

Bulldogs celebrate homecoming

Cornersville capped off homecoming season for the county's three high schools last Friday with the annual parade up Main Street. Hundreds of Cornersville residents lined the route to join in the celebration of the Bulldogs, their place in the community, and Homecoming Queen Jessie Beth Woodard and her court (pictured). The Bulldogs "Road Trip to Victory", this year's homecoming theme, fell short against Eagleville Friday night but that won't diminish Cornersville pride. Three die at rail crossing

A collision with a train killed three siblings in Chapel Hill on Saturday.

At approximately 1:30 p.m., the Toyota Corolla driven by Duvraska Coronado, 22, was crossing over the CSX tracks at Depot Street when it was struck by a southbound train.

Killed in the accident were Duvraska, her sister Magyory Coronado, 26, and brother Wengang Coronado, 29.

All three victims were residents of Nashville.

Another train parked on the second track at the crossing apparently screened their view of the oncoming train.

The accident revived discussions of the safety of that rail crossing which offers one lane access either under or over the tracks without gates or warning lights.

CSX, in a statement, said that traffic warning devices at railroad crossings fell under the oversight of the Tennessee Department of Transportation. TDOT issued a statement that Depot Street and the crossing fell under the jurisdiction of the town of Chapel Hill.

A GoFundMe account established for burial expenses and to fly the mother of the siblings to Nashville from their native Venezuela has, at press time, reached almost $32,000 of a $36,000 goal.

The Umbrella Project

By Patty Blackburn

Members of First Presbyterian Church, 122 2nd Ave. North, and several members of the community combined their talents to work on a project initiated by Tim Holder, "The Umbrella Project." Tim and the church members are always looking for creative ways to reach out to others.

"The idea of painting the umbrellas was with the theme of protection," stated Holder. "We used the idea of God as a loving parent covering us with love and protection. We need to open the umbrella, open our loving arms, to others."

Umbrellas actually date back even before ancient Egypt. The umbrellas were used for protection and provided a symbol of God's love. Through "The Umbrella Project," those involved are opening their hearts to help those in need.

The project turned out to be a fun one with children and adults decorating the umbrellas. This activity helped bring those involved closer together; new acquaintances were made and new skills were learned as they watched each other place their own unique messages on the umbrellas.

Several were painted in bright colors. A few had upbeat messages such as Jesus Loves Me and the words Love, Joy, Faith. One has a hen with her baby chick close to her side. Around them are the words, Let me seek refuge under the shelter of your wings.

Since this was such a great project with so many involved, they decided to display the umbrellas and share the messages. They will later be passed on to shut ins and to those in need.
