

Rocket pride on display

Last Friday all of the Chapel Hill schools displayed their Rocket pride during the annual homecoming parade. Exceptional floats from each grade delighted the crowds gathered to celebrate the event. Despite falling short on the field Friday night against Moore Co., Forrest proved that the spirit of Chapel Hill is undefeated. For more photos from the parade, turn to Page A8 of today's Marshall County Tribune.

Marshall County 4-H Awards Banquet

By Kaylee Layton
UT Extension

Over the past year, Marshall County 4-H'ers have been participating in contests, service projects, judging teams, raising and caring for livestock for shows, and doing various other 4-H activities. Hard work deserves to be recognized and 4-H'ers were able to be awarded for their 4-H participation at the Marshall County 4-H Awards Banquet. The banquet was held on August 26 and was graciously sponsored by the Marshall County Farm Bureau. Attendees were honored to hear from Delia Marchant, a 4-H'er from Giles County who serves on the State 4-H Council as a Central Region Junior Representative. She encouraged the youth to take on every opportunity in 4-H that they could and they would experience the rewards from it.

4-H is a youth development organization that aims to help youth build crucial life skills such as leadership, citizenship, communication, self-confidence, and teamwork. There are many ways for youth to be involved with 4-H, some kids raise their own livestock or lease livestock to show in the yearly shows, some get involved by doing service projects, and others participate through school clubs. Whatever it is, those youth involved with 4-H put in extra effort outside of the classroom this past year.

The annual awards banquet is a way for 4-H'ers to be acknowledged for the work that they have done. Multiple awards were given to 4-H'ers, starting with the Achievement Award. The Achievement Award went to those 4-H'ers that had high participation in the 4-H contests, livestock shows, service projects, and other 4-H activities. The following were awarded the Achievement Award:

4th Grade: Kingston Alred, Makaylee Bishop, Alivia Lohr, Bo Brewer, Kylee Hitchcock, Kezia Ervin, Kathryn Hopper, Niyam Patel, Raegan Ragsdale, Annie Hobbs, and Katie York

5th Grade: Lena Deuermeyer, Maisy Stewart, Lillian Amonette, Annika Anderson, Parker McElhaney, Madison Hay, Landry Smith, Kyndall Atwater, and Kiley Wiles

6th Grade: Savannah Davidson, Matthew Brindle, Gabriel Cook, Elizabeth Edwards, Kaly Hinds, Levi Riner, Sydnee Turner, Audrey Hobbs, Sara Kate Walker, and Dominic Viazzan

The Outstanding 4-H'er award went to those 4-H'ers that met the qualifications in their age group. Most of these 4-H'ers competed in all the 4-H contests and attended a county and sub-region contest. The

Chapel Hill delays food measures

By Scott Pearson

Two ordinances on the Chapel Hill Mayor and Board of Aldermen agenda Monday night were both deferred to future meetings after opposition from local restaurant owners.

Both ordinances were facing a final vote after previous approvals at earlier meetings.

A proposed fats, oils, and grease policy brought the most opposition.

The measure was initially proposed months ago by the town's consulting engineer, particularly in light of plans to construct a new waste water treatment facility.

Non water soluble fats and oils introduced into the waste water system create maintenance issues by clogging pipes.

Hugo Lopez, owner of Amigo's Restaurant, expressed concerns about the impact that the ordinance, as currently written, would have on food service establishments in town.

Lopez argued that restaurants already had grease traps and similar devices and that some of the proposed requirements could cost upwards of $15,000.

He suggested a meeting in which both engineers and restaurateurs were present to discuss the issue so that the aldermen could understand the full impact

Harwell oath

Third Ward Councilwoman Peggy Harwell takes the oath of office from Judge Lee Bussart on Tuesday. Harwell was elected in August to the seat that she had been appointed to in order to finish the unexpired term of her husband, Councilman C.H. Harwell. Holding the Bible while Harwell takes the oath is C.H. Harwell's sister, Lois Aymett. Ed. note—Last week the final line of the caption for this item was inadvertently cut off. and a solution that fit both parties could be reached.

Aldermen agreed to defer the vote until more information could be gathered.

Also moved to a future meeting was a final vote on revised food truck license fees.

At the August meeting, a food truck owner explained to the board that, as it stood, Chapel Hill's permitting fees were far and above any comparable municipality for food trucks.

The town did not have an ordinance for food trucks, meaning they fell under transient vendor permits, which cost $50 every two weeks per location.

In response, the town drafted the ordinance which would set permit fees for trucks at $120 per year.

Lopez said that his licensing fees were much higher and questioned the fairness of such a low fee.

Newly sworn in Aldermen Benjamin Piper said that the proposed lower fee for food trucks "felt like a slap in the face for our brick and mortar folks."

Aldermen agreed to gather more information and address the issue in the future.

In other business, the board approved joining the Tennessee Consolidated Retirement Service to provide pension and 401k retirement services for the town's employees.

The board also unanimously chose Alderman Marion Joyce to continue in the role of vice mayor for another two year term.

Go Gold Saturday with MCCF

September is Childhood Cancer Awareness month and the Marshall County Cancer Foundation will host the Go Gold Festival at Rock Creek Park on Saturday, September 17. Admission is free. Beginning at 9 a.m. there will be a Miss Go Gold Pageant for Tiny Miss, Little Miss, Mini Miss, Jr. Miss, and Miss (ages 1 to 12). Following the pageant, The O'Donnells will provide entertainment. Their music brings a wide variety of musical influences from traditional country, gospel, blue grass, and early rock.

We began the process of being a non-profit in late Summer 2016 and were officially a 501(c)(3) in January 2017. The Foundation is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of people with a variety of experience and expertise, who volunteer their time and resources. The mission of the board is to provide financial assistance to Marshall County residences that are actively battling cancer and have completed the application, provided all required information, and meet the guidelines. All money raised stays in Marshall

County to help eligible applicants with rent/mortgage, utility payments, and/or a Kroger gift card to help with prescriptions, food, or gas to and from treatment. The hope is that our assistance helps relieve some of the emotional stress that cancer can financially put on a patient or their family. You can follow the Foundation on Facebook @mccancerfoundation or http://marshallcancerfoundation.org. To contact a board member email mccancerfoundation@gmail.com or by mail MCCF, P.O. Box 82, Belfast, TN

At 2:30 p.m., yellow rubber ducks will be dropped into Rock Creek for the Duck Race where the first, second, third, and last place will receive a cash prize. Ducks will be available for purchase till drop time. There will be a rock climbing wall, a sticky wall, and toddler's rescue heroes play area from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.. Food vendors will be available all day. The Marshall County Cancer Foundation (MCCF) is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization.

Dorm life: good, bad or ugly?

By Danny Tyree

So, having earned an associates degree from our local community college, my son Gideon is now pursuing a bachelor's degree in mechatronic engineering from my old alma mater.

This only child who had never really spent the night away from home is cautiously adapting to dormitory life. ("Dormitory": from the Latin for "Who needs Latin? We have pantsies to raid and fire extinguishers to discharge!")

So far, he and his roommate are coexisting amicably; but I have seen enough "roommate from hell" stories online to know this is not everyone's college experience. (Atheists have terrible dorm anecdotes. Who wants to hear about the "roommate from a post-death state of nonexistence"? But I digress.)

Numerous circumstances can create friction between roommates. The recurring complaint about "failure to observe boundaries" figures into one of Gideon's favorite anecdotes about my college days.

I remember following my friend John back to his dorm room. (Perhaps this was the time we failed to get into a sold-out showing of "The Rocky Horror Picture Show."). John generously offered me some potato chips. While I was munching, his roomie Ralph (a future lawyer) walked in and let it be known that he was the actual owner of the aforementioned snacks. Ralph dryly quipped, "Huh. It says right on the bag, 'Goes great with dips,' and you were drawn right to them!"

Yes, ground rules must be set - about borrowing, bedtime, thermostats, hygiene, visitors, decorations, TV/stereo volume and the like. And still there are problems. ("Were you raised in a barn??? Those pastel earbuds are throwing off the whole feng shui of the room!")

I can think of at least two freshmen who assumed it would be fun, fun, fun to room with their high school compadre, only to have things head south in a hurry. Suddenly, BFF started standing for Butthead Facing Fury.

I always took the luck of the draw when it came to roommates. I have not been in contact with any of my roomies since I graduated, but I still cherish my memories.

Ken pulled off the lofty goal of being both a comic book nerd and a ladies' man. I remember Ken playing a Richard

Pryor LP, which had the Pied Piper effect of drawing neighbors into the room one by one, until we had a full house. Of course, that's not saying much for a dorm room. You can't write home, "Dear Mom and Dad, I'm feeling claustrophobic" without opening the window or hallway door to have room to write "claustrophobic."

Nate was a gentle soul who had issues with my politics, my lack of rhythm and the audacity I displayed in not being born in Philadelphia. (What can I say? I won "rebellious fetus of the trimester" three times in a row.)

At least I didn't have to room with the guy who lived in my friend Jack's dorm. Jack dubbed him "Sieg Heil!" because he could often be seen alone in his room doing a sort of goosestepping dance to loud polka music. I suspect Sieg! was next to worthless in late-night study sessions. ("I know nothing! I see nothing! I hear nothing!")

I hope Gideon continues to enjoy dorm life, earns his degree and lands a respectable job. I hope he finds plentiful chips for his electronic projects.

And that Ralph doesn't show up with a cease-and-desist order. *Sigh*

POLICE BLOTTER

Road rage escalated into alleged threats as several people spent part of a day last week arguing over speeding.

A resident of Stegall Road told a Marshall County deputy he yelled "Slow down!" at a speeding driver who almost lost control of her truck while passing his home where he was working in the front yard. The driver sped by again moments later, this time flashing a raised finger as the resident yelled "Slow down!"

Later in the day the man was driving on Wade Brown Road and passed the alleged speeder, yelling "Slow down" again a third time, a Marshall County Sheriff's Office report said. She began following him. He stopped at the Farmington fire hall, where the woman drove up cursing as he said for the fourth time she needed to slow down.

Moments later the speeder, accompanied by five or six other people, showed up in front of his home. The resident held a revolver by his side as a man among the group allegedly threatened to attack. The victim said he fired a shot into the air - without aiming the gun at anyone - and told the group he would defend himself. The man allegedly refused to leave and continued cursing as the speeding woman said the resident was on video and would be arrested. The group left when the resident called 911.

A deputy inspected the weapon and noted it was loaded with one spent casing in the cylinder.

The accused group was questioned by a detective and admitted going to the home, but refused to identify themselves. The speeder's brother told a deputy they heard several shots fired as they passed the residence. The detective noted those with the woman repeatedly changed their stories.

No charges were filed.

A man who claimed he was punched in the face by several men and his wrecker stolen was charged by the Marshall County Sheriff's Office with vandalism over $2,500 and filing a false report.

Christopher Chad Smotherman called a Marshall County deputy Aug. 30 claiming he'd been punched in the eye in the Laws Hill area and the wrecker, owned by a Lebanon company, stolen. He also said his phone was stolen and he'd walked to Christiana before notifying authorities.

The wrecker was found in a ditch on Clay Hill Road around 30 minutes after the report was filed. Smotherman has since admitted to MCSO Capt. Jimmy Oliver he panicked after running the wrecker into the ditch and spinning the rear tires down to the steel belts. Damage to the wrecker was estimated at $9,000.

Smotherman allegedly admitted making the false report. Bond was set at $24,000.

A generator and car stereo amplifier were stolen Saturday or Sunday from a home on Darnell Mealer Road, according to a Lewisburg Police Department report.

A gooseneck trailer stolen in Limestone County, Alabama between Aug. 9-12 was recovered last Thursday on Collier Road by the Marshall County Sheriff's Office.

Two people were arrested on drug charges last week.

Methamphetamine was found on a driver stopped by Lewisburg police Thursday, Sept. 8, for outstanding warrants including driving on a revoked license.

A total of 2.12 grams of meth and several syringes were allegedly found in the car driven by Lacey Louise Russell, 38, of Marshall Street. Her license is revoked due to a DUI conviction.

Russell was also charged with possession of methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia. Bond was set at $3,500.

Approximately .66 grams of meth were found on a passenger in a vehicle involved in a wreck Wednesday, Sept. 7, at Taco Bell on North Ellington Parkway.

Amanda Robison, 42, of Franklin was charged after the vehicle was searched due to the driver having a large sum of money in his possession, Lewisburg police said.

Peter Sparks, 31, of Culleoka was charged with driving on a suspended license and for a financial responsibility violation due to his vehicle being uninsured. Sparks was turned over to Maury County authorities for service of an outstanding warrant.

What is your favorite part about your job with the Tribune?
I love sports, writing, and photography, so combining these things to create a conduit to the community that I grew up in and continuing to build relationships and a legacy is such a blessing.

What is your favorite vacation spot?
My favorite vacation spot is anywhere with sun and water.

What is your favorite movie and why?
My favorite movie is A League of Their Own. I loved that movie from the get-go, but it really became special to me after our Marshall County Little League all-star team won the state championship in 1998 and again in 2000. Us girls grew up playing together and continued through high school, so I really understand and respect the camaraderie of the teams in the movie.

Chapel Hill Mayor Mike Faulkenberry signed a proclamation Monday night designation the week of September 17 through 23 as Constitution Week in the town. Saturday, Sept. 17, is the 235th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution and, each year, the Daughters of the American Revolution strive to educate and remind the nation of the importance of that document.

At Monday night's monthly board meeting, Chapel Hill Mayor Mike Faulkenberry, after swearing in new aldermen, swore in the newest member of the Chapel Hill Police Department, Duncan Mitchell.

4-H

Outstanding 4-H'ers this year are:

4th Grade: Alivia Lohr, Bo Brewer, Kylee Hitchcock, Makaylee Bishop, and Katie York.

5th Grade: Lena Deuermeyer, Maisy Stewart, and Lillian Amonette.

6th Grade: Savannah Davidson and Matthew Brindle

The Continuing Service Award was awarded to Will Beasley, Jude Strasser, Karlie Lohr, Natalie Pasetti, Joshua Sullivan, and Hannah VunCannon. These youth exhibited leadership, participated in, and promoted 4-H throughout their communities.

Lastly, the "I Dare You" Award went to youth who demonstrate personal integrity and are emerging leaders in the community. The "I Dare You" award can only be received once in a 4-H'ers career and this year it was given to Elizabeth Beasley and Joseph Johns.

An important part of the 4-H banquet is initiating new members into the State 4-H Honor Club. The State 4-H Honor Club is a recognition program where youth can be honored and recognized for their 4-H project work, goal setting, community service and character building. Any youth in the 6th-12th grade can become a member of the State 4-H Honor Club through an application process. This year, Marshall County initiated six new members into the State 4-H Honor Club, Elizabeth Beasley, Karlie Lohr, Joshua Sullivan, Matthew Brindle, Jude Strasser, and Earlen Heaton.

4-H would not be possible without the support from teachers, volunteers, and sponsors in the county. These supporters were given recognition and their support is always appreciated. The following volunteers were honored were, Deborah Foster, Emily Gordon, Joe Boyd Liggett, Morgan Luna, Rebecca Karban, Chase VunCannon, Shelby Lohr, Ross Strasser, and Linda Prince. Teachers that were recognized were from Cornersville Elementary, Diane Owens, Connie Campbell, and Carla Caldwell. From Westhills, Jessie York and Micah Anderson. Lastly, sponsors that graciously donated money or resources to the 4-H program this year were, Marshall County Farm Bureau, Lewisburg Farm Center, Marshall Farmers Co-op, Marshall County FCE, Marshall County JEDCB, Henry and Pat Dowlen, Nash Family Farms, Glenn and Helen Woodard, Ken and Melanie Jordan, Jonas and Jason Gillespie, and Frank Kilpatrick.

The staff at the UT Extension office are proud of these 4-H'ers and grateful for those that have made the Marshall County 4-H program successful this year. If you are interested in learning more about 4-H you can contact Kaylee Layton at 931-359-

4th graders: Alivia Lohr, Katie York, Raegan Ragsdale, Niyam Patel, Bo Brewer, Annie Hobbs, Kathryn Hopper, Kylie Hitchcock, Kezia Ervin

Our heart's treasure

"Then the Pharisees and scribes asked [Jesus], Why walk not Thy disciples according to the tradition of the elders, but eat bread with unwashed hands? He answered and said unto them, Well has Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honors Me with their lips, but their heart is far from Me. Howbeit in vain do they worship Me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men." - Mark 7:5-7

A folk historian went into the Appalachian Mountains seeking to do an original documentary on the simple life of the Appalachian mountain people. After he met a few families, he got their permission to come back with his camera and interview them the next week. Meanwhile, those families were very busy. When the folk historian returned to interview the people and take pictures. To his surprise, they were not their original selves. They cleaned things up, straightened up the barn, did repairs to the house, and everyone were dressed up in their Sunday's finest, not to mention that even their pig had a ribbon tied to its curly tail.

What an illustration of hypocrisy. The same thing happens in religion. Many church-goers give their Sunday morning appearance.

They dress up in religious garb and go through the motions of worship. They give the performance of being righteous on the outside by their rituals, when in fact God says that they are unrighteous on the inside (Matthew 23:27). Understand that religion is nothing more than tying a ribbon on a pig's tail to make things look godly when it is not. Before the All-knowing Almighty God, religion is a façade, because God knows the thoughts and intents of our heart. God seeks those "true worshippers" who worship Him "in spirit and in truth" (John 4:23).

In His Sermon on the Mount, religious hypocrisy is precisely what the Lord Jesus Christ warned the people about. Jesus Christ taught, "Take heed that you do not your alms (righteous acts) before men, to be seen of them: otherwise you have no reward of your Father which is in heaven" (Matthew 6:1). The Jews had the beauty of the Temple, the most exquisite rituals, chants, and sweet-smelling fragrance, yet Jesus Christ, some 14 times, called out the pious scribes, Pharisees, and priest as hypocrites. It was so beautiful on the outside, but He knew that their heart was far from God and they worshiped Him in vain. So Christ firmly warned His disciples not to fall into such religious hypocrisies. You see, God desires a heart relationship - not religious performance. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, taught, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind, and with all your strength..." (Mark 12:30). Jesus Christ taught about a "pure heart" (Matthew 5:8) and an "onest and good heart" (Luke 8:15). So where is our heart? "For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also" (Matthew 6:21). Is Christ our heart's treasure?

Local runners, walkers gather to finish Fletcher's run

By Chris Siers
sports@t-g.com

LEWISBURG — Something as simple as an early morning jog is supposed to be a safe outlet for anyone.

That tragically wasn't the case for Memphis mother and teacher Eliza Fletcher.

Fletcher was abducted and murdered during an early morning run on September 2.

Her murder sent shockwaves throughout the nation and the response created a voice that would not be silenced.

Across the nation, women gathered at 4 a.m. on Friday to finish Fletcher's run and locally, 75 runners and walkers joined in the early morning hours to finish her run.

The 4 a.m. meeting time symbolized the time Fletcher left for her final run on that fateful morning.

The local runners gathered at Functional Fitness and the baseball/softball association lit up the morning sky with the field lights.

Runners had three distances to choose from, ranging from one to three miles.

Leading the way, the Marshall County High School cross country team set the pace for the run.

Those who honored Fletcher in the run joined their voices in unison for those women who enjoy even the simplest of sports like running will not be overshadowed by those who would do them harm.

"After putting out the initial invite, it quickly became evident that a chord was struck, especially among the women of our community, and more parking would be needed than Functional Fitness could provide," Jennifer Wenneker said.

Wenneker helped organize the event and promoted the outreach to get runners to join for the run.

"It was heart-warming to see our young people leading the way. In my mind, that was very symbolic. They will be instruments of societal change that we desperately want and need to see," Wenneker added.

Runners gather to honor the life of Liza Fletcher, whose life was taken during a pre-dawn run on September 2.

Tiffany Tubville (left) and her friend Jane Burnett both took part in the run to honor Liza Fletcher.

Runners from across the nation hosted similar runs in solidarity that stand as a stern opposition to violence against women.

Amber Wright was another participant who joined in finishing Fletcher's run and she said the emotions of joining other local women in the run were overwhelming.

"I wasn't expecting to be so full of emotion while getting ready that morning. To know it was her last time doing some of the things we don't even think about like tying our shoes, brushing our hair and teeth, when we arrived to the ball field that morning," Wright said.

"To see so many of our friends there was just, wow. Jennifer's speech said it all. We should never have to take exercise away from our daily routines just because we have to protect ourselves. It was simply overwhelming, yet a blessing to be able to do that run."

Many runners felt a connection to Fletcher, being a runner, mother and even a teacher.

"Eliza being kidnapped while running hit close to home for the running community. We can all relate to trying to get our run in whenever it's possible in our day, and as a similar aged wife & mother of two young kids myself my heart breaks for her family that she couldn't come back home to because of this evil act committed," Tiffany Tubville said.

The local turnout in the gathering on Friday morning symbolized so much more than just a memorial run, but a voice of opposition to violence against women.

"It was touching to see the support from our local Marshall County community that early in the morning at 4:20 a.m., Friday September 9th, knowing that many other communities around Tennessee were also meeting to honor Eliza Fletcher's life, the passion she had for running, and to grieve her tragic death by an awful crime," Tubville said.

Safety in running is always a concern for women runners, but from the turnout of those on Friday, members of the walk, run and cycle community have been impacted Fletcher's death.

Her story has impacted many runners she never even met by drawing the community closer together and putting a spotlight on runner safety.

"I spoke to two ladies afterwards about races we've done, and it's amazing how the shared interest can bond us together. I hope that our running, walking and cycling community continues to grow because not only is it wonderful way to stay active, but it's also a great way to make friends that look out for each other," Tubville added.

Marshall County High School cross country runner Kamea Johnson agreed when asked why she wanted to run in the early morning hours on Friday.

"We wanted to finish Eliza's run and to show that people care of all ages," Johnson said.

If Fletcher's story has told society anything, it's the fact the running community will not stand for such injustices and has brought together an even closer solidarity.

While Fletcher was unable to finish her run, the local community banded together to finish it for her.

Tigers blow out defending state champs

By Chris Siers
sports@t-g.com

LEWISBURG — Beating the defending state champion is impressive enough on its own.

Going on a 42-0 run to reach a running clock by the end of the third quarter is a statement win.

That's just what happened for the Marshall County Tigers (4-0, 2-0) on Friday night in their 42-7 thumping of defending Class AAAA state champion Tullahoma.

"We're just so proud of our kids. They're not the same team they were last year, but we're thrilled our kids won a big game in convincing fashion against a really good program," Marshall County coach Thomas Osteen said.

Friday's game got off to an odd start for the Tigers, with the Marshall County offense not seeing the field for over 10 minutes of game time, thanks to a pair of lengthy Wildcat drives and some special teams magic courtesy of Tiger sophomore Aja Jones.

Tullahoma (1-2, 0-1) took the game's opening drive 80 yards over nearly five minutes to the end zone to strike first on a Nathan De-laughter four-yard strike.

On the following kickoff, Jones took the kick return 96 yards to the house, evening the score after Wyatt Joyce's successful kick after.

The Wildcats' second drive began on their own 20-yard line again, but it was a fake punt on fourth down that allowed Tullahoma to move the chains.

The drive eventually stalled and allowed the Tiger offense to finally get on the field.

Marshall County's first possession, however, went nowhere and after a false start on fourth down backed the Tigers up, Osteen opted to punt.

Tullahoma muffed the reception and the Tigers took over on the Wildcat four-yard line, which set up the go-ahead score which came on a four yard toss by Teat to Jayden Randolph.

Marshall County did not trail again.

"Our defense, after that first drive, really played well, put pressure on their quarterback and made every yard tough for them. Then offensively, we got going a little bit in the third quarter," Osteen said.

Neither team was particularly effective in the second quarter, but it was the Marshall County defense that didn't allow the Wildcats to move the chains once in the frame.

That 14-7 score held through the remainder of the half, but in the third quarter, everything flipped on a dime for the Tigers and the earlier miscues and penalties were cleaned up.

Kicking off a 28-point third quarter, the Tigers' opening drive of the second half went 75 yards and was capped by a quarterback sneak into the end zone by Teat, bumping the Marshall County lead to 21-7 after Joyce's successful kick.

Forcing a punt on the following Wildcat drive, Marshall County needed just five plays before senior tailback Demari Braden sliced into the end zone, coming just 3:21 after Teat's sneak.

With Braden's score making it a 28-7 lead for the home team, it was the Marshall County defense that answered the bell as the game continued to stretch into the third quarter.

The Tigers' defensive front continued to wear down the Wildcat offensive line, allowing Marshall County to pressure De-laughter in the backfield.

On the Tullahoma 28-yard line, it was the tandem of linebacker Trey Warner and defen-CELINA — Not much whet the Cornersville Bulldogs' way in Friday night's 38-6 non-region loss at Clay County.

In the Battle of the Bulldogs, the Clay County Dogs shutout Cornersville through the first half and limited the effectiveness on the offensive side of the ball.

In total, Cornersville totaled 143 yards of offense, with 132 coming on the ground.

Junior Ben Franklin provided the lone highlight of the night for the Bulldogs, scoring on a 90-yard touchdown jaunt with 1:29 left in the third quarter.

Cornersville's two-point conversion attempt, failed, however.

Clay County proved to be fairly balanced on offense, rushing for three touchdowns and 253 yards on the ground, and adding two more through the air to go along with 146 passing yards.

Cornersville looks to bounce back in the win column on Friday night at Collinwood.

Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Tigers

ensive end Brock Anderson that broke through and came up with the next score for Marshall County.

Warner, who had been a terror in the Wildcat backfield, sacked De-laughter, forcing a fumble that took a Tiger bounce and Anderson was able to scoop and score from four yards out.

“I don't think we're close yet and I think it's evidenced by how we started the game. We have a bunch of good pieces. We can compete on offense. We can compete on defense. On special teams, we can compete. I don't think we're close to playing our best game. As a coach, you want to get that each week, but I feel like if we keep getting better, we can be a tough team to beat by the end of this year,” he said.

“Those kids are such great kids. Trey Warner has played a ton of football for us and is having a great year at linebacker. Anderson—that's one of the reasons you love high school football. He's a kid that gets everything out of his ability. What a great memory he will have for the rest of his life,” Osteen said.

Marshall County got one final score in the third quarter after forcing a punt with 31 seconds left and it was Teat again going to the air, this time connecting with Randolph for the second time, this time on a 39-yard touchdown pass for the final score of the night to reach a running clock.

Teat completed 11-of-17 passes for 145 yards and a pair of scores—both to Randolph.

As a team, the Tigers managed just 69 rushing yards, with Antomme Cowthorn's 34 yards on six carries leading the team.

But as lop-sided as the final score was, Osteen feels his team's best football is still ahead of the Tigers.

Marshall County totaled 214 total offensive yards.

The win marks the second region victory of the season for the Tigers.

Next week, Marshall County will host Hillwood, who is fresh off its first win of the season over Montgomery Central.

Raiders spoil Rockets' homecoming

By Kacy Kincaid
Sports Writer

CHAPEL HILL — The spirited atmosphere was just right on homecoming night at The Rock Friday, where the Forrest Rockets (2-2, 0-1) hosted the Moore County Raiders (4-0, 1-0), but the Rockets couldn't pull off the non-conference win, suffering their second loss in as many weeks, 46-21.

Tribune Photos by Kacy Kincaid

Quarterback Dawson White and the undefeated Raiders deemed themselves too much to handle for the Rockets, who were on a roller coaster of valuable drives mixed with turnovers and flawed defense.

Riley Durbin makes the tackle on Raiders quarterback Dawson White.

Despite turning the ball over on their first two possessions, Forrest freshman Eli Bell, who led the Rockets with 116 yards on the evening, found 77 of those yards in a long sprint to the end zone for the first touchdown of the game with 3:58 to go in the first quarter.

81-yard jaunt, giving the Raiders a firm lead at 27-7.

But Forrest found their footing toward the end of the quarter, with multiple Rockets coming together to move the ball upfield after a gainful kickoff return by senior Chris Davis.

Gavin Grissom added the extra point, giving the Rockets a 7-0 lead.

With 1:24 remaining in the half, Ryan Hill completed a 21-yard pass to Bell, keeping the Rockets in the game at 27-14 after the successful kick.

“Eli Bell is playing well right now. Bell trusts the blocking up front and has great vision,” Rocket coach Eli Stephenson said.

It wasn't just the Forrest offense that came alive to round out the half.

It took one minute and three plays for White to move the ball up the field for the Raiders, covering 54 yards in two passes to Alex Copeland, and ending the possession with a three-yard quarterback keeper, evening the score at 7-7 after Blake Bradford's extra point.

Ayden Hinrichs made a crucial stop, and Luke Swihart applied the pressure moments later to force an incomplete pass, thwarting any Moore County plans.

The Rockets coughed up the ball on the next possession, Moore County recovering the fumble and taking advantage.

At the half, the Raiders held the lead at 27-14.

White teamed up with Logan Hegwood on two drives to gain 48 yards, putting the Raiders in position for White to connect with Keller Morey on a 13-yard touchdown pass.

The Raiders' momentum continued into the second half, starting off with a 95-yard kickoff return by Hegwood, and another White touchdown with 1:48 to go.

And the turnovers kept coming for the Rockets.

Bell carried for a gain of eight to finish off the third quarter and came back in the fourth to carry for another 11 yards to land the Rockets in their own territory.

This time in the form of an interception, lending a hand to White and the Raiders on their next touchdown that came with 8:51 left in the second quarter.

A flag was thrown on a pass from Hill to Carson Yates, charging the Raiders with the late hit. Tayton Swift pounced on the opportunistic penalty, scoring on a 10-yard touchdown run. But it was too little too for the Rockets.

The next possession didn't pan out much better. Forrest is forced to punt, and Moore County lands on the Rockets 19 yard line. White strikes again on the next play with an deal with 9:40 still left to play.

The Rockets will travel to Summertown Friday to take on the Eagles (1-3, 0-1) in region play.

“We can't turn the ball over. It puts us in a bad position,” Stephenson said.

“We have to work on the Forrest Rockets this week. We have to play as one.”

Eli Bell hauls in the 21-yard touchdown catch for the Rockets.

Tayton Swift carries the ball for the Rockets in the second half.

LEWISBURG — It took a little longer than scheduled to complete the Wells Cup, featuring all three Marshall County High Schools, but in the end, the three-day event wrapped up on its second go-around at Saddle Creek, after the first attempt was rained out last month.

In the end, it was the Forrest Rockets taking the team win in the Wells Cup, while the Lady Bulldogs claimed the team title in the girls' side of competition.

Individually, Marshall County's Easton McMahon edged out Forrest's Noah Brown with a three-day score of 124 to earn low medalist honors.

He shot a 124, edging Brown's 126. Forrest's Kelton Grubbs finished third with a three-day total of 129.

In the team standings, Forrest turned in a three-day total of 542, while Cornersville finished with a 618.

Brown led the charge in Day 3 of the event, turning in a 42 to lead the Rockets to the win.

In the girls' side of the event, it was the consistency of Cornersville's Annabelle Mulliniks and Jayli Childress that led the Lady Bulldogs to the three-day total of 264.

While the Lady Bulldogs took the team win,

Forrest's Maggie Browning claimed low medalist honors, edging out Mulliniks, who finished four strokes back.

Browning turned in a three-day total of 118, while Mulliniks finished with a 122.

At Saddle Creek, the Forrest boys turned in a total of 188, with Grubbs and Williamson joining Brown in the 40s with a 47 and 48, respectively.

Luke Perry also shot a 51.

Coby Gibson turned in the round-low for the Bulldogs with a 44, while Micah Riddle carded a 51.

Ayden Campbell shot a 55 while Brax Hunter finished his round with a 60.

Browning continued her stellar play to capture the individual win by shooting a 36 for her final day in the tournament. Ava Edmonson turned in a 61 for a total 97 in Day 3.

Mulliniks and Childress each shot a 41 and a 46 to post an 87 team score.

Marshall County's Nellie Neece finished her round with a 58.

CHAPEL HILL — Thursday night's District 6-A backyard brawl matchup between the Community Viqueens and Forrest Lady Rockets delivered a physical, 80-minute melee that resulted in a 1-1 draw.

Forrest struck the first blow within the first five minutes of the match, only for the Viqueens to answer before the half.

That score stood through the remainder of regulation.

For the Rockets, it was Maddie Stalneck-er that put the Lady Rockets on the board early in the match off a long shot, 30 yards out from the goal.

Community continued to pour on the runs at the Forrest goal, but

Middle Rockets take big homecoming win over Cascade

By Kacy Kincaid
Sports Writer

CHAPEL HILL — It was a slow start in Forrest Middle's homecoming game Thursday evening, where the Rockets took on the Cascade Champions, earning the win 48-8.

Slow start aside, the Rockets went full throttle in the last minute of the first quarter.

Jacob Tinchler carried the ball for 23 yards to put Forrest in better scoring position at the 14-yard line, where Fletcher Fields took the opportunity, going to the end zone on the carry and adding the extra two to make it 8-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Cascade was forced to punt early in the second quarter, where the Rockets took over at mid-field, where Fields then found another chance to score on a 50-yard run.

The troubled Champions were not short of turnovers.

With less than three minutes left in the half, Cascade turned the ball over on downs, ultimately resulting in a Fields 44-yard sprint across the goal line and Quincy Mitchell scoring on the two-point conversion, giving the Rockets a 24-point lead.

Before the Champions could make it out of the half, Mitchell picked off a Cascade pass, cruising upfield to the four-yard line.

Tinchler took over with the four-yard dash across the goal line.

The Fields two-point conversion was good and the Rockets held a strong lead of 32-0 with 24 seconds left in the half.

On the first play of the following Cascade possession, Jon Hightower recovered a Champion fumble, allowing Tristan Goad to take advantage, scoring on a 46-yard carry with only seven seconds left in the half.

Quarterback Isaac Cruse made it a 40-0 game with the added two-point conversion.

Tinchler scored on a 15-yard carry in the third quarter after another Forrest interception by Goad.

Finally finding the end zone in the fourth quarter after a pair of gainful runs, Cascade made it on the board.

The Rockets have a 5-0 record with only two regular season games left.

They will travel to Cannon County on Thursday.

Fletcher Fields keeps his legs churning on the carry for the Rockets.

Fresh faces shine on Titans' bleak day

Will Carter

Carter's Corner

By Will Carter
Sports Writer

On what was already an ugly Sunday weather wise, the Tennessee Titans didn't do much collectively to make it better as they suffered a tragic 21-20 loss in the season opener against the New York Giants, but a few rookies offered some light on the gloomy day.

Let's go back to a couple weeks ago when the Titans released longtime punter Brett Kern, and shocked the fanbase.

Yes, the Titans signed undrafted rookie Ryan Stonehouse from Colorado State back in May, but there wasn't any inclination of him getting the nod over Kern — a consistent punter for over a decade.

But that was exactly the case, and Stonehouse proved himself on many occasions against the Giants.

It's not the best thing for your punter to be on the field, but every team needs a consistent punter to help their defense on the backend.

Stonehouse saw the field six times Sunday with those punts flying for a total of 342 yards which is a 57.0 average per punt.

Three of his punts went for 60 plus yards and three were downed inside the 20 yard line.

While it's just one game in a season of 17 or more, the future looks to be bright for the rookie punter.

Another topic of discussion for the Titans coming into this season was their rookie receivers, Kyle Phillips from UCLA and Treyllon Burks from Arkansas.

Both players saw their fair share of action

Cameron Faulkner/Tennessee Titans

against the Giants and made the most of it.

Phillips couldn't reel in one of his three targets in the first half, but he connected with quarterback Ryan Tannehill six times for 66 yards in the second half, three of which were on the final drive to set up the final field goal.

Tannehill spoke positively of Phillips after the game.

"Kyle has made a bunch of plays for me since training camp. We built up that relationship, and he's shown that he can win consistently in practice and that translates to the game," Tannehill said.

"There were some more opportunities where I thought we had a shot down the field, but we weren't able to connect. I'm looking forward to continuing to take advantage of those situations."

Burks had the longest reception of the two rookie receivers when Tannehill found him crossing the middle for a 27 yard pickup.

For the game, he caught three passes for a total of 55 yards.

The duo were the top two targeted receivers for the Titans and accounted for 45% of their passing yards.

There are a few things that are true from the Titans' performance Sunday.

Did the Titans allow the Giants to mount a second half comeback?

Yes.

Was that probably the Titans easiest game on their schedule for the foreseeable future?

Yes.

Should they have run at least one more play before setting up for the field goal?

Probably, but that's hindsight.

But that doesn't mean it's panic time in Nashville.

More truth out of the Titans' is that they always bounce back from a loss like that because of head coach Mike Vrabel's "blue collar" mentality.

There is also a lot of potential in the new additions to the team, so dwell on the loss for the time being but don't count the Titans out yet.
