued in progress to a certain date and time announced at such meeting and/or hearings.

If anyone chooses to appeal any decision of the Board with respect to any matter considered at the meeting or hearings, such person will need a record of the proceedings and should accordingly ensure that a verbatim record of the proceedings is made, which includes the testimony and evidence upon which such appeal is to be based.

Legal 101472 published February 29, March 7, 2024 in Clay County's Clay Today Newspaper.

Any person requiring special accommodations at the meeting or hearings because of a disability or physical impairment should contact the District Manager's Office at least 48 hours prior to the meeting. If you are hearing or speech impaired, please contact the Florida Relay Service at 1-800-955-8770 for aid in contacting the District office.

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors (the "Board") of the Shadowlawn Community Development District (the "District") hereby determines to undertake, install, plan, establish, construct or reconstruct, enlarge or extend, equip, acquire, operate, and/or maintain the infrastructure improvements (the "Improvements") described in the District's Capital Improvement Plan, updated February 20, 2024, attached hereto as Exhibit A and incorporated herein by reference; and

WHEREAS, it is in the best interest of the District to pay the cost of the Improvements by special assessments pursuant to Chapter 190, Florida Statutes (the "Assessments"); and

WHEREAS, the District is empowered by Chapter 190, the Uniform Community Development District Act, Chapter 170, Supplemental and Alternative Method of Making Local Municipal Improvements, and Chapter 197, the Uniform Method for the Levy, Collection and Enforcement of Non-Ad Valorem Assessments, Florida Statutes, to finance, fund, plan, establish, acquire, construct or reconstruct, enlarge or extend, equip, operate, and maintain the Improvements and to impose, levy and collect the Assessments; and

WHEREAS, the District hereby determines that benefits will accrue to the property improved, the amount of those benefits, and that special assessments will be made in proportion to the benefits received as set forth in the Amended and Restated Master Special Assessment Methodology Report, dated February 20, 2024, attached hereto as Exhibit B and incorporated herein by reference and on file at 2300 Glades Road, Suite 410W, Boca Raton, Florida 33431 (the "District Records Office"); and

WHEREAS, the District hereby determines that the Assessments to be levied will not exceed the benefit to the property improved.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE SHADOWLAWN COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT:

- Assessments shall be levied to defray a portion of the cost of the Improvements.
- The nature and general location of, and plans and specifications for, the Improvements are described in Exhibit A, which is on file at the District Records Office. Exhibit B is also on file and available for public inspection at the same location.

The Assessments may be payable at the same time and in the same manner as are ad-valorem taxes and collected pursuant to Chapter 197, Florida Statutes; provided, however, that in the event the uniform non ad-valorem assessment method of collecting the Assessments is not available to the District in any year, or if determined by the District to be in its best interest, the Assessments may be collected as is otherwise permitted by law.
- The District Manager has caused to be made a preliminary assessment roll, in accordance with the method of assessment described in Exhibit B hereto, which shows the lots and lands assessed, the amount of benefit to and the assessment against each lot or parcel of land and the number of annual installments into which the assessment may be divided, which assessment roll is hereby adopted and approved as the District's preliminary assessment roll.
- The Board shall adopt a subsequent resolution to fix a time and place at which the owners of property to be assessed or any other persons interested therein may appear before the Board and be heard as to the propriety and advisability of the assessments or the making of the Improvements, the cost thereof, the manner of payment therefore, or the amount thereof to be assessed against each property as improved.
- The District Manager is hereby directed to cause this Resolution to be published twice (once a week for two (2) consecutive weeks) in a newspaper of general circulation within Clay County and to provide such other notice as may be required by law or desired in the best interests of the District.
