LES substation dedicated to Tears

coming our way."

The Lewisburg Electric System dedicated the recently constructed west substation on Mooresville Highway to long-serving board member Eddie Tears last Thursday morning.

LES Director Brad Medley noted the system's continuous improvements while maintaining low rates and no debt during Tears' 25 years of service on the utility's board.

Medley said that the new substation afforded the city's grid modernized capacity and added redundancy within the system.

The additional capacity offered by the substation also would support the potential addition of more electric intensive industry in the I-65 Commerce Park.

For his part, Tears said that he was reluctant when then-Mayor Bob Phillips approached him about a seat on the board.

"I'm not a political person," said Tears. "But the first year I was on the board, I was hooked."

"I feel like I've developed a family with y'all," added Tears. "We're better prepared for what's

Homecoming spirit in Lewisburg

The Marshall County High School Homecoming parade returned to the traditional route down West Commerce last Friday, after a week of school spirit and activities. The always entertaining parade brought out hundreds of fans and supporters to enjoy the fall weather and the best of Lewisburg schools. The Tigers capped the week's festivities with a rout of an overmatched Glencliff Colts team, 63 to 0. For more photos 6A.

Chapel Hill closer to budget

By Scott Pearson Associate Editor

After a chaotic September meeting which saw the town treasurer terminated, the Chapel Hill Board of Mayor and Aldermen returned to a more normal agenda at last week's monthly meeting.

Aldermen approved an agreement with the MG Group, a Tullahoma accounting firm, to manage the town's accounting functions temporarily, which the firm has already undertaken.

Town Administrator Amanda Harrington said, as of the meeting date, roughly 40 percent of the past financial year had been closed

Living between the lines – One mile at a time

By Patty Blackburn Tribune staff

Ricky Beard drove a 18 wheeler for 39 years. His CB handle was "Whiskers," and as years passed, the older drivers named him "Legend" because he was on the road for so many years.

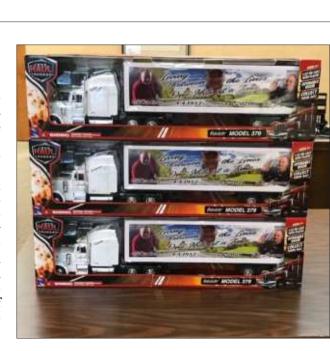

Ricky was 25 when he first climbed in that 18 wheeler and he would still be driving today, but he became ill and passed away on March

Jimmy Ketchum and his family thought the world of Ricky and they spend time with Ricky's family quite often. They decided to make some type of memorial for Ricky's two daughters, Bobbi Lynne and Amanda, and Ricky's sister, Wanda, something they could treasure always. Jimmy contacted Alan Salway, a freelance artist and owner of 413 Signs and Graphics. They put their heads together and came up with the idea of Alan designing wraps to place on die cast model trucks, similar to the truck Ricky drove. Alan designed the wrap using Ricky's photos, dates, his ČB handles and his motto, "Living Between the Lines – One Mile at a Time." Bobbi Lynne's, Amanda's and Wanda's names are inscribed on the top of the cab. As you can see in the photo, Alan did a great job designing the wraps that he placed on each of the Jimmy and his family presented the trucks to the three ladies and they were very appreciative, as well as surprised. This was a very thoughtful gift from the Ketchum family and Bobbi Lynne, Amanda, and Wanda now have a beautiful memorial of their daddy and brother.

Is Halloween 2021 cursed?

By Danny Tyree

Someday we will all laugh about Halloween

We may be laughing maniacally in padded cells, but we will laugh. I'm sure there's no need to tell you this (unless you're living under newspapers instead of reading them); but celebrants this year face a quadruple whammy of runaway inflation, product shortages, labor shortages and vaccine mandates.

You know it's a challenging Halloween when fun-size candy bars become "mildly amused"-size candy bars, homemade costumes are saddled with a second mortgage and the neighborhood fiend is forced to inject Twix bars with rain checks for razor blades. You know the rules have all changed when Hollywood considers naming a movie "Friday the 13th-ish...If You're Lucky," understaffed "haunted house" attractions advertise BYOB ("Bring your own boos") and your trusted Sexy Librarian or Sexy Nurse costume can't even raise an eyebrow. ("Hurry! It's a Sexy Propane Truck Driver outfit!")

Pale imitations of timeless pranks are another sign of a trying autumn. Yes, it's hard for young hooligans to procure enough toilet paper to do a decent job of vandalizing neighborhood homes; but it's a downright shame when a rowdy gang "phones it in" and showers the elm trees with the gar-den hose while shouting, "Here's your bidet, grumpy old man!"
We tend to get spoiled by the homeowners who have always had elaborate decorations and bountiful bowls of treats. Don't hate them if they must make hard decisions and cut corners this year. ("Hey, try walking a mile in my shoes – if they ever arrive. They've been on a ship in the Pacific since before newts developed eyes.")

Some of us even miss the things we used to find annoying about Halloween. Instead of slogging through Christmas and Valentine merchandise to buy our pumpkins, we now must schedule Zoom meetings with those items. ("Are your present, inflatable Santa? Please adjust your camera.")
The disorienting inconveniences don't end with October 31. Current conditions can wreak havoc on cherished November 1 tra-ditions as well. If you're one of those families that makes a habit of scooping up marked-down leftover candy, you may have to wait. And wait. ("I see you're planting seeds for Arbor Day!" "No, those are my teeth that rotted out from gorging on delayed Halloween candy.")

Don't even get me started on how this is affecting the denizens of the supernatural world. Imagine a world where exorcists are stymied by eviction moratoriums and where you can't even entice an angry mob of villagers to chase Frankenstein's Monster without a generous signing bonus.

Imagine a world where supply-chain issues make witches substitute paper cauldrons, where Dracula turns off the TV because of the constant drumbeat of stories about emerging garlic variants, where Igor never knows if the Dungeon-DoorDash driver will hump it and arrive on time, where the Headless Horseman is constantly berating himself. ("Dummy!

Carve the jack-o'-lantern before putting the mask on it next time.") Ah, but this too shall

I just hope that after it passes it goes on to its final reward instead of hovering around and haunting us.

I want to be able to splurge and buy my Sexy Newspaper Columnist costume next out and that the budget process for the current fiscal year was continuing.

Since the meeting, the board has held a budget workshop and is scheduled to vote on the first reading of a proposed budget on Monday night.

An outline of the budget, delayed due to personnel turnover in town hall, is published on Page A7 in today's The town has been operating, with an al-

Comptroller, on last year's budget. The current fiscal year began July 1. A resolution accepting lowance from the State assistance from the Municipal Technical Advisory Service in recruiting a new town recorder and treasurer was deferred until December, allowing the MG Group to continue through the budget and annual audit process.

Also deferred were resolutions updating the town purchasing policy and dissolving the town's utility board.

Town Attorney Todd Moore suggested the delay until aldermen could complete a required review of the Chapel Hill municipal code. He said that MTAS, which maintains the code, would prefer it be unchanged while the overall revision is still pending.

The water and wastewater utility board was established a few years ago to focus on the detailed technical needs of the town water system but has become inactive.

While deferred, there was some discussion among the aldermen of whether the board needed to be dissolved or kept on the books if needed in the future.

"And Jesus, when He came out, saw much people, and was moved with compassion toward them, because they were as sheep not having a shepherd...' - Mark 6:33

This passage of scripture is in the context of the Lord Jesus feeding five-thousand people with only five loaves of flat bread and two fish. This miracle often over shadows the main teaching, which is Christ's compassion toward the people. In this verse when Christ Jesus saw the people He was moved. Not moved away. Not moved in disgust – but rather He was moved with compassion. The word compassion means more than feeling sorry for someone, but rather it is a yearning of deep sympathy from one's innermost being, or way down in one's gut. Our Lord Jesus expressed His heart of compassion toward these people because human suffering, pain, hunger, and because of their spiritually lost condition. Suffering, pain, and hunger were things that Christ Jesus experienced Himself and so He could relate to the multitude. Therefore He was moved with compassion toward them.

man who lost his left arm all the way up to his shoulder when he was only seven years old. Until he was twelve, he cried himself to sleep every night. It was hard for him to regard this amputation as the good and perfect will of God, but he eventually began to conquer his handicap while working on the farm. Later, as a young man he sold insurance and was a success. He then learned to play handball, of all sports! Soon he even beat all on comers who had two arms. He eventually won many championships in the sport. One day the one armed man learned that a thirteen-year old boy had just gone through the same amputation. The boy had no will to live, and his condition was rapidly worsening. So the one armed man went to the hospital to see the young boy and he took his scrapbook. Nothing was said about the arm, but the boy looked at the various newspaper clippings that recounted the one-armed champion's success in handball, as well as hunting, fishing, and golf. Finally the young boy asked if it were really true. Then the man removed his shirt and showed the young boy his armless shoulder. The boy sighed deeply and soon fell asleep. Three days later the young boy was on the mend and soon left the hospital. This one armed man could have compassion on the young boy because he could relate to his sorrow and needs.

So it is with the Christ Jesus. He can have compassion upon you because He can relate to your problems in life. He can relate to your disappointments and sorrows. He can relate to your grief and pain. Not only can He relate, but He is the One who has the ability to do something about it for all those who come to Him and trust Him as Lord and Savior. That's Christ's compassion!

Rockets' second half surge secures region title

By Anthony S. PucaSports Writer

LYNNVILLE — After shaking off some bye week rust in the first half, the Forrest Rockets played shutdown defense and scored twice in the second half to win 28-14 at Richland Friday night and secure the Region 5-AA title.

"This feels awesome," Forrest coach Eli Stephenson said. "These kids deserve it. They work hard every day and they grind every day."

"Getting it locked up early feels even better. So now we know where we stand in the region and we can get ready for our next two games."

The Rockets (6-2, 4-0) putgained Richland 306-to-221 yards and held the Raiders to just 16 offensive plays for 36 yards in the second half, including only five yards on the ground and zero first downs.

"Richland came out and gave us everything that we wanted," Stephenson said. "We made some mistakes in the first half when we came out a little rusty from the fall break, but the boys righted the ship at halftime and we came out and took care of ousiness in the second half."

Forrest started out on shaky ground, fumbling the opening kickoff before the Rockets got the ball back when Braden Bowyer intercepted a second down pass by Bryce Miller and rumbled to the Richland 30-yard line.

The Rockets turned the turnover in to points four plays later when senior Chris Davis scored on an 11-yard touchdown run.

"The opening kickoff was not good, but we got a big pick from our 'D' ineman Bowyer with the big man rumbling down the field and we were able to push it in after that," Stephenson said.

Gavin Grissom nailed the first of his four successful extra points in the game and Forrest led 7-0 with 9:11 remaining in the first quarter.

The Raiders answered in just five plays that covered 83 yards with Ethan Workman capping off the drive by hauling in a three-yard pass from Miller for a couchdown.

Jesse James made the first of his two successful extra points in the contest for the 7-7 tie with 5:50 left in the first guarter quarter.

Forrest started its next drive at their own 27-yard line and lost a yard on first down before McCalister Wilson broke free for a 20-yard scamper near the midfield stripe.

A Richland personal foul a few plays later was followed by a Brenton Burchell eight-yard run and a big 23-yard burst by Davis for a first-and-goal at the Richland eight-yard line.

The Raiders bowed up on defense and held the Rockets out of the end zone until Davis crashed in on a fourth down play for a touchdown from the one-yard line with 47 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

The Forrest defense held, forcing a threeand-out to take over again, but a series of penalties on the Rockets' offense resulted in a Christian Hammond punt to the Richland 32-yard line.

Tribune photos by Anthony S. Pu

Forrest senior running back Chris Davis (1), who rushed for team-highs in yardage and touchdowns, runs through a huge hole created by his offensive line.

The Raiders went 68-yards on just seven plays with Workman coming up with a 24-yard catch that sparked an Andrew Huff six-yard touchdown run and the games was tied again at 14-14 with 2:44 remaining in the first half.

Forrest's ensuing drive was spoiled by a Sam Edwards interception and the Raiders failed to score before the close of the first half.

The Chapel Hill defense forced a threeand-out on Richland's opening drive of the second half and the Rockets turned the effort in to the go-ahead touchdown.

"We told them at halftime we had to play our game plan, we were getting out-physicaled up front and in the second half, we came out more physical and kept them behind the sticks and played ball," Stephenson said.

Starting at their own 38-yard line, Forrest went on the move, driving 62 yards on eight plays with Tayton Swift capping off the scoring drive with a two-yard touchdown run to make it 21-14.

Richland's next offensive series lasted just 69 seconds with a three-and-out, but Forrest was also stopped and had to punt on the final play of the third quarter.

The Rockets were in prime form on defense and got the ball back for their offense after a fourth-down stop and this time, Forrest cashed in when Liam Bell scored on a 12-yard touchdown run to cap off a 50-yard scoring drive to put Chapel Hill up by two scores at 28-14 with 7:03 remaining in the contest.

Tayton Swift runs behind Liam Bell (6) and Riley Durbin (61) for a nice gain in the Rockets' big 28-14 win at Richland Friday night.

The Raiders had no answer on offense as they were mired in a fourth-and-23 and had no option but to punt the ball back to Forrest with 4:40 left in the game.

"Our defense played well all night long. We got away from playing physical in the first half, but they got back to it in the second half," Stephenson said.

The Rockets burned most of the remaining time off the clock to seal the win and their second region title in three years.

Davis led the Rockets' big running attack with 81 yards on 12 carries and a two touchdowns.

Davis was hurt late in the game and his status for Friday night is unknown.

Bell had a lot of carries late in the game to burn the clock and finished with 54 yards on 11 touches and a score, Wilson toted the rock 10 times for 48 yards, Swift ran for 41 yards on six touches and one TD, and Burchell had 29 yards on eight carries.

"Our running game in the second half was huge, we knew when we got up one score that we had to run right at them and run the clock out," Stephenson said. "Our line up front with the seniors (Layne) Strasser, (Brayden) Jones, (Colton) Cashion, and Bowyer moved the line of scrimmage tonight."

Forrest quarterback Hunter Bennett went 5-for-9 for 53 yards and two interceptions while completing three passes to Swift for 41 yards and one six-yard pass to both Burchell and Ham-

The ninth-ranked Rockets, who have not played a home game since September 17, entertain East Robertson (3-5) for a non-region game this week before finishing off the regular season schedule next week versus Mt. Pleasant (2-5, 1-3) at the Murrey E. Holton Memorial Field in Chapel Hill.

"This was one of our goals, but now our goal is to take it one game at a time in the playoffs and move on," Stephenson said. "It's also good to come home now with this region championship and play in front of our fans at home."

Bulldogs totally dominate at Wayne Co.

By Dennis Holley Sports Writer

WAYNESBORO — The Cornersville Bulldogs, urged on by their fanbase that numbered more than the hometown fans, limited Wayne County to only 117 yards of total offense while moving the ball effectively themselves in a 31-0 win.

The Bulldogs were led by Riley Qualls, rushing for 47 yards on six carries, also managing to pick up a Wildcat fumble and raced untouched into the end zone for a touchdown.

Quarterback Blaine Woodard, growing increasingly comfortable leading the offense, threw the ball well, going 7-for-12 for 62 yards and a touchdown and adding a 26-yard touchdown run to boot.

On defense Barrett Powers, Wesley Pigg, Tyler Brockman and Rhett Woodard punished the Wildcat runners and receivers.

"I thought our guys came out playing physical football— our brand of football. I thought we set that tone early," Bulldog coach Gerard Randolph said.

The Wildcats won the coin toss, elected to defer to the second half and kicked off to the Bulldogs where Rhett Woodard gathered it in on the 25-yard line and carried it to the Cornersville 43-yard line.

The Bulldogs began their initial drive pounding the Wildcats on a 10-play drive utilizing their deep stable of running backs.

Ben Franklin, Rhett Woodard, Mason Calahan, Riley Qualls, and quarterback Blaine Woodard repeatedly bulled through the Wildcat line, gobbling up yardage and time off the clock.

Using up half of the first quarter the Bulldogs with 7:41 left in the quarter were on the Wildcat nine-yard line but a holding penalty moved them back to the Wayne County 19-yard

Then Woodard found Wesley Pigg out on the right flat, where he gathered in the pass, broke to the center of the field, and raced untouched into the end zone for the touchdown.

When Logan Springer

split the uprights for the PAT with 6:46 remaining in the first quarter, the Bulldogs were in front, 7-0.

The Wildcats responded after the ensuing kickoff, when after a first down, quarterback Austin Whitson broke loose on a run around the right side into the end zone but a block in the back brought it back and the Bulldog defense forced a punt and Cornersville was in business at their own 43-yard line.

Qualls shook loose on a 31-yard run down to the Wildcat 26-yard and after an incompletion Blaine Woodard raced around the left side and rambled into the end zone for the score. Springer nailed the PAT and the Bulldogs with 3:17 left in the first quarter led 14-0.

The second quarter was scoreless for both teams with defensive domination by the Bulldogs keeping the Wildcats hemmed in and the Cornersville offense

The Wildcats on first down attempted a pass but Cornersville's Blake Estes was on the job, and it fell incomplete.

On second down, Wayne County ball carrier Whitson was stood up by three Bulldogs and the ball popped out onto the ground where the ever-alert Qualls picked it up and raced into the end zone. Springer again kicked the PAT, and with 21 seconds gone in the third quarter, Cornersville pushed the lead to 21-0.

Tigers blast Colts, still in playoff hunt

By Chris Siers

LEWISBURG A week after being trounced by Pearl-Cohn, the Marshall County Tigers responded with a huge victory over Glencliff (0-8, 0-6) to remain in the thick of the Region 5-AAAA standings. The Tigers (6-2, 4-2) coasted off a monster first half to the 63-0 victory over the beleaguered Colts.

"It's always good to get the bad taste out of your mouth after a loss. We talked all week about playing to our standard no matter the opponent and I think for the most part we did that," Tiger coach Thomas Osteen

The Tigers did the bulk of their work on the ground, having only attempted eight passes against the Colts.

Starting quarterback as well. Devonte Davis connected on 3-of-4 attempts and a touchdown.

Cahlin Henry also completed a pass for 26 yards and Trey Warner completed 2-of-3 attempts for 26 yards as well.

The true Marshall County attack came on the ground.

Marshall County exploded out of the gates with a 35-point first quarter.

The Tigers scored touchdown runs of 40, 21, six and eight yard scores.

Marshall County also recorded a 69-yard punt return as well.

The onslaught continued into the second quarter as well, with the Tiger defense recording an interception returned for a touchdown and a fumble recovered for a touchdown

The Tigers added one final punt return to bump the advantage to 56-0 at the half.

Marshall County added just one final score in a quick second half.

With a running clock, the Tigers scored just one touchdown in the fourth quarter which came on a 25-yard strike.

With working on a short field, the Tigers managed just 211 total yards of offense, with 136 coming on the ground.

Davis and Demari Braden combined to lead the Tigers on the ground, with Davis rushing twice for 58 yards and a score, while Braden had three carries for 49 yards and a score.

Lamarion Pierce had just one carry for eight yards and a touchdown

Makiy Tapp also added four carries for 28 yards and a touchdown.

The Tigers completed just six passes, but it was Antomme Cawthorne catching the sixyard pass from Davis to account for the lone touchdown pass against the Colts.

Jayden Randolph added two catches for 20 yards as well.

Defensively, it was a nightmare for the Colts' offense trying to escape the pass rush of the Ti-Marshall County re-

Middle Rockets take comeback win in World Tournament

By Anthony S. Puca Sports Writer

In a rivalry that goes back many decades, the Forrest Middle School Rockets hosted the Community Middle School Vikings Monday night at Chapel Hill in an opening round game of the 58th Annual World Tournament.

It was also the season opener for both squads and drama did not disappoint the large crowd, except maybe for some Vikings' fans as the Rockets trailed at the end of all three quarters before outscoring Community 13-5 in the fourth quarter to claim a 38-35 win.

Forrest's Eli Bell led all scorers in the contest with 19 points, including the game winning basket with less than 20 seconds to go in the game.

Josh Doud also had a big night for the Rockets with all 10 of his points tallied in the low post and six points coming in the fourth quarter comeback.

Fletcher Fields had all four of his points in the second half, Jacob Tincher made two third period free throws, Trent Williams had one low post bucket, and a hobbled Houston Matlock made one-of-two from the free throw line to seal the win with just a few seconds to go.

The Rockets trailed 8-4 after the first quarter and by the same four-point margin at the half, 18-14.

The Vikings kept the lead throughout the third period and went to the final quarter up

Doud singlehandedly brought the Rockets back as they fed him in the low post on three out of four possessions to start the fourth quarter in which he converted every time to go along with a Fields steal and score and an 8-0 run for a 33-30 lead with 4:35 left in the contest.

Community responded with a Noah Watson bucket and two free throws by Zach Leathers to regain the lead at 1:42 left in the game.

Bell put Forrest back in front in the see-saw affair and Moe Berman tied it up at 35 with one free throw for the Vikings before Bell drove the lane and nailed the go-head bucket with 19.9 seconds remaining in the game.

A Vikings miss on an attempted tying bucket led to Matlock stepping to the free throw line and making one of two to seal the season opening win for the

Last second shot sinks Lady Rockets in season debut

The Forrest Lady Rockets opened up the 2021 season at home versus Community in the first round of the 58th Annual World Tournament in Chapel Hill and staged a wild comeback before falling 26-24 on a last second 3-pointer by Brailey Whitehead.

The Viqueens almost ran away and hid, shutting out the Lady Rockets 13-0 in the first quarter behind six points by Whitehead, who led all scorers in the ballgame with 12 points.

Forrest finally scored on a basket by Adisyn Howes with 5:43 remaining in the first half and after a Viqueens' missed field goal, Camreigh Warner made it a 13-4 contest.

Gracie Daniel made both ends of a one-andone opportunity at the free throw line late in the quarter to put the Viqueens up by double digits at 17-7 before Forrest's Kaylin Pope

Warner drilled a 3-pointer, tying the game at 20-20 at the 5:15 mark of the fourth quarter and after a Community missed shot, Swift scored to give the Lady Rockets their first lead of the game.

A Viqueens' turnover led to a Pope basket to make it 24-20 with four minutes to go in the contest.

Jayla Mangrum canned a pair of free throws for Community to make it a two-point game and moments later, the Viqueens had a chance to tie the game from the free throw line, but could not convert even with two extra shots for a pair of lane violations by the Lady

Forrest went cold from the field and dodged another bullet when Community made just one of two free throws to cut the lead to one point at 24-23 with 23.8 seconds left in the game.

After a timeout, Forrest missed and the Viqueens called timeout with 12.4 seconds left in the game.

Community passed the ball twice and the second one went to Whitehead in the corner where she tossed up a rainbow that went straight through the hoop for three points and a 26-24 lead with 2.3 seconds remaining in the contest. Forrest was unable to get a last chance shot off and were eliminated from the tournament.

The Lady Rockets will be back on the hardcourt at Lewisburg Middle School on Monday for a big intra-county rivalry game versus the Tigerettes.

Tigerettes win Athens Bible School Invite

Staff Report

Athens, Ala. — The Marshall County High School cross country teams had an excellent showing in a huge field of competition during the Athens Bible School Meet, which was held last week.

The Tigerettes took first-place overall in the large school division and were led by Lydia Molina and Sarina Yamashita's one-two punch, as the Tigerettes pair finished eighth and ninth overall in the race.

Molina crossed the finish line in 24:16 during the 5K race, while Yamashita turned in a 24:59 final time.

The Tigerettes went on to place four more runners in the top 15 to help secure the slim team victory.

Brady Phillips and Abbie Collins finished 11th and 12th, respectively, in 25:20 and 25:34.

Kendall Adams followed in 13th overall and turned in a 25:55, while Karlie Lohr finished her race in 26:06.

Krew Capps was the top finisher for the Tigers as he crossed the finish line in sixth-place overall in 19:10 to lead the Tigers.

Former German soldier recalls life at Crossville POW camp

Tennessee History for Kids

There were about half a dozen prisoner of war camps in Tennessee during World War II the best known of which was Camp Crossville, in Cumberland County. We know a lot more about Camp Crossville than the others because of Gerhard Hennes.

Hennes was a German officer captured in North Africa in Mav 1943. Five months later, he entered the gates of Camp Crossville, where he was interred for two years.

After World War II, Hennes would become an American citizen, and in 2004 he published The Barbed Wire: POW in the USA. In it he gives a detailed description of life at Camp Crossville—a piece of real estate now occupied by the Clyde York 4-H Training Center.

Hennes and his fellow prisoners were treated better than any prisoners of war I've ever heard of. They were given new uniforms, they were not interrogated and they were mostly left to the authority of their own German officers.

The best part of Camp Crossville, Hennes claims, was the food. three "There were square meals a day," he wrote.

I was also surprised to learn from Hennes' book and from Sean Boring, curator at the Military Memorial Museum in Crossville, that prisoners were routinely allowed to leave Camp Crossville. "With so many young men away, there was a big manpower shortage in the area," Boring said. "There were German POWs working in factories and on farms, helping farmers bring in the crops."

The German prisoners used the money they earned to buy beer, cigarettes, books and just about whatever they chose to order from the Sears catalog. They passed the time taking classes that were taught by other prisoners, participating in tennis and soccer leagues that they organized, playing cards and drinking beer.

Boring and his parents have done much to preserve Cumberland County's military history, which includes the prisoner of war camp. Within the small museum in Crossville one can find weapons, uniforms, photographs, letters and other objects from the Civil War up through the present.

A few years ago, local volunteers even created a large wooden model of the prisoner of war camp, based on several sketches and maps of the facility.

As I read Hennes' account of being a POW, I began to wonder if there was a turning point in his experience. It came in the spring of 1945. After Germany's surrender, all of the POWs were marched into a Crossville movie theater, where they saw a film containing footage from the liberation of the Nazi-run concentration camps.

"We saw the piles of naked bodies, starved to death," he wrote. "We saw the mass graves . . . We saw and stared in silence, struggling but unable to believe what we Germans had done to Jews, gypsies, prisoners of war and many others deemed inferior or expendable."

Hennes says he and his fellow soldiers and officers were shocked to learn about the Holocaust. He said that, for him, seeing that film was "the day when I turned in one profound transformation from being a hero to being a villain." It was also the day that the treatment of German POWs changed. Some of this appears to have been a deliberate policy change on the part of the U.S. military. It may have also reflected the attitude of the prison guards, who were also moved by the images of the mass genocide.

Shortly after Thanksgiving, 1945, Hennes and the other prisoners of war were sent by train to New York, then by ship to Europe. Hennes then spent two more months at a POW camp in France. There, the food was scarce, the conditions were overcrowded and treatment was rough.

After the war, Hennes moved back to the German town in which he grew up. He emigrated to the U.S. in 1953 and became a citizen five years later.

Hennes later became an administrator for the New Brunswick Theological Seminary and spent many years providing disaster relief through an international organization called Church World Service.

"For most of my life I have been an American citizen," says Hennes, who is now 92 and living in Crossville. "I am very proud of that, and thankful of the opportunities that the United States gave me."

Trisha Yearwood's recipe for fried apple fritters

By Trisha Yearwood

My dad, Jack, used to reminisce about small fried apple fritters that his mother, Elizabeth, would make for him when he was a kid. Of course, like many passed-down family recipes, this one wasn't written down anywhere, so Mama went to work, trying to figure out how to make them just like his mama had. That's never an easy job, because our childhood memories often make those original flavors impossible to replicate. Beth and I remember those premade dough pockets sitting on the kitchen counter, and Mama frying them up in a cast iron skillet. We also remember how happy Daddy was with the result. We're not surprised she got it right! Grandma Yearwood always fried with lard, but if that scares you, vegetable oil is perfectly fine!

1 tablespoon unsalted butter 2 Granny Smith apples, peeled, cored, and diced in ½-inch pieces

1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon Pinch of freshly grated nutmeg Pinch of ground ginger

½ cup packed light brown sugar

½ teaspoon kosher salt 1 tablespoon cornstarch

2 pounds lard or

11/2 quarts vegetable oil, for frying

1 box (2 crusts) refrigerated pie crusts (I like Pillsbury)

4½-inch round cookie cutter

DIRECTIONS

1. In a small sauté pan, melt the butter over medium heat. Add the apples, cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger, brown sugar, salt, and 1/4 cup water, stir, and cover to bring to a simmer, 5 to 7 minutes, then cook, uncovered, until the apples are slightly softened, about 4 minutes.

2. In a small bowl, stir together the cornstarch and 1 tablespoon water until combined and pourable. Stream the cornstarch slurry into the apple filling and cook on a low simmer for 2 minutes more, or until the liquid has thickened.

3. Pour the apple mixture into a shallow bowl (a pie plate works great) and cool in the fridge, stirring occasionally, for 25 minutes.

4. Put the lard or vegetable oil in a deep Dutch oven. Clip a deep-fry thermometer to its side and heat the lard over high heat to 360°F.

5. Lay out both rounds of pie dough and use a 4 1/2-inch round cookie cutter to cut four circles from each of them. Gather the scraps, roll out again, and cut out 2 more circles.

6. Fill each round of dough with a heaping tablespoon of the apple filling, then, using a little water on your fingers, wet the edge of the dough and press together into a half-moon. Crimp the edges with the tines of a fork to seal

7. When all the pies are assembled and the oil is to temperature, fry 3 or 4 pies at a time for 4 to 5 minutes. Transfer the pies to a paper towellined tray to drain and cool slightly, then repeat to fry the remaining pies, letting the oil come back up to 360°F between batches. Enjoy warm.

Trisha's Tip: The apple filling can be made the day before and stored in the refrigerator until ready to use.
