

Marshall County Tribune

Belfast • Chapel Hill • Cornersville • Farmington • Lewisburg • Mooresville • Petersburg

www.marshalltribune.com

Wednesday, November 23, 2022

75¢

Volume 125 - No. 43

Happy Thanksgiving and it's beginning to look a lot like Christmas

The temperatures are dropping and the decorations are going up.

Lewisburg Electric Service and the Lewisburg Beautification Committee spent Monday decorating the square, preparing for the Christmas season following Thanksgiving on Thursday.

Rest up from the turkey coma this weekend as December festivities will be here before you know it.

The Lewisburg Rotary Club Christmas parade on Saturday, Dec. 3 starting at 2 p.m. and running down West Commerce from Tiger Boulevard to the square.

This year's theme is "Gingerbread house". Entries are still being accepted by calling 931-359-0351.

Following the parade at 5 p.m. is the lighting ceremony for the city Christmas tree in the pocket park on the square.

Ornament requests to honor or memorialize loved ones are still being accepted at city hall.

Chapel Hill's Christmas parade will take place the next weekend, Saturday, Dec. 10.

That parade, with a "Silent night, holy night" theme, kicks off at dusk. Entries are still being accepted at town hall.

Tribune photo by Scott Pearson

Success rarely happens in a vacuum and the Steely family and matriarch Libby have all contributed in their own ways to the Steely Court honor, being dedicated next Friday.

Marshall County High School is naming the basketball court in Dottie Kelso Gym next Friday night in honor of the Steelys; Ray, Don, and David, for their years of coaching and legacy of success on and off the court.

Steely Court dedication next Friday

By Scott Pearson
Associate Editor

Dottie Kelso Gym has been full many times in its history. On Friday, Dec. 2 at 6 p.m., Marshall County High School will honor the family which has done so much to fill that arena with both fans and championship banners-the Steelys.

MCHS will officially name the basketball court, the center of so many school events, the Steely Court, honoring decades of service and success.

Decades ago, Don Steely agreed to coach basketball at MCHS in addition to his teaching duties. What followed was years of success.

Also following were his sons Ray and David who have also led basketball teams, both boys and girls, at the school.

Between the three Steelys are more than a dozen state tournament appearances, five championship game appearances, and three state titles.

They represent a history and a legacy second to none and more than worthy of this honor.

Lewisburg should fill Kelso Gym one more time next week to celebrate the past, the present, and the future contributions of the Steely family to the community and MCHS.

Chapel Hill cuts the fat

By Scott Pearson
Associate Editor

Chapel Hill cleared several ordinances last week that had been lingering on agendas for a while and adopted resolutions setting foundation for the future.

The board passed a fat, oils, and grease management policy first proposed months ago by one of the town's consulting engineers.

Uncontrolled fats and grease discharges from restaurants, in particular, into the waste water system cause clogging and other damage.

Between first approval and final passage, aldermen held a special called meeting with restaurant owners after concerns were ex-

▶ See Chapel Hill, Page A3

Marshall County attends TAFCE conference

Marshall County FCE members attended the 40th Annual Tennessee Association for Family and Community Education (TAFCE) Conference held November 13-16, 2022, at the Franklin Cool Springs Marriott.

Their theme 'Saddle Up with FCE' was played to the hilt with decorations, hospitality room spreads, games, line dancing, and seated line dancing!

FCE members are recognized state wide for the certified volunteer hours they donate, their participation in

▶ See Conference, Page A3

Photo submitted

Marshall County FCE members recently headed up to Franklin to attend the state Family and Community Education conference. Pictured, from left front: Deborah Foster, Lois Hayden, and Anna Childress. Back row: Linda Prince, Eileen Abbey, Emily Gordon, Donna Elliott, and Terri Orr.

