PELLA — Kevin Wellman's voice cracked with emotion as he went through the final team meeting of the season. Behind the Fort Madison boys soccer coach was the loud celebration he was hoping his team would get. The 3-0 loss to Pella in Wednesday's Class 2A substate final marked the second consecutive year the Bloodhounds fell to the Dutch, one step short of the state tournament. "I was happy to be around these young men all season long," Wellman said. "A really fun group to be around. They work hard, play hard, have a lot of fun, they have a lot of respect for each other, for me, for the coaching staff, for the people around them. Winning and losing soccer games is kind of trivial compared to those kinds of things." Pella (17-2), ranked eighth in Class 2A, is the top seed in next week's state tournament. The Dutch won last season's matchup with three goals in penalty kicks after the two teams were scoreless through two halves and two overtimes. This time, two first-half goals had the Bloodhounds scrambling after Pella withstood several attacks by Fort Madison in the opening minutes. Max Lauman's goal with 13:24 to play in the first half put Pella up 1-0, then Isaac Semini's header off a corner kick from Teddy Apostolopoulos with 4:40 to play pushed the lead to 2-0. "They were quality goals," Wellman said. "The second one, for sure, we couldn't do anything about it. It was a very

Bill passes for year-round open enroll

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

LEE COUNTY — An 11th hour passage of a bill that eliminates the annual open enrollment deadline in Iowa's public schools drew criticism from county public school leaders Wednesday.

The final version of the bill was introduced Tuesday night in the House and the Senate to allow open enrollment transfers from one public school to any other public school at any time during the school year if there's room available at the accepting school.

The bill still requires the signature of Gov. Kim Reynolds. Republican legislators were unable to rally enough votes to pass one of Reynolds' top priorities which was an effort to establish scholarships using some state funds to pay for private school expenses.

State Rep. Martin Graber said the open enrollment issue kind of came out of nowhere but was spurred by a video that got around the capital building about a transgender party held in Ankeny on a Sunday on public school property.

"Some administrator somewhere authorized that and it needs to be investigated," Graber said.

He also referenced a transgender policy in place in the Linn-Mar school district that allows a student to declare what gender they identify with as early as seventh grade and parents aren't required to be notified.

Graber said those types of allowances in public schools hit at the heart of the new bill in front of the governor.

"Why this makes sense to me is now you have the March 1 (deadline), and you have the Ankeny thing that just happened. I'm past March 1 so I can't change anything. My kids are now

JULIE A. MUNOZ

Julie Ann Muñoz, 77, of Fort Madison, IA passed away on May 19, 2022 at her daughter's home in Iowa City, IA after a long illness. She was in the care of her family and the staff of St. Croix Hospice of Cedar Rapids, IA.

Julie was born on August 22, 1944 in LaSalle, IL, the daughter of Ysidoro and Mary Casillas Atilano. She married John Muñoz on October 9, 1967 and was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Fort Madison. She was employed at Sheaffer Pen and the Fort Madison Nursing Home over the course of her professional career, but her full-time job was that of a hard-working mother and wife. She enjoyed gardening and spending time outdoors, but her biggest passion was her dedication to her grandchildren, providing loving care and supporting them in all of their extracurricular activities. She was famous for her hugs, and those weren't just reserved for family. Known for her bottomless well of sass and her skill in the kitchen, her bad jokes and good cooking will be missed by all.

Julie is survived by her husband, John; two daughters Denise (Brendan Tebbs) Muñoz of Aurora, IL and Tammy (Tad) Hulst of Iowa City, IA; two sons, Muñoz Jr. of Eagan, MN, and Marty (Wendy) Muñoz of Davenport, IA; and seven grandchildren – Kendyl, Rebecca, Alex, Justin, Ryan, Kellen and Kayla, also numerous nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her parents, five brothers and two sisters.

The Muñoz family will host a visitation for Julie at 10 A.M. on Monday, May 23 at Sacred Heart Church in Fort Madison, IA. A funeral mass will then begin at 11 A.M. with Father Joseph Phung officiating. Burial will follow in Oakland Cemetery. King-Lynk Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

In lieu of flowers, please consider making a donation in Julie's memory to St. Jude's Children's Hospital or University of Iowa's Stead Family Children's Hospital, two causes that were very dear to Julie. Online condolences may be left at www.kinglynk.com.

From the Front

Open enrollment change could pinch districts budgets

locked into that school for another year," he said.

But Central Lee Superintendent Dr. Andy Crozier, whose district has seen success with open enrollment, said the bill creates budgeting and planning issues for all public schools.

"We have been successful, but we have to plan carefully. The March 1 deadline has helped us recognize when we have spikes in residency and open enrollment and we have to factor those in," Crozier said.

"It can be very challenging with Kindergarten classes where there's not much wiggle room to accept more open enrolled students."

SLATER

Crozier said he could see where the Central Lee district might have to put a policy in place to limit the number of students that open enroll now, because it's harder to see coming and more students would require additional teachers.

"Obviously there are challenges with the labor market in education. We can't just go hire a teacher at any level, they just aren't out there.

And putting an aide in a classroom doesn't help with the size issue either," he said.

"And thirdly, physical space becomes an issue as well. It will be the wild, wild west of public education and I have some doubts we can keep up with that. We're going to have put in a policy to control that.

"We may have to look at denying open enrollment at some point in the future."

Crozier said it also seems a bit odd that with the legislature recessed for more than 30 days because they couldn't come to terms on vouchers, during that time no legislator brought up the open enrollment deadline, no specifics on the bill were discussed, and no one reached out to school boards.

"To do those things in the middle of the night is not how good bills get passed."

Fort Madison Superintendent Dr. Erin Slater said she too isn't aware of any discussion or debate on the bill prior to its passage.

"To my knowledge, there wasn't any public discourse and was acted upon without notice or comment to advocacy groups, school districts, or the public," Slater said.

She said the bill doesn't give proper consideration to districts' budgets and how the enrollment changes can immediately impact those resources.

"When 80-85% of a school district's budget is spent staffing for classrooms and programming, adding a potential variable of enrollment fluctuations throughout the year is not best practice in allocating taxpayer dollars," Slater said.

"This could potentially impact the stability of a child's education if students are open enrolled and then un-open enrolled throughout the year."

District 100 State Representative candidate Rebecca Bowker (D-Fort Madison), who will oppose Graber in November, called the move partisan politics.

"It does not surprise anyone that there was no inclusiveness or public debate on this topic. This is a pattern of behavior that needs to stop. It will only be rectified with votes in November," Bowker wrote in a text to Pen City Current.

"Open enrollment deadlines are in place so schools can adequately prepare budgets and adjust staffing levels. This is another attack on schools, that will ultimately affect small school systems."

Attempts to reach Sen. Jeff Reichman (R-Montrose), who also voted in favor of the measure, were unsuccessful as of this posting.

Shut out ends FM season

well-played corner, just a beautiful one-touch. That always takes the wind out of your sails. Now you're thinking you've got to get two goals to stay in the match. But we still played hard. We were still fighting for it. We knew one (goal) gets the momentum going, another one you're tied up, another one and you've got the game.

"We played really good in the first 10 minutes. We had them on the ropes, but they weathered the storm. And then momentum shifted. We had opportunities, they had opportunities, they were just able to capitalize on three of them."

Fort Madison had two good scoring chances early in the second half. Henry Graham had a shot go wide eight minutes into the half, then Nathen Bowen had a header that hit off the top of the net.

Pella then put the match away on Levi Van Dusseldorp's goal with 22:18 to play.

The Bloodhounds finished 14-6 in a season when they lost to Jacob Pothitakis and Xander Wellman, two of their top offensive players, to knee injuries. Wellman, wearing a brace on his right knee, was able to play limited minutes in the final two substate games.

"The adversity was one of the things we talked about," Kevin Wellman said. "I'm proud of the way we responded to the adversity. Two major, major players tearing their ACLs, that's a huge setback. We made some adjustments, tactically moved some players around. And these men responded.

"These guys came out every day with a smile on their face. I'm happy to know in the future, when they face adversity, whether it's on the sports field or in the classroom or on the job, they'll be ready for it."

Fort Madison won the Southeast Conference title, sweeping the 10 matches.

"There were several goals we met," Wellman said. "So, yeah, great season."
