

Holt, Burrow county Governor's Volunteer Stars

By Scott Pearson
Associate Editor

Volunteer Tennessee honored the 2021 winners of the Governor's Volunteer Stars awards last month in Franklin. Now in its 14th year, the Volunteer Stars program recognizes and encourages volunteerism and community service throughout the state by honoring adults and youth who are making a difference in their communities.

Marshall County's honorees for 2021 are Betty Jo Holt and Chandler Burrow.

Quoting from their award certificates:

"For 27 years, Betty Jo Holt has dedicated every Tuesday to delivering an adult education class to residents at Oakwood Hall nursing home. She incorporates history, activities, songs, smells, and visuals into her classes. Nine years ago, Betty Jo developed a monthly meeting called 'Forever Young,' which encourages family and friends of residents to visit. The club also hosts a yearly Fall Fling for residents. Betty Jo also participates in an on-going card ministry, coordinates food delivery to shut-ins at her church, and was instrumental in starting a Parkinson's Support Group in Marshall County."

"Chandler Burrow has been an active member of First Baptist Church Lewisburg Youth Group for many years. He participated in countless charity programs, including Operation Christmas Child, and volunteered for construction and handy-work projects for homeowners. After aging out of the youth group, Chandler assumed the primary role in managing the church's media broadcast, which includes running the sound and video every Sunday and managing the Facebook and YouTube pages for live service broadcasts. with his sister, Courtney, Chandler also volunteers to teach a chil-

Chapel Hill turns to Bingham as new administrator

By Scott Pearson
Associate Editor

Chapel Hill has turned to a familiar face to serve as the town's new administrator.

Mayor Mike Faulkenberry announced the hiring of Danny Bingham to the position at February's monthly meeting.

"It's good to have him. We have struggled. We have struggled bad," said Faulkenberry. "It's nice to finally get somebody. I think we're going to get some ground made."

Bingham served as the town's mayor from 2014 to 2018, when he chose to run for the office of county mayor instead of for reelection as

Chapel Hill mayor. Aldermen approved Bingham's contract at the close of the meeting.

Bingham follows Amanda Harrington as administrator. The board chose not to renew her contract in January and negotiated a buyout of the remainder of the original 12 month term.

One issue that Bingham will have to solve is hard feelings between the board and the town's event committee.

Representatives of the town's events committee expressed frustration that a July 4 event had been approved in February when the committee already had an event scheduled and without consultation or notification of the committee.

"There should have been a more professional way" of handling the situation, said one representative, noting four years of volunteering on the committee with a perception of little support from the town.

"You've agreed to pay for a band and you won't give us $50 a month for toilets," she said.

Alderman Brian Williams had raised the idea in February, noting that the idea for additional bands, vendors, and entertainment on the 4th had been discussed for years but delayed by COVID.

His plan was to use Lions Club property next to Forrest School to host the event in addition to the events committee fest planned for Main Street. DR Horton offered in February to sponsor the musical entertainment.

"I still think there is a way that we can work together," said Faulkenberry, offering a meeting in the coming week to smooth out any differences between the Board of Mayor and Aldermen and the town's events committee.

Later in the meeting, Williams received a call informing him that permission to use the Lions property had been revoked.

Bingham told the board that Waste Management had informed the town that it would need to consider renegotiating rates for trash

Final weekend of Moana Jr.

Marshall County youth, Disney, and the Marshall County Community Theatre always make for a winning team and the current production of Moana Jr. proves the point. After an opening weekend two weeks ago that saw both shows sold out, the production closes this weekend with three of the four stagings already sold out. As of press time, a handful of tickets remain for the Saturday evening show at 7 p.m. so act quickly for a chance to catch another excellent Dixie Theatre show and follow the adventures of Moana, Maui, and Tamatoa, played by Brax Hunter (center), and the Shiny Ensemble.

Obituaries

Preston Odell Blackmon

Preston Odell Blackmon, 83, husband of Linda Morris Blackmon and a resident of Columbia, passed away Friday, March 11, 2022, at his residence.

He was born Nov. 22, 1938, in Durham, NC to the late Lloyd and Cora Blackmon. He graduated from Durham High School in Durham, NC., Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore MD, and attended the University of Baltimore Law School. He served in the United States Army.

Preston came to Middle Tennessee in the early 1980's to work as plant manager for a large packaging company. He soon left this employment to found EPS Plastics in Lewisburg, TN, a business that through his hard work and tireless energy grew and thrived until his retirement in 2006.

Preston loved the outdoors, particularly hunting for deer and turkeys, as well as saltwater fishing. He spent many days afield with friends and family in these pursuits. He and his beloved wife Linda also traveled extensively. Although they travelled to many far-flung places both in the U.S. and abroad, one of their favorite trips was their annual pilgrimage to Cades Cove to see the prolific beauty and abundant wildlife there. He also treasured his time at the beaches of both the Gulf and Atlantic coasts. He had a great curiosity for old things, and always had a collection of antique trinkets and other oddities around him.

Although a great success in his professional career, his greatest legacy will be his family and member of First United Methodist Church in Columbia and was very active in the Bruce Strother Sunday School class. Through the years he served on numerous committees with the church. The friendships he garnered there were long term and held very dearly. He became "Papa" with the birth of his first grandchild, and he never relinquished that title. He handed out hugs freely and frequently, and they will be both fondly remembered and sorely missed, particularly by his grandchildren.

He is survived by his wife, Linda Blackmon and by his children, Randall Blackmon of Lewisburg, TN, Terry Padgett (Bill) of Crestview, FL, Kimberly Bennett (George) of Germantown, TN, Dr. J. Wayne King II (Tara) of Pittsboro, NC, Douglas Blackmon (Stephanie) of Murfreesboro, TN, grandchildren, Lindy Finch (Austin), Logan Bennett, Lillian Bennett, Lauren Shelton (Tyler), Mark Blackmon (Olivia), Allie Blackmon, Ryan Mabry, Amber Childers (Josh), Emily Hamm (Kevin), Jordan Walker (Jennifer), and great grandchildren, Rowan Shelton, Lincoln, Abigail, Jameson Childers, Caiden, Landon Hamm.

He was a long-time

He was a member of the Society for Packaging Professionals, The Society of Manufacturing Engineers, and the Society of Fluid Power Engineers among other professional organizations. He and Linda delighted in working with the children of the Discovery Club in Maury County Schools. They also treasured their special years with the "V Club" as well as Sunday evening support group with their dear friends. He was a member of the Elks Club, was a Shriner, and was on the Board of Directors and First Commerce Bank in Lewisburg. He was also a proud member of the Tennessee Sheriff's Association.

Services were held Tuesday, March 15, 2022, at First United Methodist Church, 222 West 7th Street, Columbia, TN 38401, with visitation from 10:00 AM- 12:00 PM, followed by a service in the Sanctuary at 12:00 PM. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to the Boys and Girls Clubs of Maury County, Maury County Students in Transition, two organizations that Preston loved and supported for many years.

pickup due to the current spike in fuel prices.

At the February meeting, aldermen approved an increase of the monthly fee from $10.50 to $12.25 in order to keep pace with an increase in cost to the town billed by Waste Management.

Aldermen also approved of the Tennessee Association of Utility Districts to conduct a rate study for water and sewer services to ensure that income was sufficient to keep the utility solvent, as required by state law.

"I think we're due for another study to see where we stand," said Williams, noting that the last had been conducted four years ago.

The town's consulting treasurer had raised concerns about the utility finances during the budget process, stating that revenue had exceeded expenses for the year but through the use of tap fees for new connections that had been intended to be put aside to cover the cost of the town's planned water treatment plant.

Aldermen approved the purchase of a new fire truck for the town's fire department. The engine was budgeted for this fiscal year and will replace CHVFD's Engine One, which is currently out of service due to maintenance issues.

Public hearings were set for two annexation requests, one on Eaglesville Pike and another on Caney Springs Road. The first reading of a rezoning request for the Ezell Farms development of Horton Highway was also passed.

Lewisburg bonus

By Scott Pearson
Associate Editor

The Lewisburg City Council approved a bonus for city employees at last weeks monthly meeting.

Funds would come from American Rescue Plan dollars already on deposit with the city.

Many local governments have used part of these funds for employee bonuses as a way of showing appreciation for the additional difficulties faced by employees during the Covid pandemic.

The additional payment will be based on the number of hours worked by the employee during the months of January and February of this year.

The rate will be $13 per hour worked, regardless of normal salary rates.

Councilman Jerry Gordon said the fact that current employees had not seen regular cost of living raises while the city rebuilt its cash reserves figured into the bonus calculations.

First Commerce Bancorp, Inc. holds annual shareholders meeting

The annual meeting of the shareholders of First Commerce Bancorp, Inc. was held at 10 a.m. on March 1, 2022, at the main office of First Commerce Bank, 500 North Ellington Parkway, Lewisburg, Tennessee.

Chairman of the Board William B. Marsh thanked the shareholders for their attendance and numerous contributions throughout the year, which helped produce outstanding results for First Commerce Bank.

Marsh next asked CFO Tiffany Allen to present a financial report.

Allen stated, "This was a profitable year, and as in prior years, the income from our loan portfolio was a substantial contributing factor." First Commerce Bank had net earnings in 2021 of $6,425,434. Total assets were $518,978,857, while loans increased to $385,148,966. She also reported that delinquent loans 30 days or more remain minimal at .19 percent of outstanding loans as of December 31, 2021.

Marsh then asked President/CEO Robert E. Wiles to report on the state of the bank. He reviewed the FDIC's annual market share report as of June 30, 2021 and in Marshall County, First Commerce Bank presently holds a commanding advantage in deposit market share with 53% of all the county's deposits. He also discussed the bank's market price of stock by stating that shareholders who invested in stock during the start-up period of the bank in 2002 have received a 541% increase in the market value.

Wiles also was pleased to report that the fourth quarter 2021 "Tennessee Bank Performance Report" has First Commerce Bank ranked number 16 in overall bank performance out of 124 banks headquartered in the state of Tennessee. This report is independently compiled and published by the Financial Management Consulting Group, a nationally recognized bank rating service.

He acknowledged that the Fayetteville, Murfreesboro, and Chapel Hill branches also performed very well.

"Asset quality remains excellent, and we are extremely proud of these operations and their management teams," stated Wiles.

"First Commerce

Bank is a family bank that cares deeply about its employees and their families," stated Chairman Marsh. The meeting concluded with expressions of thanks to the bank's executive team and many other staff members.

Will this be your best spring ever?

By Danny Tyree

A tiny portion of my "day job" at a farm-and-home cooperative involves writing radio commercials and on-hold phone messages.

More often than I like to admit, I get stuck for a closing zinger and settle for trite sentiments, such as "Let our friendly staff help make this your best hunting season/New Year/spring ever!!" (Note to self: next spring, remember to try something dignified like "Please, please make your money quit hibernating!")

But I really do hope my readers enjoy the best spring ever. The opportunities certainly exist.

The glorious days following the vernal equinox are a time for shaking off winter sluggishness and displaying boundless creativity. Still haven't taken those Christmas decorations? With a little Daylight Saving Time ingenuity, you can transform Saint Nick into Moses in time for the annual rerun of "The Ten Commandments." ("Let my people ho-ho-ho!") Add fireworks, and you've got a head start on summer and Uncle Sam!

Whether you're rekindling your relationship with your Significant Other or seeking "foot-loose and fancy free" new adventures, spring can be a promising time for romance. As Alfred, Lord Tennyson pointed out, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love - although he assuredly keeps his porn stash handy for next winter."

Yes, warmer weather means hunks and babes showing more skin. But don't think that sparks will always fly in the time of seasonal allergies. ("Sorry, I'm more interested in the hanky than the panky. Ah-choo! Did anyone ever tell you your eyes look like limpid pools of pollen?")

Birdwatchers certainly get a chance to grab their binoculars and spread their wings in spring. Maybe when the red, red robin comes bob-bob-bobbing along, they can get in on his class-action suit. ("What if I want to saunter or skip or amble? This bob-bob-bobbing gait is systemic speciesism!")

Yes, Mother Nature works overtime in springtime. Puppies, kittens, lambs and other young animals frolic everywhere. ("I am Fluffy, king of kings. Look upon my cuteness and despair!")

Of course, spring is a time for the "weekend squires" (as The Monkees termed them) to hop aboard their steeds (riding mowers) and resume manicuring, pedicuring or liposuctioning their lawns -- to stay one step ahead of Neighbor Jones. ("Wait'll Jones gets a look at... what? He passed away over the winter? But Welcoming Pines Cemetery has a nationally ranked groundskeeper! My six acres...his plot...nooooooo!")

I'm sure many of you are excited about Major League Baseball's spring training. Maybe one of the players will accidentally discover an equation that keeps the games under two hours. Granted, such a rookie will doubtless keep Jimmy Hoffa company under the pitcher's mound...

Astrophysicists are fascinated by the simultaneous presence of spring-cleaning campaigns and yard-sale shopping in spring. ("That recently cleared corner in the breakfast nook - it has become a black hole capturing knickknacks and thingamajigs in its gravitational field...")

Walk a trail, plant a garden. Have that spring fling.

Sure, your excitement may be muted because a loved one who really enjoyed spring is no longer around to share it with you; but you could always hire a TV psychic and reconnect. ("I'm getting an image of you laughing...or singing...or cleaning the lint trap...on either weekends or weekdays...with your beloved aunt from your father's side of the family or your mother's side or maybe from a bottle of pancake syrup...")

Rockets' Wilson picks Sewanee

By Chris Siers
sports@t-g.com

During the Forrest Rockets' 2021 run that included a push to the Class 2A state quarterfinals, McCalister Wilson emerged as one of the team's leaders.

In the years leading up to his senior season, Wilson earned the reputation as a leader for the Rockets due to his on-field play and his football I.Q.

All those components proved fruitful as Wilson signed his letter of intent to play football for the University of the South at Sewanee. "I'm ecstatic being able to play football in college. I get to get away from home just a little, but I get to expand and make new friends and a brotherhood," he said.

Wilson earned a living as an outside linebacker for the Rockets and helped the Forrest defense averaged just over 11 points per game last season.

"He was our leader. He has great leadership skills, he pushed the kids to work hard and held everybody accountable. He's a great communicator on the field and he backed it up with his play, too," Rocket coach Eli Stephenson said.

"It's a great honor for him. He deserves everything. He's one of the smartest players I've ever coached. He's going to go far in whatever he decidates to do."

Having to navigate the college recruiting process in the era of COVID-19 is difficult for any student-athlete.

But when it came time to make a decision, the possibility of getting a top-notch education and the campus itself helped Wilson make his decision.

"It was a bit chaotic just because of COVID and everything happening. For the most part, I reached out to them and we just kind of fit and it went from there," Wilson said.

"The campus is gorgeous and the education is one of the best in the state."

Having played linebacker throughout his entire playing career, Wilson figures to fit in as a linebacker at the college level as well.

"I've been playing football since I was seven and I always played linebacker. It just always stuck with me throughout my career and I love it. They want me to play some kind of linebacker," he added.

When it comes to making an impact at the next level, Stephenson believes Wilson has the football I.Q. to make an immediate impact for the Tigers.

"He'll fit in because he's a smart player. During the game, he might get beat one time, but you're not going to beat him twice. He adjusts on the fly on his own.," Stephenson said.

While the 2021 run to the state quarterfinals was memorable in itself, Wilson said some of his favorite memories came playing football in a pool during a team bonding event.

While he's still several months from beginning his freshman season, he'll begin workouts this summer before reporting for preseason workouts before the season begins.

Wilson plans to pursue a degree in the medical field or in business.

Sewanee competes in the Division III of the NCAA and is part of the Southern Athletic Association.

Tigerettes claim opener at Cornersville

By Chris Siers
sports@t-g.com

CORNERSVILLE — There were plenty of fireworks in Monday night's season opener between county rivals Cornersville (0-1) and Marshall County.

In the end, the Tigerettes (1-0) had a little more oomph at the plate and left Frog Bottom with a 13-6 win over the Lady Bulldogs.

The two teams combined for 18 hits and gave fans in attendance plenty of excitement on the scoreboard.

Courtney Lynch got the scoring frenzy started for the Tigerettes when she led off the game with a triple to center-right. She scored the game's first run on a RBI single by Jessa Lancaster.

Lancaster later scored on a two-run shot to center field by Jahna Meadows-Richardson, giving the Tigerettes a 3-0 lead in the top of the first frame.

Marshall County stacked on two more runs in the second frame when Demiyah Blackburn and Lynch scored on a two RBI single by Mallory Woodward.

Leading 5-0, it was Cornersville's turn to pad the scoreboard.

Molly Wells led off the bottom of the second with a single to center and scored during the next at-bat on a two-run blast to left.

Hannah Moore later reached on a single and scored on a double by Cora Duke, cutting the Tigerette lead to two runs after two innings.

While Cornersville was able to rally for three in the bottom of the second, the Tigerettes broke the game open with a five-spot in the top of the third frame and coasted to the seven-run victory.

Jahna Meadows-Richardson is greeted by her teammates after a two-run homer in the top of the first inning.

Taylor Pickle drove in a sixth run for the Tigerettes on a RBI single and Kaniyah Taylor scored on a sac-fly to bump the Marshall County lead to 7-3.

Lunch connected on her second triple of the night and knocked in two more runs before scoring the final run of the inning on a single by Woodward.

The Tigerettes added two more runs in the fourth inning on a two-run homer by Ellie Luce, bumping the Tigerette advantage to 12-3 before the Lady Bulldogs broke the scoring streak on a RBI double by Alisha Price in the bottom of the fourth.

Marshall County added one final run in the game after Lynch connected on a one-out triple, her third of the game, in the top of the seventh inning before scoring on a double by Woodward.

Jayli Childress answered in the bottom of the seventh with a two-run homer, Cornersville's second of the night, but just couldn't muster up enough offense to make a run at the Tigerette lead.

Lynch led Marshall

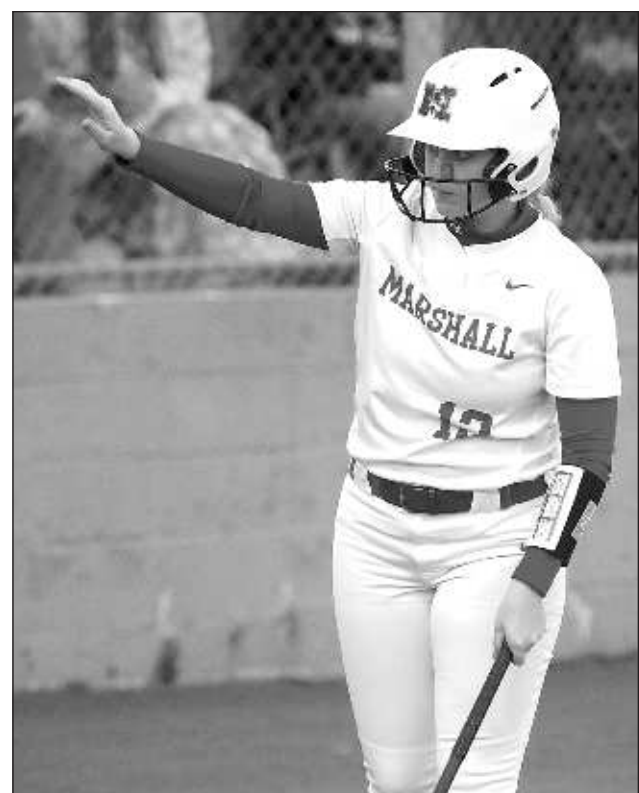

County with four runs scored, while Luce and Meadows-Richardson had the loudest cracks of the bat for the Tigerettes and blasted home runs in their season debuts.

Lynch went 3-for-5 on the night with three triples and two RBIs, while Woodward also went 3-for-5 with four RBIs.

Pickle got the start in the pitcher's circle and went three innings. She allowed three earned runs on four hits before Haylee Hobby took over and pitched the final four innings in relief.

No-hitter caps off Rockets sweep to start 2022 campaign

By Anthony S. Puca
Sports Writer

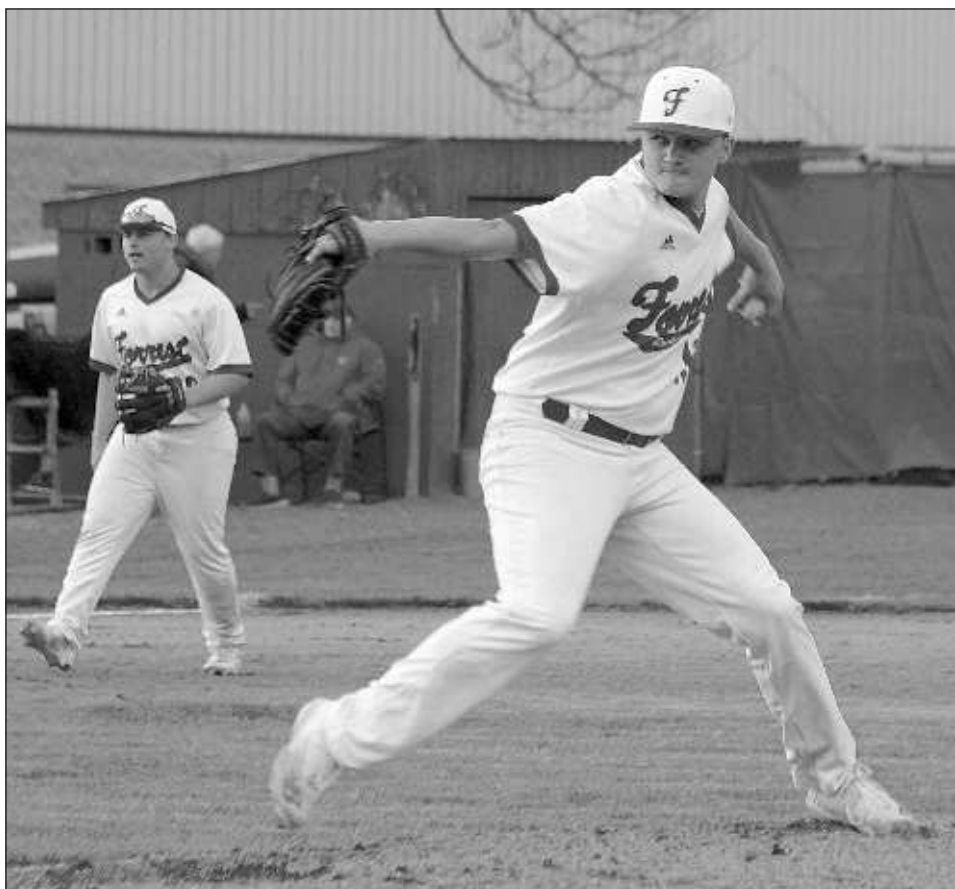

The Forrest Rockets opened the 2022 season in style, sweeping Mt. Pleasant in a pair of 14-0 run-rule wins on Monday at Maury County and Tuesday at Chapel Hill.

After Preston Gentry tossed a four-hit shutout in the season opener, Brennan Mealer and Austin Lampley combined for a no-hitter in Tuesday's home opener.

"I'm really proud of our guys, it starts at the top as far as pitching, we threw strikes and did what we were supposed to do on the mound and let our defense play behind us," Forrest coach Andy Burkett said. "Our guys are taking really quality at bats at the plate as well and we are manufacturing runs and scoring runs when they are making mistakes and that is all you can ask for."

Mealer tossed the first four innings, striking out six and walking three Tigers before Lampley came on in the top of the fifth and set down the Tigers in order to preserve the no-no.

"It is a bright future for Mealer, he got a lot of time last year as a freshman and he worked hard in the off-season on his pitching and his hitting and I couldn't be more impressed with him," Burkett said. "And of course Lampley, when you have a veteran guy like that on the mound...all Lampley knows how to do is win, he went 5-0 last year on the mound

Brennan Mealer tossed four innings of no-hit baseball Tuesday night at Chapel Hill as the Rockets finished off a season opening two-game sweep over Mt. Pleasant.

Riley Durbin went 4-for-4 versus the Tigers, including this run-scoring double in the bottom of the second inning.

and he is about as good as you can ask for as a reliever and a starter."

The Rockets had plenty of firepower at the plate, banging out 10 hits with Riley Durbin leading the way with a perfect 4-for-4 performance, including a pair of doubles and two RBIs.

Carter Walk and Lampley went 2-for-3 while Camden Vaughn and Braden Bowyer had one hit apiece with Bowyer driving in four runs on a three-run bases clearing double in the second inning and a fielder's choice RBI in the third.

Lampley and Mealer had two RBIs apiece and Walk had one run batted in.

Mealer set down Mt. Pleasant in order in the top of the first inning and the Rockets plated a pair of runs in the home half of the inning for a 2-0 lead.

Mealer struck out the side in the top of the second inning and Mt. Pleasant starting pitcher Hayden Holt looked like he was going to have a 1-2-3 frame as well, but a dropped ball at first base with two outs opened the door for the Rockets, who batted around after the error and went on to score eight runs to take a commanding a 10-0 lead.

"That was huge and it is a testament to hustle and at the end of the day Timmy (Timmons) is one of the fastest guys on the team and he beat that that play out on top of the fact that that guy bobbled the ball and the next thing you know the guys just kept passing the bat."

Mealer walked the first two Mt. Pleasant batters he faced in the top of the third and both runners moved up on a sacrifice bunt by Brady Clark.

Mealer got out the jam on a pop-up to Durbin at third base and a grounder to Moses at shortstop to retire the side.

Forrest added three more runs in the bottom of the inning on back-to-back fielder's choice RBIs by Mealer and Bowyer and the 13th run came home on a Mt. Pleasant error.

A pop-up to Gentry at second base opened up the top of the fourth before Gilliam walked, but he was quickly erased when Mealer picked him off leaning at first base.

Mealer came up with a strikeout to end his stint on the mound and the Rockets made it 14-0 with a Durbin RBI double in the home half of the inning.

Lampley came to the hill in the top of the fifth inning and book-ended a pair of strikeouts around a fly out to right field to finish up the no-hitter.

"This was big, we are going on the road Thursday to play a really tough team in Lewis County, who played a really close game against Spring Hill on Monday, so we are really excited for the challenge," Burkett said. "It's always good to get a win and it was great to open at home with the win and we are going to stay hungry and get after it

Vikings, Rockets battle to tie in district opener

CHAPEL HILL — The Community Vikings and Forrest Rockets battled for 80 minutes in a hard-fought, physical matchup Tuesday night, and in the end neither team could connect on the go-ahead goal late as the 2022 season and District 6-A opener for both teams ended in a 2-2 tie. After a scoreless first 20 minutes, Community scored twice in less than a minute span. Ramon Hernandez drilled home a loose ball in front of the net with 19:44 remaining to give the Vikings a 1-0 lead. Randy Anica followed with a goal just 55 seconds later to give the Vikings a 2-0 advantage.

The Rockets continued to put the pressure on the Vikings by staying on the Community end of the field for the majority of the half. Forrest capitalized as Chris Davis took a rebound off the goalie and put the ball into the net to cut the Viking lead to 2-1 with 13:28 left and end the first half scoring. Forrest knotted the score eight minutes into the second half as Hayden Milligan took a rebound and tapped the ball into the open net. Both teams looked to break the 2-2 tie in the final 31 minutes. The Rockets controlled field possession until the final 10 minutes before the Vikings changed the momentum and had several close tries at the goal before time expired. Forrest will travel to Cascade for a district matchup Thursday while Community will have a break before hosting Cascade in a district game on March 24.

Titans release Jackrabbit Jenkins to clear cap space

By TERESA M. WALKER
AP Pro Football Writer

NASHVILLE (AP) — The Tennessee Titans have released veteran cornerback Janoris “Jackrabbit” Jenkins after one season to clear approximately $6.9 million in salary cap space before the start of the new league year.

The Titans announced the move Tuesday along with a multi-year extension for center Ben Jones, keeping him from the free agent market that opens Wednesday afternoon.

Jenkins joined the Titans a year ago on a two-year contract. He started 13 of 14 games played and had one interception in the end zone in a big win over San Francisco in December. Jenkins also had 55 tackles, six passes defended and a forced fumble.

The 10-year veteran has played for the St. Louis Rams, New York Giants, New Orleans Saints and the Titans and has 27 career interceptions. He becomes the fourth player released to create cap space, joining left guard Rodger Saffold, reserve lineman Kendall Lamm and running back Darrynton Evans.

A person familiar with the contract says the Titans also agreed to a one-year deal Tuesday with Houston defensive back A.J. Moore. The person spoke to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity because the contract cannot be finalized until the new league year begins. Moore played 55 games in four seasons.

Tennessee drafted a pair of cornerbacks in 2021, taking Caleb Farley in the first round and Elijah Molden in the third. Farley finished the season on injured reserve, but Molden had an interception and recovered a fumble while starting seven of 16 games played.

Braves sign new Olson to $168 million, 8-year contract

By PAUL NEWBERRY
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA — One day after cutting ties with Freddie Freeman, the Atlanta Braves signed new first baseman Matt Olson to a $168 million, eight-year contract on Tuesday.

Olson was not eligible for free agency until after the 2023 season, but the World Series champions quickly locked down the 27-year-old slugger through at least 2029. The deal also includes a $20 million club option for 2030 with no buyout.

The Braves on Tuesday also added former Tampa Bay right-hander Collin McHugh to a $10 million, two-year deal. The deal includes a $6 million club option for 2024 with a $1 million buyout.

McHugh, 34, will earn $4 million this year and $5 million in 2023. He agreed to donate 1% of his salary to the Atlanta Braves Foundation.

McHugh pitched in relief in 30 of his 37 games with Tampa Bay last season. He was 6-1 with a 1.55 ERA and one save. His ERA was fourth lowest in the majors among pitchers with at least as many as his 64 innings. He has a 2.11 ERA as a reliever since 2018. He has a 64-44 record and 3.77 ERA in his nine-year career with the Mets, Rockies, Astros and A's.

With a stunning bit of wheeling and dealing, the Braves addressed their potential hole at first base with Olson after failing to reach a deal with Freeman, who led the team for more than a decade and played a huge role in Atlanta capturing its first World Series championship since 1995.

The Braves dealt four top prospects to the Oakland Athletics for Olson, a 2021 All-Star coming off a season in which he had 39 homers and 111 RBIs while batting .271.

Olson will make $15 million this year, $21 million in 2023 and $22 million in each of the following six seasons.

It was the 10th contract of at least $100 million agreed to since the end of the World Series and the first since Major League Baseball's 99-day lockout ended last week.

The payout is the largest in Braves' history, surpassing the $135 million, eight-year deal that Freeman signed after the 2013 season.

Atlanta was not willing to make that sort of long-term commitment again to Freeman, who is 32. But, with a younger player who was willing to take less money per year that his predecessor is reportedly seeking, the Braves agreed to the sort of lengthy deal they weren't prepared to give Freeman.

Olson, who turns 28 on March 29, flew from Arizona to the Braves spring training camp in Venice, Florida, where the team announced his new contract at an introductory news conference.

Olson knows he has some huge shoes to fill in Atlanta, where Freeman was a clubhouse leader and one of the team's most popular players.

A career .295 hitter, Freeman surpassed 20 homers eight times with a career-high 38 in 2019. He has a pair of 100-RBI seasons on his resume, and three other years where he drove in more than 90 runs. He won the NL MVP award in 2020, finished in the top 10 of the balloting five other times, in addition to claiming three Silver Slugger awards and a Gold Glove for his defensive work.

Freeman has yet to sign with a new team, with speculation focusing on two big-money clubs, the Los Angeles Dodgers and New York Yankees.

“Freddie is obviously an amazing player,” Olson told reporters. “It’s just not going to affect what I come here and do. I’m here to be Matt Olson. That’s all I can really control.”

Braves general manager Alex Anthopoulos moved boldly to bolster the lineup when it became apparent Sunday night that Freeman was likely to sign elsewhere.

Atlanta dealt four of its top 20 prospects, including outfielder Cristian Pache and projected catcher of the future Shea Langeliers. The Braves also surrendered pitchers Ryan Cusick, a 2021 first-round pick, and Joey Estes.

But it was all worth it to Anthopoulos when a new contract for Olson came together after a marathon negotiating session with his agent, B.B. Abbott.

Olson is a two-time Gold Glove winner with a .252 career average, 142 homers and an .859 OPS over six seasons. Last season, he finished eighth in AL MVP voting, establishing himself as one of the game's top first basemen.

“A really exciting day for us,” Anthopoulos said. “We worked on it all day, all night. I haven’t gotten a whole lot of sleep.”

The GM said he was thrilled that Olson, a native of suburban Atlanta, will be a long-term part of a group of young stars that also includes Ronald Acuña Jr., Ozzie Albies, Austin Riley and Max Fried.

“For you wanting to commit, to be with us and be here, and be part of this core, is exceptionally exciting,” Anthopoulos said to Olson at the news conference. “Hopefully were going to continue to be a very competitive club.”

Others who agreed to nine-figure deals include Texas shortstop Corey Seager ($325 million), Tampa Bay infielder Wander Franco ($182 million), Rangers second baseman Marcus Semien ($175 million), Detroit infielder Javier Báez ($140 million), Toronto right-hander José Berríos ($131 million), Mets right-hander Max Scherzer ($130 million), Seattle left-hander Robbie Ray ($115 million), Blue Jays right-hander Kevin Gausman ($110 million) and Minnesota centerfielder Byron Buxton ($100 million).

The Wildcats put two more runners on base with two outs before a fly out ended the threat, stranding two Santa Fe runners on base.

The Bulldogs didn't manage a baserunner until the third inning when Beau Schilling reached via error with one out.

He later scored on a second Santa Fe error in the inning and jumpstarted a three-run frame.

Gage Lovell safely reached on a fielder's choice and later scored on a RBI double to give Cornersville the 2-1 lead.

Sellers padded the lead as he crossed the plate on a single by Wesley Pigg for the final run of the inning, bumping the Bulldog advantage to 3-1.

The NCAA Tournament by the numbers

The Associated Press

A look at the NCAA Tournament by the numbers:

0.52 — Average years of experience of Arizona players, making it the youngest team in the field and third-youngest in Division I, according to the analytics site KenPom.com. The Wildcats' online roster lists one sixth-year player, two juniors, eight sophomores and five freshmen. For purposes of KenPom's calculation, a freshman has zero years of experience, a sophomore has one year of experience, etc.

2.81 — The average years of experience of Texas Southern players, making it the oldest team in the field. The 'Tigers' online roster lists six seniors, four graduate students, three juniors, one sophomore and three freshmen.

5-7 — Height of Arkansas guard Chris Lykes, the shortest player in the tournament.

7-4 — Height of Purdue center Zach Edey, the tallest player in the tournament.

9 — Coaches going to the tournament in the first year at their schools: Mark Adams, Texas Tech; Chris Beard, Texas; Hubert Davis, North Carolina; Tommy Lloyd, Arizona; Steve Lutz, Texas A&M-Corpus Christi; Kevin Nickelberry, LSU; T.J. Otzelberger, Iowa State; Shaka Smart, Marquette and Drew Valentine, Loyola-Chicago. Indiana's Mike Woodson made it to the First Four.

9 — Big Ten schools in the tournament, most of any conference and tied for most in Big Ten history. The Big East holds the NCAA record with 11 bids in 2011.

22.5 — No. 1 overall seed Gonzaga's average margin of victory, highest of any team entering the tournament since the Zags' 22.8 in 2019.

25.1 — Nation-leading scoring average of Bryant's Peter Kiss.

27 — Oscar Tshiebwe's double-doubles in 33 games for Kentucky. He averages 17 points and 15.1 rebounds per game.

30 — Age of Loyola-Chicago's Valentine, the youngest coach in the tournament and Division I.

30 — Alabama's average number of 3-point attempts per game.

45 — South Dakota State's nation-leading 3-point shooting percent.

46 — 3-point shooting percentage of Jackson State's Demaree King.

57.7 — Points allowed by San Diego State, lowest per game in the field and second-lowest in Division I.

75 — Age of Duke's Mike Krzyzewski, the oldest coach in the tournament.

80 — Miles Wisconsin will travel from Madison to Milwaukee for its Midwest Region game against Colgate on Friday, the shortest distance any team travels for the first round.

87.8 — Nation-leading points per game by Gonzaga.

2,425 — Air miles Seton Hall will travel to San Diego for its South Region game against TCU on Friday. That would be the longest distance any team travels for the first round unless Bryant wins its play-in game Wednesday. In that case, Bryant would travel 2,567 air miles to San Diego to play Arizona on Friday.

Georgia facing tough task of replacing NFL-bound D-linemen

By CHARLES ODUM
AP Sports Writer

ATHENS, Ga. — The trio of Georgia defensive linemen projected as first-round selections in next month's NFL draft have highlighted the talent that enabled the Bulldogs to win the national championship.

Now comes the challenge for coach Kirby Smart on Tuesday's opening day of spring practice: He will need find replacements for Travon Walker, Jordan Davis and Devonte Wyatt.

NFL scouts who were impressed by the speed and athleticism of the three defensive linemen at the NFL scouting combine in Indianapolis two weeks ago will have another look at the large class of prospects at Georgia's pro day on Wednesday. Georgia had a combine-leading 14 players in Indianapolis. It is possible as many as six defensive players from the national championship team will be drafted in the first two rounds.

Safety Lewis Cine, inside linebacker Nakobe Dean and outside linebacker Quay Walker join the three linemen as highly regarded players in the draft from the defense.

Wide receiver George Pickens and linemen Jamaree Salyer and running backs Zamir White and James Cook are likely to be drafted from the offense.

No void is more daunting than on the defensive front.

"We saw this coming two to three years ago," Smart said Tuesday. "We've had this fear of maybe replacing these guys last year if they did not stay. ... That will be a challenge for us. We've lost a lot of good defensive players."

Smart's focus shifted to the 2022 season immediately after the Bulldogs' 33-18 win over Alabama which gave Georgia its first national championship since 1980. Smart spoke of "burning down the bridges" to the 2021 season so players would focus on a new path.

"When we came back, we put that aside," Smart said of the championship season. "You don't talk about it. ... We start fresh."

That's not so easy for junior defensive tackle Zion Logue and others hoping to replace Davis, Wyatt and Walker. This year's defensive linemen know they can't easily dodge questions about last season.

"It's big shoes to fill this year," Logue said. Logue, who had 11 tackles while playing in all 15 games as a backup, insists there is more than enough talent ready to take over on the defensive front. Among other returning players are Jalen Carter, Tymon Mitchell and Bill Norton.

"Our room is loaded, man," Logue said. "We can go out and play with any guy in our room right now."

Right guard Warren Ericson, one of three returning starters on the offensive line, also says there won't be a dropoff on this year's defensive front.

"We have another great line this year," said Ericson, who has worked against Logue and others in practice.

Georgia must replace 14 starters, including eight on defense. Quarterback Stetson Bennett is returning as he takes advantage of the NCAA's "Super Senior" added year of eligibility granted in 2020 because of the pandemic.

ing in a pair of runs on two-run homers.

Carmen Ward got the start in the pitcher's circle and went 2 2/3 innings before Duke took over and pitched the final 4 1/3 innings.

Marshall County returns to action on Thursday evening
