South Florida reservoir feared to send pollution to St. Johns River

ST. JOHNS RIVER — "You can't step in the same river twice" is a famous expression, although only partly applicable to Doctors Lake, because if you ever stepped foot in its bath-warm, lime-green waters this summer, last summer — or the summer before that — there is a chance you were ankle deep in a toxic algae bloom.

Doctors Lake, an inlet of the St. Johns, was issued a health advisory from the Florida Department of Environmental Protection for blue-green algae toxins for the third consecutive summer.

Excessive concentrations of nitrogen and phosphorous are the nutrients that create the algae blooms, sometimes appearing as smelly green scum along the water's surface. The sources come from fertilizer runoff, septic leakage, and sewage sludge, also known as biosolids, used in agriculture. Toxins produced by some algae blooms can cause rashes, stomach cramps, nausea, diarrhea and respiratory irritation.

FLEMING ISLAND — In a little shop on Town Center Boulevard lies a place where dreams come true. Named after owner Amanda Monkoski's love for Disney, Into the Looking Glasses is an optical shop that is more than meets the eye.

Opening back in September, the shop specializes in optical eyewear and experiences for those with disabilities, including autism and Down syndrome.

As the mom to an autistic child, Monkoski, LDO, said she knew what it felt like not having any options or resources.

School board gives a final salute to CCDS Police Department

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

FLEMING ISLAND — The school board was updated regarding the final steps of the CCDS-CCSO transition on Thursday, June 27, before officially parting ways with the Clay County District Schools Police Department on July 1.

For five years, the school district's self-created police department served as security from elementary to high schools. Last November, the school board voted 4-1, with Board Member Mary Bolla dissenting, to bring the Clay County Sheriff's Office back.

CCSO Director Patrick Golemme was tasked with transitioning the school district from CCDS Police to the CCSO. He sent an email to the school board with a progress report on the transition.

According to his email — which was read aloud by Board Member Beth Clark — 42 CCDS police officers applied to CCSO to continue serving as school resource officers. Five withdrew their applications, 10 were disqualified, and 25 were selected to continue serving as school resource officers with CCSO.

Kenneth Wagner, who served as chief of CCDS Police, was selected as a lieutenant on the youth program team.

"This difficult task was completed with very few hiccups, so we've been very fortunate and wanted a smooth transition using as many folks as possible. We weren't trying to do anything different," Golemme wrote.

Bolla thanked the CCDS Police Department for serving the school district for five years.

"I want to give one last shout-out to all who served with us and who truly kept our children safe and secure," Bolla said.

When the school board meeting adjourned, several CCDS police officers reflected on their years of service.

"It's my last Board meeting in blue," one CCDS police officer said.

"It's been good. I've enjoyed every minute and my next chapter, too," Wagner said.

While some CCDS police officers admittedly preferred their blue uniforms over the CCSO's green, it appeared the team is nonetheless looking forward to the first day of the school year, and with the same conviction.

Several CCDS police officers, Wagner included, said they intend to keep their old CCDS police badges as souvenirs in display cases.

Clay Today will test your knowledge weekly and provide interesting facts on various topics. This week, unbreakable records. Whoever said records were made to be broken has never considered a generation that's already died of old age or has been collecting social security benefits for years. The record for most points in an NBA game is 100 by Wilt Chamberlain in 1962. He also set the record with 50 rebounds in 1960, but his most incredible statistic was in 23,924 games, he never fouled out. Scott Skiles doled out 30 assists in 1990 for the Orlando Magic, and Pete Rose's record of 4,256 hits will never be matched (which is why he belongs in the Hall of Fame.) Nolan Ryan retired in 1993, but not before setting the MLB standard for strikeouts (5,714) and walks (2,795.) Sam Crawford holds baseball's record for triples with 307, and he quit in 1917. Have you ever heard of Tris Speaker? He played until 1928 and is still the MLB leader in doubles with 792. Richard Petty, whose final victory came in 1984, has 200 career wins — 95 more than second-best David Pearson. Petty also established a record with 10 consecutive wins in 1967. Jack Nicklaus has the most Grand Slam wins with 18, while Tiger Woods is second with 15 — and he probably won't win another one.

State Attorney Nelson to remain in courtroom for third term

'Being able to bring victims justice in court — it is very vindicating'

By Jack Randall
jack@claytodayonline.com

JACKSONVILLE — As the unopposed candidate for State Attorney of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, Melissa Nelson will serve another four years as the top prosecutor for Clay, Duval and Nassau counties. She was unopposed in 2020 as well.

The Office of the State Attorney is located at the Ed Austin Building, which was once a federal courthouse in Jacksonville until 2003. It is connected to the Duval County Courthouse by an elevated walkway above Pearl Street.

One of Nelson's favorite rooms in the building is the Law Library on the fourth floor. It is both clad in dark academia — wall-to-wall bookshelves and leather couches — and natural lighting, with sunlight filtering in through the windows facing the EverBank building. These dual contrasts can also be attributed to Nelson. She possesses a clear vision, a dense, often dark background, and expertise in practicing law.

Nelson said she is ready for another four years.

"I am excited. It is a testament to the team that I work with. We've been really stable. There's a lot of movement in this office, just by nature, but there's been a lot of stability and that has been in the benefit of the public. People work together. We're not tripping over each other," Nelson said.

"We are the voice for victims and all sorts of people who have been hurt, destroyed by criminal actions from other people. Being able to bring victims justice in court — it is very vindicating," she said.

Nelson said this sense of justice propelled her into her career. She was colleagues with Rep. Sam Garrison when they served as assistant attorneys in Jacksonville in the 2000s.

In the legal library, Nelson held up a glass fixture of an article from the Florida Times-Union. It was one of the office's courtroom victories: the Michael Dunn case, one personally prosecuted by former State Attorney Angela Corey.

Nelson plans to adorn the marbled walkways through the building with news articles and media memorabilia as visual monuments.

"The bread and butter of our work is prosecution. But it is so much more broad than just being in a courtroom and handling a case to resolution. We do a lot here. Our victim's services are very important. We have done creative things over the first two terms. And we have a few projects in the pipeline, this being just one of them," she said, glancing at the article.

The Father's Heart: Providing meals for those in need

"My heart is for people. So, I want to see people do well. I want to see people happy; I want to see them confident."

Nathan Dowd created The Father's Heart back in 2009 to help local families in need.

By Kyla Woodard
kyla@claytodayonline.com

ORANGE PARK — Nathan Dowd has always had a knack for serving others.

"My heart is for people. So, I want to see people do well. I want to see people happy; I want to see them confident," Dowd said.

Founder of The Father's Heart, Dowd and his mighty volunteers work to help those in need. On the third Saturday of every month, they deliver food, groceries and supplies with a warm smile, never failing to put the joy back into people's lives.

Dowd created the nonprofit organization in 2009. Since then, the group has delivered about 6,000 meals monthly to many Clay County families in need.

Additionally, the organization provides other essential items and services such as diapers, school supplies and tutoring.

"It's not limited to the food assistance. But that is our primary mission: to give them food," Dowd said. "And then as we start to build some relationships with the folks and the families, we can find out some other things and help out with some other stuff as well."

Dowd said it all started with him and his wife wanting their children to see something besides them on Thanksgiving. They wanted to teach their children the value of helping others.

The family began delivering food and picked up 27 families in their first year. The following year, Dowd said he got his church involved. The count was increased to 42 families, and the organization kept growing from there.

Dowd said The Father's Heart is always there to help no matter the time or place. He said his mission stems from a sentimental place in his heart.

As a former Clay County school teacher of 17 years, Dowd said he remembers seeing kids and families struggling on a daily basis. He recalled one of his students walking to school in flip-flops on a cold day in February. Standing before him with blue toes, Dowd asked the boy if he was cold.

Dowd said the boy responded no, but he knew otherwise.

Dowd said this time, plus countless others left a lasting mark on him. Seeing his students in low-income situations or unsure of where they were going to get their next meal made him want to do something about it.

So, he did.

Working within the school system, Dowd said he was able to partner with the school and obtain referrals for students and their families in need.

"When I saw them coming in my classroom just not knowing where they're going to eat next, for that week and stuff, it just got my attention," Dowd said.

In 2015, Dowd said he desired to turn his endeavor into something full-time.

Dowd said the organization survived because he paid some of the bills and thanked a few friends and family for the rest.

However, The Father's Heart transitioned into finding new ways to raise money for its cause. The mobile Southern

Retailers encourage Floridians to buy tax-free outdoor gear

By Rob Dixon
FloridaPolitics.com

July is one of the most patriotic months in the U.S., and the Florida Retail Federation encourages Floridians to take advantage of patriotic tax-free offerings on outdoor gear and event purchases at stores and venues.

The FRF notes that on July 1, Florida consumers will be able to participate in the Freedom Month Sales Tax Holiday. The Sunshine State's tax-free discounts run from July 1 through July 31, but they are only for specific products in Florida.

Still, the FRF urges Floridians to shop locally for a tax-free advantage on outdoor and recreational supplies.

Rob Dixon

"July is Floridians' favorite month to take time off work and enjoy the beauty of our state," said Scott Shalley, President and CEO of the FRF. "The Freedom Month Sales Tax Holiday allows consumers to shop stress-free in time for the Fourth of July holiday. Florida retailers are here to help you find all the supplies needed to enjoy your summer plans."

The FRF particularly highlights its "Find It in Florida" program, which helps guide Floridians to their local retailers to take advantage of the tax-free month.

"When shoppers 'Find It In Florida,' they support local retailers while saving more," Shalley said.

July is a tax-free month, and most of it focuses on boating activity supplies, camping and fishing gear, sporting equipment, entertainment, and more. This year's tax holiday also offers tax-free savings on eligible electric scooters.

Gov. Ron DeSantis signed the Freedom Month Sales Tax Holiday in May. Some live sporting and entertainment events have tax-free exemptions from July 1 through the end of the year.

Here's a glance at many of the items eligible for the tax-free month in July in Florida:

The criteria for tax-free savings on boating and water activity supplies include:

- Life jackets and coolers with a $75 or less sales price.

Biden's team cleverly turns focus from debate debacle to Trump lies

By Don Coble
Managing Editor

We all saw it. We all shook our heads in disbelief. How can these two men be our best options to run our country for the next four years?

It was unsettling to see the debate between Joe Biden and Donald Trump. Our current president was hopelessly disconnected, stumbling and confused. He tied two, three, and four thoughts into a single disjointed sentence.

Don Coble

"Making sure that we're able to make every single solitary person eligible for what I've been able to do with the ... with the COVID, excuse me, with um, dealing with everything we have to with, uh ..." he continued. "Look, if we finally beat Medicare ..."

Who could forget: "What I'm going to do is fix the tax system. For example, we have 1,000 trillionaires in America."

Say, what?

Minutes after the debate, the Democrat Party and their network news enablers went into full panic mode. They blamed his lack of cognitive process on a cold, although Biden lost his raspy voice a day later during a rally in North Carolina.

When Biden made it clear he wouldn't drop out, the media and the Biden campaign quickly went to Plan B – they said Trump lied throughout the debate.

Both candidates indeed played loose with the facts. Unfortunately, that's today's politics. The more we demand accountability, the more we get shoveled stuff from the bottom of the honey bucket.

Both candidates indeed played loose with the facts. Unfortunately, that's today's politics. The more we demand accountability, the more we get shoveled stuff from the bottom of the honey bucket.

Trump told some tall tales. He said Biden would restore Roe v Wade if re-elected and would support killing a baby after it's born. That is not remotely true. He also said Biden would quadruple taxes if re-elected. Although taxfoundation.org said Biden's 2025 proposed budget would put "extraordinarily large tax hikes on businesses and the top 1% of earners and would put the U.S. in a distinctly uncompetitive international position and threaten the health of the U.S. economy," it wasn't close to levels Trump suggested.

Biden also told some tall tales. He said nobody from the military has died under his watch. I guess he forgot the 13 who were killed by a suicide bomber in 2021 at the Kabul, Afghanistan, airport and the three soldiers killed in a drone attack last January in Jordan.

The president also said the Border Patrol has endorsed his candidacy. The agency quickly responded by saying it

Veterans rekindle military camaraderie at YMCA weight room

Group lift weights, swap war stories at Barco-Newton during week

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

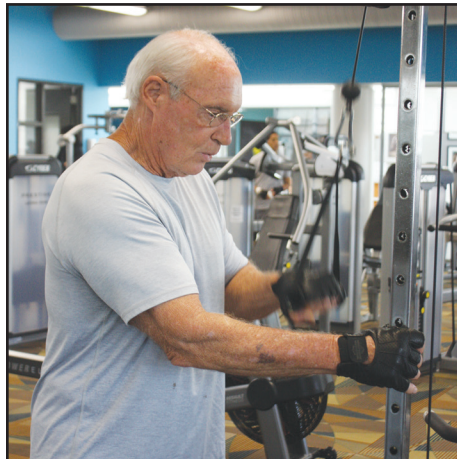

FLEMING ISLAND — Steve Davidson did two tours as an Army pilot in Vietnam, two tours in the Persian Gulf and two more tours in Afghanistan. Now retired, he remains gung-ho about everything in life, especially when he's in the gym at the Barco-Newton YMCA.

The YMCA on Town Center Boulevard is where veterans feel empowered when surrounded by fellow soldiers — some on treadmills, others lifting barbells, and the rest pulling weighted pullies or stretching.

Most mornings, as many as 50 veterans are working out, swapping war stories and rekindling the camaraderie of the leaner, meaner years of their lives.

Most are older and grayer, but each still possesses the exceptional cohesion and commitment a younger generation wouldn't understand.

"Back in my day, everybody in the world went to Woodstock," said Larry Hollingsworth, who was drafted into the Army. "Not me. I'm a retired criminal investigator for the Defense Department. It's nice being around other veterans. It's probably just an attitude. There is an esprit de corps. People watched your back. There's no exception here. There's common ground."

James Crymes, who retired from the Air Force in 1985, said veterans can push each other to complete workouts or achieve higher goals.

"We recognize each other and have that military background," he said. "It makes it much more comfortable to come here and work out. And we can push each other."

Many of the veterans served tours in Vietnam. And like Davidson, Navy Capt. David Page flew missions in Southeast Asia.

"This group, we meet once a month to go to lunch and tell stories," Page said. "I'm up here a lot of the time because they're up here. Otherwise, sometimes, it's not easy to work out. My motivation comes from seeing people like them that are in really good shape. And I'd like to be the same. I'm slightly older than them, so it's not as easy."

Navy pilot Rob Springman said he'd probably be in the gym without the unofficial veterans' group. Still, he admits his workouts are more "enjoyable" now that his military brethren surround him. He used to track Soviet submarines off the East Coast and throughout the Atlantic Ocean and Mediterranean Ocean. When he retired, he went to work for a soft drink company, but the work was unfulfilling.

"I found out in the civilian world, you don't have that same camaraderie," he said. "I found it here."

Davidson's workouts are intense, just like his military career. He was inducted into the Army Aviation Hall of Fame in 2014 after being awarded three Distinguished Flying Crosses, two Bronze Stars, 56 Air Medals, the prestigious American Legion Aviation Valor Award and the Dae-dalian Alaska Rescue Award and completing more than 14,500 accident-free flight hours, including 1,991 in combat zones.

Now, he looks forward to being in the gym and with his military buddies every morning.

"This is where we get together on a regular basis," Davidson said. "As you know, the military community is intensified by combat operations. There's camaraderie in the military, and that's very important in this area because this is a strategic area for veterans."

Army Veteran Larry Hollingsworth was a criminal investigator with the Defense Department.

Lisa Rinaman of the St. Johns River-keeper, an environmental advocacy group committed to protecting the ecology of Florida's longest river and its inlets, is concerned about an upcoming development she believes will inevitably redirect polluted waters from South Florida into St. Johns, intensifying the frequency of algae blooms along the 310-mile river body.

The development is called the Grove Land Reservoir, a $400 million state-funded stormwater storage and treatment project planned at the headwaters of the St. Johns, which would redirect water flowing into the Indian River Lagoon by pumping 136 million gallons of water daily into the Upper St. Johns to alleviate the growing water demand in Central Florida.

The Marine Science Research Institute is at Jacksonville University. The environmental research center has aquariums with fish and turtles and other researchers.

"Don't tap the glass, you'll scare the students," reads one sticky note fixed on a glass window peering into a laboratory.

Rinaman expressed her concerns while standing next to a vertical map of St. Johns. Because the river flows north, she is concerned that whatever Grove Land releases into the watershed will pass Sanford, Palatka, Green Cove Springs, Fleming Island, Orange Park and Jacksonville.

Because the reservoir site is in an agricultural area, Rinaman and other environmentalists fear Grove Land will inundate the St. Johns with sewage sludge used as fertilizer in South Florida. Rinaman says South Florida currently trucks "tens of thousands of tons" of sewage to farmland in the reservoir's nearby area.

Grove Land Reservoir

"They will be forcing pollution from South Florida into the St. Johns River that will trickle down all the way downstream (north)," Rinaman said.

She said the FDEP voiced concerns about Grove Land's increase in pollution loads, specifically phosphorus.

"If pollution is increased as projected, it will be a domino effect undermining water quality at the very source of the St. Johns," she said.

The added nutrients Rinaman anticipates will be a boon for blue-green algae blooms at the detriment of aquatic and human health.

Submerged aquatic vegetation, such as eel grasses, could be severely impacted. Rinaman calls eel grasses the "kidneys of the river" due to their biofiltering properties. Much of the SJRK outreach involves cultivating more eelgrass. The team often sails south onboard their boat, the "Kingfisher," to test waters along the St. Johns and check on growing grass beds.

The eel grasses, fish nurseries and manatee food, have been threatened by added nutrients from runoff and salinity from the Atlantic Ocean's tidal influences. Rinaman said the dredging along the northern riverbeds has allowed ocean water to push further inland, and from the south, Grove Land will inseminate more nutrients.

The Grove Land project has been mired in mystery. According to the Florida Phoenix, "no state agency has even approved a permit for the privately owned Grove Land project," and "the Legislature offered no bills or resolutions about Grove Land before stuffing this wad of taxpayer cash into the budget like a burglar cramming loot into a bag."

Grove Land was pitched to the St. Johns River Water Management District last November as an alternative water supply for Central Florida. The reservoir would receive excess nutrient-rich water to prevent it from seeping into the already polluted Indian River Lagoon, with the added benefit of supplying water to Central Florida, where the aquifer has been overbooked and demand is rising.

Grove Land is planned to be a 5,000-acre reservoir capable of storing 75,000 acre-feet of water and a 2,000-acre stormwater treatment area. Water will be treated and pumped further north to the St. Johns Upper Basin Canal, where it will begin its northerly journey to the Atlantic Ocean.

Flowing tangential to the St. Johns, the Indian River Lagoon was once regarded as North America's most productive estuary. However, nutrient-rich water flowing east cultivated toxic algae blooms, killing 75% of its seagrasses.

Grove Land is currently being used as a water farm. Before that, it was a citrus farm. The South Florida Water Management District pays Evans Properties, the landowner, to offload nutrient-rich water onto the water farm, which operates like a man-made wetland.

Clay County Sheriff's Office celebrates promotion of 11 deputies

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

FLEMING ISLAND — Before Sheriff Michelle Cook promoted 11 deputies Thursday, including three from the Clay County District Schools Police Department, she told them about a two-sided card they would get with their new badges.

On one side were her personal core values: integrity, competency, humility, teamwork and loyalty. On the other was an inscription she hoped all would remember throughout their careers: "People don't get promoted for doing their jobs really well. They get promoted by demonstrating the potential to do more."

Those who were promoted were Lt. Zach Cox, School Resource Sgt. Jacob Saunders, Detention Sgt. Troy Van Dyke, School Resource Lt. Kenneth Wagner, Sgt. Richard Futch, Sgt. Heather Lanier, Sgt. Daniel Cassani, Sgt. Micheal Brickey, School Resource Sgt. Mark Romano and Lt. Eddie Howell and School Resource Sgt. Sarah Taylor.

"I'm so happy for you all. What a big day today," Cook said. "I hope you take some time to celebrate this. This is a tremendous accomplishment in your life, and I think it's something you know when you work hard.

Get that goal, celebrate that goal, take that moment.

"If I had any advice to give you, I would say, remember, there is a cost to leadership, and that cost is the loss of self-interest because your people become the most important thing you do."

The agency will swell to more than 900 employees on July 1, when the sheriff's office is responsible for placing a deputy in every public school. During the transition, the sheriff's office hired some of the school resource officers from the school district.

Patrol and Community Affairs Department Director David Barnes also offered some advice.

"Be engaged with your folks. Show up," he said. "No coach was ever successful sitting in the bleachers. You got to be on the sidelines. You got to be there with them. Pay attention to what they're doing. Grow them. That's your fundamental responsibility as leaders is to grow your people. We're at a pivotal time right now with growth and all the things we have going on. You all are going to have the most impact on that."

The Clay County Sheriff's Office set its School Safety and Young Programs Department staff ahead of the 2024-25 school year. From left, it will be led by Director Patrick Golemme, Assistant Chief Jeremy Clark, Sgt. Jacob Saunders, Lt. Kenneth Wagner, Sheriff Michelle Cook, Sgt. Michael Campbell, Lt. Michael Kircher, Sgt. Andrew Koeler and Sgt. Mark Romano.

Sheriff's Office creates its School Resource Department staff

By Don Coble
don@claytodayonline.com

FLEMING ISLAND — When the School Safety and Youth Programs Department staff met on Thursday, June 27, three of eight staff sergeants and lieutenants were conspicuously dressed in suits and ties instead of sheriff's office khaki greens.

That all changed three days later on July 1, when they officially moved from the Clay County District Schools Police Department to the Clay County Sheriff's Office. The three — former CCSDPD Chief Kenneth Wagner, Jacob Saunders, and Mark Romano — are part of the sheriff's office's organizational staff. Wagner is a lieutenant; Saunders and Romano are sergeants.

Other department leaders are Director Patrick Golemme, Assistant Chief Jeremy Clark, Lt. Michael Kircher and Sgts. Michael Campbell and Andrew Koeler.

"The culture of our agency, the morale of our agency, is really driven by the sergeants and lieutenants, period," Sheriff Michelle Cook said. "And I'm thrilled to look at this group because I know the kind of people you are. I know your personality, staying positive, holding people accountable, and working with all the young members of our agency."

"So you talk about what kind of agency we want to be five, 10, 15 years now, and it's right here in this room with all of you. I don't want you to forget the impact you will have on people's lives."

CCSO officially assumed responsibility for placing a deputy in every public school on July 1. The school board decided in 2019 to create a police force in 2019 in response to the 2018 mass shooting at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High in Parkland. Last October, board member Erin Skipper suggested that the district use the sheriff's office because "we're in the business of education, not law enforcement."

The school board voted in November to disband its police department and put CCSO deputies back in its schools. The sheriff's office hired 25 of the former district police officers.

Teachers will return to their classrooms on Aug. 5, and students' first school day will be Aug. 13.

Glasses

that's what I want to do," Monkoski said. For children with autism, Monkoski said that the store provides three different brands of glasses that come with straps. Monkoski said it's common for children with autism to throw things, including their glasses. These accommodations secure the glasses behind the child's head when worn, making them harder to take off.

And for those with Down syndrome, Monkoski said her shop carries the brand Erin's World, which provides a special bridge around the nose and shorter temple links.

Monkoski said the brand was started by a mom who had a child with Down syndrome.

"People with Down syndrome generally have flatter bridges and a shorter temple span," Monkoski said. "So, if you put a typical pair of glasses on them, they probably won't fit."

Additionally, Monkoski said children may want a specific color and theme as well, and she is there to provide it with a variety of choices to pick from at affordable prices.

"They get fixated on one thing, I want a green pair, I want a blue pair, I want a red pair," Monkoski said. "So, I try and incorporate that as well."

There is no men's or women's section in the shop. Monkoski said the only thing that's divided is size, making the choices much more inclusive.

Not only does Monkoski aim to provide more optical options for those with special needs, but she also provides a better atmosphere for them as well.

Monkoski said she has worked for several big-name stores that don't provide a child-friendly atmosphere, especially for those with special needs.

"If you've got a kid that's easily overwhelmed, and you're in a big store and there's a lot of noise and a lot of people and the colors are bright and bold, it can lead to a meltdown," Monkoski said. "So, I wanted to create something with soft colors, stuff to do. Not necessarily just stand there and wait for Mom and Dad to pick out my glasses for me."

At Into the Looking Glasses, Monkoski

While their parents shop for glasses, children are able to play games, watch TV, read books and jump on a trampoline if they choose.

said children have a choice.

With plenty of space to run around, rooms filled with games and interactive elements, an activity board, books, tumble mats, stuffed animals, a large bean bag to sit on and a TV, the shop has found a way to provide parents with certainty that their child will be accepted and comfortable.

"That kind of gives me a chance to talk to the caregiver. And it kind of puts the caregiver at ease to know that they don't have to rush," Monkoski said. "They don't have to worry about their kid."

Monkoski said this sense of comfort was seen with the first school-age child that she had at her shop.

"He was active. He was doing laps around here, and his mom was like, 'Stop running.' I was like, 'He's fine,'" Monkoski said. "This is what it's made for. So, she was happy that she didn't have to constantly correct him to behave."

Monkoski, who has been an optical professional for 26 years and licensed in the state of Florida for eight, said the shop's inclusive and interactive concept came from her frustration with not being able to easily find services for her own child.

Initially working under another practice for 12 years, she said that was the first time she was able to actively care for her child without consequences.

"When my child was acting up at school, I could leave without getting in trouble... and, I see so many stories where parents can't do that," Monkoski said.

Once the owner passed away, Monkoski said the practice lost its familial atmosphere. And, she missed it.

So, in turn, she said she took the love of her profession and the love of her child and combined the two.

Monkoski said that with the ongoing growth of Into the Looking Glasses she hopes to provide that same grace to other employees who work there.

"If they need to bring their kid, bring your kid," Monkoski said. "That's what it's designed for."

Monkoski said that she wanted her shop to be different. And, she said the different nature it possesses has reflected well with her customers. For Elizabeth Dominguez, she said that the shop was able to give her son an experience that accommodated him in the best way.

Dominguez said that Gus, who is a brain tumor patient, struggles with regulating his emotions and being in certain social situations.

"He was already extremely against wanting to get eyeglasses," Dominguez said. "So, I thought ok this could be the answer to my prayers."

Dominguez said she was blown away with how lovely the shop was. She said as soon as Gus walked in and saw the TV playing his favorite shows, his demeanor instantly changed.

"While we worked on paperwork, doing all the basic things, it was like he was comfortable," Dominguez said. "And it turned into a great experience. Which I couldn't have asked for more."

Dominguez, who travels all the way from Fernandina Beach, said she will continue coming to Into the Looking Glasses as it provides an outlet for her child. She said being a mom of a child with behavioral and medical special needs is not easy.

"Fighting for accommodations for him is what spends most of our time," Dominguez said. "It's not the kids themselves or the people, it's the system. Trying to fit a round peg into a square hole."

Dominguez said that's why Monkoski's mission and advocacy are so needed.

For the future of her shop, Monkoski said she hopes to expand and become a full-on optometry facility, offering direct eye care to in-store patients, including same-day eyeglass making.

Additionally, Monkoski said she aims to create a larger space where her patients can get additional support, including speech therapy and dental care.

"After we can achieve those, in another three, four, five years, I'd like to build a facility," Monkoski said. "And, not just for what I do, but to bring in other therapists and other professionals that help in this field. A one-stop-shop, so to speak."

Monkoski said Into the Looking Glasses will continue advocating for those with special needs.

"Everybody knows somebody with autism. Pretty much," Monkoski said. "So, to have a population that big and not be served is sad."

Clay County property values increased by $1.5 billion

For Clay Today

ORANGE PARK — Pursuant to s. 200.065(1), Florida Statutes, Clay County Property Appraiser Tracy Scott Drake submitted the Certification of Taxable Value to the Florida Department of Revenue and the Clay County taxing authorities on Wednesday, June 26. The 2024 preliminary taxable value of all properties in the county is estimated at $18.4 billion – an annual increase of more than $1.5 billion, or 9.13 percent.

The statutory date for the 2024 assessment roll was January 1, 2024. Therefore, the overall increase in value is a reflection of the upward direction the real estate market experienced during 2023. Although market values have increased, the assessed values of properties with an existing homestead exemption will be limited to a three percent increase (excluding any new additions or improvements) and non-homestead residential and commercial properties will be limited to a 10 percent increase due to constitutional amendments approved by voters in 1992 and 2008, respectively. Taxable value is used to calculate ad valorem property taxes and is based on the market value minus differentials and exemptions.

New homeowners who purchased in 2023 may experience significantly different assessments and proposed property taxes from the prior year because when a property sells or transfers ownership, Florida law requires the assessed value to reset to market value and the previous owner's exemptions and related benefits (including any Save Our Homes differentials) are removed on Jan. 1 following the sale. The taxing authorities have until Aug. 2 to notify the property appraiser of the 2024 proposed maximum millage rates, and the date, time and place of their respective public budget hearings. This information will be used by the property appraiser to prepare the Notice of Proposed Property Tax forms (TRIM notices), which will be mailed to all Clay County property owners in mid-August.

Sen. Scott introduces 'No Tax on Tips' Act

For Clay Today

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Florida Sen. Rick Scott joined Texas Sen. Ted Cruz to introduce legislation that would exempt tips from being subject to taxation under the federal income tax, the "No Tax on Tips" Act. Joining Scott and Cruz are senators Steve Daines and Kevin Cramer and the support of industry groups, including the National Restaurant Association.

"Under Biden's administration, families struggle to make ends meet with 20% inflation and policies that make their lives harder. We must take action now to lower costs for hardworking Americans and get our economy back on track. As Governor of Florida, we cut taxes over 100 times to help businesses thrive and families keep more of their hard-earned dollars. It's time we do that on the federal level with our No Tax on Tips Act," Scott said in a press release.

The bill exempts "cash tips" — cash, credit and debit card charges, and checks — from federal income tax by allowing taxpayers to claim a 100% above-the-line deduction at filing for tipped wages.

You can read the full bill at cruz.senate.gov/imo/media/doc/MCG24304.pdf.

the SJRWMD to purchase the water farm, which straddles the border between SJRWMD and SFWMD and is located near what was once Fort Drum, a former town located between Yeehaw Junction and Okeechobee.

Ron Edwards is the CEO of Evans Properties. He anticipates water starting to flow north in about 10 years.

"The Indian River Lagoon doesn't need any of that water. That's excess water that didn't used to go there before. If you guys can handle it through the St. Johns system, South Florida would be very happy," Edwards said during the meeting in November.

"By the time the water gets to Orlando in 10 to 15 years, the straws will be there to take it out," he said.

Grove Land supporters argue that reducing excess water flowing into the Indian River Lagoon and sending it to where it is needed is a win-win. Proponents also see the connection of the SJRWMD and SFWMD as a way to foster flexibility during dry and wet seasons. If SJRWMD is experiencing drought, SFWMD can offload its water to recoup falling shorelines, and vice versa.

Jim Moir is the executive director of the Indian Riverkeeper, which has the same mission as the SJRK. Although his river has been named a beneficiary, he has concerns similar to Rinaman's.

"This is potentially going to exacerbate an already challenging flooding circumstance," Moir said.

Central Florida is located in the St. Johns' middle basin. For the water to get where it is needed, millions of gallons daily must flow downstream through the upper St. Johns. He is concerned about that hurdle.

"The drainage is complex. I don't believe the upper St. Johns needs water," Moir said.

"We need to be assured that it will be monitored and that the water quantity and quality is known. It may flood horizontally (toward the Indian River Lagoon) if the control structures are not properly designed or accommodating," he said.

On June 26, the SJRK met with concerned citizens and environmental groups in Indian and Brevard counties to organize a joint citizen oversight effort to ensure whatever is permitted on the Grove Land property provides an "ecological lift" to both the St. Johns and the Indian River Lagoon.

Grove Land's proponents include its hired consultants, Hazen and Sawyer. During the November meeting, one consultant said the outflow to the upper St. Johns would contain phosphorous at a concentration of 10 parts per billion, which is 80 parts per billion less than what has been determined to be "critical." Rinaman argues Grove Land has "not provided reasonable assurances for pollution loads."

"Grove Land has not conducted a well-calibrated water quality model to provide a valid estimate, and neither has SJRK. Grove Land made assumptions that do not support their conclusions," Rinaman said.

"As a first step, SJRWMD must conduct a well-calibrated water quality model and Dynamic Model for Stormwater Treatment Area that is set up with the proposed Grove Land configuration," she said.

The $400 million provision to the SJRWMD is one piece of Florida's total $116.5 billion budget. The funding comes with stipulations that compel the District to pursue the project by buying the land and designing, building, and maintaining the Grove Land Reservoir. While SJRWMD must legally move forward with the project, the District says it retains latitude in how the objective will be completed.

"(There are) concerns with any big project. The District won't design or implement a project without ensuring that any flooding or pollution risks are addressed," said SJRWMD Chairman Rob Bradley, a former state senator.

The SJRWMD is adamant the project will be an environmental lift to both water districts. The District responded to Clay Today's public request: "The project includes measures to address nutrients and flooding and will undergo comprehensive reviews to ensure the project will not have any adverse impacts on the surrounding areas."

Bradley, too, is adamant: "Clay County won't be impacted at all."

"There were advocacy groups that opposed the Black Creek Water Resource Development Project. There are always naysayers. Now that the Black Creek project is almost a reality and people are beginning to see the real benefits it will provide, you don't hear the negativity anymore. I suspect this new project will grow in popularity as the public sees its benefits. The District wouldn't move forward with a project unless it provides real benefits to our environment," Bradley said.

The Black Creek Restoration Project is a similar project that is localized in Clay County. The $118 million project is still under construction and is anticipated to send up to 10 million gallons of excess water daily from the South Prong of Black Creek to Alligator Creek and into lakes Brooklyn and Geneva to replenish the Upper Floridan aquifer.

The residents of Keystone Heights have lauded the project, but others have argued that excessive pumping permits caused the issue in the first place. By draining the aquifer, the lake water levels shrank in tandem.

This gets to another crux of Rinaman's argument. Even if the Grove Land project is a resounding success, it will supply an unquenchable thirst in Central Florida, allowing unceasing development to continue unimpeded.

"This is basically a public subsidy by taxpayers to fuel urban sprawl and harm the St. Johns River, our Florida springs, as well as potentially increase flood risk downstream," she said.

Rinaman says one body of water should not be sacrificed for another. She and other environmentalists in the oversight effort are organizing and preparing for the not-so-metaphorical floodgates to open. Their eyes are pointed upstream, toward South Florida, watching for whatever comes next to trickle down.

Smoke BBQ is a branch of the organization that serves as its primary funding source.

With a slogan of “feed yourself to feed someone else,” the catering truck goes to many local events, including festivals, parties and weddings, to make a difference by selling delicious hot plates.

“We’re pretty much open to whatever we can do along those lines in order to raise some support and some funds for what we’re doing,” Dowd said.

After retiring from the Clay County District Schools, Dowd made his hobby his full-time job. He can work more with his team of dedicated volunteers to positively impact the community.

Volunteer Ali Helms said she is a driver for The Father’s Heart food pantry, delivering groceries to families every month.

Helms said that during that time, she has gotten to know the families to whom she has delivered food personally. Helms’ entire delivery route is for single moms with little children, making for a humbling experience.

“It is very impactful when you are in the community where you live,” Helms said. “And, you see how great a need is right under your nose that you might not necessarily know was there.”

She remembered a time during a delivery when a little boy came running out of his front door.

“He was just going, ‘Mommy, mommy,

Since its birth in 2009, Dowd said the organization has served more than one million meals to needy families.

the lady with the good stuff is here.’ It just melts your heart,” Helms said.

Joyce and Freddy Baker have been volunteering for the organization by preparing and packing the meal bags.

Joyce said seeing Dowd’s mission come to life is a joy.

“They’ll send me notes. I know about their families, I know about their kids, I know about when they’re in pain or when they’re having trouble,” Joyce said. “And we talk, we pray with them.”

Volunteer Keira McCoy was introduced to The Father’s Heart through her consistent outreach in the community. McCoy noted that serving with the organization for 15 years and watching its impact has been monumental.

“It’s a worthwhile project because it is close to home,” McCoy said. “It is local, not some radio scheme that nobody sees results from. We’re talking with the families, we’re connecting with families that are receiving the benefits of his heart to extend the love of the father by meeting tangible needs.”

For Sarah Mosher and her husband, Robert, the organization became their saving grace. The two met Dowd more than 10 years ago when they were homeless.

“They sheltered us. They fed us,” Mosher said. “They helped us get things we needed.”

As an ex-veteran, Mosher said the two eventually got on their feet, obtaining a new apartment and a job. But The Father’s Heart never let them go. She said she’s unsure if they would have survived without Dowd’s help.

“We have no family. The Father’s Heart is our family,” Mosher said.

Mosher said their light continues to shine, even years later, on her family. She said that Robert was recently diagnosed with brain cancer, and getting him to and from treatment has been challenging.

“We have no car. The Father’s Heart makes sure he gets to every appointment,” Mosher said. “If it wasn’t for that, my husband could die.”

Mosher said she will always be grateful for the friendship and camaraderie the group has brought her and her husband.

In addition to providing meals, The Father’s Heart has also tried starting a tutoring program. After the pandemic shutdown, Dowd said that the organization has backed up the program this year.

“It’s been very successful in helping kids. The ones we initially targeted were kids struggling to pass the high school test to graduate high school,” Dowd said.

Dowd said they have been focusing on third graders who need help passing their reading tests in the last two years.

“That’s kind of been like a giraffe trying to stand up. Meaning it’s very wobbly and it’s maybe fallen down and gotten back up,” Dowd said. “And, we’re trying to get that off the ground.”

Many in his community, including the Clay County Chamber of Commerce, have recognized Dowd’s efforts. Dowd said it’s humbling, but his choice of work isn’t solely for the recognition.

“To me, it’s more about can we help some folks. And, as these other opportunities come along that we get recognized, it’s humbling for me,” Dowd said. “Every time.”

Dowd hopes to expand his outreach to other counties in the future, including Duval, Putnam and Bradford.

“We just have to be strategic in how we make those steps to do that,” Dowd said.

Dowd said The Father’s Heart is always looking for volunteers and food donations for the cause.

As a Clay County native, Dowd is committed to serving and giving back to the community he was raised in. Since 2009, Dowd said the organization has served more than a million meals to those in need, and he hopes to keep it going.

“Being able to impact as many families as possible is what we would like to see,” Dowd said.

agency quickly responded by saying it doesn't support him and "never will."

Biden said Trump wants to abolish Social Security and cut Social Security and Medicare. In an interview, Trump said he was in favor of cutting waste and fraud from both programs, and he made the entire interview available for context to prove that he never said he wanted to cut or eliminate either entitlement.

As soon as the shock of Biden's mental disability became a worldwide punchline, the media, campaign and pundits turned the focus on Trump. It was like watching "The Wizard of Oz" and hearing the Wizard telling Dorothy not to pay attention to the man behind the curtain. The more they accused Trump of telling lies, the more they hoped voters would shift the focus away from an easily distracted president who couldn't function without a speechwriter and a teleprompter.

We can't count on either man's words being honest during this year's election. They say what they think we want to hear. They dance in the shadows of vagueness and cherry-picked information from irresponsible reporting. Then their compliant media usually take it from there.

I will use common sense when I step into the voting booth on Nov. 5. I will believe what I see, not what I hear. After all, the man representing our nation must think clearly, be precise and be unremitting when dealing with our adversaries, not someone who is more mentally attuned to be in the balcony to heckle the rest of the Muppets.

Kid City USA hosts grand opening in Royal Pines

By Kyla Woodard
kyla@claytodayonline.com

OAKLEAF — Parents and children got a chance to tour the new Kid City USA Royal Pines location at their grand opening on Saturday, June 29.

The facility offers pre-school, daycare and before/after school programs for children in the area. It is also one of over 130 locations nationwide, each independently owned and operated.

The opening event featured many community neighbors and vendors: Frozen Scoops, Jax Snow Shack, Sunny Sips and Amazing Athletes. The Clay County Sheriff's Office handed out trinkets and souvenirs for children and families in attendance.

The event also featured games and activities, including face painting and a bounce house.

The center's mascot, Mr. Bee, also made an appearance, meeting and greeting those in attendance.

With smiles on their faces, families showed up in droves to tour the school, and each employee was happy to guide them around. The new facility was a joint venture by mother-and-daughter duo Jennifer Pena and Bryanne Harrell. They began laying the grounds for the building in 2022 and said it's amazing to see it come to life.

"Our goal is to create an environment that emphasizes on family and enhances the family goals and values," Pena said. "And we recognize that there's many different kinds of families and we strive to meet the needs of everyone in our community.

Pena has been involved in early childhood education for 36 years, teaching just about every age group. Working primarily with management, Pena said it was important for her to branch out into her next step — have her own schools.

With Harrell as her business partner, she said she is proud to be a woman-owned family business.

Harrell shared this sentiment, adding that it's been an incredible experience carrying out this new venture with her mom.

The school works with children from infancy all the way up to 12 years old.

Pena said that the school aims to ensure that children are engaged with hands-on experiences, using the Bee All You Can Bee curriculum. She said that this helps to ensure the child's success leading up to kindergarten.

Pena said the facility will also begin utilizing the Alive Studios Zoo, a literacy-based program that uses augmented reality methods to teach concepts such as the alphabet, sight words and numbers.

Additionally, the program offers STEM activities to spark their interest in science, technology, engineering and math areas. Pena added that Mr. Bee will also make appearances at the school twice a week for activities and to help engage students with the proprietary books that they will read each month, including the gleeful mascot himself.

Pena said the center is different from other early childhood centers in the county because it focuses heavily on the familial aspect of education.

"We want parents and families here, so we keep them involved. And not only are they in the school, but we also offer the daily communication app that keeps them involved with real-time on what's happening," Pena said. "So, that would include diaper changes, meals, and activities that they're doing."

Parent Amanda Rodriguez said that she has a second grader and kindergartener who will begin attending the school. She was impressed with its roominess and appreciated that it had something to keep her kids edified.

"I like that they have a reflect on their day moment. Which is cool, especially in the climate that we're in," Rodriguez said.

Reanee Owens said she was touring the center to help find a place for her granddaughter to attend before elementary school. She said Oakleaf has always had a reputation for being a great environment, so they decided to tour Kid City USA.

"The classrooms are very nice...they're spacious. The teachers that we met are very knowledgeable and seems like they will be hands-on with our granddaughter," Owens said.

For families in the Oakleaf area, the center is currently open for enrollment.

NFLT gets grant from Partnership for Gulf Coast Land Conservation

$105,000 will help fund efforts along O2O wildlife corridor

For Clay Today

CAMP BLANDING — North Florida Land Trust was awarded a grant of up to $105,000 from the Partnership for Gulf Coast Land Conservation to support conservation efforts within the Ocala to Osceola, or O2O, wildlife corridor.

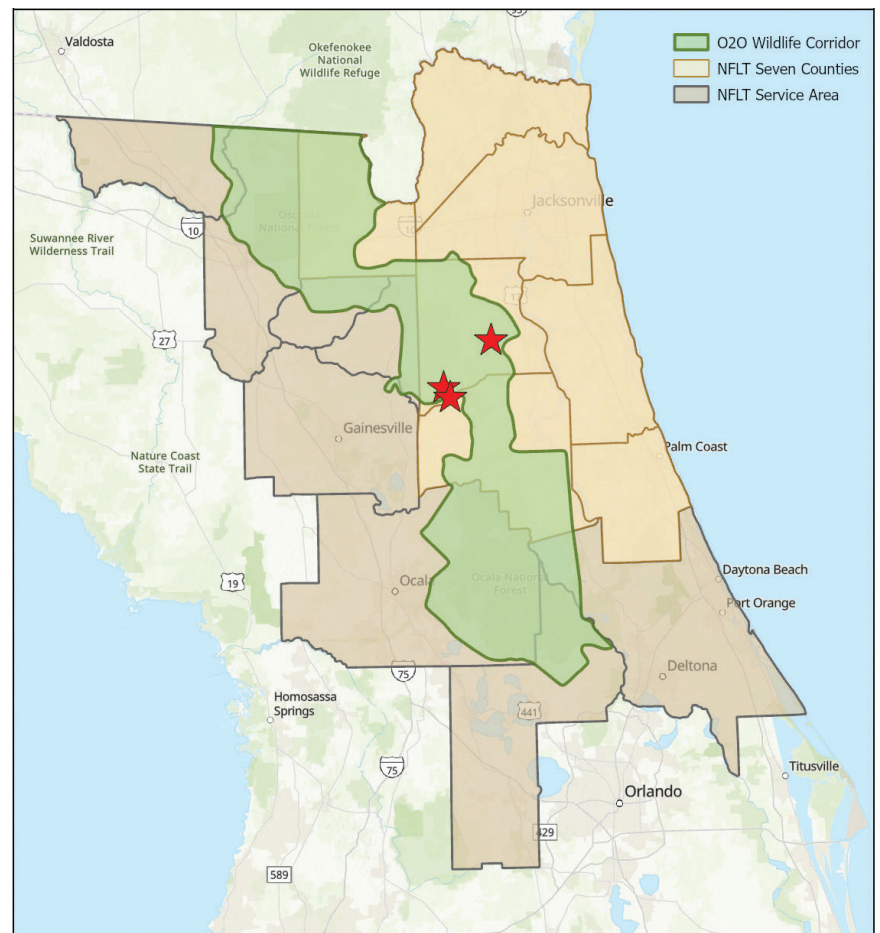

The nonprofit land conservation organization applied for funding to support conservation endeavors to protect more than 700 acres of land within the critical wildlife corridor. The funding will assist with the due diligence efforts as NFLT pursues the acquisition of two properties totaling 103 acres and a 600-acre conservation easement.

“Our team has been in conversation with the landowners who are ready and willing to move these important lands into conservation,” said Allison DeFoor, president and CEO of NFLT. “This funding will help us complete the work we must do to protect these natural spaces because it is now or never. We have been working to protect land within the O2O for many years, and this PGCLC grant will assist in fund-matching requirements from additional sources dedicated to preservation within the O2O.”

The PGCLC grant will help cover various costs, including appraisals, title and legal reviews, surveys, recording fees, and environmental assessments. Each of the three properties has been identified for up to $35,000 in funding. One is 18 acres of predominantly marshes and wetlands, once part of Big and Little Lake Johnson, used as a stopover by migratory birds. Eighty-five acres are in the Keystone Heights area in the Army Compatible Use Buffer near Camp Blanding and close to NFLT’s Milam-Smith Preserve and Gold Head State Park. This property consists of upland mixed pine areas, pasture, and wetlands, which serve as wildlife habitats for turkey, deer and gopher tortoises. NFLT partners with Camp Blanding’s ACUB program, which provides funding for protecting land surrounding the Camp Blanding training center. NFLT hopes to acquire both properties through a fee-simple acquisition and plans to restore the land.

The third property consists of 600 acres that would become a conservation easement and serve as a buffer between conservation lands and increased development. This property is about three miles east of the Northeast Florida Timberlands and Watershed Reserve Florida Forever

Project and about six miles west of the St. Johns River. It is also about a half mile away from the First Coast Expressway. The conservation of the land will protect the headwaters in the Lower St. Johns Watershed and keep it safe from development, which has been increasing in the area. The land provides habitat for many rare and imperiled species, including the Florida black bear, eastern indigo snake and red-cockaded woodpecker.

Let Freedom Ring!

Today we celebrate our nation's independence! We celebrate FREEDOM! We celebrate the founding of our nation and the sacrifices that made it happen. Independence Day is a time to remember what makes our country great. It's also a fun day filled with family, fireworks, food, and hopefully beautiful weather.

Part of what we celebrate is our country's heritage. One Nation, Under God! Ronald Reagan once said, "If we ever forget that we are One Nation Under God, then we will be a nation gone under."

Freedom in our spiritual lives comes by way of the Holy Spirit, God's gift to every believer. 2 Corinthians 3:17 says, "Now the Lord is Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom." The Holy Spirit is a gift from God, promised by Jesus, to everyone who calls upon His name.

Acts 2:38 reads, "And Peter said to them, 'Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.'"

The Holy Spirit is not a gift for only certain believers with certain callings. He is a gift received by every individual that calls upon the name of Jesus. God does not withhold the power of the Holy Spirit from any believer. No matter who we are or where we come from, the Holy Spirit can radically transform our lives.

Acts Chapter 2 chronicles Peter's first sermon on the day of Pentecost. More than 3000 people came to faith in Jesus that day, and the Holy Spirit entered them all. It happens the same way when we call on His name today. The Holy Spirit enters us as well.

The Holy Spirit is an inseparable part of the Christian faith. That's why it is so essential that we learn to walk with Him throughout our days. When we do, we will be living in the freedom God desires for us all. This week we celebrated freedom here in the USA. Remember to let the truth of spiritual freedom resonate in hearts and minds as well.

Jimmy Buffett Tribute's A1A at Florida Theatre on Feb. 2

JACKSONVILLE — A1A, the Official and Original Jimmy Buffett Tribute Show was formed in 1991 when lead vocalist and guitarist Jeff Pike invited Scott Nickerson, founder of the first Jimmy Buffett Parrot Head Club, to join his already successful one-person tribute to Jimmy Buffett. In 1992, the band won a Jimmy Buffett Sound Alike Contest for Margaritaville Records, bringing them to the attention of Jimmy Buffett and his organization. Starting in 1992, A1A was the first band to perform at and repeatedly headline the annual Jimmy Buffett "Meeting of The Minds" Jimmy Buffett Parrot Head Convention and many other national landmark yearly Parrot Head Events, which laid the foundation for the fundamental building and growth of the National Jimmy Buffett fan base, Parrot Head Club community and the Trop Rock and Coastal Americana Music genres as they are today.

The tribute show will stop at the Florida Theatre on Feb. 2 at 7 p.m. Tickets, which start at $49.75, are available at floridatheatre.showare.com.

Today, the band's popularity continues to grow, and with Jimmy Buffett's devastating passing in September 2023, their mission, show, and presence are ever more important.

Ascension St. Vincent's selected as Top 15 health system in United States

JACKSONVILLE — Fortune and PING AI have selected Ascension St. Vincent's as one of the nation's Top 15 health systems for 2024, marking the first time it has made the distinguished list.

St. Vincent's is the only hospital system in Northeast Florida and one of only two in Florida to earn a spot in the 2024 list. The other Florida system in the Top 15 is St. Vincent's sister Ascension Florida system, Sacred Heart in the Panhandle. St. Vincent's footprint spans Northeast Florida and includes hospitals in Riverside, Southside, Clay and St. Johns counties.

This year, more than 350 health systems in the United States were assessed for the Top-15 list. This involved an analysis of eight performance indicators, including data on inpatient deaths, patient complications, healthcare-associated infections, operational efficiency and patient experience — all of which are metrics St. Vincent's outperformed other systems that do not appear in the Top 15.

"St. Vincent's inclusion on this list is a testament to every associate's commitment to providing high-quality, patient-centered care at our hospitals and facilities," said Dr. Syed Jafri, Chief Clinical Officer for Ascension Florida. "We are blessed and thankful for our talented teams that have enabled our health system to be honored nationally. We look forward to continuing to serve those who need help the most."

Additionally, PING AI estimates that if all health systems performed at the same level as this year's top performers, it could have saved more than 220,000 additional lives and kept 196,000 patients complication-free during a given year.

Performance rankings like these objectively measure a health system's ability to deliver consistent, high-performing care across its communities. To view the list of all 15 hospital systems, visit Fortune's website.

Ascension St. Vincent's operates four hospitals, more than 90 other care sites, and employs more than 5,300 associates. In fiscal year 2023, Ascension St. Vincent's provided more than $87.7 million in community benefits and care for impoverished persons. Ascension is a faith-based healthcare organization dedicated to transformation through innovation across the continuum of care. As one of the United States' leading non-profit and Catholic health systems, Ascension is committed to delivering compassionate, personalized care to all, particularly to persons living in poverty and those most vulnerable.

OPPD Officer Jordan Fuentes recognized by Rotary Sunrise

ORANGE PARK — Police Officer Jordan Fuentes was honored with the Hero of the Quarter on Friday, June 28, by OP Sunrise Rotary Secretary Steve Underwood.

In May, Fuentes was transporting a prisoner to jail with a warrant for arrest. While en route, the man told Fuentes that he had ingested fentanyl before being arrested. Fuentes began to notice the subject exhibit signs of an overdose. Fuentes immediately pulled his vehicle off the side of the highway, notified fire rescue and administered Narcan. The Narcan was successful in reversing the effects of the overdose.

The individual regained consciousness and was transported to the hospital. Had Fuentes not taken decisive and immediate action, the individual would likely have died from the dangerous drug he ingested. Therefore, Fuentes was commended by the department and was recognized by Rotary.

Fall head over heels: A love story begins in 'The Bachelorette' season premiere

"Marvel's Hit-Monkey" - Season 2 (Hulu — July 15, Season Premiere)

Traveling from Japan to New York City, Monkey (Fred Tatasciore) finds a path to escape his life of killing, while Bryce (Jason Sudeikis) attempts to repair the damage to those he wronged in life. But what will it cost them to undo the past? Cristin Milioti also voice stars.

Ricky is a contestant in "The Bachelorette"

Love is in the air this summer and one lucky lady is about to pick her potential husband from a pool of 25 beaus. Dating game show "The Bachelorette" is back with a brand-new, history-making season, premiering Monday, July 8, on ABC. Former "Bachelor" contestant Jenn Tran, a student in Miami's Barry University physician assistant program, is the show's first Asian American lead.

After making a splash on Joey Graziadei's season of "The Bachelor," Tran became a fan favorite. She spent several weeks getting to know Graziadei, a professional tennis coach, before being sent home in the last rose ceremony before the all-important hometown dates.

While she may not have "won" that season, Tran got so much more when she was announced as the next Bachelorette during the "After the Final Rose" special back in March. Tran was crowned by the last "Bachelorette" lead, Charity Lawson, whose love story ended in a heartwarming on-screen engagement.

New Jersey native Tran, whose parents immigrated to the United States from Vietnam before she was born, has lived in the mid-west and Florida to attend undergraduate and master's school, but is looking forward to finding love abroad, she told Entertainment Tonight.

"I don't know where we're going yet, but I can't wait to find out," Tran said just after she was named Bachelorette. She revealed her lifelong holiday dream, saying, "I've always wanted to go to Africa my entire life. I love animals and I would love to go out in the sanctuaries, go on lots of safari rides, all that stuff. So maybe that's in the cards."

"We're really breaking the mold this season," Tran said, connecting her monumental season with a major change to the norms of the Bachelor franchise. Season 28 of "The Bachelor" saw the last rose ceremony at the famous Agoura Hills, California, home known as "Bachelor Mansion," home to many seasons' first impression night dramas, where sparks flew and tears were shed.

"I feel like a new mansion is the perfect way to break the mold ... I'm gonna bless it with some really good vibes," Tran promised. The new home of Bachelor franchise premieres is Hummingbird Nest Ranch, where "Listen to Your Heart" was filmed, the hybrid dating and music competition series that aired in the early days of the 2020 COVID-19 lockdowns — so don't worry if you can't exactly remember the home those songbirds lived in.

The 25 eligible bachelors vying for Tran's heart have come from far and wide to file into the shiny new Bachelor Mansion and make their best first impression on the lead as well as the TV-viewing audience at home. ABC releases official contestant bios ahead of season premieres, and while they are always worth a read in full for the creative fun facts, here are Tran's potential future husbands:

Aerospace engineer Aaron (29, Tulsa, Oklahoma); Austin, a sales executive (28, San Diego); real estate broker Brendan (30, Vancouver, British Columbia); health and safety manager Brett (28, Manheim, Pennsylvania); aesthetics consultant Brian (33, Boynton Beach, Florida); Dakota, a sommelier (27, Paradise Valley, Arizona); Freight company owner Devin (28, Houston); medical student Dylan (24, Elk Grove, California); Grant, a day trader who pivoted from professional basketball to finance (30, Houston); Medical device salesman Hakeem (29, Schaumburg, Illinois); Jahaan, a startup founder (28, New York City); Jeremy, a real estate investor (29, New York City); medical student John (25, Delray Beach, Florida); Jonathon, a creative director (27, Los Angeles); financial analyst Kevin (35, Denver); Marcus is a veteran (31, Raleigh, North Carolina); luxury event planner Marvin, (28, Santa Monica, California); insurance executive Matt (27, Atlanta); Algebra teacher Caleb (aka Moze), who played in the XFL before returning to the classroom (25, Albany, New York); Ricky, a pharmaceutical representative and former professional baseball player (28, Miami); Sam M., a contractor (27, Myrtle Beach, South Carolina); Sam N., an entrepreneur (25, Carlsbad, California); pet portrait photographer Spencer (30, Dallas); Thomas N., a retirement adviser (31, Tucker, Georgia); and Tomas A., a physiotherapist (27, Toronto).

Tasty trucks: New 'Food Truck Race' takes off on a twist-filled culinary adventure

Start your engines and refresh your memories ahead of an all-new episode of "The Great Food Truck Race: Games on the Gulf," airing Sunday, July 7, on Food Network.

Led by host Tyler Florence ("Tyler's Ultimate"), this latest season of "TGFTR" — which began last week, on June 30 — joins nine competing trucks as they take on an all-new route, driving across the country's Gulf Coast as they battle for a massive $50,000 grand prize. Along the way, the food trucks in question must compete in a series of themed challenges that not only utilize their culinary expertise but their marketing skills and savvy behind the wheel, as well.

Last week, the race began down in Texas at the NASA Johnson Space Center in Houston. The season's two-hour premiere saw Florence welcome the competing food truck teams, introducing his intrepid, culinary adventurers to the epic nine-city journey they would soon be embarking on.

There, Florence also introduced a new twist to the "Food Truck Race" universe. According to the Food Network, this season's teams will be divided into "Stars and Stripes" squads, with the top sellers awarded either gold, silver or bronze medals at the end of each week. With these awards comes a hefty cash bonus, which can be used as an advantage in their next city.

During this first episode, "Tyler [grouped] the teams into squads who [scrapped] for sales in an all-out selling frenzy" (per Food Network), as the bottom two teams faced a "shocking" elimination. Afterward, the race continued on to Galveston, Texas, where baseball superstar Justin Turner (who currently plays for the Toronto Blue Jays) acts as judge in a "Ballpark Bites" challenge.

The network goes on to promise that upcoming episodes include "an all-out food brawl with All Elite Wrestling tag teams The Acclaimed and The Gunns in Pascagoula, Mississippi, and a challenge to serve the crowds at Mardi Gras in Mobile, Alabama." Not to mention, the season's action-packed finale takes the remaining truckers to the renowned South Beach Wine and Food Festival in Miami, where the two remaining teams will go head-to-head in a challenge judged by some well-known Food Network stars.

The competition is on, and the trucks — stocked with food and chefs galore — are ready to roll. Pick up where they left off as an all-new episode of "The Great Food Truck Race: Games on the Gulf" premieres this Sunday, July 7, on Food Network.

Attenborough's animals: New BBC documentary returns 20 years after 'Life of Mammals'

Narrated by three-time Emmy winner Sir David Attenborough ("One Planet"), a man synonymous with the natural history genre, the brand-new, six-part docuseries "Mammals" debuts Saturday, July 13, on BBC America and AMC+.

Releasing 20 years after the original "Life of Mammals" series — a 2002 docuseries also helmed by Attenborough — this latest special allows viewers to "see how mammals have taken advantage of every major environment on Earth," according to the BBC, "[focusing] on how these animals are adapting to a world rapidly changed by the most dominant mammal — us."

In the two decades since "Life of Mammals" debut, the technology used to track and document the animals in question has developed substantially, allowing Attenborough, BBC's Natural History Unit and us viewers back at home to understand and dissect mammalian behavior with heightened accuracy — and, this time, in stunning 4K.

Throughout its run, "Mammals" even ventures to visit some of the animals filmed in the original series, returning to see how their environments have changed and how human interventions are either helping or hindering their species' survival.

"You can see the fur, you can see the whiskers of animals, so that technology has opened up that whole new world to us," series producer Scott Alexander ("Talking with Animals") explains.

The BBC, home of the series, went on to say: "In the two decades that have passed since the last series, what is also striking is the scale of human expansion. Since 2000, nearly 750,000 [square miles] (1.9 million [square kilometers]) of habitat has been lost — about eight times the size of the U.K. — and one of the biggest causes is food production."

David Attenborough narrates "Planet Earth: Mammals"

"The destruction of the forests means there are dwindling food sources for local wildlife," BBC continues. Despite this, episodes of "Mammals" offer remarkable stories of survival and ingenuity, following as animals adapt to natural and man-made changes in real-time, essentially showcasing evolution in action.

Though often difficult to watch, Attenborough himself describes the imporance of documenting these changes and understanding our impact on the natural world surrounding us: "If we make the right decisions," he says, "we can safeguard the future not just for our fellow mammals but for all life on Earth."

Equal parts stunning and educational, "Mammals" premieres this Saturday, July 13, on BBC America, streaming on AMC+.

"You can't handle the truth!" Certain lines of dialogue become so legendary, it's known immediately which projects they come from. So it is with the sentence delivered by Jack Nicholson in an intense military courtroom scene in "A Few Good Men," Aaron Sorkin's play that Rob Reiner brought to film in an effective and involving 1992 movie version that BBC America shows Monday, July 8.

Nicholson plays hard-as-nails Navy Colonel Nathan Jessep, a base commander investigated by several JAG lawyers — portrayed by Tom Cruise, Demi Moore and Kevin Pollak — after a soldier's death leads to the court martial of two of the deceased man's peers (Wolfgang Bodison, James Marshall). Cruise's character, Lt. Daniel Kaffee, has a carefree attitude that annoys the more studious Lt. Cmdr. Joanne Galloway (Moore). However, his tactics have a usefulness that gives her a certain appreciation of his approach, if not completely.

Still, they have defendants who aren't always cooperative, posing complications as the attorneys try to get to the bottom of a "Code Red" order that apparently was the cause of the death. Kaffee suspects that Jessep was the source of that command, setting up a battle of wills between the two men that comes to involve Jessep's counsel (Kevin Bacon) and other officers under Jessep's oversight (Kiefer Sutherland, "ER" alum Noah Wyle).

Sorkin adapted "A Few Good Men" for the screen, and while he and Reiner hold to the plot details originally set down by the project, the movie incarnation leaves plenty of room for sheer star power. Cruise plus Nicholson plus Moore still would be a major combination now, and it certainly was when the picture had its theatrical run ... with those stars' presence adding considerable wattage to what might have been considered material that was a bit more dry in other hands.

One byproduct was that lots of audience members knew much more about certain military procedures from the film. Another was that as iconic as Nicholson already was, his performance here joined the ranks of his best-known work, of the sort that others have imitated endlessly over the years since.

J.T. Walsh, J.A. Preston, Cuba Gooding Jr. and frequent Sorkin collaborator Joshua Malina ("The West Wing") also turn up in the exceptionally solid cast. In the end, the Cruise-Moore and Cruise-Nicholson sequences have the most lasting impact, which has done much to keep the movie a cable staple for three decades and counting.

The name was part of the game for 'Seinfeld'

Q: Someone told me that "Seinfeld" originally had a different title. Is that true? – Pat Jefferies, Chicago

A: Yes, though it was just a longer variation. Jerry Seinfeld's now-legendary sitcom premiered on NBC in 1989 as "The Seinfeld Chronicles," but it made an inauspicious debut as a one-time special (with the show even being offered to Fox after that). However, the chief of that NBC department at the time kept the faith and had four more episodes made, and those had much more successful results when they aired in the summer of 1990 behind the much-watched "Cheers."

The shortened title "Seinfeld" was adopted for that 1990 return since that same year, ABC had a series called "The Marshall Chronicles" that flopped, and NBC wanted to lessen any perceived connection between the shows. Of course, that worked very much in "Seinfeld's" favor, and the rest is television history that still can be seen via such outlets as Netflix, Comedy Central and TV Land.

Q: I know she wasn't in the TV version of "Clueless," but didn't Alicia Silverstone have a series once? If so, what was it called, and when was it on? – Jodie Nelson, via e-mail

A: She had the main role in "Miss Match," an NBC comedy-drama series that aired for several months in the fall of 2003. Created by executive producers Jeff Rake ("Manifest") and Darren Star ("Beverly Hills, 90210"), it cast her as a divorce lawyer who became a professional matchmaker and lived her own romantic dreams vicariously through the relationships she helped engineer for other people.

Also starring Ryan O'Neal (as Silverstone's father), Lake Bell and a pre-"Psych" James Roday Rodriguez, "Miss Match" filmed 17 episodes, but six of them never aired. In later years, Silverstone made several series pilots that didn't sell; however, she had a recurring role on the ABC sitcom "Suburgatory," and she was featured as the mother of one of the title characters in the Netflix show "The Baby-Sitters Club," based on the popular series of books for young readers.

Q: Will the Courtney Cox series "Shining Vale" be continuing? – Jean Elliott, Hilton Head, S.C.

A: Not as of now, at least. Starz gave the supernatural sitcom its cancellation notice last December after two seasons, and reportedly, work already was under way on the writing of a third round. Soon after the pink slip was given, the two seasons of the show that existed on the cable network's digital avenues were removed.

Created by Jeff Astrof (who also had worked with Cox on "Friends") and Sharon Horgan, "Shining Vale" certainly had an impressive cast. It also included Greg Kinnear, Mira Sorvino, Judith Light and Merrin Dungey. The series ended with a cliffhanger that evidently is destined never to be resolved, something for which staff writer-producer Kay Reindl apologized in a social-media post after the termination by Starz became known.

"This is about honoring victims and showcasing, in a creative way, a platform that reminds the people who work here why we come to this job every single day," she said.

One planned centerpiece is an article written by Clay Today about the gripping Michael Renard Jackson case. Nelson said that was the most compelling case in Clay County during her tenure in the Fourth Circuit.

"I sat through the retrial earlier this year. It really affected and shook the county when it happened. It was very gripping and litigated for a really long time," Nelson said.

Jackson was sentenced to death in 2007 for murdering a veterinary technician. In 2012, the Florida Supreme Court called for a retrial. Jackson was tried again in 2023 and was sentenced to life in prison.

"We were pleased with that outcome," Nelson said.

One upcoming case of interest on the state attorney's radar is the Corey L. Binderim trial, which begins on Sept. 30.

The Law Library on the fourth floor of the State Attorney's Office.

Pam Hazel is the Clay County Director and the lead prosecutor for the Binderim case. She went with Nelson and FBI crime analysts to a landfill in Georgia, where it was believed Susan Elizabeth Mauldin's body would be found. Nelson described the fruitless search through the landfill and how "everything was just shades of gray." The overcast sky and the despairing mood left everything in a gloomy gray glaucoma as they searched desperately for the body.

Nelson said the team found a white skull fragment the night before the search was about to be called off. From there, they found what they believe is the victim's body.

"Her body was most entirely intact, which was pretty remarkable," Nelson said.

Her job as a state attorney confronts her with the worst of human nature. Despite all the past horrors and the horrors still to come, she maintains an optimistic outlook on life. Providence is one of her central tenets.

During the final week to qualify for the 2016 election, Nelson grappled with whether or not to run for state attorney. She wondered if there was a path to win the election. Her committed decision to enter politics was "sort of" a spur-of-the-moment decision after months of ruminating.

She talked to Gary Chartrand, a mentor figure and campaign contributor, a few days before the qualifying deadline. Chartrand shared a quote by William Hutchison Murray:

"Until one is committed, there is hesitancy, the chance to draw back, always ineffectiveness. Concerning all acts of initiative (and creation), there is one elementary truth, the ignorance which kills countless ideas and splendid plans: that the moment one definitely commits oneself, then Providence moves too."

Those words replayed in Nelson's mind as she was driving home. She made up her mind as she pulled into her driveway.

"All of a sudden, it became clear to me. The meaning of the quote and what he was trying to tell me. When I made the decision, incredible things happened," Nelson said.

After winning the 2016 election, Nelson has been unchallenged ever since.

BEST OF MIDDLEBURG

Cruce siblings lead the Bronco

By Randy Lefko
randy@claytodayonline.com

MIDDLEBURG – Middleburg High had its share of success in the 2023-2024 seasons with a volleyball state title, a second football playoff berth, and a second state wrestling title and the siblings were instrumental in that success were Austin and Cheyenne Cruce; one a senior, the other to be a senior.

On the football field, Austin Cruce was the blood and guts leader of coach Ryan Wolfe's second straight playoff spot; the only one in Clay County in 2023, with his relentless pursuit of enemy ball carriers and his occasional forays into the offensive backfield for timely rumbles for first downs in tight situations.

Cruce's nose for the ball gave him a No. 2 ranked 77 tackles for the year and double-digit tackling games, 11 stops, against a rugged Hawthorne team that finished unbeaten state champions, a gigantic Columbia team that Cruce crashed a mud-fest to 14 tackles and an 11 tackle effort against a fast and furious Bishop Kenny team; all three playoff teams.

After football, Cruce was a mainstay in the corner of the Broncos wrestling team; mainly the girls' team, where his little sister Cheyenne pounded through a second undefeated season en route to an overtime state title to lead a spry girls' wrestling team for coaches Coll Robertson and Jamie Harrison.

At times, Cheyenne Cruce, at 190 pounds, but just about 5-foot-6, was smaller in comparison to some of her opponents, but like they say, you can't measure heart, determination and grit with a measuring tape and Cheyenne Cruce pulled off an athletic feat that is one of the hardest to do at any level; not just a repeat title, but a repeat title in wrestling where the hazards of injuries, fatigue and bad luck make the endeavor that much more difficult.

For Clay County, with girls wrestling only around for five years, there has never been a repeat girls wrestling state champion; for the boys, they have been far and few between with the likes of P.J. Cobbert (4X titles at Clay), Cory Baudendistel (3X titles at Clay), Adam Briendel (2X titles at Clay), Briar Jackson (2X titles at Fleming Island).

Two bests; one family

Above: Middleburg High senior middle linebacker Austin Cruce has been the top tackler for the Broncos for the past three years and one of the most prolific in all of north Florida. Below: Middleburg junior wrestler Cheyenne Cruce withstood all challenges to her sophomore state title and returned for a second straight undefeated season and state title with a shot at a historic senior season.

Cruce will undoubtedly be a prime candidate to pull off a three-peat for titles in her upcoming senior season.

For their excellence year in and year out, the Cruce siblings; Austin and Cheyenne Cruce are named the Clay Today/Middleburg High athletes of the year.

Indians invade Golden Eagles turf

By Randy Lefko
randy@claytodayonline.com

FLEMING ISLAND – Intent on giving his Keystone Heights High football team a look at “big boy” football, Indians coach Steve Reynolds, a former Oakleaf High coach with Fleming Island defensive coach Derek Chipoletti, saw a bit of toughness from his 2A boys against the 5A Golden Eagles.

“We held our own and made some good plays,” said Reynolds. “They are a little bigger, but our guys played tough and did not back down. We saw some good fights for passes from both sides; defense and offensive.”

With junior quarterback Baylor Ford behind center with quarterback coach Ken Mudge directing traffic, Keystone Heights got some downfield action from wideout Jackson Permeter and also from running back Zane Leger out of the backfield. Leger was able to slip past the Golden Eagles’ three linebackers; Cohen Cioffi, AJ Witt and David Smith for a few physical interactions about seven yards off the line of scrimmage with some “slight” physicality intertwined on the “two-hand” touches.

“That’s football and both teams are very competitive,” said Fleming Island defensive coach Chris Otero.

For the Golden Eagles, who were without all-star quarterback Cibastian Broughton, out of some college visits, it was Trace Burney on the sidelines and running back Demhir Jackson on wheel routes that did most of the Fleming Island damage. In one exchange, Keystone Heights defensive back Kyle Perkins made a strong airborne pass break up against Jackson that saw hats and glasses flying into the end zone on one spectacular interaction.

Burney showed off his quick feet and elusiveness time and time again with simple passes garnering extra yards in Billy Sim fashion.

For the defenses, Fleming Island safety Sebastian Cruz, one of the track fast members of the Golden Eagles roster, snagged one with Davean Boyking grabbing a late pick and Fabric Joseph breaking up a near spectacular diving end zone pass from Ford to Parmeter.

Parmeter was the best target for Ford as the Indians looked to transition to a multiple-attack offense that banks passes off a typically strong run game from Leger and Colton Hollingsworth up front with the Indian’s large, powerful offensive line.

“We get six, seven yards on first down and it opens the playcalling for Baylor on second down,” said Mudge, a former Orange Park quarterback standout. “He’s a year more experienced with reading defenses and knows he has a guy like Jackson to chase down any pass.”

Sebastian Cruz is one of fastest on field as Fleming Island defensive secondary specialist.

Fleming Island linebacker Cohen Cioffi, a former defensive end, is big basher for Golden Eagle defense that will get a five yard run up to impact.

Fleming Island’s defense, here led by linebacker Cohen Cioffi, converged on Keystone Heights receivers in recent passing scrimmage.

Keystone Heights wide receiver Jackson Parmeter, a top target for quarterback Baylor Ford, tries to make tricky catch in long pass against Fleming Island.

Keystone Heights coach Steve Reynolds, left, is banking on the sophomore season maturity of quarterback Baylor Ford who will direct a multi-faceted Indians attack.

Keystone Heights linebacker Kyle Perkins puts strong defensive effort on pass attempt to Fleming Island running back Demhir Jackson.

Former Oakleaf High football defensive end Chantz Williams has transferred from the University of Miami to the University of Charlotte for the upcoming fall season, according to a Miami press release.

Chantz, a 6-foot-4-inch, 255-pound edge/defensive end, appeared in 39 games over four seasons with the Hurricanes, which included 36 games played over the last three seasons where the fourth-year junior recorded 39 tackles with 4.5 tackles for loss and 1.5 sacks during his time in Miami.

Williams' addition is expected to fill the void for Charlotte, who finished 3-9 last season, after losing defensive end Eyabi Okie-Anoma, who was easily the club's top defensive lineman and one of the top defensive players in the American Athletic Conference last year with 55 tackles and 11.5 tackles for loss with 5.5 sacks.

Additionally, Williams is expected to help bolster a 49ers' defense that ranked 91st out of 133 FBS teams in points allowed per game (28.6) – ranking among the bottom third in the American in several major defensive categories.

Former Oakleaf High defensive end Chantz Williams will take his next season to University of Charlotte in recent transfer announcement.

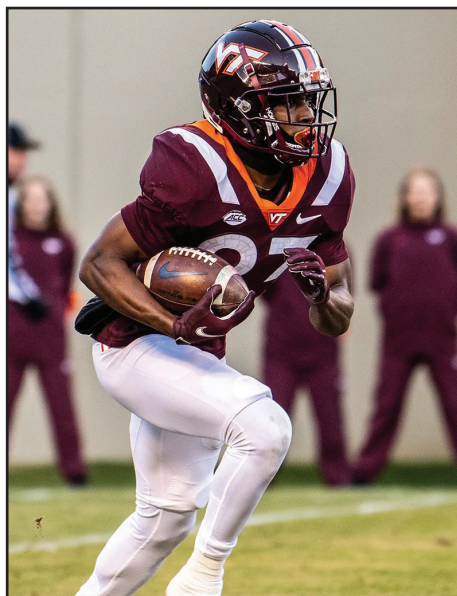

Group of Five foe Middle Tennessee State in 2022, where he had four tackles and three quarterback hurries.

Williams, while at Oakleaf, also excelled in basketball and track.

Charlotte has on its schedule NCAA powers such as North Carolina, Rice, Navy, East Carolina and University of South Florida.

Two stalwarts of Oakleaf football history; offensive tackle Jalen Rivers, left, and defensive end Chantz Williams were both multi-sport athletes at Oakleaf and standouts at University of Miami. Rivers will play one more season for Hurricanes.

Oakleaf High speedster Keshawn King spent four years with Virginia Tech and will finish football at Western Michigan University.

King returning to 2024 lineup

Also in college football action from Oakleaf High School, former running back Keshawn King, a three-year player for Virginia Tech University, who transferred to Western Michigan University's Broncos football program in 2023, but was injured after four games, is expected to return to the lineup in 2024. King is a fifth-year redshirt junior. King, who rushed for 4,800 yards for Oakleaf with 66 touchdowns, led the Hokies in rushing in 2022 with 443 yards with three scores.

As an Oakleaf High Knight, Williams, who joined former Oakleaf offensive tackle Jalen Rivers, still at Miami, was a four-star recruit in the class of 2020 and was rated as the No. 4 weak-side defensive end nationally and No. 12 player in Florida by 247Sports while also being selected to participate in 2020 Under Armour All-America Game.

Oakleaf has produced three Under Armour All-Americans; Williams, Rivers and linebacker Shaquille Quarterman, all who played for Miami. Quarterman was drafted in 2020 by the Jacksonville Jaguars and is still on the roster. Rivers is a fifth-year junior at Miami and a 2023 All-ACC second team selection.

The Orange Park, Florida native signed with the Hurricanes over offers from Alabama, Clemson, Florida, Florida State and Georgia.

Williams' best career day came against Oakleaf High quarterback Jayven Moreno recently visited University of Louisiana-Monroe for quarterback camp and possible college opportunity.

Oakleaf High long snapper Joel Bazinet, a top punt and kick snapper in area, made a recent visit to University of Miami. Former Oakleaf long snapper Chase Nichols was one of first area snapper to earn a full college scholarship for his skill a decade ago.

JACKSONVILLE – Fleming Island and Oakleaf high football got their first taste of top-tier football with the Jacksonville Jaguars Nike 11 on 11 Flag Tournament played Saturday morning at TIAA Bank Field in Jacksonville.

Ironically, both Fleming Island and Oakleaf were one of the few non-playoff teams that got the invite to the power-packed lineup of teams at TIAA Bank Field.

With Oakleaf squaring off first with Raines, a region semifinalist last year at Fleming Island running back Demhir Jackson got good mileage from backfield escapes, catches and added yardage on the ground including a 45 yard bomb against Wakulla.

10-2 with a tough 14-7 loss to Class 4A runnerup Bolles, the Knights behind duo quarterbacks Jack McKissock, a transfer from The First Academy in Orlando, and Jayven Romero, took turns finding Jordyn Price in between Raines defenders with mid-range passes that kept the ball moving. Running back Chris Foy II was effective with out-of-backfield swing passes; one for a score.

Fleming Island wide receiver Tristan Stevenson had a fruitful day at the Jacksonville Jaguars Nike 11 on 11 Tournament with a handful of nifty pass catches in wins over Wakulla and Gulf Breeze.

Fleming Island's outside speed will come from trackster Trace Burney who, numerous times, got loose for long scores from quarterback Cibastian Broughton.

Raines, though, had their own firepower in place and answered each of the Knights' salvos with their own to snag a final play touchdown for the scrimmage win with just seven seconds on the 20-minute play clock.

For Oakleaf, the defensive secondary, which included newly transferred Kaylib Singleton from Fleming Island, got tested often but showed good defensive position despite decided height and jumping advantages.

In Fleming Island's first game, quarterback Cibastian Broughton was on target deep and mid-range with long bombs to Trace Burney landing in the end zone against Wakulla, a 35-20 win for Fleming Island, and monster running back Demhir Jackson making defenders chase the big guy on swing passes that put up 15-20 yards after the catch.

Wakulla, a deep region candidate the past three seasons; 11-1 last year and a region semifinalist, showed Fleming Island some passing efficiency of their own with crossing patterns and tough catches made despite close-quarter defense by Fleming Island defenders.

In game two, Oakleaf against Ocala Vanguard; 11-3, Final Four finisher last year, returning wide receiver Carlos Witherup showed off why he will be a valuable asset to coach Chris Foy's offense with a wicked pylon horizontal catch for a score.

For Fleming Island, Gulf Breeze was not much to handle as the Golden Eagles moved quickly to scores to set up the championship bracket.

In the championship bracket, Oakleaf was scheduled to play eventual tournament champion Mandarin after four rain delays with Fleming Island leaving when the tournament was to resume at 4 p.m. from a noon lightning delay.

Brown, Thomas get top mentions at Clay High football scrimmage

By Randy Lefko
randy@claytodayonline.com

JACKSONVILLE — Two names, Daylen Brown and Antonio Thomas, kept popping up after big plays on the field for Clay High football in a triple-play passing tournament with host ED White and Bolles on Wednesday on a hot, steamy morning.

“Both of them are beasts,” said Clay coach Kyle Kennard, as he watched Thomas making catch after catch against an athletic Bolles secondary coached by two former Clay coaches; Bolles head coach Matt Toblin and Class 5A runnerup head coach Joshua Hoekstra, now a defensive coordinator for Bolles. “Daylen is the bigger target in the secondary and Antonio is good at moving downfield quickly.”

Against Bolles, both teams showed off efficient quarterback decisions while moving the ball swiftly with Clay going with a two-quarterback system with Landon Martin and Landon Chadwick swapping series for Kennard and offensive coordinator Brian Flaherty. Thomas got some pass defense on defense with Javion Cobbert playing cover and Martin hovering as a linebacker. Mikeise Battle offered tight coverage as well with Bolles trying numerous times to get an end-zone jump ball for a score. Against ED White Brown snagged more balls on offense and was able to get additional yardage while Parker Dykas had one interesting tumble between two defenders that resulted in bodies flying and an ED White guy making the final grab.

Clay gears up for a full team pads camp at Webber College in July.

Two Clay High guys; present and past, were Kyle Kennard, left, and Joshua Hoekstra, right, as Clay and Bolles tangoed at ED White in passing scrimmage action on Thursday. Hoekstra had prolific 10-year coaching span at Clay with trip to Class 5A championship game in 2013.

Stewart sharp, Broncos show good execution

By Randy Lefko
randy@claytodayonline.com

MIDDLEBURG –Middleburg High quarterback Carson Stewart looked sharp at all levels with his throws with four touchdown strikes to wide receiver Jordan Williams in a productive outing against the Hilliard High Flashes on Monday at Middleburg High.

“We had good execution today, but I’d like to see a little more energy,” said Middleburg head coach Ryan Wolfe. “We only had, I think, one dropped pass and I know it’s hot out here, but that’s not an excuse.”

With Stewart sharp with quick outs to Jordan Williams and little deeper flies to Deshun Green Middleburg moved swiftly; three passes to Williams’ first score on an end zone corner catch. Green snagged a 20-yard post pattern to set up Williams on the 10-yard touchdown.

Williams also snuck away from the Hilliard defense for quick-hitting end-zone scores from Stewart.

With Hilliard also testing the Bronco secondary and having success over the middle, the sideline defensive backs; Joel Lowe and Jaden Boyd, both came up with interceptions as the session progressed but the middle of the field was vulnerable. Safety man Wain Sulph manned the center-field area of the defense and got stung on late crossing patterns.

In the latter stages of the session, tight end Mason Zwilling, also a backup quarterback and H-back for the Bronco offense, caught a batch of short out patterns and made some ankle-b breaking cuts to add a touchdown scamper to one from about 20 yards out. Zwilling seems to be the potential utility guy for Wolfe with multiple lineup positions on offense.

Outside wide receiver Deshun Green, who grabbed a 75-yard scoring strike in the Broncos spring game with Oak Hall, had a fingertip near-grab on a deep post pattern to the end zone. Green is looking to be the deep threat for the Bronco offensive attack. Defensive coach Benjamin Traywick was a bit frustrated on crossing route defense that proved fruitful for the Flashes. On defense, Lowe snagged a high arching interception in the end zone with a well-time outjumping of a much taller Hilliard pass receiver while Boyd, lined up as a running back on offense next to Stewart, snagged a mistimed post pattern for an interception.

ORANGE PARK - Orange Park High quarterback Gabe Taylor looked sharp as a cucumber in a Thursday passing scrimmage with visiting Bishop Snyder at Orange Park High.

"We had a good plan of plays and wanted to see if we could go long and go short," said Taylor, the returning starter from last season's 4-6 season. "I was able to throw to a lot of different guys and just made plays inside and out."

grass additions, the Raider attack looked formidable against a game Bishop Snyder with one incoming freshman looking better on the vertical routes. Senior Ryder Fulmer had some sideline passes for gains including one that broke for a 25-yard score.

On the defense, Orange Park snagged two interceptions in the end zone as Snyder stayed inside the hashmarks with quick hitters to move downfield, but could not go overtop with success.

Orange Park recently placed second to Spruce Creek in a two day passing tournament in Orlando that saw the multi-plexed offense make the same big games.

"We had one bad play that cost us the final game in that one," said Raider coach Coby Hayslett. "Coach Wimberly has the team almost where we want them to be mentally and physically and that is going to give us a good shot at a better season. We've seen the growth of the locker room mentality and the love of the team for each other and that's a big step."

Hayslett noted that the history of Raider football is something that he and head coach Marcus Wimberly want to see come back to the Raider turf.

"This was the program that everyone knew about years ago, but with new schools and transfers and all that, the kids kind of got away from playing just for being a Raider," said Hayslett. "We're close and getting that back."

spark to a team that started shaky with three losses before September that made them look a bit beatable by the upper tier of teams in Florida. Still, Forkum, in her fiery approach to sticking to the game plan, tore through the meat of her schedule behind the power playing at the net from all-stater Connor Rahn and her wingman, Brooke Forkum; with just two losses for the rest of the season; one to a strong Trinity Christian Academy (3A Final Four) and one to Gulliver Prep; 4A state champion, in October. Rahn rattled the net for 425 kills with Forkum a few steps behind with 373 kills. Forum returns for one more season.

In football, Wolfe used his second straight season at 5-5 with a rugged first-half schedule that featured a few state title chasers to garner the lone playoff spot in football from the county.

Highlight players elusive quarterback Jaydan Jenkins, some clutch pass catches from Jarren Rozier and Braydan Street, a punchy defense spearheaded by Cruce, Tucker Cody, BJ Carter (who returns), and a powerhouse named Luke Wheeler. Carter returns, and Boyd returns.

Cross country had its moments led by junior Paloma Romero in the 22-minute range and senior Brandon Mills in the 19-minute range.

Golf was minus a kid named Carroll, but Lucas Walhstrom got to regions for the boy's team while Neva Winslow stayed in the mix through the season as a potential state ticket with a fourth at districts, a qualifying score at regions and a visit to the Class 2A championship tournament; 66th place.

Swimming was led by top 25 finishes from Collin Pirner (23rd 100 free 54.92, 23rd 200 free 2:15.70), Emily Villarreal (22nd 100 breast 1:27.76, 25th 200 IM 2:53.24), and girls relays in the very tough Ponte Vedra, Fleming Island strong district championships.

Winter

In the winter, girls and boys wrestling and girls weightlifting provided the sparks of championships with the Cheyenne Cruce-led Lady Broncos blowing up gyms with the sophomore sidekicks; Memphis Moses, Skylar Fisher and Sarah Walsh entertaining the Bronco nation while the boys brawled behind stalwarts Tucker Cody (3rd, region champion), Wyatt Leduc (4th, region champion), Gavin Fisher (4th, region runnerup) and Nathan Harvey all putting some skin in the game after a very close region finish; third at 120 behind Clay 122 and Fleming Island 169.

Wrestling coach Coll Robertson has brought his year after year championship mentality from Lake Asbury Junior High to the Middleburg gym and the payoff is coming year after year.

In the girls' weightlifting, with coach Rhiannon Weiskopf orchestrating a school-wide dragnet of athletes from a multitude of sports; softball, cheerleading, the iron Middleburg senior athlete Tucker Cody, an outstanding defensive end for football, was also as state wrestling athlete for a great senior finish. Right; Weightlifting power came from Madison Underwood, also third in state in discus, and softball sibling Caylee and Carley Johnson who excelled in two sports.

Baseball almost got an upset of the decade with 12th inning 1-0 district semifinal tournament loss to region finalist Clay High and will return with pitcher Logan Wehrmeyer. Golf senior Neva Winslow stealthily kept her game in the hunt with a state championship berth after a solid season while weightlifter Charles Little powered through a strong state meet and will also return for 2024 football.

district champions in Olympics; Caylee Johnson, Emily Herren, and Autumn Pelfrey, fueled the path to regions with third in Traditional and fifth in Olympics. Caylee Johnson, softball ace, won her region title ahead of track ace Madison Underwood in and eighth as threats to the state field.

At state, Caylee Johnson prevailed with a third with Middleburg getting three top 10s in Traditional and Johnson and Underwood close again with fourth and fifth in Olympics with Ava Clinkscale 10th in 199.

With rookie girls' soccer coach Joy Rosano taking the reigns after some Final Fours at Fleming Island as a player and coach, the Lady Broncos opened with a flurry with four wins including wins over Ridgeview and Oakleaf as Rosano delivered some strong strategy to the pitch with the likes of Reilly Toomey battling hard.

Boys soccer had tough games throughout with lead scorer Xavier Abuhl, a junior, with 14 goals keeping the Broncos in most games with tough one or two-goal losses through the season; two 1-1 ties, Clay and Keystone as the two best games of the season for the Broncos with a tough 2-0 loss in districts to Columbia.

Basketball opened hot with 10 wins, one loss in a return to the Malcolm Bernard days as the Broncos eventually finished 18-8. Aidan Farber was the top attack dog with Jarren Rosier offering speed downcourt.

Girls' basketball started a little rough, but coach Lindsay Burghart got the girls all on the same page behind brawler Cheyenne Jenkins and Brooke Cooper to get a late-season win streak to finish 11-12.

Spring

For spring sports, the girls' softball team bashed a bunch of homers throughout the season to look like a second title would be on the table come late season, but a freshman pitcher from Gainesville turned the table over for the Lady Broncos twice despite a heavy-hitting batting lineup of Kerra Clarida, KK Hagan and Alyssa Prather accounting for 31 homers; 13 from Clarida with two of the three; Clarida and Hagan returning next year to give it a second go at the elusive second title.

Baseball almost pulled off one of the biggest upsets of the decade with a 12th-inning 1-0 walkoff loss to Clay High in the district semifinals. The game played at Orange Park High, was just one of many examples of how the Broncos baseball aura is to peak at districts as in past seasons as the Broncos finished at 8-15.

Lead batters Skylar Gray (.333) and Nico Hill (13 RBIs) were excitable at the right time and a Clay vs. Middleburg game is worthy of excitement.

Two track athletes that stood out for the Broncos were discus thrower Madison Underwood, who finished fourth, and javelin thrower Anthony Pasquale as the lone Broncos at the state meet.

For flag football, with new coaches James Black and assistant Rodney Ivey inheriting a very competitive team from years past showed some spark from previous seasons; Cheyenne Jenkins, Desiree Hall, and Brooke Cooper, all pushed through an opening loss to Fleming Island that was followed by six wins before the mojo had to scratch away for key wins to earn a playoff spot.

A questionable 7-0 loss to Bradford in the district tournament was followed by a 12-7 over Bradford in round one only to get sauteed 41-0 against FSU High in round two.

In boy's weightlifting, region champion Gage Isbell was the top finisher in Traditional with a fifth-place finish over Fleming Island Olympic champion Kevin Reyes in the Unlimited division. Jammes Harris was 10th in Traditional, ninth in Olympics at 119 with Trent Robinson eighth at 139; and seventh in Olympics. Unlimited Charles Little finished sixth in Olympics.

The big surprise in weightlifting was 169 region champion Josh Senear; also second in the state in 2023, with no lifting in clean and jerk.

SOUTH VILLAGE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER THE ADOPTION OF THE FY 2025 BUDGET; NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER THE IMPOSITION OF OPERATIONS AND MAINTENANCE SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS, ADOPTION OF AN ASSESSMENT ROLL, AND THE LEVY, COLLECTION, AND ENFORCEMENT OF THE SAME; AND NOTICE OF REGULAR BOARD OF SUPERVISORS' MEETING.

The Board of Supervisors ("Board") for the South Village Community Development District ("District") will hold the following public hearings and regular meeting:

DATE: August 6, 2024
 TIME: 6:30 p.m.
 LOCATION: Eagle Landing Residents Club
 3975 Eagle Landing Parkway
 Orange Park, Florida 32065

The first public hearing is being held pursuant to Chapter 190, Florida Statutes, to receive public comment and objections on the District's proposed budget ("Proposed Budget") for the fiscal year beginning October 1, 2024, and ending September 30, 2025 ("FY 2025"). The second public hearing is being held pursuant to Chapters 190, Florida Statutes, to consider the imposition of operations and maintenance special assessments ("O&M Assessments") upon the lands located within the District to fund the Proposed Budget for FY 2025; to consider the adoption of an assessment roll; and to provide for the levy, collection, and enforcement of O&M Assessments. At the conclusion of the public hearings, the Board will, by resolution, adopt a budget and levy O&M Assessments as finally approved by the Board. A regular Board meeting of the District will also be held where the Board may consider any other District business that may properly come before it.

Description of Assessments

The District imposes O&M Assessments on benefitted property within the District for the purpose of funding the District's general administrative, operations, and maintenance budget. A description of the services to be funded by the O&M Assessments, and the properties to be improved and benefitted from the O&M Assessments, are all set forth in the Proposed Budget. A geographic depiction of the property potentially subject to the proposed O&M Assessments is identified in the map attached hereto. The table below shows the schedule of the proposed O&M Assessments, which are subject to change at the hearing:

Land Use	Total # of Units / Acres	EAU/ERU Factor	Proposed O&M Assessment
Single Family	1494	1	$1,781.00
Sales Center	1	6.4	$3,946.43

*Includes collection costs and early payment discounts

NOTE: THE DISTRICT RESERVES ALL RIGHTS TO CHANGE THE LAND USES, NUMBER OF UNITS, EQUIVALENT ASSESSMENT OR RESIDENTIAL UNIT ("EAU/ERU") FACTORS, AND O&M ASSESSMENT AMOUNTS AT THE PUBLIC HEARING, WITHOUT FURTHER NOTICE.

The proposed O&M Assessments as stated include collection costs and/or early payment discounts imposed on assessments collected by the Clay County ("County") Tax Collector on the tax bill. Moreover, pursuant to Section 197.3632(4), Florida Statutes, the lien amount shall serve as the "maximum rate" authorized by law for O&M Assessments, such that no public hearing on O&M Assessments shall be held or notice provided in future years unless the O&M Assessments are proposed to be increased or another criterion within Section 197.3632(4), Florida Statutes, is met. Note, the O&M Assessments do not include debt service assessments previously levied by the District, if any.

For FY 2025, the District intends to have the County Tax Collector collect the O&M Assessments imposed on certain developed property. It is important to pay your O&M Assessment because failure to pay will cause a tax certificate to be issued against the property which may result in loss of title or, for direct billed O&M Assessments, may result in a foreclosure action which also may result in a loss of title. The District's decision to collect O&M Assessments on the County tax roll or by direct billing does not preclude the District from later electing to collect those or other assessments in a different manner at a future time.

Additional Provisions

The public hearings and meeting are open to the public and will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of Florida law. A copy of the Proposed Budget, proposed assessment roll, and the agenda for the public hearings and meeting may be obtained at the offices of the District Manager, Governmental Management Services, LLC, 475 West Town Place, Suite 114, St. Augustine, Florida 32092 ("District Manager's Office"), during normal business hours, or by visiting the District's website at southvillagecdd.com. The public hearings and meeting may be continued in progress to a date, time certain, and place to be specified on the record at the public hearings or meeting. There may be occasions when staff or board members may participate by speaker telephone.

Any person requiring special accommodations at the public hearings or meeting because of a disability or physical impairment should contact the District Manager's Office at least forty-eight (48) hours prior to the public hearings and meeting. On the filing of a timely and sufficient petition, this action will not be final and effective until further order of the Department. Because the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate final agency action, the hearing process may result in a modification of the agency action or even denial of the application. A person whose substantial interests are affected by the Department’s action may petition for an administrative proceeding (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, F.S. Pursuant to Rule 28-106.201, F.A.C., a petition for an administrative hearing must contain the following information:

(b) The name, address, any email address, any facsimile number, and telephone number of the petitioner; the name, address, and telephone number of the petitioner’s representative, if any, which shall be the address for service purposes

(g) A statement of the relief sought by the petitioner, stating precisely the action that the petitioner wishes the agency to take with respect to the agency’s proposed action.
The petition must be filed (received by the Clerk) in the Office of General Counsel of the Department at 3900 Commonwealth Boulevard, Mail Station 35, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-3000. Also, a copy of the petition shall be mailed to the applicant at the address indicated above at the time of filing. In accordance with Rule 62-110.106(3), F.A.C., petitions for an administrative hearing by the applicant must be filed 21 days after receipt of this written notice. Petitions filed by any persons other than the applicant, and other than those entitled to written notice under Section 120.60(3), F.S., must be filed within 21 days of publication of the notice or within 21 days of receipt of the written notice, whichever occurs first. Under Section 120.60(3), F.S., however, any person who has asked the Department for notice of agency action may file a petition 21 days of receipt of such notice, regardless of the date of publication. The failure to file a petition within the appropriate time period shall constitute a waiver of that person’s right to request an administrative determination (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, F.S., or to intervene in this proceeding and participate as a party to it. Any subsequent intervention (in a proceeding initiated by another party) will be only at the discretion of the presiding officer upon the filing of a motion in compliance with Rule 28-106.205, F.A.C. Under Rule 62-110.106(4), F.A.C., a person whose substantial interests are affected by the Department’s action may also request an extension of time to file a petition for an administrative hearing. The Department may, for good cause shown, grant the request for an extension of time. Requests for extension of time must be filed with the Office of General Counsel of the Department at 3900 Commonwealth Boulevard, Mail Station 35, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-3000, before the applicable deadline for filing a petition for an administrative hearing. A timely request for extension of time shall toll the running of the time period for filing a petition until the request is acted upon. Mediation is not available in this proceeding. The applicant, or any party within the meaning of Section 373.114(1)(a) or 373.4275, F.S., may also seek appellate review of this order before the Land and Water Adjudicatory Commission, under Section 373.114(1) or 373.4275, F.S. Requests for review before the Land and Water Adjudicatory Commission must be filed with the Secretary of the Commission and served on the Department within 20 days from the date when this order is filed with the Clerk of the Department. DATE:	July 31, 2024

HOUR:	2:00 p.m.
LOCATION:	Holiday Inn and Suites 620 Wells Road Orange Park, Florida 32073

The first public hearing is being held pursuant to Chapter 190, Florida Statutes, to receive public comment and objections on the District’s proposed budget (“Proposed Budget”) for the fiscal year beginning October 1, 2024, and ending September 30, 2025 (“Fiscal Year 2024/2025”). The second public hearing is being held pursuant to Chapters 170, 190 and 197, Florida Statutes, to consider the imposition of operations and maintenance special assessments (“O&M Assessments”) upon the lands located within the District, to fund the Proposed Budget for Fiscal Year 2024/2025; to consider the adoption of an assessment roll; and, to provide for the levy, collection, and enforcement of assessments. At the conclusion of the hearings, the Board will, by resolution, adopt a budget and levy O&M Assessments as finally approved by the Board. A Board meeting of the District will also be held where the Board may consider any other District business.

Description of Assessments

The District imposes O&M Assessments on benefitted property within the District for the purpose of funding the District’s general administrative, operations, and maintenance budget. Pursuant to Section 170.07, Florida Statutes, a description of the services to be funded by the O&M Assessments, and the properties to be improved and benefitted from the O&M Assessments, are all set forth in the Proposed Budget. A geographic depiction of the property potentially subject to the proposed O&M Assessments is identified in the map attached hereto. The table below shows the schedule of the proposed O&M Assessments, which are subject to change at the hearing:

	Units/Acres	Factor	O&M Assessment (October 1, 2023 – September 30, 2024)	O&M Assessment (October 1, 2024 – September 30, 2025)	Annual Dollar Amount * Includes costs of collection and early payment discounts when collected on the County tax bill. All amounts stated herein are subject to change and/or final determination at the public hearings and meeting identified above. Specific maximum amounts expected per parcel or product type are as set forth in the Assessment Report.

The proposed O&M Assessments as stated include collection costs and/or early payment discounts, which Clay County (“County”) may impose on assessments that are collected on the County tax bill. Moreover, pursuant to Section 197.3632(4), Florida Statutes, the lien amount shall serve as the “maximum rate” authorized by law for O&M Assessments, such that no assessment hearing shall be held or notice provided in future years unless the assessments are proposed to be increased or another criterion within Section 197.3632(4), Florida Statutes, is met. Note that the O&M Assessments do not include any debt service assessments previously levied by the District and due to be collected for Fiscal Year 2024/2025.

For Fiscal Year 2024/2025, the District intends to have the County tax collector collect the assessments imposed on certain developed property and will directly collect the assessments imposed on the remaining benefitted property by sending out a bill prior to, or during, November 2024. It is important to pay your assessment because failure to pay will cause a tax certificate to be issued against the property which may result in loss of title, or for direct billed assessments, may result in a foreclosure action, which also may result in a loss of title. The District’s decision to collect assessments on the tax roll or by direct billing does not preclude the District from later electing to collect those or other assessments in a different manner at a future time.

Additional Provisions

The public hearings and meeting are open to the public and will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of Florida law. A copy of the Proposed Budget, proposed assessment roll, and the agenda for the hearings and meeting may be obtained at the offices of the District Manager, located at Wrathell, Hunt and Associates, LLC, 2300 Glades Road, Suite 410W, Boca Raton, Florida 33431, Ph: 877-276-0889 (“District Manager’s Office”), during normal business hours. The public hearings and meeting may be continued to a date, time, and place to be specified on the record at the hearings or meeting. There may be occasions when staff or board members may participate by speaker telephone.

Any person requiring special accommodations at this meeting because of a disability or physical impairment should contact the District Manager’s Office at least three business days prior to the meeting. If you are hearing or speech impaired, please contact the Florida Relay Service by dialing 7-1-1, or 1-800-955-8771 (TTY) / 1-800-955-8770 (Voice), for aid in contacting the District Manager’s Office. Please note that all affected property owners have the right to appear at the public hearings and meeting and may also file written objections with the District Manager’s Office within twenty days of publication of this notice. Each person who decides to appeal any decision made by the Board with respect to any matter considered at the public hearings or meeting is advised that person will need a record of proceedings and that accordingly, the person may need to ensure that a verbatim record of the proceedings is made, including the testimony and evidence upon which such appeal is to be based.
