TIVERTON — Tiverton broke ground on its dream for a new library Saturday as a crowd gathered at the site where the $10.6 facility will stand.

It was a gorgeous fall day, and “standing room only” for the ceremony, said Leon Hoyer, a trustee and chairman of the library building committee.

Sometime early in 2015 the new 23,000 square foot structure will occupy the space that lies just southwest of the intersection of Bulgarmarsh and Crandall Road.

“It is said that people make up a town’s body,” Town Council President Ed Roderick told the crowd. “If so, then our schools are its brain, police and fire departments are its arms to serve and protect, our churches its soul, and a library is its heart and imagination.”

A library, Mr. Roderick said, “is

Probe focuses on maintenance director

BY TOM KILLIN DALGLISH

TIVERTON — Investigations by State Police and a television station are said to be focusing on Tiverton’s Director of Maintenance Bob Martin and his “use of town resources.”

The Town Council Monday night had an item on its Closed Executive Session agenda entitled “Investigative Proceedings - Procedure.”

When it emerged from the closed door session at around 10:20 p.m., the council released a statement, which said, in its entirety, “In open session Council President Roderick announced accusations have been made against a town employee. The Rhode Island State Police are investigating the accusations. No action was taken in Executive Session.”

WJAR-TV Channel 10 will broadcast the results of what it calls an extensive investigation at 6 p.m. this Thursday.

The investigation concerns Mr. Martin’s “use of town resources on town time,” said Channel 10 News Director Chris Lanni, and may involve private property Mr. Martin owns.

“We’ve worked on the story for several months,” Mr. Lanni said.

Asked about the television investigation, Mr. Martin said, “I can’t make a comment, because I don’t know.”

When he was asked if the television investigator had asked him about the use of town resources for work on property he owns, Mr. Martin said, “if that’s what they’re looking at, but I don’t know.”

“They wanted to interview me,” he said. “They made some accusations.”

Prudence Ferry captain responds to concerns

Island group wants reliable service, restrooms and snow removal

BY JIM MCGAW
 jimcgaw@eastbaynewspapers.com

The senior captain for Prudence Ferry responded to concerns about the existing ferry service at Monday night's Portsmouth Town Council meeting.

Longtime ferry employee Eric Leite's appearance came one day before the R.I. Public Utilities Commission's Division of Public Utilities and Carriers' (PUC) Tuesday hearing on A&R Marine's application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity (CPCN), which would permit the company to run a ferry from Prudence Island to Bristol. That service has been offered exclusively by Prudence Island Ferry Inc., owned by Bruce Medley, since the mid-'80s.

The PUC hearing, which Mr. Leite said was to determine whether a second ferry service is needed, was still going on as of the Sakonnet Times' Tuesday deadline.

At Monday's council meeting, Mr. Leite addressed comments made in a letter from the Prudence Island Planning Commission (PIPC), an advisory group that was charged by the council to come up with a list of suggestions on ferry service standards for Prudence Island. The letter, which was included in the town's testimony before the PUC Tuesday, had been drafted following a meeting on the island Oct. 19, during which PIPC gathered islanders' opinions on the ferry issue.

First off, islanders need a reliable service, the letter stated. An April 23 e-mail from Mr. Medley to Portsmouth Town Administrator John Klimm, in which the ferry operator stated he would cease service on Dec. 1, 2013 "caused much anxiety and concern," the letter stated.

"Even though Mr. Medley later withdrew his statement, islanders lived in uncertainty for several months and the threat of no service, even though withdrawn, has left islanders with continued uncertainty," stated the letter.

Mr. Medley has previously said the only reason he originally planned to stop service Dec. 1 was because he believed that legislation to create a ferry authority would be approved. After the bill died, he withdrew his intention to stop service, he said.

Town Council member Keith Hamilton told Mr. Leite Monday that most islanders don't have a problem with the Prudence Ferry crew. "They have a problem with the owner of the boat," he said. "I want to make sure we maintain for Prudence Island a consistent service that is always there." (Mr. Medley did not attend Monday's meeting.)

Mr. Leite said the authority bill was misunderstood by many people. A ferry authority, he said, "would have ensured the longevity of the company. It was nothing about raising the rates. It really was in everyone's best interests."

As far as reliability, Mr. Leite said the ferry has missed an average of only about three runs each year, and only in the winter due to poor weather conditions. "We take New Year's Day and Christmas Day off, and that's it. We're a very reliable service," he said.

No Thanksgiving runs this year

As for islanders' desire for a morning and afternoon ferry run on Thanksgiving Day, as pointed out in the PIPC letter, Mr. Leite said that's always depended on the demand from passengers. The ferry has made Thanksgiving runs in the past, but recently stopped because passengers didn't seem to care, he said. Although it's too late to change plans for this year, he said, the ferry company will consider adding a Thanksgiving run next year.

The PIPC also asked for consistent and thorough snow removal from the docks, including the parking lots and ramps.

"One has to understand that it's not like plowing yourself out of your driveway," said Mr. Leite, noting that the docks are constantly bombarded by icy salt spray. "We do our best, and safety is our number-one concern."

The PIPC also asked for a restroom on board the ferry in addition to the portable toilet at the Bristol dock.

Mr. Leite said there already is a restroom on the boat. "They just have to ask a crew member for the key," he said. The key was necessitated, he said, because some passengers would "trash" the bathroom, particularly the Friday-night crowds who were leaving the bars.

The letter from PIPC also asked for adequately heated cabins. The crew does its best to keep things warm with three portable heaters, Mr. Leite said, but it's often difficult during the colder winter months.

"One must consider the fact that this is a steel room," he said, adding that the doors are opened and shut constantly.

The PIPC also suggested that the ferry allow vehicle reservations to be made online in addition to by telephone. Mr. Leite said that in the past, the PUC didn't want Prudence Ferry to take money in advance and then still charge passengers if they didn't show up.

"The system is antiquated but it works. There's no penalty if someone doesn't show up," said Mr. Leite, adding that the company could consider online payments in the future.

As for an annual meeting with islanders to discuss service and schedules, as suggested by the PIPC, Mr. Leite said that wouldn't be a problem.

Mr. Leite also presented the council a petition he said was signed by about 250 Prudence Ferry passengers who want the current service to continue.

past and meet Egyptian Pharaohs or into the future and visit far off galaxies. You can get to know Albert Einstein or Albert Brooks, Pilgrims surviving their first winter or Martin Luther King on the Washington Mall.”

Chairman of the Library Board of Trustees Barbara Donnelly said, “It was a very long journey, and we weathered all the storms with the help of a lot of people.”

Among those was Senator Jack Reed, present for the ceremony, who was instrumental in securing the $475,000 in the 2009 appropriations bill that enabled Tiverton to buy the land for the building.

“Today we are breaking ground on a new building that will only enhance and underscore the value of the library to the residents of Tiverton,” Senator Reed said.

“Libraries are essential to the future of our country — to our economy, to our civic values, to our sense of community — and to giving everyone the opportunity to succeed,” he said. “It seems Tiverton has recognized this essential truth about libraries, what Andrew Carnegie once said: ‘A library outranks any other one thing a community can do to benefit its people. It is a never failing spring in the desert.’ “

Congressman David N. Cicilline said, “The start of construction on a new public library in Tiverton will create jobs, expand educational opportunities, and strengthen Rhode Island’s local communities. Through its use of new, cutting-edge forms of technology to better connect local residents, this new library will serve as a model for other cities and towns across our great state.” Tiverton’s library benefitted from financial support across a broad spectrum.

A little over $4 million (spread over 20 years) came in the form of support from the state. That amount “was the second largest grant to a public library in Rhode Island’s history,” said Karen Mellor, state director for library services.

“It was an exciting day,” she said of the groundbreaking ceremony. “In the 14 years I’ve been working on library construction projects, I’ve not seen such a diverse array of funding or such a wide-ranging base of financial support.”

“I always marvel at the volunteers in the community who really believe in the role of a library and work to make it become a reality.”

Ms. Donnelly said “it’s going to be extremely exciting when I actually see the backhoes in the ground. People are going to love it.”

Following Saturday’s half hour groundbreaking ceremony, a reception at nearby Sandywoods featured a large cake with a facsimile of the new library etched in frosting.

Clearing work on the site has already started at the site, said Mr. Hoyer, a process that with tree-cutting and rock-removal should take about two months.

investigation has been buzzing around Tiverton Town Hall for several days. During the day Monday, and before the council meeting, town councilors Joan Chabot and Brett Pelletier both said they’d heard about it but said they didn’t know more.

A promotional video about the investigation, and its upcoming Thursday broadcast, was aired by Channel 10 Monday morning, Monday night, and Tuesday morning, said Town Clerk Nancy Mello, who said she saw them all. Ms. Mello attends all council executive sessions.

Responding to a question, whether there were other town employees against whom accusations may have been made that the council was considering, Ms. Mello said the accusation against Mr. Martin is “the only accusation that we have.”

Town Administrator James Goncalo said he could “neither confirm or deny” the investigation against Mr. Martin. Town Solicitor Andrew Teitz said the same.

Town Council President Ed Roderick said that he had heard about and could confirm the television station’s investigation of Mr. Martin.

A part-time town employee and assistant to Mr. Martin, Larry Faulkner, quit his job with the town last Thursday, said Mr. Goncalo. Mr. Faulkner could not be reached for this story.

Raised in Tiverton, a graduate of its schools, and a Vietnam veteran, Mr. Martin has worked for the town since 1988. For years he has served as the president of the AFSCME local (American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees). For a profile about him in this paper several years ago, he said he takes care of the town’s buildings, beaches and recreation areas, and does “anything anyone else doesn’t want to do. My job is unique.” He said then that, with his son, he is owner of some 38 apartments in the area. He has been instrumental in developing the skate park and other facilities at Bulgarmarsh Recreation Area.

Sailors rescued off Sakonnet Point

LITTLE COMPTON — Wet and cold but otherwise unhurt, two sailors were saved from rough seas off Sakonnet Point early last Thursday, Oct. 24.

Little Compton Fire Chief Rick Petrin said the men were aboard a 28-foot sailboat en-route from Bridgeport, Conn., to Dennis, Mass. on Cape Cod. One of the men had apparently just bought the boat in Connecticut from a previous owner.

“It was windy and quite rough and they had encountered problems even before they got to Sakonnet Point,” Chief Petrin said.

The sailboat was driven in among the rocks and breakers in the vicinity of West Island and the Sakonnet Light where it became stuck.

The sailboat had been towing a small aluminum tender with an outboard motor and the two tried to use the smaller boat to tow the sailboat out from the rocks.

“But they couldn’t move it and the little boat was swamped, sending them into the cold water,” Chief Petrin said, adding that the men then tried with mixed success to get themselves up onto the rocks.

“Fortunately, one of the men had managed to keep a cell phone dry,” and used it to call 911.

Using location coordinates provided by the 911 system, Little Compton Harbormaster

Mike Massa and Fire Department Lt. David Wood set out from Sakonnet Harbor in the harbormaster’s boat and quickly found the two at around 6:45 a.m. and managed to get them aboard. One of the men was mildly hypothermic but, after drying off and warming up in a waiting ambulance at the harbor, they declined hospital treatment.

Chief Petrin said he understands that the boat was pulled free later by a salvage vessel — no word on the extent of damage.

“They told us that they had become disoriented” and thought they were well past Sakonnet Point and in the vicinity of Cuttyhunk, the chief said.

The 1982 Tiverton High School baseball team will be among those inducted into the school's new Athletic Hall of Fame.

THS stars to join schools first Hall of Fame

The inaugural 2013 class of the Tiverton School Athletic Hall of Fame will take a bow when the new organization holds its first induction ceremony on Nov. 7.

It is a recognition that he and others felt was long overdue, said Hall of Fame Chairman Gerald Arcouette, a long-time basketball coach at THS.

"Some great coaches and players have passed and each time that happened some people would say we really need to get this going to preserve these memories," Mr. Arcouette.

So he, Athletic Director Bob Murray, Assistant Principal Jack McKinnon and others went to work on establishing a Hall of Fame.

Mr. Arcouette got the chairmanship "since being retired I have a little time on my hands."

"There are a lot of good experiences, good memories that we want to pass on to others at the school," he said.

For the inaugural class, the Hall of Fame Committee has chosen 11 individuals and one team — categories include athletes, teams and contributor/supporters.

"Choosing from so many worthy candidates is the hardest part," Mr. Arcouette said. The good thing about a Hall of Fame is that there will be opportunities each year to add others, Mr. Arcouette said.

The induction ceremony and dinner, sponsored by Viti Automotive Group, will be at McGovern's Family Restaurant on Thursday, Nov. 7, from 6-9 p.m. Tickets are $25 and can be purchased through the Tiverton High Athletic Director's office at 401-624-8494 ext. 8.

The inaugural class includes:

■ Bo Sullivan – A 1970 graduate lettered in baseball, basketball, and football. He was named the school's outstanding male athlete in 1970. He was a member of the 1969 and 1970 baseball teams which advanced to the finals and semi-finals in the state tournament and was named to the first team all-division team as a shortstop in 1970. In basketball he captained the team from '67 through '70 and was named all class in '69 and '70. In football he was the starting quarterback in '69. He was named the THS scholar athlete of the year in 1970. Ranked third in his class and graduated from Brown University with a degree in electrical engineering.

■ Elaine Ferreira — Also a 1970 graduate, she lettered in three sports, basketball, softball, and volleyball, and was named the school's outstanding female athlete in 1970. She graduated from URI where she competed in basketball, softball, and volleyball. She would later coach all three along with field hockey at Tiverton High School for 16 years.

■ Stephen Lake – One of the high school's most decorated athletes and coaches, he lettered in baseball, basketball, and football in all four years. He was the school's first 1,000-point scorer in basketball and named first team all-league in his junior and senior years. In football he was an outstanding running back and named first team all-league in both his junior and senior years. It was in baseball where he truly excelled — named first team all-league as a pitcher in his sophomore year and then first team all-state in his junior and senior years. He would continue his education at UConn, where as a freshman he pitched on a nationally ranked team and in the college world series finishing fifth in the nation. He would go on to captain the team in 1975 and was named All New England first team pitcher that year. He would return to Tiverton as a teacher and coach where he was named to the RI Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame.

Hall to honor THS athletes

■ Sara Cayer Dixon – Graduated in 1984 and was considered one of the best athletes of her time, she was voted the school's outstanding female athlete in 1984. She participated in field hockey, basketball and softball all four years she attended Tiverton High School. Her basketball team won a state championship in 1983/84 and she was selected first team all-division. She finished her career with 973 points in an era where there was no three-point line and a boys' basketball was used. She was selected as MVP in all three sports during her senior year.

■ Jim McGlynn – He also graduated in 1984. An outstanding clutch athlete, Jim was a member of the 1982 baseball state championship team and got the game winning hit in the '82 state championship game. He was a member of the '83 and '84 Class C state champion basketball teams and with, Dan McDonald, made up perhaps the best backcourt in Tiverton basketball history. In 1983 and 1984, his junior and senior years, Jim was selected to first team all-division teams in both basketball and baseball. Jim would continue his education at Rhode Island College, playing both baseball and basketball for the Anchormen. He was selected first team all-New England baseball in 1988 and was inducted into the RIC Hall of Fame in 2009.

■ Kristan VonVillas Housholder – Kristan graduated in 1985 and lettered in three sports at Tiverton High School, field hockey, basketball and softball. She was selected to all division teams in all three of the sports. A fierce competitor she was tireless and a tremendous leader. She was a member of the 1984 Girls Varsity Class B state championship team. She is now a physical education teacher and was selected Teacher of the Year. She continues to coach at both the junior and senior high school level in volleyball, track & field, softball and field hockey in Virginia.

■ Tom Murray – Tom graduated in 1989. He lettered in three sports at Tiverton but it was in soccer that he left his mark as both a player and coach. In soccer he was selected to the all-division team starting in '86-'87, his sophomore year. Then in '87-'88, his junior year, he added all-state to his accomplishments and, along with his teammates, the first ever Division II state championship in Tiverton soccer. In '88-'89, his senior year, another state championship followed and Tom added RI Gatorade Player of the Year, All- New England and first team All American to his list of accomplishments. Tom continued his career at Massasoit Community College and then received full scholarship to Lenoir Rhyne College in North Carolina. Currently he is head soccer coach at Tiverton and still plays soccer in the LASA.

■ Michelle Milot — A 1990 graduate, Michelle starred in soccer, volleyball and basketball in an illustrious four-year career. In soccer Michelle was named to the all-division Team in 1987 and followed that up with second team all-state in 1988. She finished her soccer career with an honorable mention all-state selection. In volleyball she was named to first team Class A in 1989 and third team all-state in 1990. Basketball, however, was her best sport. In 1987-'88 she was selected to the Class A second team. In '8-'89 she was first team Class A and selected to the Class A all-tourney team and the all-state Team. Michelle finished her THS career with over 1,500 points and 1,000 rebounds, and was selected all-sate for a second time. Michelle continued her basketball career at Skidmore College where she was named MVP in women's basketball in each of her four years. She finished her career in 1994 being named the senior Athlete of the Year and finishing with 1,313 points and 1,088 rebounds. In 2012 she was elected to the Skidmore Hall of Fame.

■ Rick Messier – Rick starred in both football and baseball at Tiverton before he graduated in 2001. In baseball he was the starting short-stop for all four years at THS. In his junior and senior years he was first team all-division. On the gridiron in 1999 Rick rushed for over 1,500 yards and 23 touchdowns and was selected to the all-state team. In 2000, Rick was integral part of the Division IV state champions and an all-division selection and was selected all-state honorable mention.

■ Alyson Beck Carver – Alyson graduated in 2003 after starring in three sports on teams that reached the finals in soccer, basketball and softball. In soccer Alyson was selected first team all-division in 2002 and received the RIIL Sportsmanship Award. In basketball she was also an all-division selection in 2003. In softball she was selected to all-division teams in both 2002 and 2003 being named to the all-state team in 2003. An outstanding shortstop, she led the Tigers to two successive Division II state championships. Alyson was a Wendy's Heisman Award winner in her senior year. She continued playing softball at East Stroudsburg University in Pennsylvania.

■ 1982 Baseball State Champion team — Coached by Tiverton Hall of Famer Stephen Lake, this talented team featured all-state athletes Richard Phillips and Mark VonVillas along with a senior-dominated lineup that became the first team in Tiverton's history to win an open state championship.

■ James Cook Sr. —The first athletic director at Tiverton High School, his leadership in the school's early years provided the foundation for athletic success. He also served as the school's industrial arts chairman and had a great effect on the careers of many Tiverton students. He was the school's head golf coach during the 1970s. He was an original Tiverton Booster Club member. His contributions to and support of Tiverton High School, its athletes and its teams played an important part in establishing the school's athletic program.

PAKISTAN PEOPLE FEAR U.S. AS MUCH AS TALIBAN

At the end of the day, when we have researched these cases, we found people were as fearful of the U.S. the way they are fearful of the Taliban... what's really important is that we don't forget human rights when we're trying to protect our societies.

Reservoir or water park?

Most other places, the topics up for discussion at a Tiverton reservoir hearing next week would be laughable.

But this is Stafford Pond, the anything-goes reservoir.

They'll consider whether gasoline-powered motorboats need to be reined in? Motorboats — on a reservoir?

They'll debate whether fishing tournaments should continue. Say what?

And they'll talk about seaplanes, swimming and more.

What really needs discussing is whether Stafford Pond is a reservoir or a water park.

If it's really a reservoir, the answer to every other question — motorboats, fishing tournaments, seaplanes, swimming — ought to be obvious.

Mighty costly water

To avoid daily $100 fines, Westport would do well to vote yes on peculiar warrant item #14 (water treatment plant) at next week's special town meeting. Then the town and its neighbor to the north should do their utmost to find a better way.

That question authorizes Westport to borrow (not actually spend yet) perhaps as much as $862,000 to build a water treatment plant to remove contaminants from water supplied to 158 Westport houses near the Fall River line.

WHERE TO WRITE:

Sakonnet Times, 1 Bradford St.
Bristol, RI 02809
Letters may also be sent to:
sakonnet@eastbaynewspapers.com

The hope is that a yes vote will buy time to enable Westport and water supplier Fall River to find a more equitable solution to a vexing problem.

Federal rules require action but common sense suggests that Fall River, which is selling this tainted water, ought to bear — or at least share — the burden.

A no vote may feel good Tuesday. Daily fines will be less pleasant.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

At long last, they are cleaning bridge mess

To the editor:

I would like to personally thank the Sakonnet Times, Tiverton Department of Public Works and RI Department of Transportation for pursuing the cleanup of the Central Avenue/Mount Hope Avenue area with Cardi Construction.

As you can see by the enclosed photo, they arrived this morning (Oct. 21) and are currently in the process of removing all the construction debris.

We have dealt with Cardi and the construction for at least the past five years and it is so gratifying to finally have some assistance with issues related to the Sakonnet River Bridge construction.

Thanks so much!

Regional fire district would save real money

To the editor:

Last year and the year before and the year before that, the people of Tiverton declined the purchase of a ladder truck. The fire department currently relies on other communities when one is needed. "Mutual aid," where we share with other communities, has been working to keep costs down. When surrounding communities have a fire our trucks go to help. In return, when we need them they come to help us. This is how communities around the country operate.

Fire trucks can cost as much as a million dollars. That is why communities around the country share. Our towns are so small the whole state would fit in one county, when compared to other states. It's my opinion that we don't need a ladder truck every 14 miles. We don't need specialty teams every 14 miles.

Our elected officials should be working toward a plan for a regional fire district. Each town has specific equipment and we work together to keep costs down. This works for counties in other states so why not here? Working to keep costs down for equipment purchases will ensure that we have funding for the multitude of tools and small equipment needed — tools needed to keep the firefighters and public safe on the job.

Sitting on the Budget Committee, I've seen the list of needed tools and equipment. It was two pages long and many items have been on the list for years. We can't afford what we have now so why add more cost?

I will be pushing for a regional plan that keeps fire service at the high level it is now and keeps costs down. I hope people will support this plan and let the council know. Regional fire districts work and save taxpayers dollars.

Headlight leads to man suspected of four robberies in two days

TIVERTON — A bad headlight led police to a man believed to be responsible for a rapid-fire string of robberies at area banks and convenience stores.

State troopers from the Wickford Barracks stopped a car on Old Bulgar-marsh Road in Tiverton early Tuesday morning for a headlight violation.

When they checked the occupants' identifications, they discovered that passenger Michael

POLICE REPORT

Little Compton Police: Four DUI's charged in Little Compton

Monday, Oct. 21

Someone over the weekend kicked in the gate to the pumping station at the Watson Reservoir (the same gate had been vandalized a week earlier).

Ian T. Peckham, 22, of 493 South Lake Road, Tiverton, was stopped on Peckham Road and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Pacheco, 33, of 83 Quarry St., Fall River, was wanted on a number of felony arrest warrants for four robberies in Fall River — two of them at banks and two at convenience stores.

Mr. Pacheco was placed into custody without incident and was brought to Rhode Island State Police headquarters where officers continued their investigation.

Fall River Police say he committed four robberies in two days.

They say he robbed Tedeschi's Food Mart, 1237 Pleasant St., at 9:45 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 20. On Monday, police said Mr. Pacheco robbed BayCoast Bank, 1237 Pleasant St., at 9:02 a.m., St. Anne's Credit Union, 1675 President Ave., at 9:23 a.m., and the 7-Eleven convenience store, 933 Pleasant St., at 10:12 p.m.

He was arraigned Tuesday on charges of obstruction of a police officer, operating on a suspended license, and fugitive from justice from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Mr. Pacheco was charged by the Fall River Police Department with unarmed robbery, two counts of attempt to commit a crime, armed robbery, and assault to commit a felony.

He waived extradition and was turned over to the Fall River Police Department. Mr. Pacheco is scheduled to appear for a pre-trial conference at Second Division District Court on November 5.

Wednesday, Oct. 23

Anna O. Cruz, 42, of New Bedford, was charged at 8:39 p.m. with driving under the influence of alcohol, after she was stopped on West Main Road for erratic driving. Police also charged a passenger in Ms. Cruz's car, Isaias N. Torres, 29, also of New Bedford, under a fugitive warrant from the State of Florida.

At 11:18 p.m., Robert J. Sykes, 23, of Westport was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and refusal to submit to a chemical test.

Saturday, Oct. 26

At 1:51 a.m., police charged Lisa A. Bonoan, 49, of Westport, with driving under the influence of alcohol and refusal to submit to a chemical test.

ilies in need of assistance this year. Any family that is in need of a basket or knows of a family that needs one, can call Firefighter Pat White at 266-4462.

Callers are asked to leave the name, address and telephone number, along with the number of people in the family. Residents may also stop by Station 2 at 85 Main Road, and leave information in an envelope addressed to Firefighter White.

All information must be received by Monday, Nov. 18. Baskets will be given on a first come, first served basis due to the limited number of baskets.

Annual Tree Spree seeking tree donations

LITTLE COMPTON — The 20th annual Ben Wilkie Memorial Tree Spree will be held on Sunday, Dec. 1, from 1 to 7 p.m. in the modular units on Meeting House Lane that serve as a temporary school. Dozens of theme-decorated trees and other items will be available to win.

Since the usual venue is unavailable because of the renovations to the school and gym, there was concern about the Tree Spree being held this year. However, the school department graciously offered the modular units.

The Tree Spree has become more than just a fund-raising event; it is the beginning of the holiday season for many. One resident said he feels as though he's in the midst of a Norman Rockwell painting when he attends each year.

All proceeds from the Tree Spree provide scholarships for deserving local students, administered by the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of Little Compton.

Anyone wishing to donate a tree, or other item for the raffle table, can call Caroline Wordell at 635-2241 or e-mail her at cwilkie43@cox.net.

Sandywoods Center offering concerts, farmers' market, open mic and more

Art gallery featuring photos from Cuba

TIVERTON — The Sandywoods Center for the Arts at 43 Muse Way is hosting concerts, zumba classes, the farmers' market and more this week. For more information, visit www.sandywoodsfarm.org. For information on concerts, visit www.sandywoodsmusic.com.

Artists and crafters wishing to sell original handmade artwork or craft items are invited to participate in the farmers' market (see details below). During the upcoming holiday shopping season, the market will be open every Thursday except Thanksgiving Day and the day after Christmas.

The fee is $20 per market day, and vendors may choose how often to participate. Items offered for sale must be made by the vendor or the vendor's employees. Resale of previously purchased items is not allowed. A limited number of display tables are available at no additional cost. Vendors without a R.I. retail sales permit may purchase a one-day temporary permit on site. Call 241-7349 for more information or e-mail info@sandywoodfarm.org.

■ The farmers' market is open on Thursdays from 4 to 7 p.m., rain or shine, through the winter months. The market offers local fresh produce, eggs, baked goods, shellfish, jams and jellies, honey, grass-fed beef and pastured poultry, soups and other prepared foods, gourmet coffee and handmade crafts. There is live music, demonstrations and workshops each week. Admission is free. Credit cards and SNAP EBT cards are accepted.

■ Four Bridges will perform on Friday, Nov. 1, at 8 p.m. Doors open at 7:30. BYOB and food are allowed. Tickets are $12 at the door and $10 in advance. Four Bridges is a bluegrass/Americana band based in New England, performing traditional bluegrass and original tunes, while mixing in An open mic night is on Tuesday evenings at the Center for the Arts. Solo musicians, bands and spoken word artists are welcome to perform covers or original work. There is free, freshly brewed coffee, and BYOB and food are allowed.

some tasty covers. The band has been performing together since 2005.

Members are Jeremy Place (mandolin, guitar and vocals), Benjamin Marshall (banjo, guitar, mandolin, fiddle, vocals and bass), Russ Hermansen (bass and guitar); and Greg Ferreira (mandolin, guitar, banjo, harmonica, vocals).

■ Live model figure drawing is from 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays in the Yellow Building, 73 Muse Way. All experience levels and art media welcome. The cost is $14 per session; with a $6 student rate. New artists are always welcome. Bring your own materials and easel or other preferred work surface. Model and chairs are provided.

■ Little Ugly with Grace Morrison will perform on Saturday, Nov. 2, at 8 p.m. Doors open at 7:30. BYOB and food are allowed. Tickets are $15 at the door and $12 in advance. Little Ugly won Best Musician/Band in Hartford Magazine's Best of 2012 and the 2011 Hartford Advocate Grand Band Slam's Best Rock Band.

The band is the offspring of chief songwriter/singer/acoustic guitarist Michael Day and his collaboration with percussionist Nick Dickinson, violinist/vocalist Kaia Pazdersky and bassist Jared Gardner. Little Ugly is a band that authentically thrives in its defiance of classification. The mix of imaginative, introspective lyrics and classically trained musicianship has created arrangements that are connected with the eclectic works of artists such as Mumford & Sons, The Decemberists, Silverchair, and Ray LaMontagne, yet they imitate no one.

Grace Morrison fronts the Americana indie-folk quintet Grace and the RSO, contributing lead vocals, acoustic guitar and accordion, as well as her formidable songwriting talents. Much of Grace's lyrical content is taken straight from the pages of history.

She has a sweet, melodic voice.

■ Canadian finger-style guitarist Bob Ardern performs on Sunday, Nov. 3, at 8 p.m. Doors open at 7:30. BYOB and food. Tickets are $12 in advance and $15 at the door. His guitar stylings have influences from Celtic, classical and jazz music.

Mr. Ardern has embarked on a northeast "Finger-style and Fall Colors" tour in support of his latest release, "Wires Rosewood & Roots," an album that features 12 guitar instrumentals.

Nominated for Best Instrumental Album - Acoustic in the ninth annual Zone Music Reporter (ZMR) Awards, it also ranked sixth on the ZMR Top 100 albums chart for 2012. ZMR is the music industry organization that tracks new age, world and instrumental music.

■ The Van Vessem Gallery presents "In Cuba With Witness for Peace" through Nov. 23. Gallery hours are from noon to 5 p.m. Wednesdays, 4 to 8 p.m. Thursdays and Fridays, 2 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and by appointment. The show features photographs of the people, culture and landscape of Cuba.

■ A Tuesday night open mic is from 7 to 10 p.m. hosted by Russ Smith. Covers and originals are OK, and solo performers, bands and spoken word artists are welcome. There is a full sound system. They brew free, fresh coffee, and BYOB and food are allowed. For more info, visit www.facebook.com/sandywoodsoopenmic.

■ Zumba classes are on Wednesdays from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. The cost is $7 per class. No previous experience is necessary.

■ Insanity Fitness classes are in the Yellow Building every Thursday from 7 to 7:30 p.m. The cost is $6 per class. All fitness levels welcome. Both modified and high-intensity moves are taught.

■ A Wednesday evening Pilates class is from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. with Annie Beneville. It is $15 per class.

SENIORS

SHIP counseling

LITTLE COMPTON — Janet Holmes, from the Senior Health Insurance Program (SHIP) will be at the Little Compton Wellness Center, 115 East Main Road, on the first Wednesday of every month, Nov. 6, from 9 a.m. to noon for one-on-one consultations with seniors about their Medicare insurance.

To make an appointment, call Janet at 261-0550 or e-mail at jholmes@ebcap.org.

Little Compton seniors

LITTLE COMPTON — The Little Compton Senior Citizens Club meets at noon on the first Thursday of the month, Nov. 7, at the IOOF hall on the Commons. Refreshments, a penny sale and bingo will follow the meeting.

Some of the finest cooks in Little Compton are volunteering their time to prepare delicious meals for senior lunches at 11:30 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Little Compton Community Center. Pick up a menu at the community center. There is a $3 suggested donation for the disabled and seniors age 50 and over, and a $6 suggested donation under age 50. Call to reserve at least 24 hours in advance at 635-2400.

Also at the community center is senior bingo on the first and third Mondays of the month at 12:30 p.m., popcorn and movies on the second Monday of the month at 12:30 p.m., and cards and cookies on the fourth Monday of the month at 12:30 p.m.

Tiverton center

TIVERTON — The Tiverton Senior Center at 207 Canonicus St. is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday to Friday. For more information, call 625-6790. Membership is $5 a year. To get discounts for classes and trips, you must be a member.

The annual Knitting & Quilting Volunteers handcraft sale is on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 2 and 3, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Sakonnet Bay Manor, 1215 Main Road, Tiverton. See the story in Around Town.

Once again, a volunteer is needed for Meals-on-Wheels to deliver meals throughout the town of Tiverton on a Monday. If you can spare two hours a week, call 625-6790 or stop by the senior center and see Janice.

Mark Rudd will give a computer tutorial for those interested in learning or improving computer skills. The classes are from 1 to 3 p.m. on Mondays, Nov. 4, 18 and 25. If you own a laptop and want to bring it, a wireless network is available. The instructor has found some families to be Apple users. The senior center has Windows computers with Office software. The instructor will bring in his iMac upon request.

Learn what's new with reverse mortgages on Tuesday, Nov. 5, at 10:30 a.m. FHA and HUD have instituted some major changes in the way HECM (Home Equity Conversion Mortgages) Reverse Mortgages are now being offered. All of the basics remain the same, but the costs of a reverse mortgage, which were reduced significantly in the past, are being further reduced with additional safeguards built in for the consumer.

The Knitting Circle meets on the first Wednesday of the month, Nov. 6, at 6:30 p.m. at the senior center. It is separate and apart from the Knitting for Charity Volunteers. This evening group is open to the public for those who want to socialize, share and learn from each other. You work on your own projects with your own supplies. If you are interested in joining, come to the next meeting.

Mandatory meal site volunteer training is on Thursday, Nov. 7, at 10:15 a.m. If you are a meal site volunteer in any capacity, you must attend this training. All areas of sanitation will be covered. They try to keep it brief.

Open enrollment for Medicare is under way and continues through Saturday, Dec. 7. This is the only time of year you can change your Medicare Part D plan or change your Medicare Advantage to a like plan or a Supplemental Plan. This is the only window of opportunity you will have until next year at this time.

Your Medicare drug plan should be reviewed every year because plans come and go and they also make changes, so that a drug that is now covered may not be covered next year. Regular appointment times on Tuesdays with Janet and Cindy will continue throughout the enrollment period. If necessary, Tuesday hours will be extended to accommodate all clients.

A special open enrollment day is on Tuesday, Nov. 12, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Appointments are necessary. Call 625-6790 to reserve a time.

The nutrition program is open to anyone who is 60 or older or disabled. Meals are served Monday to Friday at 11:30 a.m. The suggested donation is $3. Reserervations are necessary by 11 a.m. the day before you would like to attend. Reservations a week in advance are strongly recommended.

The senior center also offers information and referrals, SHIP (Senior Health Insurance Program) counseling, assistance with medical assistance and SNAP applications and re-certification applications, and heating assistance applications, AARP-sponsored tax assistance program and mature driving classes, monthly blood pressure clinics sponsored by Visiting Nurse Services of Newport and Bristol Counties, door-to-door bus service to the elderly in town for shopping, and many other services. Stop by and see what they're about.

Bus transportation is offered for shopping and meal-site transportation for any Tiverton resident who is 50 or older or handicapped. It is free. Regular trips are to the Harbor Mall and Super Walmart on Tuesday, Tiverton shopping (Rite Aid, CVS, Bank Newport, the post office) and Seabra in Fall River on Wednesday, the Dartmouth Mall area the second Friday of the month, and the Swansea Mall area the fourth Friday of the month. Call for reservations, which are necessary. On all days, you may be dropped at the senior center before or after shopping.

On Tuesdays, Janet Holmes is at the center from 9 a.m. to noon to assist with health insurance plans, supplemental insurance and Medicare Advantage Plans. Call for an appointment.

AT THE LIBRARIES

Psychologist and author to speak Wednesday

LITTLE COMPTON — Adam J. Cox, Ph.D., a licensed and board certified clinical psychologist, will be at Brownell Library on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 6 p.m. Drawing on his books, "Boys of Few Words: Raising Our Sons to Communicate and Connect" and "On Purpose Before Twenty," Dr. Cox will discuss the challenges so many young people face in becoming effective communicators and full participants in 21st-century life.

The presentation, "Communication and Connection with Your Child," will address the prominent roles of vulnerability and competition, and how these emotional states affect the well-being of children and adolescents. Strategies for developing children's social skills will be provided, with an emphasis on how to initiate great conversations about topics of relevance to youth.

The program is free and open to the public.

'Kennedy Assassination: Fifty Years Later' Nov. 7

TIVERTON — "The Kennedy Assassination: Fifty Years Later" will be presented by Tiverton Library on Thursday, Nov. 7, at 6:30 p.m. at the Sandywoods Farm Yellow Building, 73 Muse Way (off 1735 Stafford Road).

Everyone who was alive in the early '60s remembers the day John F. Kennedy was assassinated. Christopher Daley, local historian and teacher, will give a 90-minute multimedia slide presentation in which the audience will relive Nov. 22, 1963, through the use of witness statements, photographs, diagrams, his own pictures and videos of sites in Dallas and the famous Zapruder film.

The program is free and open to the public. Come by early to check out the Sandywoods Farmers' Market.

AT THE SCHOOLS

TMS names Students of the Month

TIVERTON — Tiverton Middle School has named Students of the Month for September.

Tiverton opens soccer playoffs against Scituate

The tenth seeded Tiverton boys soccer team starts its play-off run this Wednesday, Oct. 30, with a 3:30 p.m. match at seventh-seeded Scituate High School (after the Times went to press).

Tiverton completed regular-season play Friday with a 2-1 home loss to Exeter-West Greenwich. The loss leaves the Tigers with a 6-7-2 league record (6-8-2 overall).

Dylan Pacheco got the game off to a good start for the Tigers with a goal at the 10 minute mark of the first half on an assist by Tommy Murray.

Tiverton went into halftime with that one goal lead but it all fell apart in the second half on two throw-in plays that went badly for the Tigers.

Scituate, which beat Tiverton earlier this season by a 1-0 score, finished the regular season with a 7-5-3 league record.

"That was another game that could have gone either way — there were a lot of those this season," Coach Tom Murray said.

"But that could be a good thing for us going into the playoffs. We've been in every game and really haven't had much luck but if that turns around we could surprise some people."

One bit of good fortune for Tiverton is that starter Ryan Amaral, who has been out for awhile after a concussion, has been cleared to play Wednesday.

The winner of the Scituate-Tiverton game will move on to play second-seeded North Smithfield on Saturday, Nov. 2, at North Smithfield. North Smithfield earned a first-round bye.

Friday was senior day for Tiverton, and the home crowd cheered for 11 players: Matt Besette, Dan Borden, Aidan Bradley, Nathan Carvalho, Jameson Hughes, Landon Ledger, Dylan Pacheco, Michael A. Pacheco, Michael F. Pacheco, Alex Pavao and Drew Watts.

Brougham Motors is number one with customers all over the area

With cars on the roof, Brougham Motors is a familiar sight on Bedford St. in Fall River.

How far would you travel to make sure your car is repaired with the best parts and workmanship? For many, distance is not an issue. They head straight to Brougham Motors in Fall River. Family owned and operated, Brougham Motors has been in the insurance collision business since 1968. You'll have to travel many miles to find a collision center that can match their repair technology and the quality of their work. The state-of-the-art facility uses a computerized frame measuring system with ultra sound technology to determine what parts of an automobile have been altered by a collision. "It's like a hospital for automobiles," says David Ponte, who manages the business with wife Nancy, son David and daughter Tracey. "Nobody else within a fifty mile radius has this technology," he adds. In addition, Brougham Motors features bake oven painting and DuPont finishes for a flawless paint finish, as well as a Pro

Spot Resistance Spot Welder system that offers the same technology that new car manufacturers use to install panels. "It's a rare piece of equipment in this area," says David.

If you've ever been involved in an automobile collision, you know how worrisome it can be to have your late model car or truck repaired. Will it look okay? Will it drive as smoothly and safely as it used to? Will all the work be covered by your auto insurance? These are the very reasons so many people from all over the area bring their damaged cars and trucks to Brougham Motors Inc. Collision Center in Fall River. Owner David Ponte promises you'll get your car back in better than pre-accident condition. And he has all the latest equipment to back up his promise.

"It's upsetting to have a collision, especially if the car is new," adds David. "People are in the dark about where to take their automobiles," he says. "It's important to pick a quality repair facility," says son David, adding that you should choose one that will work with you and the insurance company to solve your automobile's needs.

Brougham Motors returns your automobile to you with guaranteed repairs, and makes sure it is freshly vacuumed and washed. "It's definitely in better than pre-accident condition," say both Daves. If you've had the misfortune to be involved in a collision, make sure you call Brougham Motors for your repair work. They're open Mondays to Fridays, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and are available for 24 hour emergency service.

OBITUARIES

Michael J. Kobelecki

Social worker, adult counselor
 Michael J. Kobelecki, 61, of Westport, passed away on Sunday, Oct. 13, 2013, at Brigham & Women's Hospital in Boston, Massachusetts. Mr. Kobelecki had recently undergone chemotherapy treatment and a stem cell transplant in his battle against cancer.

Michael was born in Fall River on November 22, 1951. He was the son of the late Katherine A. (Kitty) Dorney and Harry J. Kobelecki. He was the brother of the late Jeffrey S. Kobelecki. He leaves behind his beloved son, Jason M. Kobelecki, of Tiverton.

Mr. Kobelecki was a 1970 graduate of Durfee High School and a proud member of the cross country and track teams. He received an Associate's Degree from Bristol Community College, where he was a member of the basketball team, and a Bachelor's Degree from Roger Williams University.

Michael began his career as a social worker and adult counselor at Walpole State Prison in Massachusetts before transferring to the Adult Correctional Institute in Cranston where he served for 36 years. Michael was a member of the Rhode Island Brotherhood of Correctional Officers.

He leaves behind his former wife, Debra Martins, of Tiverton. He also leaves behind close friends, Michael Harris and Michael Solomon, both of Rhode Island.

Michael and his family were grateful for the medical care he received from the Rhode Island Comprehensive Cancer Center at Rhode Island Hospital, Dana Farber Cancer Institute, and Brigham & Women's Hospital in Boston. In lieu of flowers, donations in Michael's name can be made to any of the above listed hospitals.

Services were held at Boyko Memorial Funeral Home, 709 Broadway, Fall River, with a wake on Sunday, Oct. 20, and a funeral service on Monday, Oct. 21. Burial was at St. Patrick's Cemetery in Fall River. www.boykomemorial.com

Elizabeth D. Bruining

Active volunteer for several organizations

Elizabeth DeLeeuw Bruining of South Shore Road, Little Compton, died Thursday, Oct. 24, 2013, after a long illness. She was born Nov. 23, 1923, in Lodi, New Jersey, the seventh and youngest child of Peter and Wilhelmina (Sharpe) DeLeeuw. She was predeceased by her parents, her six brothers and sisters and her husband of 59 years, Nicholas Meyer Bruining. She and her husband were longtime residents of Maywood, NJ, before retiring to Little Compton in 1974.

Mrs. Bruining is survived by four children, Henry E. (Hank) and wife Marilyn of South Boston, Va., Elizabeth Anne Arruda and husband Bruce of Dartmouth, Mass., Wilma Claire Bruining and husband Scott Chase of Little Compton, and Anne MiOk Bruining of Providence.

She is also survived by seven grandchildren, Matthew Bruining and wife Amy of Huntersville, NC, Melissa Teeter and husband Michael of Denver, NC, Megan Becker and husband Michael of Brattleboro, Vt., Nicholas Bruining and wife Kate of Huntersville, NC, Samuel Bruining and fiancé Carey Wolford of Clover, SC, Elizabeth Arruda of Astoria, NY, and Benjamin Arruda of Presque Isle, Maine. She is also survived by seven great grandchildren.

Mrs. Bruining was a member of First Presbyterian Church of Newport and former member of Lodi Christian Reformed Church, and had volunteered at Christian Healthcare Center in Wycoff, NJ. She had also been active in Little Compton's Meals on Wheels program and was a member of the "Tuesday Girls." She was also blessed with many longtime friends who visited often during her long illness.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Hospice Care of Newport and Bristol County, 1184 Main Road, Portsmouth, RI 02871.

A graveside service was held Monday, Oct. 28, at 11 a.m., at Pleasant View Cemetery, Tiverton. Funeral arrangements are by Fern Acres Funeral Home, Little Compton.

Cable Car, on track

BY CHRISTY NADALIN
cnadalin@eastbaynewspapers.com

What happens when two guys, both familiar faces from Bristol's downtown restaurant scene, chase their dreams all the way to L.A.?

They actually make it.

Not long ago, Bristol residents Ryan Murphy and Nate Mott moved to Los Angeles to see if they could break into the music industry. The answer was a resounding "yes."

They began writing soon after landing on the west coast, and soon after met Jack Turner, a native of the United Kingdom and multi-talented artist with his own dreams of an acting career. They named themselves Cable Car and within a year they had written, recorded, and released their first EP, "Ride." They have also licensed their first song to the CBS daytime drama "The Bold and Beautiful," and signed a publishing deal with Heavy Hitters Music. They are currently finishing the writing for their next LP release, with producer Michael Pappas. In two months, they will film a performance for a Ted Talks seminar on desire, the central topic of their recent EP.

They characterize their sound Pop&B; a hybrid of Pop and R&B that Nate describes as "a collection of Ryan's hip hop drums, Jack's bluesy guitar and my singer songwriter something or other."

Nate has found the journey incredibly inspirational. "The life and culture out here is so much more geared to supporting the arts than you would ever expect," he says. "The business of music is part of it, for sure, but mostly we are surrounded by creative people living creative lives."

Ryan grew up in Bristol, right on the Bristol/Warren line, and his parents, Jay and Theresa Murphy, still live in the house in which he grew up. "Most of my family lives in the East Bay and the southern coast of Massachusetts, so when I'm home I get to see almost everyone....And I've got two little cousins who are apparently quite the athletes in Bristol!"

Nate came to Bristol following a childhood spent mostly in Vermont, some of which was lived in a cabin that had no running water or electricity. "I'm New England through and through," says Nate. "My parents moved around a lot separately so things could get a bit complicated. I felt there was never a place to call "home" until I found Bristol, where I lived for 7 years prior to moving to Los Angeles." It was, to date, the longest amount of time he had ever lived anywhere. "When I think of a hometown, Bristol is what comes to mind."

As for Jack, he grew up in Weymouth, UK. "It's a small fishing and tourist town on the south coast," he says. "Pretty similar to what I know of Rhode Island." Working for Google brought Jack to San Francisco—then night school acting

STRAIGHT UP THE MIDDLE

Making the right call

As I write, the last chapters of the 2013 World Series story remain unwritten, but between errors, missed opportunities and odd rules, there have been many moments to give Red Sox fans heartburn. Since so many Sox fans are true fanatics, there's the game after the game where fans on the radio and on social media ripping apart every key moment and each key decision. While "hindsight is 20/20" sometimes it's immediately obvious when a manager or an elected official — makes a bad decision. And while John Farrell's decision making might be the difference in a won or lost game, bad public policy choices can do much more damage.

Rhode Islanders are keenly aware that Mayor Taveras took the reins in Providence at a difficult time in the city's history and that fiscal challenges are ongoing. However, the closing of the Davey Lopes pool in favor of a "spray park" has now blossomed into a PR disaster that threatens to overshadow Taveras' launch into the 2014 governor's race. If the issue were simply that he decided to close a neighborhood pool because of budget constraints then his stubborn "guess what, I'm the mayor" answer probably would be less offensive. However with City Councilman Davian Sanchez alleging that Taveras was willing to open the pool in exchange for Sanchez' budget vote, the "quid pro pool" controversy looks to be yet another chapter in the ongoing saga of the Rhode Island political cesspool.

Providence's budget woes are indisputable. And yes, Mayor Angel Taveras appears to have the legal authority not only to refuse to open the pool during the unbearably hot summer, but also to spend more than $36,000 to cement it over, ensuring that another Providence child will never learn to swim there. And here is where I think the Mayor is horribly off-base with his pool policy: according to the CDC, African-American children ages 5-14 are three times more likely to drown than their white counterparts. It seems to me that the Mayor of Providence — the leader the capital city of the Ocean State — should be a passionate advocate of inner-city swimming programs, not a purveyor of spray parks. It's not just about keeping cool, it's about providing children and families with the opportunity to learn to swim and engage in physical exercise. Not being able to swim not only prevents them from enjoying the water on a hot summer day, it limits opportunity for jobs, college scholarships — even military service. I'll argue that while the politics and optics around this are bad, the policy is even worse.

And yes, the politics and optics are very bad. Exchanging a budget vote for a community pool is certainly not the most egregious horse trade in the history of RI politics, but it does cast a shadow over a previously shiny reputation and make those of us outside the urban core wonder if "business as usual" is always going to keep Rhode Island down. The next generation of leaders needs to be better than the last and Mayor Taveras — who is now dipping his toe into the pool of statewide politics — might find that owning up to his error, accepting the donations that the community has offered and joining the kids for a swim next summer might be the only way to keep his head above water.

COMMENTARY

East Bay entrepreneur one of many making it happen for R.I.

BY NEIL STEINBERG

John F. Kennedy said “Things do not happen. Things are made to happen.”

A year ago, the Rhode Island Foundation launched “Make It Happen RI.” We brought more than 300 private sector individuals together to brainstorm ideas on how to jumpstart the Rhode Island economy. The only rules were to be positive, look forward and take rhetoric to action. This group represented a range of sectors, industries, generations, backgrounds and expertise. And they delivered more than 400 ideas.

But that was just the first step—true progress depended on what happened next. That’s why we committed $1 million above and beyond our $30 million of annual grantmaking to support several specific ideas.

So, what’s happened?

We’ve supported entrepreneurs like Navyn Salem, a stay-at-home mother of four from Barrington. The company she founded in 2007—Edesia—now employs more than 60 workers producing nutritional supplements that stave off hunger for more than 1.7 million children worldwide.

Leaders have emerged in the medical technology, design, digital media and education technology fields, forming associations to leverage strengths, build collaborations, attract resources and communicate about Rhode Island’s talent in these industries.

Innovators at the state’s Department of Environmental Management and Office of Management and Budget are taking on challenges like lean government, improved customer service, regulatory reform and electronic permitting.

Rhode Island’s 11 colleges and universities are leveraging their collective expertise to assist policymakers by providing data and analysis on economic development issues.

Leaders are stepping forward to find new ways to nurture entrepreneurship in communities of color.

Manufacturers and designers are coming together to support one another, increase exports and leverage Rhode Island’s strengths for growth.

You can find descriptions of all 18 initiatives on rifoundation.org.

Lastly, together with partners, we took on our state’s self-esteem challenge by telling our success stories through “Rhode Island: It’s All In Our Backyard.” Self-esteem by itself does not build success, but embracing true success does. The Backyard campaign highlights people, organizations, businesses and sectors making a positive impact locally, nationally and internationally. Examples include:

- Over 1,800 manufacturers like Alex and Ani and Taco employing more than 40,000 people and selling products around the world.
- Young companies like Andera, G-Form and Carousel Industries innovating and growing.
- Family businesses like Armando’s and Danielle Inc. that are re-inventing themselves.
- Corporate giants like CVS, Hasbro, and Textron that are headquartered here.
- A thriving arts and culture sector envied across the country.

■ Innovations in health and wellness.

■ Nationally recognized nonprofits like the Learning Community Charter School and AS220.

■ Infrastructure assets like Green Airport, Quonset and the Port of Providence.

We have barely begun to uncover Rhode Island’s success stories. It is up to all of us—one million ambassadors for Rhode Island. Learn about the assets of our state, spread the word and visit OurBackyardRI.com to tell us your stories.

We launched the Backyard campaign because we see good things happening every day. Based on the reactions we’ve received, it has struck a chord. This is not about feeling better about ourselves. We believe that the hard work of meeting our very real challenges requires the entire community to be engaged in fact-based, productive conversations, not fear-mongering or myth-spreading. This is how we will solve our problems and leave Rhode Island better for future generations.

We are proud of the work we’ve seen over the past 12 months, proud of the people who have stepped forward to serve their community and pool their talents. But clearly, our work is not done. The benchmarks we offered a year ago were to:

- Lower our unemployment rate to the national average.
- Raise our median household income to the level of Massachusetts and Connecticut.
- Close the income, employment, and education gaps that exist in our state.

These are serious, long-standing challenges that will require leadership, persistence, patience, and a sustained sense of urgency. In the coming months, the Foundation will partner with the Rhode Island Economic Development Corporation for the next phase of “Make It Happen RI”, a series of discussions at the intersection of important Rhode Island industries. The outcome will be an economic development action agenda for Rhode Island that strives for scale of impact and not just incremental change.

Yes, these are big challenges, but we have bold ambitions, inspiring examples, strong partners and a proud history upon which to build. Let’s make it happen, Rhode Island.

Neil Steinberg is president and CEO of the Rhode Island Foundation, a charitable, community foundation that last year granted more than $30.4 million to nonprofit organizations addressing Rhode Island’s most pressing issues and needs of diverse communities.

GOP waves the white flag

Never has so little been gained from so much machination. The Republican Party finally slunk away from its ruinous death march. The GOP accomplished nothing of any merit: no defunding of Obamacare; no tax cuts, or limits to entitlement spending. Instead, they managed to give themselves two black eyes and a plummeting approval rating.

Why House Majority Leader John Boehner wasn't paying attention to the disastrous roll-out of the health care initiative is also a mystery. He could have changed the conversation immediately and made whatever points he wanted to make because of the Obama administration's self-inflicted wounds. There was and is a lot to criticize about the floundering debut. Here's just a couple of examples.

Technical failures have plagued the implementation of the health care law. Passed in 2010, giving Mr. Obama a good head start to work out the kinks, the administration allowed outdated technology to be used to process the applications. Most analysts think a solution is many weeks away and will extend beyond the deadline to sign up. The president finally turned to Silicon Valley for help. One specialist opined that as many as five million lines of software code may have to be rewritten before the site performs properly.

Competition is sparse, particularly in disadvantaged rural areas. On October 23, 2013, the New York Times noted that little competition exists in 58% of rural areas which, in turn, has precipitated high prices for premiums (and subsidies).

The meter runs for the repairs, and the lack of competition.

These problems could have given the Republicans grist for the mill, but instead there is anger over the perception that the GOP inconvenienced millions of people with the government shut-down. Furthermore, the reputation of the United States, which is beginning to look like an artful dodger on its debts, has taken a hit. For the record I really don't think that the Republicans care one wit for the "problems" the health care program is experiencing since they really want to dismantle it. It's hard to pretend that they want to fix something when before its debut all they talked about was breaking it.

The "hearings" in the House as to what went wrong would have had more credibility if the Republicans had not already announced their conclusions before the evidence was collated. All in all, for so-called smart people the GOP is, well, dumb as an elephant. Their fixation on Obamacare, the close-down of the government, and the near fiscal disaster to the economy obscured their best case against implementation of this health care plan.

In an op-ed piece in the above New York Times, a columnist noted that a web site can eventually be fixed but the same cannot be said of the party that has been marching to the drums of a fringe group outside of the government. He observed that the Republican House decided to camp out in its own graveyard.

I think this writer raises an important observation. Preventing things from getting done is not the same as getting things done. The Republicans cannot continue to be the party of intransigence in a nation that craves progress. The GOP needs a different repertoire and they need it now.

Rhody Fly Rodders anniversary book; shellfish symposium

A book celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Rhody Fly Rodders, the oldest saltwater fly fishing club in America, has been released by author Peter Nilsen of Barrington.

The Rhody Fly Rodders decided to do something special to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the club's formation by Harold Gibbs and Al Brewster. Peter Nilsen, a club member, board member and newsletter editor, took on the challenge to research, write, design and photograph the story of these saltwater fly-fishing pioneers. The book is titled, "Rhody Fly Rodders...50 Years, 50 Members, 50 Flies."

For information and to purchase a book ($32.95 plus shipping) contact Peter Nilsen at pdfish@fullchannel.net or write to him at 75 Massasoit Ave., Barrington, RI 02806.

Water quality, regulations, economics, social trends, habitat, innovation—all these forces contribute to the success or failure of commercial shellfishing and shellfish aquaculture. Rhode Island has embarked on the development of a shellfish management plan that addresses these issues, and a symposium is bringing together experts from the state, the region, and beyond to discuss them.

The 12th Annual Ronald C. Baird Sea Grant Science Symposium, "The Future of Shellfish in Rhode Island: Providing sustainable seafood, economic opportunities, and ecosystem benefits," will be held November 14 at the Radisson Hotel in Warwick. The current and the potential value—economic and environmental—of shellfish to Rhode Island will be discussed. The sessions will focus on restoration and public aquaculture, commercial aquaculture, commercial wild harvest, water quality, and the "Go Local" movement. Registration is $45. Student rate and industry scholarships are available at $20. For information and to register, contact Deborah Lafen at 401/874-6645.

A DAVE PICKERING

Big bonito: Local author and expert angler Dave Pickering with the ten pound bonito he caught while fishing off southern coastal shores Saturday.

Where's the bite

Tautog fishing is improving. Angler Charlie Prisco of Warwick said, "(we) tucked around the South side of Hope looking for some shelter from the wind and the waves... we had no bite. (My wife) Carole said lets go back to the exposed side of the island. Set anchor and fished in very large waves. Difficult to feel bite... we managed to get one keeper."

Angler Bob Oberg said, "Anchored over tautog in my kayak for the first time (Saturday). Fished... Hope Island... Started out on the Southwest corner but moved quickly because there was a seal causing a little commotion on top of the water and, I am sure, a lot more below. Set up at the southern end. Landed about 15 togs, most, by some seeming conspiracy, 15" long. Caught three keepers for the table, including a nice five-pounder. All in 25-30 feet of water."

John Littlefield of Archie's Bait & tackle, East Providence said, "Upper Bay tautog fishing is improving with about a ten to one keeper ratio with fish being caught in the Warren River, at Wharf Tavern and Conimicut Light." Striped bass fishing is still good in spots with a lot of school bass being caught in the Bay and off coastal shores. John Littlefield of Archie's said, "Keeper bass in the high teens and low twenty pound range are still being caught in the Warren River at night with eels, and we have school bass with an occasional keeper mixed in being caught off the Squantum Club and in water north of Conimicut Light. Bluefish in the four to six pounds range are being caught at Sabin Point."

Angler Mike Swain said, "We hooked up with school bass at Hope Island this weekend and fished north of Conimicut Light."

No keeper bass but large bluefish. Upper Bay and the Providence River was loaded with Atlantic Menhaden."

Shore fishing for striped bass has been slow this fall with mostly school bass being caught. Steve McKenna noted local shore fishermen and Quaker Lane Outfitters associate said, "I wish I could tell you that the fall run thus far has been good but I can't, at least by my experiences. I have been out several times since 10-1 and have only a hand full of school bass for my efforts."

Bonito. Noted Rhode Island angler and author Dave Pickering said, "We were sitting on a big pile of bait (bay anchovies) about a mile off the south shore (Saturday) while fishing from my brother's boat. There were birds diving from above and fish whirling from below. Under the bait were good numbers of stripers, bluefish and black sea bass. There were times when my brother Steve, my son, Ben, and I would all be on a fish at the same time. There were that many. On occasion we would notice a big blast through the bait. We assumed it was either big blues or maybe a false albacore, though I had not heard of any albies in the area. I casted my Zoom fluke on a jig head into some breaking fish. I had a hit, hooked it, and the fish was off, screaming line off the reel and digging deep in the 30 feet of water we were fishing. This fight went on for a while with shorter runs as I got the fish closer to the boat. Once near the boat, I could not believe that I had a good size bonito, the first I have landed in years. The fish went around ten pounds. For me, it was the surprise of the year."

Cod fishing remains good. Roger Simpson of the Frances Fleet said, "Monday's cod trip was the best for size with several cod that were in the 25 to 28 pound range... Folks remember to keep that drag set on a setting that allows some forgiveness and lets the big cod dig for the bottom. For reasons many of us do not really understand the bigger cod are often not hooked all that well and in the relatively shallow waters we fish down here they can easily rip a hook out on their journey to the surface... Just about all of the cod have been taken on bait this past week."

Freshwater fishing is good with anglers landing trout in ponds stocked by DEM a couple of weeks ago (visit www.dem.ri.gov for a listing). John Littlefield said, "Both the Brickyard and Echo Pond in Barrington (near the YMCA) have been good for bass with anglers landing fish using shiners."

Halloween watch list

In for the night? Need something to get you in the holiday spirit? However you get your Halloween on, there's something creepy to tune into this October 31. Check your local service provider for exact times and channels.

Like vintage slasher flicks? AMC, Spike, and the SyFy networks are all running "classic" genre franchises, with enough Jason and Freddy to leave you forever traumatized by the sight of hockey goalies and horizontal stripes—not to mention the earworm you'll get from hearing that Halloween theme music again and again....and again. "Halloween" one through whatever will run on AMC all day and night; and on Spike much of the afternoon and evening. And the original "Nightmare on Elm Street" and all its sequels will be broadcast on SyFy throughout the day and night.

Like reality programming? Do you follow celebrities and their "news?" E! will be broadcasting "The 20 Most Horrifying Hollywood Murders" at 1 p.m. If you want to crank up the "Hollywood horror" quotient a couple of notches, tune in early and late: the show is bracketed by "Kourtney and Kim take Miami" at 11 a.m. and "Keeping up with the Kardashians" at 6 p.m.

If Freddie and Kimye are both liable to induce traumatic nightmares in your home, keep it light with "Scooby Doo: Monsters Unleashed" at 5 p.m.; "The Addams Family" at 7 p.m.; and "Addams Family Values" at 9 p.m.; all on the Family Channel.

If you think there's no Halloween programming for you because you're one of those people who would have ditched your television if not for all the educational science and nature programming, Animal Planet will you get your goose bumps on without giving up (too much) pride. They'll be broadcasting a full lineup of real-life horrors, including "Animal: River Monsters Unhooked" at 5 and 6 p.m.; "Man-Eating Super Squid" at 7 p.m.; "Man-Eating Super Croc" at 8 p.m.; "Devoured: Man-Eating Super Snake" at 9 p.m.; and "World's Scariest Animal Attacks" at 10 p.m.

"The Addams Family" at 7 p.m.; and "Addams Family Values" at 9 p.m.; on Halloween night, all on the Family Channel.

Destination: Treats

cnadalin@eastbaynewspapers.com

Several years ago, friends who shall remain nameless moved into a Barrington neighborhood with their three young children, shortly before Halloween. The moving van was barely out of the driveway before the neighborhood welcome wagon—or perhaps "warning wagon" is more accurate—stopped by with words for the wise.

"We're a full-size bar neighborhood," they were told. Seriously.

It is no secret that some neighborhoods give better trick-or-treat than others, and plenty of kids engage in "destination" trick-or-treating, traveling to another neighborhood to collect candy. Unfortunately few give the kind of payoff seen in that Star Wars-themed Verizon ad featuring an infant Princess Leia riding aboard Jabba—but some neighborhoods are distinctly more fun on Halloween than others.

For years the web-based real estate platform Zillow has ranked cities on their trick-or-treatability, using a numeric methodology that equally weighs four variables: home values, crime data, density, and walkability. Those four factors should, in concert, tell you where you can get the best candy with the least effort.

For 2013, for the third year in a row, the city of San Francisco ranks the highest, with Boston, Honolulu, San Jose and Seattle rounding out the top five. Zillow has taken it a step further, and broken each of these cities down to their ideal trick-or-treating neighborhoods.

Those are big cities, however—to date, even Providence has not ranked high enough to warrant mention. For now, the East Bay will have to continue to rely on word of mouth, as we always have.

For Zillow's full results, visit <http://www.zillowblog.com/trick-or-treat>.

DOWN TO EARTH

Leaves aren't litter

Fall brings out the collector in me. Sometimes I almost forget to look up and out at the changing colors because I'm too intent on scanning the ground for the perfect fall leaf. I'm on the hunt for the brightest, shiniest red tupelo. Or a sugar maple that is pumpkin orange except along its veins where it's still summer green. Or a sweet gum splotched with every color from golden yellow through purple. They're out there right now and I'm as determined to find one—before the landscape crews blow everything away—as my dog is to pee on it first.

Kristin GREEN

If I were a craftier sort of person I might find a way to preserve fall leaves for as long as possible. Maybe I'd try soaking them in a glycerin solution, pressing them between sheets of wax paper, or under the weighty pages of my Oxford English and a stack of phone books. After which, I suppose I could decoupage a lampshade or make a wreath. Instead I just carry them with me for a few blocks and sometimes keep one to use as a bookmark until it disintegrates. I don't mind letting them go because autumn, like every other season (except maybe winter), is meant to be fleeting and precious. I'd rather be reminded to pay close attention than to look at something so often that after awhile I forget to notice it anymore. Besides, there are better things to do with leaves than collect them.

They can be left where they are as nutrition for the very same tree from which they fell. Just as nature, a better recycler than we are, intended. Leaves certainly shouldn't be treated as garbage. I blame whomever first coined the phrase "leaf litter" for the silliness of kicking them to the curb.

Nothing goes to waste if we rake leaves into the garden beds and call them mulch. Contrary to popular opinion, leaves won't smother perennials. They'll provide insulation just as a heavy snow cover would and amend the soil as they break down. To speed that process, shred them first.

And then in spring, if your perennials are slow to wake under their blanket, pull it off them a little. Doesn't that sound easier than trying to stuff them into those maddening giant-sized paper bags now? And all through next summer, that covering of partially decomposed leaves will help hold moisture in the soil and suppress weeds but still allow some of your favorite self-sowers to emerge. Win-win.

I hesitate to suggest the following for fear of an outraged uproar about untidiness but a few leaves can be left on the lawn. Mown into bits you'll hardly notice them and they'll fertilize turf they way they would their tree. I've even heard rumors that fallen maple and oak leaves might inhibit dandelion growth. Of course, to dandelion lovers like me that will be a disincentive.

If you can't stand the idea of leaving leaves in the garden or on the lawn, at least set some aside to add to the compost. If your pile is anything like mine, its carbon (brown bits) to nitrogen (green stuff) ratios would be closer to the optimal 30:1 with nice thick lasagna layers of leaves added in to help heat it up.

And then please feel free to give the rest to me. Even though I have persisted in planting deciduous trees and shrubs in my tiny garden, not one is big enough yet to produce the kind of windfall that would satisfy my desires for the perfect leaf or my garden's needs for soil amendment. On my walks around town I eye everyone's brown bags-full jealously. I am as tempted to collect those—before they're hauled off by the trash trucks—as my dog is to pee on them first.

'Entrepreneurial Women to Watch' includes two locals

Rhode Island Small Business Journal has announced the winners of their 2014 Entrepreneurial Women to Watch Awards, honoring "the most confident, tenacious, professional and sophisticated women industry leaders" in the state.

Two of the seven honorees, winnowed from some 400 women nominated statewide, are East Bay businesswomen: Alayne White, of Bristol's Alayne White Spa, and Nancy Parker Wilson, of Portsmouth's Greenvale Vineyards.

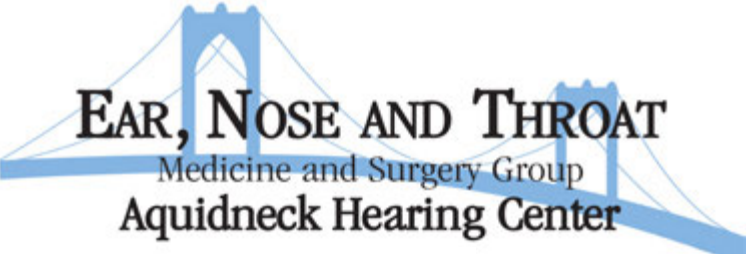

In the end, winners were selected based on a mix of their character, mission, career path and growth, as well as their dedication to promoting women entrepreneurship in Rhode Island.

The other winners are Blythe Penna, Ruffin' Wranglers; Lynne Bryan

Phipps, The Compass School; Alison Bologna, Shri Studio; Jessica Wood, Fire and Water Restaurant Group; and Lynsey Colgan, A Child's University.

Winners and nominees will be recognized at the ceremony at The Dorrance, 6-8 p.m., Monday, Nov. 4. Tickets for the event may be purchased for $20 in advance online at <http://risbj.eventbrite.com/> or for $30 at the door.

CABLE CAR: Local musicians head to Hollywood

classes inspired a move to L.A. “It was mostly my plan to act—but then I met these really cool guys called Ryan Murphy and Nate Mott. The rest is history.”

Their respective moves to L.A. have yielded some truths, both expected and unexpected. For Ryan, discovering the level of talent in the Los Angeles music community has been a revelation. “I don’t think I’ll ever get sick of meeting people with such passion and competency for what they do and how they carry themselves,” he says. “I still can’t believe such people let me work with them!”

As for Jack, the last thing he expected was to meet “people from Rhode Island with no ego who just want to create. It has been a total treasure.” Still, he admits coming from the U.K and spending his days with a couple of guys from Bristol has led to more than a few moments of culture shock. “I’m pretty used to it now,” he says. “I’m still trying to hone in on the Rhode Island cultural norms so I don’t embarrass myself. In general though, the culture in the United States is to focus on the individual. For example, here, the onus is generally on the speaker to be heard rather than the listener to pay attention. Those types of differences, and the root of them, fascinate me.”

“I’m sorry Jack what were you saying?” Nate asks. “I wasn’t really listening.”

If you don’t know Ryan and Nate by name, you probably know their faces, if you have ever been in downtown Bristol, on the hunt for something good to eat or drink. Ryan spent some time working at Leo’s Ristorante “for the wonderful Paul Mancieri and his family.” Nate gives thanks to Beehive proprietors Jen and Chip Cavallaro, his employers of 4 years, crediting that job with “showing me the truly wonderful people that make up that little town by the bay...I was able to play my music and develop my songwriting while working in a supportive and creative environment.”

Safe bet, if you didn’t meet Ryan and Nate at Leo’s or the Beehive, you would have at Aidan’s, which Ryan claims pours the “best pint of

“Leaving Bristol was the hardest thing I’ve ever had to do.”

Guinness, anywhere,” while Nate recalls pints of Harp and, at this time of year, Pumpkinhead. (And adds that he would like someone to please send him a Reuben.)

Ryan became a drummer by default: “Growing up, my friends all played guitar which left me to learn to play the drums,” he says. “I’d always been really into music, even making little rap tapes when I was very, very young.” These days, he claims inspiration from hip-hop and pop, ranging from Kanye to Katy Perry, who he calls “a playlist must.”

Nate picked up the acoustic guitar at the age of 10, but it wasn’t until he moved in with his father the summer before his freshman year of high school (in a town where he knew nobody) that it became more of a constant companion—with unexpected benefits. “To be frank, a guy with a guitar in high school is like winning the lottery if you know what I mean,” he says. “I found other musicians and had my first band by the middle of that year. A few battle of the band wins later and I was hooked for life.”

More recently, according to Nate, “I met the stupendously talented Ryan Murphy along the way. Then Jack soon after moving to LA. The two of them influence me more than anyone else right now.”

As well as it has gone to date, packing up and moving to Los Angeles has been a challenging leap of faith for all three musicians. Jack left behind a comfortable job and a great network of friends. “It still frightens me when I think about it, but fortunately it’s easy to jump on a plane and see people.”

According to Nate, “leaving Bristol was the hardest thing I’ve ever had to do. I’m a creature of habit and I feel that I had ingrained myself in the very fabric of Bristol.” But he knew that he’d have to make that break if he wanted to make a legitimate attempt at a recording career. “I’m not much of a crier but when I drove over the Mt. Hope bridge for the last time I damn near lost it.”

Ryan agrees. “I had gotten to a point where I was going to either settle down with a career or pursue my borderline-insane passion for music. I chose the latter...We just kind of did it.”

For Ryan, Nate, and Jack, working together has become a seamless mix of independence and collaboration. “That’s one of the best things about this band,” Ryan says. “Ideas come from anywhere, and all of us can develop them.”

“We all work to create the finished product,” says Jack. “So a lot of the writing is just bouncing ideas off of each other until we’re happy.”

Adds Nate, “We don’t put limits on what each person can do. We allow all of our ideas to be heard in whatever format they come in and we go from there. I will admit having us all live in the same complex is incredibly useful.” Each of them has his own studio and workspace, each catering to the individual’s sense of production. According to Nate, differences in the songs can be attributed to which apartment they started in.

For now, Ryan, Nate and Jack are intensely focused on seeing Cable Car launched, whether that means recording the next EP, licensing more of their music, or playing the L.A. club circuit—nothing is off the table. In fact, performing in any of L.A.’s many clubs has been just as big a part of this project as the recordings. Their favorite clubs include The Mint and an intimate second floor club called Room 5, where they are playing November 7.

They are just trying to do everything; be a part of anything offered that feels like a good fit for Cable Car. “For us it feels the sky is the limit,” says Nate. “Right time, right place, right people. Creativity abounds and we are so excited about the future.”

Allergy-friendly Halloween candy

Halloween can be a difficult time of the year for kids with food allergies. Although there are many candies that are gluten free or peanut free, it becomes more difficult to find options that are safe for people with multiple food allergies.

Use the list below to find candy that is free of the top 8 food allergens (wheat, milk, egg, tree nut, peanut, soy, shellfish, and fish).

- Altoids
- Brach's Candy Corn
- Dum Dums
- Good & Fruity
- Jolly Rancher
- Lemonheads
- Lifesavers Hard Candy (all flavors except Butter Rum)
- Necco Wafers
- Red Hots

- Ring Pops
- Skittles
- Smarties
- Sour Patch Kids
- Starburst
- Swedish Fish
- Welch's Fruit Snacks

This list is meant to be a guide. As with any food product, checking the packaging and company resources is the only way to guarantee that a specific allergen is not present or that changes in formulation have not occurred.

Don't toss those seeds in the trash!

Seeds, like nuts, offer a good source of protein, healthy fat, and nutrients. Unfortunately, when it comes time to plan meals and snacks, seeds don't always come to mind.

There are many health benefits to seeds. They contain antioxidants and omega-3 fatty acids, which aid in the prevention of heart disease and cancer. Also, in addition to the fiber and protein that all seeds contain, each type adds specific nutrients to your diet. Enjoy different types of seeds to get a wider variety of nutrients:

up quickly. Aim for a 1/4 cup serving to optimize benefits and fit them into a balanced diet. Remember, there's no reason that seeds need to be just for the birds—and make good use of the bounty of seeds inside your Halloween pumpkins.

Roasted pumpkin seeds

Servings: Six 1/4 cup servings
 1 1/2 cups pumpkin seeds, cleaned and dried

- 1 tsp. olive oil
  - 1/4 tsp. garlic powder
  - 1/8 tsp. cayenne pepper, ground (optional)
1. Preheat oven to 300F.
  2. Toss the pumpkin seeds with olive oil.
  3. Add garlic powder and cayenne pepper.
  4. Bake for 40 minutes, stirring occasionally, until golden brown.

RWU Talking in the Library with Historian Ray Rickman

Ray Rickman, former president of the Rhode Island Black Heritage Society and secretary of the Rhode Island Historical Society, will deliver a lecture on the 1824 Hardscrabble Riot and the 1831 Snow Town Riot, when working-class whites attacked African-American residents. The elite town fathers were unable to control the violent mobs and had to request that the governor send military troops. Rickman gives a riveting talk about the confluence of class and race in early America.

SPOTLIGHT

Little Ugly and Grace Morrison at Sandywoods

Delightfully unconventional Little Ugly creates a live experience that is a valuable reminder of how music can elevate, captivate, and broaden our minds, as well as move our feet. Grace Morrison fronts the Americana indie-folk quintet Grace and the RSO, using folk and bluegrass instrumentation to tell the stories of early Ireland and England; with a sweet, melodic voice that delivers the message of each piece with brilliance and emotion.

MEET Emily Chappell: ANGLER ON THE ISLAND

BY JOAN D. WARREN

Emily Chappell is a life-long Aquidneck Islander. She has lived in Portsmouth her entire life except for the four years she attended Roger Williams University in Bristol. She graduated in 2009 with a Bachelors Degree in communications with a concentration in public relations/marketing and a minor in elementary education. She came back to Portsmouth to work in the family business before a career move into retail where she worked at Verizon Wireless Zone for a few years.

WHY ARE YOU IN REAL ESTATE? "I have always been intrigued by Real Estate, probably because I grew up working for my Dad who is a Real Estate Attorney. I love watching houses go up and change. They all have a story to tell, I just like to know what it is.

I love working with and meeting new people. When I was not working in the family law office I was working in the hospitality and retail industry. One day I was talking about a change and how I always wanted to get in to Real Estate and someone heard me. His name is Matt Hadfield, and he is one of the Broker's at Hogan Associates Real Estate. He offered me a job that I could not refuse, and I have not looked back since. My father always talked very fondly of Paul Hogan, the founder of Hogan Associates."

WHAT DO YOU LIKE MOST/LEAST ABOUT YOUR CAREER? "Forming a team with Matt Hadfield and Michel Mullowney as the Hadfield Group has made getting into the business very easy and fun. Matt and Michele are both full of energy, knowledge, and expertise. They are great resources for a young professional to have!"

DREAM CAREER (IF YOU WEREN'T A REALTOR)? "I would love to be a nurse. I have been diabetic for 21 years and always wanted to teach people about the disease through the lessons I have learned personally. I always had the mindset that you can study anything and everything anywhere, but living with it cannot be learned. This is probably why I wanted to be an elementary school teacher for about 20 years before changing my mind in my senior year of college."

WHAT ARE YOUR HOBBIES? "Spending time with my family and friends, skiing, boating, photography, dancing, walking my dog Fred and fishing."

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT "I am now beginning the community involvement of my real estate career and will be looking to become involved in local charities; especially the very good causes promoted by the Newport County Board of Realtors that I recently joined."

BEACH OR MOUNTAINS? "We live at the beach, so when it comes time to escape, I like to go to the mountains in New Hampshire."

BEST VACATION? "Family fishing trip to Costa Rica."
WHO DO YOU FISH WITH AND WHAT DO YOU FISH FOR? I go with my Dad locally to catch whatever is in season. Mostly stripers.

WHO TAUGHT YOU TO FISH? My Dad taught me when I was a kid. We used to look for worms in the yard and go to the pond near our house.

CATCH AND RELEASE? Normally, yes. We throw a lot of fish back though.

DREAM FISHING DESTINATION? Brazil. I have always been told there are large sailfish there, like Costa Rica. I also would love to see and explore Rio.

LUNCH WITH ANYONE? "My grandfather. He was very funny and full of information about Portsmouth Real Estate.

House of the Week

Home and business look down on the water

Sitting atop a hill overlooking Nannaquaket Pond in Tiverton, this eight-acre residential and commercial property was the home to renowned Sunderland's Restaurant, a popular eatery in the 1980s. The present owners have had a variety of businesses there.

By the numbers

- $641,000
- 8.2 acres (waterfront)
- 4 bedrooms
- 2-2 full and half-baths
- 5,142 sq. ft.
- 401-474-9191,
- Teri Degnan Real Estate & Consulting

Built in the 1870s, the Victorian style property has handicapped access and seating space for inside and outside dining.

The residence has 4 bedrooms and two full baths as well as a guest cottage and two-car garage.

The property may be subdivided and could be zoned for a bed and breakfast. This could be a great opportunity for a buyer looking for an owner-occupied business.

Eight -acre residential and commercial property. Many Property boasts function rooms and residence has 4 bedrooms and 2 full baths as well as a guest cottage and 2-car garage.

The Past and Presents Tea Room became a destination for anyone who loved tea. High Tea and Afternoon Tea were served in The Here and Now room, which was both romantic and whimsical. It became a destination meeting place for bridal showers and baby showers, and many other types of celebrations were also held in one of the many function rooms.

Loan rates based on $100,000 with 20% down payment & no PMI. Variable mortgages listed are for 30 years, adjusted annually. Points are a one-time charge equal to one percent of the mortgage. APR stands for annual percentage rate and reflects closing costs spread over the life of the loan. CAP is the most a variable mortgage can increase in one year. Savings and loans and Rhode Island loan and investment banks are included in the bank section of this chart. These rates, provided by the institutions on Monday of this week, are subject to change or special conditions. For more information, consumers are advised to call the institution. First-time homebuyers may qualify for lower-rate mortgages from the Rhode Island Housing and Mortgage Finance Corporation. Many credit unions only grant loans to members and limit membership to a defined group. When shopping for mortgage rates ask for explanation of closing costs. Financial institutions that write residential mortgages that wish to be included on this list can get in touch with Classified Real Estate Advertising Specialist at 401-253-1000
