

Miss Lewisburg pageant

This year's Miss Lewisburg pageant took place at a familiar pageant location, poolside at the Rec Center. A healthy number of hopefuls entered each of the three pageant's three age groups, vying for the honor of representing the city. Coco Allen was the judges choice, earning the title of Miss Lewisburg 2022. This year's court is: 2022 Miss Lewisburg winners 1st runner-up, Hanna Lewie; 2nd runner-up, Anna Levi; Miss Lewisburg Coco Allen; 3rd runner-up, Hanna Lovins; 4th runner-up, Mallory Woodward For more age group photos from this year's pageant, turn to Page A8 of today's Marshall County Tribune.

Cornersville sees role change

By Scott Pearson

Cornersville has another vacancy to contend with on the Board of Alderman. Town Administrator Taylor Brandon announced Beth Vick's resignation from the board to the monthly meeting last Thursday. She remains, however, on the November 8 ballot to fill the remainder of the term to which she was appointed. Presumably, the board will appoint a replacement following the election. All three incumbents, Doris Arthur, Mary Johnson, and Sheryl McClintock, are unopposed for the three seats on the board that are on the ballot. Vick will still be involved with the town, however. Aldermen selected Vick from three finalists for a part time position in town hall, approved this year, allowing the building to remain open during lunch and freeing Brandon for other duties. "We were fortunate to have as many good applications as we did," said Johnson. That position was not the only one filled by the board. Aldermen voted to appoint Ernest Davidson to the town Industrial Development Board. Mayor John Luna appointed Debbie Davis to fill a vacancy on the Planning Commission. Alderman passed a proposal to make South Park Street one way, allowing for better

A serious accident occurred in Lewisburg, Wednesday, Oct. 5, 2022. CJ Metcalf, 18, from Wartrace, was traveling on Mooresville Highway when a car pulled out of Rambo Hollow Road. Metcalf hit the passenger side of the car and was thrown several feet. He was air lifted to Vanderbilt where is in stable condition after hours of surgery. His injuries include a crushed pelvis and multiple lacerations. As of Oct. 9th, he was been moved to a step down room in ICU. More surgeries will be performed in the days to come.

Chapel Hill sets food truck regs

By Scott Pearson

The Chapel Hill Board settled one issue that has been lingering at Monday nights monthly meeting. Aldermen approved, on final reading, a resolution amending the municipal code to include food truck regulations, after reaching a compromise on the proposed fee structure. One food truck owner raised the issue a few months ago, noting that the code, as it was, placed a much higher cost on food trucks than any other municipality. Chapel Hill did not have food truck regulations, only transient vendor permits, which were intended for fireworks vendors and other seasonal sellers. Cost for a transient vendor license is $50 every two weeks, compared to food truck permits in the region, which generally range between $50 and $100.

The resolution was carried over from last month after aldermen could not agree the $120 annual permit cost included in the resolution was an appropriate fee. Alderman Ben Piper, in particular, felt that number was unfair to the brick and mortar food establishments in town and pushed for a higher fee. The board reached a compromise on a $150 annual fee and approved the resolution. Aldermen also approved a measure which will give the town water utility the flexibility to make billing adjustments due to leaks on a case by case basis and the ability to adjust either the water or the sewer portions of the bill. Mayor Mike Faulkenberry reminded the audience that the deadline for Citizen of the Year nominations is November 4. Nomination forms are available at town hall,

David Burton Appelman

David Burton Appelman was born in Clermont, Iowa May 30, 1931, to Franz and Joyce (Henderson) Appelman. Dave attended Clermont Public School and graduated high school in 1949. Dave was united in marriage with Marilyn Morey, Dec. 25, 1950. This union was blessed with two sons, Burton and Arvin.

Dave had a long and interesting career. Farming, implement dealer, insurance agent, and small engine and appliance repair. The saying was, "If Dave can't fix it, you might as well throw it away!"

Dave is survived by his wife Marilyn, sister Barbra (Streeter) Shining, son Arvin (Catherine), six grandchildren, and twelve great grandchildren. Preceded in death by his parents Franz and Joyce, brother Douglas, son Burton, grandson Anders, and daughter-in-law Debra.

Through the years they enjoyed traveling with the family (49 states before the boys were out of high school). Later they traveled by motorcycle. If there was a square dance near by they were there.

Visitation and lunch was from 11:30 to 1:30 with service at 2:00 at First Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Lewisburg, Sat. October 8. Burial will be at a later date at God's Acres in Clermont, Iowa.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to: First Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Lewisburg, TN; Agathos Classical School, Columbia, TN; or Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, West Union, IA.

Bills-McGaugh & Hamilton Funeral Home is honored to assist the family with cremation arrangements.

circulation of traffic and additional parking in the center of town for the businesses opening in the area.

They also approved an engineering study of sidewalk improvements along the road.

Luna passed along the appreciation of the Cornersville Lions Club for the town events committee taking back responsibility for the annual Halloween in the Park, one of the town's marquee events.

The event was initially started by the town before the Lions Club took over and put on the festival for some 20 years.

The club was reportedly happy to pass the event back to the town, facing issues, like so many community organizations, with necessary manpower.

"I appreciate the Lions Club for doing it that many years," said Luna.

Luna also raised the possibility of establishing a citizen of the year award for the town, with the intention of having the winner light the town Christmas tree each year as part of their recognition.

Aldermen unanimously denied a request for a temporary occupancy permit for the Dollar General store that is nearing completion.

The contractor told aldermen that he was waiting on a water pump needed for the building's sprinkler system due to low water pressure at the location.

The pump is still four weeks from delivery, he said, and Dollar General planned to open in two weeks. The temporary permit would have allowed the building to open, under conditions agreed with the fire department, until installation of the pump brought the structure up to code.

Aldermen approved a budget amendment needed due to joining the Tennessee Consolidated Retirement System.

The board also agreed to a special called meeting for Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 5:30 for a second TCRS vote, allowing the final vote at next months meeting.

Following the special called, aldermen will have a work session to discuss in more detail the impact on restaurants of a proposed fats, oil, and grease regulation, which has been long under discussion.

The board approved the donation of a Chapel Hill Volunteer Fire Department pumper truck, taken out of service with the town, to the East Hickman VFD.

Delwin Keith O'Neal

Delwin Keith O'Neal, age 55 and native of Lewisburg was killed in a car accident Friday, October 7, on the Nashville Highway.

He was a member of the 1986 graduating class of Marshall County High School.

He is survived by his parents Roy and Gail O'Neal, brother Dionne O'Neal, son Jerron Braden, and granddaughter Neveah Davis, all of Lewisburg, and many cousins, nieces, nephews, other relatives, and friends.

Visitation was held Wednesday, October 13, 2022, from 1-2 p.m. with service following at The Liggett Street Church of God. Elder Eddie Shirley is Pastor.

Interment was in Cooke Memorial Gardens.

Advanced Master Beef class offered

On October 21st and 22nd, Marshall and Moore Countys will be offering a chance to take the Advanced Master Beef Class. This two class will cover a wide range of topics that will help educate local beef cattle producers with new and changing strategies to improve their cattle herds. The first day will be held in Lewisburg at the Lewisburg AgResearch and Education Center. This day the topics will include herd health, marketing, and nutrition. Producers will also have the opportunity to listen to a presentation from Green Point Ag and the Marshall County Soil Conservation District. The second day will be held in Lynchburg at the American Legion Building. Topics that will be covered this day include: forages, hay production costs, and internal parasites. Farmers and producers can register for this class by stopping in at the UT Extension Marshall County office on 230 College St, Lewisburg. The cost for the two class is $100 dollars and will include lunch both days. Once a producer has completed the class their certification is good for three years. This helps them when applying for the TN Department of Agriculture's TAEP program. By completing the Advanced Master Beef class, they will be eligible for a 50% cost share on approved programs in the TAEP Application A. If you have any questions about this class or any other agriculture related issues please contact Jonathan Johns at the UT Extension Marshall County Office. 931-359-1929

Chapel Hill native builds on Seabees 80-year legacy

By Megan Brown
Navy Office of Community Outreach

GULFPORT, Miss. - Since 1942, sailors assigned to the U.S. Navy's Construction Force have been building and fighting around the world. Constructionman Isaiah Moretti, a Chapel Hill, Tennessee, native is one of those sailors.

Eighty years ago, members of Navy Construction Battalions were fittingly nicknamed, "Seabees," a play on the C and B initials. They are responsible for building military bases and airfields, supporting humanitarian efforts and conducting underwater construction projects.

"I joined the Navy because it is a family tradition," said Moretti. "It's also something I knew I could do."

Moretti, a 2021 Forrest High School graduate, currently serves with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion One at the headquarters for naval construction forces in Gulfport, Mississippi.

"I want to thank my parents because my dad has been active for 21 years," said Moretti. "My grandfathers from both sides were in the Navy. My grandfather on my dad's side was also an equipment operator, which is the same job I have in the Navy."

Isaiah Moretti

According to Moretti, the values required to succeed in the Navy are similar to those found in Chapel Hill.

"My hometown taught me respect because it is a small town," said Moretti. "You have to learn to get along with people and respect them. Even if you don't like them, you will eventually see them again."

Serving in the Navy means Moretti is part of a team that is taking on new importance in America's focus on strengthening alliances, modernizing capabilities, increasing capacities and maintaining military readiness in support of the National Defense Strategy.

"We don't need an order from Congress to move," said Moretti. "Infrastructure on the Seabees' side is one of the most important aspects to keep the world turning."

With more than 90 percent of all trade traveling by sea, and 95 percent of the world's international phone and internet traffic carried through fiber optic cables lying on the ocean floor, Navy officials continue to emphasize the importance of accelerating America's advantage at sea.

"Maintaining the world's best Navy is an investment in the security and prosperity of the United States, as well as the stability of our world," said Adm. Mike Gilday, Chief of Naval Operations. "The U.S. Navy—forward deployed and integrated with all elements of national power—deters conflict, strengthens our alliances and partnerships, and guarantees free and open access to the world's oceans. As the United States responds to the security environment through integrated deterrence, our Navy must continue to deploy forward and campaign with a ready, capable, combat-credible fleet."

Moretti and the sailors they serve with have many opportunities to achieve accomplishments during their military service.

"I am most proud of shooting expert on both my rifle and pistol marksmanship," said Moretti.

As Moretti and other sailors continue to train and perform missions, they take pride in continuing an 80-year legacy and serving their country in the United States Navy.

"Being in the Navy means service to others above self," added Moretti.

Have you hugged an etiquette expert lately?

By Danny Tyree

"Were you raised in a barn?"

I never had the legendary Mrs. Montgomery as a teacher; but she was a senior class adviser and I needed her input on a school program script, so I made the rookie mistake of assuming her wide-open door meant I could forego the formality of knocking.

Thus, the piercing glare and the intimidating inquiry about sharing living quarters with cattle, swine and the occasional hobo (who was presumably condemned to a vagrant lifestyle because he insisted on CHEWING GUM IN CLASS).

The late Mrs. Montgomery would doubtless be delighted by the recent release of the centennial edition of Emily Post's definitive guide "Etiquette," completely rewritten by two of Ms. Post's great-great-grandchildren. The book is calibrated to bring decorum to a society complicated by Uber, online dating, Zoom meetings, artificial intelligence, self-checkout and the like.

Not that there aren't critics. ("Dude, they didn't list a single tuxedo shop specializing in tuxes that display your underwear for the whole world to see.")

Many others see the book as an indispensable referee in the clash between technology and manners. ("It only took me six months, Grandma, but I'm texting to thank you for saving my life by donating both your kidn - oh, wait, here's another TikTok video. Gotta go.")

On the other hand (the hand reserved for firm handshakes, which -- combined with making eye contact and smiling -- will render everyone you meet so compliant that they will let you whack their butler repeatedly with a croquet mallet), most of us have a love-hate relationship with the demands of etiquette.

We love it when other poor slobbs get brought to justice and hate it when our own charming eccentricities are put under the microscope. ("Okay, smarty - which fancy fork am I SUPPOSED to use to scratch my bunion?")

The book arrives just in time for families torn apart by political disagreements. ("I really want to make my cousin eat crow, but she's a vegan and I need to know the non-fowl equivalent of crow.")

Yes, we live in a time when dinner parties and other invitation-only events are unreasonably stressful. ("I was going to bring a 'plus one,' but the math is too hard. Wish we had better school systems, like in Belgium and those other African countries.")

Guests expecting potent potables at a reception or society soiree face more awkward situations than ever. It used to be a question of "open bar" or "cash bar." Now it's just as likely to be a "let the next generation figure out how to pay for it" bar.

Sure, we chafe at arbitrary, hoity-toity rules of civility; but deep down most of us appreciate an authoritative voice. We know it's not going to kill us to say "please" or "thank you" or "let me pay half since the weight of my body piercings blew out your tires"; but we still like experts to compile the morbidity charts. ("Please" and "thank you" - declared mostly non-lethal. Still hashing out whether 'excuse me' is tied to chronic irritable bellybutton syndrome.")

If your parents failed to teach you all the niceties of polite society, don't despair. It's never too late to learn. When one door closes - another one has a Mrs. Montgomery wannabe waving a big stack of detention slips.

Party until the cows come home - unless it's your home, too.

Finding state pride in three Tennessee asters

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. - Did you know that the aster family gets its name from the Greek word for star? Since I am in the Tri-Star state, I have chosen three native Tennessee asters as the focus of this column. 'Rockcastle aster' (Eurybia saxicastellii), 'Raydon's Favorite' (Symphyotrichum oblongifolium 'Raydon's Favorite') and 'Rachel Jackson' (Symphyotrichum oblongifolium 'Rachel Jackson') are attractive southeastern natives that provide three seasons of interest while supporting wildlife and showcasing what Tennessee stars offer in the landscape.

Our first Tennessee star is the white 'Rockcastle aster' that is native only to Tennessee and Kentucky. This is one of the most visited-by-pollinators plants in East Tennessee according to the latest research at the University of Tennessee. The two other native Tennessee stars cited here are more commonly found. Believed to have originated near Lookout Mountain in southeast Tennessee, 'Raydon's Favorite' is an excellent aromatic aster to add to the garden. It is similar to the standard garden favorite 'October Skies' but has a more compact growth habit and a darker purple color. 'Rachel Jackson', found in former First Lady Rachel Jackson's garden at historic Hermitage mansion in Nashville, has purple flowers that stop you in your tracks when seen en masse. Plant either of the latter varieties in front of a living screen or in a pocket area of the garden that can be viewed from various angles. I love the purple against a contrasting backdrop. While 'Rockcastle aster' blooms from August to November, both 'Raydon's Favorite' and 'Rachel Jackson' bloom October to November.

Each of these asters adds winter interest to the garden when the stems are left uncut and also provides excellent shelter for our native pollinators. Cut stems back in early spring for lush growth.

All three asters grow well in average garden soil and can be found at UT Gardens, Knoxville. 'Rachel Jackson' is on display near the Gardens' Neyland Greenway. 'Raydon's Favorite' grows near the Kitchen Garden and 'Rockcastle aster' in research sites throughout the Gardens. While 'Rockcastle aster' can tolerate partial shade, the other two prefer full sun. 'Rachel Jackson' is hardy to USDA zone 4, 'Raydon's Favorite' is hardy to zone 3 and 'Rockcastle aster' is hardy to Zone 6a - making them ideal perennials to add to your Tennessee home landscape. Plant these asters in a place where you can enjoy their beauty up close and from afar to take advantage of their propensity to attract pollinators and their delightful colors. I encourage you to show your state pride by planting and preserving these three Tennessee stars.

CONSTITUTIONAL
AMENDMENT # 1
Vote For One (1)
0 selected, incomplete

Summary:

This amendment would add a new section to article XI of the Tennessee Constitution to make it illegal for any person, corporation, association, or the State of Tennessee or its political subdivisions to deny or attempt to deny employment to any person because of the person's membership in, affiliation with, resignation from, or refusal to join or affiliate with any labor union or employee organization.

Question:

Shall Article XI of the Constitution of Tennessee be amended by adding the following language as a new section?

It is unlawful for any person, corporation, association, or this state or its political subdivisions to deny or attempt to deny employment to any person by reason of the person's membership in, affiliation with, resignation from, or refusal to join or affiliate with any labor union or employee organization.

YES

NO

Constitutional Amendment # 2
Vote For One (1)

Summary:

This amendment would add to article III, section 12 of the Tennessee Constitution a process for the temporary exercise of the powers and duties of the governor by the Speaker of the Senate-or the Speaker of the House if there is no Speaker of the Senate in office-when the governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of the office of governor. While a Speaker is temporarily discharging the powers and duties of the governor, the Speaker would not be required to resign as Speaker or to resign as a member of the legislature; but the Speaker would not be able to preside as Speaker or vote as a member of the legislature. A Speaker who is temporarily discharging the powers and duties of the governor would not get the governor's salary but would get the Speaker's salary. The amendment would also exempt a Speaker who is temporarily discharging the powers and duties of the governor from provisions in the Constitution that would otherwise prohibit the Speaker from exercising the powers of the governor and from simultaneously holding more than one state office.

Question:

Shall Article III, Section 12 of the Constitution of Tennessee be amended by adding the following language immediately following the current language in the Section?

Whenever the Governor transmits to the Secretary of State, the Speaker of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, a written, signed declaration that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of the office, the powers and duties of the office of Governor shall be temporarily discharged by the Speaker of the Senate as Acting Governor, or if that office is unoccupied, then by the Speaker of the House of Representatives as Acting Governor, until the Governor transmits to the same officials a written, signed declaration that the Governor is able to discharge the powers and duties of the office.

Whenever a majority of the commissioners of administrative departments of the Executive Department transmits to the Secretary of State, the Speaker of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives their written, signed declaration that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of the office, the Speaker of the Senate shall immediately assume the powers and duties of the office as Acting Governor, or if that office is unoccupied, then the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall immediately assume the powers and duties of the office as Acting Governor, until the Governor transmits to the same officials a written, signed declaration that the Governor is able to discharge the powers and duties of the office. Whenever a Speaker is temporarily discharging the powers and duties of the office of Governor as Acting Governor, such Speaker shall not be required to resign the Speaker's position as the Speaker or to resign as a member of the general assembly and shall retain the Speaker's salary and not receive the Governor's salary, but such Speaker shall not preside as Speaker or vote as a member of the general assembly during the time the Speaker is Acting Governor.

Shall Article III, Section 13 of the Constitution of Tennessee be amended by adding the following language immediately before the period at the end of the Section?

CONSTITUTIONAL
AMENDMENT # 2
Vote For One (1)

except as provided in Article III, Section 12 with regard to the Speaker of the Senate or the Speaker of the House of Representatives temporarily discharging the powers and duties of the office of Governor as Acting Governor

and

Shall Article II, Section 26 of the Constitution of Tennessee be amended by adding the following language at the end of the Section?

This section shall not apply with regard to the Speaker of the Senate or the Speaker of the House of Representatives temporarily discharging the powers and duties of the office of Governor as Acting Governor under Article III, Section 12.

NO

AMENDMENT # 3
Vote For One (1)
0 selected, incomplete

Summary:

This amendment would change the current language in article I, section 33 of the Tennessee Constitution, which says that slavery and involuntary servitude, except as punishment for a person who has been duly convicted of crime, are forever prohibited in this State. The amendment would delete this current language and replace it with the following language: "Slavery and involuntary servitude are forever prohibited. Nothing in this section shall prohibit an inmate from working when the inmate has been duly convicted of a crime."

Question:

Shall Article I, Section 33 of the Constitution of Tennessee be amended by deleting the section and substituting instead the following?

Section 33. Slavery and involuntary servitude are forever prohibited. Nothing in this section shall prohibit an inmate from working when the inmate has been duly convicted of a crime.

YES

NO

Whose Father?

"After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name." – Matthew 6:9

When Jesus Christ sat preaching the Sermon on the Mount to His disciples He gave them a model prayer. He started by saying, "After this manner therefore pray..." The idea Christ set forth was – pray along these lines. Not, "Repeat these exact words and that is prayer." Many Christian denominations have just taken this model prayer, sometimes called the Lord's Prayer, and have recited it over and over to the point that it is done "zombie-like" and has lost its spiritual meaning. Jesus Christ taught us not to just repeat prayers heard or prayers read with the mindset that we actually prayed, because that's not prayer. How do we know? Well just before – Christ taught in Matthew 6:7 "But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking." So Christ gives His disciples a warning about repetitive prayers just before He gives them the model prayer. He does so simply because humanity is both religious by nature and spiritually lazy. Christ knows our human tendencies and that we can easily go through the motions of prayer using scripture and fool ourselves, and it only becomes the repeating of religious rhetoric.

At the beginning of this model prayer, the first foundational truth that Christ instructed His followers to do was to address God as Father. If this does not amaze you then maybe you don't know that much about God as you think? You see, this should rock our world because Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is instructing His followers to call the Great Majestic Maker of everything, the Sovereign Creator and Sustainer of all things, the Almighty God that gives life and breath to all – FATHER! Understand that God created the animals, but the animals do not have this privilege to have God as Father. God created all the heavenly angels in all their beauty, but the angels do not have this privilege to have God as Father. Yes – it is even true from God's word that not every human being has the privilege to call God Father. Liberal religion for years have taught the "Universal Fatherhood of God," which means that God is everybody's Father. However, the Bible teaches that there are "children of God" and "children of the devil" (1 John 3:10). What this means is that only those who have belief and faith in God's Son, Jesus Christ, as their Lord, Savior, King, and Redeemer have been adopted into the family of God (Galatians 3:6-9,26). The New Testament teaches that Jesus Christ paid the adoption price for repentant sinners to become children of God, and the adoption price paid was His sinless blood shed upon the cross. In essence, Jesus, the Son of God, is giving those who have faith in Him the privilege to share His Father. Whose Father? Jesus' Father - and our Father!

Firebirds rally past Marshall County in fourth

By Chris Siers
sports@t-g.com

NASHVILLE — For about two and a half quarters, Thursday night's Region 5-AAAA matchup between Pearl Cohn and Marshall County (6-1, 4-1) played right into the Tigers' game plan.

But the game evolved into a tale of two halves as the Firebirds (6-2, 6-0) outscored the Tigers 28-3 in the second half and escaped with the key 35-23 region victory over Marshall County.

"We felt like for two and a half quarters, we executed our game plan as well as we could. I hate we couldn't figure out a way to get another score on the board in the first half," Marshall County coach Thomas Osteen said.

Out of the gates, the Tigers forced the Firebirds offense to go three and out and took just 48 seconds off the clock.

An 18-yard punt set the Tigers up at the Firebird 35-yard line and moving the ball at a snail's pace, playing the clock game.

It was a second-down, 18-yard run by senior tailback Demari Braden that put the Tigers on the board first with 8:49 left in the first.

Pearl Cohn answered the early Tiger score in short order when Javion Kinnard broke a 38-yard touchdown run to even the score at seven apiece, barely three minutes later.

The Tigers continued to get a short field and on the next four drives, found themselves inside the Pearl Cohn 10-yard line.

But on those possessions, the Tigers managed just one touchdown—an eight-yard pass from junior quarterback Silas Teat to sophomore Aja Jones.

That touchdown pass gave Marshall County a 17-7 lead with 8:45 left in the half.

While the offense was able to stay on the field and keep the chains moving, defensively, the Tigers wreaked havoc on the Firebirds in the second quarter, holding Pearl Cohn to two three and outs and an interception by senior linebacker Montai Vaughn, which set up the touchdown pass from Teat to Jones.

With the chance to really blow the game wide open, the Tigers orchestrated a four-minute drive that pressed to the one-half yard-line and on fourth down, Marshall County appeared to cross the goal line, but an illegal substitution penalty by Pearl Cohn called the score back.

On the next play, the Firebirds got off the field with a goal-line stand.

"That would have changed the complexion of the game," Osteen said.

Pinned deep in their territory, the Tigers were able to force a punt with 1:34 left and once again pressed inside the 10-yard line, but were held to a 23-yard field goal by Joyce as time expired, giving Marshall County a 20-7 lead at the half.

Even with the opportunity to put the game out of reach, Marshall County still held a two-possession lead entering the second half.

But while the Tigers were able to play the clock control game and rely on effectively moving the chains throughout the first half, Pearl Cohn's defense began to stiffen up and with 5:02 left in the third, Kamari Thompson picked off a pass by Teat and returned it to the Firebird 42-yard line.

On the next play, quarterback Keshawn Tarlton went to the air and connected with Kinnard on a 58-yard touchdown pass.

Luck bounced the Tigers' way on the next possession following a muffed punt return by Pearl Cohn that set Marshall County up well within Firebird territory, but for the fourth time inside the 10-yard line, the Firebirds held the Tigers out of the end zone and forced a 26-yard field goal by Joyce, once again making it a two-possession game with 11:01 left in the game.

While known for their warp-speed offense, the Firebirds took the following drive to the Marshall County 30-yard line and took over three minutes off the clock before the Tigers forced a turnover on downs with 7:45 left in the fourth.

Leading by nine, momentum bounced back in favor of the home team as Pearl Cohn intercepted Teat for the second time in the game and set up a one-yard touchdown run by Kinnard to pull within two points.

With the momentum shifting to the home team, it was Jones who came up with a 66-yard

Jayden Randolph barrels forward after hauling in a pass from quarterback Silas Teat. Randolph had six catches for 51 yards against the Firebirds.

kickoff return to the Pearl Cohn 23-yard line that appeared to set the Tigers up to either run the clock out or find a score to put the game out of reach.

The drive, however, stalled around the Firebird 20 and on a 37-yard field goal try, it was Pearl Cohn that broke through, blocked the kick and returned the ball 70 yards to take its first lead of the game, 28-23, with just over three minutes left.

Needing to move the ball quickly Antomme Cowthorn returned the following kickoff to the 29-yard line, but again the drive struggled to gain traction and on fourth and eight, a Tiger fumble gave the ball to the Firebirds on the Marshall County 15-yard line.

Tiger quarterback Silas Teat fires a throw despite heavy pressure by the Pearl Cohn defense. He had one touchdown pass to Aja Jones on Thursday night.

Antomme Cowthorn (15) keeps his balance as he stumbles through the pile to pick up a handful of yards in the first quarter.

Vols quarterback Hendon Hooker has worked his way into the Heisman conversation after a stellar star to the 2022 season.

Young vs. Hooker massive QB matchup if it happens

By JOHN ZENOR
AP Sports Writer

It could well be among the marquee quarterback matchups of the season: Alabama's Heisman Trophy winner Bryce Young vs. Tennessee's own emerging candidate, rising star Hendon Hooker.

Or it could be Jalen Milroe and Hooker instead.

Young's sprained right shoulder was being re-evaluated on Monday, but coach Nick Saban was cautiously optimistic about his status for the third-ranked Crimson Tide's game Saturday at No. 6 Tennessee.

"Hopefully we're going to try to get him ready to play this week, but this is something that, you know, nobody can predict how quickly this is going to give him an opportunity to go out and be able to do what he needs to do," Saban said. "And we'll see as the week progresses, but I don't have an update much more than that."

Young hasn't played since early in the second quarter against Arkansas. Jalen Milroe took over the rest of the way in that game and started in Alabama's mistake-filled, 24-20 win over Texas A&M that came down to a goal-line stand.

Hooker, meanwhile, has put up Young-like numbers for one of the most prolific offenses in the nation. He has completed 70% of his passes for 1,432 yards and 10 touchdowns without throwing an interception and has passed Young in the midseason Heisman Trophy odds, according to FanDuel Sportsbook.

"Hooker has really done a nice job of executing their offense," Saban said. "He's one of the leading pass efficiency guys in the country as well as has the ability to extend plays and make plays with his feet."

Young has passed for 1,202 yards, completing 67.2% with 14 touchdowns and three interceptions. The Tide offense hasn't been the same without him, despite Milroe's big-play flashes.

Alabama is just 68th nationally in pass offense while ranking behind only Air Force and Army in running the ball.

Hooker and Young both attended the Manning Academy over the summer.

"Awesome player. Very electric. Love to see him play," Hooker said. "We spent some time at the Manning Academy and chopped it up a little bit. Really just had a good time, a genuine time of enjoying everyone that was there and just having general conversation."

Milroe turned in an uneven performance against the Aggies, losing two fumbles and getting intercepted once against the Aggies. He completed 12 of 19 passes for 111 yards and ran 17 times for another 83.

"I just think Jalen played with a lot of anxiety," Saban said. "I don't think he allowed himself to let his training sort of guide him and trust and believe in it so that he could have success in executing plays. You can't turn the ball over and not execute plays like they're designed."

Tennessee coach Josh Heupel called Milroe "athletic, dynamic with the ball in his hands."

This will be Milroe's first time inside Neyland Stadium, but he's watched enough games on TV to know the environment in this traditional rivalry game will be "crazy."

"I watch football. I'm a huge football fan," Milroe said after the Texas A&M game. "Growing up, I watched college football. I never experienced a Tennessee football game, but I watch football a lot, and I see the atmosphere. And I know it's going to be crazy."

Tigers

Two plays later, Malachi Cromwell found paydirt for the final score of the night.

"When you play somebody good, it's a game of inches and a game of plays. Hats off to them (Pearl Cohn), but I'm so, so proud of our kids. I told them no matter what that happened this week, we would find out a lot about our football team and we have a lot of fighters on this team," Osteen said.

Indeed the Tigers found out plenty as they stood toe-to-toe with one of the top Class 4A teams in the state.

Braden was the driving force for the Tigers' offense that kept Pearl Cohn's offense on the sideline for much of the game.

He had 23 carries for 90 yards and a touchdown to lead Marshall County.

"He's a warrior. We've expected that out of him all year. Such a good kid and such a good player. I wanted to win this for the kids, and they're hurting right now, but they should take away a lot of confidence from this game as well," Osteen said.

Teat completed 13-of-29 attempts for 122 yards, a touchdown and three interceptions.

In leading up to Thursday night's key region matchup, Osteen said it was tough to simulate the Firebirds' tempo and speed at which they run their offense, but his staff was still able to generate a plan to slow Pearl Cohn down.

"Last year, they went that way and we didn't have a good plan for them. This year, we practiced it. You can't simulate it in practice, but we at least had a plan," Osteen said.

That game plan held arguably the top offense in the state to just 14 points through three and a half quarters.

While Thursday night's loss was a ding in what's been a perfect run through 2022 for the Tigers, Marshall County still has a goal of not just making the playoffs, but aiming for home-field advantage in the playoff opener.

"We've got three games left. We still have to win one more to get in the playoffs. We're banged up after this game. We knew how physical it would be. But that's what football is. You get yourself off the ground, dust yourself off and go again next week," Osteen said.

The Tigers will be back in Nashville on Thursday night, traveling to Glencliff, before finishing the season at home against Montgomery Central and Greenbrier.

Brett Favre says he's 'unjustly smeared' in welfare case

By EMILY WAGSTER PETTUS
Associated Press

JACKSON, Miss. — Retired NFL quarterback Brett Favre says he is being treated unfairly in news coverage of a Mississippi welfare scandal, including about payments he received to help fund a pet project of his — a volleyball arena at the university he attended and where his daughter was playing the sport.

Favre said in a statement to Fox News Digital, which was published Tuesday. "I have done nothing wrong, and it is past time to set the record straight.

"No one ever told me, and I did not know, that funds designated for welfare recipients were going to the University or me," Favre said. "I tried to help my alma mater USM, a public Mississippi state university, raise funds for a wellness center. My goal was and always will be to improve the athletic facilities at my university."

It is one of the few public statements Favre has made about Mississippi's largest-ever public corruption case involving the mispending of tens of millions of dollars in welfare money that was intended to help some of the poorest people in one of the poorest states in the U.S.

Favre is not facing criminal charges. He is among more than three dozen people or companies being sued by the Mississippi Department of Human Services.

Mississippi Auditor Shad White, a Republican who has investigated the welfare mispending, took exception with Favre's new statement. White pointed to text messages between Favre and other people about the volleyball arena, recently disclosed in the civil lawsuit.

"Obviously, Mr. Favre knew that he was being paid in government funds, based on the texts," White told The Associated Press on Tuesday. "He knew that those funds were coming from the Department of Human Services. He's obviously acknowledged that he needed to repay those funds, too."

The lawsuit was filed in May and says the defendants "squandered" more than $20 million from the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families anti-poverty program.

Favre has repaid $1.1 million he received for speaking

NFC East goes from laughingstock to juggernaut in 2 seasons

By JOSH DUBOW
AP Pro Football Writer

The NFC East has gone from laughingstock to juggernaut in less than two years.

Led by Philadelphia, the league's lone undefeated team and surprising 4-1 starts by the New York Giants and Dallas Cowboys, the NFC East has three teams with at least four wins in the first five games.

This is the fourth time that has happened since the start of the eight-division era in 2002, with the AFC North doing it in 2020, the NFC East in 2008 and AFC West in 2002.

This comes two years after Washington won the division with a 7-9 record and the four teams combined for a .288 win percentage in non-division games, the fourth-worst mark of the eight-division era.

NFC East teams have already won 11 games against other divisions through five weeks, tying the total for the division from that lackluster 2020 season.

Super Bowl hangover

The Rams (2-3) and Bengals (2-3) have losing records eight months after playing in the Super Bowl.

This marks just the third time that the previous season's Super Bowl participants both have losing records after five games.

It also happened in 1999, when Denver and Atlanta both started 1-4, and in 1988, when Washington and Denver both started 2-3.

Taysom time

New Orleans' versatile Taysom Hill had a game for the ages on Sunday.

Hill ran for 112 yards and three TDs, threw a 22-yard touchdown pass and even recovered a fumble on special Jaley Hurts has guided the Philadelphia Eagles to a perfect 6-0 start to lead the NFC East so far this season.

Hill became the 10th player in the Super Bowl era to run for at least three TDs and throw another in the same game. He joined LaDainian Tomlinson (2005 vs. the Giants) and Ronnie Brown (2008 vs. the Patriots) as the only ones to do it while rushing for at least 100 yards in the game.

Big play Gabe

Josh Allen and Gabe Davis got Buffalo off to a record-setting start Sunday.

Allen's 98-yard TD pass to Davis on the third play from scrimmage against Pittsburgh was the longest touchdown from scrimmage ever scored in the first 90 seconds of a game. The last scrimmage TD of at least 90 yards on the opening drive came when Terrelle Pryor ran for a 93-yard score on the opening play for the Raiders against the Steelers on Oct. 27, 2013.

Davis added a 62-yard TD catch in the second quarter, joining Ja'Marr Chase, Odell Beckham Jr., Lee Evans and Torry Holt as the only players since 2000 with two TD catches of at least 60 yards in the same game.

That led to Allen throwing for 348 yards in the first half, the second most in the first half since 1991 to Patrick Mahomes' 359 against Tampa Bay in 2020.

Old man Brady

Tom Brady added another milestone to a career filled with them.

Brady threw for 351 yards in Tampa Bay's win over Atlanta on Sunday for his 40th game in the regular season and playoffs with at least 300 yards passing since he turned 40.

Only 18 other players have at least 40 games with at least 300 yards passing in their entire careers, with Hall of Famer John Elway having as many in his career as Brady has in his 40s.

Brady also won his 23rd career game in the regular season or playoffs when attempting at least 50 passes in a game — 18 more than second-place Dan Marino and Warren Moon.

Brady is 23-12 (.657) when throwing at least 50 passes. All other QBs since 1950 have a .193 winning percentage when throwing at least 50 passes in a game.

Comeback kids

Kirk Cousins and the Minnesota Vikings have rallied from a deficit in the final 4 1/2 minutes to win the last three weeks against Detroit, New Orleans and Chicago.

The last team to win at least three straight games when trailing in the final 4:30 was the 2011 Broncos, who did it four straight games with Tim Tebow at quarterback.

Meanwhile, Patrick Mahomes led the Chiefs back from a double-digit deficit for the 12th time in his career in the regular season and playoffs in a 30-29 win over the Raiders.

Mahomes is 12-9 after falling behind by at least 10 points, the only QB with a winning record when facing at least five double-digit deficits. All other quarterbacks in the Super Bowl era have a .155 winning percentage.

Prime time dud

In a season where offenses have struggled overall, the Broncos and Colts brought it to a new level with their hapless Thursday night game.

The Colts won 12-9 in overtime in the first game in NFL history when both quarterbacks threw for at least 250 yards and neither scored a touchdown, according to the Elias Sports Bureau.

Teams in the Super Bowl era had been 1-161 when scoring no touchdowns, throwing multiple interceptions and getting sacked at least six times before the Colts won. The only other team to do it was the 1973 Browns in a 12-10 win over the Giants.

This was the seventh prime-time game without a touchdown since 2000 and the ninth overall game in the past 20 seasons when teams combined for no TDs and at least four turnovers.

Grizzlies set sights higher after Western semis loss

By TERESA M. WALKER
AP Sports Writer

MEMPHIS — Ja Morant and the Memphis Grizzlies have more experience now along with some painful postseason heartbreak.

What matters most for these still very young Grizzlies? What's next. And they want it all.

"It's no pressure for us," Morant said. "We didn't win the championship. So for us, it's pretty much going to the next level, continuing to improve and go win a championship."

Sounds simple enough for a team that got every point last season from players not yet 30 and still posted the NBA's second-best record. The Grizzlies beat Minnesota in six games for their first playoff series win since 2016.

They lost to Golden State in the Western Conference semifinals in six games, the last three with Morant sidelined by an injured knee. The Grizzlies took that loss as an eye-opening look at just what it takes to play deep into the NBA postseason.

"We understand the habits and the foundation and things we have to develop in order to make that run and make it happen," guard Desmond Bane said.

Memphis set a high bar. The Grizzlies won a franchise-record 56 wins and their first division title while also locking up the No. 2 seed in the Western Conference.

Morant's climb

The point guard has gone from NBA Rookie of the Year to an All Star and Most Improved Player in his third season. He wants much more, though Morant will only say stay tuned for opening night

Oct. 19 against the New York Knicks to see exactly what he spent this offseason working to improve.

Morant has talked about trying to build up his body to better survive driving to the bucket. Coach Taylor Jenkins said Morant came to the staff at season's end with a list of areas he had targeted, including 3-point shooting.

The All-Star also has seen the player rankings and made very clear he's not satisfied.

"I got eight more spots to go," Morant said. "That's another one of my motivation coming in at nine. I'm trying to be No. 1."

Pack of Grizzlies

General manager Zach Kleiman said last spring that controlling owner Robert Pera would pay to keep the team's core group together. Kleiman signed Morant to a five-year super max contract and John Konchar got an extension this offseason.

Center Steven Adams got a two-year extension early in training camp. Dillon Brooks and Brandon Clarke are in the final years of their contracts. Kleiman said the team feels strongly about those players.

"We view them as as potential long term pieces of this group, and we'll see how things play out," Kleiman said.

Fill-in for JJJ

With Jaren Jackson Jr. recovering from surgery to fix a stress fracture in his right foot, the Grizzlies will need a fill-in for the power forward coming off his best season yet. Options include Santi Aldama, Brandon Clarke or possibly rookie David Roddy.

Jenkins mentioned

top draft pick Jake LaRavia as an option when Memphis goes with a smaller lineup. When Jackson returns, he has a big goal for himself: Being voted Defensive Player of the Year after being named to the NBA's All-Defensive first team.

Bane's shooting

The 30th pick out of TCU in the 2020 draft finished fifth in the voting for Most Improved Player in his second season. Bane leads the NBA shooting 46.4% outside the arc with a minimum of 600 attempts since he entered the league.

Bane also set the franchise record making 228 3s last season, and he also ranks third in NBA playoff history making seven or more 3s in consecutive games. That puts him in the company of Warriors stars Stephen Curry and Klay Thompson.

New Grizzlies teammate Danny Green said he's been a fan since Bane entered the league.

"The way he's built it doesn't look like he should be a basketball player," Green said. "But he's very effective. It's crazy to see that he shoots the ball very well with, you know, how strong he is and how compact he is."

Stat leaders

Memphis led the NBA in rebounds, steals and blocks, the league's first team to do that in each category since steals and blocks became official stats in 1973-74. The Grizzlies also led the NBA in points scored in the paint, second-chance points, fast-break points and offensive rebounds.

NASCAR fines Stewart-Haas Racing $200K for race manipulation

By JENNA FRYER
AP Auto Racing Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — NASCAR said a review of data and team communications showed that Stewart-Haas Racing manipulated the results of the playoff elimination race at Charlotte, an infraction that drew an additional $200,000 in fines on Tuesday.

"Nothing contradicted that that was done deliberately," NASCAR senior vice president of competition Scott Miller said of Cole Custer slowing on the backstretch of the final lap to help teammate Chase Briscoe gain the positions needed to advance into the next round of the playoffs.

The new penalties brings SHR's monetary fines to $300,000 over the last week; Kevin Harvick, one of the most outspoken drivers about safety concerns with NAS-

CAR's new Next Gen car, was penalized along with his crew chief when his Ford failed a post-Talladega inspection.

On Sunday, Custer appeared to deliberately hold up a line of traffic on Charlotte's road course as teammate Briscoe stormed past in a desperate effort to move into the third round of the playoffs. Briscoe finished ninth, good enough to bump reigning NASCAR champion Kyle Larson from the playoffs as the field was trimmed from 12 drivers to eight.

Briscoe earned the eighth and final spot in the next round of the playoffs by two points over Larson.

NASCAR said after Sunday's race it was reviewing Custer's contact on the final lap. The penalties levied were a $100,000 fine for Custer and loss of 50 driver points, as well as 50 owner points for SHR. Crew chief Mike Shiplett was also fined $100,000 and suspended indefinitely.

Miller said NASCAR heard Shiplett tell Custer over the radio "I think you've got a flat. Checkup, checkup" when he couldn't see the car to tell if it had a flat.

"Blatantly pulling over and changing the finishing order on the last lap is what makes it over the top," Miller continued, "especially with the instructions from the pit box."

SHR was already appealing Harvick's penalties and said Tuesday it would appeal the latest penalties against Custer's team.

Miller said the penalty against Custer's team would have been even stiffer if NASCAR didn't believe Briscoe had earned his spot in the round of eight. NASCAR considered suspending Custer, who is the son of SHR's co-president Joe Custer, but Miller said it didn't because "super flagrant things that eliminated other competitors" are what warrants suspension.

NASCAR also did not consider removing Briscoe from the playoff field, which is down to eight drivers as NASCAR heads to Las Vegas Motor Speedway. NASCAR found no data or communication that indicated Briscoe or the No. 14 team was aware Custer was assisting Briscoe's advancement.

NASCAR cut Miller's availability on the topic at just under 11 minutes, and Miller was not asked if NASCAR considered adding Larson back into the playoff field as a ninth driver.

The precedent for all this dates to a 2013 race manipulation scandal by Michael Waltrip Racing in the final regular-season race. Clint Bowyer was instructed over his radio to itch his arm, and Bowyer's car spun to set in motion a sequence of events in which Ryan Newman did not win the race to earn an automatic playoff berth, and Bowyer teammate Martin Truex Jr. got the final playoff position.

NASCAR ultimately removed Truex from the playoff field in favor of Newman, who was closing in on the victory before the bogus spin by Bowyer. But further NASCAR investigations found manipulation by other teams, as well, and Jeff Gordon was ultimately added to what was then a 12-driver playoff field as an unprecedented 13th driver.

NASCAR also at the time declared a "100%" rule in which all teams were mandated to fully compete or risk serious fines. Tuesday marked the first time the rule has been enforced.

Briscoe heads to Las Vegas ranked eighth in the standings with three races to set the championship four.

Marshall Co. XC has strong showing in recent meets

Tribune Staff Report

The Marshall County cross country teams recently competed in the Jesse Owens Classic, held in Danville, Alabama, where the teams competed in the Bronze classification.

The Tigerettes posted a 10th place finish out of 31 teams, while the Tigers turned in a 29th over all finish.

Between both squads, 13 runners posted personal bests on the day.

Sophomore Aydan Cook was top finisher for the Tigers, finishing in 19:19.

For the Tigerettes, senior Kendall Adams turned in a 21:55 finish time, good enough for 45th overall.

Following the strong showing at the Jesse Owens classic, the Marshall County cross country teams competed in a meet at East Hickman.

The Tigerettes took second-place overall, while the Tigers finished third.

After an extended break, Marshall County will be back in action on October 20 at the Best of Marshall Meet, held at Henry Horton against Cornersville and Forrest.

Senior Night activities will begin at 4:40 p.m., with the races set to begin at 5 p.m.

Earning medals recently were Aydan Cook, Kendall, Karlie Lohr, Kamaria Johnson, Olympia Cathey, Abigail Haley, and Alicia Basabe.

Titans on top of AFC South after 0-2 start

By TERESA M. WALKER
AP Pro Football Writer

NASHVILLE — Having a bye at the NFL's first opportunity is not usually not what anyone wants.

The battered Tennessee Titans are in no position to complain, needing this break both to heal and fix a laundry list of issues.

"This is when it falls, and certainly we'll use the time best to our advantage to try to get guys back healthy, give some guys some rest that have played a lot of football for us and we'll see if (we can) find ways to improve," coach Mike Vrabel said Monday.

The Titans (3-2) have won three straight by a combined 13 points, the latest a 21-17 win at Washington. Their rally from an 0-2 start has allowed the two-time defending AFC South champs to claw their way from the bottom of the division back to the top.

And they're a missed field goal and a blown lead from being 4-1.

"Got some good things going, need to clean up some things, but got some good things going and just want to keep the foot on the gas and keep going," quarterback Ryan Tannehill said.

What's working

The defense. At least when defending the run and making big stops when it matters most, not bad for a unit that has started an NFL-high 20 different defenders already after using 26 last season. They haven't allowed more than 101 rushing yards since then and have allowed 38 and 43 yards in each of the past two games.

After starting 0-2 this season, the Titans have clawed back to sit on top of the AFC South at the bye week, winning three-straight games against Las Vegas, Indianapolis and Washington.

Tennessee broke up a 2-point conversion pass to preserve its first win of the season over Las Vegas, and linebacker David Long Jr. got the interception at the goal line to seal its latest victory on Sunday over Washington.

What needs help

The offensive line. The Titans at least ended a seven-quarter scoreless drought in the second half. But a late scratch of right guard Nate Davis left Tennessee with yet another new starter on the offensive line, and Tannehill was sacked five times and hit 13 after being sacked only seven times combined coming into the game.

Stock up

Derrick Henry. The two-time NFL rushing champ has strung together back-to-back 100-yard rushing games, climbing to fifth in the league with 408 yards rushing entering Monday. He's fourth with five rushing TDs entering Monday. Henry also has blossomed as a pass-catching threat with 10 catches for 121 yards over this three-game streak.

Henry is well on his way to the best season of his career at this rate. He had a career-best 19 catches in 2020 and 206 yards receiving in 2019.

Stock down

CB Caleb Farley. The first-round pick of 2021 played only nine snaps against Washington, his second game this season where he played fewer than 10 defensive snaps. He has size at 6-foot-2, 197 pounds, but Farley currently is backing up rookie Roger McCreary.

Injured

The Titans already have 11 players on injured reserve with their top draft pick, wide receiver Treylon Burks, added to the list the day before their win at Washington. Three starters were scratched from that game with LB Zach Cunningham (elbow) and S Amani Hooker (concussion) missing their second straight.

OLB Bud Dupree has played 21 snaps combined over the past month, missing two other games with an injured hip. Starting RG Nate Davis (knee/foot) was a late scratch after apparently getting hurt in practice last week.

Key number

43 — That's the number of penalties the Titans have been flagged for this season, too many for a team that has been one of the NFL's least-penalized teams since Vrabel took over as head coach in 2018. They ranked seventh for fewest penalties since 2018.

They were flagged eight times for 69 yards against Washington. Vrabel refused to discuss penalties Monday to avoid being fined, saying "Let the league talk about penalties and officiating."

Next steps

Heal up. Then they host Indianapolis on Oct. 23 with a chance to sweep the Colts, then face a two-game road swing at Houston capped by a prime-time game at Kansas City. Then they'll have five games in Nashville starting Nov. 13 to try to stay atop the division.

Favre

fees from the Mississippi Community Education Center, a nonprofit group that spent TANF money with approval from the Department of Human Services. But, White said Tuesday that Favre still owes $228,000 in interest.

In October 2021, Favre and White engaged in a social media spat about White saying Favre had accepted the $1.1 million but had failed to show up for speaking engagements.

"Of course the money was returned because I would never knowingly take funds meant to help our neighbors in need, but for Shad White to continue to push out this lie that the money was for no-show events is something I cannot stay silent about," Favre wrote.

White said Tuesday that Favre has repeatedly made "confusing" statements about the payment for speaking.

"The contract that justified the payment to him for $1.1 million required him to show up and give speeches, and he didn't give the speeches," White said. "If he's arguing that that contract is a sham, he can't be paid $1.1 million on a nonexistent contract. He still has to pay the money back."

The director of the nonprofit, Nancy New, pleaded guilty in April to charges of mispending welfare money, as did her son Zachary New, who helped run the center. They await sentencing and have agreed to testify against others.

In a Sept. 12 court filing in the civil lawsuit, an attorney for the Mississippi Community Education Center released several text messages about $5 million in welfare money that went toward the volleyball facility. The messages were between Nancy New and Favre, between Favre and former Mississippi Gov. Phil Bryant and between Bryant and New. The messages were from 2017 to 2019, when the Republican Bryant was still governor.

That court filing said the nonprofit center agreed to pay Favre $1.1 million "for a few radio spots" to help fund the volleyball arena, which was also being called a campus wellness center. Favre had agreed to lead fundraising efforts to build the facility on the Hattiesburg campus.

According to court documents, Favre text-ed New on Aug. 3, 2017, about the payment to him for speaking: "If you were to pay me is there anyway the media can find out where it came from and how much?"

New responded: "No, we never have had that information publicized. I understand you being uneasy about that though. Let's see what happens on Monday with the conversation with some of the folks at Southern. Maybe it will click with them. Hopefully."

Favre replied: "Ok thanks."

The next day, New texted Favre: "Wow, just got off the phone with Phil Bryant! He is on board with us! We will get this done!"

Favre played football at the University of Southern Mississippi before going to the NFL in 1991. His daughter began playing on the school's volleyball team in 2017.

Favre said in the statement to Fox News on Tuesday that state agencies provided money to Mississippi Community Education Center, which then gave money to the University of Southern Mississippi "all with the full knowledge and approval of other State agencies," including the board that governs Mississippi's eight public universities, the governor's office and the attorney general's office.

News outlets have previously reported involvement by the state college board, the governor's office and the attorney general's office in approval of money for the volleyball arena.

"I was told that the legal work to ensure that these funds could be accepted by the university was done by State attorneys and State employees," Favre said.
