Council selects Haislip

By Scott Pearson Associate Editor

Lewisburg The City Council, in a special called meeting last Wednesday afternoon, selected current First Ward Councilman Roy "Bam" Haislip as the next Lewisburg city manager.

The vote for Haislip was unanimous from the other four members of the council, in a meeting lasting less than two minutes.

Haislip was among the three candidates selected by the council to interview for the position, after narrowing the field of 17 applicants after reviewing applications and resumes.

Haislip will follow current City Manager Buck Beard when Beard retires from the city in January.

The council's timeline for the hire aimed to have Beard's replacement selected in time to ensure a smooth transition.

Lewisburg Mayor Jim Bingham called appointment the "historic."

"I think he's capable and will do a good job," said Bingham. "For me, the number one priority is fiscal responsibility and he shares that priority."

A decision on filling Haislip's council seat will have to be made, probably through the scheduling of a special election. With two of the five members of council already appointed, the city's charter does not allow for another appointment, requiring at least three members to be elected.

Full Saturday of festivities to welcome December

By Scott Pearson

With Thanksgiving past and the leftovers disappearing, Marshall County is officially ready to launch the Christmas season.

Saturday sees not one, but two, big events to kick off the run-in to Christmas.

Cornersville is hosting Main Street Christmas on Saturday, beginning at noon and running un-

The brand new event, held in the Town Park, has kept growing throughout the planning process to include a huge variety of offerings, with vendors, live music, and all sorts of holiday themed activities. Admission for the festival is free, including visits with Santa from noon until 4:45 p.m., a live Nativity at 3 and 4:15 p.m., artificial snow, and free hot chocolate included.

The town Christmas tree will be lit at 5 p.m., followed by community caroling.

With a $10 wristband, children can share milk, cookies, and a story with Mrs. Claus, ride the kiddie train, decorate cookies, or create a Christmas Individual tickets for these events are available for $3.

For separate fees, there will be carriage rides, face painting, concessions. souvenir ornaments, balloon animals, and more on offer.

With so much for the whole family, Main Street Christmas is putting the "fest" in festive to start December.

own headlining events. The Lewisburg Rotary Club Christmas parade starts rolling at 2 p.m., followed by the lighting of the city's Christmas tree on the square at 5 p.m. The theme for this year is "Christmas Stories," with entries decorated following favorite Christmas movies or books. Always one of the more entertaining parades on the county's schedule, the weather looks to cooperate for a good time this year. The Marshall County High School Chorus will be performing at the city tree lighting, and the names of those remembered on this year's tree will be read off as is traditional.

The Lewisburg Christmas tree will be lit on Saturday at 5 p.m. following the annual Lewisburg Rotary Christmas parade which begins at 2 p.m. Also on Saturday, beginning at noon, is Cornersville's Main Street Christmas festival which offers a jam-packed slate of music and activities for the family to kick off the Christmas season.

Study Club discusses rural renaissance

On Saturday, November 13, the members of the Lewisburg Study Club enjoyed a morning of friendship, food, and fascinating conversation in the First Presbyterian Church Parlor.

After President Trish Hill called the meeting to order, Suzie Comstock, a hostess for the December meeting, reminded members to send her a copy of their favorite Christmas recipe to be included in a study club recipe book.

Sherry Adams shared a note from Jim Hudgins. His wife and devoted study club member Beth Hudgins passed away earlier this year. His note invited study club members to visit the cemetery, view her tombstone, and share their memories of Beth.

Preceding the program, the hostesses served a brunch of salmon loaf, pound cake, cheese and crackers, various fruits, biscuits and gravy, coffee and hot apple cider all served on a beautiful table decorated in fall colors. Continuing the theme "Stories of Heritage", the program for November was entitled "Rural Renaissance." Presenters had gathered information from difference sources to explore how people from all walks of life are finding ways to connect or reconnect with our rural heritage. Brenda Brown began with a presentation on the Century Farm Program in Tennessee which was started as part of the Tennessee Bicentennial Celebration. Currently, Marshall County has twenty-seven certified Century Farms.

Categories of Century Farms include Pioneer Farms (farms established before 1796 – the year Tennessee gained statehood), farms on the National Register, farms that are part of the Land Trust, farms founded by African Americans, and farms founded by women. The oldest Century Farm in Marshall County is the Ruth-E Farm, currently owned by Joe P. Moss, Sr. Mr. Moss is a descendant of David Wilson who established the farm in 1783. The farm was part of a land grant he received for service in the Revolutionary War and has passed through seven generations.

Elaine Davidson continued the program by sharing the introduction to "Gaining Ground: A Story of Farmers' Markets, Local Food, and Saving the Family Farm" by Forrest Pritcherd. A college graduate, the author returned home to his family farm to find crumbling fences, falling buildings, and debt. Realizing that the farm was facing a land sale and possible development, he made a choice to find a way to save his heritage by saving the farm. He was convinced that with hard work and better management, he could turn the farm around. In the introduction, he shares his memory of his grandmother who was famous in the community for her pound cakes which she sold every Sunday morning after church in the parking lot. A survivor of the Great Depression, Pritchard's grandmother taught him lessons in growing, cooking, and preserving food – lessons that he put to good use in his quest to save his family farm by growing and Retirees are drawn to rural areas because the "country' tends to be safer. Research also indicates that Covid has accelerated the move to rural areas. This information generated multiple comments and lively conversation from the entire group. Their ideas were filled with both concern for the changes in our local communities but also positivity for the growth we are experiencing in Marshall County.

Davidson Elaine closed the presentation with a game she called "Hold On, Hold On - Say What?" Modeled after the NPR games of "Sez You" and ""Wait, Wait, Don't Tell Me," Elaine asked three readers to share outlandish stories about farming - only one of which was true. How about a newspaper subscription for Christmas?

By Danny Tyree

My access to news narrowed dramatically when I was 10 years old.

My mother's boss passed away, so I no longer got to pe-

And, despite my protestations about prying the funnies from my cold, ink-stained fingers, family budget cuts meant my father could no longer splurge on the EVENING paper.

I still had the local gossip grapevine, radio newscasts and TV anchor David Brinkley; but cutting back to just the Sunday edition of print journalism left a vexing information void during the Nixon/Apollo/counterculture

And, oh, the taunting from the family dog! ("Look what I did on the carpet! Good luck rolling up that console TV!")

By the fact that you're encountering this column, I know I'm preaching to the choir; but I feel compelled to double down on reminding you that a newspaper subscription makes a thoughtful Christmas gift. Perhaps there are shut-ins on your friends list who have begrudgingly dropped their newspaper because of the proverbial "fixed income." You could reopen their window on the world. (They could then YELL out the window the more nuanced "You kids get off my lawn – or I'll have to call the landscaper who advertised in the classifieds!")

On the other end of the age scale, there's no need to talk down to teens and preteens. A newspaper will help them prepare for their civics class, learn more about the town's entertainment venues and discover how people other than social media influencers live. Give them the gift of KNOWLEDGE. (Granted. you don't have to share the knowledge that you ALMOST blew a bundle on naming a fragment of space junk after them.)

A newspaper can be a college student's comforting tether to their old stomping grounds. It can be a way for a newlywed couple to put down roots and become a contributing part of the community. I know. I know. Many people in their 20s and 30s dismiss traditional newspapers as a quaint relic, but a positive attitude can make the gift a welcome surprise. Vinyl records are becoming "hip" again, so why not get ahead of the curve with the appreciation for the coolness of newspapers? (No charger needed! No searching for free

Even if not every hometown story is life-changing for young couples, they can bond by making fun of standard headlines such as "Zoning board recognizes local merchant." Just say no to unaffordable spending

By Tom Purcell

I wish I had a change of heart, but I still can't

Back in 2009, long before I got my beloved 11-month-old puppy, Thurber, I was critical of a proposed federal bill that sought tax deductions According to the Washington Times, Robert Davi, a tough-guy Hollywood actor, and then Rep. Thaddeus McCotter, R-Mich., attempted something back then that tough guys and conservative Republicans don't They collaborated to get a bill - the Humanity and Pets Partnered Through the Years (HAPPY) Act to the floor of the U.S. House that sought a $3,500 annual tax deduction for pet expenses.

To be sure, pet care has gotten expensive.

People magazine reports that the average pet owner spends $4,500 per year just to meet their pet's basic needs. That doesn't cover many unexpected costs, such as the two pairs of prescription glasses, two pairs of leather shoes and two very nice wool rugs Thurber chewed up (he exploded the blue ink in a pen on one rug and just ate a hole in the other).

He's gotten much better behaved as the months have gone by, but I am in constant risk of the "Labrosecond," challenge, the time it takes for whatever I accidentally drop to end up in his jaws.

I'm in the process of purchasing health insurance for Thurber — yes, you read that right. Pet owners like me are getting it for good reason.

Labs have been known to eat entire socks, which require surgical removal, which costs upwards of

In 2009 Davi argued that since pets are good for us — they bring down our blood pressure and lift our spirits — a tax deduction for their care would be good for everyone.

He argued that the deduction would be good for the economy because people would spend more on their pets and fewer people would have to give their pets to animal shelters during recessions.

I argued in 2009 that our federal tax code is an incredible mess precisely because well-intentioned people like Davi have been getting special breaks added in by congress members.

Our emotions, skillfully exploited by politicians, have brought us all kinds of government social programs that have bloated the budget and exploded the deficit.

I argued a dozen years ago that we had to get our spending and debt back in order, but since then our reckless government — both Republicans and Democrats — has more than doubled our debt from $12 trillion to just under $29 trillion. Now that pet ownership has soared during the though, as Forbes reports, some tax deductions are available to some pet owners, such as those who have emotional support animals or earn income from pets with names like Lassie. But as much as I'd love to have a sweet $3,500

Arbery case: Three men who decided to play God

By Christine Flowers

Ahmaud Arbery is not here, but he heard the verdicts. He knows, in that place where his restless soul resides, that his death has been avenged.

An overwhelming white jury in Georgia found that three white men had stalked a Black man for no legitimate reason, gunned him down and then tried to justify their actions under the argument of "enforcing the law." That is weighty, that is substantial, and that matters.

Others will tie this to race, and only the most jaded or ignorant would deny that if Ahmaud were white, he would likely still be alive. The 9-1-1 tape caught one of his killers saying that the problem they had was a "Black man" running around the neighborhood. Hannah Arendt wrote about the banality of evil, and that comment is a reflection of exactly that principle: the color of Ahmaud's skin was the "problem" for men who could only see him as a threat. His existence, his being, was the "evil" they perceived, and there was nothing that the victim could have done to avoid the death sentence his killers marked him for.

is the fact that a man who did nothing wrong was targeted for extermination because three narcissists decided their right to play lawman was more important than his right to life.

These pathetic, overweight, inarticulate Marshall Dillon wannabes arrogated to themselves

Beyond the issue of race, there the privilege of omniscience. They decided that their ability to figure out what was criminal or legal, what was normal or an aberration, what was acceptable or beyond the pale, was absolute. And they used their guns to underline that point. The fact that the jury spent less than a day deliberating shows how little daylight there was between a just verdict and reasonable doubt. There was no doubt that Travis McMichael stalked Arbery, and that race was at least part of the reason. There was no doubt that the other two men, including his father, were so assured of their infallibility and secure in their privilege that they filmed themselves killing a man, thinking the video evidence would be seen as justification for their rogue actions. They probably even expected to be praised for their bravery and initiative once the video was made public and shared on social media. They might even have thought they'd be heralded as heroes on national television. Well, that video was shared, and they did make it into the national spotlight. The thing is, they never expected to be on the wrong end of a jury, a judge, a prosecutor and public opinion. And that is part of the tragedy.

What is so clear to me and to millions of Americans appears to have been beyond the comprehension of Ahmaud's killers. And the fact that they could grow up and function in that echo chamber of justification, that they could even try and fight the charges against them as if they were entitled to take this man's life as opposed to seeking a plea (which might not have been forthcoming, truth be told) is evidence that there is something deeply broken in our

But in a moment of grace on the day before Thanksgiving, we saw that even the broken edges of society can be smoothed down with the application of justice. The verdicts of "guilty" on so many of the most serious charges in this case are a message that carries beyond that Georgia courtroom. They are a sign that juries usually get it right, even though we accuse them of being biased because of a racial, class or gender imbalance. And when you take this in conjunction with the verdict handed down in Kyle Rittenhouse, you also see how juries can withstand even the most oppressive intimidation from the media and nihilistic dissidents in society, and come to the right conclusion.

We all mourn the death of Ahmaud Arbery. But with these verdicts, we have found a way to have faith in the system of justice. Refuse to let the pundits who get paid spin partisan fables and fairy tales. Refuse to let them convince you that this verdict wasn't powerful, and that it wasn't enough. It was, and it will continue to be, just as the Rittenhouse verdict with which it will always be twinned will be a tribute to the virtue of 12 men and women, endowed with the superpowers of the

"When I shall send Artemas unto thee, or Tychicus, be diligent to come unto me to Nicopolis: for I have determined there to winter. Bring Zenas the lawyer and Apollos on their journey diligently, that nothing be wanting unto them...All that are with me salute thee. Greet them that love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen." - Titus 3:12,13,15

Regardless of what the skeptics say, the Bible is a very unique collection of books that is very detailed and practical. These passages of scriptures at the end of Titus are one of many examples. We read where Paul decided to winter at a city called Nicopolis and so he was planning on sending a replacement for Titus so that Titus could come and help him in the ministry. What do we learn from all of these strange names that Paul mentions? We learn about the deep importance of relationships.

In this letter to Titus we obviously see that Paul had a personal relationship with Titus, as well as other fellow believers named Artemas, Tychicus, Zenas, and Apollos. that tells us that Paul knew them in a relational way as well. Otherwise he would not have mentioned them in his writing. The reason Paul had confidence in these believers to help in the ministry of the gospel was because he knew them personally. Relationships and interaction among one another are vital for the existence of society.

There was a rather crude experiment that was carried out in the thirteenth century by Emperor Frederick, who ruled the Roman Empire. He was very curious as to know what was the original language of humanity. He wondered if it was originally Hebrew, Greek, or Latin? So he decided to isolate a few infants from the sound of any human voice. He reasoned that they would eventually speak the natural tongue of humanity if not coerced. So nurses were found who cared for the infants but each one was sworn to absolute silence, and so they abided by that rule. Those infants never heard a word - not a sound from a human voice. Within several months every one of those infants were dead.

Relationships

Obviously, God created us to be relational in order to survive this world, and this is especially true for the Church of the Living God. We never read or see any example in the Bible of "Lone Wolf" Christians. Understand that the Christian Church is a body of believers who come together regularly to encourage and pray for one another. It is hard to be vulnerable and open with people, but within the body of Christ we are to show grace, compassion, and kindness regardless of our background, regardless of what we have done, and regardless what has been done to us.

So during this holiday season I challenge us all to seek out new relationships. There are many hurting and lonely people just waiting to hear a good word about God's love and grace for them in Christ.

Marshall County FCE Fall Fling Meeting

by Deborah Foster

The Marshall County FCE met for their annual Fall Fling Meeting October 12. Members from the Lewisburg FCE and the Ostella FCE attended in person and members from the Forever Young FCE participated by way of zoom from Oakwood Healthcare. Emily Gordon presented the program on Women Suffrage. This program was originally planned for 2020 but had to be postponed because of COVID. 2020 was the 100th anniversary of the Tennessee General Assembly providing the final approval necessary to give women the right to vote. Tennessee was the 36th state to ratify the 19th amendment in August 1920. Emily, dressed in period costume, related stories about the Tennessee women involved in the suffrage campaign. Yellow roses were worn as a symbol of support for the 19th amendment. In observation of this, all those attending the Fall Fling meeting wore yellow rose corsages. The Lewisburg Club planted a yellow rose at the Marshall County Library to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the ratification of the amendment.

As a result of Emily presenting her program to various county organizations, she was nominated for and awarded the 2021 NAFCE Spirit of FCL Award at the TAFCE State Conference November 16.

Collins awarded scholarship

At the Wilson County Fair-Tennessee State Fair Volunteer Appreciation Dinner this fall, Mason Nipper Collins of Lewisburg was recognized as a recipient of the 2021 Hale Moss Livestock Scholarship. He was awarded a $1,000 scholarship as well as a framed "Wilson County Hero" - Twelfth Annual Wilson County Fair Collector's Edition Print. In recognition of the scholarship, Mason had to participate in a livestock event at the 2021 fair as well as submit an essay entitled "How has your involvement in livestock impacted your life?"

The scholarship committee goal in 2011 was to establish and present a $1,000 scholarship to a young man or woman who has been an active participant in the Wilson County Fair in Lebanon, Tennessee. The fair hosts one of the largest livestock shows in the state and have some extremely talented young people who have dedicated many hours to raising, breeding, and showing off their beautiful animals. Through the generous donations the committee has been able to assist young adults for the past ten years who have decided to continue their education and fulfill their dreams.

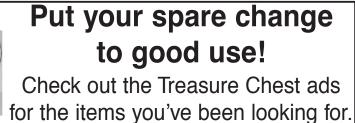

In the Junior Hereford Show at this year's fair, Mason exhibited four Division Champions, Overall Reserve Champion Bull, Overall Reserve Champion Female, and Overall Bred by Exhibitor Female Champion. Mason exhibited the Intermediate Champion Hereford Bull and was recognized as Premier Breeder in the Open Hereford Show.

He currently serves as the President of the Tennessee Junior Hereford Association. Mason is currently a freshman at the University of Tennessee -Knoxville, majoring in food and agricultural business. He is a member of the Food and Ag Business Club and UTK Block & Bridle

Rumley ices Eagles for first win of the season

Andrew Timmons (30) drives through the entire Eagleville defense on his way to a layup and two of his team-high 13 points in the contest.

By Anthony S. Puca Sports Writer

When Forrest plays nearby Eagleville in a rivalry that goes back many decades, crazy stuff always seems to happen and that was the case Tuesday night at Chapel Hill with the Rockets coming away with a gut-wrenching 49-48 win.

"We are hungry and we are not done," Firstyear Forrest coach Shane Chapman said. "Eagleville is a good ballclub, this game is extra special, one you circle on your calendar because of all the good memories and all the good people from over there where I come from, but we are hoping to turn things around here and need all the help and support we can get." Josh Rumley was the Rockets' hero as the junior came up with a huge offensive rebound with just seconds to go in the game and on an unsuccessful put-back attempt, Rumley was fouled.

With the fans loudly cheering on both sides of the gym, Rumley stepped up to the charity stripe and spun out his first free throw attempt before draining the gamewinner with 0.3 seconds left in the game.

The win was the first for Forrest (1-2) on the season and broke an eight-game losing streak to the Eagles (1-4), dating back to 2014 when the Rockets won 44-39 at Chapel Hill on Febru-

It was a back-andforth contest the entire game with the Eagles leading at the end of the first and third quarters while the Rockets held a two-point lead at the

The Eagles still led by two points midway through the second quarter at 21-19 after a Keydon Bassham 3-pointer before the Rockets began to surge.

Bray McCown came up with a three-point play the old-fashioned to put Forrest in front by one point and Ben Villazon scored on back-to-back possessions to make it a 27-21 contest.

The Eagles came back with a 9-2 run to retake the lead at 30-29 before Forrest senior Deason Jones buried a buzzerbeating 3-pointer to put the Rockets up by two points at the half.

It was a low scoring third period as the Eagles scored nine points and the held the Rockets to six points to take a one-point, 39-38 lead to the fourth quarter.

Forrest senior Andrew Timmons, who led the Rockets in the scoring column with 13 points hit one free throw to start the final period, tying the game at 39 and after an Eagleville turnover, Brennan Mealer drained a long bomb from the corner.

Timmons drove through the Eagleville defense again and made another free throw before the Eagles missed the front end of a oneand-one opportunity from the free throw.

Chapman called timeout and after the stoppage, Hunter Bennett came up with a nice assist to Rumley for a 45-39 Forrest lead with five minutes to go in the contest.

The Eagles dug in again, going on 6-0 run, tying the game at 49 on two CJ Goers free throws with 2:29 remaining in the contest.

Jones answered in a big way, throwing down a rainbow 3-pointer to make it 48-45.

The Rockets had two opportunities to put the game away but let the Eagles hang around and it cost them when Jordan Reed knocked down a game-tying 3-pointer from Highway 99 with 20.8 seconds to go.

After a Forrest timeout, the Rockets held the ball until a last second shot bounced off the rim and Rumley was there for the rebound.

It was make or go to overtime as Rumley stepped up with the pressure cooker turned up on extra high after the first charity shot spun out, but it was win time for Chapel Hill as Rumley hit nothing but net on the second shot.

"It was just a free throw," a smiling Rumley said after the game. "It was like every day at practice."

The only way to score with 0.3 seconds left is a tip at the rim and the Eagles could not get a shot off as the game ended with Forrest securing the win.

"We came back from break and we were focused," Timmons said. "We were ready to play tonight, we wanted to get in the win column, so we just have to stay focused and play like we did today and not slow down.' The Rockets travel to Moore County (1-5) on Friday and host Sycamore (0-3) on Saturday.

Eagleville cruises past Lady Rockets

By Anthony S. Puca

It must have been some rust or maybe too much turkey for the Lady Rockets, who came out slow after the Thanksgiving break and suffered their first loss of the season.

Forrest hosted the Eagleville Lady Eagles in an always heated rivalry game at Chapel Hill where the Lady Rockets fell behind early and never were able to catch up in the 51-36 setback.

the credit in the world, they kind of punched us in the mouth to start the game," Forrest coach Hal Murrell said. "We knew their backcourt was very dynamic and that's what makes them go and we had hoped that would could have closed some gaps and keep those girls from dribble penetrating and opening up some drives "Give Eagleville all and kicks and we didn't do that."

Eagleville scored first and then went coastto-coast behind a big 20-point first quarter and a 13-point lead.

The Lady Eagles only had five players in the scoring column, but four of them tallied double digit points with Isabella Sawyer leading all scorers in the contest with 14 points.

Brinli Bain had 13 points while Alex Klaren netted 11 and Eliza McClaran added 10 points.

Shelby Mooneyham had one 3-pointer for the Lady Eagles, who improved to 3-1 on the season.

Forrest (2-1) also had five players score with freshman Kinslee Inlow leading the way with 12 points, including three 3-pointers.

Macyn Kirby (3-pointer) and Megan Mealer (two 3-pointers) had nine points apiece and Candace Chapman banged in six points in the low post.

Forrest scored seven points in each of the first three quarters to trail 44-21, entering the fourth period. They finally found some rhythm in the final period as Chap-fore Mealer went downtown once and scored on a drive to the hoop on back-to-back possessions.

Forrest also played tougher defense and held Eagleville to seven points in the final period while scoring 15 points, including a pair of 3-pointers by Mealer and one long bomb by Kirby.

County Lady Raiders

The Lady Rockets make the trip to Lynchburg Friday night to take on the Moore

(4-2) in another longtime rivalry contest before hosting Sycamore (3-1) on Saturday night at Chapel Hill.

"The beauty of all that is it's still November and we will get to see them again in a week and half," Murrell said. "We are running through a stretch here where we had Eagleville....a very athletic team, a Moore County team on Friday that are extremely talented, a Sycamore team on Saturday that was 3-0 going in to tonight and then we have an athletic Giles County team, plus throw in Huntland, so we are in a stretch right now that will go a long way to us being a good team in February."

Eagleville (51): Isabella Sawyer 14, Brinli Bain 13, Alex Klaren 11, Eliza McClaran 10, Shelby Mooneyham 3.
Three-point goals (7): Bain 2, Sawyer 2, McClaran 2, Mooneyham. Free Throws (10-for-13): Sawyer 4-for-6, Klaren 3-for-4, McClaran 2-for-2, Bain 1-for-1 ver go deer hunting? You get to ✓spend a lot of time in thought.

While Thanksgiving means travel, family and turkey for most folks, for me, it's getting to spend some time in the woods with my family—something I don't take lightly. The thing about deer hunting, you get to spend a lot of time in thought waiting for that perfect buck to poke his head out. There's an inherent responsibility that comes with hunting, too. The ability to take a life and allow others to live, it's definitely something that's not for everyone. That being said, it's something I thoroughly

Every year, with the exception of 2020, I go to West Virginia and take part in one of the biggest outdoors events in the state that happens every year. No joke, opening day of buck season is almost like Christmas morning. This season, I got to spend the week hunting with my dad, my sister, uncle, step-uncle and grandpa.

For years, a week of hunting has been a completely family affair.

While most of the day is spent alone in vour stand, there's still a large family aspect to it that means the absolute world to me.

About six years ago, I had one of the best days I've ever had in the

But at last minute, I decided to spend one last day in the woods.

It was almost eerie heading to my stand, as I didn't hear anything. No birds, no turkeys in the distance, no coyotes howling, nothing.

And I was treated to one of the most spectacular sunrises I've ever seen.

About 30 minutes after daybreak, up to my stand walked a 10-point buck, and I finally had my trophy deer.

As I said, it has been about six years since I've seen a "big" deer.

One of the other things about deer hunting is the camaraderie and hearing stories from years ago from my dad, uncle and grandpa. The 2015 10-point was basically my only claim to a good deer story, until this year.

After making the nearly 10-hour trek to West Virginia, my first day began like most others—a big cup of coffee to keep warm and a big breakfast to get me through the day.

Our first day was brutally cold and where my stand sits, which is on a ridge on a very exposed point, there's not a ton of cover. It can get chilly in a hurry.

But that first day, I just couldn't describe it—I just knew something special was going to happen. I began the day being dropped off a short walk from my stand and I didn't have to wait long for the action to start.

Shortly after watching a gorgeous West Virginia sunrise, I heard something rustling in the brush behind me.

Quickly adjusting my movement from my stand, I turned to see a buck had snuck in behind me.

At a quick glance, he looked to be a little smaller than some of the big ones we had

So I sat back, watched him in my binoculars, and watched him disappear over the ridge.

About an hour alter, in the hollow down below my stand, I heard something moving fast. I grabbed my rifle and laid it across my lap and up to the flat in front of my stand popped a big deer.

I didn't have time to count the points, as he was quickly on the move.

On his second jump, I pulled up my rifle and fired all in one fell-

I guess I'm just thankful I have a heck of a story to tell now,

Tigers edge short-handed Cornersville in tri-match

By Chris Siers sports@t-g.com

LEWISBURG — In a tri-match hosted by Marshall County High School, the Tigers were able to defeat crosscounty rival Cornersville, 36-24, but suffered a 42-6 defeat at the hands of Spring Hill.

With Cornersville having a limited roster that featured just four wrestlers, the Bulldogs were able to pick up a handful of wins against Spring Hill to get the tri-match started.

Cason Warner pinned his opponent from Spring Hill just 51 seconds into the match for the first Cornersville victory.

Joshua Bennett followed with a win at the 106-pound weight class when he pinned Payton Miller with 6.5 seconds left in the second round.

The Bulldogs suffered their first loss of the night when Jonathan Zuniga dropped a 10-3 decision to his Raider opponent.

Eli Alexander got the home team started on a high note, pinning James Hughes 17 seconds into the first period to give the Tigers a win at the 220-pound weight class.

But after Alexander's win, the Raiders rattled off seven-straight wins via pin to run away with the 42-6 victory. The final head-to-

Michigan up to 2nd in CFP poll

AP College Football Writer

DALLAS — Michigan moved up to No. 2 Tuesday night in the secondto-last College Football Playoff rankings, joining Georgia, Alabama and Cincinnati in the top four heading into conference championship weekend.

Oklahoma State is fifth going into the Big 12 championship game Saturday against No. 9 Baylor, and Notre Dame is sixth with no games left and no head coach.

Brian Kelly left the Fighting Irish and was introduced as the new coach at LSU on Tuesday, three days after independent Notre Dame finished its season 11-1.

Selection committee chairman Gary Barta, who is Iowa's athletic director, noted selection protocol requires the committee to consider the unavailability of players and coaches and how that could affect a team's performance in the postseason.

Losing Kelly had no impact on this week's ranking for Notre Dame because the committee does not project ahead into the postseason until all games are fin-

"And each of the 13 members can weigh that the way they want to weigh it, compared to head-to-head competition and common opponents and all the other things we evaluate," Barta said.

Georgia was first, as it has been for every selection committee ranking so far, and Michigan climbed to No. 2 after it beat last week's No. 2, Ohio State. The Wolverines play 13th-ranked Iowa in the Big Ten title

Alabama will be third going into the Southeastern Conference championship game with Georgia, and Cincinnati is fourth heading into its American Athletic Conference championship against Houston, which is 21st in the committee's rankings.

The playoff field will be set Sunday. The top four teams will play in the Orange and Cotton bowls on Dec. 31. The College Football Playoff national championship game is scheduled for Jan. 10 in Indianapolis.

The penultimate rankings come the day before the conference commissioners who manage the playoff meet in Dallas for a pivotal gathering.

The management committee — comprised of the commissioners of the 10 FBS conferences and Notre Dame's athletic director — has a self-imposed deadline to agree on how to expand the playoff.

The commissioners have been debating whether to triple the playoff field to 12 teams. For a new model to be in place by the 2024 season, a format would have to be approved by the CFP oversight committee of university presidents and chancellors by mid-January.

If the management committee cannot come to a consensus on the the size of the field at this meeting, it is likely that the soonest expansion could happen would be the 2026 season, after the current television rights contract with ESPN expires.

CFP Executive Director Bill Hancock has said multiple times a plan needs to be agreed upon and approved by January for early expansion to be feasible. For now, though, the

Bulldogs hold off Rockets

By Dennis Holley Sports Writer

The Cornersville Bulldogs hosted the Rockets of Forrest High School in the night cap of last Monday night's doubleheader in front of a full house.

The Bulldogs built a 20-point lead going into the fourth quarter then saw it melt away in a valiant effort by the Rockets, but timely free-throw shooting in the fading moments helped Cornersville survive for the first 3-0 start in the regular season in many-a-moon and a 61-60 The Bulldogs led in scoring by Eli Welch with eleven points, Mason Calahan with eleven points and point guard Gage Lovell with 10 points looked impressive for the first three quarters then a technical foul on Welch at the 6:18 mark sent him to the bench for the rest of the game and the Cornersville lead unraveled amiss a flurry of forced errors and timely shooting by the Rockets.

"We gave them life, and they (Forrest) took it. We lost everything we had going, and it took everything we had to hold on," Coach Peyton Newton said, Deason Jones' 19 points led Forrest, but the Rockets fell to 0-2 in the young season with both losses coming at the hands of the Bulldogs.

Cornersville responded with back-to-back pointers from Lovell, Calahan and Bryce Woodard for a 9-2 lead for the Bulldogs.

Forrest fought back with two baskets from Josh Bumley, then Brennen Mealer added two points and Jones scored the first two of his 19 points, but Cornersville got the last four points of the opening quarter on a put-back by Kaden Allen and a nifty inside move for a layup by Calahan that brought the Cornersville faithful to their feet as the Bulldogs led after one quarter 16-12.

The second quarter saw the Bulldogs with Welch, Allen, and Ben Franklin stretching their muscle on defense and baskets by Wallace Francis, Calahan, Lovell and Welch along with free throws from Andrew Santini and Khi Canty. Forrest could only muster nine points for the quarter with Jones contributing four points, a three pointer from Preston Gentry and a bucket by Taytom Swift and as a result the Rockets trailed by nine points at halftime, 30-21. Forrest again could only score

Lady Rockets down Cornersville Lady Bulldogs after strong 1st half

By Dennis Holley Sports Writer

The Forrest Lady Rockets looking to maintain their unbeaten record traveled down Highway 31A to take on the Cornersville Lady Bulldogs last Monday night in front of a noisy and almost capacity crowd.

The Lady Rockets used a strong first half to subdue a young and confidence gaining Lady Bulldog squad for the second time in less than a week by a 52-39 score.

Alicia Polk led the Lady Bulldogs with 11 points and Grayson Riner added eight points.

"We played better than we did last week against them, we cut our turnovers from 22 to eight and we never gave up. The second quarter was a big difference because we only scored five points to their (Forrest's) 14. They hit their three's. I like what they (Forrest) do, throw the ball down inside then kick it out for the three-pointer," Coach Hayden McMahon said.

Forrest had three Lady Rockets with double figures scoring: Megan Mealer with 15, Macyn Kirby with 15 and Kenslee Enlow with 11 points.

The tip-off went to Cornersville as Riner tipped the ball to Polk and the Lady Bulldogs promptly turned the ball over and Forrest began their initial

The Lady Rockets proceeded to do the same and the Lady Bulldogs took advantage as Anna Wood buried a 3-pointer from the left side to put Cornersville on the board first, 3-0.

Things heated up quickly from here as Polk drilled a 3-pointer for the Lady 'Dawgs.

Enlow for the Lady Rockets, with a smooth and nifty move inside dropped in a layup, Riner then for Cornersville with a soft and delicate jumper in close moved the Cornersville lead to Kirby with another three-pointer tied the score and Riner for Cornersville dropped in another bucket to push the Lady 'Dawgs back in front, 10-8.

Mealer then bombed two consecutive three-pointers to push Forrest out in front 14-10. Cornersville's Polk with a jumper as time wound down in the first quarter closed the Lady Bulldogs to within two points,

The second quarter saw Forrest continue to apply pressure on defense and to put points on the board with Enlow, showing the maturity of this young freshman, was fouled on a threepoint attempt and with the home crowd doing there best to distract her, walked to the line, and drilled three free throws to push the lead to 21-12.

Ady Gentry for Cornersville sank two free throws and Polk added a basket but picked up her third foul in the process, to make the score 21-16.

Hanna Moore added a freethrow for Cornersville but Forrest's Enlow then sank a three and Kirby nailed a jumper as the second quarter ended and Forrest led, 26-17.

The third quarter saw Cornersville staying close but unable to cut the margin as Mealer, Kirby and Enlow were slowed but Addison Bunty with four points and Ryann Lewis with five points picked up the slack. The Lady 'Dawgs with Polk in foul trouble held on with Riner scoring two baskets as she banked shots off the backboard inside, Jaylin Childress drained a 3-pointer and Annabelle Mulliniks sank a basket, but Forrest had extended their lead to 13 points, 41-28, by the end of the third quarter.

The fourth quarter saw Forrest keeping the young Lady Dawgs at bay.

Wood for Cornersville sank her second three-pointer and Ady Gentry sank two baskets.

Forrest's lead at 13 points secured Coach Hal Murrell's squad the win but Cornersville's would not go away as Coach Hayden McMahon's Lady 'Dawgs cut the margin of victory of the Lady Rockets from 23 points in the first game to 13 in the second and Cornersville did not melt and go away in the second half as in past seasons. Polk, Childress, Riner, Wood, Mulliniks, Powers, Gentry and Moore are young, learning and never give up and that bodes well for the Lady Bulldogs.

Point guard Jayli Childress summed up after the game, "I think we played better tonight and showed more patience on offense, plus we never gave up."

Riley gets first look at USC as Trojans try to keep focus

By Dan Greenspan

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Southern California is playing for two coaches this week.

There is Lincoln Riley, the splashy new hire tasked with restoring the Trojans atop their historic perch at the pinnacle of West Coast college football, and Donte Williams, the interim coach asked to shepherd this year's team through a lost season after the September firing of Clay Helton. Williams' stint will come to an end on the road against California on Saturday night.

While USC players insist they are focused on the game and ending a dire campaign with a win and good feelings, it was hard not to wonder if a spirited Tuesday practice was the result of having Riley and members of his 2022 coaching staff in attendance. "I think the guys know what's at stake," sophomore wide receiver Gary Bryant Jr. said. "Obviously going into this week, I think that they know there's a change in the future, but everybody's locked into now. Like I said earlier, everybody's focused on Cal, what we can do now."

USC (4-7) cannot qualify for a bowl after a last-minute loss to No. 12 BYU on Saturday, but Riley will still get a chance to evaluate the roster he is inheriting in meetings, practices, and live competition because of a COVID-19 outbreak among the Golden Bears that forced that game to be postponed from Nov. 13 to this week, one day after the Pac-12 champion is decided in Las Vegas.

Riley watched practice alongside incoming defensive coordinator Alex Grinch, wide receivers coach Dennis Simmons and strength coach Bennie Wylie. They got a look at everyone from freshman quarterback Jaxson Dart to redshirt senior defensive lineman Nick Figueroa, who is eligible to play next season and has said he plans to return.

LSU, Kelly agree to 10-year deal

By Brett Martel

AP Sports Writer

LSU flew newly hired coach Brian Kelly on a private jet to Baton Rouge, where he was greeted Tuesday by fans, dignitaries and the Golden Band from Tigerland after agreeing to a 10-year contract worth $95 million plus incentives.

The hiring of Kelly — who has Notre Dame for the past 12 seasons and eclipsed Knute Rockne for career victories with the storied Fighting Irish — came together on Monday night in yet another blockbuster coaching move in college football.

LSU made it official on Tuesday morning.

"Brian Kelly is the epitome of a winner," LSU athletic director Scott Woodward said. "He has built and sustained success at every program he's led, from multiple undefeated regular seasons and National Coach of the Year honors to (Division II) national titles and College Football Playoff berths. His credentials and consistency speak for themselves."

Kelly replaces Ed Orgeron, a Louisiana native who won a national title at LSU just two seasons ago with Heisman Trophy winning quarterback Joe Burrow leading the Tigers to a 15-0 record. Orgaron has gone 11-11 since and agreed in October to a $17 million buyout that would have him step down at the end of this Orgeron coached his final game last Saturday, when the Tigers upset then-No. 14 Texas A&M to finish the regular season 6-6.

Like Orgeron, Kelly is 60 but the similarities more or less end there. Orgeron is a Cajun raised in the shadow of shrimp trawlers on the Bayou Lafourche southwest of New Orleans. He was raised on LSU football and idolized the Tigers stars of the past.

Kelly came from an Irish-Catholic family in the Boston area and is bound to be far more familiar with using nut crackers to pick the meat our of a lobster claw than with sucking seasoned juices from the heads of boiled crawfish. But he has recruited in Louisiana, where LSU gets much of its elite home-grown talent. In recent history, Louisiana has produced as much NFL talent per capita as any

"I could not be more excited to join a program with the commitment to excellence, rich traditions, and unrivaled pride and passion of LSU football," Kelly said. "I am fully committed to recruiting, developing, and graduating elite student-athletes, winning championships, and working together with our administration to make Louisiana proud.

"Our potential is unlimited," Kelly added. "I cannot wait to call Baton Rouge home."

Kelly was accompanied by Woodward on his chartered flight to Baton Rouge. As he walked out of the plane and onto the tarmac, he waved and gave a thumbs-up to cheering fans while the LSU marching band played. Kelly's introductory media conference was scheduled for Wednesday.

Kelly was 113-40 as a head coach at Notre Dame, including a current run of five straight double-digit victory seasons. His overall coaching record is 166-62 over 18 seasons in major college foot-

No previous Notre Dame coach has left the Irish, winners of eight AP national championships, to take a job at another school since the AP poll started in 1936. Rockne's successor, Hunk Anderson, went from Notre Dame to North Carolina State after going 3-5-1 in 1933.

Notre Dame (11-1) remains in contention to reach the College Football Playoff for the third time in the last four LSU paid Orgeron nearly $9 million this season, making him among the highest paid coaches in college football along with Alabama's Nick Saban, Clemson's Dabo Swinney, Texas A&M's Jimbo Fisher and, in the past month, Mel Tucker of Michigan State and James Franklin at Penn State. That list certainly now includes USC's Lincoln Riley, who bolted Oklahoma over the weekend in the other big coaching move this week.

Orgeron was due to make an average of $7 million over the length of his six-year that ran through 2025. Kelly's full salary at Notre Dame, a private school, was unknown but it was believed to be more than $5 million per year.

While Kelly has no personal ties to the South, neither did two of the past three national-title winning coaches at LSU. Les Miles, who won a title in the 2007 season, was a Michigan man who coached at Oklahoma State before replacing Saban in Baton Rouge. Saban, who won the BCS championship in the 2003 season, is a West Virginia native who came to LSU from Michigan State.

Kelly's national titles have come at Division II Grand Valley State. He worked his way up from there to Central Michigan and then to Cincinnati, always winning more than the coaches who preceded him.

He did the same thing at Notre Dame, but the national championship has eluded him. As good as the Fighting Irish have been, they have not won it all since 1988 and have been outclassed in two College Football Playoff semifinals (in the 2018 season against Clemson and two years later against Alabama) and the BCS title game against the Crimson Tide in the 2012 season.

Kelly will now see Saban every season in the SEC West and try to fill the last remaining hole on his Hall of Fame resume at LSU, a school that has turned its last three coaches into national champions.

Braves tender contract to OF Duvall, re-sign Arcia, Heredia

Atlanta has still not addressed its top priority after a surprising run to its first World Series title since 1995 — resigning first baseman Freddie Freeman.

Freeman has made it clear he wants to return to the Braves, but he declared for free agency as the two sides continue to discuss a long-term Duvall, who was ac-

The decision not to tender Rodriguez was a bit of a surprise. The Braves gave up pitcher Bryse Wilson and a prospect to acquire the right-hander from the Pirates, for whom he had a career-high 14 saves and a 2.62 ERA in 37 appearances.

But the 31-year-old Rodriguez wasn't nearly as effective with the Braves, going 1-2 with a 3.12 ERA in 27 games. He especially struggled down the stretch and was left off the roster for all three postseason series.

The 27-year-old Camargo appeared headed for big things after he hit 19 homers with 76 RBIs to help propel the Braves in 2018 to the first of what has become four straight NL East Camargo has flopped in repeated chances to become a full-time starter since then. He spent most of the 2021 season at Triple-A Gwinnett, failing to get a hit in 16 at-bats for the Braves. In addition to Rodriguez and Camargo, the Braves also declined to tender a contract to pitching prospect Jasseel De La Cruz, who has yet to pitch in the big leagues. He was 1-3 with a 7.03 ERA at Gwinnett in 2021.

"USC knows only up from here," Williams said. "I know they're gonna recruit the right way, I know they're gonna play games the right way, and we'll see where all that's going. But for right now, our main focus is about Cal."

Figueroa said it was easy to get caught up in the speculation over the past few months about who would be the next Trojans coach, with everyone from Iowa State's Matt Campbell to Mike Tomlin of the Pittsburgh Steelers bandied about in the absence of concrete information from the search by Bohn and his chief of staff, Brandon Sosna.

When it became a possibility, and then reality, on Sunday that Riley would join USC after five seasons at Oklahoma, Figueroa was trying to process the news just like everyone else.

"I think everyone was pretty, like, shocked and excited," he said. "The entire, like, Twitter world, we kind of saw that blow up before our eyes. And there's a lot of positive optimism around our program. And I think we just want to keep that rolling into the next game and kind of use that to build momentum going into the next season, whether it be in recruiting or within our own team."

Urban Meyer says he's not a candidate at Notre Dame

AP Pro Football Writer

Urban Meyer says he will not be Notre Dame's next head coach. The Jacksonville Jaguars coach flatly squashed any speculation about his immediate future when asked by The Associated Press on Tuesday about the vacancy at Notre Dame created by Brian Kelly's abrupt departure for LSU. "I'm not a candidate," Meyer said on a conference call with the beat writers for the Los Angeles Rams, Jacksonville's opponent on Sunday. "Obviously I spent six years of my life there, so great respect for Notre Dame, and as I do USC, UCLA, like we talked about (earlier in the call). But I'm committed to the Jaguars and doing the best we can to turn this thing around."

Earlier Tuesday, a person familiar with Meyer's thinking said the 57-yearold coach is fully committed to the Jaguars and has no plans to return to college football. The person spoke to the AP on condition of anonymity Tuesday because Meyer had yet to make his plans public.

The NCAA's one-time transfer rule, the burgeoning transfer portal and outside compensation for the use of an athlete's name, image and likeness have altered college football dramatically since Meyer stepped down at Ohio State following the 2018 season. Meyer shot down speculation about leaving the NFL for Southern California after Trojans fired coach Clay Helton in September, and his name was immediately linked to Notre Dame on Monday after Kelly bolted for LSU. Meyer spent five years (1996-2000) as receivers coach in South Bend, Indiana, and even called the Fighting Irish a "dream job" while he was at Florida in 2008.

Meyer was immediately installed as one of the betting favorites to get hired at Notre Dame immediately after Kelly's departure, given his connections to the program and the spotlight involved.

Instead, Meyer says he'll spend this week preparing the Jaguars (2-9) to travel cross-country and play the Rams (7-4) at SoFi Stadium.

The Trojans hired Lincoln Riley away from Oklahoma on Monday. Meyer said earlier this season "there's no chance" he would take the USC job. He insisted he's in Jacksonville for the long

"I'm here and committed to try to build an organization," Meyer said at

No one expected it to be the last time Meyer's name would be connected to a collegiate job opening. After all, he found success at every stop in his threeplus decades in the college ranks. He built winners at Bowling Green, Utah, Florida and Ohio State. He won two national championships with the Gators (2006, 2008) and another with the Buckeyes (2014). He stepped down after the 2018 season and spent two years working as a college football analyst at Fox Sports. Jaguars owner Shad Khan persuaded him to return to the sideline in an effort to deliver a consistent contender in Jacksonville.

So far, little has gone right for Meyer. Although the Jaguars ended a 20-game losing streak in London in October, they have dropped three in a row and have scored just 57 points in their past five

Merriam-Webster chooses vaccine as the 2021 word of the year

By Leanne Italie Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — With an expanded definition to reflect the times, Merriam-Webster has declared an omnipresent truth as its 2021 word of the year: vaccine.

"This was a word that was extremely high in our data every single day in 2021," Peter Sokolowski, Merriam-Webster's editor-at-large, told The Associated Press ahead of Monday's announcement.

"It really represents two different stories. One is the science story, which is this remarkable speed with which the vaccines were developed. But there's also the debates regarding policy, politics and political affiliation. It's one word that carries these two huge stories,"

The selection follows "vax" as word of the year from the folks who publish the Oxford English Dictionary. And it comes after Merriam-Webster chose "pandemic" as tops in lookups last year on its online site.

"The pandemic was the gun going off and now we have the aftereffects," Sokolowski said.

At Merriam-Webster, lookups for "vaccine" increased 601% over 2020, when the first U.S. shot was administered in New York in December after quick development, and months of speculation and discussion over efficacy. The world's first jab occurred earlier that month in the UK.

Compared to when there was little urgency or chatter about vaccines, Merriam-Webster logged an increase of 1,048% in lookups this year. Debates over inequitable distribution, vaccine mandates and boosters kept interest high, Sokolowski said. So did vaccine hesitancy and friction over vaccine

The word "vaccine" wasn't birthed in a day, or due to a single pandemic. The first known use stretches back to 1882 but references pop up earlier related to fluid from cowpox pustules used in inoculations, Sokolowski said. It was borrowed from the New Latin "vaccina," which goes back to Latin's feminine "vaccinus," meaning "of or from a cow." The Latin for cow is "vacca," a word that might be akin to the Sanskrit "vasa," according to Merriam-Webster.

Inoculation, on the other hand, dates to 1714, in one sense referring to the act of injecting an "inoculum."

Earlier this year, Merriam-Webster added to its online entry for "vaccine" to cover all the talk of mRNA vaccines, or messenger vaccines such as those for COVID-19 developed by Pfizer-BioNTech and Moderna.

While other dictionary companies choose words of the year by committee, Merriam-Webster bases its selection on lookup data, paying close attention to spikes and, more recently, year-over-year increases in searches after weeding out evergreens. The company has been declaring a word of the year since 2008. Among its runners-up in the word biography INSURRECTION: Interest was driven by the deadly Jan. 6 siege on the U.S. Capitol. Arrests continue, as do congressional hearings over the attack by supporters of President Donald Trump. Some of Trump's allies have resisted subpoenas, including Steve Bannon.

Searches for the word increased by 61,000% over 2020, Sokolowksi said.

INFRASTRUC-TURE: President Joe

Biden was able to deliver what Trump often spoke of but never achieved: A bipartisan infrastructure bill signed into law. When Biden proposed help with broadband access, eldercare and preschool, conversation changed from not only roads and bridges but "figurative infrastructure," Sokolowski

"Many people asked, what is infrastructure if it's not made out of steel or concrete? Infrastructure, in Latin, means underneath the structure,' he said.

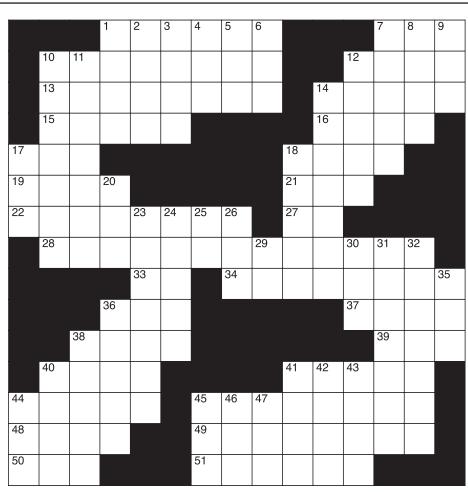

PERSEVERANCE: It's the name of NASA's latest Mars rover. It landed Feb. 18, 2021. "Perseverance is the most sophisticated rover NASA has ever sent to the Red Planet, with a name that embodies NASA's passion, and our nation's capability, to take on and overcome challenges,' the space agency said.

The name was thought up by Alexander Mather, a 14-year-old seventhgrader at Lake Braddock Secondary School in Burke, Virginia. He participated in an essay contest organized by NASA. He was one of 28,000 K-12 students to submit entries.

NOMAD: The word had its moment with the 2020 release of the film "Nomadland." It went on to win three Oscars in April 2021, including best picture, director (Chloé Zhao) and actress (Frances McDormand). Zhao became the first woman of color to win best director.

The AP's film writer Jake Coyle called the indie success "a plainspoken meditation on solitude, grief and grit. He wrote that it "struck a chord in a pandemicravaged year. It made for an unlikely Oscar champ: A film about people who gravitate to the margins took center stage."

The vanishing remains of the first road across the Plateau

Tennessee History for Kids

Tennessee likes to boast about old structures it has preserved and historical markers it has erected. However, in terms of remembering migration routes, our state could do a much better job. The first road across the Cumberland Plateau connected Kingston (on the east side of the plateau) to a nineteenth century fortress called Fort Blount (on the west side of the plateau). This road of whose journeys are documented in was taken by thousands of early migrants in the 1780s and 1790s, some personal journals. Among the better known of these early migrants were Andrew Jackson, Bishop Francis Asbury and the French botanist Andre Michaux. However, the most remarkable of these travelers was a French nobleman who traveled through Tennessee during the French Revolution under the title Louis Philippe, Duke of Orleans. The nephew of Louis XVI, Louis Philippe later became the king of France from 1830 to 1848.

Today, some people refer to this early road as the Avery Trace or the Holston Road, although it went by many names. I call it the Fort Blount Road.

Around 1795, a new branch of the Fort Blount Road was created that took westward migrants a more direct route into Middle Tennessee. This branch was created by William Walton, and the community he started at the westward end of the road is known as

No one has done more to learn about the history of the roads than the late Tennessee Tech history professor Calvin Dickinson, who published The Walton Road: A Nineteenth Century Wilderness Highway in Tennessee in 2007. Dickinson died a few months ago, but I'm happy to say that back in 2019, he and I went searching for remnants of Leaving Kingston, the old road climbed to the top of the Cumberland Plateau using the general route of Highway 70. In the late 1700s, migrants had a terrible time ascending the 1,000-foot climb here; some would carry their possessions one at a time from the bottom to the top rather than risk taking them up all at once. As we ascended the mountain along this highway, Calvin and I thought we saw the old roadbed going off into the woods at times, but we couldn't be sure. Moving westward, the old road passed by the scenic landmark known as Ozone Falls and into a low point between two mountains near the community of Crab Orchard. On April 1, 1794, Thomas "Big Foot" Spencer was killed near here, which is why a monolith that towers over the valley here was named for him. Later, a prominent inn at Crab Orchard provided a stopover point for travelers.

About ten miles west of Spencer's Rock, the state has erected a sign at an I-40 rest area that documents the site of Kemmer Tavern, an inn located on the old road. Calvin and I explored this rest stop and easily found the remnants of the old roadbed, although I'll admit that we crossed a barbed wire fence in the process.

Moving west, the old roadbed meanders back and forth along present-day Interstate 40 and Highway 70. We drove down a few country roads and into residential areas and Dickinson pointed out a couple of places where he knew the roadbed to be from his earlier research. Most of the time I had to admit that I never would have noticed In the 1780s and 1790s, just about every traveler along the old road stopped at a place called Flat Rock, which is east of Monterey. Unfortunately, Flat Rock is now on private property. As the old road approached Cookev-ille, it passed by an old homestead called White Plains, which still stands. The old road then went right through present-day Cookeville, missing the Tennessee Tech campus to the north. Descending west from Cookeville in the direction of Carthage, the roadbed follows the general route of Highway 70. A DAR marker highlights the location of Raulston Stand, a landmark on the Walton Road whose visitors included Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk and Andrew Johnson.
