Here’s How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

"To Titus, a true son after the common faith: Grace, mercy, and peace, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ our Savior." – Titus 1:4

In this letter to Titus written by the apostle Paul, Paul reminds Titus that sound faith and acknowledging God's truth is absolutely essential. Paul then reminds Titus that he is "a true son after the common faith." Being a "true son" means that Titus was a genuine or legitimate child of God according to the faith. This is very important because Paul was a Jew writing to Titus who was a Greek. In that day there were heated racial division was between Jews and Greeks. So to have a Greek (Titus) listen to the gospel message of Jesus Christ from a Jew (Paul) and believe it, that was a divine miracle of God. Then for Paul to embrace Titus as a genuine child of God after the common faith was another divine work of God. What do we learn from this? It is obvious, racial tensions can be eliminated by the pure gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ the Savior of the world (1 John 4:14), which is the "common faith."

The word "common" does not mean ordinary or worthless like we use it today. Instead, "common" means shared or enjoyed by all. Everyone who has the Lord Jesus Christ as his or her object of faith, has the same kind of saving faith. This "common faith" points to the fact that Titus was born into God's family of faith as a legitimate child. It is God's Spirit who comes, using the word of God, to give a lost sinner the new birth. Peter calls it "being born again" (1 Peter 1:23). This is totally a work of God and not by man's choice. The apostle John wrote, "But as many as received Him, to them He gave power (the right) to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: Which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God" (John 1:12,13). It is clear that one's spiritual birth into God's family of faith is not by pedigree, it's not by our free will, and it's not by the will of another man such as a pastor, a priest, or pope. Obviously, being born again is by God alone.

Even though our faith in Christ is active in our salvation, we must understand that our faith does not cause the new birth. Faith is not something that you stir up inside yourself, but faith is a gift of God (Ephesians 2:8). So the spiritual birth by God comes first, then faith follows. Nicodemus in John chapter three had a hard time understanding being born again spiritually. So Jesus cut to the heart of the matter explaining that the new birth is the Spirit of God's work while we are called to just simply believe on the Son of God (John 3:1-18).

BECKHAM PARK DEDICATION

The city's western entrance on Mooresville Highway saw a burst of activity the weekend before last. On Thursday, May 18, the friends and family of William and Imogene Beckham joined with city officials and appreciative residents to officially dedicate the new park in the Beckham's name. Imogene Beckham donated the wedge of land between Old and New Mooresville Highways to the city, which, along with many volunteers and support from Waste Management, has been working to transform the parcel into a gateway for the city of Lewisburg. To that end, that Friday and Saturday saw volunteer groups working in the new park. On Saturday, Troop 352 and the Tennessee Environmental Council installed and planted approximately 4,000 square feet of pollinator and butterfly gardens on the site.

A beautiful Monday morning on the Lewisburg square saw residents pause to remember those who have given their lives in military service to the nation. The annual Memorial Day observance, organized by the local American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts, featured Major Kirby Watkins of the Tennessee National Guard as the keynote speaker, touching on the sacrifices made in defense of the United States.

Annette Long Bills Lawrie

Mrs. Annette Long Bills Lawrie passed away at the age of 98 on Monday, May 22, 2023, while with her daughter and son-in-law in Slidell, Louisiana. Born in Lewisburg, Tennessee in September 1924, she was the daughter of Harold Long and Emalene Edith Warwick Bills. Annette was a life-long member of First Presbyterian Church in Lewisburg where she was organist for 60 years until her retirement in July 2015. She served as an Elder on the Session of First Presbyterian Church; and in 2018, the Session recognized her as Organist Emeritus. She met her husband Howard Martin Lawrie in 1950 in Chicago, IL while he was in graduate school at the Chicago Conservatory of Music. During that time, she was accompanying voice students from Northwestern University and the Chicago Conservatory of Music. Howard and Annette married August 5, 1950 at First Presbyterian Church in Lewisburg and were married almost 55 years until his death, January 14, 2005.

Annette is preceded in death by her parents, husband Howard and sister Edith Bills McClelland. She is survived by a daughter, Melinda Lawrie (Jim) Epperson of Slidell, LA; two sons, William Harold (Bill) Lawrie (Mandy Wachtler) of Nashville, TN and Warwick Wilsey (Wicky) Lawrie (Dee Dee Hollis) of Nashville, TN; grandchildren Miles Lawrie of Lewisburg, TN, Alyson Lawrie of Nashville, TN, Jim Epperson, Jr. of South Daytona, FL, and Andy Epperson of Albuquerque, New Mexico; great-grandchildren Barclay Epperson and Campbell Epperson of South Daytona, FL; nephew Tim McClelland (Margaret Carpenter) of Knoxville, TN, nieces Marion McClelland of Columbus, Ohio and Shai Marshall of Lexington, Kentucky. She is also survived by a first cousin in North Carolina, great nieces and nephews, and many dear and treasured friends.

As a child and young woman, Annette studied piano and organ for many years with Mrs. Ada Hursh, who was organist at First Presbyterian Church in Lewisburg, TN. She loved walking to the church with her dog "Sparky" to practice; and in her last years as organist, Annette would take her dog "Gabby" with her when she practiced for the coming Sunday. Annette graduated from Marshall County High School in 1943 and attended Maryville College. She graduated from the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago, IL in June 1948 with a Bachelor of Music degree in organ where she was also a member of Mu Phi Epsilon professional music fraternity. She enjoyed sharing stories of her time in Chicago and being at the conservatory, such as her orchestration class under Leo Sowerby, who was often referred to as the "dean of American church music."

During her ten years in Chicago, she attended Fourth Presbyterian Church and was a member of the evening choir. From Chicago, Annette and Howard moved to Jackson, Tennessee where they were organist and Minister of Music at First Presbyterian Church. They moved to Lewisburg, TN in 1955 upon Mrs. Hursh's retirement as organist. Annette was a member of the Robert Lewis Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution as well as other local clubs and organizations.

Annette taught piano and organ to countless children in the Lewisburg area and played for numerous weddings, funerals, MCHS graduations and cantatas, many of which were directed by her husband Howard. In addition to being a church organist and teaching, her love of music was expressed through accompanying choirs, school choruses, community choruses, and soloists. She was well known for her musical ability as well as her involvement and commitment to the Lewisburg and Marshall County communities.

Annette was a much-loved lady in the Lewisburg community. She was the consummate professional yet very modest about her God-given talent and accomplishments. The greatest joys in her life came from being a loving, giving mother, grandmother, great grandmother, and aunt. She also loved and found great happiness in the four-legged members of the Lawrie family throughout the years.

Visitation will be held Saturday, June 3, 2023, from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. at Bills-McGaugh & Hamilton Funeral Home (755 Yell Road), and on Sunday from 1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church preceding the service. A celebration of her life and music will be held Sunday, June 4th, at 2:00 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church of Lewisburg with The Reverend Robert H. Montgomery officiating. Pallbearers are Jock Floyd, Terry Jackson, Roy Lambert, Bob Phillips, Nick Phillips, and Mike Spence. Burial will follow at Sunset Park.

In lieu of flowers, please consider making a donation in her memory to First Presbyterian Church, the Marshall County Humane Society or another pet/animal charity of your choice.

Bills-McGaugh & Hamilton Funeral Home is honored to serve the family. Condolences and memories may be extended online at www.billsmcgaugh.com

Jean Carlton Glasscock

Mrs. Jean Carlton Glasscock, 90, of Shelbyville, TN, formerly of the Halls Mill Community, died Tuesday, May 23, 2023. Born in Rutherford Co., Mrs. Glasscock was a daughter of the late Clayton and Maggie Smotherman Carlton. She married James "Sonny" Glasscock in 1959 who passed away in 2011. She was retired from the State of Tennessee as a clerk. In addition to her parents and husband, she was preceded in death by a sister, Frances Reid and two brothers, Earl Carlton and John Carlton.

Mrs. Glasscock is survived by four nieces, Linda Chunn, Rita (Edwin) Ralston, Donna Belew and Cindy Carl-

Man dies after being attacked by bull

EAGLEVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Chapel Hill man has died after being attacked by a bull in a barn, officials said.

First responders were called to the barn near Eagleville on Wednesday and treated Joseph Young, 55, before he was flown to a hospital, where he later died, the Rutherford County Sheriff's Office told news outlets.

Witnesses heard Young yelling, "Get back! Get back!" while he was inside the barn, Sheriff's Cpl. Jamie Bailey said.

Authorities yelled to distract the aggressive animal and it then charged at them, leading a deputy to fire his rifle and put the animal down, the sheriff's office said.

An autopsy will be conducted to determine the man's cause of death, officials said.

First Fun Friday tomorrow

By Scott Pearson
Associate Editor

Music, food, shopping, and fun return to the Lewisburg square tomorrow, June 2, at 5 p.m. with the first Fun Friday of the summer.

The Young Professionals of Marshall County series of free summer events has become a community staple since beginning in 2018.

Food is always a draw at Fun Friday and there will be plenty of choices this time with MuleTown Pizza, The Tennessean Truck Stop, Kona Ice, Nellie Neece, and Frozen Spoon Ice Cream food trucks scheduled for the square.

Kids will have plenty to do with a bounce house, face painting, and The Balloon Guy twisting up some balloon treasures.

While dining or playing, attendees can enjoy the sounds of Escape, the live music soundtrack for the start of summer.

Select stores in the downtown area will keep later hours for the evening, and will be joined by pop-up vendors

Two more Fun Friday events are scheduled for the summer as well, June 30 and July 28.

This first installment of the summer series is sponsored by Enbridge.

Raids last Wednesday

By Scott Pearson
Associate Editor

Last Wednesday, a multi-jurisdictional law enforcement group conducted several raids, including at a residence on Old Columbia Highway, in Lewisburg.

Due to the ongoing nature of the investigation, officials were reticent to divulge many details of the operation which they said focused on a widespread network behind the theft of used cooking oil from restaurants.

Theft of used cooking oil is becoming more and more widespread as the seeming waste product has surprising value for conversion into biodiesel fuel or in other products like animal feed.

The Lewisburg Police Department assisted in the effort. This group apparently located themselves in Lewisburg solely due to its location, with easy access to both the Nashville and Huntsville metro areas.

One man, who was not identified by law enforcement, was reportedly arrested.

LWW water system get high grade

If the city's drinking water system were a student, it'd be very happy with its report card.

The Tennessee Department of Water Resources conducted a sanitary survey of Lewisburg Water and Wastewater's drinking water operations, earlier this year.

The survey examined records for a two year period, from April, 2021 to February, 2023, and conducted an inspection of the utility's water treatment and distribution systems.

Lewisburg Water received 597 out of a possible 599 points from the survey, a 99% score, maintaining the utility's approved rating.

CHPD increases impaired-driving enforcement

Chapel Hill Police Department is partnering with the Tennessee Highway Safety Office (THSO) to increase impaired-driving enforcement in the months of June, July, and August.

The THSO's statewide Booze It and Lose It campaign is part of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over nationwide mobilization.

The Chapel Hill Police Department will be conducting a sobriety checkpoint in an effort to reduce impaired drivers in Marshall County. The check point will be on Saturday, June 10, 2023, and will be located in the corporate city limits of Chapel Hill. According to Police Chief Andrew Kon, the Chapel Hill Police Department is committed to protecting its residents and is taking the initiative to conduct its first roadblock this year.

Increased state and national messaging about the dangers of drunk driving, coupled with increased sobriety checkpoints and high visibility enforcement, aim to drastically reduce the number of drunk-driving crashes, injuries, and fatalities this year.

The consequences of a single DUI conviction for a first-time offender in the state of Tennessee may include costly fines, court costs, legal fees, jail time, mandatory drug and alcohol treatment, and/or the installation of an ignition interlock device in his/her vehicle.

The THSO provides grant funding to support the Chapel Hill Police Department's increased enforcement efforts during the Booze It and Lose It campaign. For more information about the THSO, please visit www.tntrafficsafety.org

Do you suffer from tipping fatigue?

Tyrades!
Danny Tyree

By Danny Tyree

I shudder to imagine how Aunt Marie (God rest her soul) would react to today's explosion of expectations for tipping.

Even back in pre-inflationary times, Aunt Marie (who always worked hard for her money) was prone to greet hints for gratuities with a cranky, "I'll give 'em a dadgum tip, alright!" (With the understanding that she meant a teeth-jarring tip upside the head.)

Unless you've been living in a cave, you know that more and more venues and occupations are pushing for tips and that bare-minimum percentages are trending inexorably upwards.

(Heck, even if you have been living in a cave, you've probably encountered some stranger with his palm extended muttering, "Ahem* I'm the essential person who told you which are stalactites and which are stalagmites. Debit, credit or cash?")

A tip of 15 percent maintained harmony between diners and waitstaff for decades. Now the server infers, "After I leave this measly 15 percent, I'm going to drive to the cemetery in my diamond-encrusted Rolls Royce and spit on your father's grave."

For no discernible reason other than pandemic pressures, a range of 18-20 percent is now the starting point. One member of the etiquette god pantheon did try to explain it with "Well, the fluctuations of the euro...I mean, the emergence of systemic...aw, go ask your mother!"

We're supposed to get with the program and accept that tipping has evolved. Fine, if it has evolved, let Bill Nye the Science Guy fork over an extra two bucks for my hoagie.

It's supposedly a violation of the social compact if we hold a grudge against a restaurateur who just wants to live his dream. ("My dream has always been to share my grandmother's delicious recipes with the whole world - and, oh yeah, to underpay my staff.")

Some businesses are tacking on an automatic tip even before a delivery is made. ("Sorry I flattened your carport and your terrier on the way in. The extra five bucks should help calm

my nerves.")

Restaurants feel justified in assessing an automatic 18-percent tip for large parties because the diners might (!) be unreasonable, might (!) tie up the table too long and might (!) forget whose turn it was to tip. Next, they will add a surcharge for bribing Animal Control because monkeys might (!) fly out of the butts of the diners.

Consumers are especially riled up over self-checkout (!) touchscreens that suggest a range of tips. ("Think of it as a convenience, not a guilt trip - although the touchscreen does sometimes complain that you never visit your cousin in Topeka.")

The business owner swears he's going to divvy up the money with all the (unseen) employees; but if I can't trust him to keep the bathroom clean, fix the potholes in the parking lot and keep tea urns full, I'm not getting my hopes up about redistribution of wealth.

Tipping has taken on theological implications. In Bible days, some people had the notion that Saint Peter's shadow falling on them would cure their illness. Now gas station clerks insist "Hey, I was in the same time zone as your bagel, so that should be good for a buck or two."

Hang in there, inflation-battered consumers. If Aunt Marie was here, she would feel your pain.

Or ... you could feel your own dadgum pain and tip 30 percent for the privilege.

New laws require local government to provide agendas, public comment periods

By Deborah Fisher
Executive director of Tennessee
Coalition for Open Government

The Tennessee Open Meetings Act hasn't changed too much over the years. But this year, the General Assembly made two major improvements that were a long time coming.

The open meetings law now requires that city and county legislative bodies produce an agenda that is available to the public at least 48 hours before a meeting and that "reasonably describes" each agenda item.

No more hiding important government business behind vague language or putting out an agenda that is only "new business" and "old business."

Another new law requires public comment periods in all governing body meetings in which action is planned. Many governing bodies already have public comment periods, but nothing in state law required it and some do not have them or eliminate them for various meetings.

Both changes are good for citizens and for the people who serve on our governing bodies. They mean more information gets shared and less funny business can occur through withheld information.

My group, Tennessee Coalition for Open Government, worked with lawmakers and stakeholders on the requirement for an agenda after hearing reports of governing bodies that intentionally left things off the agenda or disguised them to avoid public scrutiny.

When citizens have sought legal relief for such secretive behavior, they were met with a Tennessee Court of Appeals ruling that said that nothing in the statute specifically requires governing bodies to have an agenda.

The new agenda law applies to all meetings of local legislative bodies, which include city councils, boards of aldermen and county commissions. TCOG hopes that lawmakers will consider in future sessions adding the requirement for other governing bodies, such as school boards, planning and zoning commissions and state boards and commissions.

Some details:

- The agenda must be available 48 hours in advance in a place accessible to the public. This place can be on the governing body's website, but it also can be in a public building, such as a city hall, if it's accessible to the public.

- A governing body can add an item to the agenda during the meeting only if members follow their bylaws or properly adopted rules and procedures and comply with all other applicable state laws.

- However, the governing body is prohibited from circumventing the advance agenda requirements for the purpose of avoiding public disclosure of business to be considered.

No cryptic agenda items

One question going forward may be: What does "reasonably describe" mean? Generally, a reasonable person legal standard refers to what a hypothetical person with an ordinary degree of reason and intelligence and exercising average skill and judgment might determine.

An example of what would not be acceptable can be found in a court case regarding the town of Englewood's notice of a special-called meeting. By law, notice for a special-called meeting must include the purpose of the meeting.

The meeting was about the town selecting the route for a highway construction project — one that would bypass the town or one that would widen a two-lane road into a four-lane road.

The notice said: "Letter to the State concerning HWY 411."

The Court of Appeals in 1999 found that this "was so lacking that a person of reasonable intelligence would not be informed by the cryptic statement...Instead, a more substantive pronouncement stating that the commission would reconsider which alternative to endorse for Highway 411 should have been given."

Deborah Fisher

The agenda bill was carried by Sen. Todd Gardenhire, R-Chattanooga, and Rep. Jerome Moon, R-Maryville.

Governing bodies may restrict comments to items on the agenda

The new public comment law requires that a governing body reserve a period for comment "on matters that are germane to the items on the agenda for the meeting." Nothing restricts a governing body from also allowing comment on items not on the agenda.

Some additional details:

- The governing body may put "reasonable restrictions" on the comment period, "such as the length of the period, the number of speakers and the length of the time that each speaker will be allowed to comment."

- The governing body may require people to give notice in advance that they want to speak. The meeting notice must tell citizens how they can express their desire to speak — for example, if they need to sign up.

- The law requires that the governing body take steps "to ensure that opposing viewpoints are represented fairly."

- Public comment periods are not required for meetings in which a governing body is conducting a disciplinary hearing for a member of the governing body or for a person whose profession is regulated by the governing body, such as state licensure boards.

The public comment bill was carried by Sen. Adam Lowe, R-Calhoun, and Rep. Elaine Davis, R-Knoxville.

Forrest Middle students rewarded

Forrest Middle School had a group of 88 students to complete the entire science portion of the Study Island learning platform. Each ended up with 26 Blue Ribbons to show their hard work and that was not too easily obtained because instead of each blue ribbon requiring the students to get 70% correct, Ms. Hickerson altered the requirements and they had to get at least 90% to gain mastery and get the blue ribbon. As a token of good measure for all of their hard work, each student of these 88 students were allowed to swap any grade this last nine weeks for a 100. Study Island is a TN standard based program used to supplement the daily curriculum and provides lesson material, quiz opportunities, group session, game mode as well as assessments that are all aligned with the current science standards. “By using Study Island with our regular classwork, I felt better prepared for the TCAP we recently took,” one student stated. Another student said, “I actually didn’t mind Study Island because we always have several days to get it completed and Ms. Hickerson let us work on it over and over until we got the grade we wanted.” Ms. Hickerson said she was perfectly okay with the reworking of the same material because it was standard based content being read and reread and this was a valuable resource for student mastery of the standard being studied. “My students work hard and for 88 out of 154 students to reach this goal is rewarding for me to see. Students are introduced to Study Island at an early age and I am grateful for the teachers they have before me who have taught them the basics of the program. This makes my job a little easier.”

Slams make the difference as Lady Rockets finish 2nd

By Rickey Clardy
Sports Writer

MURFREESBORO — The Forrest Lady Rockets could not overcome the bat of Westview Lady Charger McCall Simms Friday in the championship game of the TSSAA Class AA state softball tournament as Simms connected on two grand slams in consecutive innings to break open a close game as the Lady Rockets fell 13-5.

Forrest outhit the Lady Chargers 14-11, but the Lady Rockets could not connect on the big hit at crucial times and left 12 runners on base.

“Early in the game we had some walks, we made some errors on plays we usually make, and put too many runners on base,” Coach Shelby Lightfoot of the Lady Rockets said.

“Once we did that, they always came up with that big hit,” Lightfoot added. “Probably gave them eight to 10 bases, and when we did that, they capitalized on it.”

After the Lady Chargers took a 1-0 lead in the opening inning, Abby Ferguson doubled and Ella Chilton singled in the bottom of the inning for the Lady Rockets after two were out.

Ferguson tried to score on Chilton’s single, but was out on a close play at the plate as Westview kept its lead.

It appeared the Lady Rockets might dodge trouble in the second after the Lady Chargers loaded the bases with one out, but after Forrest recorded the second out on the infield, Lakyn Rogers cleared the bases with a double as Westview upped its lead to 4-0.

The Lady Rockets used three hits to cut into the Lady Charger lead in the bottom of the inning.

Maggie Daugherty led off with a single and was sacrificed to second by Christa Warren.

Carli Warner brought home the first Forrest run with a double and with two outs, Parker Wales singled on a bloop down the third base line as Forrest scored the second run of the inning and cut the Westview lead to 4-2.

The Lady Rockets left two runners on base in the third as the score remained 4-2 before the Lady Chargers came up big in the fourth.

After three Westview players reached base on a hit batsman, double, and an error, Simms connected and drilled the ball over the center field fence as the Lady Chargers increased their lead to 8-2.

The bottom of the fourth started promising for the Lady Rockets as walks to Warner and Briley Burnham and a single by Wales loaded the bases with nobody out. But two strikeouts and a ground-out squelched the rally as Forrest came up empty.

It was déjà vu for the Lady Chargers in the fifth.

After two singles and a walk, Simms connected again for her second grand slam over the left field fence as the Lady Chargers upped their lead to 12-2.

The Lady Rockets used singles by Emory Hall and Warren and an RBI-single by Warner to score a run in the bottom of the fifth as the Lady Charger lead was cut to 12-3.

Westview put together three singles to score a run and increase its lead to 13-3 in the top of the seventh before the Lady Rockets came to bat.

Not going down without a fight, Forrest used a leadoff single by Daugherty, a Warren walk, and an RBI-single by Warner to cut the Lady Charger lead to 13-4.

After one out, Wales singled to score Warren to make the score 13-5, but the Lady Rockets could not put another runner on base as a strikeout and ground out ended the game and the season for the Lady Rockets.

“We weren’t going to give up,” Lightfoot said. “The big two things happened and probably not our best ball that we’ve played all year, but we weren’t going to give up without a fight.”

“I’m proud of our team for that,” Lightfoot added.

Warner and Wales each had three hits to pace the Lady Rockets at the plate.

Moreland started on the mound for Forrest with Chilton and Hall in relief.

In addition to her two grand slams, Simms was the winning pitcher for the Lady Chargers.

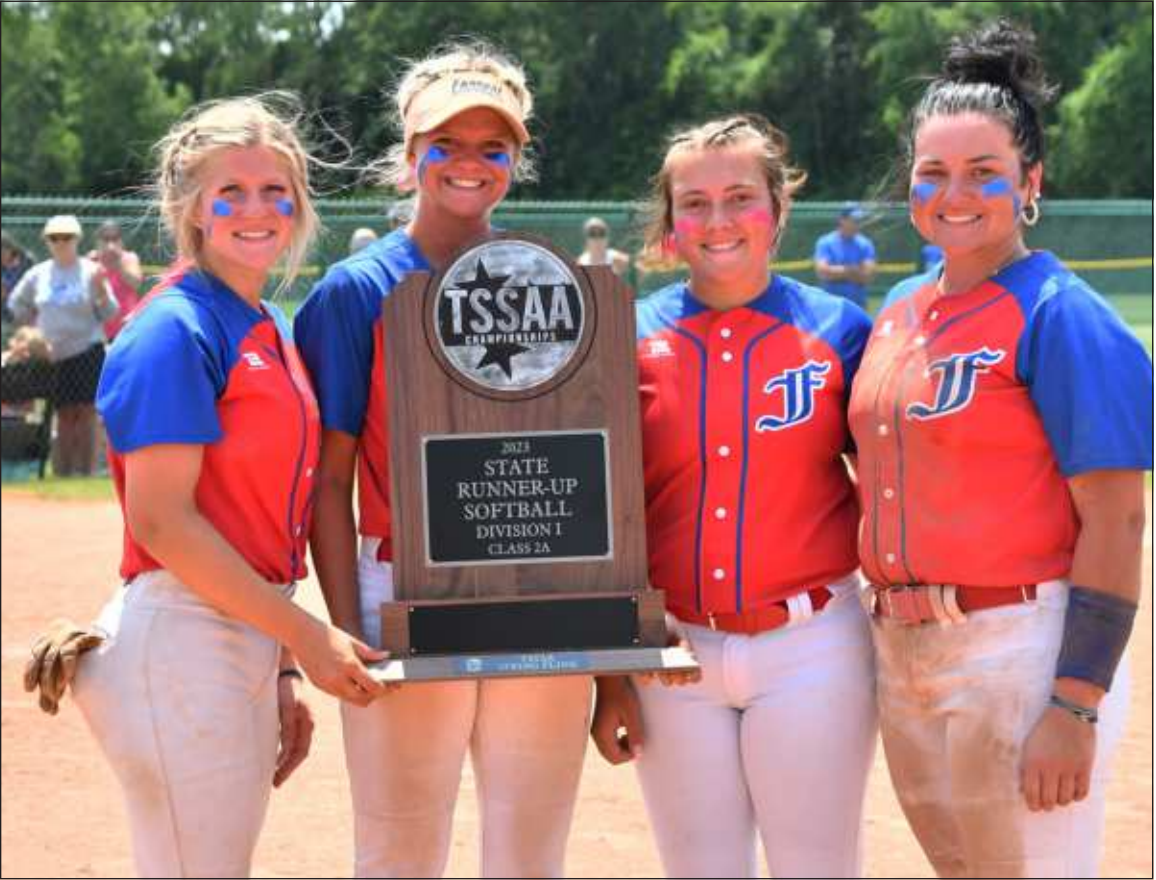

It was the sixth game in four days the Lady Rockets played in the tournament. Forrest reached the finals after a loss in its second game.

“That’s hats off to our girls’ heart,” Lightfoot said. “They came out and played and fought through it.”

“So coming out and taking two today was always the plan,” Lightfoot added. “Things didn’t go our way, but they put up a good fight, we had a good ball club, and we made it here and I’m proud of what this team has done.”

It was the final game in a Lady Rocket uniform for seniors Warner, Wales, Julie Williams, and Macyn Kirby.

“Our seniors here have been vital. I’ve had them all the way since middle school,” Lightfoot said.

The Forrest Lady Rockets accept their hardware after their game against Westview.

Briley Burnham makes contact for the Lady Rockets.

“They’re a big class to us, they’re a big class to me, and they’re going on to do great things beyond softball,” Lightfoot added.

Forrest ended the season with a 30-13 record and concluded its fourth consecutive appearance in the TSSAA state championship game.

The Lady Rockets won state titles in 2019 and 2021 and had runner-up finishes in 2022 and this season.

Vikings to host Titans, Cards for training camp practices

EAGAN, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings will have two different teams come to training camp this year, hosting joint practices with both the Tennessee Titans and the Arizona Cardinals prior to their preseason games.

Vikings coach Kevin O’Connell announced the news on Tuesday. There will be two days of practice sessions with each team at TCO Performance Center in Eagan, Minnesota, where the Vikings have been since the facility opened in 2018.

Minnesota plays Tennessee on Aug. 19 and Arizona on Aug. 26 at U.S. Bank Stadium in Minneapolis. That means the Vikings and Titans will likely practice together on Aug. 16 and 17, with the Vikings and Cardinals practicing together on Aug. 23 and 24.

“To be able to have that is a critical part of our training camp formula, to try to be at our best when the season rolls around,” O’Connell said. “We have such amazing facilities here.”

The Vikings practiced with San Francisco before a preseason game last year. O’Connell raved about the impact of those sessions on the development of the club during his first season on the job.

The Titans hosted both Tampa Bay and Arizona for joint training camp practices last year.

Saban says current track in college football will lead to less competitive balance

By RALPH D. RUSSO
AP College Football Writer

DESTIN, Fla. — Alabama coach Nick Saban says college football is not a business that operates like the NFL and warned that without more uniform rules on player compensation only the biggest spenders will compete for championships.

Saban met with reporters Tuesday as the Southeastern Conference began its annual spring meetings on the Florida Gulf Coast.

Two years since the NCAA lifted its ban on college athletes earning money for name, image and likeness, there are still no detailed, national NIL regulations.

Instead, states laws are setting the playing field, especially in the SEC footprint.

“When it turns into pay-for-play, now you’re getting into a different area. When you start talking about players being employees, you’re talking about unions. You’re talking about now you’re getting paid for something, now you’ve got to pay taxes,” said Saban, who has won six national titles in 16 seasons at Alabama.

than others,” he said. “Where if you want to bring the NFL into it, they have a salary cap. They have all the things that level the playing field. And we could put guidelines on some of this stuff that would do the same thing.”

The NCAA and major college sports are facing multiple legal and political threats that could give athletes in some sports employee status. Plus, a California bill is working its way through the legislature that would force some Division I schools in the state to share revenue with athletes in select sports that do make money — such as football and basketball.

“I think the big mistake that people make is college athletics is not a business. People says it’s a business. It’s not a business. It’s revenue-producing,” said Saban, who spent two seasons at coach of the Miami Dolphins before taking the Alabama job in 2007.

Last season, Saban was college football’s highest-paid coach at just under $11 million in salary.

Saban said most of the tens of millions of dollars that SEC schools generate from football goes back into the athletic department, funding far more sports than just football.

“Nobody makes a profit,” he said. “All the money gets reinvested for other opportunities for other people. Whether it’s facilities, whether it’s scholarships, whether it’s opportunities for people to play. And if we continue down this road are we going to be able to continue to have those opportunities?”

Saban said he is not necessarily against making college football more professionalized. Doing so would create more consistency and parity.

“If it’s going to be the same for everyone, I think that’s better than what we have now,” Saban said. “Because what we have now is we have some states and some schools in some states that are investing a lot more money in terms of managing their roster than others.”

He added: “If you think there’s disparity in the college football right now, there’s going to be a lot more in the future.”

Rockets stay alive with gutsy win over Heritage in state

By Will Carter
Sports Writer

SMYRNA — A heart-breaking loss in the opening round of the TSSAA Class 2-A State Tournament on Tuesday landed the Forrest Rockets in the consolation bracket with their backs against the wall on Wednesday, where they needed a pair of wins to survive and advance.

After the Rockets (25-13) secured a 5-3 win against the Adamsville Cardinals in their first game on Wednesday, they prepared to face the White House Heritage Patriots, who beat them on Tuesday and also ended the Rockets’ season last year.

Kason Fuller tossed all five innings for the Rockets in their win over White House Heritage.

This time around Forrest got its redemption against the Patriots (26-9) as they exploded for 10 runs in the top of the fourth inning, and held on for a 12-2 victory in five innings via mercy rule.

“I respect White House Heritage a lot, but I’m glad to have gotten this win and gotten some redemption for last year and this year as well. These boys deserved this,” Forrest head coach Andy Burkett said.

“They deserved to win that game on Tuesday – they fought with everything they had, and they’ve been fighting out of the loser’s bracket since then. We’re two games away from the state championship, and I think we can start to feel it now.”

Forrest took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but the Patriots tied the game up in the bottom of the third with a string of four singles before the Rockets’ explosion a half inning later.

After a trio of singles loaded the bases, Preston Gentry doubled to left field to plate Austin Dillon and Branham Haynes for a 4-2 lead.

One batter later Rockets’ starting pitcher Kason Fuller knocked a single to score Tyler Baxter, and an error in the ensuing at-bat scored Gentry to make it 6-2.

Riley Durbin added another run with a bunt down the third baseline two at-bats later, and the Rockets extended their lead to 10-2 immediately after with one run scoring on a passed ball and two more on a hardhit ground ball by Ryan Meglis.

They mustered two more runs before the Patriots were able to get out of the long inning.

Forrest didn’t allow the Patriots to gather any momentum in their final two chances at the plate, and secured the win to extend their season.

“The biggest thing is the notion with us that when our backs are against the wall, this team seems to come out ready to play,” Burkett said. “As a coach, you can’t ask anything more than for your players and staff to have that grit and intensity about them to know they’re never out of a game. It’s a testament to how hard these boys have worked this season, and they deserve every bit of it.”

Fuller toed the mound for the Rockets in the win despite not spending much time on the mound throughout the season, but he didn’t show many signs of inexperience as he tossed all five innings, allowing two runs on nine hits while walking three and fanning two.

“Kason Fuller had 15 innings the entire year, and he went out and gave us five innings of excellent pitching. He gave us an opportunity to win the game,” Burkett said.

The Rockets are in a similar position on Thursday as they have to beat the Union County Patriots twice to advance to the championship game on Friday.

“I’m excited for tomorrow. We’re gonna fight, claw, and anything we can to get the win tomorrow. If we do that, then absolutely anything can happen in the second game,” Burkett said.

FORREST 5, ADAMSVILLE 3

Forrest took a 5-0 lead into the bottom of the seventh inning against Adamsville, but the Cardinals didn’t hand the win over as they rallied for three runs before the Rockets were able to secure the final out of the game for a 5-3 victory.

Carter Walked got the nod and went the distance for the Rockets, giving up 10 hits while striking out four and walking one.

Most of all, he gave the Rockets a chance to play another game.

“Carter Walk is an animal, and we call him that for a reason. He absolutely is a dog,”

Burkett said. “You can’t say enough about him and the grit he has. He trusts the three pitches that he throws, and he can throw them in any count. He kept them off balance the entire time, and gave us a chance to be here tonight. Fuller did the rest from there.”

After three scoreless innings, the Rockets got to work in the top of the fourth inning as Gentry knocked a leadoff single and Fuller followed with a double for the first run of the game.

Fuller scored later in the inning on a Luke Allen sacrifice fly to make it 2-0 before the inning ended.

Walk and the Rockets put the Cardinals down 1-2-3 in the bottom half, and Tyler Baxter made it a 3-0 game in the top of the fifth on a sacrifice fly that plated Branham Haynes.

Forrest scored their final two runs of the game in the top of the sixth inning with Allen advancing and scoring on a pair of passed balls after knocking a leadoff double, and Baxter putting another sacrifice fly in the outfield three at-bats later to make it 5-0.

SMYRNA — The Forrest Rockets raced to a 7-1 lead and held off a challenge by the Union County Patriots to win 9-6 in the first game of the day at Stewarts Creek High School.

The Rockets scored off the bat with two runs in the opening inning.

A Luke Allen walk with the bases loaded plated Tyler Baxter with the first run while a sacrifice fly by Riley Durbin brought home Kason Fuller as Forrest took a 2-0 lead.

After the Patriots scored a single run in the second, the Rockets came up big with four runs in the third inning. Forrest had five hits in the inning, with Preston Gentry leading off with a single and scoring the first run on a single by Carter

Walk.

After Allen followed with a double to score Walk, Ryan Meglis singled and Austin Dillon delivered a two-run single to put the Rockets up 6-1.

The Rockets made it 7-1 in the fourth as Baxter led off with a double and scored on a Patriot error.

But Union County fought back with five runs on three hits in the bottom of the inning to cut the Forrest lead to 7-6.

Allen led off the fifth with a walk and was sacrificed to second by Durbin, Meglis drove in a run with a single to right as the Rockets increased their lead to 8-6.

Allen was a part of an insurance run for the Rockets after leading off the top of the seventh with a single. A Dillon sacrifice scored the run and put Forrest up 9-6.

The Patriots went in order in the bottom of the seventh as Allen went the distance on the mound for the Rockets and took the win as Forrest forced a second game to decide a berth in the TSSAA Class 2-A state tournament championship game.

Baxter, Allen, Meglis, and Dillon each had two hits to lead the Rockets at the plate. Forrest finished with 10 hits in the contest.

Elliott hit with 1 race suspension for wrecking Denny Hamlin

By STEVE REED
AP Sports Writer

CONCORD, N.C.— NASCAR suspended Chase Elliott for one race on Tuesday, less than one day after the five-time most popular driver and former Cup champion deliberately wrecked Denny Hamlin in the Coca-Cola 600.

Hendrick Motorsports said in a statement it will not appeal the suspension and Corey Lajoie will replace Elliott in the No. 9 Chevrolet this weekend at Gateway, outside of St. Louis.

“We understand NASCAR’s need to maintain consistency in its officiating,” Hendrick Motorsports said in a statement.

Hamlin countered with simulated data he posted on social media after the crash, then double-downed on calls for Elliott to be suspended on his Tuesday podcast.

Hamlin owns the car driven by Bubba Wallace, who was suspended one race last year for deliberately hooking Kyle Larson in a race in Las Vegas. The move is considered one of the most dangerous in NASCAR.

NASCAR suspended Elliott under a section of rulebook covered under “Member Code of Conduct.” Among the rules covered in that section is “removing another competitor from championship contention in a dangerous manner when not racing for position based on the available evidence and specific circumstances of the incident.”

“It was an intentional act by Chase in our opinion in our view after reviewing all of the available resources,” said NASCAR senior vice president of competition Elton Sawyer on Sirius NASCAR Radio.

Hamlin said he was so furious after the wreck he wanted to fight Elliott, claiming his counterpart had a “tantrum” on the track and “shouldn’t be racing next week. Right rear hooks are absolutely unacceptable.”

NASCAR has hit Chase Elliott for a one-race suspension for deliberately wrecking Denny Hamlin on Monday afternoon.

Elliott, the 2020 Cup champion and son of Hall of Famer Bill Elliott, denied wrecking Hamlin intentionally.

“Once you hit the wall in these things, you can’t drive them anymore,” Elliott said after emerging from the infield care center Monday. “So unfortunately not, no, just an unfortunate circumstance.”

Hamlin on his podcast, “Actions Detrimental,” on Tuesday said the act by Elliott was absolutely deliberate payback for earlier contact between the two.

“There’s no explanation that he could possibly give, which he didn’t have a reason for hanging left. You know he obviously didn’t want to admit it,” Hamlin said.

“I pointed out in the data that I tweeted that once he got into the wall, there was nothing wrong with his car. He’s turned the wheel back straight, like he was going down the straightaway, and you can tell by data whether you’ve got toe link damage or not,” Hamlin continued. “Everyone hits the wall. But he threw a hissy fit and he just hung the left on us in the most dangerous part of the racetrack that you possibly could and it ended my day and his, and in my opinion, he shouldn’t be racing next weekend. Because NASCAR set a precedent last year on this.”

Elliott’s loss could impact TV ratings and attendance this weekend. He is the fan-voted most popular driver in the past five years.

After Elliott broke his leg in a snowboarding incident, the sport’s TV ratings took a nosedive. And when Elliott was deemed healthy enough to race at Martinsville, NASCAR recognized its importance and hurried to promote his return on social media and with commercials.

Because he’d already missed so many races because of his leg injury, Elliott was already in a deep hole to make the playoffs. Elliott was ranked 29th after Saturday night, and the top 16 drivers make the playoff field. A win earns an automatic berth. The suspension marks seven races missed by Elliott.

Elliott will most certainly need to win his first race of the season when he returns from suspension to have any chance at making the playoffs.

Before the suspension was announced Hamlin implored NASCAR to “do the right thing” on his podcast.

“Be consistent here. It’s time to make the right call. There is no excuse you can give,” Hamlin added. “He was going dead straight and then all of a sudden he takes a hard left 120 degrees with the steering wheel. That is not an accident. It is intentional.”

Hamlin called the move immature.

“It is childish and it just (ticks) me off,” Hamlin said. “You have to be better than that. I don’t give a (darn). What goes on in your mind to think that is the right move to make, I don’t know.”

Hamlin also said on his podcast that as a car owner he wants to see Wallace focus on his accomplishments on the track which includes four top-five finishes in the past four races, rather than making news off of it.

Wallace was seen feuding during a rain delay Monday with Aric Almirola, who shoved Wallace before the two were broken up by NASCAR security. A week earlier Wallace received criticism when he used an obscene gesture in a television interview after the All-Star race.

NASCAR did not punish Wallace, saying the incident wasn’t malicious.

“It’s out of style,” Hamlin said of the hand gesture. “Whoever still does it needs to stop. Stop doing it. It’s childish. ... It’s just not worth it.”

Things to know entering NCAA baseball regionals

By ERIC OLSON
AP Sports Writer

The NCAA baseball tournament opens Friday with play in 16 double-elimination regionals.

Regional winners advance to best-of-three super regionals next week, and the final eight go to the College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska, beginning June 16.

Some of the top storylines:

Who’s hot

Oral Roberts (46-11) has won 18 straight, the longest active win streak in the country, and 36 of 39. The Golden Eagles won’t be an easy out as the No. 4 regional seed in Stillwater. They won both regular-season meetings with host Oklahoma State, including 8-5 in Stillwater in April.

Clemson (43-17) has won 16 straight for its longest win streak since 2006, and 21 of its past 22.

Who’s not

South Carolina (39-19) is a regional host despite losing 13 of 18 since its 34-6 start. The Gamecocks were rewarded for eight early wins over top-50 RPI opponents and cut slack by the selection committee for dealing with significant injuries to three infielders.

18) has the longest losing streak entering the tournament, at five games. Duke (35-21) has lost four straight. Indiana (41-18) has lost four of its past six and LSU (43-15) three of four.

Dominant Deacons

No. 1 national seed Wake Forest (47-10) leads the nation in wins, ERA (2.82) and shutouts (nine) and is seventh in on-base percentage (.428), eighth in runs per game (8.9) and tied for ninth in homers (110).

Projected top-10 draft pick Rhett Lowder leads the nation in pitching wins (13), Sean Sullivan averages better than 14 strikeouts per nine innings and Brock Wilken (27) and Nick Kurtz (23) have combined for 50 homers.

Still waiting

The No. 1 national seed has not won the championship since Miami in 1999, the first year of the current tournament format.

East Carolina (45-17) has made 32 previous appearances and never reached the College World Series, the longest streak of its kind. The Pirates are in the field for the seventh time in coach Cliff Godwin’s eight seasons.

It’s been a while

There are no teams making tournament debuts for the first since 2001, but three are in for the first time in the 21st century — Penn (1995), Santa Clara (1997) and Nicholls (1998).

Toughest regional

The Arkansas-hosted Fayetteville Regional gets a slight edge over the Oklahoma State-hosted Stillwater Regional.

The No. 3 national seed Razorbacks (41-16) are grouped with TCU (37-22), Arizona (33-24) and Santa Clara (35-18) — all of which are on impressive rolls.

TCU beat Arkansas 18-6 at a neutral site on opening weekend and scored 48 runs while sweeping four games in the Big 12 Tournament. Arizona knocked off Pac-12 regular-season champion Stanford 14-7 in the conference tournament and has won seven of its past nine, with Chase Davis and Kiko Romero combining for eight homers and 40 RBIs during the stretch. Santa Clara has outscored opponents 85-26 during its current eight-game win streak.

He does it all

Florida’s Jac Caglianone, the front-runner for John Olerud Two-Way Player of the Year, is listed as the No. 11 prospect for the 2024 amateur draft. He’s batting .349 with a program-record 28 homers to go with 65 runs and 76 RBIs. The left-hander has been the Gators’ No. 3 starter all season and is 6-3 with a 4.14 ERA and 74 strikeouts in 63 innings.

Repping the West again

The only West Coast regional is at Stanford (38-16), the only program to have hosted in six straight tournaments. The Cardinal are coming off a second straight Pac-12 regular-season championship and going for a third consecutive trip to the CWS.

Under the radar

Iowa (42-14) finished third in the Big Ten, the weakest of the Power Five conferences, and was runner-up to Maryland in the conference tournament.

But the Hawkeyes, No. 32 in the RPI, are capable of winning a Terre Haute Regional that includes Indiana State (42-15), North Carolina (35-22) and Wright State (39-21).

Iowa has a top-15 pitching staff, strong defense and an offense averaging better than eight runs per game. The Hawks also have wins over LSU and Indiana State.

Riding the wave

As strong as Tulane’s baseball history is, this wasn’t supposed to be a year the Green Wave made the tournament. At 19-40, Tulane has the most losses of any participant in history.

The Green Wave were 15-39 in the regular season, but earned the American Athletic Conference’s automatic bid by becoming the lowest seed (No. 7) to win the league tournament.

“It’s another opportunity to shock the world,” first-year coach Jay Uhlman said. “All of us in this room know the struggles of the team this year and how that’s gone in terms of the win-loss.

“Not of their mentality or their will or their work ethic or those kinds of things. Just the game and the results weren’t kind to us for so long, but they never faltered, they never wavered, they believed and they prepared with purpose and intent.”

I swear I just saw a new driveway crack!

Welcome to your golden years, Trudy.

Rockets' remarkable run comes to end

By Rickey Clardy
Sports Writer

SMYRNA — After winning three straight games in the TSSAA Class AA state baseball tournament after an opening game 11-inning loss, the Forrest Rockets positioned themselves to within one win of the state championship game. But an eight-run third inning by the Union County Patriots proved to be too much for the Rockets to overcome as the Patriots ended the Forrest season with an 11-2 win.

After the Patriots took a 1-0 lead in the opening inning, the Rockets fought back to tie the game in the bottom of the second.

Carter Walk reached base on an error to start the inning and advanced with one out on a single by Riley Durbin.

The top of the third turned out to be decisive as Union County sent 12 batters to the plate with eight Patriots scoring.

The Patriots had six hits and used two Rocket walks to score the eight runs as Union County took a 9-1 lead.

The Rockets got one run back in the bottom of the fifth.

After walks to Branham Haynes and Kason Fuller, Walk delivered a two-out single down the left field line to score Haynes and cut the Patriot lead to 9-2.

The Patriots upped their lead in the sixth.

With the bases loaded and one out, a blooper over the drawn-in infield dropped in to score two runs and give Union County an 11-2 advantage.

The Rockets put two runners on base in each of the last two innings but could not plate a run as Union County advanced to the state championship game.

Meglis had two hits to lead the Rocket five-hit attack.

Coach Andy Burkett of the Rockets talked about the resilience of his team to come back in the tournament after the first-game loss.

"Our backs have been against the wall many times this season and we've found a way to overcome," Burkett said.

"It's a testament to our leadership, it's a testament to our coaching staff, and more than anything else, it's a testament to our boys," Burkett added. "They've got grit, they're as hard-working as anybody."

Despite the score, the Rockets drew on their past successes to mount a comeback.

"I think there was a heartbeat in that dug-out until the last out was made," Burkett said.

"Hats off to Union County, that's a good ball team," Burkett added. "They played hard, they swing the bat really, really, well. I thought our guys gave them everything they could handle."

"At the end of the day, we're tired, we're exhausted, but at the same time we're hopeful," Burkett said. "We know the future's very bright for us."

It was the final game in a Rocket uniform for seniors Meglis and Durbin.

"They were the heartbeat of this ball club," Burkett said. "They've laid the groundwork and foundation for leadership and for what's to come for Forrest baseball."

"Riley Durbin's been our guy for two years now. He was our ace pitcher on the staff. He gave us a chance to win every time he took the bump," Burkett said.

"Ryan Meglis is one of those kids that doesn't get enough credit in the world about how truly resilient and hard-working he is," Burkett added. "He's a kid that had to wait his turn and hit .370 this year and had probably 20 stolen bases."

Forrest ended its season with a 26-14 record.

"Forrest baseball's M.O. has been the same thing always, we don't rebuild, we just reload," Burkett said. "We'll reload for next year and get these boys ready to go and have them hungry for something a little bit better than third place."
