Estherville Council adds courtesy car for airport

Pilots flying in to Estherville Airport will again be able to drive into town

BY AMY H. PETERSON

apeterson@esthervillenews.net

Monday evening's council meeting flew by, with consideration of a courtesy car at the airport as one of the main agenda items. Paul Slaughter, owner of Estherville Aviation, was on hand at the meeting. Slaughter explained that he had provided a courtesy car for pilots to drive to meetings, grab a meal, or run errands in Estherville once they landed at the airport. "We didn't have any taxi service in town or anything like that," City administrator Penny Clayton said.

That courtesy car has gone out of service, and Slaughter has not replaced it. The city's solution is to repurpose a 10-year-old police department squad car that's going out of service, though it continues to run well. The lights and sirens have been removed, and the vehicle is nearly ready for service.

Clayton said it is common for municipal airports to provide the courtesy car for pilots. The city's insurance company, however, gave a flat-out "no," when Clayton asked about insuring a replacement vehicle. The city meanwhile switched insurance companies. The new company provided a list of requirements for a city airport courtesy car that Clayton called administratively burdensome, including the requirement to do a motor vehicle record check on every potential driver, and through the state of Iowa's system, requiring more than a call to the Estherville police department.

New superintendent has need for speed, leans into students' needs

Phomvisay said he is a servant leader who wants to make a difference

BY AMY H. PETERSON apeterson@esthervillenews.net

Superintendent Aiddy Phomvisay said he approaches the job of Estherville Lincoln Central School superintendent as a friend, a servant leader, and with a vision for the school and community.

"I'm here to really make a difference not only in the lives of our children, our school district, but greater Estherville." Aiddy presented a program recently to Estherville Rotary Club about his priorities and vision for the district. First, however, Phomvisay told the story of his effort to be present at both a baseball and a softball game leading up to the post-season for ELC.

"Both played at 7 o'clock: one at Spencer and one was here. So I attended the softball games. I was hoping they'd take care of business and be done in 40 minutes. That didn't happen, but they had a great third inning and I decided to go ahead and get on the road," Phomvisay said.

Having grown up in the Buena Vista County town of

Aiddy Phomvisay

Alta, Iowa, Phomvisay was confident he could make great time from Estherville to Spencer on the back roads. He found the game on the radio and in his focus on making it to the game, his foot pressed more heavily on the gas pedal. The knowledge of Highway 71 being heavily patrolled that he'd carried from his northwest Iowa childhood escaped him and soon he found himself greeted by local law enforcement.

"Your new superintendent was almost in the paper going 20 miles per hour over. But I told the officer; 'sir, I'm just trying to get to that game, because I haven't seen the boys play and I'm the new superintendent and I just want to get there."

It worked.

The officer handed back Phomvisay's license, reminding him to "slow down and pay attention."

After relating his story of arriving in Alta with his family from Laos at age seven and being taught by volunteers in a makeshift English Language Learning classroom, his education at Iowa State University, and his adventures in Iowa public schools, Phomvisay said his mission is to give back to the community the consideration that was shown to him.

"If it wasn't for the community, the schools, teachers, educators, and pastors and laypeople, I wouldn't be the

Iowa Attoney General fights scams and con artists

Brenna Bird visited Estherville about flood repair scams, more last week

Iowa Attorney General Brenna Bird visited Estherville as part of her goal of working in each of Iowa's 99 counties.

"I want to be there and have those relationships and get to know each other, find some way we can work together," Bird said.

Bird addressed the flooding in the area and offered help from the attorney general's office to communities throughout the

"One thing we have seen in Iowa because of the number of natural disasters we've had, whether it's high winds, tornadoes, flooding – we've seen a rise when something like that happens where the scammy con artists move in and they talk a good game, look like nice good people – and they're not," Bird said.

Some common tactics include attempting to collect personal information by saying they're signing them up for a program, charging money for public services that are at no cost to Iowans – like help filling out FEMA applications— doing half the work, or none at all after receiving deposit or advance payment money, saying they'll negotiate with the insurance company for repairs – which is

The attorney general's office can pursue con artists and stop them from separating Iowans from their money. Bird said

ECCB tackled floating picnic tables, mowers, staff changes, and programming at monthly meeting

BY AMY H. PETERSON

Emmet County conservation director Matt Reineke is in his second month of official service. Among other issues at the meeting, Reineke gave an update on the aftermath of the late June floods in the area. Two picnic tables had floated away from county parks. One was recovered, albeit with a bent leg. Reineke said it might be possible to bend the metal leg back into place, but doing so could affect the structural integrity of the leg and provide no guarantees that the table would be safe. The other picnic table has not been located and may be at the bottom of Tuttle Lake to be later located by a boater.

The board also considered cell phone service at Wolden campground. The campground attracts not only recreational, seasonal campers but also construction workers who camp while they're working in the area. Currently, a new homeowner in Emmet County is camping until their new home is ready. A concern raised is the low quality of internet and cell phone signal at the campground. Reineke also submitted a claim to the Emmet County auditor's office for six sheets of marine-grade plywood for the dock that had been underwater.

"My fear is dry rot, even with that marine-grade plywood. What I'm hearing from emergency management is that they're not at that phase of reimbursement yet; they're just doing the necessities right now," Reineke said. Friday, Aug. 10 county officials meet with FEMA for a status update.

"When it's rainy, [workers] sometimes get put on hold, and they don't know it until they start to leave for town. All of a sudden their phone goes 'ding,' and says something like you don't have to report at 7 a.m.; you don't have to report until 9 a.m. today," Reineke said.

Reineke gathered fees to install wifi within the campground. Estherville Emmet County Aug. 20. Emmet

Communications and River Valley came in at close to $6,000, with River Valley having the lower bid. The board discussed various options and capabilities and the need for security.

The board also approved an update on county ordinances to cover vehicles that overstay their welcome on county park property. An incident last spring at Tuttle Lake involved a vehicle owner who hadn't paid for a camping spot for two weeks.

"I contacted the county attorney to see if we could have it physically removed, but we didn't have that in our ordinance. I don't think we should be allowing these people to stay that long without receiving funds, and this would allow us the ability to remove them by calling a towing company to have it removed, or we could secure it with a padlock so they can't hook up to their boat or camper without first paying us. When they pay us, we'd unlock the lock," Reineke said.

Reineke also reported an Iowa County Conservation Board District 2 meeting scheduled to be held in County is on the western edge of District 2 and located far from a number of the counties in the district. The event will be a cookout with the county supplying grills for the conservation officers' self-grilling pleasure.

Naturalist assistant Chloe Bauler provided a naturalist report on behalf of herself and naturalist Ashley Foley. Naturalist programming reached 563 people in July, not including general tours of the Nature Center. The reach is an increase of 65% over June's numbers. Bauler said Emmet County is this year's host of a Women's Day event in cooperation with Palo Alto and Kossuth County Conservation on Sept. 7. The Nature Center will also host Creatures of the Night on Thursday, Oct. 17.

After a motion to adjourn the meeting, local resident Greg Johnson approached the board with a list of questions that centered on procedures of the board and also on public information about conservation programs, including a suggestion that all of the board members and employees' names should be on the About section of Emmet County Conservation's Facebook page, and an assertion that the conservation website is lacking in updates. Board member Jody Schroeder said the website is in the process of an update, and the board is in a state of transition with a new conservation director and the transition to a new naturalist soon, due to Foley's resignation. Two visitors from Spirit Lake offered numerous suggestions and items of feedback with Susan Gerken offering her volunteer services and advice in public relations, which was her career until her retirement. Gerken made comparisons between Emmet County Nature Center and Dickinson County Nature Center; Reineke pointed out that Dickinson County Nature Center has a $5 million budget. A consensus was reached that additional public relations work may be needed to promote the programs of the Nature Center.

The next meeting of the Emmet County Conservation Board will take place Sept. 5, 2024 at 10 a.m. at the Emmet County Nature Center.

City, officers receive stay in lawsuit

By Amy H. PETERSON

Last week, the defendants in a lawsuit brought by ten local plaintiffs were granted a stay of the district court proceedings while the Iowa Court of Appeals hears their arguments.

In July, 2023, ten plaintiffs who experienced harm from the invasions of privacy committed by former Estherville police officer Ben Scheevel. Scheevel pled guilty to a few of the dozens of counts against him in criminal court. He has relocated out of state and has stated he will not pursue a future position in law enforcement. The plaintiffs also sued the city of Estherville and its insurance company, and police chief Brent Shatto, individually and in his official capacity.

The defendants filed motions to dismiss the lawsuit. Last month, Judge Shayne Mayer denied the motions to dismiss. The defendants appealed those denials and filed a motion to stay the district court proceedings while the appeal is in progress. The plaintiffs filed no resistance to the stay and Judge Mayer granted the stay. The defendants are represented by attorneys Dan H. Ketcham, Keith Graham, Adam Zenor, and Douglas Phillips. The plaintiffs are represented by Jack Bjornstad and Thor Klinker.

North Union School District.

What is Phomvisay's track record? He said his track record has been to build collaborations and partnerships for a collective sense of responsibility toward ELC's students. Phomvisay said his goal is to create a school and his passion. community culture with the belief that every child, every staff member knows they are part of a safe, caring and supportive school culture. "If we do nothing else, we make this first in everything we do," Phomvisay said.

In practice, this looks like greeting and connecting with each student, each day, as well as holding students accountable for their behavior and choices.

"They say some of the naughtiest kids make the best administrators," Phomvisay said.

Phomvisay also wants to provide resources and training to teachers, and step up to the challenges facing teachers today by providing a culture of learning. Phomvisay said he would step up to this as a leader with instructional leadership as

"I'll be investing a lot of my experience as a curriculum and instructional director and college teacher in pedagogy," Phomvisay.

Bringing local businesses and organizations into ELC students' education is another way Phomvisay hopes to augment the education already provided by ELC.

"My experience has been creating these pathways, making learning relevant, and engaging in opportunities for all kids to explore those life journeys. I'm a huge proponent and have been a champion, a state leader in work-based learning, pre-apprenticeships, registered apprenticeships, internships, community partnerships, I mean all kinds of opportunities," Phomvisay said.

The transformations from the practical, hands-on learning and mentorship included in a these plans and dreams would be a marathon, community-as-school concept happen not only in the students and impact their future, but also transform the community, Phomvisay said.

Bringing it all together, is building an educational system that motivates people to want their children to open-enroll into ELC, and to continue enrolling their children instead of sending them somewhere else when they live in the district. Phomvisay gave examples of how that worked in other districts across Iowa, including the use of apprenticeships and long-term scholarships in which a company paid a students higher education tuition in exchange for the student interning with them in the summers and working for them after graduation.

Phomvisay said the process of implementing

"This is building to the last decade of my career. This is where I want to stay, where I want to raise my family, and where I want to build," Phomvisay said.

Mayor A.J. Edwards related a conversation with a pilot who expressed frustration with flying into the Estherville Airport and "I had the privilege of going out there one time to deliver a package recently,

The council also approved the submission of an application for $100,000 to the Iowa Dept. of Natural Resources REAP Program for the Phillips Pavilion Project. Renovation of the 1984 pool house on the site of the former municipal pool, now the ninja park, will result in an indoor riverfront park shelter with a capacity of 90 people. The grants are very competitive, Clayton said, but the city will submit a strong application. The total cost of the project is $391,880.80 with contingencies and potential overruns built into that amount.

The council also approved a commercial property renovation proposal and assignment at assumption of the lease for the city-owned portion of the former railroad right-of-way. The property at 1033 Central Ave. is the old Hy-Vee Wine & Spirits store. Douglas Wagner plans to renovate the building and move his Edward Jones office into the building. Wagner requested the council allow him to paint the block/ brick exterior of the building, install multiple windows to allow light and a rear door, along with repairs to the roof and interior renovation into a professional office.

In other business, the council reviewed the library director's report, approved a liquor license for Kwik Star at 1724 Central Ave., approved pay application number 6 in the amount of $151,905 for the wastewater treatment plant improvements project, approved a pay estimate in the amount of $78,660.07 for the Fitzgibbons and Thoreson Parks Trail Extension Project to Beck Excavating of Spirit Lake, and appointed Jeff Hanson to the Board of Adjustment.

The next meeting of the Estherville city council will be Monday, August 19 at 5 p.m. in the council chambers of city hall.

Fact-Based Search With EBSCO

It is hard to believe Sweet Corn Days is already a done deal! Where has the summer gone? This is a definite sign that fall is just around the corner with cooler temperatures in the very near future. Hopefully, with most of the summer consumed by one rainstorm after another we can have a repeat of last year's fall and winter seasons. An extended fall season is always nice to finish all those little projects before we have to hibernate for the winter. I have two research projects to do before winter, one will be quick and simple while the other project will be a bit more challenging.

Research project number one-the easy project. I was told last fall I needed new tires for my vehicle before the start of winter. The cost of replacing all four tires is always a horrible thought but doing the research to find the perfect tire is something I just love to do. Thankfully, last winter was so mild with very little snowfall, I was able to put off buying tires until this year. Thanks to all this extra time to research, I have narrowed my purchase options down to two. I should have no problem making this all-important decision well before the first snow fall.

Research project number two - a bit more challenging. Winter and summer ceiling fan direction for each season. This all started when my brother was visiting our home and told me my ceiling fan was moving in the wrong direction for the summer. I was pretty sure he was wrong. So, I did a bit of research and found that the ceiling fan should be going counterclockwise in the summer to pull the cool air from the floor to the ceiling and return air flow down the walls. In the winter, a clockwise air flow will force the warm air down from the ceiling to the floor and return air flow up the walls. I did find the manual for our ceiling fan with a visual picture of the button position for each season. The ceiling fan information I have provided is correct...I think! When I do research before

Case in point, maybe you have an interest in auto and small engine repair, home improvement, or hobbies and crafts. EBSCO is like having a home improvement expert right at your side, giving you tips and coaching you on. With school just around the corner EBSCO is an outstanding resource for students too.

EBSCO is just one of the many features offered on the library website. There is so much material and information available it is like having a complete library as close as your nearest computer. The library website is making my new tire search a stress-free experience and I will feel confident in my purchase when I have completed my research. As for my ceiling fan dilemma, I will go counterclockwise in the summer, clockwise in the winter. If you are an expert in ceiling fan direction, feel free to stop by the library to set me straight!

I strived to ensure the staff incorporated context into their articles. Sometimes, in a journalistic shorthand, that was described "the Iowa angle."

If there was a mass murder in Iowa, I would dip into my stash of clippings and find the list of the worst mass killings in Iowa history. That allowed us to give context to the magnitude of the tragedy.

The same with tornadoes and floods. How does the number of deaths compare with the worst of these nightmares we have experienced in the past? During the Vietnam war, and later during the Gulf wars, we turned to bound desk calendars where we pasted clippings to track the running tally of deaths of Iowa soldiers.

So, over this past weekend a friend and I pawed through statistics to provide important Iowa context when Belgium's mixed relay triathlon team pulled out of the Olympic competition in Paris.

Belgium's decision was made after one of its athletes became ill and was hospitalized, reportedly for an E. coli infection, after she swam in the River Seine earlier in the competition. The same day as the announcement about Claire Michel, Olympic organizers canceled a training session for the swimming leg of the triathlon because the Seine's water pollution levels were too high.

The quality of the Seine's water has been a persistent worry leading up to this year's Olympic Games. The pollution levels forced organizers to consider delaying, or even canceling, some outdoor swimming events.

This is where the Iowa angle Story County -24,000 drier weather, the quality of water at Iowa's beaches this summer has fluctuated, too.

Iowa Department of Natural Resources specialists monitor water at beaches because poor water quality can cause intestinal problems that may develop into serious infections. As Claire Michel's experience shows, poor water quality should not be brushed aside and taken lightly. Contaminated water can lead even healthy young people to need medical treatment.

Here is how the River Seine's pollution stats look when compared with some Iowa beaches, where the DNR has said at various times that swimming is not recommended because of the contamination.

On July 31, the highest E. coli concentration along the Seine's race course was 649 MPN/100 mL. That measurement tallies the density of E. coli organisms per 100 milliliters of water.

The Iowa angle shows these readings from tests on July 30 or 31:

Inspirational Insight: WE'LL SEE... are. They are marching orders When a church neglects prayer, Sometimes I'm tempted to skim over "familiar" things in order to get to the exciting and fun things. I do it when I read. I do it when I watch movies. I do it when the go-cart people are giving me instructions and I just want to race. I do it all the time. I want to get to the exciting part! I've recently realized that I even take that attitude with me when I approach Scripture.

I've been preaching through 1 Thessalonians at my church and as we neared the end, I was really looking forward to preaching the exciting verses about prophecy (5:19-22). In fact, I was so excited to get to that portion of the text that I was tempted to skim over the preceding verses...verses that I know we had all heard a hundred times. "Rejoice stances..." (1 Thes. 5:15-18). We know these verses. I can't bring anything new out of them. So I was (shamefully) tempted to give them almost no for the church. These are distinct characteristics and functions of God's people! I've heard it said that it is spiritual rebellion if we are not joyful, prayerful, and thankful. That caused me to look at them again. "Rejoice always, pray without ceasing (a good interpretation is meet every situation with prayer), give thanks in all circumstances...". Do always, pray without ceasing, you see the common thread?

We aren't called to rejoice just when things are going well for us. Rejoice always means making a choice to intentionally express joy to our great God, no matter the difficulty of our circumstances.

Pray without ceasing is about humbling yourself and being

On July 17, 2024, at age 85, John peacefully took his last breath at home with his wife of over 60 years by his side. John valiantly battled cancer for over 10 years, with his Mayo Clinic Oncology team referring to him as "a warrior" and his hospice team calling him "an anomaly". Our debt crisis keeps getting worse national debt officially topped $35 trillion. This development comes just seven months after our country surpassed $34 trillion in debt and less than a year since our national debt eclipsed $33 trillion last September. As a father of four, I firmly believe that we have both a moral and financial obligation to our children and grandchildren to enact real reforms that begin to reduce our exploding national debt and restore fiscal sanity to Congress. In fact, for the sake of our economic and national security, we have no other choice but to get our fiscal house in order as quickly as possible.

Our accumulation of debt is a rapidly accelerating trend that is unsustainable, unacceptable, and dangerous - and the warning signs are flashing bright red. $35 trillion equates to nearly $105,000 per person, over $266,000 per household, and more than $483,000 per child in the United States. Additionally, in just a year's time, the national debt has grown by $2.35 trillion, which deficits will eclipse $24 trilbreaks down to $196 billion in new debt every month, $6.4 billion every day, $268 million lion over the next decade. Moreover, this year alone, our federal budget deficit will reach nearly $2 trillion, and our interest payments will surpass almost $900 billion just to finance the interest obligations on our national debt. That's $900 billion that we cannot use to fund our military, provide quality healthcare to our veterans, repair our roads and bridges, or invest in educa-

In addition to cutting wasteful spending that only fuels inflation and weakens our economic security, we must balance our federal budget every single year just like any American family or business must do. We cannot continue with business as usual and spend taxpayer dollars frivolously when one of the largest expenses for the federal government is now interest payments on our debt. That's why I introduced the Balanced Budget and Accounting Act to require the President of the United States to submit a balanced budget to Congress each year - not a wish list of tax hikes and reckless spending proposals. It's also incumbent upon Congress to pass fiscally responsible and balanced budgets that actually fund our most important needs while simultaneously prioritizing deficit and debt reduction. Unfortunately, President Biden's most recent budget proposal to Congress comes out to $7.3 trillion, which further underscores the need for this legislation. Like I've repeatedly said before, we must end reckless government spending, balance our federal budget, and restore fiscal responsibility to the core function of government before our debt crisis reaches an irreversible breaking point. As a strong, fiscal conservative, I will continue to oppose wasteful spending and unchecked expansions of bureaucracy that will only accelerate our arrival to $36 trillion in debt.

Saying 'no' to eminent domain for CO₂ pipeline

To the Editor:

I'm writing this in response to Mr. David Kruse's article in Friday's Spencer paper. I happen to be one of those landowners who strongly opposes the pipeline for many reasons. My husband and I are also corn growers, and are not opposed to ethanol! We simply do not believe that the ethanol industry will perish without the pipeline! That is complete hogwash and is one of the many lies told by Summit! What we are opposed to is the taking of our land to make a private company rich. It only takes common sense to know that this would only be opening the door for ANY private company to do the same, and then our property rights would be completely stripped away!

The Iowa Eminent Domain law specifically says land can be taken for public purpose and necessity such as low-income housing, utilities, roads, airports, parks and recreation. Nowhere does it say anything about taking land for a private company to make billions of dollars and put people's lives in danger. It is unconstitutional and 78% of Iowans believe so!

It also says that landowners should get just compensation for their land, and I know firsthand that they aren't doing that either! Our 3rd and final offer from Summit was a one-time payment of $40,000 to go across our 100 acre parcel of land that has been in my family since 1926. My grandfather would roll over in his grave if he knew this was happening.

In my opinion the whole thing is a scam! Did vou know that the earth's CO2 is at a low level of 0.04%? It is plant food! We need it! One acre of corn at 200 bushels per acre uses 8 tons of CO2! It only becomes dangerous when it's changed to a liquid form and ran through a pipe at 2100 psi. That's when it becomes deadly! This is what they use to euthanize livestock want this running through our land only 4 feet underground, and we should have the right to say No!

The dirty political side of this scam is unbelievable! Summit definitely stacked the deck when they planned this whole land grab! Bruce Rastetter has given millions of dollars to our Governors and Legislators assuring to pave the way for his pipeline so he could cash in on the billions of dollars he will gain from the 45Q tax credits being paid by us, the taxpayers!

Kim Reynolds handpicked the Iowa Utilities Board to make sure a permit was approved. All of us who drove to Fort Dodge and testified. pleading with the Utility Board to not let this happen, knew it was decided before any of us even entered that building. Not to mention all of the bills we tried to pass to protect us from this land grab would make it through the house, but would not even be allowed on the Senate floor to be discussed. We have been sold out by the who signed easements, I doubt the number is that high, but for those who did sign, they have been threatened with eminent domain and felt they had no choice. Thats not what I would call a voluntary easement. Most who signed did it early on before they knew the truth about the dangers of the pipeline, not to mention the billions of gallons of water that would be used to cool the pipes being drained from our aquifers.

It's not over yet! We will not stop fighting Mr. Kruse. We will take it to the Supreme Court if we have to! Hopefully we will get a judge somewhere along the line who can't be bought out! You keep on being a puppet for Bruce Rastetter if that's what you need to do, but we will keep fighting for what is ours and what is right!

Patient Needs Help Discussing High Blood Calcium With Doctor

DEAR DR. ROACH: A friend has been diagnosed with high blood calcium, and when I googled it, the results concerned me. Can you give information on this and how to discuss it with the doctor? I want to forward the column to my friend, and hopefully, the information encourages/ helps with the medical discussions between my friend and their doctor. -- Anon.

ANSWER: There are many causes of high blood calcium levels, and some of them are quite scary to read about. Hopefully, your friend's doctor is already in the process of discovering the underlying cause. Some causes are pretty clear, as some medicines are well-known to cause high calcium, such as thiazide diuretics like HCTZ.

The first step is being sure that there really is high calcium by repeating the blood level. A tourniquet left on for more than a minute can cause acid buildup in the arm, which displaces calcium and causes a false elevation. This problem can also be avoided by being expeditious with blood draws or by measuring the "ionized calcium" for changes in the protein albumin, which also affects the calcium level.

If the calcium level is repeatedly high, the next place to look at is the parathyroid hormone, which is one of the main regulators (along with vitamin D) of blood calcium levels. Most cases of high calcium in otherwise healthy people are caused by excess parathyroid hormone, most often from a benign tumor in the parathyroid gland. In the unusual case that this isn't the issue, less-common causes, including excess vitamin D and some cancers, should also be considered.

As far as an encouraging discussion, if your friend's had left knee-replacement surgery 10 years ago, and two days after surgery, I developed CRPS (complex regional pain syndrome). My shin, below my incision down in my left foot and toes, was burning and stinging for two years. It then receded to my toes for the past eight years.

Over the past three months, the pain has returned to my entire foot area, wrapping around my foot and ankle. It's very painful. I have taken 20 mg of prednisone to get rid of my CRPS, and it does help somewhat. (I was only given a 14-day supply.) Is there any cure yet, or at least a good pain medicine that won't wring me out? -- G.D.C.

ANSWER: CRPS is a pain disorder that is not well-understood. It usually begins after trauma, including surgery, but this is a complication that can happen even after a surgery that was correctly done. Older women are most likely to get this condition.

Steroids like prednisone are sometimes used early on in CRPS, but they are not usually effective in chronic CRPS. Due to their long-term toxicity, they are not usually continued. It is, by no means, a

The best treatment regimen includes physical and occupational therapy; medications such as anti-inflammatories; psychosocial support; and sometimes management by a pain-management specialist, who may use local injections, nerve blocks or nerve stimu-

My experience is that CRPS follows a highly variable course, but I have never had a patient with a recurrence after such a long time, as you have had.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ${\it To Your Good Health@med.}$ cornell.edu.

Sifrits chosen as Yard of the Month for August

The Estherville Garden Club selected Kevin and Robin Sifrit's little plot of paradise for its Yard of the Month. The Sifrits' home, located at 927 N 6th Street, was chosen for its visual appeal from the street. As one drives by to view the colorful yard, the bright red flowers welcome one to enjoy the view, according to a statement from the Garden Club. The yard tour extended beyond the concrete block planters in the front yard to a variety of blooms on the north side and a beautiful botanical view in the back with garden angels and other decorations intermixed with the blooms. From left: Kevin Sifrit, Robin Sifrit, and Estherville Garden Club members Hazel Wilson, Dorothy Wagner, and Evelyn Prentice.

2024 Lakes All-Conference Softball Teams

Champion Midgets rake in league honors

Six ELC players named to first team

By David Swartz

Winning the 2024 Lakes Conference title in epic fashion led to Estherville LincolnCentral's dominance in the all-conference teams. Six ELC players earned first team honors with a seventh earning honorable mention.

ELC posted a 7-0 record in the conference after being unable to make up one league game with Spencer.

The Midgets did not allow any runs in the seven conference games.

That was due in a large part to ELC's two all-state pitchers, junior Rylee Yager and senior Tatum Dunlavy, Junlavy, junior catcher Hillary Ruschy and junior outfielder Haylee Stokes all were unanimous all-conference selections. Also named to the first team were Yager, junior outfielder Cara Schiltz and senior infielder Jasey Anderson. Dunlavy posted a 3-0 record on the mound against conference foes. In 20 innings, she gave up three hits and two walks while striking out 38 batters. At the plate, she was 6-21 with two home runs, one double and 11 RBIs.

Yager posted a 4-0 conference record. In 19 innings, she gave up three hits and one hit batter while striking out 38 batters as well. At the plate, Yager was 11-of-21 and batted .524. She had two doubles and two RBIs with seven stolen bases. Ruschy batted .389 in the conference, going 7-of-18 with two doubles, one home run and four RBIs. As catcher for both Dunlavy and Yager, she had 74 putouts and didn't commit an

Schiltz, who played center field, batted .421 in the conference and was 8-of-19 at the plate with one double and three RBIs. Her seven walks gave her an on-base percentage of .477. She also had eight stolen

Stokes, who played right field, batted .444 in the conference. She was 8-of-18 at the plate with one home run, one double and six RBIs. Her four walks increased her on-base percentage to .545. She had seven stolen bases.

Nath receives "You Can" Cooley Award

dswartz@esthervillenews.net

Estherville Lincoln Central softball player Evi Nath was awarded the E. Wayne Cooley "You Can" Award from the Iowa Girls Coaches Association.

Nath was nominated by her coach Megan Anderson. The purpose of the award is to recognize inspirational Iowa girl athletes.

"I am very excited to nominate Evi Nath, a senior infielder from Estherville Lincoln Central High School," said coach Anderson in making her nomination. "Evi embodies all characteristics that were described in the standards of this very prestigious award. Evi has played softball for me the past five years. She is always one of the first players at the field and always one of the last ones to leave. She is constantly working on skills to make herself better for the team, she asks questions and wants feedback no matter if it is good or whether it is about what improvements need to be made in her play. She also is great about working with underclassmen without being asked. She simply takes it upon herself to go help the players if she sees the need. She is always respectful to other players, teammates, coaches, opposing coaches, officials—anyone that she comes in contact with. "She has been hampered by the injury bug the past 2 1/2 years in high school. It has prevented her from playing multiple sports, but she is still part of the team. She is always on the sidelines supporting her teammates, almost becoming another coach for players to look to and rely on. On the field, she will play wherever her team needs her to. She has played several different positions in her career, anything from outfield, infield and catching. We know that we Award."

can count on Evi to play where we need her to. And she does it all with a smile on her face. She simply exemplifies what a team player looks like and acts like. She hasn't received a lot of postseason recognition for her play, but she is such a crucial piece on our team. "We don't know where we would be without her. However, when a big situation arises, Evi is always ready. She has ice in her veins and delivers when her team needs her. She is clutch in those situations. I believe it is because she does everything in a calm demeanor. She doesn't ever seem to panic. This is another quality that makes her a great player. I could go on and on about Evi because it is such an easy thing for me to do; talk about a great player. This is just a glimpse of Evi Nath and why I think she is deserving of the, "You Can"

FUN IN THE MUD

Earlier this year Mother Nature used waters from the west fork of the Des Moines River to flood North Riverside Park. This past Saturday, Estherville firefighters used much cleaner waters to flood a smaller portion of the park for the second annual Mud Volleyball Tournament. Fans turned out to watch players compete on three courts. For any seeking three regular passes ending in a monstrous spike for points, the mud limited player mobility making it a challenge just to get the ball across the net. Those willing to sacrifice themselves for a point could easily be identified by how much mud clung to their bodies. At right: On the outskirts of the volleyball courts, other muddy areas allowed young children an opportunity to get dirty as well.

100 Years Ago (1924)

- Duke Sutton, ten year old son of Mrs. E. C. Sutton, was run over by the trailer of the Hutchinson ice cream delivery auto. The trailer was loaded with about fourteen hundred pounds of ice. The accident occurred at noon today back of the Hansen creamery just as the driver of the delivery auto, Jack Gransbury was making his last trip with ice from the ice house. The Sutton boy with a number of others was riding on the small cars that are used to carry the cement blocks from the Bingham Cement Products plant to the drying yard. At present the extent of his injuries are not known.
- and Barnum & Bailey combined circus at Fairmont Monday. There must have been several hundred people from here in attendance, not counting the youngsters who "were just taken along.' Ringling Bros. have an immense aggregation of men, capital, acrobats, animals from all parts of the world. The tent was completely filled. About twenty thousand people paid 7cts for admission and 75cts for a reserved seat.

■ Estherville furnished its quote of people to the Ringling Bros.

75 Years Ago (1949)

- Rise in Emmet county school costs between 1941 and 1948 was just over 100 per cent—about on an average with schools throughout the state, figures released this noon by the Iowa Taxpayers association show. Total costs in Emmet county during the 1941 fiscal year were $277,757. Costs during the 1944 fiscal year were $311,218, which again increased to $571,342 during the 1948 fiscal year.
- About 150 long time residents of Emmet and Palo Alto counties met in the Fort Defiance state park Sunday for the annual Old Settlers picnic. Following a picnic dinner in the park, members of the Emmet and Palo Alto Old Settlers organization met in the shelter house at the park for a program of reminiscences. Following invocation by the Rev. L. G. Hinderaker of the Estherville Lutheran church, the group heard several vocal numbers from the Graettinger male octet directed by Martin Simonsen. Musical selections were then played by a guitar and accordion duo, Rudy Christensen of Ringsted and Mrs. Doyle Wegner of Halfa.

50 Years Ago (1974)

- "To thine own self be true," are the words of William Shakespeare, but Virgil Frye, former Estherville resident and now a professional movie actor heeds the advice as he moves along the road to stardom. He accomplishes this by accepting rules in films which he feels have some value to society. Frye, who moved from Estherville about 20 years ago, has been acting professionally since 1958. He was in Estherville recently to visit his sister, Mrs. Malverne Moller, and to attend a class reunion.

25 Years Ago (1999) ■ Estherville Lincoln Central is one of two school district that

- will have a contested race in this year's school board election on Tuesday, Sept. 14. The deadline to file for school board elections was Thursday, Aug. 5. There are two at-large positions open in the ELC district, both three-year terms. Both incumbents Gary Feddern and Karen Moreau are seeking re-election. Others seeking election are Betty Fiddler, Don Schiltz and Dana Moeding. ■ It took nine innings, but Armstrong-Ringsted refused to give
- up and ended its state softball tournament journey in fifth place overall after a 4-1 victory over the Calmar South Winneshiek Warriors Friday morning. "We played really hard," said A-R softball coach Larry Hunecke. "We didn't hit the ball as well as we could have, but at state you have to expect good pitching." 20 Years Ago (2004)

SUNDAY DAYTIME

- Lyle Hevern has accepted an employment offer to work for Christensen Construction & Design Company and Global Equipment and Manufacturing Company, all of Estherville. That announcement came today from Steve Christensen, CEO of both companies, and Shelley Morris, President of Global Manufacturing. Hevern held the position of president of the chamber and the EIDC for the past 17 years resigning effective Aug. 1. ■ The public is encouraged to attend the grand opening
- celebration of the new NorthStar Bank and Agency facility at the east gateway to Estherville. The celebration will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 10 at 2202 Central

15 Years Ago (2009)

- A rash of crime hit Emmet County overnight as five businesses were burglarized in Gruver and Ringsted. The Emmet County Sheriff's Department received the first call at 4:45 a.m. on Friday from Great Lakes Co-op in Gruver. Emmet County Sheriff Mike Martens said it was determined by the deputy, the perpetrator(s) forced entry into office and stole cash. The deputy was still on scene when the second call was received regarding another burglary. The caller told the dispatcher money was stolen from Harold's Cafe in Ringsted. Martens said while the cafe burglary was being investigated, three more burglaries were discovered in Ringsted including the Half-Time Bar and Grill, the Shere Beuaty salon and Deb Creative Cuts and More.
- The adjective cool can be descriptive slang to mean awesome, wonderful, terrific and great. However when Estherville Parks and Recreation Director Dave Spurgin told his board Monday, the "Pool log reflects a very cool July," that is not cool. The board learned there were 2,000 less individuals visiting the pool in comparison to 2008 statistics for the seventh month of the year.

10 Years Ago (2014)

- The Estherville Ambassadors welcomed Matt Beaver as a new employee at KILR radio Wednesday. He joins two other recent staff members — Troy Storhoff who came on as director of sales a year ago, and Nate Puhl who started with the station this past spring.
- The annual Run for the Cob was held again this past Saturday as part of the Sweet Corn Days activities. This year's fundraiser for the Estherville Lincoln Central and Iowa Lakes Community College cross-country programs featured 166 participants. The event features four races—half marathon, 10K, 5K and 1-mile fun run. Nine runners took part in the half marathon with 22-year-old Samual Fransen winning in 1 hour, 26 minutes and 8.6 seconds. Vic Morales, 40, winner of the 5K Run for the Cob race in 2023, took top honors in the 10K this year, winning in 36:36.7.
