Mark Farrar, the Chief Executive Officer of the Tennessee Walking Horse Breeders' and Exhibitors' Association, will be the guest speaker at the Marshall County Historical Society on Sunday afternoon, May 7, at 2 p.m. in the museum at Hardison Annex, 230 College Street. Appointed to the position in January 2022, Farrar is a native of Shelbyville, Tennessee, and is a graduate of Middle Tennessee State University with a bachelor's degree in mass communications and public relations. (NYSE: BERY), a leader in the design, development, and production of innovative, sustainable stretch films has begun expanding one of its leading stretch film manufacturing facilities in Lewisburg, Tennessee for completion by early 2024. The 25,000 square foot expansion will support the growing demand for Berry's highest performing, sustainable stretch films by creating space for three new cast lines, upgrading the capacity of the facilities existing post-industrial resin (PIR) reprocessing system, and extending its rail spur for resin material handling. In coordination of the expansion, Berry will add ten new jobs in the Lewisburg facility.

"The ability to access innovative, sustainable film solutions is critical for our customers as they work to drive progress toward a circular, net-zero economy," said Phil Stolz, EVP and General Manager, Performance Materials for Berry. "Expanding our Lewisburg facility will allow us to optimize the facility to help our films customers deliver against their ambitious sustainability goals."

Through collaboration with its OEM supplier, Berry will complete the installation of one cast line to support 20 million pounds of added capacity for ultra-high-performance films. Forrest seniors bounce through Senior Prank Day

The senior prank for the Forrest class of 2023 was no obstacle. Or was it? On Thursday night, members of the senior class gathered to share pizza and inflate a 40x11x12 obstacle course in the middle of a heavily traveled hallway. The inflatable was left up during school hours for all students on Friday with no way around it, only through it, backpacks and all. Congratulations, Forrest class of 2023, on a successful and historical senior prank.

Werner welcomed the members for this final meeting of the year and applauded how everyone had responded to the theme for this year's study: "Discovery During Isolation." Group presenters for each monthly program have shared personal stories of how they found a way to realign their lives to endure the Covid pandemic, whether it was through creating different relationships with friends and family, learning a new hobby, or attending online worship services. Each program was a reminder that we are resourceful people when faced with isolation.

For the concluding program, Denise chose to present an overview of the epidemic and the progress that has been made to combat the COVID virus. On January 31, 2020, the United States declared a public health emergency, and by March, Tennessee had formed a task force. About that same time, the first case in Tennessee was diagnosed, employees began working from home, and schools were advised to close until the end of the month.

Soon, state wide testing was approved and after the first six months, Tennessee ranked ninth in testing. By January 2021, vaccines had been made available and could be administered through the county health departments. As of April 2021, 418,000 doses were being given per day. As a result, by September 2021, forty-three percent of the state's population had been vaccinated. Today, three years after COVID was first discovered, adjustments in medical practices and approaches to treating the virus, plus multiple media campaigns which encouraged masking and social distancing, have reduced the number of daily reported cases to less than 500 in Tennessee. Although "safe practices" are still recommended to maintain good health, community life has somewhat returned to "normal."

The 2023-24 Lewisburg Study Club will resume its monthly meetings in September. The theme for the upcoming series of programs will be "The Road Not Taken."

What did you inherit from your mother?

By Danny Tyree

As Mother’s Day approaches, it is appropriate that we discuss the physical characteristics, personality traits, coping mechanisms, etiquette rules, life ambitions, etcetera that we inherited from our mothers.

Let’s discuss it in hushed tones, though. We don’t want Uncle Sam salivating over a new type of inheritance tax. (“Who needs Chinese loans? We’ve got dimples, lasagna recipes and heirloom Tupperware! KA-CHING!”)

I inherited my soft spot for stray animals from my mother. And when confronted with her clutter, she takes a perverse pride in confessing, “I’m a pack-rat – like Danny!”; but in many ways, we are complete opposites.

As my bookshelves will attest, I did not inherit her aversion to reading. If she possessed a time machine (a FLIP time machine, not one of those new-fangled smart time machines!), she would go back and snatch Johannes Gutenberg from his crib and train him for a life of lawn-mowing.

Okay, I admit I did inherit my mother’s fashion sense (or lack of same). She’s an industrious woman, beloved by many; but she is not renowned for matching colors, patterns and fabrics. I was oblivious to the teasing at school until the time she sent me off wearing the purple mohair vest with the red loincloth. (We’ll talk later about the clean pair of corduroy underwear I had to wear in case I was struck by a car.)

I dutifully attend my share of funerals, but I did not inherit my mother’s morbid fascination with final arrangements. If I make the mistake of mentioning the obituary of some minor acquaintance, the topic keeps resurfacing like a game of Whac-A-Mole.

It’s especially bad if the surviving family members schedule the funeral several days after the “kicking off” phase. Even when my mother has no intentions of attending, sending a sympathy card or sharing thoughts and prayers, she embarks on day after day of pointless speculation about possible attendees, embalming versus cremation, estimated income for the florist...

“Will there be an open casket?” p a s s e s m y m o t h e r ’ s l i p s m o r e often than an entire alcoholic family asks, “Will there be an open bar?” about a wedding reception.

Finally, the day after the funeral, Mom inevitably asks, “Well, I wonder if they ever got ol’ what’s-his-name buried?”

“They tried – they really tried. But the ground rejected him! I understand they’re going to try irrigating the cemetery with holy water.”

I know I was temperamental as a child, but I would like to think introspection has made me more thick-skinned than my mother. She grew up poor, so to her, everything is a perceived slur or disparagement.

“I wonder what he meant by that. I think that was a slur. I know when I’ve been slurred.”

“Mom, I don’t think the Supreme Court would consider ‘N-37, who has N-37?’ to be fighting words.”

I do hope that I have inherited my mother’s longevity gene. (Well, it’s a gene or so many people saying, “Bless her heart” through gritted teeth.) She has seen better days, but she is still serving as the family matriarch at age 96.

If I do make it to such a ripe old age, I hope the IRS agents whom Uncle Sam tries to sic on me had good mothers.

“Darn! We can’t make a raid until an hour after we’ve eaten! And, Sam, why are you wearing red, white and orange horizontal stripes???”

ROAD RAGE

On April 27 at approximately 8:30 p.m., Lewisburg Police responded to a gun threat incident on North Ellington Parkway.

The complainant stated that they were driving on North Ellington Parkway when a spray painted black pickup truck, which had been driving erratically, cut them off. The complainant honked their horn at the truck at which point the pickup pulled alongside and the two occupants began yelling at them.

The driver of the other vehicle then produced a small silver handgun which he pointed at the complainant and her passenger while continuing to shout at them.

As the light turned green, the two vehicles separated.

Officers searched the area for the pickup but did not encounter it. The complainant couple was advised to notify police if they saw the vehicle again.

The following evening, April 28, at approximately 8 p.m., police were called to 304 N. Ellington Pkwy, following reports of a vehicle accident with injuries.

Arriving on scene, officers found one of the drivers, Jackie Leon Seagroves, Jr. acting aggressively “screaming obscenities at (the other driver) and punching his truck), according to the report.

Seagroves’ continuous behavior led officers to place him under arrest for disorderly conduct for hindering emergency services.

While processing the accident scene, officers were approached by the woman from the previous night’s incident, who informed them that Seagroves was the responsible party.

According to the police report, Seagroves admitted to officers that he had pointed his pistol at the couple the previous evening.

A warrant for aggravated assault was then obtained and Seagroves was arrested on that charge as well.

Bond was set at $6,000.

STALKING AND THREATS

At approximately 8 p.m. on April 26, LPD responded to a report of aggravated assault on Limestone Avenue.

The resident stated that when he arrived home a vehicle had pulled up, occupied by Eric Armstrong and Jamaric Armstrong.

The pair approached him claiming that he owed them money. The victim stated in the report that Eric was holding a long barreled revolver by his leg as he approached.

The victim believed that the pair was trying to extort money from him and they told him that they would shoot up his home and everyone in it.

They then departed threatening to return later.

The report stated that there were several incidents on file where the Armstrongs had made unwanted contact with the victim.

Officers spotted the pair at the Mini Mart on Mooresville Highway and took them into custody without incident.

A 12 inch piece of rebar was found next to Eric in the vehicle.

During booking, approximately five grams of what was believed to be marijuana was found in Eric’s sock.

Jamaric Armstrong was charged with stalking and harassment and held on $2,000 bond.

Eric Armstrong was charged with aggravated assault, aggravated stalking, harassment, and introduction of contraband into a penal institution. His bond was set at $34,500.

MARSHALL COUNTY DEVOTIONAL PAGE

"Ye yourselves bear me witness, that I said, I am not the Christ, but that I am sent before Him. He that hath the bride is the Bridegroom: but the friend of the Bridegroom, which stands and hears Him, rejoices greatly because of the Bridegroom's voice: this my joy therefore is fulfilled." - John 3:28,29

May is one of the most popular months for weddings, (my wife and I agree – it is twenty-five years for us this month). Springtime is certainly a romantic season and couples certainly prefer May flowers to April showers as weddings take a special place in all cultures. Our opening scripture is the testimony of John the Baptist regarding his ministry. John clearly declared to the people that he was not the Christ who was to come, but rather he came to announce His coming. In John's testimony he used an illustration drawn from the Hebrew marriage celebration. John calls Christ the "Bridegroom," himself "the friend of the Bridegroom" while other scriptures call the Church "the bride" (Eph. 5:25-33; Rev. 21:9,10; 22:17).

This relationship is used many times in the New Testament. For example, in Mark chapter two, people believed that fasting was a required ritual for holiness. So they questioned Jesus about why His disciples did not fast like the disciples of other leaders. When the Lord Jesus answered them He used the Bridegroom illustration as a rebuke. In His rebuke, the Lord Jesus compared the Kingdom of God to that of a wedding feast and so He taught that required religious rituals had no place in the Kingdom of God. Religion teaches external ceremonies and obedience to rituals, while Jesus preached a transformed heart that was free to have a personal relationship. Therefore, Jesus used their question of fasting and explained that fasting was not suitable for His disciples as long as He, the Bridegroom, was with them. In the Old Testament days, fasting was related to mourning and grief, and so you don't fast at a wedding celebration because there is food, drink, and joyful music. Therefore, while Jesus, the Bridegroom, was with them bringing the gospel of grace and the forgiveness of sin. It was a time of celebration and rejoicing of this New Covenant reality.

This marriage-feast illustration, shows a matchless distinctive about the glory of the Kingdom of God and how the Bridegroom in the Kingdom of God is incompatible with required man-made religious rituals. Sadly many people get caught up with religious rituals rather than being caught up with the glory of the Bridegroom – Christ Jesus!

I want you to take notice that the marriage illustration is absolutely unique to Christianity. No other religion of the world has their god as their savior, but more amazingly only Christianity speaks of their relationship to God their Savior as like that of a marriage relationship.

This (Bridegroom – bride) relationship between Christ and His Church denotes the intimacy of their relationship, the tenderness of their union, and the great love that the Bridegroom has for His bride.

Chapel Hill Water System Water Quality Report for 2022

Is my drinking water safe?

Yes, our water meets all of EPA's health standards. We have conducted numerous tests for over 80 contaminants that may be in drinking water. As you'll see in the chart on the back, we only detected 9 of these contaminants. We found all of these contaminants at safe levels.

What is the source of my water?

Your water, which is ground water, comes from two wells. We purchase some water from the Marshall County Board of Public Utilities which purchases from the Lewisburg Water System. Our goal is to protect our water from contaminants and we are working with the State to determine the vulnerability of our water source to potential contamination. The Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation (TDEC) has prepared a Source Water Assessment Program (SWAP) Report for the untreated water sources serving water to this water system. The SWAP Report assesses the susceptibility of untreated water sources to potential contamination. To ensure safe drinking water, all public water systems treat and routinely test their water. Water sources have been rated as reasonably susceptible, moderately susceptible or slightly susceptible based on geologic factors and human activities in the vicinity of the water source. The Chapel Hill Water System sources rated as reasonably susceptible to potential contamination. The water purchased from Marshall County sources are rated as moderately susceptible to potential contamination. An explanation of Tennessee's Source Water Assessment Program, the Source Water Assessment summaries, susceptibility scorings and the overall TDEC report to EPA can be viewed online at https://www.tn.gov/environment/program-areas/wr-waterresources/water-quality/source-water-assessment.html or you may contact the Water System to obtain copies of specific assessments.

A wellhead protection plan is available for your review by contacting Water Management at the Chapel Hill Water System between 8:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. weekdays.

Why are there contaminants in my water?

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Este informe contiene información muy importante. Tradúscalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

For more information about your drinking water, please call Water Management at 931-364-7632.

How can I get involved?

Our Water Board meets on the second Monday at 6:00 PM at the Chapel Hill Town Hall . Please feel free to participate in these meetings.

Is our water system meeting other rules that govern our operations?

The State and EPA require us to test and report on our water on a regular basis to ensure its safety. We have met all of these requirements. Results of unregulated contaminant analysis are available upon request. We want you to know that we pay attention to all the rules.

Other Information

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial, or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.
- Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA and the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation prescribe regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Do I Need To Take Special Precautions?

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have under-gone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about not only their drinking water, but food preparation, personal hygiene, and precautions in handling infants and pets from their health care providers. EPA/ CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Lead in Drinking Water

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Chapel Hill Water System is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead

Water Quality Data

What does this chart mean?

- MCLG - Maximum Contaminant Level Goal, or the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
- MCL - Maximum Contaminant Level, or the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated constituents, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having the described health effect.
- MRDL: Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level or MRDL: The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for the control of microbial contaminants.
- MRDLG: Maximum residual disinfectant level goal. The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.
- AL - Action Level, or the concentration of a contaminant which, when exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
- Below Detection Level (BDL) - laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present at a level that can be detected.
- Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/L) - explained as a relation to time and money as one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.
- Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - explained as a relation to time and money as one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.
- Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) - picocuries per liter is a measure of the radioactivity in water.
- Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - nephelometric turbidity unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person.
- TT - Treatment Technique, or a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.
- RTCR - Revised Total Coliform Rule. This rule went into effect on April 1, 2016 and replaces the MCL for total coliform with a Treatment Technique Trigger for a system assessment.

Columbia State hosts 2023 High School Competition

On March 24, 203 high school students participated in Columbia State Community College’s annual High School Competition when students from 10 southern Middle Tennessee high schools competed in different academic areas, including creative writing, vocal performance, algebra and sociology. “Columbia State’s 2023 High School Competition was a tremendous success,” said Daniel Kelley, Columbia State . “For the first time since spring of 2020, we met and competed in-person! Over 200 students from high schools in our service area competed in academic contests, toured our campus and enjoyed spring-like weather on the plaza by the Hickman Building. Our Columbia State family welcomed them warmly and helped make this year’s competition a triumph.” Dating back to the 1980s, the competition continues to focus on humanities disciplines and has since added math components. Two Marshall County High School students brought home medals from the event.

Students from Forrest earn industry certification

Twenty-two students in the Advanced Computer Applications Dual Enrollment course at Forrest High School recently received Microsoft Office Industry certification, which is an impressive credential recognized by business professionals nationwide. Students in the advanced class prepared for weeks for the rigorous exam. Students earned their certification as first year DE TCAT Office Management students in Microsoft Word 2019. This advanced dual enrollment class is designed to be the final course in the Office Management program of study in the Business Management & Administration career cluster. The advanced course prepares students to continue postsecondary training in business related programs, provides advanced training for students pursuing a career in administrative and information support, and supports obtaining an industry certification in specific software applications. Course content and projects are meant to simulate workplace scenarios and draw on skills related to communications, management, and teamwork in order to accomplish information management goals. The Dual Enrollment programs provide high school students credit at two institutions at the same time. At the high school level, the class is applied toward their high school diploma while also receiving hours toward a program certificate at Tennessee College of Applied Technology (TCAT) of Pulas-ki. The dual enrollment students receive an additional four points to overall course average on their high school transcript. Upon graduation students who have an overall grade point average of 3.0 or above will graduate with distinction, receiving a white stole to wear at the graduation ceremony.

The rise of Memphis as a center for cotton and the slave trade

By Bill Carey
Tn History for Kids

Editor’s note: This, the fourth in a series of columns about topics currently slated to be deleted from Tennessee’s eighth-grade social studies standards, concerns “the founding of Memphis as center for cotton and the slave trade.”

A few years after the War of 1812, the U.S. government acquired present-day West Tennessee from the Chickasaw Nation. Andrew Jackson represented the U.S. government in this 1818 transaction, which most textbooks refer to as the Chickasaw Purchase. After it occurred, the Chickasaw Indians were forced to move to present-day Mississippi. Settlers quickly moved into West Tennessee, creating one of America’s first land rushes. People organized counties and towns with speed—a process well-documented in newspapers of the time. Named for a city in ancient Egypt, Memphis was one of about 30 of these towns. It eventually emerged as the largest because it was on the Mississippi River, because its riverfront was stable, and because its founders were John Overton, James Winchester and Andrew Jackson. “[The] town of Memphis has been laid off by the proprietors on the Chickasaw Bluff, on the east bank of the Mississippi, 224 miles below the mouth of the Ohio,” reported the July 3, 1820, Pittsburgh Weekly Gazette. “The site of this town is believed to be the handsomest on the Mississippi below St. Louis.” As settlers moved into West Tennessee, they harvested its natural resources. At first, this meant cutting down trees, dragging them to the nearest river, and floating them downstream to a place where they could be sold as lumber. By the 1830s, Memphis had become the center of the mid-South’s hardwood industry. The city sent hardwood downriver to New Orleans and upriver (via steamboat) to St. Louis and points further north. After West Tennessee’s thick forests were cleared, farmers began planting crops. It didn’t take long for it to become obvious that cotton grew wonderfully in West Tennessee, and large cotton plantations were established. These plantations needed labor, and that largely meant enslaved labor. In the 1820s and 1830s, enslaved people from places such as Virginia, Maryland and East Tennessee were sold and forced to move to West Tennessee. By the 1850s, West Tennessee had more slaves than the other two Grand Divisions of the state. Located on the river, and at the junction of three pro-slavery states, Memphis soon became the center of the region’s slave trade. Bolton, Dickens and Company was Memphis’ first big slave trading firm, and one of the largest slave trading businesses in American history. The company had buying offices and “slave marts” – as private slave prisons were known – in Memphis, New Orleans, Vicksburg, Mobile, Lexington, Richmond, St. Louis and Charleston. To summarize the general business plan, Bolton, Dickens and Co. sent agents to places where enslaved people were no longer needed, bought them, and forced them to move to markets where they could be sold for more money. By 1846, ads for Bolton, Dickens & Co. were a regular feature in newspapers such as the Tri-Weekly Memphis Enquirer. “We are now in receipt of 25 Negroes, consisting of men, women, boys and girls, as likely as was ever offered in this market,” one ad proclaimed. Bolton, Dickens & Co. might buy 20 slaves from someone in St. Louis and sell them to someone in New Orleans; or buy 50 in Memphis and sell them in Vicksburg, Mississippi; or buy 100 in Vicksburg and deliver them to Texas. However, in May 23, 1857, Bolton, Dickens & Co. president Isaac Bolton shot and killed another slave trader named James McMillan at the firm’s Adams Street headquarters. McMillan died a few hours later, and Bolton was tried for the murder. At least seven lawyers were hired to defend Isaac Bolton, and he was somehow found not guilty of murder. However, the crime and the publicity that surrounded it resulted in the decline of Bolton, Dickens & Co.’s business and the rise of business of a competing slave trader—the man to whose office McMillan had been carried after he had been shot. That completing slave trader was Nathan Bedford Forrest. By 1858, his was the largest slave trading firm in Memphis. Speaking of Nathan Bedford Forrest, since his name is also slated to be removed from Tennessee’s eighth-grade social studies standards, a column next month will be about him.

Tigers' bats too much for Richland

By Chris Siers
sports@t-g.com

LEWISBURG — The Marshall County Tigers brought out the bats in their final regular season game of the year on Monday night.

The Tigers connected for 12 hits and withstood a late-game surge by Richland in a 13-8 win.

After Marshall County starting pitcher Bailin Luttrell recorded a perfect 1-2-3 first inning, James Hery put the Tigers on the board in dramatic fashion by slamming a hit to left field and working his way around the bases for an inside-the-park home run.

After John Morgan Thomas and Trey Warner each drew walks to put two on, it was Grayson Miller who crushed a three-run blast to left field, giving Marshall County a 4-0 lead after the first.

Richland answered and stole one back on a solo homer of its own in the second, but the beat kept on for the Tigers, who piled on three more in the second on a two-run double off Thomas' bat and again when he scored on a wild pitch.

By the third inning, Marshall County held a 7-4.

The Tigers plated an eighth run in the third on a Richland error and a ninth when Thomas

Reid Mitchell makes contact and grounds out to first, but advances two runners into scoring position.

homered in the fourth.

Richland made things interesting in the sixth by driving home four runs, but the Tigers mashed their third blast of the night when Luttrell homered to lead off a three-run sixth frame.

In total, the Tigers belted out 12 hits, three of which left the yard, and were able to minimize the damage with solid pitching from four different players.

Luttrell got the start and went two innings and struck out three, while Thomas and Warner also pitched two innings each, both striking out two.

The Tigers begin District 8-AAA play on Thursday against Spring Hill.

Bulldogs outlast Vikings in non-district matchup

CORNERSVILLE — It was a tipsy-turvey game that saw Cornersville rally past Community on Monday night in a 7-5 win over the Vikings.

Beau Schillig and Ayden Campbell each drove in a pair of runs as the Bulldogs were able to plate five runs in the final two innings to take the non-district win.

Schillig put the Bulldogs on the board in the third inning with a two-out, two-run double to left.

That 2-0 lead held until the fifth when Community finally got on the board with back-to-back doubles and a RBI off the bat of James Beech to take a 4-2 lead over Cornersville.

But as quickly as the Vikings grabbed a two-run lead, the Bulldogs answered with a four-spot of their own and promptly retook the lead in the fifth.

Gage Lovell and Colyn Schillig both walked to lead off the fifth and Daniel Sellars smacked a RBI double to left for the first score of the frame.

Tanner Pease tied it at four with a ground ball single to left before Campbell plated two on a single to left.

The Vikings added one in the top of the sixth, but Colyn Schillig was able to score on an error in the bottom of the sixth for the final run of the game.

Colyn and Beau Schillig each connected for two hits to help lead the Bulldogs at the plate.

QBs come off board at record rate in NFL draft

By JOSH DUBOW
AP Pro Football Writer

The Brock Purdy impact was in full effect in this year's NFL draft.

A year after the San Francisco 49ers found their starting quarterback with the final pick of the draft, teams were far more aggressive when it came to drafting quarterbacks in the later rounds.

Three quarterbacks went in the fourth round for the second time in the past 10 drafts and four quarterbacks went in round five for the first time since 2002. That led to a record 12 QBs going in the first five rounds for the first time ever in the common draft era that started in 1967. The previous high was 11 in 1995.

The run on QBs started early with Bryce Young going first to Carolina and C.J. Stroud going second to Houston — marking the ninth time quarterbacks went 1-2 in the common draft era, with five of those coming in the last 12 drafts.

Indianapolis then took Anthony Richardson fourth, marking the fourth time that three quarterbacks were taken with the first four picks.

Things slowed down from there with Will Levis waiting until round two to go to Tennessee and Hendon Hooker being drafted in the third round by Detroit.

Then the run on QBs started late in the fourth round when Fresno State's Jake Haener went 124th overall to New Orleans. Six more quarterbacks followed in the next 37 picks as the philosophy of passing on late-round QBs who historically have little chance of developing into top-flight starters changed.

Some of that could be because of Purdy, who went from being "Mr. Irrelevant" as the final pick of the 2022 draft to winning his first seven starts as a rookie to help the 49ers reach the NFC title game last season.

While the chances that the QBs that went on day three of the draft will develop into starters are low, the payoff if it happens was high enough to justify the risk.

Two-time national champion Stetson Bennett went to the Rams the pick after Haener, with the Raiders taking Aidan O'Connell with the final pick of the fourth round. The Rams and Raiders had been the only teams not to select a QB in any round the previous six drafts.

The fifth-round run started with Clayton Tune going to Arizona at No. 139, followed by Dorian Thompson-Robinson (140 to the Browns), Sean Clifford (149 to the Packers) and Jaren Hall (164 to the Vikings).

The final two QBs off the board were Tanner McKee to the Eagles in the sixth round and Max Duggan to the Chargers in the seventh.

In all, 14 quarterbacks were drafted last weekend, tied for the second most in the last 2 drafts behind the 15 from 2016.

Top tight ends

This draft was viewed as a strong one for tight ends and that played out on day two when a record five went off the board in the second round and three more in the third.

It took a while for the first tight end to go with Buffalo trading up to take Dalton Kincaid with the 25th pick.

But that all changed Friday with Detroit taking Sam LaPorta with the third pick of the second round and Las Vegas grabbing Michael Mayer one spot later. Green Bay then took Luke Musgrave 44th, Dallas drafted Luke Schoonmaker 58th and Jacksonville took Brenton Strange 61st.

This marked the first time in the common draft era that five tight ends were taken in round two and the six that went in the first rounds tied 1974 for the most ever.

Tucker Kraft, Darnell Washington and Cameron Latu went in round three with the nine tight ends going in the first three rounds breaking the record of eight reached in 2006 and 2019.

By positions

While the drafts were notable to tight ends and quarterbacks, the volume of picks was focused as usual in the trenches and on the perimeter.

There were 56 defensive backs drafted — the most of any position — as the increased of extra DBs in nickel and dime packages have put a premium on depth at that spot.

Teams also combined 43 offensive linemen, as well as 43 defensive linemen. Receivers came in next at 32.

Only six specialists were taken but the 49ers did surprise many by drafting kicker Jake Moody 99th overall — the highest pick for a kicker since Tampa Bay took Roberto Aguayo with the 59th pick in 2016.

Alma maters

After years of dominating on the field and in recruiting rankings, it was no surprise that Alabama and Georgia led the way with 10 draft picks each.

The Bulldogs have now had 25 players taken in the past two drafts from teams that have won national championships each year. New England sixth-round Ameer Speed played on the 2021 title team before transferring to Michigan State, giving Georgia 26 draft picks from that team that ended a four-decade championship drought.

Fourteen members of that 2021 defense have been drafted with five going to the Eagles: Jordan Davis and Nakobe Dean in 2022, and Jalen Carter, Nolan Smith and Kelee Ringo this year.

Alabama dominated the top of the draft with quarterback Bryce Young becoming the first Crimson Tide player since Harry Gilmer in 1948 to go first and edge rusher Will Anderson going third.

It marked the fourth time since 2000 that college teammates went in the first three picks of the same draft with Ohio State's Chase Young and Jeff Okudah going at No. 2 and 3 in 2020, Oklahoma's Sam Bradford and Gerald McCoy going at No. 1 and 3 in 2010, and Penn State's Courtney Brown and LaVar Arrington going with the top two picks in 2000.

Carthon bolsters Titans' bad offense in draft

By TERESA M. WALKER
AP Pro Football Writer

NASHVILLE — Improving one of the NFL's worst offenses wound up the focus of Tennessee general manager Ran Carthon's first NFL draft.

So much so that he used all of his picks on offense, a first for this franchise since the NFL switched to a seven-round draft in 1994.

Not that Carthon went into this draft planning to go all offense.

"It honestly just dawned on me about 30 minutes ago that it was all offense," Carthon said Saturday night. "We were just playing the board. ... But it wasn't a designed plan or anything."

The Titans missed the playoffs for the first time since coach Mike Vrabel's debut season in 2018, and Carthon had only six draft selections and little salary cap space. Fixing the Titans' aging, overpriced offensive line has been a big focus since he was hired in January.

The Titans gave up 49 sacks last season with only Chicago, the Rams, Colts and Denver allowing more. Carthon released three-time Pro Bowl left tackle Taylor Lewan and center Ben Jones to clear salary cap space in March, then let right guard Nate Davis leave in free agency.

The Titans drafted a pair of offensive linemen starting with Northwestern tackle Peter Skoronski at No. 11 overall on Thursday night. They added tackle Jaelyn Duncan at No. 186 in the sixth round after signing Andre Dillard and Daniel Brunskill in free agency.

Tennessee made the biggest splash to kick off the second round Friday night, trading up to select Kentucky quarterback Will Levis at No. 33 overall with Ryan Tannehill in the final year of his contract.

The Titans scored just 298 points last season. Only four NFL teams averaged fewer points than the Titans, who managed 17.5 points a game despite Derrick Henry finishing as the league's second-best rusher with 1,538 yards.

The Titans had little salary cap space even after cutting top receiver Robert Woods and letting veteran tight end Austin Hooper leave. They took Cincinnati tight end Josh Whyle at 147th overall in the fifth round and waited until the final pick at No. 228 to select a wide receiver in UT Martin's Colton Dowell.

Vrabel said the roster building will continue.

"You guys are going to trust us," Vrabel said. "We're going to put players in here that are going to help us win."

Lone wide receiver

Dowell was the 30th receiver taken. He grew up a Titans' fan in nearby Lebanon, then set the UT Martin record for career yards receiving. The 6-foot-3 Dowell also gives them the speed Vrabel has wanted since finishing last season with seven straight losses.

The receiver says he ran a 4.4-second 40-yard dash. The Titans liked what they saw out of him at their pro day for local players.

"He was amongst the other Power Five guys that we brought in here locally," Carthon said. "He stood out and looked like a Power Five guy to us. It just so happened he was at UT Martin."

Dowell had 67 catches for 1,036 yards last season. He averaged 15.5 yards per catch and had seven receptions for 112 yards in an Oct. 22 loss at then-No. 3 Tennessee.

Pass catching help

With several tight ends taken through the first three rounds, the Titans didn't add a pass catcher until the fifth round with Cincinnati tight end Josh Whyle at No. 147 overall. He's 6-6 and 248 pounds with 32 catches for 326 yards and three touchdowns in 10 starts last season.

Whyle said he's naturally a pass catcher who grew up as a wide receiver before his high school coaches encouraged him to switch to tight end believing he could be one of the best in the country.

"And you know here we are," Whyle said.

Knee questions

Running back Tyjae Spears, the 81st pick overall, tore an ACL in high school and again in 2020 at Tulane. Spears said Saturday he reached out to Frank Gore so he can ask for pointers on how to stay healthy in the NFL.

"I do a good job of it because I take pride in everything that I do, that I do greatness-wise," Spears said. "Off-the-field stuff is going to keep me on the field."

Spears was the American Athletic Conference's offensive player of the year last season, as he ran for 1,581 yards and 19 TDs. He also was the MVP of the Cotton Bowl helping Tulane rally to beat Southern California.

Texans build for future in NFL draft with Stroud, Anderson

By KRISTIE RIEKEN
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON — The day after C.J. Stroud was taken with the second overall pick in the NFL draft, the quarterback raved about the job Houston Texans general manager Nick Caserio did to not only get him but to trade up to nab outside linebacker Will Anderson Jr. at No. 3.

"Shout-out to Nick," Stroud said. "You're doing a great job."

Caserio looked sheepish amid the praise and had a simple message for Stroud.

"Just play well," Caserio said. "That's all."

Many pundits believe the Texans won the 2023 draft with the addition of Stroud and Anderson. But Caserio won't pat himself on the back until those two help Houston turn things around after the team won just 11 games combined in the last three seasons.

"We're not going to solve anything in one draft, one player, one night," Caserio said. "It's going to take a series of actions over time with the right people, with the right mindset that believe in the things that we're doing, that believe in what we're trying to build, and then hopefully that will manifest itself on the field when we actually do play."

Stroud is poised to become the franchise quarterback Houston has lacked since Deshaun Watson requesting a trade before being dealt to the Cleveland Browns. Davis Mills has started most of the last two seasons, going 5-22-1 in 28 games with 26 starts as the Texans were among the NFL's worst teams.

"His toughness, his competitiveness, his leadership, his accuracy, those are all strengths of his," Caserio said of Stroud. "But there's certainly things that he's going to have to work on."

Stroud, who was a two-year starter at Ohio State, isn't daunted by the pressure of being the face of the team and the player expected to lead Houston back to respectability.

"I know that it's special," he said. "I know I'm going to treat it like my baby. The city of Houston hasn't seen a franchise quarterback in a long time and that's something that I hope I become ... but right now I've got to put in the work."

First-year coach DeMeco Ryans beamed as he discussed not only getting a talented quarterback, but also a linebacker from Alabama, his alma mater.

"First emotion, to get C.J., I was elated," Ryans said. "Once we were able to seal that deal and get Will, I was over the moon. I couldn't have been happier, smiling, just being able to get both of these guys was outstanding."

Stroud threw for 8,123 yards with 85 touchdowns and 12 interceptions as the Buckeyes went 21-4 in games he started. His 85 touchdowns over two seasons broke a Big Ten record held by Drew Brees.

Anderson was a three-year starter with the Crimson Tide, where he piled up 204 tackles, including 58 1/2 for a loss, and 34 1/2 sacks, which ranked second on Alabama's all-time list. He was the second player in history to win the Bronko Nagurski Award as the nation's top defensive player twice.

He's thrilled to be playing for Ryans, who was a linebacker in the NFL for 10 seasons, including his first six with the Texans.

"I've always had a head coach that I shared the same mentality with," Anderson said. "So when I came here and I talked to coach Ryans, I was like: 'I've got to be here.' The same exact mindset, the same mentality, what he's trying to preach, everything. That's what I'm all about, and that's what I want to do."

The Texans traded the 12th and 33rd picks in this year's draft and a first- and third-round pick next year to the Cardinals to trade up to nab Anderson. Houston also received the 105th pick in this year's draft in the deal. The 12th pick the Texans sent to Arizona was part of the deal for Watson.

After getting a star on both sides of the ball in the first round, the Texans added Penn State center Juice Scruggs in the second round and Houston Cougars receiver Tank Dell in the third.

Scruggs could start immediately at center after Justin Britt retired after a 2022 season where he spent most of the year on the reserve/non-football illness list. The team was looking for depth at receiver after trading veteran Brandin Cooks to Dallas in March.

On Saturday, Houston added TCU defensive end Dylan Horton in the fourth round and Alabama linebacker Henry To'oTo'o in the fifth.

They wrapped up the draft by picking Notre Dame center Jarrett Patterson and Iowa State receiver Xavier Hutchins in the sixth round and Pittsburgh safety Brandon Hill in the seventh.

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Richardson likely No. 1 QB for Indy

By CHRIS GOFF
Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — The Indianapolis Colts faced a crossroads in their approach to the quarterback position during this year's NFL draft.

The franchise long led by conventional pocket passers, including Hall of Famer Peyton Manning and Andrew Luck, moved in a new direction by selecting Anthony Richardson of Florida with the fourth overall pick.

Richardson represents a very different style of quarterback.

And that, owner Jim Irsay said, is why the Colts were so happy to get him. With stars such as Patrick Mahomes, Josh Allen and Jalen Hurts dominating the NFL, Irsay wanted a dynamic, mobile quarterback.

"This game is going more to the athletic quarterback," Irsay said. "The days of (Tom) Brady and Peyton, I don't know if they're ever going to return."

"Mobility is reasonably essential. I always felt Richardson was going to be the guy we went with, as I learned more and more. He is a superhero. No quarterback has brought those skills in athletic testing." Though his powerful right arm is electrifying, the 6-foot-4, 244-pound Richardson is also dangerous with his legs. He had five touchdown runs of at least 45 yards at Florida.

"Anthony fit us, what (coach) Shane (Steichen) wants to do on offense, the best," general manager Chris Ballard said.

Ballard focused on other areas of need by choosing Kansas State cornerback Julius Brents in the second round and North Carolina wide receiver Josh Downs in the third.

Irsay knows, however, that the story of the Colts' 2023 draft depends on their new 20-year-old quarterback. Despite the offseason signing of Gardner Minshew, who's made 32 NFL starts, Irsay said it was important for Richardson to see plenty of playing time as a rookie.

"One of the reasons to start him is he gets better by playing," Irsay said. "Fans have to have patience because it's hard being a rookie quarterback. But it's the way to go."

Taking a swing

In searching for offensive line help, Ballard appeared to prefer a swing tackle over a player limited to one side. Fourth-round choice Blake Freeland started 41 games at BYU, 26 at left tackle and 15 at right tackle.

"I feel good playing both," said Freeland, a 6-8, 302-pounder who played quarterback in high school before bulking up to play the line.

"Toward the end of high school, it was a lot of 2,000-calorie protein shakes. Always eating. As I got heavier, it was easier to keep weight on."

Speed on defense

Ballard added to his defense Saturday with later-round choices possessing physical traits more commonly found near the top of the draft board.

Fourth-round pick Adetomiwa Adebawore, who had only five sacks for Northwestern in 2022, caught the Colts' attention by running a 4.49-second 40-yard dash as a 6-2, 282-pound lineman.

Fifth-rounder Darius Rush, who moved from wide receiver to cornerback during his second year at South Carolina, showed his speed at the combine with a 40-yard dash time of 4.36 seconds. Like Brents, Rush provides Indy's zone-happy defense with a bigger corner at 6-2, 198 pounds.

Familiar local name Fifth-round pick Will Mallory, a Miami tight end, is the grandson of the late Indiana coach Bill Mallory, who led the Hoosiers to six bowl games.

Quotable

"I think we take Will Levis," Irsay said when asked what the Colts would have done with the fourth pick if Richardson were not available. Levis, the Kentucky quarterback who fell to the second round, was drafted by division rival Tennessee.

Another AFC South team, Houston, drafted quarterback C.J. Stroud second overall.

"It's kind of cool, isn't it?" Ballard said of the division's run on quarterbacks.

High volume

The Colts made a total of nine picks on the third day. They rounded out their draft class with California safety Daniel Scott and Northwestern running back Evan Hull in the fifth round, Wagner defensive end Titus Leo in the sixth, and Texas A&M cornerback Jaylon Jones and Northern Michigan offensive lineman Jake Witt in the

Texans build for future in NFL draft with Stroud, Anderson

By KRISTIE RIEKEN
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON — The day after C.J. Stroud was taken with the second overall pick in the NFL draft, the quarterback raved about the job Houston Texans general manager Nick Caserio did to not only get him but to trade up to nab outside linebacker Will Anderson Jr. at No. 3.

"Shout-out to Nick," Stroud said. "You're doing a great job."

Caserio looked sheepish amid the praise and had a simple message for Stroud.

"Just play well," Caserio said. "That's all."

Many pundits believe the Texans won the 2023 draft with the addition of Stroud and Anderson. But Caserio won't pat himself on the back until those two help Houston turn things around after the team won just 11 games combined in the last three seasons.

"We're not going to solve anything in one draft, one player, one night," Caserio said. "It's going to take a series of actions over time with the right people, with the right mindset that believe in the things that we're doing, that believe in what we're trying to build, and then hopefully that will manifest itself on the field when we actually do play."

Stroud is poised to become the franchise quarterback Houston has lacked since Deshaun Watson requested a trade before being dealt to the Cleveland Browns. Davis Mills has started most of the last two seasons, going 5-22-1 in 28 games with 26 starts as the Texans were among the NFL's worst teams.

"His toughness, his competitiveness, his leadership, his accuracy, those are all strengths of his," Caserio said of Stroud. "But there's certainly things that he's going to have to work on."

Stroud, who was a two-year starter at Ohio State, isn't daunted by the pressure of being the face of the team and the player expected to lead Houston back to respectability.

"I know that it's special," he said. "I know I'm going to treat it like my baby. The city of Houston hasn't seen a franchise quarterback in a long time and that's something that I hope I become ... but right now I've got to put in the work."

First-year coach DeMeco Ryans beamed as he discussed not only getting a talented quarterback, but also a linebacker from Alabama, his alma mater.

"First emotion, to get C.J., I was elated," Ryans said. "Once we were able to seal that deal and get Will, I was over the moon. I couldn't have been happier, smiling, just being able to get both of these guys was outstanding."

Stroud threw for 8,123 yards with 85 touchdowns and 12 interceptions as the Buckeyes went 21-4 in games he started. His 85 touchdowns over two seasons broke a Big Ten record held by Drew Brees.

Anderson was a three-year starter with the Crimson Tide, where he piled up 204 tackles, including 58 1/2 for a loss, and 34 1/2 sacks, which ranked second on Alabama's all-time list. He was the second player in history to win the Bronko Nagurski Award as the nation's top defensive player twice.

Panthers get big boost in pass game with Young

By STEVE REED
AP Sports Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — The Carolina Panthers entered the offseason looking to upgrade a passing game that was among the worst in the league last season.

The NFL draft served as a culmination of that plan.

The Panthers added two key pieces, taking Alabama quarterback Bryce Young No. 1 overall and wide receiver Jonathan Mingo from Mississippi in the second round.

Carolina also drafted Oregon outside linebacker DJ Johnson in the third round, North Carolina State guard Chandler Zavala in the fourth and defensive back Jammie Robinson from Florida State in the fifth.

Young, the Heisman Trophy winner in 2021, is expected to become Carolina's starting QB as soon as he has a decent grasp of the offensive system, while Mingo will look to forge a role amid a largely revamped receiving group. Before the draft the Panthers added wide receivers Adam Thielen, D.J. Chark and Damiere Byrd, tight end Hayden Hurst and running back Miles Sanders in free agency to upgrade a unit that finished 29th in the league in passing in 2022.

"That was a real emphasis going into this offseason," Panthers general manager Scott Fitterer said of upgrading the passing game. "You want to give (a quarterback) plenty of weapons so they can go and operate."

Coach Frank Reich said the Panthers plan to spread the ball around and Young is the perfect "point guard" to do that.

Texans, Eagles get highest NFL draft grades

By ROB MAADDI
AP Pro Football Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Texans got two of the best players in the NFL draft in the first three picks. The Eagles added three more defensive standouts from Georgia.

While it takes two or three years to judge whether players panned out, it's easy to identify the potential winners of the 2023 NFL draft.

Houston selected quarterback C.J. Stroud at No. 2 and traded up to get Alabama edge rusher Will Anderson Jr. with the third pick. In a 10-minute span, the Texans added two players who could dramatically change the future of the franchise.

Defending NFC champion Philadelphia needed to replenish the defense so it looked toward the two-time national champion Bulldogs. The Eagles moved up one spot to No. 9 for defensive tackle Jalen Carter, a player widely considered the most talented in the draft who slipped because of off-field issues.

At No. 30, Philly added edge Nolan Smith. General manager Howie Roseman still wasn't finished. He got Georgia cornerback Kelee Ringo in the fourth round and added another former Bulldog, acquiring running back De'Andre Swift in a trade with Detroit. The Eagles have drafted five Georgia players in the past two years.

Here are AP's early grades on each team's overall draft:

ARIZONA CARDINALS: B

OT Paris Johnson Jr. (6) will protect QB Kyler Murray. Addressed defensive needs with DE BJ Ojulari and CB Garrett Williams. OL Jon Gaines II and LB Owen Pappoe were value picks in Day 3.

ATLANTA FALCONS: C-

RB Bijan Robinson should be a superstar but No. 8 was too high. Teams win Super Bowls with late-round picks and undrafted free agents carrying the ball. OT Matthew Bergeron and DE Zach Harrison bolster both lines.

BALTIMORE RAVENS: C+

With Odell Beckham Jr. in the flock, should've addressed the secondary in the first round instead of taking WR Zay Flowers at No. 22. Went defense with next three picks.

BUFFALO BILLS: B

Traded up for TE Dalton Kincaid at No. 25 despite other needs. Got better value in second round with OL O'Cyrus Torrence and third round with LB Dorian Williams.

CAROLINA PANTHERS: B-

No. 1 pick Bryce Young has superior talent but needs to overcome size concerns. WR Jonathan Mingo is a playmaker. OL Chandler Zavala highlighted Day 3 picks.

CHICAGO BEARS: A

Moved down one spot and got OT Darnell Wright (10) to anchor the O-line. DL Gervon Dexter Sr., RB Roschon Johnson, WR Tyler Scott, LB Noah Sewell and CB Terrell Smith are among an impressive haul.

CINCINNATI BENGALS: B

DE Myles Murphy (28) was projected among the top 15. Upgraded secondary with CB DJ Turner and S Jordan Battle.

CLEVELAND BROWNS: B

Didn't pick until WR Cedric Tillman at No. 74. OT Dawand Jones and DL Isaiah McGuire bolster the trenches. CB Cameron Mitchell was solid value in fifth round.

DALLAS COWBOYS: B+

DT Mazi Smith (26) and LB DeMarion Overshown should make immediate impact. TE Luke Schoonmaker gives Dak Prescott another playmaker.

DENVER BRONCOS: B+

Gave Russell Wilson another option with WR Marvin Mims at No. 63. LB Drew Sanders, CB Riley Moss and S JL Skinner strengthen the defense.

DETROIT LIONS: C

LB Jack Campbell (18), TE Sam LaPorta, S Brian Branch and QB Hendon Hooker help make up for reaching way too high for RB Jahmyr Gibbs at No. 12.

GREEN BAY PACKERS: B-

Added talented DE Lukas Van Ness (13), and helped Jordan Love with additions of TE Luke Musgrave, WR Jayden Reed, TE Tucker Kraft and WR Dontayvion Wicks.

HOUSTON TEXANS: A+

Stroud and Anderson are the headliners. OL Juice Scruggs, WR Nathaniel Dell and DE Dylan Horton improve a poor roster.

INDIANAPOLIS COLTS: A-

QB Anthony Richardson (4) is raw but has the most upside of all the QBs. Had the best Day 3, getting OT Blake Freeland, DL Adetomiwa Adebawore, CB Darius Rush, S Daniel Scott, TE Will Mallory and RB Evan Hull.

JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS: B+

Improved offense with first three picks: OT Anton Harrison (27), TE Brenton Strange and RB Tank Bigsby. WR Parker Washington could be a steal in the sixth round.

KANSAS CITY CHIEFS: C+

Reached for DE Felix Anudike-Uzomah at No. 31. WR Rashee Rice and OT Wanya Morris in Day 2 fill holes.

LAS VEGAS RAIDERS: B+

Tyree Wilson (7) is a game-changer. TE Michael Mayer and WR Tre Tucker bolster receiving group. DL Byron Young at No. 70 is questionable.

LOS ANGELES CHARGERS: C+

Quentin Johnston (21) was the second WR off the board with better options available. Addressed defense on Day 2 with DL Tuli Tuipulotu and LB Daiyan Henley.

LOS ANGELES RAMS: B

Selected 14 players, including 11 on Day 3 starting with QB Stetson Bennett. Didn't have a first for seventh straight year but added plenty of depth.

MIAMI DOLPHINS: B+

Had only four picks and no first but came away with talented CB Cam Smith, RB Devon Achane and WR Elijah Higgins.

MINNESOTA VIKINGS: A

WR Jordan Addison (23) replaces Adam Thielen. CBs Mekhi Blackmon and Jay Ward upgrade secondary.

NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS: B+

Traded down and still got talented CB Christian Gonzalez at No. 17. Focused on defense in Day 2 with DE Keion White and S Marte Mapu. Trading up for K Chad Ryland in fourth round was baffling.

NEW ORLEANS SAINTS: B

DL Bryan Bresee made sense at No. 29 but DE Isaiah Foskey seemed too early at No. 40. Got value in Day

3 with OL Nick Saldiveri, S Jordan Howden and WR A.T. Perry.

NEW YORK GIANTS: A-

CB Deonte Banks (24) and OL John Michael Schmitz fill needs. Stole WR Jalin Hyatt in the third round.

NEW YORK JETS: B

DE Will McDonald IV (15) needs to perform quickly to justify going that high. OT Carter Warren, RB Israel Abanikanda and CB Jarrick Bernard-Converse highlighted an outstanding Day 3 haul.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES: A+

Carter, Smith, Ringo plus OT Tyler Steen and S Sydney Brown in the third round and a trade for Swift already make Roseman a favorite for executive of the year.

PITTSBURGH STEELERS: A

Moved up for OT Broderick Jones (14). Got first-round talent in CB Joey Porter Jr. and TE Darnell Washington in Day 2.

SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS: C-

CB Ji'Ayir Brown with their first pick at No. 87 and CB Darrell Luter Jr. in fifth round were the best picks in a draft that included K Jake Moody in the third round.

SEATTLE SEAHAWKS: A

Got the best players at their position with CB Devon Witherspoon (5) and WR Jaxon Smith-Njigba (20) in the first round. DE Derick Hall and OL Anthony Bradford highlight a strong overall group.

TAMPA BAY BUCCANEERS: B-

Taking DT Calijah Kancey at No. 19 over Will Levis shows commitment to Kyle Trask/Baker Mayfield QB competition. OL Cody Mauch, TE Payne Durham and WR Trey Palmer graded well at their spots.

TENNESSEE TITANS: B+

Took OL Peter Skoronski over Levis at No. 11 and ended up with the QB anyway in the second round. Added RB Tyjae Spears, TE Josh Whyle, OT Jaelyn Duncan and WR Colton Dowell in an all-offense draft.

WASHINGTON COMMANDERS: C+

Took Emmanuel Forbes (16) early in an excellent CB draft class. Further bolstered secondary with S Jartavius Martin in second round. Day 3 RB Chris Rodriguez Jr. has upside.

For the third time in his career, Martin Truex Jr. took the win at Dover on a Monday.

Truex wins NASCAR race at Dover for 3rd time on a Monday

By DAN GELSTON
AP Sports Writer

DOVER, Del. — Martin Truex Jr. grew up in New Jersey wanting to follow his dad into racing. Martin Truex, though, mostly raced on free weekends when he wasn't running Sea Watch International, which harvests and processes clam products.

The Joe Gibbs Racing driver worked as a teenager on his dad's clamming boat, often rising before dawn ahead of a day spent on choppy waters, knowing even then that life at sea wasn't for him.

"I'm glad I figured out how to go fast so I could get the hell off that boat," Truex said.

Truex got off the boat, into stock cars and — after a bumpy start to his career — became one of the more dominant drivers of his era. He had achieved just about all he could — except celebrate with his brother as winners on a NASCAR weekend.

With dad at the track, Truex mastered the Monster Mile on a Monday for the third time in his career, the former NASCAR champion snapping a 54-race winless streak overall in the Cup Series at Dover Motor Speedway.

Thanks to a race postponed a day because of rain, it was a long weekend sweep for the Truex brothers. Younger brother Ryan Truex won the second-tier Xfinity Series race on Saturday for his first NASCAR victory across all three national series in 188 career starts.

"Ryan has been through a lot. He's really worked hard, and he's gotten beat down and knocked down a lot and been through some tough times that he's had to kind of persevere through," Truex said.

Big brother was the first one to poke his head in Ryan's Toyota as he pulled it into victory lane. Dad was there to celebrate with both sons.

"He's pretty quiet when he's at the track and all that," Truex said. "But just obviously really excited, really proud of his two sons going to victory lane."

Ryan Truex was unable to attend Monday's race.

"We would love to have Ryan in the car," team owner Joe Gibbs said. "He does a lot of simulation work for us. He's a dedicated young guy, and as everybody knows, it's hard to get sponsorship."

Gibbs made repeated phone calls and FaceTimed friends in victory lane — "I'm going to talk to my wife first," he said as he momentarily rejected one interview request — and told everyone on the other line "it was a Truex weekend!"

"We just won the race at Dover with ol' Martin Truex!"

the team owner nicknamed Coach bellowed into his phone.

Truex Jr. certainly knows how to get to victory lane on the concrete-mile track about 130 miles (210 km) from his hometown of Mayetta, New Jersey. Truex, who contemplated retirement last season, has long considered Dover his home track.

Who knew it would be the setting for a victorious family reunion?

The 2017 Cup champion has the blueprint on how to win at the Monster Mile on a Monday. Truex raced to his first NASCAR Cup win on June 4, 2007, at Dover and 12 years later used another rainout to take the checkered flag on May 6, 2019.

Truex also won a regularly scheduled Sunday race here in 2016.

He held strong on the outside lane Monday off the final restart to hold off runner-up Ross Chastain by a half-second. Ryan Blaney, William Byron and Denny Hamlin completed the top five.

Byron fell short after he led a race-high 193 laps in the No. 24 Chevrolet.

"In our history, this hasn't been our best track," he said. "We came with something a little bit different to try and help that. I think it did for the majority of the race, but just got too loose."

Truex bristled at questions that suggested he was in a bit of a long losing streak. The 42-year-old driver had endured much worse than the 0s in the win column over the last two years. His 2007 win at Dover was the only one for him from his Cup debut in 2004 through 2012. It wasn't until he joined the now-defunct Furniture Row Racing that he blossomed into a star.

He won a career-best eight times in 2017 and 23 times overall from 2016 to 2019. Truex, who made the jump to JGR in 2019, had been winless since his last Cup victory on Sept. 11, 2021, at Richmond Raceway.

"You have all these races throughout that period where you're like, we were good enough to win, we should have won," Truex said. "It's not like we can't do that, we just need to put it all together."

Truex opened his 18th full season with an exhibition victory in the Busch Light Clash in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

He did have three top-10 finishes this season in the No. 19 Toyota but couldn't find his way to victory lane until Monday. He earned his 32nd career Cup victory and became the 10th driver to win four or more Cup races at Dover.

And he doesn't have to answer to anyone about a losing streak.

"Such a long winless streak," Truex said. "I've only won 32 of these things now, you guys. It's really, really hard to win these races, you guys, OK?"

So you're telling me there's a chance?

Noah Gragson made the cut.

No, not to victory lane, but to his head when he shaved the sides and left only a mop-topped shock of hair on top.

Gragson joked, "I'm gonna put it right on black, baby," as he flashed an autographed $100 bill from fellow NASCAR driver Austin Dillon as part the payout for the bet that the Legacy Motor Club driver would get a bowl cut.

"Some say I lost a bet," Gragson said. "I think I won."

Gragson finished 34th because of an early wreck and hasn't finished better than 30th in any of his last five races.

NASCAR heads to Kansas Speedway. Kurt Busch won likely the last race of his career there after it was cut short because of a head injury suffered in a crash at Pocono last summer. Bubba Wallace won the fall race at the track.

Bauer gets 1st win in nearly two years

YOKOHAMA, Japan — After cheerleaders welcomed him, after receiving the largest ovation of any Yokohama player at the start of the game, Trevor Bauer delivered what was expected on Wednesday in his debut with the Yokohama DeNA Baystars.

Bauer pitched his first official game in just over 22 months after the Los Angeles Dodgers released him earlier this year following claims of sexual assault and domestic violence.

Bauer, scattered seven hits in 7 innings, allowed one run, struck out 9 and threw 98 pitches in a 4-1 victory against the Hiroshima Carp before 33,202, which the team said was a record.

The highlight might have been Bauer's batting.

Pitchers still bat in Japan's Central League, where the DH is not used. Bauer grounded out once and put down a perfect sacrifice bunt in the fifth, which led to Yokohama's go-ahead run. He also struck out.

The only blemish was a bases-empty home run in the second to fellow American Matt Davidson, who played with Bauer with the Cincinnati Reds in 2020.

"My ex-teammate got me," Bauer said. "I don't know how far it went. I talked to him before his next at-bat and I said: 'Why do you have to do that to me?'"

Bauer's first game has been long awaited in Yokohama, which has not won the Japanese season championship since 1998. Bauer is expected to deliver with the team now leading the Central League.

Osaka club Orix leads the Pacific League.

"I felt great," Bauer said. "I just felt normal, the body felt good: command, velocity, results. All good. It was a great day."

He even tried a few words of Japanese, addressing the fans after the game. Roughly translated he said: "I win in Yokohama."

Fans applauded and understood immediately. He said teammates were teaching him.

"I have to make sure they're not telling me to say something wrong," he said.

Bauer was asked by Japanese reporters what he was thinking about just before the game. His reply suggested he was feeling some pressure.

"My nose started bleeding," he said. "That's what was on my mind coming to the field."

Yokohama signed Bauer for a reported $4 million, and he also gets millions more in termination pay from the Dodgers.

Billboards all over town announced his arrival, including a seven-story poster that went up Wednesday on the side of a Yokohama department store.

Bauer arrives with a baseball pedigree as the 2020 Cy Young Award winner, and also claims of sexual assault and domestic violence that have kept him out of playing in the majors for almost two years.

Bauer was released by the Los Angeles Dodgers this year after an arbitrator reduced his 324-game suspension to 194 games for violating the domestic violence and sexual assault policy of MLB and the players' association.

MLB Commissioner Rob Manfred suspended Bauer in April of last year after a San Diego woman said he beat and sexually abused her in 2021. Bauer disputed her claims and said everything that happened between them was consensual.

He was never charged with a crime and a California judge found the woman's claims "materially misleading."

Bauer could have joined any MLB team for this season, but no teams wanted him — or if they did, they didn't sign him.

Bauer, as he has before, lauded the atmosphere at Japanese stadiums, where there is a constant din of chants, songs and drums beating with fans always participating.

"The atmosphere in the U.S. doesn't compare to here at all," Bauer said. "The only time it comes anywhere close is sometimes in playoff baseball. I played in a World Series in 2016 and the Cleveland stadium was very loud. But the sustained energy here is just so much different."

His debut came after three appearances with Yokohama's farm clubs, where he had 17 strikeouts in 16 innings with a 2.25 ERA.

Japanese fans have welcomed him, women have not organized to protest his presence, and he's being given the benefit of the doubt. For his part, he's talking up every aspect of playing in Japan.

"I just want to win," Bauer said. "I want to contribute to that. I want to pitch well. I want to entertain the fans."

Yokohama fan Shohei Horikawa stood inside Yokohama's stadium and summed up what many Japanese feel.
