Supreme Court overturns Roe v. Wade; states can ban abortion

Associated Press

news@morningsun.net

WASHINGTON (AP) The Supreme Court has ended constitutional protections for abortion that had been in place nearly 50 years in a decision by its conservative majority to overturn Roe v. Wade. Friday's outcome is expected to lead to abortion bans in roughly half the states.

The decision, unthinkable just a few years ago, was the culmination of decades of efforts by abortion opponents, made possible by an emboldened right side of the court that has been fortified by three appointees of former President Donald Trump.

The court's ruling was welcomed by members of Kansas' congressional day's historic decision sigdelegation, including Sen. Roger Marshall (R-Kansas), who said that "tonals a new beginning for millions of unborn American children," and Rep.

Jake LaTurner (R-Kansas 2nd District), who called it "a monumental win for pro-life Americans" nationwide.

'Democrats' extreme abortion-on-demand agenda does not accurately reflect the views of most Americans. Overturning Roe ensures state and local officials closest to the people they represent, not unelected judges in Washington, construct our nation's abortion laws," LaTurner added.

'Unfortunately, this welcomed ruling won't protect life in Kansas," La-Turner said, urging voters to approve the proposed amendment to the Kansas Constitution known as "Value Them Both" in the special election set for Aug. 2 "to guarantee our state does not become a hub for unlimited abortions.

Democratic Gov. Laura Kelly reportedly said the 5-4 decision would not immediately have an impact in Kansas, as a 2019 Kansas Supreme Court opinion said the state's Bill of Rights included a constitutional right to abortion.

"But anybody who's been alive in Kansas in the last six months knows that we have an amendment on the primary ballot that would essentially overturn the (state) Supreme Court ruling and say that reproductive women's rights are not protected under the constitution," Kelly said.

If the Value Them Both amendment passes, Kelly said, the Republican-led Kansas Legislature will probably try to impose further restrictions on abortion rights, which Kelly has suggested she would oppose.

"I will continue to oppose all regressive legislation which interferes with individual rights or freedoms," Kelly said in a statement to Politico earlier this month, although she did not directly answer several of the news outlet's more specific questions about her position on abortion.

The ruling announced Friday came more than a month after the stunning leak of a draft opinion by Justice Samuel Alito indicating the court was prepared to take this mo-

County commissioner accepted into leadership program

By Dustin R. Strong

GIRARD, Kan. — Crawford County Commissioner Jeremy Johnson has been accepted into the Kansas Agriculture and Rural Leadership (KARL) program, Class XVI, starting in late August, along with Kari West of Girard who is the lead customer solutions manager at Evergy in Pittsburg.

KARL program was started in 1991 by then-Kansas Secretary of Agriculture Sam Brownback, and is one of 40 similar programs across the country.

According to karlprogram.com, the program "identifies, prepares, and connects aspiring leaders to spark action that will positively impact Kansas agriculture and rural communities through a two-year leadership program comprised of up to 30 individuals from across Kansas," and "challenges changemakers to think differently, while connecting them to the people and resources that can help them transform organizations, communities, our state, and our world.'

Johnson said he was made aware of the program by Frances Graves, K-State Wildcat Extension District director and community vitality agent, who recommended Johnson

"I did a little bit of reading about it," said Johnson, "and I was sold immediately. no-brainer.'

According to Johnson, every two months, he and his associates will meet for two days of instruction and problem-solving in different cities and towns throughout the state. They will tour local industries and businesses and "deep dive" into the different pieces of Kansas' economy and how they interact with each other.

"One of the things that appealed to me was how in-depth it is," Johnson said. "Other leadership programs are just meeting

GIRARD, Kan. — After coordinating with the Kansas Department of Commerce and becoming an affiliate with Main Street America, an organization dedicated to assisting with improving historic commercial districts nationwide, the Girard Chamber of Commerce and the group Main Street Girard unveiled their new mural painted on the side of the town's civic center in the square with a ribbon cutting on Friday.

Jessica Ripper, executive director of the Girard

Chamber of Commerce, has been working to build the Main Street Girard organization in order to focus on revitalizing Girard's downtown square.

For this year, Main Street Girard has received $100,000 in grants: $50,000 from GN Bank and $50,000 through the City of Girard from a T-Mobile grant. So far, the group has put up banners that say "We (heart) Our Square!" and completed the mural, which is an outline of the state of Kansas filled with sunflowers and a skyline and a heart in the corner.

A gazebo has been donated by Backyard Discovery for the group to erect in the square. The group also plans to install electric chargers for cars.

In addition to general improvements, the rest of the money will be award-

Peak helps with bike ride to support people with MS

SULLIVAN Morning Sun Columnist

PITTSBURG, Kan. — When Gina Peak was diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis, her first feeling was surprise, and maybe even a little relief. At least she knew what was wrong, and could begin moving forward with treatment.

"It did take 10 months to get the diagnosis,' she said. "At that time, that wasn't unusual. It's a process of eliminating things. They kept eliminating things and telling me there was nothing wrong with me. That was really frustrating.'

She was in her early 40s at the time, and she had begun experiencing numbness, tingling, and

"a weird feeling" in her legs.
"It was taking a lot of effort to walk," she said.

She first noticed the symptoms were really affecting her when she went on a garden tour in Tulsa, but when she went to the doctor, "They just wrote it off as senseless shoes,' she said. "This was when I was walking several miles a day. It wasn't like I wasn't in shape.

"It was almost a relief when I knew what the problem was because then I could start doing something.

The first thing she did was read everything she could get her hands on about Multiple Sclerosis. or MS

MS is a progressive neurological disease. It affects each person differently, and women more than men. Most people are diagnosed, as Peak was, in mid-life. The symptoms include vision anything wrong." problems, mobility issues that may require a walker or wheelchair as the disease progresses, and even cognitive issues.

Peak also became active in the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

"I'm still on a committee with the NMSS that coordinates area things out of Springfield," she said.

She even started an organization called Hope for MS, which helps local people in need.

Peak explained, "A lot of times, everything isn't covered by insurance. Scooter batteries can be really expensive. We help with that."

She said she is on medication that delays the progress of the disease, and has been doing very well. "I have very few problems," she explained. "Normally, you wouldn't even suspect that I have See BIKE, Page 3A

"I garden and I do quilting and I have grandkids, five of them," she said.

She grows both vegetables and flowers. 'Obviously, I like flowers better, but, I don't know, it's so satisfying to see something you planted that then you can eat. I love to play in the dirt. I like to cook, too. I'm obsessed with pesto. It's so much better (when you make it fresh)."

Rise and fall of the Invisible Empire, part 1

By Ken Peak

Special to The Morning Sun

Crawford County history buffs and readers of this newspaper are typically very knowledgeable about the area's rich roots in bootlegging and coal mining. What they might not know, however, is that Kansas — including Crawford County — has a history with the Ku Klux Klan as well, dating back to the 1920s. Following is the first of nine articles (one to appear each Saturday) describing the formation and activities of the Ku Klux Klan in this area as they occurred nearly a century

Part 1: Genesis Formed in 1865 in Pulaski, Tennessee by six young, former Confederate veterans, the Ku Klux Klan (also frequently termed the Invisible Empire) rapidly grew from a secret social organization to a paramilitary force spread across nine Southern states that rode about at night in their traditional costumes (white robes and pointed hats) and used waves of violence against newly freed Blacks; their motto was "Non silba sed anthar," or "Not self, but others." Monty Ray Amick

Monty Ray Amick, 53, of Lawrence, Kansas, passed away May 17, 2022. He was born July 9, 1968 in Emporia, Kansas to David and Donna Amick (Dillon). He attended elementary school in Cunningham, Kansas and high school and university in Pittsburg, Kansas. He graduated from Pittsburg High School in 1986 and Pittsburg State University in 1992 with a Bachelor of Music Education degree.

He participated in marching band, concert band, and jazz band at PHS and PSU. Although Monty could play several instruments, his primary instrument was the trombone. Monty married Stephanie Nichols on Mar. 10, 1991. Of this union two children were born. They later divorced. He married Megan Hulse on April 13, 2010. Monty worked for the Reuter Organ Company in Lawrence for 24 years as a cabinet maker and finisher. He was the supervisor of the case and finishing departments at the time of his passing. Monty produced many beautiful wooden parts for pipe organs. He pursued his interest in law enforcement by attending the Kansas Law Enforcement Training Center. He then worked for the cities of Scranton, Kansas and Carbondale, Kansas as a part time patrolman. Monty attended the Lawrence Seventh-day Adventist Church and was an elder at the time of his passing. In his free time, Monty enjoyed being outdoors hunting or cycling, and when he was indoors, he enjoyed making items for family and friends such as wooden pistol grips, wooden wallets, knives, tools, leather holsters, and leather gear for a renaissance festival.

Monty was preceded in death by his grandparents Betty Amick of Cunningham and Vernon and Margaret Dillon of Topeka. He is survived by his wife Megan of the home, and two children; Morgan (Oliver) Amick and Kathryn Jacobson (Amick) and husband Griffin; his father, David Amick; brother, Michael Amick and his sons: Finley and Sawyer Amick; and by the mother of the children, Stephanie Swan, all of Lawrence, Kansas; his mother, Donna (Lance) Sheldon; sister, Maggie Amick and her children: Lola, Cade, and Connar Southard, all of Pittsburg. Celebration of Life service will be 5 p.m. Monday, June 27, 2022 at Rumsey-Yost Funeral Home rumsey-yost.com in Lawrence. Keith Retzer

Keith Moody Retzer was born Feb. 15, 1944, at Albert Lea, Minnesota. While he was a preschooler, he and his family lived in Brazil. He attended two years of High School in Mexico City, and graduated from High School in North Riverside, Illinois. He attended and graduated from Ottawa University in Ottawa, Kansas and DeVry Technical Institute in Chicago, Illinois. While at Ottawa, he met and married Vi. He worked as an engineer and sometimes announcer at various radio stations throughout Illinois, Nebraska, Iowa, Oregon, and Montana. In 1979 through 1980, the family served as short term assistants with Wycliffe Bible Translators at Yarina, Peru, where Keith repaired electronics and radio equipment for the missionary airplanes. In 1988, he moved his family from Missoula, Montana to Pittsburg, Kansas, where he took the job of chief engineer at KRPS at Pittsburg State University. When he retired, he became Chief Engineer Emeritus of PSU. An avid stamp collector, his other main hobby was HAM radio. He operated under the call signs W7KEU, OA8AX (while in Peru), and after returning to Kansas, W0KEU.

Keith was preceded in death by his parents, Eldon and Opal. He is survived by his wife of the home, Vi; his brother, Kent Retzer (wife Jeanne) of Rockford, IL; his daughter of the home, Faith; his daughter, Joy Stahl of Elkhart, Kansas; and grandsons: Wesley Stahl and Kelson Stahl. A memorial service will be scheduled by the family at a later date. (No flowers or other plants, mentous step.

It puts the court at odds with a majority of Americans who favored preserving Roe, according to opinion polls.

According to a recent Gallup poll, Americans' confidence in the Supreme Court has also reached an all-time low in Gallup's nearly 50-year trend. Only 25% of adults say they have "a great deal" of confidence in the Supreme Court.

'We stand today against the injustice of this decision with anyone who may experience a pregnancy or has experienced a pregnancy-wanted or unwanted," local group Southeast Kansas Women's Intersectional Network said in a Facebook post Friday.

"We stand today against the injustice of this decision with anyone who will now live in fear that their partner may die from lack of access to safe abortion. We stand today against the injustice of this decision with the leagues of people before us who died without lack of safe care, the unwanted children who were born to unprepared parents that did not have access prior to Roe V. Wade, the people who are living in fear of what this decision will mean for the future. We stand together and we will stand strong. We will stand forever."

SEKWIN urged Kansans to vote against the Value Them Both Amendment on Aug. 2.

By voting no, you can help to preserve access to safe abortions in Kansas. By voting no, and motivating your friends and families to vote no, you can take a direct stand against the injustice that was levied against the American people today and say that Kansas will stand as a Free State against the terrible choice of the Supreme Court," SEKWIN

Dr. Emily Walters of Pittsburg said the ruling was an abomination and women will die because of

"None of the people advocating that a non-viable fetus be carried to term have ever watched a newborn with classic Potter sequence — which results in being born without lungs — suffocate and die minutes after birth," Walters said.

"There is so much complexity," Walters said. These decisions must be left to the pregnant person and their physician. No law can account for all of the possibilities and legislating medicine is impossible.

Local supporters of the court's ruling, however, applauded the announcement Friday.

"On this feast day of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, Roe v. Wade is finally overturned," Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church said in a Facebook post.

Earlier this month, the church hosted a "Pro-Life Pittsburg Day of Action,' featuring two stars of the television show Duck Dynastv.

Alito, in the final opinion issued Friday, wrote that Roe and Planned Parenthood v. Casey, the 1992 decision that reaffirmed the right to abortion, were wrong the day they were decided and must be overturned.

'We therefore hold that the Constitution does not confer a right to abortion. Roe and Casey must be overruled, and the authority to regulate abortion must be returned to the people and their elected representatives,' Alito wrote.

Authority to regulate abortion rests with the political branches, not the courts, Alito wrote.

Joining Alito were Justices Clarence Thomas, Neil Gorsuch, Brett Kavanaugh and Amv Coney Barrett. The latter three justices are Trump appointees. Thomas first voted to overrule Roe 30 years ago.

Justice Thomas, in a concurring opinion to overturn Roe v. Wade and wipe out constitutional protections for abortion rights, said that he would also support doing away with the doctrine of "substantive due process," a term in constitutional law that essentially allows courts to protect certain rights, even if those rights are not explicitly enumerated in the Constitution.

Thomas explicitly called on the court to overrule the watershed civil rights rulings in Griswold v. Connecticut (1965) that established the right for married couples to buy and use contraceptives and became the basis for the right to contraception for all couples a few years later; Lawrence v. Texas (2003) that established the right for consenting adults to engage in same-sex intimacy; and Obergefell v. Hodges (2015) that established the right for samesex couples to be married.

Chief Justice John Roberts would have stopped short of ending the abortion right, noting that he would have upheld the Mississippi law at the heart of the case, a ban on abortion after 15 weeks, and said no more.

Justices Stephen Breyer, Sonia Sotomayor and Elena Kagan — the diminished liberal wing of the court — were in dissent.

"With sorrow—for this Court, but more, for the many millions of American women who have today lost a fundamental constitutional protection—we dissent," they wrote.

The ruling is expected to disproportionately affect minority women who already face limited access to health care, according to statistics analyzed by The Associated Press.

She certainly hasn't let the fatigue slow her down. She has participated in fundraising Zumbathons, MS walks — even a few 50-mile walks, although she said she's never actually made the whole 50 miles. In one of the walks, she went 40 miles, and lost her toenails.

"I had no idea that long-distance walking would make you lose your toenails," she said.

Now she is getting ready for Bike the US for MS, which will be stopping for a rest day in Pittsburg on June 26 and leaving again on June 28. The bicycling fundraiser is a cross-country trek from Virginia to San Francisco, California. The event was started in 2008 by Don Fraser. His mother had MS and has since died. Peak said.

According to the organization's website, there are over 75,000 riders each year, with more than 6,000 teams. There are 68 routes to choose from. Peak said there is even a route in the United Kingdom.

Riders average 60 to 70 miles a day, she said. They bike through all kinds of weather, sleeping outdoors or in churches or other shelters provided by volunteers along the way. A trailer accompanies the group with cubicles for each person to store their

"Several of them do blogs," Peak said. "I follow a lot of the blogs and the common thread is they realize how little they need in life.'

She explained, "They're used to sleeping anywhere. A lot of times they're in city parks. They have tents with them and some of them will set up their tents here.

In Pittsburg, Peak said, most of the riders will be sleeping in the basement of Memorial Auditorium, where they have bathroom and laundry facilities.

The first few years in Pittsburg, USD 250 schools hosted the riders, but Peak said that was problematic because they never knew which school would be available because of the summer maintenance schedule.

really "We've been blessed that Memorial Auditorium is a perfect place for them," Peak said.

The riders are usually a mix of college students, teachers of all levels, and ago, she ran across Fraser's blog while doing a Google search on MS. She contacted him, saying she would cook dinner for the team when they came to Pittsburg.

Then she realized that her home in Scammon might be a little too far away for the weary cyclists, so she started trying to borrow a kitchen in Pittsburg. She finally found one in Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Fronthey're just delightful every year they come through. Some of them have connections to MS, some of them just want to ride a bike across the US. It's just interesting to get to know them for a couple of days.'

Art Exploration Instruction

Join Gallery artists Pat Glick and Laura Wright every Tuesday afternoon for a fun time working on citizens' own projects or art from 12:30 to 2 p.m. at ArtForms Gallery. Participants are asked to bring their own materials. This event is free and open to the public.

Foraging for Beginners

Wildcat Extension Agent Jesse Gilmore, will present a Foraging for Beginners Program at 6:30 p.m Tuesday, June 28 in the Library's Meeting Room. This free program is open to the public. Foraging is a search for wild food sources. From mushrooms and berries to nuts and vegetables, foraging has gained popularity as a fun hobby.

This Devotional & Directory is made possible by these busir such a way as to maximize happiness (and minimize pain and suffering), and not just our own, but the pleasure and pain of everyone who might be affected by our actions. This means that we should try to predict the effects of our actions ahead of time, and to count ourselves in the equation, but not count ourselves any more than we count others. At times we may have to sacrifice our own happiness if we know that doing so will enhance the happiness of others or spare them pain. A similar type of calculation is often done in relationships, when we ask ourselves if we are getting as much out of the relationship as we are putting into it, or if the other person is contributing as much as we are. The idea that in love we shouldn't be tallying up costs and benefits is romantic, and perhaps ideally, we shouldn't, but it's tempting to agree with the founder of Utilitarianism, Jeremy Bentham, when he said that "Men calculate, some with less exactness, indeed, some with more; but all men calculate." The fact that we all calculate may simply reflect that we all have an innate sense of fairness. We all know the feeling of being taken advantage of, when we feel that we put in more than others or received less. But perhaps we should try to calculate less, or at least feel good about putting in more and receiving less. For it is in giving that we receive, and those who give the most of themselves are invariably the happiest. "Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit. Rather, in humility value others above yourselves, not looking to your own interests but each of you to the interests of the others." Philippians 2:3-4 NIV

A man, a still and nine quarts of whiskey were seized in a raid

By Phil Burgert

news@morningsun.net

Excerpted stories in Crawford County newspaper archives

100 Years Ago

June 25-27, 1922 A demand for the restoration of Alexander Howat and the other deposed officials of District 14 and reinstatement of their followers within three days, a return to work being indicated as the alternative, was embodied in resolutions adopted by a mass meeting at Franklin vesterday. Similar resolutions were adopted at a meeting in Frontenac. Resumption of work in a number of the mines, which has been forecast in failed to materialize. Officials of the Missouri Pacific railroad, at a meeting with representatives of the city yesterday, pledged themselves to assist in beautifying the spaces adjoining the new high school grounds on the south. They promised to work to send an engineer here this week to survey the amount of ground the railroad will give to the city to be used in widening 12th street.

rumors for several days,

Bernie Goodrum, scout executive; James Mendenhall, assistant scout executive, and Lloyd Markel left yesterday for the boy scout camp at Noel, Mo., to take the rest of the provisions. Mr. Goodrum will return tomorrow and accompany the first group of scouts to the camp on June 26. Twelve Pittsburg boys and seven girls from Parsons will go in the first group.

A man, a whiskey still and nine quarts of whiskey were seized by Undersheriff O. M. Lamb and Deputy Sheriff Roscoe Lawler in a raid yesterday, north of Dunkirk. Martin Nobile lives one mile north of Dunkirk. Near him is a vacant house, and in that house was found the operating still and the whiskey. The still now rests in the in a secluded spot in the county jail, the whiskey in the gutter and the man in jail.

"Six" McDonnell returned yesterday from Siloam Springs, where he did the hurling stunt for the Siloam team against Frank (Matty) Matthews' club from Rogers, Ark., the Rogers aggregation being defeated, 6 to 2. The Siloam Springs club is a salaried organization, and have on their team "Duke" Schmardo, of Frontenac. "Duke" leaned on the ball for a circuit in the fourth inning of the game and chased two men across the home rubber ahead of

June 25-27, 1972 The State Department of Public Health has thrown a wrench in the way of a remodeling of the old Mt. Carmel School of Nursing for a Juvenile Detention Center. But Probate Judge Richard Loffswold is hopeful that difficulties will be resolved and work can start on the three-story brick structure in the next few months. For most of the spring, reconstruction was held up by disagreement on space allocation.

The Pittsburg Post office will become part of the Area Mail Processing Program, one of the newest innovations of the United States Postal Service, Postmaster Frank Tisot announced. The program is scheduled to begin here on July 1, he said. The Area Mail Processing Program is a plan where local mail will be transported to the Sectional Center Facility at Fort Scott for post-marking and distribution.

The Girard High School class of 1901 was represented by Pat O'Reilly and the class of 1906 was represented by Miss Jane Townsend at the alumni banquet Saturday night. June 17, at the high school. Several dozen other alumni from Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Colorado were also at the alumni banquet.

Ruth Wallace continued to rack up stunning credits Saturday as the Kansas State College Playhouse on Broadway opened its summer season. Miss Wallace plays the three leads in the three vignettes which make up "Plaza Suite," the season's first offering. She is well cast against John Coakley, who himself turns in an excellent performance. The Neil Simon comedy is actually three one-act plays set in the same suite in the Plaza Hotel in New York. Daredevil motorcycle racing is coming to the Mo-Kan Drag Strip, in the form of the "Astro Cycles" daredevil cycle team of Robert Duffy and Richard Stone, the 4th of July. Both men from Arizona are graduates of western T. T. and motocross competition and have received numerous awards for their motorcycle riding abilities. Riding Yamaha MX 350s, the pair will open with a daring Indian File takeoff.

25 Years Ago June 25-27, 1997

There is no quick and easy fix for problems with Kansas' criminal justice system. That was the underlying message of a general information meeting yesterday requested by the Kansas Department of Corrections to discuss issues raised recently in Pittsburg and Crawford County. Public sentiment on the issue has followed slayings of Pittsburg State University students Stephanie Schmidt and Carrie Arlene Williams and the recent murder of Dana Diane Southern Sisk.

After what seemed to be an endless succession of motion hearings over the last year, lawyers in the capital murder case of Gary W. Kleypas are almost ready to go to trial. Prosecutors and defense attorneys yesterday argued last minute motions, mostly centered around the treatment of DNA evidence by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The trial is set to begin July 8 in Wyandotte County District Court at Kansas City Kan.

After years of debate, planning, hard work and just plain hassle, the new Pittsburg Public Library addition is ready to serve the public. It will open for business on at 9 a.m. today. No festivities are planned just vet. "We'll have a grand opening later on, when everything is all finished," said Carol Ann Robb, reference librarian, who has been acting as project liaison.

Twenty-five riders of the Habitat for Humanity Bicycle Challenge rolled into Pittsburg yesterday looking forward to a much deserved rest on their first day off since leaving Washington, D.C., May 31. "We have been looking forward to Pittsburg, Kansas, for a long time, " Yale graduate Shirley Liu said. "Everybody's been talking about it for weeks." The Pittsburg State Gorilla women's basketball team had the fifth-best attendance among all NCAA Division II teams in the nation in 1996-97, according to a recently released report by the NCAA. The Gorillas was drew 17,100 fans in 11 home games, an average of 1,555 per game.

Today is Saturday, June 25, the 176th day of 2022. There are 189 days left in the vear.

Today's Highlight in History:

On June 25, 1876, Lt. Col. Colonel George A. Custer and his 7th Cavalry were wiped out by Sioux and Cheyenne Indians in the Battle of the Little Bighorn in Montana.

On this date:

In 1938, the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 was enacted.

In 1942, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was designated Commanding General of the European Theater of Operations during World War II. Some 1,000 British Royal Air Force bombers raided Bremen, Germany.

In 1947, "The Diary of a Young Girl," the personal journal of Anne Frank, a German-born Jewish girl hiding with her family from the Nazis in Amsterdam during World War II, was first published.

In 1962, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that recitation of a state-sponsored prayer in New York State public schools was unconstitutional.

In 1973, former White House Counsel John W. Dean began testifying before the Senate Watergate Committee, implicating top administration officials, including President Richard Nixon as well as himself, in the Watergate scandal and cover-up.

In 1990, the U.S. Supreme Court, in its first "right-to-die" decision, ruled that family members could be barred from ending the lives of persistently comatose relatives who had not made their wishes known conclusively.

In 1993, Kim Campbell was sworn in as Canada's 19th prime minister, the first woman to hold the

In 2015, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld nationwide tax subsidies under President Barack Obama's health care overhaul in a 6-3 ruling that preserved health insurance for millions of Americans.

In 2016, Pope Francis visited Armenia, where he recognized the Ottoman-era slaughter of Armenians as a genocide, prompting a harsh rebuttal from Turkey.

Ten years ago: A divided U.S. Supreme Court threw out major parts of Arizona's tough crackdown on people living in the U.S. without legal permission, while unanimously upholding the law's most-discussed provision: requiring police to check killed 19 Americans and the immigration status of those they stop for other reasons, but limiting the legal consequences.

Five years ago: In eastern Pakistan, an overturned oil tanker burst into flames, killing at least 150 people who had rushed to the scene to gather leaking fuel.

One year ago: Former Minneapolis police Officer Derek Chauvin was sentenced to 22 1/2 years in prison for the murder of George Floyd, whose dying gasps under Chauvin's knee led to the biggest outcry against racial injustice in the U.S. in generations. Searchers used big machines and their hands to comb through a twisted, shifting heap of concrete and metal, a day after an oceanside condominium building near Miami collapsed into a smoldering pile of rubble, killing 98 people. The Justice Department sued Georgia over the state's new election law, saying it was intended to deny Black voters equal access to the ballot. (The lawsuit is pending.)

TRUE STORIES

Do you think you know spit?

J.T. KNOLL Mornina Sun Columnist

As assistant coach for my son's Little League baseball team thirty years ago I took over when the head coach had to be gone for a week. The first practice I lined them up and taught them how to spit. Lesson #1: Aim away from your body and your teammates.

The spitting tradition in baseball goes back to the 1800s. Players chewed tobacco to build saliva and used that spit to keep their gloves moist on dusty fields, not to mention give them a nicotine boost and doctor the ball when pitching. No, I did not teach the kids how to chew tobacco, but I did pass around bubble gum to help them build a good gob, so they didn't have to hawk one up.

Tobacco chewing in baseball declined after players agreed in 2011 not to chew it on the field because of mounting health concerns. They switched to chewing and spitting sunflower seeds — or else gnawed on a large wad of gum.

When COVID-19 came along in 2020, MLB banned expectoration altogether. A tough one as most baseball players had long in not only abolishing the been mindlessly spitting (starting in Little League). Watch a game and you'll see it's still happening, though. (Jose' Altuve of the Astros is a spitting machine).

In general, these days spitting is a social taboo in most of the world. Back in the day, though, frequent spitting was a part of everyday life — like wiping your nose on the sleeve of your shirt or coat. Spit was holy even. Scripture informs us that Jesus' method of restoring a blind man's sight included anointing his eyes with a paste made of mud and his saliva.

It wasn't until the early 1700s that spitting started to be seen as something which should be concealed — or only done outside. By the mid 1800s many viewed spitting on the floor or street as vulgar, especially in mixed company. Spittoons became common to provide an acceptable outlet for spitters and were used widely until the influenza epidemic of 1918, after which their use virtually disappeared.

Dr. Samuel Crumbine of Dodge City, one of the leading figures in the field of public health in the early 20th century, succeeded common drinking cup but also discouraging spitting in public places. Crumbine promoted his spitting campaign with the simple and easy to remember slogan, "Don't Spit on the Sidewalk." A brickmaker in Topeka helped it along by having the phrase engraved on bricks to be laid in footpaths.

Although infection can be spread by sharing it, saliva is vital to individual health as it moistens the mouth for comfort, lubricates as you chew and swallow, and neutralizes harmful acids. It also kills germs and prevents bad breath, defends against infection, hampers gum disease, and speeds up wound healing.

Spit and spitting has long been a part of our vernacular as well, with sayings like: "You don't know spit!" • "Mad enough to spit" • "Don't spit in the wind." • "Within spitting distance." • "C'mon, spit it out!" • "You're the spitting image of ..."

It has also been used in tomfoolery — the classic one being the giving of a "wet willie" (inserting a spit-moistened finger in someone's ear with a little twist). It was a popular prank back in junior high and high school.

prank into an ultimate deed of disrespect is the act of spitting on someone, especially their face. You may remember the classic "To Kill a Mockingbird" scene where Mr. Ewell approached Atticus Finch, cursed him, spat on him, and threatened to kill him. "I wish Bob Ewell wouldn't chew tobacco." was all Atticus said about

As a kid I would sometimes play the game of seeing how much saliva I could gather in my mouth before I had to spit it out, at which point I would try to create images in the dirt floor of our garage.

I may have been on to something. Research on the Internet revealed that early in the 20th century, a Parisian lampoon magazine farcically pretended Going way beyond a that an American "professor of salivation" had introduced a course in spitting, whose aim it was to increase the dexterity of spitters. After a series of six lessons, advanced students were asked to try and sketch a portrait of the professor by means of spitting.

> Getting back to my Little League coaching days. the main reason that I started out teaching the kits to spit had nothing to do with baseball tradition. It was to have a little fun and give the kids a break from the head coach's demanding temperament and verbal harassment.

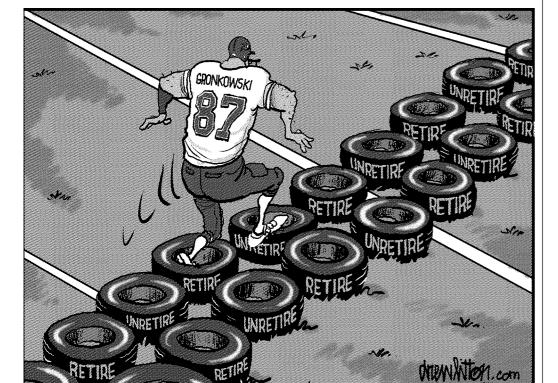

In fact, it was his Marine drill sergeant style that led me to volunteer to be an assistant in the first place. More than once I "visited" with him about being more mindful of the kids and not verbally abusing them. Once, paradoxically, by calling time out in the middle of a game and telling him I was going to put my fist in his ear if he didn't stop.

My interventions usually worked, but only for a short time. It wasn't long before he was bellowing again. Looking back on it, maybe instead threatening to put my fist in his ear. I should have just given him a wet willie.

Live-in boyfriend shames woman for being a mother

DEAR ABBY Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced mother of two teenagers. I've been seeing my boyfriend, "Sean," for almost five years, and when the pandemic started, he moved in with us. I am supposed to share custody of my teens with their father, alternating weeks. However, his job requires travel, and the kids are with me more often than not, with little to no notice. They are also reaching an age where they don't really want to go to their dad's all the time. This has caused some tension with my boyfriend. He feels we never get "alone time" anymore. He then withholds affection from me, as if I've done something wrong by having my kids. Since he moved in, our sex life has dwindled to almost nonexistent. He refuses to be intimate when the kids are home, yet he hasn't made the most of the "alone time" we do have when the kids aren't here. He usually goes to bed early, without so much as a goodnight kiss. Or he'll go out on weekend days and not include me. I have been cheated on in the past, and my insecurities are starting to rear their ugly heads. I don't know how to talk to him because he gets defensive and gaslights any issues I bring up. I don't feel safe sharing my hurt with him, let alone sharing my anger at him for trying to make me feel bad for being a mom. I'm losing hope and feel myself shutting down. How can I approach him in a way that he won't get defensive? — FIGHTING A LOSING BATTLE

DEAR FIGHTING: There are red flags all over your letter. You are going to be an active mother until your children are at least 18. That this man would move into your home and give you heartburn about your responsibilities is terrible. You state that your sex life is over, and when you raise other important issues, he gaslights you. This does not bode well for a healthy future. His defensiveness when you attempt to have an adult discussion with him isn't your real problem. Getting him out of your home and your life before he wastes any more of your time is what you should focus on.

DEAR ABBY: What is proper etiquette when attending an event and sitting at a table with more than six people? I think it's rude to talk to a person across the table. Talking to a person next to you is acceptable. Talking to someone across the table is rude because the other diners must stop talking to the person seated next to them and be forced to listen to your conversation. Seeing this happen is becoming more and more annoying. What do you think? — FORCED TO

DEAR FORCED: While that rule of etiquette may have been true in Edwardian times, table etiquette today is no longer so rigid. While, of course, it is desirable to converse with the guests seated next to you, unless communicating with someone across the table requires one to shout — which would be distracting and disruptive — I see nothing rude about it.

the KKK was a patriotic organization that sought to "protect the weak" as well as "fearful Southern whites" and to generally reverse Reconstruction efforts (which included reintegrating the Southern states and guaranteeing rights to the four million people freed from slavery following the Civil War).

By the late 1860s Klan activities in the South already included tarring and feathering, mutilations and floggings, lynchings, shootings, brandings by acid (to etch the letters "KKK" on the foreheads of Jews and Blacks), and of course cross burnings. [A note concerning tarring and feathering: contrary to popular belief, hot asphalt tar used today on roads was not employed; rather, pine tar (the kind used for building and maintaining ships) was historically used; therefore, tar could be hot enough to injure someone but was not fatal. In modern times this practice has been rarely used, but as recently as 1971 a Michigan school principal was so "punished" for advocating a celebration of Dr. M. L. King.] Indeed, it is estimated that between 1877 and 1950 there were about of Klan violence as well. What kind of men constituted the membership of the KKK? Some sources maintain that the leaders in the klaverns (local prominent men in their communities — the mayor, bankers, physicians, church leaders, merchants — the sort who tended to be, first of all, fraternalists — people who joined with others of similar beliefs and values. Other sources, however, argue that at least half of the members were mid-level. non-manual workers such as clerks, salesmen, and small business owners. And while many people believe that the Klan's southern violence was caused mainly by poor white people, the organization's membership actually crossed several class and occupational lines, including small-scale farmers. Many southern local law enforcement officers either tended to join the organization or declined to take action against it.

KKK members believed their beliefs superior to those of immigrants, Catholics (particularly those who were foreign-born). Jews. Blacks. labor unions (which were generally scorned for their being open to people of all nationalities, races, and religions), and others. They also attacked bootlegging, night clubs, sex, and anything they viewed as "scandalous behavior." Attired in white sheets and peaked hats, they often burned crosses in the front yards of those they sought to terrorize.

The KKK developed many geographical domains and offices; for example, an Empire was the entire Klan domain and activities, led by the Imperial Wizard: a Realm (a state) was ruled by a Grand Dragon; a Province was one or more counties supervised by a Grand Giant. Local groups held weekly "klonklaves" (meetings) at their "klavern." New members joining a local unit paid both an annual fee and monthly dues, part of which was forwarded to the state's central KKK office and a portion going to the national office in Atlanta.

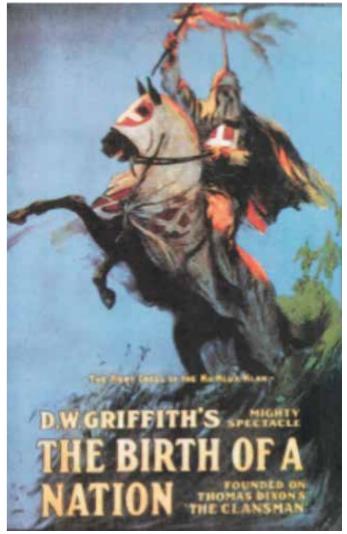

To eliminate Klan violence and protect civil and political rights of freed slaves, President Grant signed into law the Ku Klux Klan Act of 1871. The Act was intended to enforce the 14th Amendment, ratified in 1868, which guaranteed due process and equal protection to all citizens. The U.S. Supreme Court would declare the Act unconstitutional in 1883. however, on the ground that the federal government had no right under the 14th Amendment to regulate the activities of individuals. But prior to that decision and while the Act was in effect it virtually spelled the demise of what has been termed the First Klan, with state militias being convened in a few Southern states to help break its back.

Then, during World War I, the KKK began to reorganize nationally, being stimulated by a 1915 silent movie, "The Birth of a Nation." Said to be Hollywood's first blockbuster hit, the movie was also felt by many to be the most controversial film ever made due to its portrayal of several Civil War families. Reconstruction. explicit racism, and glorification of the Ku Klux Klan. The film was hugely successful, particularly in the South (grossing $18 million – about $47 million today) while being generally reviled in the North.

After WWI the Klan launched a serious recruiting movement when professional recruiters (known as Kleagles) were hired to work nationally. [In a related vein, there had long been a strategy known as a decade, where every Klan member was responsible for recruiting ten people to vote for Klan-supported political candidates.] By the 1920s the Klan's membership was revived, with estimates widely ranging from three million to eight million members nationally, and it continued to employ the aforementioned violent measures to achieve its goals and influence elections. At one point in 1922 Klan members even plotted to kidnap and kill four agents of the FBI who were investigating their Steve Brooks, president of Main Street Girard, said nine businesses applied for the grants and they will have more funds available next year for other businesses.

Angela Swift, owner of Artistic Impressions Angela, was commissioned to paint the mural and has completed roughly 30 murals over the years in the area. The process of choosing a design and planning took about a month, and Swift and the mural and bansaid part of her original design was implemented with the state outline and the heart. Swift said she was glad to be a part of revitalizing the square.

"It's about pride in the community," Swift said. "It was a such a great honor and an incredible opportunity for me. For people to see the artwork and appreciate it is a wonderful thing. And the Main Street doing this project of renovating and beautifying Girard is a wonderful thing for all businesses and people who live here."

Brooks said when Main Street Girard was originally formed, the group created a Facebook page to gauge interest and get feedback. He said the response has been great, steps for the community. "We were looking for something that was bold and that made a good branding statement for us," Brooks said. "So that was part of the reason we wanted to do this was to get that image out there and to get the rest of the town to understand what we're doing and get on board with it and the businesses as well."

He said the mural was a way people could physically see the creditability behind Main Street Girard and that it really is happening. Brooks said the businesses receiving the grants will be announced on Wednesday, June 29.

Pittsburg hosts first Grapple on the Gridiron

By Sam Kombrink

Morning Sun Staff

PITTSBURG, Kan. — The first annual Grapple on the Gridiron took place at Carnie Smith Stadium on Thursday night. The event was a wrestling exhibition on two mats between Pittsburg, Seneca and Branson high schools, including their youth wrestling leagues.

"Man, it was an awesome night, a great atmosphere, we had great weather and it worked out," said Pittsburg wrestling coach LC Davis. "Branson and Seneca came down and brought some great wrestlers, and it was just an awesome night of wrestling. This one of these myself." was the first time that we ever took the mats and put them on the football field."

Davis noted that he got inspiration from teams at the college level that implemented a similar exhibition.

"I've seen a couple do it, some in the Wichita area. but no one has done it here in southeast Kansas, so I wanted to be the first to do it and here we are." said Davis.

Davis said he got the idea to start the event after attending a grapple on the gridiron at the University of Iowa back in 2015." I attended that and I said one day I'm going to do

He said that Grapple on the Gridiron was a good way to show how fun the sport can be. "It just shows how fun the sport is, and just mainly to help build the sport, help people get excited about the sport," Davis said. "We may be at times overshadowed by basketball, but we're just as cool too. We're not on TV like a lot of NBA players, but we have fun.

According to Davis, he wants to continue with this exhibition with Seneca and Branson high schools, and even switch off between the three of who gets to host the event.

Wrestling fans gather at Carnie Smith stadium on Thursday night to watch local athletes from Pittsburg, Seneca, Branson and Columbus square off in an exhibition match. SAM KOMBRINK / THE MORNING SUN

Midwest Mustangs split Friday doubleheader

Logan Myers highlighted the offense for the Mustangs finishing 3-for-3 with three singles and three runs batted in. Wyatt Foley provided an additional spark going 2-for-3 with two doubles.

The Mustangs drew first blood in the opening inning when Myers drilled a line drive through the middle gap to bring in Foley and Cade Beshore.

Following one scoreless inning, the Mustangs piled on the runs in the third, scoring six. Myers helped bring in the first run powering a line drive to center field to send in Foley. Brett Sarwinski followed by nailing a triple to the right-field fence bringing in Myers from second.

Sarwinski found his way home with the help of Mario Menghini, who got caught in a pickle sit- bit of inexperience on the uation. Safe in the pickle, Menghini then reached home on a single from Seth Stover. Landin Midgett's double through the second and third base gap brought in the final run of the inning.

The Mustangs forced the run rule in the fourth inning when Menghini drilled a single to right field, sending in Myers and Eli Cheaney.

Brayden Biggers, Alex Rankin, Drew Wedgeworth, Kaleb Julian and Brendan Moran all contributed at the plate for the Aces.

Elite 5, Mustangs 2

Stellar pitching led the Marucci Elite team out of Tyler, Texas to a 5-2 victory over the Mustangs in Friday's nightcap.

"I think it was a little mound and it kind of got shown and we didn't play great defense behind him either, so I think there's two or three runs today (Friday) for them that we should have been able to defend and we didn't,' Myers said. "Really, when you have a good pitching game, it's going to come down to the seventh and it got away from us."

The trio of Cam Diaz, Jake White and Tysen Mc-Cune held the Mustangs to five hits. Diaz earned the victory by pitching four innings, allowing two runs and two walks while striking out five batters. White held the Mustangs hitless as McCune closed the game striking out one batter, giving up one hit.

Friday night.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) – Zach Greinke tossed six innings of one-run ball, Edward Olivares hit two solo homers and the Kansas City Royals beat the Oakland Athletics 3-1 on Both Grienke (1-4) and Olivares were activated from rehab assignments on Friday.

After missing 43 games with a right quad strain, Olivares belted homers to left field in his first two at-bats — in the third and fifth innings — for his first career multi-homer game.

Greinke allowed one run on three hits with four strikeouts in his first start since May 29, his longest outing since May 5 against St. Louis and the first win in his second stint with Kansas City.

Greinke sat down the first nine batters before Tony Kemp hit a leadoff single in the fourth. Seth Brown hit a two-out RBI single that scored Kemp.

Royals relievers Dylan Coleman and Jose Cuas each held the A's scoreless in an inning. Scott Barlow the season.

Carlos Santana added some insurance with an RBI single in the sixth.

Cole Irvin (2-5) gave up three runs on seven hits in 5 1/3 innings, with four strikeouts and a season-high three walks.

Seth Brown and Sean Murphy each had two-hit games for the A's, who lost the opening game of a series for the 10th straight

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Kyle Hendricks carried a shutout into the eighth inning and Nico Hoerner homered to help the Chicago Cubs to a 3-0 win over the St. Louis Cardinals on Friday night.

Ian Happ also drove in a run for Chicago, which has won two of three.

Hendricks (3-6) continued his mastery over the Cardinals, who had won 12 of the previous 17 against the Cubs. He gave up five hits in 7 1/3 scoreless innings, struck out six and walked one. Hendricks improved to 13-3 in 25 lifetime starts against his NL Central rivals, his most victories against any team.

Hendricks had given up six or more earned runs in four of 13 starts entering the contest. His last win came in a 6-0 triumph over San Diego on May 9.

Chris Martin worked out of a one-out jam with runners on second and third after replacing Hendricks in the eighth. David Robertson finished for his ninth save in 12 opportunities.

Hoerner drilled a tworun shot off Cardinals starter Andre Pallante (2-3) in the second inning. Hoerner has reached safely in 17 of his last 20 games.

Happ pushed the lead to 3-0 with an RBI double in the fifth.

Pallante gave up three runs on seven hits over six innings. He struck out two and walked three. St. Louis has still won 10 of its last 14 home games.

Chicago improved to 4-4 following a 1-11 skid that ended on June 16.

ON THE MEND

St. Louis LHP Steven Matz threw a lengthy bullpen session Friday. He's expected to start at Triple-A Memphis on Tuesday. He has been out since May 23 with left shoulder impingement. TRAINER'S ROOM

Cubs: INF David Bote was activated before the game. He started at second base and went 0 for 4. Bote had missed the first

Lightning win Game 5, deny Avs chance to take Stanley Cup

By Pat Graham AP Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) — The

Tampa Bay Lightning spoiled Colorado's party to stay in the hunt for a third straight Stanley Cup title, beating the Avalanche 3-2 on Friday night in Game 5.

Ondrej Palat scored with 6:22 remaining and Andrei Vasilevskiy stopped 36 shots in front of a raucous crowd hoping to celebrate the Avalanche's first championship in 21 years. The Cup was all shined up and in the building, too.

It's heading back to Tampa for Game 6 on Sunday night. The Lightning trail the best-of-seven series 3-2.

Nikita Kucherov and defenseman Jan Rutta also scored for the Lightning. Valeri Nichushkin and Cale Makar had goals for Colorado. Makar's third-period tally bounced off the skate of Erik Cernak and through the pads of Vasilevskiy to tie it at 2.

It set the stage for Palat, whose shot slipped through the pads of Darcy Kuemper. A brief hush fell over the crowd.

Tampa Bay regrouped after an emotional Game 4 loss at home on a overtime goal from Colorado forward Nazem Kadri. The Lightning felt the Avalanche might have had too many players on the ice on the winner.

A too many players on the ice penalty was called Friday on Colorado with 2:43 remaining. The Lightning went on the power play and made it so that Colorado couldn't pull Kuemper until around 30 seconds remaining. They weathered the Avalanche's late barrage.

Just the Lightning showing their championship mettle. They've already rallied back from a 3-2 deficit to Toronto in the first round, and climbed out of a 2-0 hole against the New York Rangers in the Eastern Conference finals.

Completing this comeback series win would put them in an entirely different category. Only one team has rallied to capture a Game 7 in the final after trailing 3-1 in a series — the 1942 Toronto Maple Leafs.

This is a gritty Lightning squad that's showing no signs of slowing down even against a speedy Avalanche team and even after all the contests they've logged. Tampa Bay has played in 67 postseason games since the start of the first round in 2020. That's basically an entire extra season.

Their resolve has impressed Lightning coach Jon Cooper. His team improved to 3-0 this season when facing potential elimination games.

The Avalanche are trying to capture their first title since 2001. The Avalanche fans were out in full force — both inside the building (an upper-level ticket on game day was going for around $1,500) and outside at a nearby watch party.

Colorado knew it wasn't going to be easy. Makar said leading into the game this was the "toughest one that we've had so far." The Avalanche are 2 for 2 in their visits to the Stanley Cup Final. They also won in 1996, which was their inaugural season in Denver after relocating from Quebec.

Soon after Nichushkin tied it at 1-apiece in the second, Kucherov knocked in a goal off the post. The power-play goal was with Alex Killorn in the box for holding, along with J.T. Compher (holding the stick) and Makar (tripping), making for a 4-on-3 situation.

Rutta zapped some of the energy from the crowd with his first goal of the playoffs. It was on a slapshot from the side that slipped through Kuemper.

It bode well for the Lightning — teams that score the first goal when staring at elimination in the final are 55-25.

"If we had our choice, we would just write our name all the way around the circle (of the Cup)," Cooper cracked before the game.

European tour bans LIV golfers from Scottish Open

MUNICH (AP) — The European tour banned golfers who competed in the Saudi-backed breakaway LIV series from three upcoming tournaments, including the Scottish Open, on Friday and fined them $120,000.

The tour said any players who took part in the inaugural LIV event in England this month would be suspended from the Scottish Open, Barbasol Championship and Barracuda Championship. All three of those events are co-sanctioned by the European tour and the PGA, which has suspended players who competed in LIV. They were also fined 100,000 pounds ($123,000).

There could be "further sanctions" if the players continue to compete in LIV without authorization, the European tour said. The next of eight LIV events is in Portland, Oregon, on June 30-July

The fine levied by the European tour is barely more than the minimum prize money in LIV. Placing last of the 48 players paid out $120,000 in the inaugural event at the Centurion course near London — the richest golf tournament in history. Former Masters champion Charl Schwartzel, who resigned his PGA Tour membership, raked in $4 million for winning the event and another $750,000 for being on the winning team.

"Many members I have spoken to in recent weeks expressed the viewpoint that those who have chosen this route have not only disrespected them and our Tour, but also the meritocratic ecosystem of professional golf that has been the bedrock of our game for the past half a century and which will also be the foundation upon which we build the next 50 years," European tour chief executive Keith

Pellev said. "Their actions are not fair to the majority of our membership and undermine the Tour, which is why we are taking the action we have announced today."

Money from the fines will be split between charitable causes and topping-up prize money, the tour said.

The Scottish Open starts July 7 and has a total prize fund of $8 million. The Barbasol Championship the same week in Kentucky and the Barracuda Championship the following week in California each offer a total $3.7 million. Four-time major winner Brooks Koepka was announced on the entry list for the Scottish Open earlier this month before he opted to join the LIV series, though he has yet to compete in the Saudi-funded events.

The European tour's announcement while some players signed to LIV were playing in one of its own events. Some of the European tour's best-known players were on course Friday at the BMW International Open, including major winners Louis Oosthuizen, Sergio Garcia and Martin Kaymer. They all played the inaugural LIV event in England.

Nuggets draft Kansas' Braun, acquire rights to UCLA's Watson

By Michael Kelly AP Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Nuggets selected Kansas guard Christian Braun with the 21st pick of the NBA draft Thursday night.

The 6-foot-6 Braun averaged 14.1 points and 6.5 rebounds for the Jayhawks last season. His 12 points and 12 rebounds helped Kansas beat North Carolina in the national championship game on April 4. He played the entire game.

This is the first draft with general manager Calvin Booth as the primary decision maker for the Nuggets. Tim Connelly, who joined the organization in 2013 and served as Denver's president of basketball operations, was wooed by Minnesota with a lucrative deal to run that franchise.

"I think sky's the limit. He's always won," Booth said of Braun. "He was an impactful player for Kansas this year. So really excited about his future and I think he has the right approach. He's going to try to earn time and hopefully he's able to hit the court sooner rather than later."

The Nuggets also acquired the rights from Oklahoma City to the 30th pick — the final selection of the first round — UCLA freshman Peyton Watson. They were also working out the details to acquire the rights to Ismael Kamagate, who was taken by Portland with the 46th Watson, who is 6-8 with a 7-foot wingspan, averaged 3.3 points and 12.7 minutes in 32 games with the Bruins.

Connelly left a talented team behind, led by twotime NBA MVP Nikola Jokic. Jokic became the first player picked in the second round to win the award when he took it home last year. His encore season was even more impressive -- 27.1 points, 13.8 rebounds and 7.9 assists while carrying a team missing two of its top play-

Jamal Murray missed the entire 2021-22 season as he recovered from ACL surgery and Michael Porter Jr. underwent back surgery and didn't play after Nov. 6.

Jokic, 27, led the team to the playoffs for the fourth straight years and the Nuggets want to take advantage of the center's prime years. They started reworking the roster already, beginning with Booth trading forward JaMychal Green and a protected 2027 first-round pick to the Thunder for the 30th pick in this year's draft and two future second-rounders.

"We have work to do still this summer. We're trying to put together a team that that's going to maximize Joker's peak years," Booth said. "Right now, we have a we have a lot of veterans and we have a good roster but probably have some more tweaking to do before we can say we're done with the roster."

The tweaking will include being active in free agency and let Braun and Watson develop.

"There's some things that need to be done with the roster. We need to get bigger, we need to get more athletic, we need to get more two-way players," Booth said. "And quite frankly, those guys are hard to get — in trade and free agency. So you try to backfill the roster with guys like Peyton and Christian and hope they develop. But in the meantime, try to acquire some guys that fit those needs until those guys are ready to play."

Cavs select Agbaji at 14, add another Mobley in NBA draft

By Tom Withers

AP Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) -Ochai Agbaji developed championship DNA in college. The Cavaliers are counting on it staying with him in the pros.

Looking to add a perimeter player who can shoot, defend and maybe accelerate their timeline to NBA title contention, Cleveland selected Agbaji with the No. 14 overall pick in the draft Thursday night.

Later, the Cavs used the No. 49 pick — acquired in a trade earlier in the day from Sacramento — to select Isaiah Mobley, the older brother of forward Evan Mobley, whose arrival in Cleveland last season triggered the team's turnaround.

The Mobleys played one season together at USC and will now have the chance to do it again with the Cays

With other options available in the first round, including Ohio State's Malaki Branham and Duke's AJ Griffin, the Cavs locked in on the 6-foot-5 Agbaji, who as a senior led Kansas son. Agbaji was named the kled in these conference most outstanding player at the Final Four, and his performance in the spotlight helped separate him from other players.

The Cavs are ready win. Agbaji knows how.

"It's a part of his makeup and he's coming in to a team that wants to win and he's going to bring some unique ingredients to that," said Koby Altman, Cleveland's president of basketball operations. "You're seeing national finals most recently and they definitely bring a chip with them. We hope he brings that to us.

The 22-year-old Agbaji averaged 18.8 points, 5.1 rebounds and made 41% of his 3-pointers for the Jayhawks, and his ability as a defender was another factor in the Cavs' decision to bring him aboard.

He'll join one of the league's most intriguing young rosters in Cleveland, and a team with ing a turnaround, 44-win season.

The Cavs entered the offseason desperate to add another quality shooter and believe they've found one.

"He can really shoot," Altman said. "He's got a really quick trigger. You can run him off screens. The shooting piece was important. "The fact he can play wing, the fact he can guard wing is great. I don't know if that went into it so much as the need for shooting. I don't want to put him on a pedestal and say, 'This is the next great wing that we draft.' But maybe it is.

"I do know that he fits a need right away and he's going to compete and he has that winning pedigree that we really like."

The Cavs entered the draft with four picks. Cleveland, which already had the Nos. 39 and 56 picks, added No. 49 from the Kings in exchange for the draft rights to Sasha Vezenkov and $1.75 mil-

After picking in the top five in each of the past three drafts, the Cavs weren't under as much pressure to land a potential All-Star or even an immediate-impact player this year. They could be more selective. Cleveland was diligent during the pre-draft process. There were several players who fit their needs, but Agbaji stood out due to his offensive skill set, a 6-foot-10 wing span and because he's coming from one of college basketball's premiere programs.

"He just fit the character and the attitude and the work ethic that we've been looking for," Altman said. "This is the first time we've drafted a national champion right out of the gate. He brings a lot of accolades, but he brings a humbleness that we appreciate."

Kansas coach Bill Self said the Cavs are getting a player who still has roo to grow his game.

"His intangibles have improved so much with competitiveness, even though he always was," Self said on a Zoom call from New York. "He's learned there's a gear you got to get to to compete at the highest level. When vou work as hard as he does in that fifth gear every single possession, every single drill, every single shot, you're going to get better."

A 22-win jump last season has vaulted the Cavs back into contending status. They've got one of the league's most promising young cores, highlighted by All-Star guard Darius Garland and Mobley, last year's No. 3 overall pick who had a strong rookie

Cleveland was in position to make the playoffs last season for the first time since 2018. However, the Cavs, who were overrun by injuries throughout the year, collapsed down the stretch, losing eight of their last 11 and then to Brooklyn and Atlanta in the play-in format.

NEW YORK (AP) — Aaron Judge and the New York Yankees avoided an arbitration hearing Friday by agreeing to a $19 million, one-year contract, a deal that leaves the slugger on track to become a free agent after the World Series.

Unable to agree to a long-term deal in talks that ended on opening day, the sides split the difference between the proposed arbitration figures they exchanged on March 22: $21 million by Judge and $17 million by the Yankees.

Judge can make an ad-bonuses: $250,000 for MVP and $250,000 for World Series MVP.

The slugging outfielder is in the midst of perhaps his best season, batting .304 with a major league-leading 27 homers and 53 RBIs in 68 games. On track for his fourth All-Star selection in seven big league seasons, he hit a game-winning single during Thursday night's 7-6 come-from-behind victory over defending AL champion Houston.

Judge has helped power the Yankees to a major league-best 52-18 record, New York's best through 70 games since 1939 and the best among all big ditional $500,000 in award league teams since the 2001 Seattle Mariners. He also has shifted from right field to become the Yankees' primary center fielder. A deal came together before the scheduled noon start of a Zoom hearing before a three-person panel.

No statistics or evidence from after March 1 were admissible other than contract and salary comparisons, timing set when Major League Baseball and the players' association agreed to the deal that ended the lockout.

Judge batted .287 with 39 homers and 98 RBIs last season.

Underdogs Ole Miss, OU set for College World Series finals

By Eric Olson AP Sports Writer

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) -Less than a month ago, Mississippi players and coaches didn't know if they would make the NCAA baseball tourna-

This weekend, the Rebels will play for the national championship.

Next up is Oklahoma in the College World Series finals. The Sooners also had doubts about whether they would make the 64-team field until they got hot in the second half of the season and won the Big 12 Tournament for the conference's automatic bid.

The best-of-three finals begin Saturday night at Charles Schwab Field, and all 16 national seeds will watch from home. An unseeded team will leave Omaha with the championship for the first time since Coastal Carolina in

"We've always thought we were this good," Ole Miss pitcher Hunter Elliott said Friday. "I think at one point we were ranked No. 1. But like in baseball, sometimes you scuffle, and we were scuffling there for a while, but we just continued to believe and knew we were good enough, and we ended up here.'

Ole Miss (40-23) and Oklahoma, as No. 2 regional seeds, both had to go on the road for regionals and super regionals. Oklahoma (45-22) went 3-0 in CWS bracket play to make the finals; Ole Miss went 3-1 and had to beat Arkansas in a second bracket final.

"In a lot of ways they're similar to us," OU center fielder Tanner Tredaway said. "They do a lot of small things well. They've got power in the lineup. They're a really good ballclub. They've been playing with a chip on their shoulder just like we have. They were in question for a regional, and they're here to make a statement just like

Ole Miss' pitching staff entered the tournament with a 4.68 ERA but 11th nationally at 10.7 strikeouts per nine innings. The Rebels have been dominant on the mound the entire tournament, posting back-to-back shutouts in their super-regional sweep at Southern Mississippi and allowing seven earned runs in 36 innings (1.75 ERA) while striking out 38 in Omaha.

No one has been better than Dylan DeLucia, who tossed a four-hitter in a 2-0 win over Arkansas on Thursday. He has surrendered just one earned run in 162/3 CWS innings.

Calvin Harris, Kevin Graham, Justin Bench and Kemp Alderman have provided most of the offense, combining to bat .397 (25 of 63) and drive in 15 runs. Tim Elko, who came to Omaha with 22 homers, hit a three-run shot in a 13-5 win over Arbeen mostly quiet.

As they were in the regular season, the Sooners have been led offensively by Tredaway and Peyton Graham at the CWS. Tredaway is batting .500 (7 of 14) and Graham .545 (6 of 11). Jimmy Crooks has hit two homers.

The Sooners have used only four pitchers, and they've combined to allow 11 earned runs in 27 innings (3.67).

Chazz Martinez, Carter Campbell, Carson Atwood and Ben Abram, all of whom have made at least 20 appearances, haven't been in game situations for two weeks.

"They're not going to lose any rhythm," OU coach Skip Johnson said. "They've been in their own bullpens. Every time we practice we throw bullpens. It's different. We've got to go through a process of trying to make the bullpen game-like."

PITCHING PLANS

Oklahoma will start Jake Bennett (10-3) on Saturday and Cade Horton (5-2) on Sunday. Johnson said he didn't know who would start the if-necessary game on Monday.

Ole Miss coach Mike Bianco said he and his staff hadn't determined a pitching plan as of Friday.

SOFTBALL-BASEBALL SWEEP?

Oklahoma is bidding to become the first school to kansas but otherwise has win national championships in softball and baseball in the same year. Patty Gasso's Sooners won their sixth Women's College World Series title two weeks ago.

"Patty has done a great job. She reminds me of coach Garrido," Johnson said, referring to the late college baseball coaching great Augie Garrido, "and just being around her and her presence has been incredible. If we get the opportunity to do the same thing, we're here. If it happens, that's great.'

HERE WE ARE

Reflecting on May 27, the day NCAA Tournament field was announced, Bianco said there was an uncomfortable feeling in the room where the team was watching the selection show. The Rebels received the last at-large bid over North Carolina State, changing the mood to one of joy.

"We weren't the 64th team. I try to say that," Bianco said. "We were a good baseball team, and I think everybody would vouch for that.

"There are 31 automatic bids and 33 at-large bids. Now, were we the 33rd atlarge bid? Maybe. We felt sitting in that room we deserved to get in. You just don't ever know. We're really glad they let us in."

NCAA chooses new Board of Governors members

The NCAA chose its new Board of Governors members on Wednesday, including nine voting members and seven non-voting members who will assume their duties on Aug. 1.

The new voting members are: Mary-Beth Cooper, president, Springfield College; Beth DeBauche, commissioner, Ohio Val-Conference; John J. Nigerian government allows basketball teams to play again

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The Nigerian government made a sudden U-turn on Thursday and cleared its national basketball teams to return to competition immediate-

The decision to lift a ban on the teams playing in international competitions came after an appeal to the government by the Nigerian Basketball Federation and "intervention" by former Nigerian international players, the sports ministry said. Nigerian President Muhammadu Buhari approved the return to play, the ministry said in a statement. The Nigerian government withdrew its teams World Cup qualifiers start from international competitions for a two-year period last month citing a leadership struggle and other administrative problems within the national basketball federation.

That move led to the women's team losing its place at the World Cup in Australia in September. It's unclear if Nigeria's women will be able to get their place at the World Cup back after international governing body FIBA replaced them with Mali. The Nigerian sports ministry said it had recently been speaking with FIBA.

The two-year ban also threatened the men's team's qualification for the 2023 World Cup. The tory of problems at the Nigerian Basketball Federation but the latest issues center on a leadership tussle after two separate presidents were elected to lead the NBBF in parallel elections. The sports ministry said the lifting of the ban depended on the NBBF honoring a commitment it gave to work with the ministry to resolve all its "issues."

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Serena Williams walked out on Centre Court under a closed retractable roof on Friday afternoon, taking advantage of Wimbledon's new policy of allowing players to practice there and at No. 1 Court before the tournament begins next week.

Accompanied by coach Eric Hechtman — who has worked with her older sister, Venus, and replaces longtime coach Patrick Moratoglou, now with Simona Halep — and hitting partner Jarmere Jenkins, Williams returned to the site of her last official singles match anywhere, nearly a full year ago at the All England Club. That ended after less than a set, when Williams slipped on the slick turf and injured her right leg.

Wearing an all-white outfit and visor, Williams followed No. 1-ranked Iga Swiatek into the main stadium and went through about 45 minutes of training, from groundstrokes to volleys and overheads to her best-in-the-game The courtside serve. "mph" monitors were switched off, so there was no way to tell just how fast her serves were zipping, but the echoes produced by her hard-hit shots reverberated off the arena's thousands of empty green seats and the white cover overhead as a light rain fell outside.

The scene played out a few hours after the draw determined that Williams will begin her Wimbledon comeback by facing Harmony Tan, a 24-yearold from France who is ranked 113th and owns a 2-6 career record in Grand Slam matches.

Because of her lack of activity over the past 12 months. Williams — who has been No. 1 in the rankings for a total of 319 weeks — is outside the WTA's top 1,200 and could have ended up anywhere in the field. She only returned to the tour this week by playing two doubles matches at a tune-up event in England.

While the 40-year-old

American's track record would merit a seeding, the All England Club adheres strictly to the rankings for seeds.

Williams has won seven Wimbledon championships, part of her total of 23 Grand Slam singles titles, a record for the professional era. Tan, meanwhile, will be making her debut at the grass-court tournament.

If Williams gets past Tan, next up could be a match against Sara Sorribes Tormo, who is seeded 32nd but has never been past the third round in 19 past major appearances.

The third round potentially would put Williams against a tougher test: No. 6-seeded Karolina Pliskova, who was the runner-up to Ash Barty last year at Wimbledon and also reached the final of the 2016 U.S. Open — beating Williams in the semifinals

Barty retired in March and is not defending her title. So the honor of playing the first match at Centre Court on Tuesday, a slot traditionally reserved for the prior year's women's champion, will go to Swiatek, who just collected her second French Open trophy and enters on a 35-match winning streak. The tournament announced Friday that Swiatek was its pick for that Tuesday slot on the schedule.

The projected women's quarterfinals based on seedings are Swiatek vs. No. 8 Jessica Pegula, Pliskova vs. No. 4 Paula Badosa. No. 2 Anett Kontaveit vs. No. 5 Maria Sakkari, and No. 3 Ons Jabeur vs. No. 7 Danielle Collins.

UNC-Indiana, Ohio State-Duke headline ACC/Big 10 Challenge

National runner-up North Carolina, a strong contender for the No. 1 spot in the preseason polls with four starters returning, will play at Indiana in the ACC/Big Ten Challenge on Nov. 30.

The two conferences ACC has a 144-121 advanannounced Friday the 14 matchups for the 24th edition of the three-day event, which the ACC leads 12-8 with three ties. The Big Ten won 8-6 last season for tage in all games since the genesis in 1999.

The other headliner matchup for Nov. 30 has Ohio State at Duke, which carries the nation's No. its third straight win. The 1 recruiting class in new coach Jon Scheyer's first latter two matchups feavear.

The four other games on Nov. 30 are Purdue at Florida State, Boston College at Nebraska and Rutgers at Miami and Michigan ture a pair of NCAA Tournament teams from 2022.

The six-game slate on Nov. 29 features Virginia at Michigan. Syracuse at Illinois, Maryland at State at Notre Dame. The Louisville, Penn State at Clemson, Wake Forest at Wisconsin and Georgia Tech at Iowa are the other matchups. On Nov. 28, Minnesota plays at Virginia Tech and Pittsburgh visits Northwestern.

Tensions sparking change in US Olympic world, but how much?

By Eddie Pells AP Sports Writer

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Changes are coming at the U.S. Olympic and Paralympic Committee, sparked by frustration with years of flat revenue and what some portray as heavy-handed management in the wake of sex-abuse scandals that upended the movement in America.

At their keynote addresses at this week's annual assembly of U.S. athletes and administrators, both CEO Sarah Hirshland and chair Susanne Lyons said the federation's top-line priority for the upcoming year is athlete excellence and expanding revenue. This is a shift after years of placing athlete safety above all else after the scandals exposed what critics said was the USOPC's single-minded focus on money and med-

Lvons' term as chair ends at the close of 2022. A candidate to replace her is Dexter Paine, a current USOPC board member and former chair of U.S. Ski & Snowboard who is closely aligned with the national governing bodies (NGBs) that run the individual sports and have largely felt like they've been undermined in the aftermath of the Larry Nassar scandal.

Also running is former LA 2028 CEO Gene Sykes, who played a key role in bringing the Summer Olympics back to Los Angeles. The July 8 vote to pick Lyons' successor will be a significant indicator of what the focus will be at the USOPC in an ever-shifting dynamic between athletes, NGBs and international relations.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Lyons said what some see as a paradigm shift is driven by tough economic conditions, along with abysmal TV ratings for the past two Olympics that has raised concern that fans are losing their love for the Olympics. The U.S. is now six years from hosting its first Summer Games since 1996, and officials know the Olympics in Los Angeles have to be parlayed to stoke passion in the U.S. for the entire industry.

"For a while, it was kind of considered terrible if you actually said that you wanted to win a medal," Lyons said. "It was like, 'Money-medals, terrible.' But I think everyone understands that to have that engagement, you have to be performing."

Olympic sports in the U.S. are run by more than four dozen NGBs that are, in turn, overseen by the USOPC. When the sexabuse scandal erupted, the drawbacks of the loosely tethered relationships between the organizations were laid bare. The conclusion, driven in part by Congress, was that the USOPC, which provides millions in funding to the NGBs, needed to exercise more oversight over the NGBs and take a firmer role in policing them.

Friction came in almost every area.

Since 2019, the amount of money given by the USOPC to the NGBs for standard operating procedures has stayed virtually flat — hovering at around $50 million a year. Some of this can be blamed on the pandemic, which delayed the 2020 Olympics by a year and put a maior strain on budgeting throughout the Olympic world. Another factor was the shift of USOPC dollars directly into the pockets of athletes. Also, there were "administrative" costs, some of which dealt with ongoing legal action involving Nassar's victims, and some that involved the increased oversight of the NGBs. At the behest of Congress, the USOPC also now funds the U.S. Center for SafeSport to the tune of $20 million a year, a more than 600% increase over when it was launched.

Somewhat overlooked is that a lot of money the USOPC gives to NGBs also eventually makes its way to athletes, who train under the umbrella of the organizations for years, then become part of "Team USA" — overseen by the USOPC — when the Olympics roll around.

Max Cobb, the CEO of U.S. Biathlon, acknowledged the growing tension

USOPC. Cobb said 2022 is the right time to realign priorities, with the Paris Games still more than two years off.

"I think now is the time for us to dig in and have the really tough conversations and be really honest with each other about what we're doing," he said. "And be really transparent about how the funds are being used and what resources are available to

Other frustrations included:

—Some NGBs felt burdened by new auditing requirements put into place by the USOPC — a response to what was viewed as lax oversight in the aftermath of the Nassar case — that demanded extra work at extra cost for organizations that were already squeezed.

-NGB leaders balked at some of the athlete-centered programs USOPC launched. One example is the Athlete Marketing Platform program (AMP), which gives athletes direct marketing opportunities with sponsors, but sometimes duplicates efforts being made by the NGBs themselves and effectively funnels money away from those NGBs.

—The sudden ouster earlier this year of chief of sport performance Rick Adams, a longtime leader at the USOPC, angered virtually the entire NGB community. Adams was between the NGBs and the USOPC's main connection to NGBs on the sports side. The U.S. performance at the Tokyo and Beijing Games — first in medals for Summer and a respectable fourth in Winter — were good indicators that sport performance was operating efficiently despite the challenges brought by the pandemic.

Almost all of it eventually goes back to money how to bring more into the Olympic system and how to distribute it, especially during a time of high inflation, where flat revenues actually represent diminishing buying power.

Lyons said she was heartened by a survey taken after the Tokyo Games in which more than 90% of U.S. Olympians and Paralympians in Tokyo said the "USOPC prioritized their health, wellness and security while providing appropriate resources and high-quality services throughout their Games experience." She said the change in outlook signaled at this year's assembly doesn't mean the federation is going to stop concentrating on that.

"I've never seen an Olympian or Paralympian who didn't want to win," she said. "I don't think we're going to see, from our athletes at least, some sort of blowback to say, 'Oh, you know they're talking about medals again.' Because they want to win medals."

Richardson fails to make 100 final at the U.S. championships

By Anne M. Peterson

AP Sports Writer

Sprinter Sha'Carri Richardson appeared to have both her speed and swagger back for the U.S. track and field championships but she had a disappointing result Thursday night in her signature event.

Despite a few promising races heading into the national championships, Richardson failed to advance out of the first round of the 100 meters. She finished fifth in her heat and did not speak to reporters.

She is also entered in the 200 at the Hayward Field meet, so her hopes of making the U.S. team for the world championships next month were still alive — albiet dimmer. She must finish in the top three to make the team for the sport's biggest event outside of the Olympics.

Richardson is known for flashy track suits, fingernail extensions and ever-changing hair colors, as well as a brash and confident personality.

"Don't let the media, don't let people, don't let a company, try to stop you suspension that kept her out of the event in Tokyo, and she was also left off the U.S. team as part of the relay pool, although her suspension would've been completed by the time of the 400 relay.

She acknowledged the mistake in an interview with the "Today" show after her suspension. She said she used mariiuana as a way of coping with her mother's recent death. But on Twitter this week she lamented the interview: "I wish I never did this. I wish I had the choice when it was time for me to tell my story."

A few weeks after missing out on racing at the Olympics, Richardson finished last in the 100 at the Prefontaine Classic. She faced criticism after that August race from some of the more traditional corners of the sport that she was all talk and no substance.

it is known, the 22-yearold Texan finished second to Olympic gold medalist Elaine Thompson-Herah of Jamaica in the 100, running in a solid 10.92 seconds.

This month at the inaugural NYC Grand Prix, Richardson won the 200 in 22.38, and came in second in the 100 in 10.85, a season-best. And she did it in style, with a unique red fishnet track suit and rhinestones dotting her

"I feel phenomenal," she said afterward.

She said her pre-race hype music was Drake's 'No Friends in the Industrv." The lyrics even have an ode to her: "And I'm like Sha'Carri, smoke 'em on and off the track."

Richardson wasn't the only attraction at the nachampionships, tional which run through Sunday at the stadium on the University of Oregon campus. The world championships will also be held at Hayward.

Allyson Felix, the most decorated female track athlete in Olympic history, is set to run in the 400 with a shot at making one more world team before her retirement.

Olympian Two-time Devon Allen, who played football and ran track at the University of Oregon, will try to improve his time in the 110 hurdles. He ran the third-fastest time in the world at the NYC Grand Prix.

Allen is trying to balance track life and football after recently signing with the Philadelphia Eagles as a wide receiver. There wouldn't be a conflict should he make the world team: His event final is scheduled for July 17. Eagles players are slated to report for training camp nine days later.

Dalilah Muhammad announced on Wednesday that she is sitting out of the 400 hurdles because of a slight injury. She has already qualified for the world championships as the defending champion in the event.

Let your intuition lead the way, and you'll find a way to make your dreams come true. Focus on what's important to you and develop a plan that gives you the freedom to reach your goal. Uncomplicate your life by appropriately using your skills and attributes, and by dismissing ideas that cost you physically, emotionally or financially.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- Don't skip a beat or lose sleep over something you cannot control. Make the most of your time by working with what you've got. Don't feel responsible for other people's mistakes. Do your best.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- Rely on your street smarts to help you see clearly. An unexpected change will make you feel uneasy. Distance vourself from anyone trying to pressure you. Ask questions if you have them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- Keep your thoughts to yourself while listening and digesting what others say. The information you gather will help you bring about a substantial lifestyle change. Protect your health.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Go on an adventure to test your intelligence and stamina. Include people you love in your plans, and you will enjoy a fun-filled day that brings you all closer. Now's the time to be inspired.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Let go and move forward. Don't let uncertainty leave you in limbo. Consider your options and take a unique approach, and you'll discover how to best utilize your time. Put your energy where it counts.

WHAT'S NEW ON HULU

"Only Murders in the Building" -Season 2

Dig into a new case with the highly anticipated Season 2 release of "Only Murders in the Building," making its way to Hulu Tuesday, June 28. Starring Selena Gomez ("A Rainy Day in New York," 2019), Steve Martin ("The Pink Panther," 2006) and Martin Short ("Innerspace," 1987) as Mabel, Charles and Oliver, an unlikely trio of amateur sleuths brought together in the first season by their mutual love of the same true crime podcast. When a murder happened to take place in the high-end New York City building where they all live, the true crime aficionados took it upon themselves to create their very own podcast as they try to solve the murder themselves. While Season 1 ended on quite a cliffhanger (and another murder in the building), Season 2 kicks off with Mabel, Charles and Oliver trying to keep themselves out of hot water as they look into their newest case. Created by Martin and John Hoffman of "Grace and Frankie", "Only Murders in the Building" Season 2 is directed by Jamie Babbit ("Silicon Valley") and Cherien Dabis ("Ramy"). The series is written by Hoffman, Martin, Joshua Allen Griffith ("Mrs. America"), "The (curious case of the) Watson Intelligence" playwright Madeleine George, "Ohio" author Stephen Markley and "The Field Guide to the North American Teenager" author Ben Philippe. Vanessa Aspillaga ("Morning Glory," 2010), Kirk Kelly ("Do No Harm"), Ariel Shafir ("M'larky"), Cara Delevingne ("Suicide Squad," 2016), Michael Rapaport ("Atypical"), Jayne Houdyshell ("Little Women," 2019), Jackie Hoffman ("Garden State," 2004) and Michael Cyril Creighton ("Dexter: New Blood") also star.

2022 NYC Pride March

Experience a Pride celebration like no other when the 2022 New York City Pride March airs live Sunday, June 26, from noon to 3 p.m. EST, on Hulu. The birthplace of the Pride movement, the New York City Pride March has been an annual event since 1970, when it was first organized by the Christopher Street Liberation Day Committee to commemorate the landmark Stonewall Riots led by Marsha P. Johnson on June 27, 1969. In the 52 years since, the march, which remains the headlining event in an exciting lineup of Pride activities and celebrations, is an annual civil rights demonstration that celebrates love and unity while recognizing the LGBTQ-IA+ community's "fight against AIDS and [remembering] those we have lost to illness, violence and neglect" (per NYCPride. org). As the march makes its way down Fifth Avenue and past the Stonewall National Monument, the broadcast features special celebrity appearances, performances and in-depth profiles of those who have made a difference in the community. This year, the grand marshals of the march include actress and TV personality Ts Madison ("The Ts Madison Experience"); comedian and writer Punkie Johnson ("Saturday Night Live"); educator, author and athlete Schuyler Bailar; artist, activist and executive director of The Okra Project, Dominique Morgan; and Chase Strangio, deputy director for transgender justice with the ACLU's LGBTQ & HIV Project. Angelica Ross ("Pose") also returns as a special performer and as a broadcast co-host alongside WABC's Ken Rosato, Lauren Glassberg and Sam Champion.

WHAT'S NEW ON NETFLIX

"Beauty" (2022)

Come along for the ride with the new romantic drama film "Beauty," available Wednesday, June 29, on Netflix. From award-winning writer and producer Lena Waithe ("Twenties") and director Andrew Dosunmu ("Mother of George," 2013), this coming-of-age story follows a talented young singer named Beauty (Gracie Marie Bradley, "Pearl," 2020), who is on the brink of a successful career with her supportive and devoted girlfriend. Jasmine (Aleyse Shannon, "Leverage: Redemption"), by her side. It isn't long, however, until Beauty is met with the harsh realities of pop stardom and she struggles to remain authentic to herself and to her art in the face of fame and fortune. The film's outstanding ensemble cast includes Niecy Nash ("Claws"), Giancarlo Esposito ("Breaking Bad"), Sharon Stone ("Casino," 1995), Kyle Bary ("Our Kind of People"), Michael Ward ("Top Boy"), Sarah Stavrou ("White Men Can't Jump, 1992) and James Urbaniak ("American Splendor," 2003).

"Chip and Potato: Chip's Holiday"

Get away for some fun in the sun with the new summer special "Chip and Potato: Chip's Holiday," landing Monday, June 27, on Netflix. Following the adventures of 4-year-old pug Chip (voiced by Abigail Journey Oliver, "Top Wing") and her mouse friend Potato (Andrea Libman, "My Little Pony: Friendship Is Magic"), the "Chip and Potato" computer-animated series sees the friends take their first steps towards independence in kindergarten. Now, in this new special, it's time for a family vacation! Chip and Potato do their best to enjoy their beach holiday, but falling coconuts put a damper on their plans. With the help of some new friends, Chip and Potato hatch a plan to fix their coconut problem once and for all. Written by "Teletubbies'" Maddy Darrall, Billy Macqueen and Catherine Williams, "Chip and Potato: Chip's Holiday" also voice stars Briana Buckmaster ("Supernatural"), Brian Dobson ("Monster Beach") and Chance Hurstfield ("A Million Little Things").

Everyone's favorite friendly inflatable robot is back in the new computer-animated series "Baymax!," premiering on Disney+ Wednesday, June 29. A seguel series to the 2014 hit film "Big Hero 6," Baymax (voiced by Scott Adsit, "30 Rock") is working outside the superhero team to fulfill his program's purpose of helping others. As he takes on health-care jobs around the city of San Fransokyo, Baymax ends up on a series of adorable and hilarious adventures in an attempt to improve the lives of everyone he meets. Created and written by "Big Hero 6" director Don Hall, "Baymax!" is directed by Dan Abraham ("Once Upon a Snowman," 2020), Mark Kennedy ("Zootopia," 2016), Lissa Treiman ("Wreck-It Ralph," 2012) and Dean Wellins ("Raya and the Last Dragon," 2021). Ryan Potter ("Titans"), Maya Rudolph ("Saturday Night Live"), Emily Kuroda ("Gilmore Girls"), Lilimar ("Bella and the Bulldogs"), Zeno Robinson ("Pokémon") amd Jaboukie Young-White ("Fairfax") also voice star in the series.

WHAT'S NEW ON PRIME

"The Terminal List" - Season 1

Get to the bottom of a new mystery with Prime's newest action-thriller series "The Terminal List," premiering on the streamer Friday, July 1. Chris Pratt ("Guardians of the Galaxy," 2014) leads the series as Cmdr. James Reece, a Navy SEAL who's just returned home after his entire platoon was ambushed during a high-stakes covert mission. Determined to discover why his platoon was attacked, Reece's mission becomes all the more urgent when he learns new dark forces are working against him and endangering his loved ones. Based on the novel of the same name by Jack Carr, "The Terminal List" is adapted for the screen by David DiGilio ("Strange Angel") and directed by Frederick E.O. Toye ("The Boys"), Sylvain White ("The Rookie"), M.J. Bassett ("Solomon Kane," 2009), Antoine Fugua ("The Magnificent Seven," 2016), Tucker Gates ("Ray Donovan") and Ellen Kuras ("The Umbrella Academy"). The series cast is rounded out by Jared Shaw ("The Tomorrow War," 2021), Constance Wu ("Crazy Rich Asians," 2018), Taylor Kitsch ("Friday Night Lights"), Riley Keough ("Mad Max: Fury Road," 2015), Arlo Mertz ("Mank," 2020), Jeanne Tripplehorn ("The Gilded Age"), LaMonica Garrett ("1883"), Tyner Rushing ("Under the Banner of Heaven") and Nick Chinlund ("Training Day," 2001).

The new west: New frontiers explored in Season 4 of 'Westworld'

By Joshua Amy

rom its very first episode, "Westworld" has captivated viewers with the promise that "violent delights have violent ends." Over its three seasons to date, HBO's science fiction epic has fulfilled this promise and more. After two years, the promise of new worlds, the return of old friends and even higher stakes, fans are already theorizing where the series will take them next.

Prepare to be dazzled once again when Season 4 of "Westworld" premieres Sunday, June 26, on HBO and HBO Max.

First launched in 2016, "Westworld" is the nine-time Emmywinning prestige TV adaptation of Michael Crichton's 1973 film of the same name – think "Jurassic Park" but with robot cowboys instead of dinosaurs. HBO's adaptation flips the script, however, and follows the perspective of the futuristic theme park's main attraction, its artificially intelligent hosts. The dark twist of the series is that Westworld is a playground for the ultra-wealthy to act out their darkest, most violent fantasies. During its three-season run, audiences have seen the hosts progress from the punching bags of the elite to self-aware freedom fighters working to emancipate themselves from humanity's control.

Central to this struggle is Delores (Evan Rachel Wood, "Across the Universe," 2007), a host who was pro-against humankind are Maeve grammed as the archetypal rancher's daughter with a gentle soul. The first (Thandiwe Newton, "Mission: Impossible II," 2000) and Bernard (Jeffrey to gain sentience and retain memories of the actions inflicted upon her, Delo-Wright, "The Batman," 2022). Maeve is a host assigned to play res spreads the malicious code, the role of madam in the town's thus granting consciousbrothel, but she is plagued by ness to her fellow memories of a past life with hosts and raising her daughter. Maeve's a bloody request to find her bellion. daughter becomes Running her driving force in opposiand leads to her tion to tenuous alliance Delowith humanity res's against Delores in cruexchange for her lost sade child. Bernard, on the other hand, is a park technician who discovers he is, in fact, a host. He struggles to reconcile his humanity with this realization. Season 3 saw Maeve and Delores reach the real world, a future version of Los Angeles that's equal parts beautiful and bleak. Hell-bent on revenue and armed with the central cores of key host intelligences, Delores sets her plan to overthrow humanity into motion.

Placing a copy of herself in the body of high-level park executive Charlotte (Tessa Thompson, "Annihilation," 2018) and recruiting disaffected former mercenary Caleb (Aaron Paul, "Breaking Bad"), Delores sets her sights on the A.I. secretly steering humanity away from self-destruction. Without giving too much away, after a shift in alliances, Maeve aligns with Caleb and Delores and joins the fight to destabilize the society that harmed

This latest season appears to be upping the ante even further, although specifics about the story are scant.

The Season 4 poster features an homage to Michelangelo's "The Creation of Adam" — two robotic arms reaching for one another with a human skull stuck in the way. The tagline reads "Adapt or die," hinting at a further escalation in the "dark odyssey about the fate of sentient life on Earth."

Wood will be playing a new role this season, stepping away from Delores's "violent delights" to play a young writer known only as Christina. Joining the cast as Christina's roommate is Academy Award-winning actress Ariana DeBose ("West Side Story," 2021). Fans of the series — which is notorious for its myriad shocking plot twists and complicated storylines — are already speculating on Christina's significance and whether she's another version of Delores.

Tessa Thompson stars in "Westworld"

Further complicating matters in an already confusing story, the copy of Delores inhabiting Charlotte's body declared her independence from the original at the end of last season, leaving both her motivations and the fate of Delores's ultimate plan unclear.

"Westworld's" run has seen quite the accumulation of notable stars, the most iconic being Anthony Hopkins ("The Silence of the Lambs," 1991) throughout its first two seasons as park founder Robert Ford.

James Marsden ("Dead to Me") also returns for Season 4, after his character, the do-gooding gunslinger Teddy, was killed off in the second season. Season 4 also stars Ed Harris ("The Truman Show," 1998), Luke Hemsworth ("Neighbours"), Angela Sarafyan ("Reminiscence," 2021) and Daniel Wu ("Into the Badlands").

A trailer for the new season has shown snippets of an apparent return to the park that started it all, as well as breadcrumbs for potential new locales. Already, the series has divulged quite the portfolio of Delos' theme parks, including Warworld, Shogunworld (a fan favorite) and The Raj. A few clips from the trailer now seem to suggest a Prohibition-era, mafia-themed addition to the robot fantasy vacation destinations may be in the cards.

Series co-creator Lisa Joy ("Reminiscence," 2021) told Deadline that Season 4 will be, in a word, an "inversion," and that promise of a shake-up will certainly have fans dusting off their spurs ahead of the new season. Because, after two years without any good, old-fashioned robot cowboy action, viewers are ready for more.

Saddle up (or maybe just find a comfy spot on the couch) and tune in to the Season 4 premiere of "Westworld," airing Sunday, June 26, on HBO and HBO Max.

Ser'Darius Blain and Heather Hemmens in "Caribbean Summer"

The Matrix Resurrections HBO 11:45 a.m.

This latest addition to the Matrix franchise finds Neo living as Thomas Anderson (Keanu Reeves) 60 years after the events of the last film. When Anderson stops taking his prescribed blue pills, he finds himself thrust into the matrix once again.

Caribbean Summer HALL 3:00 p.m.

Heather Hemmens stars as a news producer who falls victim to a rental scam in this new Hallmark romance film set in the Caribbean. While her vacation got off to a bad start, she begins having fun when she meets the rental's real owner (Ser'Darius Blain).

Naked and Afraid pisc 4:00 p.m.

This reality series presents survivalists with greater challenges than they've ever known as they pair up with a complete stranger, surrender their Earthly possession (including their clothes) and head out into the Costa Rican rainforest for 21 days.

The Martian FX 7:00 p.m.

Matt Damon stars as an astronaut who finds himself stranded on Mars in this sci-fi film from director Ridley Scott. Now, he is must use limited supplies and his own ingenuity in order to survive and get back home. Jessica Chastain and Sean Bean also star.

Pulp Fiction show 10:05 p.m.

Directed by Quentin Tarantino, this cult classic non-linearly follows two hit men, played by John Travolta and Samuel L. Jackson, as they cross paths with the likes of gangsters, boxers and petty criminals. Bruce Willis and Uma Thurman also star.

Sunday bestbets

Ty Pennington, Mina Starsiak-Hawk, Taniya Nayak, Mike Holmes and Alison Victoria in "Battle on the Beach"

Duncanville

72 KOAM2 14 KFJX 8:00 p.m.

Amy Poehler and Wiz Khalifa lend their voices to back-to-back new episodes of this adult animated series following the misadventures of a teenage boy named Duncan (Poehler) who dreams of making it big as an adult — without having to don a suit and tie.

Dark Winds AMC 8:00 p.m.

Based on the mystery books by Tony Hillerman, this new psychological thriller follows 1970s Navaho police officers Leaphorn (Zahn McClarnon) and Chee (Kiowa Gordon) as they work to solve a grizzly double homicide case. Rainn Wilson also stars.

Battle on the Beach HGTV 8:00 p.m.

With just three challenges left, each of the teams is eager to increase the value of their respective homes in this new episode of the shocking renovation series. They all have an opportunity to get creative and colorful as they redesign the kids' rooms.

Beachside Brawl FOOD 9:00 p.m.

Antonia Lofaso hosts the second episode of this brand new competition series. Chefs Tiffani Faison and Brooke Williamson kick things off with a one-on-one battle before leading their teams as they make their coast's version of a budget seafood feast.

I Love a Mama's Boy rtc 9:00 p.m.

It's a battle of the moms and the girlfriends in a new episode of this reality series, when a group of five long-suffering girlfriends find their relationships threatened by their partners' overbearing mothers. The couples work to set personal boundaries.

Chasing a dream: 'Me or the Menu' shows reality of couple-preneurs

James Martin and Jessica Neal from "Me or the Menu"

By Michelle Rose

TV Media

According to a recent LendingTree study, military and health-care support are the only two fields of work that had higher incidences of divorce than the food service industry.

Low wages and unpredictable shifts help explain why bartenders and wait staff topped the list of occupations with the highest divorce rates in the U.S. (4.34% and 3.40% respectively, compared to the national rate of 1.6%), but with roughly 60% of independent restaurants failing within the first three years of business, restaurant owners are also under a lot of pressure. That stress often spills over into their personal lives — especially if their business partner and their life partner are one and the same.

A topic not often explored on TV, save for an occasional episode of a "Kitchen Nightmares"-type show, this lifestyle stress is front and center in a new docuseries premiering Thursday, June 30, on Food Network and discoverv+.

From the producers of TLC's "90 Days Fiancé," "Me or the Menu" is an intimate look at the lives of four couples trying to beat the odds while chasing their dreams in the hospitality industry. Their stories shed light on some of the obstacles, conflicts and stressors that can affect relationships inside and outside the kitchen.

Finances have caused friction between rising culinary star James Martin and wife Jessica Neal, the latter of whom has been keeping them afloat by working two jobs. Food truck operator Kathleen Murray, meanwhile, needs the support of fiancé Nate Albert to make her restaurant plans a reality, but his mistakes during an event end up driving a wedge in their relationship.

Other contestants Randi Lee and Jeanette Zinno hit "pause" on their life plans to focus on the restaurant, but now that Jeanette can step back, Randi wonders what he'll do without her. Finally, Nicole Baldwin and boyfriend Alan Yuhanna struggle with power dynamics while planning a pop-up to test their vegan restaurant concept.

Regardless of their stage in the restaurateur journey, all four couples feel the stress of juggling two partnerships at once. Sadly, such tales of struggle, sacrifice and success are all too common in the industry; by bringing these stories to the forefront, "Me or the Menu" may better prepare would-be couple-preneurs for that tough, but potentially rewarding, startup period.

"Me or the Menu" premieres Thursday, June 30, on Food Network and discovery+.

Small town, big problems

Hoechlin, Tulloch wrap up second season of 'Superman & Lois'

By Dana Simpson TV Media

After one last hiatus of the season (this one just one week long), fans are excitedly waiting for "Superman & Lois" to return; the series' second-season finale airs Thursday, June 28, on CW. Aptly titled "Waiting for Superman," fans are hoping the finale will answer a few questions and give a few hints for what's next in store for the Man of Steel and his family.

Already renewed for a third season by its CBS-owned home network, "Superman & Lois" follows the titular couple, played by Tyler Hoechlin ("Teen Wolf") and Elizabeth "Bitsie" Tulloch ("Grimm"), as they move back to Clark Kent's, aka Superman, hometown of Smallville, Kansas, to continue raising their family. When Clark loses his job and his mother on the same day, the Kents take over the farmhouse where Clark grew up, hoping it will be the perfect place for their sons to grow up, too.

While Clark and Lois first keep their secret from their sons, Jonathan (Jordan Elsass, "Little Fires Everywhere") and Jordan (Alex Garfin, "The Peanuts Movie," 2015), it becomes clear that Jonathan is developing powers of his own. As a result, it isn't long before Clark must tell his own children that he is Superman and train them to be prepared for their own futures has half-alien humans.

Season 1 proved an immense success — which should come as no surprise to anyone who is familiar with the current slate of superhero TV shows, the 2001-2017 series "Smallville," led by Tom Welling ("Lucifer") or, indeed, the '90s TV sensation "Lois & Clark: The New Adventures of Superman," starring Dean Cain ("Masters of Illusion") and Teri Hatcher ("Desperate Housewives") — and through threats both human and otherworldly, the Kent/Lanes always managed to come out on top.

Now, in Season 2, relationships evolve on all fronts as Lois runs the Smallville Gazette alongside Editorin-Chief Chrissy Beppo (Sofia Hasmik, "All the Bright Places," 2020), secrets threaten Jordan and Sarah's (Inde Navarrette, "13 Reasons Why") blossoming relationship, and Jonathan grapples with inconsistent powers as he plays for his high school football team. To make matters worse, Clark and Lois are going through some troubles of their own.

Other troubles plaguing the Kent/ Lanes and the citizens of Smallville range from Ally Allston (Rya Kihlstedt, "A Teacher"), whom Superman followed through a portal, and the Inverse Society to which she has connection. (Lois vowed to look further into their dealings as a part of an investigative piece with Chrissy for the paper.)

But without a doubt the most concerning issue across this season has been Clark's visions.

Beginning in the Season 2 premiere, Clark started seeing frightening flashes signaling an unspecified event, presumably in the future (or Earth-Prime's future, anyway). And while his visions, confirmed to be connected to an onslaught of recent earthquakes, were first thought to indicate the arrival of the supervillain Doomsday, this season's third episode revealed another threat entirely: Bizarro.

Tyler Hoechlin in "Superman & Lois"

Since then, Superman has been fighting Bizarro (also played by Hoechlin) while encountering doppelgängers as well as alternate timelines and universes — all in a way only CW's Arrowverse can.

As of writing, there has been no sign of the previously expected Doomsday, though just because he hasn't shown up yet, it doesn't mean he never will.

Thanks to a comment made early on this season by "Superman & Lois" showrunner Todd Helbing ("The Flash"), many fans are still expecting an appearance from the deadly prehistoric Kryptonion. While some speculate that he may be brought forth by Bizarro himself, others foresee an alliance between Bizarro and Superman should the villain appear this season (or next) in Smallville.

"There's so much lore [and] mythology in the Superman universe that we feel it's our obligation to tell a unique story," Helbing said of the show's process. "We take inspirations from the comics as much as possible, and then we try to twist it. We did the same thing here."

While, at the time, that comment seemed only to signal one thing — the imminent arrival of Krypton's chaotic creature — the events of this season to date have proven that there is rarely just one option when it comes to pending doom and danger.

"In a way, there are certain rules with Superman," Hoechlin said in an interview with EW.com. "There are certain rules with Clark. ... With [Bizarro], there aren't really any rules."

Hoechlin's comment is perhaps a scary prospect to the townsfolk of Smallville, but to viewers, it may well serve as a beacon of hope for a great finale. In a land where no one knows what to expect, the potential outcomes are, essentially, limitless.

If only fans had some of Clark's visions to help them out ...

Don't miss the Season 2 finale of "Superman & Lois" when it airs Thursday, June 28, on CW. Who knows, it could mark the arrival of a new villain.

Pittsburg Morning Sun

MONDAY PRIME TIME A - Cov - Pittshurg: D1 - Dish Network: D2 - DirecTV

Monday bestbets

Jeanine Mason stars in "Roswell, New Mexico"

Roswell, New Mexico (E)2 KFJX2 7:00 p.m.

Liz's (Jeanine Mason) work to find out more about a found skin sample hits a roadblock in this new episode, while Michael (Michael Vlamis) continues to gain Bonnie's (Zoe Cipres) trust. Clyde (Andrew Lees), however, may not be so easily persuaded.

American Ninja Warrior (13) KSNF 7:00 p.m.

Another round of this intense physical competition series continues its 14th season. The ninjas take on several different obstacles (and each other) in order to remain in the running for their shot at the $100,000 prize. Matt Iseman host the action.

BBQ Brawl FOOD 8:00 p.m.

The three finalists have one last chance to prove themselves worthy of the title of Master of 'Cue in this new episode. As they go all out to impress the judges, they face unexpected curveballs. Chefs Bobby Flay, Anne Burrell and Jet Tila host.

Breeders

FX 9:00 p.m.

Jim (Alun Armstrong) and Jackie (Joanna Bacon) are both struggling under their new circumstances in this new episode. Meanwhile, Luke (Alex Eastwood) has to choose between Jacob (Jordan A. Nash) and Ruby (Isabel Rose Stewart). Martin Freeman stars.

Seeking Sister Wife TLC 9:00 p.m.

India is unsure about Bine and puts new limitations on Marcus in the newest episode of this reality series. Meanwhile, Brenda feels more like a third wheel than a sister wife and Sidian leaves for the Philippines, hoping to finally meet Arielle.

Ethan, Olivia, Moriah and Micah Plath from "Welcome to Plathville"

The Real Housewives of Miami

BRAVO 7:00 p.m.

The ladies of Miami reunite in New York City to go over all the drama from the past season in this two-part reunion special. Debate sparks immediately when Nicole shows off her engagement ring, as the group discusses Larsa's "out of wedlock" comment.

Tom Swift

122 KFJX2 8:00 p.m.

Tian Richards stars as billionaire inventor Tom Swift in this "Nancy Drew" spinoff. After his father disappears, Tom is sent on an adventure full of scificonspiracies and unexplained phenomena. Kenneth Trujillo and Ashleigh Murray also star.

Supermarket Stakeout FOOD 9:00 p.m.

Back-to-back new episodes of this competition begin as host Alex Guarnaschelli challenges the chefs to make beach vacation dishes. While most are onboard, one chef completely misses the boat. Later, they head to the Midwest to learn about comfort food.

Dancing With Myself (15) KSNF 9:00 p.m.

Inspired by the many viral dance routines on social media, this new competition series sees everyday people compete in a series of highenergy dance challenges while adding their own personality. Nick Jonas, Liza Koshy and Shakira act as judges.

Welcome to Plathville TLC 9:00 p.m.

The Plaths of South Georgia are a staunch Christian family of technophobes with nine children who have never heard of Spider-Man, watched television or tasted soda. The series follows how this sheltered family changes as the kids grow older.

16 June 25 - July 1, 2022 Pittsburg Morning Sun

Wednesday bestbets

Dr. Brad and Dr. Ebonie from "My Feet Are Killing Me"

The Real Housewives of Beverly Hills BRAVO 6:00 p.m.

An episode of this hit reality show follows the lavish lifestyles of some of L.A.'s most affluent women and their drama. Lisa Rinna, Kyle Richards, Erika Jayne, Dorit Kemsley, Garcelle Beauvais, Crystal Kung Minkoff and Sutton Stracke star this season.

MasterChef

72 KOAM2 14 KFJX 7:00 p.m.

The top 18 returning contestants travel to the U.S. Coast Guard Base in Los Angeles for their first team challenge in this new episode. They must work collaboratively to create a hearty and delicious lunch for more than 100 brave women and men.

Wellington Paranormal 442 KFJX2 8:00 p.m.

Season 3 of this otherworldly cop comedy continues as Sgt. Maaka (Maaka Pohatu) and Officers Minogue (Mike Minogue) and O'Leary (Karen O'Leary), members of the Wellington, New Zealand, police department, investigate paranormal phenomena around the city.

Guy's Grocery Games FOOD 8:00 p.m.

Guy Fieri hosts this original cooking series set in a grocery store. Four talented chefs compete against one another across three intense challenges, using only the items they have been able to snag from amid the aisles of the shop they are in.

My Feet Are Killing Me τις 8:00 p.m.

Dr. Ebonie Vincent, Dr. Brad Schaeffer and Dr. Sarah Haller take on the sometimes fungal — and often funky — foot problems of their patients.

Shining a light on podiatric conditions, the doctors show how these can be treated and prevented.

Fantastic Beasts: Secrets of Dumbledore

Professor Albus Dumbledore (Law) knows he has to stop the powerful dark wizard Gellert Grindelwald (Mikkelsen), who wants to take over the wizarding world, but he can't do it alone. Dumbledore enlists Magizoologist Newt Scamander (Redmayne) to help him and, together, they lead an intrepid team of wizards, witches and a Muggle baker on a dangerous mission. As they clash with Grindelwald's legion of followers and work desperately to protect a rare creature, it's only a matter of time before Dumbledore can no longer remain on the sidelines and has to join the fight.

Director: David Yates. Stars: Eddie Redmayne, Jude Law, Ezra Miller, Dan Fogler, Alison Sudol, Callum Turner, Jessica Williams, Katherine Waterston, Mads Mikkelsen. 2022. 143 mins. Adventure/Fantasv.

The Worst Person in the World

Jule (Reinsve) is not what one would generally refer to as a committed person. About to turn 30, she decides to change her college major and break up with her long-term boyfriend. Now that she is free to pursue seemingly endless possibilities in the world, she finds herself wavering over artistic passions and professions, wondering about motherhood and navigating relationships with two different men — one a successful comic book artist (Lie) and the other a charismatic barista (Nordrum). All of this, she hopes, will give her the answers she seeks regarding her identity and capacity for happiness.

Director: Joachim Trier. Stars: Renate Reinsve, Anders Danielsen Lie, Herbert Nordrum, Hans Olav Brenner, Maria Grazia Di Meo. 2021. 128 minutes. Comedy/Drama.

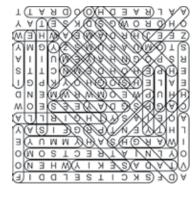

See For Me

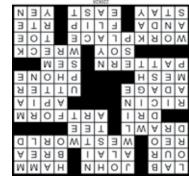

Sophie (Davenport), a blind woman, is cat-sitting in a secluded mansion when she finds herself to be the victim of a home invasion by thieves looking for a hidden safe. The only way she can defend herself is by using a phone app called "See For Me," which connects her to a volunteer across the country who will act as her eyes and, in this case, hopefully help her survive. Thankfully, Sophie is connected to Kelly (Kennedy), an army veteran who spends her days playing first-person shooter games. Still, if she wants to survive the night, Sophie will need all the help she can get. Director: Randall Okita. Stars: Skyler Davenport, Jessica Parker Kennedy, Laura Vandervoort, Kim Coates, Keaton Kaplan, George Tchortov. 2021. 92 minutes. Crime/ Drama.
