Look up, look forward to Eclipse 2024

We can expect 63% of Sun to be partially covered by Moon

By Thomas Webber
For Clay Today

CLAY COUNTY – As the old saying goes, “The third time’s the charm.”

For the third time since 2017, the “Sunshine State” will become, at least for a moment, the “Where’s all the sunshine, state?”

The United States will be at the stage of a total solar eclipse on April 8. Sadly, Northeast Florida will not share the full spectacle of the Sun vanishing during the day. However, we can witness a partial solar eclipse, with approximately 63% of the Sun disappearing. This may sound familiar. Last October, there was an annular solar eclipse in North America. Still, Florida was also on the outskirts of its path and could only see a partial solar eclipse. While this may seem disappointing to some, I must insist that experiencing any solar eclipse is exceptional and mesmerizing and should not be dismissed.

But first, some eclipse basics.

In science, “eclipse” refers to obscuring a light source by another object. Here on Earth, we refer to solar and lunar eclipses. Both are due to an elegant waltz among three celestial orbs.

Lunar eclipses, more common because of their longevity, occur when the Moon is in its full phase, 180 degrees from the Sun. With this alignment, the Moon can pass through part or all of Earth’s shadow, causing the Moon to darken or even appear a coppery-red color.

The Moon is in its new phase during a solar eclipse, its orbit moving it between the Sun and Earth. When the conditions are right, the Moon passes in front of the Sun, obstructing all or part of the Sun from our terrestrial point of view.

There are three different types of solar eclipses:

Total. The disk of the Moon can block the Sun entirely. These are rare and spectacular.

Partial. The Moon blocks only a portion of the Sun as if a “bite” has been taken.

Annular. Here, the apparent size of the Moon is slightly smaller and can only block

FAIR OPENS TODAY

It's called Clay County 'Agricultural' Fair for a reason

Livestock, forestry, farming, education a founding mission of annual event

By Don Coble

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – There’s a reason it’s not called the Clay County Rollercoaster Fair or the Clay County Funnel Cake Fair.

“Agriculture is part of our name and part of our mission,” said Livestock Chair Kelly Mosley.

The Clay County Agricultural Fair started its 11-day run Thursday. While it has one of the largest selections of rides, games and food vendors in the state, it also has one of the best agriculture barns featuring more than 1,000 animals and live exhibits.

“Agriculture has been our mission from the start,” Mosley said. “We’re going to be the premier fair for agriculture, education and entertainment in Clay County. So, the founding fathers, when they started the Fair, even in the pre-planning, knew they wanted it to be a showcase for agriculture in Clay County. Many of the folks who helped start the fair were very involved in agriculture, including the legendary

Every week, Clay Today will test or enlighten your knowledge on a variety of topics. Police myths.

After browsing through Facebook over the weekend, I noticed somebody posted a warning on the Keystone Heights page about the Clay County Sheriff's Office setting up radar along State Road 17. Someone said it was the month's end, so deputies had to fill their "quota" of speeding tickets. That's a myth. In fact, quotas are illegal in Florida, and you can thank our neighbor to the west for that. The "Waldo Bill" was passed in 2017 after investigators learned the town south of Starke generated 73% of its operating budget from speeding tickets. Then governor Rick Scott disbanded the agency, and the Alachua County Sheriff's Office now patrols it. And back to Keystone Heights, the best way to avoid a ticket, quota or not, is to drive within the speed limit.

Parking fines may force Kings Tacos to close

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

ORANGE PARK – The town council denied a lien reduction request made by the Kings Tacos food truck regarding $14,235 in overnight parking fines. The business owner appeared devastated Tuesday night and has some doubts if her business can continue.

The fine for unauthorized food truck parking is $100 a night.

Shakila Mendez is the woman who has owned and operated the Kings Tacos food truck for five years since she was 19 years old. She said the truck had served 60,000 people and helped her through college.

The food truck is typically at the BP gas station off Park Avenue. She said that construction made it difficult for her to back out and leave the premises. Her business had been aware of the mobile food vending code in December 2021; however, construction along the highway made moving the food truck at night difficult.

The BP gas station, not Kings Tacos, is the landowner. Liens are always placed on the landowner, and Mendez said the landowner did not communicate the fines or the severity. She said the landowner told Kings Tacos to sort out the fines since the penalties were written for the truck's overnight parking.

She wrote a letter to the town council dated March 8 expressing that sentiment: "The business is in danger of being forced to close permanently at its current location."

The letter continues, "Because construction was ongoing, there were frequent nights/days where the truck was completely blocked off, sometimes by heavy machinery."

"The furtherment of the claims of violation was also unbeknownst to Kings Tacos, as they are not listed property owners; therefore, they receive no correspondence from the town," Mendez wrote.

The Kings Tacos food truck on Park Avenue on the BP gas station property.

Town Manager Sarah Campbell recommended the lien be paid in full. She pointed out additional concerns such as an unpermitted structure by the food truck and a raw extension cord that was buried beneath the ground.

"These are safety issues for our community that deserve priority attention," Campbell said.

"These fines were appropriately levied. Fair notice was given, and we followed proper due process and notifying in this case. I don't see any missteps from (Town of Orange Park) staff. It is up to the council how to handle this moving forward," she said.

"They have great food and great customers, no one is arguing that. We just want it to be operated in a safe, code-compliant manner," she said. "The goal is compliance. Not punishment."

During the meeting, Mendez said the electrical work was permitted by a licensed contractor except for the electrical box. Mendez said it was an oversight the contractor made.

The dais agreed that the property owner is ultimately responsible for the fines. No representative or owner from the BP gas station was at the meeting. From Mendez's testimony, the landowner is passing down the fees to the food truck.

"I don't think it's the town's fault the property owner didn't notify their renter," Councilmember Winnette Sandlin said.

"It's a hard decision. It's a hard thing to think about," she said.

Mayor Randy Anderson cited an email in which Mendez asked the town manager for permission to leave the food truck overnight for two weeks because of an emergency. The town manager agreed, Anderson said.

"My concern is here – they knew the process. If you could not get out (because of construction on Park Avenue), why did you not contact the town manager?"

Sandlin offered to establish a payment plan for the business. The fines do not accrue interest. She said it was a shame the landowner did not communicate with Kings Tacos.

"It's easier for us if you're in compliance. If nobody is complaining about the truck being left overnight. If nobody is complaining about the outlet. If nobody is complaining about the roof. That makes it a lot easier for us to deal with these liens," Councilmember Doug Benefield said.

"I cannot support letting it go. I think it's not fair to the residents and businesses who are paying late fees and other kinds of things," Sandlin said.

"The fine is about overnight parking for mobile food vendors. They are mobile for a reason. In this case, someone trying to establish a permanent restaurant is (getting around) your zoning laws, parking laws and property taxes. The staff has spent a lot of time on this. I don't think it's fair. Rent a vacant property for restaurants. We would love to have you," Campbell said.

The town council voted unanimously to not grant a lien reduction.

The Mendez family spoke to Clay Today following the decision. Mendez's father felt betrayed, and he said the town's commitment to small businesses is insincere.

"We're a small, local business. Every evening before the town council meeting starts, the mayor says, 'shop local,'" he said.

The family is concerned if they can still stay in business. If they can, Mendez said there won't be any overnight parking violations ever again – because Kings Tacos will be gone. Her family is considering relocating the business to Duval County, she said.

"My decision to move to Duval County is based on their differing views regarding food trucks. They are actually overwhelmingly welcoming to my type of business, and value what we bring to the communities around us. Something that hasn't been shown to us from the town of Orange Park," Mendez said.

Believing in Girls celebrates largest graduating class at PACE

For Clay Today

ORANGE PARK – PACE Clay marked a significant milestone on Wednesday, March 27, when it hosted its highly anticipated Believing in Girls Luncheon. This event, known as the largest community fundraiser of the year, attracted more than 150 guests, including local professionals, businesses, and community leaders, all converging to show their support for girls in their community, including Sheriff Michelle Cook, former Florida Sen. Rob Bradley, Superintendent David Broskie, Keystone Heights Mayor Nina Rodenroth and School Board Vice-Chair Mary Bolla.

This year's event was exceptional, with the recognition of 18 seniors, constituting the largest graduating class yet. Their achievements served as a testament to the transformative impact of Pace Clay's programs.

"This year, Pace Clay focused on three important enhancements to our work: first, community engagement, especially volunteerism; second, career development," said Genelle Thomas, Pace Executive Director. We now offer onsite ASVAB, PSAT, SAT, and CLT testing, numerous college and trade school tours, job shadowing opportunities, and role modeling from community professionals. We do all this to ensure our girls have a path to success after Pace, allowing them to be employed and self-sufficient. And third, family engagement. We believe our girls are more successful when we partner with their families.

"Therefore, we launched a new Family Night series and have begun to increase family support efforts.

This year, our academic outcome measurements show that 100% of girls who transitioned from Pace Clay this year improved academically based on course completions, grades, and standardized testing scores."

Pace Clay's commitment to fostering this supportive community was evident in their expanding reach. Currently serving 55 girls in their Day Program on a newly constructed campus and 35 girls through their Reach Program, which provides vital mental health therapy in nine Clay County Schools, the organization continues to make significant strides in its mission.

At the heart of the luncheon was a profound belief in the power of community support. Every girl, it was emphasized, deserves a network of encouragement and empowerment to realize her full potential. This sentiment resonated deeply as speakers and participants alike shared stories of resilience, growth and triumph.

As the luncheon ended, attendees left inspired and motivated, carrying with them a renewed dedication to championing the cause of empowering girls. The event served as a fundraiser and a celebration of progress, unity and hope for the future.

Volunteering locally key to keeping community vibrant

April is Global Volunteer Month to celebrate volunteers and inspire volunteerism in communities large and small.

According to research from AmeriCorps and the U.S. Census Bureau, volunteerism is on the decline. And what's more, Points of Light, a global nonprofit dedicated to inspiring, equipping and mobilizing people to take action that changes the world, shared that 73% of people believe that volunteering is more important than ever, yet 66% think they can't make a big impact in their communities. During Global Volunteer Month, advocates are trying to change that perception at the local level.

"Volunteers are crucial to solving pressing challenges, creating vibrant communities and strengthening our social fabric," said Jennifer Sirangelo, president and CEO of Points of Light. "Every person has something to share or give."

To boost volunteer engagement during Global Volunteer Month, Points of Light is sharing the following ways you and your family can make a positive impact in your neighborhood or town:

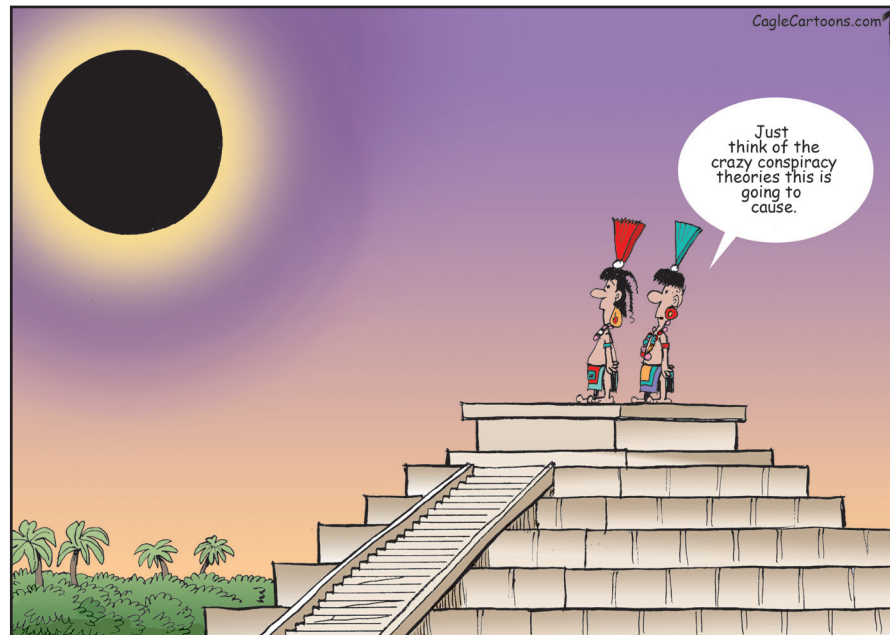

Spread the word: Use the Global Volunteer Month toolkit and the hashtag #GlobalVolunteerMonth to thank volunteers. Be sure to tag a volunteer whose impact you appreciate.

Take the pledge: To show your commitment to volunteering, take Points of Light's pledge. Then, discover ways to get involved that support your favorite cause and availability using Points of Light Engage, a database featuring hundreds of thousands of volunteer opportunities worldwide, including some in your area. Remember that volunteering doesn't have to be through a formal organization. Lending a helping hand to a friend, family member or neighbor counts, too. In fact, 70% of volunteer work is carried out locally and informally, without the involvement of any organization, according to the U.N.

Things you think about when you're avoiding a Cinnabon

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

When it takes you six hours to fly across the country, and you're doing everything you can to avoid the Cinnabon stand during your layover, you have a lot of time to think. I needed a distraction on my westbound flight because when I arrived in St. Louis, I learned my next leg was on the same airplane. The airline still made me get off the plane, turn around at the gatehouse, and stand in line to reboard. Meanwhile, I saw them take my bag off the plane, sit it on the tarmac and return it two minutes later.

I still didn't get the Cinnabon, but my bag was delayed at my final destination for 30 minutes because the Commander in Chief was in town, so the airport had a ground stop during his fundraising event. Seriously. But still no Cinnabon.

Anyway, back to mindless thoughts.

Why are airline seatbelt buckles under the right armrest? It's like trying to stick your hand in the garbage disposal to pull something out.

Why do smoke alarm batteries only go bad in the middle of the night and start beeping?

Why isn't Thousand Island low-calorie dressing called 500 Island dressing?

Why does the government exempt food and energy prices from calculating core inflation rates? I don't know if you've noticed, but gasoline and groceries are a big part of the budget in our home. (The official answer is food and energy prices are too volatile or fluctuate wildly. Telling me that is like telling Noah about the flood.)

Why is it that when I want to turn left out of a parking lot, the biggest pickup in the county pulls to my right to block my vision of oncoming traffic from the left?

Why do people keep using the word "irregardless?" It's regardless.

Why do small four-cylinder, front-wheel drive cars have rear wings? Don't they know the wings are useless since the front tires are pulling the car and the rear tires aren't pushing it?

Why do they call it Half & Half, when it's really two-thirds milk and one-third cream?

Why doesn't the NCAA basketball tournament committee get Google Maps? Duke played North Carolina State for the South Region Championship last Sunday in Dallas, which really isn't in the South. The Duke and North Carolina State

Know an outstanding volunteer in your community? Nominate them as a Daily Point of Light by visiting pointsoflight.org/dailypointoflight, or to inspire others, share these stories of recent honorees:

Daily Point of Light Award honoree T’Kiyah Threatt is a 21-year-old from Uniontown, Alabama, a town of just more than 2,000 residents. She dove into service as a high school junior when she started working with C.H.O.I.C.E., an organization that ensures young people get needed resources.

Three years ago, she became the first president of the Youth Advisory Council and began leading mentoring efforts, going above and beyond to find funds for a scholarship for a deserving mentee. Even after moving away for college, Threatt returns to work with her mentee while recruiting community partners and soliciting program funding.

campuses are 24 miles apart from each other, but they were forced to play 1,185 miles away on a neutral floor. And that’s not even the worst of it. Alabama played Clemson for the West Region Championship, yes the West, in Los Angeles. I guess it was more of a home game for Alabama since the Crimson Tide was only 2,022 miles away from home and Clemson had to travel 2,311 miles. But since the cost of fuel doesn’t factor in inflation, it really doesn’t matter.

Why do people keep using apostrophes to make a noun plural? An apostrophe makes it possessive. Boy’s means it belongs to a boy, not there is more than one boy.

Why do people think it’s all right to use a handicap placard even if the handicapped person it’s assigned to isn’t inside the car? The placard comes with a separate registration, and the person listed on that registration must be in the car. You don’t handicap the car. The Kansas Speedway stopped every car in the handicap lot ahead of a race one year and checked every registration. The police confiscated more than 200 placards and issued tickets to people who were using the placards to get better parking spots. Maybe we should suggest a wink, wink, nudge, nudge ahead of the Clay County Agricultural Fair ...

And finally, why do I spend so much time thinking about things like this?

Winning the fight against human trafficking

Law enforcement agencies make significant progress in first year

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

The seven law enforcement agencies and the U.S. Attorney's Office that make up the Northeast Florida INTERCEPT Task Force reunited last week to report the first-year success of their program to target those suspected of human trafficking and child exploitation.

In one year, the group got 21 convictions, which led to 18 sentences of more than 148 years in prison.

"These agency executives formed a board together to put this together," said Clay County Sheriff's Office Undersheriff Ron Lendvay, Chairman and Executive

Law enforcement members who make up NEFL INTERCEPT released the results of their first-year effort to battle human trafficking and child exploitation.

Board member of the NEFL INTERCEPT.

"So, this is a true group effort and a team, not just spearheaded by a particular agency. INTERCEPT work to combat these crimes is difficult, dangerous, detail oriented and very technical, but it's absolutely vital to keeping our young and vulnerable safe from exploitation. All the partners you see here today are committed to working together as the intercept Task Force to amplify our successes, erase jurisdictional boundaries, and take a regional approach to protecting the vulnerable in Northeast Florida," Lendvay said.

The task force consists of the Clay, St.

Johns, Jacksonville, Nassau and Putnam county sheriff's offices, Homeland Security Investigations-Jacksonville and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

The group organized on March 2 last year. Since then, the contributed deputies have investigated 663 cyber tips from the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, initiated 583 investigations and issued 85 search warrants. They've examined 224 electronic devices and 6.3 million images and videos containing more than 75,000 videos and images of child sexual activity.

"The focus of INTERCEPT is human trafficking and online, online sexual exploitation of children," Lendvay said.

"Human trafficking involves the use of force, fraud or coercion to obtain some labor or commercial sex act from another. The key element in human trafficking cases is not the movement of the victim but rather the exploitation of that thing.

"The online sexual exploitation of children manifests itself in various forms, from online enticement to the distribution of child sexual abuse material to sextortion. Online enticement involves an individual communicating with a child over the internet with the intent to commit a sexual offense. Offenders who traffic child sexual abuse material share photo and video files across the internet and dark web and victimize the child each time the image of the reviews is shared.

"Sextortion occurs when a minor has shared an explicit themselves with someone they mistakenly trusted, who then blackmails them into producing additional sexual content, meeting for sexual activity, or paying to keep their images from being shared. The disturbing reality is that the web-based platforms and applications we use daily to connect and share information, including social media, online gaming and email, are all used for illegal and illicit purposes," Lendvay said.

Florida Rep. Sam Garrison (R-Fleming Island) helped secure $1 million in funding in the current budget for NEFL INTERCEPT for a forensic lab.

"Our brand is family. We believe in a culture of life and that every life and child matters," he said. "We're going to fight for those kids, especially the ones that are forgotten, the ones that find themselves in these situations."

Salvation Army's Empty Bowls returns April 23

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

MIDDLEBURG – Give a meal, get a meal – that's the idea behind the 18th Annual Empty Bowls charity drive.

The $20 ticket grants you entry to the luncheon on April 23 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Orange Park United Methodist Church Family Life Center, where you will receive an artisan bowl handcrafted by talented students at Lake Asbury Junior, Oakleaf and Ridgeview highs and St. Johns Country Day School.

Since the bowl is a decorative piece, the hot soup will be poured into a separate container. The soup varieties will include chicken noodle, chili, broccoli and cheddar and vegetable. Each serving also comes with a side of bread and water.

"The idea is to emulate the typical soup kitchen so that you can eat like someone who may be homeless. It raises awareness for food scarcity," Nina Wunderlich, President of the Salvation Army Woman's Auxiliary of Clay County, said.

The $20 ticket will help fund the food pantry at the Salvation Army, which helps feed the less fortunate in the community. Empty Bowls event will also have a silent auction and bake sale, which will raise money for the Salvation Army.

"Clay County has always been supportive," Wunderlich said.

The event is sponsored by the Salvation Army Woman's Auxiliary, Vystar Credit Union

Handcrafted artisan bowls like these will be given to each person.

and McDonald's of Orange Park. Superintendent David Broskie will be the guest speaker.

A record offering of $5,466 was donated to Lake Area Ministries from last Sunday morning's Easter Sunrise Service at the Pavilion. It was a beautiful, love-filled time with our community. Many thanks to the Kiwanians who made this possible and the sun-splashed daybreak that created a glorious background during the service.

advisors like UF/IFAS extension director Jesse Godbold.”

When the founders decided to buy 28 acres in 1972 in what would eventually become home of the first Fair 15 years later, they stipulated that “agriculture” would be the event’s focal point. Nothing has changed since.

In addition to FFA and 4-H Livestock Shows, Ag Town was established in the livestock car to educate and entertain. There are a feed store, school house, grocery store, veterinary office, farmer’s house, potato patch, and two show locations. There is an “Ask Me” booth in the Livestock Barn and several exhibit booths for anyone to see animals up close. Animals include cows, donkeys, pigs, bulls, chickens, ducks, rabbits, goats, dogs, birds, fish and bees.

According to the Fair, “Many guests have never had the opportunity to see farm life that’s so important to our American way of life. Agriculture is our lifeline for our food supply.”

Junior and senior high students will be marketing steers and swine for auction. There will also be open shows for rabbits, goats, steers and poultry.

“In the past couple of years, we’ve added some new content for the kids related to agriculture, like the tailgating contest and the whip-popping contest,” Mosley said. “Those are fun. We added tractor driving last year. You certainly don’t have to have livestock to participate in any of those contests.”

Animals will play important roles in two programs for children and adults with physical and emotional challenges. The children will show goats, while the adults will show chickens to judges.

Early Florida Village is a hands-on area with antique displays that take you back to the state’s early days.

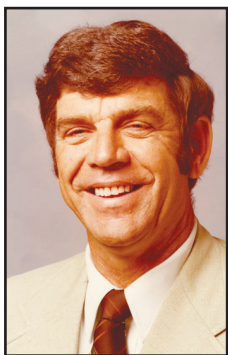

Of course, there’s more than livestock and haybales at the Fair. There are seven days of concerts by prominent bands, nearly 50 rides, more than 100 food vendors and two exhibition halls filled with local crafts and displays.

But don’t forget the rollercoaster and funnel cakes.

SJRWD's Douglas Conkey travels through Clay County

The goal: raise awareness for water conservation

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

CLAY COUNTY – Douglas Conkey made a circuit through municipal meetings in Clay County to raise awareness for April's 26th annual Water Conservation Month.

Conkey first made a stop in Orange Park on March 19. Next, he popped in for the Board of County Commissioners meeting on March 26. Then, he swung by Keystone Heights on April 1. He made another stop in Green Cove Springs on April 2. Conkey serves as the intergovernmental coordinator for the Saint Johns River Water Management District. And coordinate, he did indeed.

Water Conservation Month falls in April because it's typically a dry month for Florida and when the water demand is at its greatest.

The theme for the 26th year of Water Conservation Month is "Improving Outdoor Irrigation Efficiency."

Municipalities across the county encourage citizens to focus on irrigating efficiently since outdoor irrigation comprises a significant portion of water use.

During the BCC meeting on March 26, Commissioner Betsy Condon shared simple water conservation measures – ensuring automatic sprinklers are functioning properly, following water restrictions, using a rain sensor, repairing damaged sprinklers and repairing any leaks.

Conkey said that while April is Water Conservation Month, we should work all year to conserve water "24/7, 365."

"As much as I have seen people water the streets and water the driveways, the grass never seems to want to grow there. We want to be sure we water efficiently," Conkey said.

Councilmember Hart surprised with plaque after decade of public service

Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS – Monday, April 1, was Councilmember Steve Hart's last day as an elected official for the city council.

The city staff had a surprise – and it wasn't an April Fool's joke. It was a genuine, emotional token of appreciation.

Hart was presented with a plaque commemorating his decade of public service. Each member of the city council said Hart would be missed.

Hart served as vice mayor when Councilmember Tony Brown was mayor. When Brown was out sick and seeking treatment, Hart often stepped up.

"To say it has been a pleasure to work with you would be an understatement," City attorney Rich Komando said.

Hart was described as someone who put the needs of the community front and center. Komando said that out of all the city council members or legislatures he worked with, Hart was unique.

"You did something I had never seen before. You introduced legislation on the city council, talked with community members, heard that they were opposed, and then came back to the next city council meeting to vote against your own legislation," Komando said.

"It happens," Hart said.

One of Hart's cornerstone achievements was founding the Keystone Heights Heritage Commission, which Mayor Nina Rodenroth previously served on.

"I had a good group of people to work with," Hart said.

"It's good to serve with dedicated people."

DGPerry CPAs + Advisors eager for celebratory breakfast on April 16

Group marks end of tax season with morning meal, Best of Clay recognition

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

ORANGE PARK—DGPerry CPAs + Advisors are in the middle of tax season, so they don't have time for anything else, including celebrating their Best of Clay award.

"This is the busiest time of the year," Beth Linder, CPA, said.

Linder is a certified public accountant, and her office is currently entrenched and powering through its busiest season. However, she made time to offer a few complimentary recommendations for other fellow tax procrastinators.

She recommends filing electronically. The International Revenue Service becomes inundated with papers, especially from March to April. She especially recommends filing electronically for individuals and businesses owing money to the IRS. The mail system is not as timely as paying electronically, and the last thing you'd want is further delays. If you are worried about filing on time, consider filing an extension.

The deadline for businesses is March

Beth Linder, CPA, stands proudly next to her row of Best of Clay awards.

15 annually. The deadline for individuals is coming up on April 15.

Americans dread tax season every year. For Linder and her team, it is their time to shine. She finds it intrinsically rewarding to break down an admittedly complex process.

"Tax season can be a stressful environment," she said.

Her firm consults with her clients, reviews their documents, discusses the results, and gives advice on how to save more on their tax returns next year.

Team members at DGPerry Orange Park.

"People appreciate our services. When a spouse passes away, the other spouse might not be familiar with the process," Linder said. "We guide them through the process. Our success stories are when they feel better from our services and put their trust in us."

Some other notable success stories are when her firm helps businesses sort out IRS audits, which can happen when income is reported incorrectly or when taxes are past due.

Linder said her firm also does nonprofit work, such as for Challenge Enterprises.

"We have good relationships with our clients. We appreciate them, and they appreciate us. It's a two-way street."

After a busy tax season and another Best of Clay under her belt, Linder plans to take her team out to dinner on April 15. The next day, she will take her team out to breakfast — an annual tradition — to hit the ground running for next year.

DGPerry offers accounting, audit, assurance, tax and business consultation services at its Orange Park location and many others nationwide. Visit DGPerry.com to learn more.

First 100 days in office:

Charlie Van Zant reflects on new job as Keystone City Manager

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS – Charlie Van Zant Jr. was hired as the new city manager in January. More than 100 days into his new job, he said time flies when you're having fun.

"I'm loving it and the great people I work with. It's rewarding to give back to the community I grew up in," Van Zant said.

"The people are the highlight of the job, such as interacting with citizens and working with the public works – great guys. They do a good job keeping the city looking welcoming."

One of Van Zant's first tasks as city manager was purchasing the lot on the intersection of State Roads 100 and 21, which was finalized on April 1.

Van Zant said his role as city manager has changed the pace from previous jobs, notably as Superintendent of Clay County District Schools and Lieutenant Colonel of the Florida National Guard. With those past two positions, in particular, Van Zant relied on his managerial style to delegate tasks.

He said a small community like Keystone Heights with a smaller staff requires a more hands-on approach. As city manager, his goal is to execute the city council's vision, especially they develop a strategic plan in the coming months. He said he fostered a professional relationship with each city council member, and they knew each other previously before he was hired for the job.

"None of us didn't know each other," he said.

Van Zant's father was Councilmember Tony Brown's pastor. He is neighbors with Mayor Nina Rodenroth.

Charlie Van Zant Jr. stands with his family when he came back from his second deployment.

Van Zant moved to the city in 1981. Before he could propose to his wife, Stephanie, he had to take her back to his hometown as if to say, "This is who I am. This is where I come from." His upbringing in Keystone Heights is a fundamental aspect of who he is.

He was a pilot during his service in the military. He said, on occasion, he would fly for two hours, swoop down at the Keystone Heights airport, grab a coffee and return to the skies. He was deployed to Afghanistan, where he supported navigation operations.

Van Zant is excited about the city's centennial next year. He wants to preserve the city's history and expand new horizons.

"This is a brand-new chapter. I've always been mission-focused. Applying for city manager felt like the right thing to do. Citizens deserve every bit of attention as I have with every student or soldier," he said.

He says there is an open-door policy as city manager.

"If someone often comes into the office, I'll recognize the voice. Everyone's input is valuable. I am honored to serve the citizens of Keystone and welcome their input."

Rep. Sam Garrison returns home from Tallahassee

Local Representative said Clay has favorable reputation in Tallahassee

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

FLEMING ISLAND – When the 2024 Florida Legislative Session wrapped up in March, Rep. Sam Garrison (R-Fleming Island) reflected and recapped the time at the Capitol in an interview with Clay Today.

This year, healthcare, specifically behavioral health, was a major focal point in Tallahassee.

Garrison, who is Chairman of the Health Care Appropriations, sponsored HB 1617. If signed into law by Gov. Ron DeSantis, the bill would fund at least $300 million in grant funding over three years to behavioral health teaching hospitals.

Garrison was humble when asked about his bill. He said it was a partnership with Sen. President Kathleen Passidomo (R-Naples), who encouraged the companion bill in the Florida Senate.

“It was Sen. President Passidomo’s brainchild,” he said.

Passidomo has spearheaded the “Live Healthy” proposal to increase the number of doctors in the state and expand access to health care. This is a tenant that Garrison believes in as well, and one that he has applied to the burgeoning, gloomy mental health crisis in the Sunshine State.

According to the National Alliance on Mental Illness, the fallout of the COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated mental health challenges. Nearly 2.9 million adults have a mental health condition. Nearly 800,000 adults in Florida did not receive mental health care, with nearly half citing health care costs as the reason.

The companion bills in the House and the Senate aim to address the growing mental health crisis by granting university hospitals funding to give mental health care to patients in the state hospital system.

The four behavioral health teaching hospitals that currently qualify are USF Tampa General, UM Jackson Memorial, UF Health Jacksonville and UF Shands Gainesville. Garrison is hopeful that the program will be expanded to include Florida State University College of Medicine.

Rep. Sam Garrison represents northern Clay County. He serves as the Healthcare Appropriations Subcommittee Chairman in the Florida House.

It would give healthcare to patients who need it. It would train aspiring medical professionals. It would relieve the burden placed upon Florida’s state hospitals.

Garrison calls it “a triple win.”

The goal is to address what Garrison calls the “Doctor’s Cliff,” a demographic phenomenon in Florida where physicians are retiring faster than population growth.

The idea is to make Florida a top destination for aspiring physicians, physician assistants, nurses and other healthcare workers. With the added bonus of making our state healthy.

The representative explained why the mental health crisis is his No. 1 legislative concern.

“Talk to anyone – old, young, male, female. Talk to folks and you’ll be hard-pressed to find someone not touched by this issue,” Garrison said.

It manifests in various ways, he said.

“Substance abuse is rampant. Opioids. Alcohol. You don’t have to look far.”

“We have an emerging challenge and want to be on the cutting edge.”

Now back home, Garrison is pleased

2,889,000 adults in Florida have a mental health condition.
That’s more than 6X the population of Miami.

It is more important than ever to build a stronger mental health system that provides the care, support and services needed to help people build better lives.

More than half of Americans report that COVID-19 has had a negative impact on their mental health.

In February 2021, 40.8% of adults in Florida reported symptoms of anxiety or depression. 24.8% were unable to get needed counseling or therapy.

In Florida, 648,000 adults have a serious mental illness.

Floridians are over 5x more likely to be forced out-of-network for mental health care than for primary health care — making it more difficult to find care and less affordable due to higher out-of-pocket costs.

1 in 6 U.S. youth aged 6–17 experience a mental health disorder each year.

180,000 Floridians age 12–17 have depression.

6,387,811 people in Florida live in a community that does not have enough mental health professionals.

Around the Moon and back: The Moon Tree

Planted in Keystone Heights' backyard roughly 40 years ago

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS – On Jan. 31, 1971, Apollo 14 launched into outer space, and two astronauts rode Command Module “Kitty Hawk” down onto the rocky lunar service.

Astronaut Stuart Roosa – and about 500 seeds – remained circling in the Moon’s orbit.

The three astronauts splashed down in the Pacific Ocean nine days later. Roosa’s seeds were then distributed nationwide, and many germinated into healthy, full-sized “Moon trees.”

Keystone Heights has its own Moon tree, standing tall on the corner of Lawrence Boulevard and Oriole Street, near the library and the city hall.

Only about 100 accounted for Moon trees in the United States.

Bob Byrnes was the one who brought the “out of this world” tree back to Keystone Heights, and actually, it was an unexpected gift.

Byrnes has always been an avid gardener. One day, he was browsing through a magazine article when he stumbled upon an article about Dr. Bob Hayes, a geneticist and researcher with the U.S. Forest Service, selecting trees to have a more beautiful fall color.

In 1982, Byrnes contacted Hayes and drove to his home in Gulfport, Mississippi. The two hit it off great (as all gardeners do), and Byrnes was invited to spend the night. Then, Hayes invited him to his nursery, eager to show him a prized possession.

“It was the Moon Sycamore. By then, the seed had germinated into a sizeable sprout,” Byrnes said.

Bob Byrnes pointing to the display board in front of the Moon Tree.

“He appreciated my interest. He said, ‘You need to have this plant!’” Byrnes said.

Hayes himself received the seed from the University of Florida.

The two gardeners traded plants (as all gardeners do) and Byrnes drove the sizable sapling back home.

The tree was planted in its current location in 1984, roughly 40 years ago. Byrnes attributes that to Leona Terry, a previous Keystone Heights City Clerk.

“I met her. I gave her the tree. We discussed putting it some place on the property.”

Byrnes said Terry was indispensable not just for the Moon Tree, but for many trees in city limits.

“She was involved in forestry. She got Keystone Heights certified as a Tree City. If you drive around, you’ll see a sign that says, ‘Tree City.’ That was because of Terry.”

A municipality must meet the standards set by the Arbor Day Foundation to be a Tree City. There are about 3,400 Tree Cities throughout the U.S.

Several ideas for the Keystone Heights Parks Master Plan have been proposed. One idea was to make the Moon Tree a distinguished focal point in the community by adding seating arrangements and lights around the tree’s base or canopy.

Councilmember Dan Lewandowski has expressed an interest in cultivating the next generation, the “Child of the Moon Tree,” so that history can be preserved in case the city’s beloved sycamore suffers an unexpected ailment.

The Moon Tree in Keystone Heights on the corner of Lawrence Boulevard and Oriole Street

Originally, the scientific purpose behind the Moon Trees was to discern whether exposure to outer space and harsh radiation would have any effect on the seeds. Today, the tree is strong and sturdy. Byrnes hopes the tree stays healthy and growing for many years.

“They’re pretty tough plants. I seldom see any disease or insects with the sycamore. It’s one of the most distributed trees in the country. There’re not many places it won’t grow,” he said.

Even after a trip around the Moon.

Longtime volunteer Hope Chessel honored by Green Cove Springs

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The Green Cove Springs Police Department put out their own “911 call” to Hope Chessel when they had trouble collecting toys for their annual “Caroling Around the Cove.”

While she didn’t respond with a siren blasting or lights flashing, she helped save a Christmas tradition for lots of children in the city.

“She heard we had next to nothing as far as toys, so she created an Amazon link on her Facebook page and the toys just started coming in,” said officer Jose Lee. “We were able to get a lot of toys for the children. She’s always doing things like that for our community.”

Her tireless and selfless work around Green Cove Springs was recognized Tuesday night by Green Cove Springs Police Chief E.J. Guzman and the City Council with a special proclamation.

Lee said Chessel also helped the department when it was overwhelmed with stray dogs. GCSPD often picks up dogs and holds them until the owners recover them, or Clay County Animal Services pick them up.

“We were at a point where we didn’t have any bedding, food, treats, or stuff like that,” he said. “She came in, and we started getting deliveries just in time. That made a big difference.”

In other business, the council unanimously approved the first reading of annexing the 23.37-acre property and the empty Truemont building on the corners of U.S. Highway 17 and State Road 16. The second and final reading will be at either the next council meeting on April 16 or during May.

The council also approved the first reading to change its Form-Based Code in the downtown area from LED to soft lights to create pedestrian-oriented public realm areas.

The Green Cove Springs City Council meets at City Hall on the first and third Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Middle District of Florida U.S. Attorney Roger Handberg is responsible for prosecuting many of the offenders. He singled out three cases – two from Clay County – as successes from the program's first year.

He mentioned the 20-year sentence for former Orange Park Athletic Association softball coach Andrew Lynn Overheul, who was caught using his cellphone recording a 12-year-old girl taking a shower at his house. When investigators from CCSO seized his phone, they found "hundreds" of other images of girls, Handberg said.

Another case involved former JSO officer Alejandro Carmona-Fonseca, who was sentenced to 12 years for attempting to entice a 16-year-old boy to send inappropriate photos after meeting him at the Lake Asbury gym.

"The work that you are doing is saving lives, and it's resulting in victims being rescued and offenders being brought to justice," Handberg said. "The Northeast Florida INTERCEPT Task Force did not hit the ground running; they hit the ground sprinting."

"There's much that I can say about the dedication of the investigators and prosecutors who tackle these disturbing and often heartbreaking cases. I'll simply say to them, 'Thank you.' Thank you for the hard work that you do. Thank you for the long hours and late nights that you put into investigating your cases."

There have been 31 arrests and 16 indictments for child exploitation and human trafficking in the past year. There also have been eight arrests resulting from sexual battery, bestiality and video voyeurism, according to NEFL INTERCEPT figures.

SJR State to offer paralegal studies degree in August

For Clay Today

PALATKA – With the dynamics of the legal profession becoming more complex, the evolving role of a paralegal is becoming more of an essential part of legal representation.

In response to those complexities, along with a strong projected job outlook, St. Johns River State College will offer an associate in science degree in Paralegal Studies online this fall – a new career pathway endorsed by the Clay, Putnam and St. Johns County Bar Associations.

“Where there was once an oversupply of attorneys in the area, there is now a significant undersupply of qualified legal assistants and paralegals. A program at SJR State would be most welcomed to the entire local legal community,” Seth Studer, former President of the Clay County Bar Association, said in a letter supporting the new program.

Rebecca Emert, former President of the St. Johns County Bar Association, agreed and concluded that the recent exponential growth throughout her county has created an ever-increasing demand for legal services.

“The proposed program would be of vital assistance to the local practitioners in this booming legal market. There will be ample opportunity for students to obtain internships as well as gainful employment upon graduation,” she wrote.

Putnam County’s Bar Association President Alex Sharp wrote, “Not only will this strengthen our ability to provide competent legal services, but it will also provide new professional and career opportunities for our residents.”

The program will give students the opportunity to develop knowledge and skills across a broad range of legal topics, with an emphasis on real-world practice and a focus on performing duties with the highest level of ethics and professionalism. Paralegal careers can offer competitive salaries and take graduates virtually anywhere in the legal profession with legal teams representing a wide range of clients including individuals, professional organizations, corporations and government agencies.

Students who complete the program will be eligible to sit for the certified paralegal exam administered by the National Association of Legal Assistants (NALA). Visit <https://sjrstate.edu/paralegal-studies> to learn more about the program. Classes begin August 2024.

Garden club horticulture program a huge success

By Susan Brecht

ORANGE PARK – The annual horticulture program sponsored by the Garden Club of Orange Park was held on Friday, March 15, and featured four outstanding speakers who discussed “Gardening for Bees, Birds, Butterflies and You.”

After Mr. Jamey Wilkes talked about recycling for the environment and the changes coming to Clay County, attendees heard about container gardening for pollinators presented by Master Gardener Bonnie Preissler.

After lunch and the distribution of many door prizes, Master Gardener Sarah Harvey shared insight into choosing pollinator friendly plants then distributed seedlings to each participant.

Rounding out the program was Mr. William Gura who shared examples of Urban Homesteading which included ideas for conserving water and growing more than just flowers. Garden club member Karen Donovan manned a table that explained how to compost, recycle and reuse in your own back yard.

Whatever their interest, the participants were not disappointed by the information shared by these excellent speakers. Add to this an inexpensive plant sale, a Ways & Means table overflowing with garden supplies, artificial arrangements, jewelry and prizes, prizes, prizes, and you

Thomas Webber is an expert on eclipses, and he's talked about them a few dozen times with Clay County Schools and Outreach Programs in the past few years.

the center of the Sun. What we observe is a bright ring called an annulus.

Now, I hear you saying, "Tom, you are as awesome as you are wonderful. But if we have a full moon and a new moon every month, why don't we have a lunar and solar eclipse every month?"

An excellent question. I couldn't have typed it better myself. The Moon's orbital plane is tilted about five degrees off the plane defined by Earth's orbit around the Sun. Therefore, the Moon is simply above or below the Sun or Earth's shadow cone for most months. Only when the plane of the Earth-Sun orbit intersects with the plane of the Moon-Earth orbit do we have eclipse conditions, and even then, the timing of the lunar phases must be just right.

On Monday, the path of totality in the U.S. begins in Texas, south of San Antonio. The track then will proceed toward the Northeast, passing through Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. More than 31 million people live on this path, and thousands more are expected to travel to be a part of it.

But what about those of us in Northeast Florida? While we may not be able to experience the entirety of the Sun being obscured by the Moon, we will see a partial solar eclipse. At maximum, the Moon will block more than half of the Sun's disk.

This solar eclipse is the third in an Eclipse Triple Crown for the United States. The first was in August 2017, and the second was back in October 2023. The continental United States will not be an audience to another solar eclipse until August 2044.

It is important to remember that looking at the Sun under any circumstances, even during an eclipse, is dangerous and harmful to your eyes. There are ways to view the Sun safely, but always protect your eyes just as you would your skin while in the Sun.

I encourage everyone to participate in this remarkable celestial display, for it will be two decades before this elusive opportunity returns to the region. Being part of it fills us with an almost overwhelming sense of awe and humility of the grand universe and our small place in space. It also provides a unique window of learning – not one described in a textbook or simulated on a screen, but one happening right before us.

Thomas Webber sheds light on approaching eclipse

Thomas Webber's business theme at Starlights Nights, LLC is "Where science and imagination meet, there is wonder..."

That will never be more true than during the afternoon on April 8.

Webber, who's made dozens of presentations on eclipses to Clay County schools and community outreach programs, said the partial solar eclipse on Monday afternoon will be "exceptional and mesmerizing and should not be missed."

He and his wife Desiree, a science teacher at Lake Asbury Junior High, have more than 50 years of combined science experience in a variety of settings, and they are qualified to speak on topics within science and science fiction.

Clay Today was honored when Thomas decided to share his thoughts on the approaching eclipse.

KEEP LOOKING UP

The partial eclipse will begin at 1:47 p.m., with maximum coverage at 3:05 p.m. It will end at 4:19 p.m.

It is never safe to look at directly at the Sun, even during a solar eclipse. Doing so can cause irreversible damage to your eyes in just a matter of moments. Sunglasses, welder's glass, or smoked glass will offer protection from the Sun's intense radiation. There are, however, things that you can do to view the solar eclipse safely, like:

- Certified Solar Viewing Glasses with ISO International Rating 12312-2. These are inexpensive and available online and at some local retail centers.
- Pinhole Projector. This is a safe way to view solar because your back is toward the Sun. A small aperture in a piece of cardboard or stretched aluminum foil will project the silhouette of the Sun safely in front of you. Any type of design can easily be made from materials around the home.
- Household items themselves. Pasta strainers, pegboard, saltine crackers, a record – anything with small holes can be used as a pinhole projector. A fun learning/scrapbook activity would be photographing and cataloging different images of the Sun obtained with different items.
- Nature. Simply standing under a tree with your back to the Sun will work. The tiny spaces between the leaves also act as pinhole projectors, creating many images of the Sun on the ground intertwined amongst the shadows.

What is the Lord's Prayer?

The Lord's Prayer is not just a set of words we recite; it's a profound and transformative guide to prayer given to us by Jesus Himself. In Matthew 6:5-7, Jesus instructs his disciples on how to pray sincerely, warning against empty repetitions and emphasizing the importance of heartfelt communication with God.

This timeless prayer consists of five significant components, each offering a unique perspective on our relationship with God:

Adoration: The Lord's Prayer begins with adoration, acknowledging the holiness and greatness of God. We address Him as "Our Father in heaven", recognizing His divine nature and sovereignty over all creation. This sets the tone for our prayer, humbling ourselves before God and expressing reverence for His majesty.

Consecration: Following adoration, we consecrate ourselves to God's will, saying, "Your kingdom come, your will be done, on earth as it is in heaven." This step aligns our desires with God's purposes, surrendering our plans and ambitions to His divine authority. It's a profound act of submission and trust, acknowledging that God's way is always best.

Supplication: In the next part of the prayer, we bring our needs and concerns before God, asking for daily provision and forgiveness. We say, "Give us today our daily bread", acknowledging our dependence on God for sustenance. We also seek forgiveness for our shortcomings, recognizing the importance of repentance and reconciliation in our relationship with God and others.

Intercession: The Lord's Prayer extends beyond our personal needs to include intercession for others. We pray, "Forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors" recognizing our interconnectedness as members of the human family. This component teaches us to extend grace and forgiveness to others as we have received from God.

Protection: Finally, we conclude the prayer with a plea for protection from temptation and evil. We say, "And lead us not into temptation but deliver us from the evil one", acknowledging our vulnerability to sin and our need for God's guidance and protection.

Over the next five weeks, we will examine each of these components, exploring their significance and relevance in our prayer lives. Together, let's walk through the Lord's Prayer, discovering a fresh look at the beauty and power of speaking to our Heavenly Father.

SJR State College, OP Mall getting ready for eclipse

Don't be blinded by lack of preparation, information

Clay Today Staff

ORANGE PARK – Northeast Florida rarely gets to see a solar eclipse – albeit with protected glasses – so St. Johns River College and the Orange Park Mall are making the most of the occasion.

The college will host a viewing party on Monday, April 8, while nine retailers at the mall are providing two special viewing glasses. A solar eclipse occurs when the Moon passes between the Sun and the Earth. It's expected to start at 1:47 p.m. and reach its maximum coverage at 3:04 p.m.

SJR State College will also offer the first 200 guests free viewing glasses. The party will be in the courtyard next to its College Drive campus library. A properly outfitted telescope, eclipse chalk art, and a photo with an eclipse-themed backdrop will be available for a closer look.

Eclipse viewing glasses are available now at the campus library's circulation desk. They were provided by the Solar Eclipse Activities for Libraries program.

The college encourages everyone to register with NASA to receive solar eclipse resources from NASA for free.

Although the eclipse will be 70% partial in Florida, scientists still warn you should only look directly at the eclipse through solar eclipse viewing glasses or a properly filtered telescope. If you don't have access to solar eclipse viewing glasses or a properly filtered telescope, use an indirect projection measure to view the eclipse. You can build your own.

You can even use a colander or an index card with a hole punched to view the eclipse. With the Sun behind you, sunlight passes through the colander or index card and a solar image projects onto a nearby surface. For example, another card, a wall or the ground. Do not look at the Sun through the colander or card. Keep the Sun behind you.

Why is it unsafe to look at the Sun even when only a small part is visible?

According to NASA, "The rods and cones in the human retina are very sensitive to light. Normally, during daylight conditions, the iris contracts so that only a small, safe amount of light passes through the lens and then reaches the retina. However, the Sun's surface is so bright that even a thin sliver of its light can still damage the eye if you look directly at it. When exposed to direct sunlight, retinal cells will become damaged, sometimes permanently. This can happen even after a quick glance at the Sun, so it is very important to never look at the Sun directly. To look at the Sun, use solar viewing glasses or a property-equipped telescope."

Commercial sunglasses will not be sufficient. Eye damage is likely to occur unless specifically designated eclipse glasses are worn.

solar rays will burn through the filter and cause serious eye injury," NASA said.

The Orange Park Mall wants to protect the vision of its patrons by providing free viewing glasses. They are available at Art-sy Abode, Auntie Anne's, Books-A-Million, Buckle, Elegant Jewelers, Kay Jewelers, rue21, Sarku Japan and TGI Fridays.

"We are thrilled to provide our community with the opportunity to safely experience the upcoming partial eclipse," said Randy Bowman, General Manager at Orange Park Mall. "The safety of our patrons is paramount, and we encourage everyone to take advantage of this offer and pick up their free Solar Eclipse Glasses."

"Regular sunglasses, no matter how dark, are not safe for viewing the Sun," even during an eclipse, NASA said.

NASA also warned against watching the eclipse through your phone or camera viewfinder. "Do not look at the Sun through a camera lens, telescope, binoculars or any other optical device while wearing eclipse glasses or using a handheld solar viewer – the concentrated

JSO deputy charged with sexual activity with 17-year-old

CLAY COUNTY – According to the Clay County Sheriff's Office, a Jacksonville Sheriff's Office deputy was arrested Wednesday, March 27, for having unlawful sexual activity with a 17-year-old girl, meeting the girl to have sex, lewd and lascivious behavior, using his cellphone to facilitate a felony and transmitting nude pictures of himself to the girl.

Joseu' Garriga III, 34, resigned shortly before being arrested by CCSO's Special Victims Unit, JSO said.

Joseu' Garriga

According to a release by CCSO, the girl's mother called the agency on March 7 after finding communication "of a concerning and inappropriate nature on her daughter's cellphone."

CCSO forensic investigators found 350 contacts or attempted contacts between Garriga and the girl between Oct. 2, 2023, and March 6. Detectives determined Garriga owned the girl's cellphone.

Detectives said Garriga sent inappropriate photos of himself and asked her to do the same.

His bond in Clay County was set at $375,000.

It's not the first time Garriga has been the focus of scrutiny.

While with JSO, he was cleared in the fatal 2019 shooting of Jamee Johnson. He also was involved in the use-of-force arrest of Le'Keian Woods last year. Both incidents occurred in Jacksonville.

Johnson was stopped for not wearing a seatbelt. Johnson and Garriga struggled, and Johnson was shot four times after Garriga believed he was reaching for a weapon. The State Attorney's Office cleared the deputy of any charges.

Last year, Woods led JSO deputies on a chase after a traffic stop. He was tased twice and fell face-first onto a roadway. He continued to struggle with deputies, including Garriga, and Woods suffered severe injuries to his face and head.

Jamaican fugitive sentenced for identity theft in Clay County

JACKSONVILLE – Senior U.S. District Judge Brian J. Davis sentenced Rohan Conrad Campbell, 50, of Jamaica, to four years and six months in federal prison for wire fraud and aggravated identity theft.

The court also ordered Campbell to forfeit $4,207, which represents the proceeds of his offenses, and pay restitution of $80,208.08 to the victims he defrauded. Campbell entered a guilty plea on Dec. 13, 2023.

According to the plea agreement and public records, on Aug. 5, 2017, Campbell entered a cellphone store in Clay County, used a fraudulently established account and a counterfeit Washington state driver's license in the name of a victim, and obtained multiple cellphones. On Aug. 15, 2017, Campbell visited another cellphone store in Clay County to collect cellphones he had fraudulently ordered using another victim's identity. A store employee recognized Campbell and called the Clay County Sheriff's Office. Upon arriving and contacting Campbell, Campbell provided a deputy with a counterfeit Washington state driver's license in the identity of a third victim. As a deputy talked with him, Campbell attempted to flee but was apprehended. Further investigation by the CCSO and the U.S. Secret Service determined that Campbell had set up numerous fraudulent accounts using counterfeit identification documents in the identity of 10 different victims. He obtained thousands of dollars of cellphones from multiple stores in Florida.

Campbell was arrested on May 31, 2018.

After being released under pre-trial supervision, he fled the jurisdiction in August 2019, and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Campbell remained a fugitive for more than three years until law enforcement in Florida arrested him in early 2023.

The Clay County Sheriff's Office and the U.S. Secret Service – Jacksonville Field Office investigated the case. Assistant U.S. Attorney Kevin C. Frein prosecuted it. Assistant U.S. Attorney Jennifer M. Harrington handled the asset forfeiture.

Easter proved to be unusually difficult day for local law enforcement

Fifteen minutes later, Desiree Stephanie Zapata, 32, was stopped for suspicion of driving under the influence in the 2500 block of Blanding Boulevard in Middleburg. CCSO said she resisted, obstructed and opposed orders before being arrested.

At 5:03 p.m., deputies responded to a trespassing call near PCN Bank on County Road 220 on Fleming Island. Marcel Anthony Anderson, 36, wound up being Once at the sub-station, CCSO said he fought with deputies and attempted to escape. As they were escorting him to a patrol car, Corker struck the deputy in the arm and threw his weight into the deputy to throw him off balance in an effort to flee. Two deputies were able to subdue Corker and place him in the patrol car.

During the booking process, detention deputies found two tin foil packets hidden in Corker's buttocks. One contained molly, the other contained two rocks of crack cocaine.

Corker's bond was set at $255,018.

ITV v. Post Office Ltd.: British series follows groundbreaking 'Mr. Bates' case

"The Sympathizer" (Max — April 14, Miniseries Premiere)

Based on Viet Thanh Nguyen's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel of the same name, this series is an espionage thriller and cross-culture satire about the struggles of a half-French, half-Vietnamese communist spy during the final days of the Vietnam War and his new life as a refugee in Los Angeles, where he learns that his spying days aren't over. Hoa Xuande, Fred Nguyen Khan, Toan Le, Phanxine, Vy Le, Ky Duyen, Kieu Chinh, Duy Nguyen, Alan Trong, Sandra Oh and Robert Downey Jr. star.

Lesley Nicol in "Mr Bates vs The Post Office"

Television is much more than just a means for entertainment these days. In fact, ever since television sets replaced radio as the dominant broadcast medium in the mid-1950s, television writers have sought ways to incorporate realism and resonance into their art. Sure, some shows prefer to lean more into escapist elements, but many seek to connect with their audience by way of truth and representation instead. The few shows that can do both often see the results come awards season.

One show making waves this year for its veritas is ITV's "Mr Bates vs the Post Office," and while it is still too early to tell how many awards are coming down the pipe for the four-episode British miniseries, it has already sparked a "firestorm of public outrage" and forced the U.K.'s higher-ups to make a lasting change for the better — and some would argue that alone is far better than any award.

"Mr Bates vs the Post Office" makes its North American debut Sunday, April 7, on PBS Masterpiece (check your local listings) and the PBS streaming service.

Starring Primetime Emmy-nominated actor and BAFTA winner Toby Jones ("Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy," 2011) as the titular Alan Bates, "Mr Bates vs the Post Office" follows the very real story of one man's quest to hold the government-owned postal service, called Post Office Limited, accountable for one of the biggest scandals in Britain's legal history.

As early as the year 2000, subpostmasters — a title attributed to a selection of self-employed, Post Office Ltd.-approved post office managers — from all over the U.K. began to notice errors in their records. Hoping to rectify the issues and dedicated to solving a potentially huge system failure, several subpostmasters — including Bates, who was located in Llandudno, Wales — began writing the Post Office to voice their concerns about its Horizon IT system, implemented to properly manage the business's many accounts. Instead of being touted for their proactivity and diligence, however, the subpostmasters were shocked to find themselves at the center of a kingdom-wide scandal.

"Horizon is an extremely robust system which operates over our entire Post Office network and successfully records millions of transactions each day," Post Office Ltd. told ComputerWeekly.com in 2009. "There is no evidence that points to any fault with the technology."

So confident in their own system, the British postal service chose to prosecute 900 of their "sub" employees from 1999 to 2015, sending a staggering 236 of them to jail for various financial "losses."

Thankfully, due to the hard work and determination of Bates and the 500 or so fellow subpostmasters he led, Horizon and Post Office Ltd. were found responsible for a gross miscarriage of justice, with Horizon on the hook for nearly £60M in damages to affected subpostmasters after 19 years of legal battles.

"Our ambition in telling this story was simply that the subpostmasters felt heard," said series executive producer Patrick Spence. "We were so angry on their behalf, we wanted others to feel it, too; and they did: the whole country is angry now! They rose up to stand beside the subpostmasters with such determination and such rage that the prime minister had no choice but to act within days. They certainly feel heard now."

The limited series — which co-stars Monica Dolan ("Pride," 2014), Julie Hesmondhalgh ("Coronation Street"), Will Mellor ("Two Pints of Lager and a Packet of Crisps"), Amy Nuttall ("Emmerdale Farm"), Susan Brown ("Game of Thrones"), Conor Mullen ("Red Rock"), Lesley Nicol ("Downton Abbey") and Ifan Huw Dafydd ("Holby City"), to name a few — resulted in consequential action on the part of King Charles III, who formally revoked former Post Office CEO Paula Vennells' (portrayed by Lia Williams, "His Dark Materials") CBE (Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire award) on Feb. 23, 2024, with full support from Prime Minister Rishi Sunak on account of "bringing the honors system into disrepute."

"'Mr Bates vs The Post Office' is a testament to the people who persisted in their search for truth and justice," says Susanne Simpson, another of the series' executive producers. "The producers of this powerful drama have reignited the public interest in the subpostmasters' 20-year quest for justice."

Simpson added: "I'm incredibly proud that Masterpiece will bring this story to the American audience."

The true-to-life drama debuted on ITV over the first four days of 2024, ushering in a renewed sense of hope for a new year in the U.K.

Distributed internationally by ITV Studios, "Mr Bates vs the Post Office" is written by Gwyneth Hughes ("Vanity Fair") and directed by "Broadchurch's" James Strong.

Don't miss the series that beat "Downton Abbey's" average viewership record while initiating a wide-scale system change: "Mr Bates vs the Post Office" premieres on PBS's Masterpiece and the PBS streaming service Sunday, April 7.

Friends of Fieri: Noah Cappe continues Guy Fieri's search for the best bites around

When Fieri calls, Cappe answers: joining Guy Fieri's ("Diners, Drive-ins and Dives") never-ending search for the greatest eats around, celebrity chef Noah Cappe ("Carnival Eats") takes the wheel of the all-new series, "Best Bite in Town," premiering Friday, April 12, on Food Network.

"For years, I've been rollin' out to towns big and small lookin' for joints serving up amazing dishes. But no matter how many miles I put on the Camaro, I just can't fit 'em all into 'DDD.' So I've called in my buddy Noah Cappe and the Bite Club to help me out, and they are hittin' the road to find some killer small-town dishes on their own," said Fieri, introducing his flame-lovin' fans to his latest (shared) endeavor.

Joined by Tiffani Faison ("Chopped"), Shota Nakajima ("Top Chef"), Joe Sasto ("Best Bite in Town"), Aarti Sequeira ("Aarti Party"), Jet Tila ("Cutthroat Kitchen") and other Food Network stars — who make up the newly dubbed "Bite Club" — Cappe will travel from location to location, checking out two of Fieri's restaurant picks at each and every stop.

"From indulging in Banh Mi in Tulsa, Oklahoma, to savoring an authentic sushi experience in Davis, California, and enjoying oysters in Placerville, California, [the Bite Club] is on the hunt for the most amazing local dish," the network explains. "Together, they explore the local food scene in cities across the country, visiting six of the most popular spots in each one. After scouring the town and tasting a wide variety of cuisines, Noah and the Bite Club nominate three exceptional dishes to present to a panel of esteemed culinary judges to determine the Best Bite In Town."

Newly appointed to the "Flavortown city council," Cappe couldn't contain his excitement for the upcoming series, sharing: "This series is a whole new ride with every episode culminating in a flavor-packed showdown highlighting the epic eats that these communities are serving up."

"It's more than just finding the best bite in town," he says. "It's about celebrating the heart and flavor of each community,"

From Knuckle Sandwich and Citizen Pictures, "Best Bite in Town" premieres Friday, April 12, on Food Network.

'Challenge' pros: New season of 'The Challenge' packed with 'All Star' all stars.

Bigger, badder and more "challenging" than ever, Season 4 of "The Challenge: All Stars" kicks off with two action-packed, back-to-back episodes, streaming Wednesday, April 10, on Paramount+.

In a competition comprised of reality TV legends, it's hard to raise the stakes — but somehow, season after season, "The Challenge" manages to surprise not only its most die-hard viewers but also its most competent and capable "All Stars," with a high-octane sprint packed with twists, turns and a whole lot of "dirty" gameplay.

As a new group of competitors approach the starting line, Variety has shared exclusive details of what's to come, promising the return of "old-school legends, modern power players, redemption-seekers and ex-lovers," as 25 of the show's top veterans — hailing from shows like "The Real World," "Road Rules," "The Challenge," and "Are You the One?" — head to Cape Town, South Africa, where they will form teams and compete for a grand prize of $300,000.

This time around, fans can expect to see some beloved "vets" who haven't competed in "The Challenge" for years, "including Cara Maria Sorbello [Season 34], Rachel Robinson [Season 22], Adam Larson [Season 11], Avery Tressler [Season 28] and Brandon Nelson [Season 25]," according to Variety.

The publication goes on to explain that multiple cast members will also return with only one previous "Challenge" under their belts: "Kefla Hare, who debuted on 'Road Rules: Down Under,' only competed in 1999's 'Real World vs. Road Rules,' while 'The Real World: Miami' alum Flora Aleksyeyun only played in 2002's 'Battle of the Seasons.' Jay Gotti, from 2014's 'Real World: Ex-Plosion,' only competed in 'Battle of the Exes II' in 2015," it explains.

The season's greatest alliances, however, may rest within the "All Star" franchise itself, as nearly half of the returning contestants (10 of 25) have appeared in previous iterations of this top-notch spinoff.

Leroy Garrett is a contestant in season 4 of "The Challenge: All Stars"

Ayanna Mackins, Derek Chavez, Janelle Casanave, Jasmine Reynaud, Ryan Kehoe, Steve Meinke and Tina Barta will all be returning from 2021's "All Stars 2" cast, while Ace Amerson ("All Stars 1"), Brad Fiorenza and Syrus

Yarbrough (both of "All Stars 3") are prepared to give it their all this second time around.

Whether their former "All Star" status will give them an advantage in the game, one thing's for sure: The competition will be tough when Season 4 of "The Challenge: All Stars" premieres Wednesday, April 10, on Paramount+.

Just as most people have their favorite screen James Bond, most have their favorite James Bond movie.

For many purists, "From Russia With Love" ranks extremely high on the list. Being shown by Cinemax on Thursday, April 11, the 1963 caper came close on the heels of Sean Connery's debut as Agent 007 in "Dr. No" ... and much of the appeal of the second round rests in the actor's cool confidence in a role he grew into very quickly. There's also satisfaction for Bond devotees in the film being one of the most literal adaptations of a novel by Ian Fleming, since gadgetry began to compete heavily with story starting with the follow-up, "Goldfinger."

Though Bond — or someone we think is him — appears in the pre-credits sequence that became a standard Bond element with "From Russia With Love," it actually takes a while for him to enter the picture in full. Early scenes are devoted to introducing various villains such as Rosa Klebb (Lotte Lenya), she of the poison-tipped knife concealed in her shoe, and impressively strong henchman Red Grant (Robert Shaw, 12 years before his "Jaws" turn as Quint).

They're in on a plot to discredit Bond by luring him with a much-coveted decoding machine, then filming him while he's being seduced by one of their allies (played by Daniela Bianchi). A problem is that she genuinely falls hard for our hero, of course, leaving her loyalty in doubt until the moment when it counts the most.

While "From Russia With Love" has many highlights, the culmination of a tense trip aboard the Orient Express surely is among the best. Returning from "Dr. No," director Terence Young stages a train-compartment fight that's as brutal as it could be, and it has held up very well over nearly 60 (!) years. The helicopter and boat chases that follow also continue to stand up nicely.

Another cast member hugely deserving of mention is Pedro Armendariz, who was terminally ill when he filmed the part of Bond's jovial Turkish contact Kerim Bey. The performer makes every moment he's on the screen count; this entry also marked the first appearance of Desmond Llewelyn as weapons expert Q (the briefcase he gives Bond for the mission is legendary), and Bernard Lee and Lois Maxwell are back as boss M and secretary Miss Moneypenny.

What now for 'Chicago Fire' alum Kara Killmer?

Kara Killmer during her time in "Chicago Fire"

Q: What will Kara Killmer be doing, now that she has left "Chicago Fire"?

- Janice Kennedy, via e-mail

A: As of this writing, no definite plans for (or by) her had been announced, though she made mention that she had an audition for a part just before her final episode of the NBC drama aired. For the 10 years she was on the show, "Chicago Fire" was pretty much her exclusive job, though she also starred in the 2017 Lifetime movie "My Husband's Secret Life" (also known as "Sleeper"). Killmer also appeared in the 2015 feature film "Beyond the Mask," a historical action-adventure tale, and she later married the movie's male lead, Andrew Cheney. She has said that she is "wide open" to different kinds of projects now, and in any medium, be it television, theatrical movies or theater.

However, she added that she's also open to bringing her Sylvie Brett back to "Chicago Fire" on a guest-star basis if the given situation lends itself to that.

Q: I've found the new version of "Shogun" interesting. When was the first version originally on? - Matt Cramer, Covington, Ga.

A: The first TV miniseries based on James Clavell's best seller aired on NBC over five consecutive nights in September 1980, with Richard Chamberlain starring as John Blackthorne, the English navigator taken prisoner when his trading ship landed in feudal Japan in the early 17th century. The saga won two Primetime Emmys, three Golden Globes and a Peabody Award.

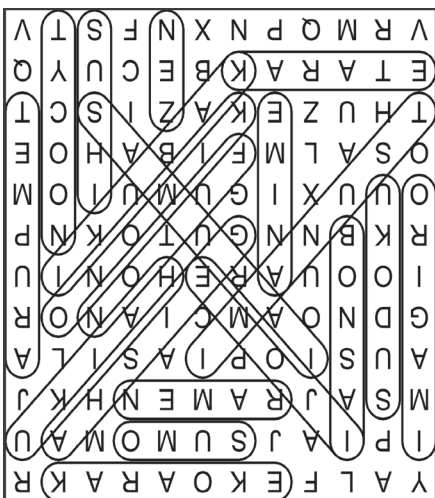

Though Chamberlain was the unofficial "king of the miniseries" during that era, given his successes in that genre, Sean Connery reportedly was sought to play Blackthorne — as was one of his James Bond successors, Roger Moore. However, the notion of Connery agreeing to film a project on location in Japan was pretty much a pipe dream at that point, since he had been quite vocal about his displeasure with making the 1967 Bond movie "You Only Live Twice" there.

Q: I see that Jimmy Fallon will celebrate his 10th anniversary as the host of "The Tonight Show" in May. Since Seth Meyers had his "Late Night" 10th-anniversary show in February, did he really start his current job before Fallon did? - Joe Wills, via e-mail

A: Actually, Fallon began first, taking over NBC's "Tonight Show" from Jay Leno (who suggested a February transition to take advantage of that year's Winter Olympics coverage by the network) on Feb. 17, 2014. Meyers then started his NBC gig a week later on Feb. 24, succeeding previous "Late Night" host Fallon.

A big reason for Fallon's 10-year celebration being slated for May is to give it a two-hour prime-time slot in a month that still has big ratings significance. The special's May 14 date is a Tuesday, so the regular "Tonight Show" slot that night could be filled by an overrun of the prime-time show; the plan for that hour hadn't been specified yet at the time of this writing.

Cooper Hickey not afraid to get hands dirty at the Fair

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

LAKE ASBURY – Put an obstacle course in front of Cooper Hickey, hand the seventh-grader from Lake Asbury Junior High a set of keys to a tractor and ask him to navigate through it, and he won't flinch.

He's never more at home when he's in the middle of a barnyard or a field, no matter the challenge.

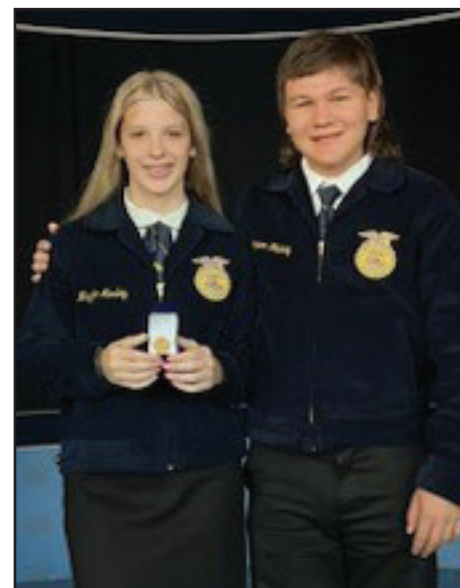

And while he's stepping a little out of his comfort zone in June to compete in the FFA Middle School Extemporaneous Public Speaking Contest and the Florida State Convention and Leadership Conference, he knows he can rely on his passion for forestry, cattle operations and farming to make a good impression on the judges.

"It will be a random subject, something we draw from a hat," Cooper said. "After that, we have 10 minutes to write a three-to-five-minute speech. Sometimes, you have to wing it as you go."

Cooper has a binder with a lot of USDA facts and plenty of Florida Farm Bureau cattlemen magazines and records. But more than anything else, he has experience working in the woods, fields and barns. He has enough firsthand information, he knows he can give the judges everything they want to know.

Cooper has been a fixture at the Clay County Agriculture Fair since he was 8 when he was showing market swine. He's worked in the Padgett House in the Early Florida Village, the Unlimited Opportunities Goat Show for children with special needs and Ag Town. Last year, he won first place in the Tractor Driving Competition at

Tyler Brock's Poultry Pals to take flight at Clay Fair

Special needs contestants to showcase their chickens on April 11

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Tyler Brock felt an emptiness last year when he said goodbye to some Unlimited Opportunities Goat Show contestants.

The experience was rewarding. As a buddy, he worked with individuals with special needs, who showcased their goats and answered questions about their animals and experiences.

Contestants were overwhelmed with joy and confidence; buddies felt a quiet accomplishment.

"They do this amazing show at the county fair with the unlimited goats, but it's for individuals in kindergarten through 12th grade," Brock said. "Once they graduate, they don't have that opportunity anymore. I came to realize they don't have a lot of opportunities for adults with special needs. So I figured I needed to create another opportunity that's not goats. This one's called Poultry Pals, and they'll actually be showing that chicken inside the Fair."

Many of this year's Poultry Pals competition were in last year's Unlimited Opportunities Goat Show, including Tyler's Poultry Pal, Patrick.

Participants in Poultry Pals are high school graduates or currently in a transition program at a post-high school. They will be paired with a 2024 4-H or FFA member who has experience showing animals at a competitive level and will be considered a Buddy.

The Buddy and the Adult Exhibitor will work together to walk a silkie chicken into the show ring for judging. The adult Exhibitor and their Buddy will work together so everyone is comfortable with the judging process.

Through this competition, Exhibitors will also learn chicken facts to answer questions posed by a judge.

The pageantry involving the adults and their silkie chickens will start at 5 p.m. on Thursday, April 11, at the

XXXXX

J.P. Hall Livestock Arena.

Officially, Tyler's mother, Dana, is the superintendent of the program because her son is an eighth grader at Lake Asbury Junior High, but she said the title is merely symbolic. Tyler is responsible for creating the project.

"I'm just along for the ride and to support him," she said.

Silkie chickens are flightless and are without spurs. Contestants were required to attend two practice sessions, and they seemed enamored by their chirpy little friends.

Brock is the President of the Future

Farmers of America at Lake Asbury.

"Actually, I started FFA because of chickens," he said. "I had four chickens even though we were in a place where we shouldn't have chickens. We still had the chickens, and that started me out. I came closer to animals and students with special needs through chickens."

Brock hopes Poultry Pals becomes the springboard for other projects.

"So there'll be adults that are twice as old as buddies, but that's still OK because we still want all these adults to have a continuous opportunity," Brock said. "Everyone deserves the same opportunity."

12 earn 'Schools of Excellence' designations by state

For School News

CLAY COUNTY – The Florida Department of Education notified the Clay County District Schools that for the second consecutive year, 12 of its schools had earned the designation as a School of Excellence.

Discovery Oaks, Fleming Island, Keystone Heights, Lakeside, Orange Park, Robert M. Paterson, Lake Asbury, Thunderbolt and Shadowlawn elementary schools, Fleming Island High and Lakeside and Green Cove Springs junior highs all returned after earning spots for the 2022-23 school year.

"You know, it's an interesting time in public education," Superintendent David Broskie said. "I would just express how proud I am of all of our schools in Clay County. For schools to achieve schools of excellence is even that much more special for those schools."

The state requires to designate a school as a School of Excellence, the school's percentage of possible points earned in its school grade calculation is in the 80th percentile or higher for schools comprised of the same grade groupings (elementary, middle, high and combination) for at least two of the last three school years. Schools that initially qualify for the designation retain their designation as a School of Excellence for up to three years, at the end of which they may renew the designation.

"It's been a good year, a good year indeed," Broskie said. "It really has been an exciting year, and we're looking forward to the future. We're going to focus on early literacy, focus on CTE programs and providing educational opportunities for all students, regardless of their ability level and interest. Which, I said in the State of the Schools, is very difficult. Everybody has a different interest, and you have 42,000 (student) different interests. It's kind of hard to consolidate it into a program, but I think we do a pretty good job of providing opportunities for all students in Clay County."

OAKLEAF – The Oakleaf Winterguard made history by becoming the Class AAA Champions and bringing home a gold medal at the FFCC Championships in Daytona.

He was the first Grand Champion Intermediate Ag Mechanics Project for the fire pit he welded at the Florida State Fair in Tampa and the first Grand Champion Intermediate Ag Mechanics for Showmanship. This year, he was selected by the Fair's Board of Directors as one of five Volunteers of the Year.

At Lake Asbury, he's a member of the AgVentures 4-H Club and the Vice President of the FFA Chapter.

"I'm fourth generation," Cooper said. "My family's always been around cattle, forestry, swine. As I got older, I got to see things from a different perspective. It's very important for many people in this county that agriculture is the theme for this Fair."

Cooper said no matter how fast Clay County grows, he said it's up to his generation – and those that follow – to make sure the county never gets lost in the five o'clock rush. It needs to take time to till the land and plant beans, smell the fresh-cut hay, move cattle to another field and even wince when it's downwind of the pig pen.

"What makes Clay County special is that we have all our original stuff (at Early Florida Village)," he said. "It's cool to show people our heritage, especially since Clay County is growing so fast – one of the fastest-growing counties in Florida. Agri-business is a way of life for a lot of us here."

Indians overwhelm weightlifting districts

Lowery secret: "Give me just five pounds"

By Randy Lefko
randy@claytodayonline.com

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS - With 120 points the maximum a team can accrue at a district, region, or state championship event in weightlifting, Keystone Heights High's boy's team put down an astounding 111-point effort in winning both the Olympics and Traditional titles at their district 7-1A championship meet on Friday at Keystone Heights High School.

"It's pretty simple," said Keystone Heights High weightlifting coach Lantz Lowery, at the start of an unprecedented fourth straight state title run for the Indians. "We put a sheet together of every athlete at the start of the season and ask them to add just five pounds each week.

PEPSI Relays/Don Hall Invite FIHS Mollicone faster: 1:53

MHS Underwood sneaks into discus elites

By Randy Lefko
randy@claytodayonline.com

GAINESVILLE - Among the best track and field athletes in Florida, Middleburg discus thrower Madison Underwood and Fleming Island 800 meter specialist Roman Mollicone produced rankings-shaking results in their events on Friday in Gainesville at the prestigious PEPSI Relays on the University of Florida campus.

Underwood, who winged the saucer 133 feet, one inch to a win at the Don Hall Invitational on Thursday at Orange Park came back on Friday to place fourth in an elite field with a 132'-5" toss with the top five throwers all over 130 feet. Underwood's two tosses put her in a strong top-five position; fourth, in Class 3A with two throwers; Julia Lemmon of Fort Myers and Lauren Kirby of Somerset both over 150 feet.

"I'm getting in my groove after an injury last year," said Underwood, who finished fifth in 3A last year with a 123'-0" toss with Lemmon the defending champion with a 148'-0" toss last year. "I'm stronger and getting faster in the circle."

Faster around the track oval has been the story of Mollicone who has second by second inched down to record-setting splits with a recent 1:55 then 1:54 times topped with a third place 1:53.51 Friday in Gainesville. Mollicone is known for his final 200-meter surge and pulled away from a fast pack to finish behind frontrunners Riley Smith of Buchholz in 1:50.96 and Alejandro de Bastos of Pembroke Pines in 1:51.85. Mollicone's split, a new school record that has eclipsed his previous records set this season, is also on the path to putting Mollicone in position to earn a state title which Fleming Island grad Cameron

Mussante tops 10K field at Embry Riddle

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. – The Florida Southern women's track team opened up action at the Embry-Riddle Running Elements Classic Friday afternoon with six new top-10 all-time records while the Moccasins swept the podium in the final event of the evening, the 10,000m. The one-two-three finish accounted for the second, third and fifth-best times in program history in the 10K. Junior Emma Mussante, junior Mya Stam and graduate student Cheyenne Young went one-two-three in the 10,000m late Friday night. Mussante, a Middleburg High graduate, was the first to cross the line as she earned the second-fastest time in program history at 37:02.89. Stam stopped the clock just under four seconds later at 37:06.11 for the third-ranked all-time mark while Young came across in 37:25.66 to take third in the race and fifth in the FSC record book. In the 1500, Fleming Island High graduate Marisa Kortright clocked a 5:24.35 split for 51st place. In the men's 800, Keystone Heights High graduate Alex Guy, a graduate student at Florida Southern, finished in 1:53.11 to finish sixth overall with teammate Anthony Matthew fifth in 1:52.98, to post the sixth fastest time in Mocs' track program history.

in Olympics with Fort White second at 48.

In district 6-1A, West Nassau won both disciplines with scores of 81-53 over Fernandina Beach at Olympics and 74-24 in Traditional over Fernandina Beach.

In district 8-1A, Williston topped Santa Fe 78-36 in Traditional and won over Bronson in Olympics 93-33.

For Keystone Heights, top lifters for the day were Trey Jeffries, at 238, in Traditional with teammates Ben Ulsch (169) and Jayden Goodman (219) second and third, and, at 169, Ben Ulsch in Olympics with teammates Wyatt Van Zant (138) and Jeffries second and third.

“My job is to keep the team positive,” said Jeffries, a defending individual state champion for Lowery at 219 in Traditional with a 645 total last year and an already massive 705 total this year. “We all have bad lifts along the way, but it is important to learn from it and get the next one. The key to our strength at Keystone Heights is exactly our strength and we just keep putting up nine good lifts per guy.”

In 2023, Keystone Heights won the region 2-1A title over Suwannee 56-53 in Traditional and was second in Olympics 74-54 to Suwannee with the third-place finishers at 21 and 14 points, respectively.

“That’s the battle,” said Lowery. “We have to stick a few more pounds in the Olympics where they are the best team in the state and hope for a mistake or two.”

In the district lineup on Friday, in Traditional, Keystone Heights had individual titles at 119 to Tyson Baxter, at 129 to Colton Hollingsworth, at 139 to Wyatt Van Zant, at 154 to Davin Adams, at 169 to Ben Ulsch, at 199 to Zane Leger, at 219 to Jayden Goodman, and at 238 to Trey Jeffries.

In Olympics, titles went to Baxter, Van Zant, Adams, Ulsch, Leger, Goodman, Jeffries and, at Unlimited Tyler Duncan.

Lowery reiterated that his team has discretion on going big with weights with one stipulation.

“Win your weight class, then go big,” said Lowery. “We get to state and we are going to put our numbers. Then the other teams have to beat us. Our guys are in their element when they get there because they have been training to be close to max when we get there. When you have to chase numbers, you make mistakes and we win.”

Two mighty mite lifters for Indians are, left, Tyson Baxter at 119, with a 365 total in Traditional and 270 in Olympics for two district titles with teammate Wyatt Van Zant, right, in 139, setting school records with a 395 total in Olympics and 445 in Traditional.

Indians' weightlifting success 'showing up'

Former champion takes a look back

By Randy Lefko
randy@claytodayonline.com

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS - Keystone Heights High graduate Mason Dicks had to come back from a sixth-place state championship finish in his junior year to a splendid. Still, excruciatingly close region and state championship wins in his senior year.

The keys, said Dicks, as he returned to his alma mater Friday to officiate lifts at the district 7-1A championships, is believing in the process under coach Lantz Lowery.

"He's the key," said Dicks, the 1A Unlimited champion in 2022 with a massive 730-pound total. "He has the plan mapped out from day one when we walk into the weight room. It's not rocket science, but you have to be there every day. That's the key."

Dicks, who started lifting in seventh grade, noted that the vibe of having not outright won both titles last year; the Class 1A traditional title, but second in a tie in Olympics scoring with South Sumter as former 2A champion Suwannee High is now a Class 1A program, is a motivating factor for the 2024 team.

"For sure, this team is motivated to bring both trophies home," said Dicks. "I talk to them and work out with them and that vibe is there."

For Lowery, the mindset of potential candidates for the latest Keystone Heights weightlifting team is something that has grown to legendary status as the years have progressed and the state title trophies have cluttered up the Indians' trophy case.

"It is a special kind of cat that walks through the door and is confident that he can do what we do every day for just 15 minutes of glory," said Lowery. "It borders on insane the work that this team does to prepare. This morning, we were here at 6:30 a.m. doing a workout, then returned way before the start of today's meet doing a 24 set of bench press."

Dicks also cited that the 2024 team differs a bit from his 2022 team in one aspect.

"This team has a lot more focus," said Dicks. "We were locked in, but these guys are very focused on their technique and it's not all about just throwing big weights around."

Dicks revealed Lowery's secret sauce as just one thing.

"Reps on reps on reps," said Dicks. "It is doing more reps than you can think about so that when you are tired, it's just muscle memory kicking in."

The transition from multiple reps to the massive weights that the Keystone Heights team hoists comes from the training of every little muscle in the body.

"During lots of reps, like 75-80 percent max, you train the small stabilizer muscles," said Dicks. "This team trains when they are tired. Some of it is mental, most of it is doing the 20-25 reps at 75 percent then adding five or 10 pounds."

Dicks noted Lowery downplays most of the season's progress until the post-season where he has mastered the numbers.

"We are just told to get all nine lifts (three per technique; Snatch, Clean and Jerk, Bench Press)," said Dicks. "When the team won in 2014, we had no individual champions but we scored a lot of points with guys in the top 10. Bring more guys, score more points, and get a chance at a record. Fifth and sixth places get two and one point, it all adds up."

Lowery reiterates the win part of the contest but gives his guys a free option to go big.

"We just had a kid who was going to win his weight class after his second lift and he asked, asked, to go to 285 on the third lift," said Lowery. "Get the win, if you feel it, go for a record or a personal best. Team first."

The aura of the Keystone Heights weightlifting legend has grown over the past five years and Dicks acknowledged that that itself is one of the motivating factors.

"When Keystone Heights shows up, you

Broncos, Eagles set to clash at region weightlifting

New faces emerge for region chase

By Randy Lefko

YULEE - With district boys weightlifting titles won by Fleming Island and Middleburg in two separate districts last week, the clash of Region 1-2A 2024 at Choctawhatchee High School on Thurs., April 4 will feature both schools looking for numbers going to state.

Fleming Island, a defending 2A state co-champion with Choctawhatchee last year with both tied at 19 points and runner-up New Smyrna Beach at 18 in Traditional and also tied at 25 points for the Olympics title with Leesburg with Choctawhatchee at 22 and Lemon Bay at 20, more numbers, hopefully, will be added to in the county mix to state with Middleburg taking both ends of their district meet at Baker County with impressive totals of 81 and 64 points beating Baker County.

Fleming Island lost two-time state champion coach Damentyum Springs to Georgia, but new coach Sean Coultis has been in the mix with a successful campaign this year with the girl's weightlifting team.

"My first year, we got two state champions coming back; Kevin Reyes and Tyler Beverly, but a lot of young guys that are working hard," said Coultis. "We lost two state champs; Jered Rhodes and Zach Davis, lost Gage Isbell; second in the state last year, to Middleburg and lost Braden Cunningham, seventh in the state last year, to track. That being said, we hand-selected a bunch of kids that are mentally tough."

Middleburg's emergence as a contender comes with the Broncos and Ridgeview's Panthers, now under new coach Merlin Smith, finishing eighth and ninth at last year's 2A championships in Traditional and Ridgeview 17th, Middleburg 27th in Olympics.

Fleming Island boys weightlifting team, under new coach Sean Coultis, looks to get a repeat shot at the Class 3A title after winning both last year. Fleming Island doubled down with district titles in Olympics and Traditional last week.

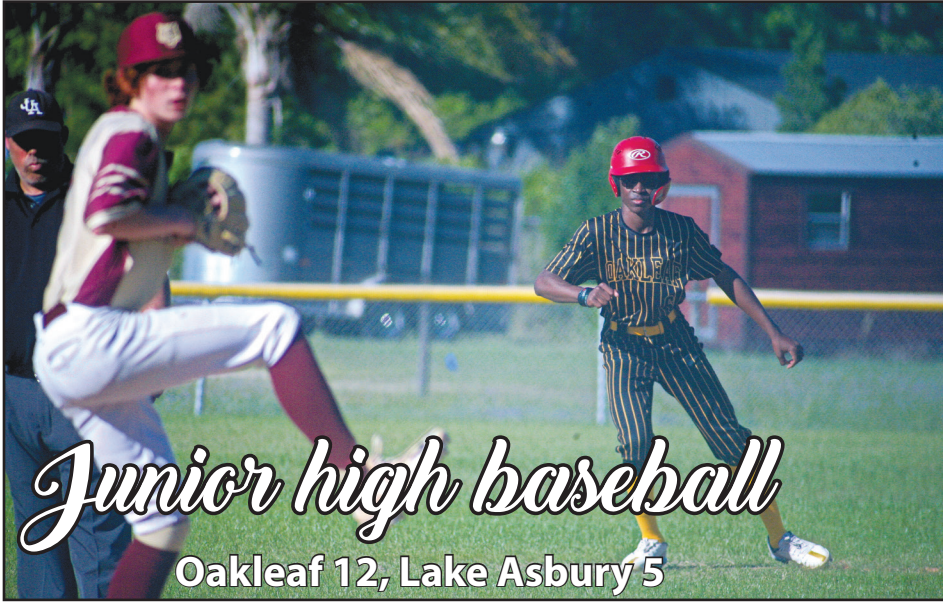

Golden Eagles getting a 57-51 win over Yulee with Ridgeview third at 50 in Traditional while, in Olympics, Fleming Island won a bit more decisively with a 61-51 slate over Yulee with Ridgeview again third at 48 in a tight 1-2-3 in both disciplines.

Fleming Island ace in the hole is defending Olympics state champion Kevin Reyes, who only needed 495 pounds to win his district title, but hit 540 to win his state title last year.

For Middleburg, in district 3-2A, returners will be Gage Isbell, third behind

PALM COAST - Oakleaf High's boys weightlifting team was in familiar territory last week as their district 3-3A frontrunner; Spruce Creek, did what they were expected with Oakleaf taking the runnerup spot at Flagler Palm Coast High.

Oakleaf sends a contingency of lifters to the Region 1-3A championship meet on Sat., April 6 at Navarre High.

With defending 3A champion Spruce Creek; also a 27 times state champion, in full force with a 95-33 win over Oakleaf in Traditional and a 98-35 win over Oakleaf in Olympics, the Knights came home with individual titles from Elijah Shevchook at 154 in both disciplines. Shevchook competed at 169 last year.

Ironically, the Shevchook kitchen counter will also have runnerup trophies from Elijah's brother Noah, was second by body weight at 129 in Olympics with a 405 total to Nease's Sam Lewis and second to Lewis in Traditional by 20 pounds.

Noah Shevchook and Lewis are very familiar with each other with Lewis ahead of Shevchook in last year's district championships; third and fourth in Olympics, and third and fifth in Traditional, last year.

At the 3A championships last year,

Oakleaf 154 Elijah Shevchook will be looking to get sibling medals with younger brother Noah a top contender at 129.

Shevchook finished ninth with Lewis fourth in Traditional with Lewis fifth and Shevchook ninth in Olympics.

For Oakleaf, in Traditional, top finishers were Ray Williams in 119; third in Traditional and Olympics; Gentle Clark in 139; second in Traditional, third in Olympics; Lucius Manley in 183; third in eighth in Traditional; Ethan Simons in 238; fourth in Traditional, third in Olympics; and Tony Gray in Unlimited; third in Olympics, third in Traditional.

Reyes last year in Unlimited as well as second in Traditional as a Fleming Island lifter and Josh Senear, who was second in Traditional last year at 169.

For both teams, as well as a handful of new faces bent on making splashes at regions; Jayden Campbell, Ridgeview 129 with a 330 total at 129 in Olympics (win by 55 pounds) and a 410 total in Traditional (win by 55 pounds also), and Brice Sagar, Orange Park 169 (second by just 10 pounds in Olympics with 410 total), but tied with defending Olympics champion Tyler Beverly and just 10 ahead of Stephan Brevall of Ridgeview, the road to state will need a big region meet.

In 2023, Fleming Island finished third in the region meet in both disciplines with Choctawhatchee winning over Fort Walton Beach in both events.

Beverly had a 490 total last year win the Olympics state title at 169.

"Those two guys; Reyes and Beverly, are in line to get through districts and regions, get to state, then go big," said Coultis. "They are the defending champions and no what it takes."

In the big weights, Fleming Island got a 395 total at 183 in Olympics from David Smith, Ridgeview's Shane Georges won at 199 with a 430 and Ridgeview's Braylon Hawkins won at 238 with a 470 total, all in Olympics. Smith and Hawkins were both second in Traditional; Smith by 10 pounds, Hawkins by 60. Reyes won Unlimited by 25 pounds.

Winning Traditional titles in District 4-2A also were Aidan Johannsen of Fleming Island at 154 (505 total, win by 35), David Lava of Orange Park at 169 (540 total, win by 15 over Gavin Gapinski of Orange Park and Beverly of Fleming Island); Riley Stechschulte of Ridgeview at 183 (495 total by 10 over David Smith of Fleming Island); Jayden Smith of Fleming Island at 199 (545 total, win by 30 pounds), and Reyes (625 total, win by 25 pounds).

For Middleburg in district 3-2A, Senear was dominant in his 169 weight class with a 635 total in Traditional winning by 115 pounds with a 35-pound gap in Olympics with a 440 total. Middleburg had three more district titles in Olympics with Charles Little at Unlimited, Trent Robinson at 139 and Jammes Harris at 119.

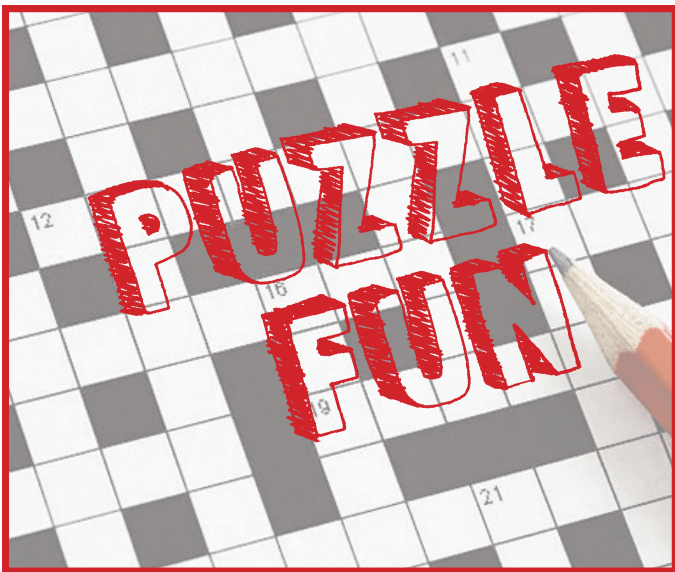

Harris also won in Traditional with Little fifth.

In the Unlimited, Isbell won with a 655 total by 45 pounds in Tradition while in Olympics, Little was ahead of three Clay County athletes; Eli Escoa, Yadriel Rivera Burgos, both of Clay, and Middleburg's Luke Green giving chase.

For Clay, at 129, Zerek Migliore won his Traditional district title with a 400 total; winning by 35 pounds, and the Olympics title with a 330 total besting Middleburg's Carson Meets by 105 pounds.

Keystone Heights 2020 weightlift state champion Mason Dicks.

know what is coming,” said Dicks. “You hear coach Lowery in the warm-up room yelling during a workout-level warm-up while others are just chilling out. You hear him barking during lifts about foot placement, head placement, explode, steady and freeze and hold hold hold.”

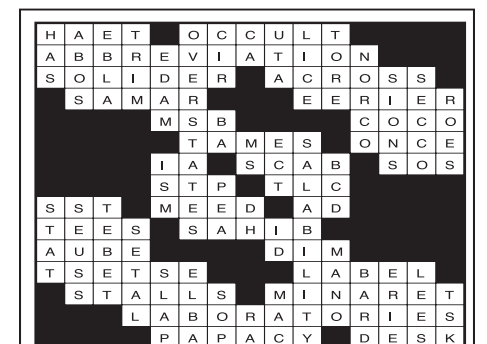

“My freshman and sophomore years, we were not so hyped, but my junior and senior year, the school was getting it about what we were doing and how hard it was to keep winning state titles,” said Dicks. “There a lot of siblings that have come through the program and there is great energy to the school when we do what we do. When our classmates started coming to meets and would lift a 45-pound weight and realize there were six of them on the bar that we lifted, that got us some street cred.”

Lowery says his main push is to have his kids be confident to do what is necessary to win.

“We had a guy today have a sloppy clean, but he stood up and was shaking his head, then he missed the jerk,” said Lowery. “I simply asked why let the negativity enter your head, you finished the clean, now reset and finish the lift.”

Lowery analogized his strategy from a football perspective with a simple scenario.

“You get blocked to the ground early in a play, but the ball carrier heads downfield and you stay on the ground,” said Lowery. “Get up, chase and make the tackle downfield and prevent the long touchdown.”

A person whose substantial interests are or may be affected has the right to request an administrative hearing by filing a written petition with the St. Johns River Water Management District (District). Pursuant to Chapter 28-106 and Rule 40C-1.1007, Florida Administrative Code (F.A.C.), the petition must be filed (received) either by delivery at the office of the District of newspaper publication of the notice of District decision (for those persons to whom the District does not mail or email actual notice). A petition must comply with Sections 120.54(5)(b)4. and 120.569(2)(c), Florida Statutes (F.S.), and Chapter 28-106, F.A.C. The District will not accept a petition sent by facsimile (fax). Mediation pursuant to Section 120.573,

Clerk at District Headquarters, P.O. Box 1429, Palatka FL 32178-1429 (4049 Reid St, Palatka, FL 32177) or by e-mail with the District Clerk at Clerk@sjrwm.com, within twenty-one (21) days

F.S., may be available and choosing mediation does not affect your right to an administrative hearing. A petition for an administrative hearing is deemed filed upon receipt of the complete petition by the District Clerk at the District Headquarters in Palatka, Florida during the District's regular business hours. The District's regular business hours are 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., excluding weekends and District holidays. Petitions received by the District Clerk after the District's regular business hours shall be deemed filed as of 8 a.m. on the District's next regular business day. The District's acceptance of petitions filed by e-mail is subject to certain conditions set forth in the District's Statement of Agency Organization and Operation (issued pursuant to Rule 28-101.001, Florida Administrative Code), which is available for viewing at floridaswater.com. These conditions include, but are not limited to, the petition being in the form of a PDF or TIFF file and being capable of being stored and printed by the District. The right to an administrative hearing and the relevant procedures to be followed are governed by Chapter 120, Florida Statutes, Chapter 28-106, Florida Administrative Code, and Rule 40C-1.1007, Florida Administrative Code. Because the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate final agency action, the filing of a petition means the District's final action may be different from the position taken by it in this notice. Failure to file a petition for an administrative hearing within the requisite time frame shall constitute a waiver of the right to an administrative hearing. (Rule 28-106.111, F.A.C.)

If you wish to do so, please visit http://floridaswater.com/nor_dec/ to read the complete Notice of Rights to determine any legal rights you may have concerning the District's decision(s) on the permit application(s) described above. STATE OF FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION NOTICE OF INTENT TO ISSUE PERMIT
 The Department of Environmental Protection gives notice of its intent to issue an Environmental Resource Permit (File No. MMR 16452-001) to Florida Rock Industries, Inc., for an existing sand mine in Clay County, with a project name of "Gold-head Mine." The permit boundary involves a 979.17-acre sand mine in Sections 1, 2, 11, and 12, Township 8 South, Range 23 East. The estimated life of the mine, including reclamation, will be 20-years. There are no proposed wetland impacts from mining activities. Upon completion of mining, the post reclamation land use of the project area consists of approximately 243.51 acres of FLUCCS-441 (Coniferous Plantations), and 178.36 acres of FLUCCS 520 (Lakes), totaling 421.87 acres. The Department will issue the environmental resource permit unless a timely petition for an administrative proceeding (hearing) is filed under sections 120.569 and 120.57, F.S., before the deadline for filing a petition. On the filing of a timely and sufficient petition, this action will not be final and effective until further order of the Department. Because the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate final agency action, the hearing process may result in a modification of the agency action or even denial of the application. Therefore, on the filing of a timely and sufficient petition, this action will not be final and effective until further order of the Department. The application file is available online and can be accessed through the Department's Information Portal at [https://dep.dms.dep.state.fl.us:443/oculus/servelet/shell?command=getEntity&guid=26.111483.1\]&profile=Permitting_Authorization](https://dep.dms.dep.state.fl.us:443/oculus/servelet/shell?command=getEntity&guid=26.111483.1]&profile=Permitting_Authorization) If you have any questions or experience difficulty viewing the electronic application, please email MiningAndMitigation@dep.state.fl.us. Petition for Administrative Hearing A person whose substantial interests are affected by the Department's action may petition for an administrative proceeding (hearing) under sections 120.569 and 120.57, F.S. Pursuant to rule 28-106.201, F.A.C., a petition for an administrative hearing must contain the following information:
 (a) The name and address of each agency affected and each agency's file or identification number, if known;
 (b) The name, address, any email address, any facsimile number, and telephone number of the petitioner; the name, address, and telephone number of the petitioner's representative, if any, which shall be the address for service purposes during the course of the proceeding; and an explanation of how the petitioner's substantial interests are or will be affected by the agency determination;
 (c) A statement of when and how the petitioner received notice of the agency decision;
 (d) A statement of all disputed issues of material fact. If there are none, the petition must so indicate;
 (e) A concise statement of the ultimate facts alleged, including the specific facts that the petitioner contends warrant reversal or modification of the agency's proposed action;
 (f) A statement of the specific rules or statutes that the petitioner contends require reversal or modification of the agency's proposed action, including an explanation of how the alleged facts relate to the specific rules or statutes; and
 (g) A statement of the relief sought by the petitioner, stating precisely the action that the petitioner wishes the agency to take with respect to the agency's proposed action. The petition must be filed (received by the Clerk) in the Office of General Counsel of the Department at 3900 Commonwealth Boulevard, Mail Station 35, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-3000 or at Agency_Clerk@dep.state.fl.us. Also, a copy of the petition shall be mailed to the applicant at the address indicated above at the time of filing. Time Period for Filing a Petition In accordance with rule 62-110.106(3), F.A.C., petitions for an administrative hearing by the applicant must be filed within 21 days of receipt of this written notice. Petitions filed by any persons other than the applicant, and other than those entitled to written notice under section 120.60(3), F.S., must be filed within 21 days of publication of the notice or within 21 days of receipt of the written notice, whichever occurs first. Under section 120.60(3), F.S., however, any person who has asked the Department for notice of agency action may file a petition within 21 days of receipt of such notice, regardless of the date of publication. The failure to file a petition within the appropriate time period shall constitute a waiver of that person's right to request an administrative determination (hearing) under sections 120.569 and 120.57, F.S., or to intervene in this proceeding and participate as a party to it. Any subsequent intervention (in a proceeding initiated by another party) will be only at the discretion of the presiding officer upon the filing of a motion in compliance with rule 28-106.205, F.A.C. Extension of Time Under rule 62-110.106(4), F.A.C., a person whose substantial interests are affected by the Department's action may also request an extension of time to file a petition for an administrative hearing. The Department may, for good cause shown, grant the request for an extension of time. Requests for extension of time must be filed with the Office of General Counsel of the Department at 3900 Commonwealth Boulevard, Mail Station 35, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-3000, before the applicable deadline for filing a petition for an administrative hearing.
