ISP reports third officer assault since July

Inmate sent to UIHC for medical treatment after attack

BY PCC STAFF

FORT MADISON – According to a statement released Thursday night by the Iowa State Penitentiary, the prison is currently on restricted movement following an assault on an officer this afternoon.

The statement, released by Curt Overton of the Iowa Dept. of Corrections, indicated a staff member was assaulted by an inmate at the Iowa State Penitentiary in Fort Madison at approximately 2:45 p.m. Thursday afternoon.

The staff member, a correctional officer, was conducting a search of an inmate's cell when the inmate attempted to strike the officer with closed fists. The officer that was attacked, as well as another officer that was in the area, quickly took control of the situation.

The staff member was assessed by institution medical professionals for scratches and bruises that occurred from the incident. He returned to his post after his medical evaluation.

The inmate that attacked the staff member was trans-

FORT MADISON - With the below-freezing weather lately, Fort Madison Hy-Vee was the place to be Thursday while the Crime Stoppers held their annual chili fundraiser.

From 5 p.m. -7 p.m., the Lee County Crime Stoppers held their second annual chili fundraiser at the grocery in both Fort Madison and Keokuk. The proceeds from the fundraiser are used for expenses and criminal payouts as a way to reward citizens who communicate criminal activity through Crime Stoppers. Information communicated through the group must lead to an arrest and conviction before Crime

Stoppers issues a payment.

The minimum award the local group pays out is $100, but rewards can be up to $1,000 for higher profile crime reporting.

Both deputies from the Lee County Sheriff's office and Fort Madison police officers and reserves were present at the event to serve and seat customers.

A committee oversees the fundraiser operations, which is headed Bryor McMillen.

"We don't really have a goal (of money to raise), just anything that the community is willing to give is welcome," McMillen said.

He encouraged local residents to keep an eye out

Area students art in display at FMAAA

BY BRIAN RIGGS
FMAAA Director

FORT MADISON - The Budding Artist Exhibition is ready for visual action at FMAAA gallery.

This exhibition previews the talents of artistic growth activated in the art education portals of our local school systems. Reception for the K-8 students will occur January 20th from 2-4pm. Farmers Savings Bank is the sponsor for this year's exhibition.

The weather created some roadblocks for the collection from HTC, Central Lee, and Ft. Madison Public, as the annual Xmas break was extended. But, as you will see, so worth the wait! Last years tally at 425 art projects was impressive, but at 700+ works an astounding montage to your local talent pool is reflected.

This has traditionally been one of the most packed receptions of the year. It seems Jack Frost is an art fan as will be cooling his jets this Saturday for this family fun celebration of art talent housed at 825 Avenue G. Enjoy reception treats from HyVee with your family members while touring this collective entourage of kid's artistic excellence.

With this many examples of student art work, pieces are literally hung from ceiling to floor. FMAAA can pull the piece from the montage for photo opportunities. Young artists have enjoyed the shot alongside carousel carved horse, Kenny Krogmeier's passing donation to FMAAA, annually let out of the barn for this utilization.

Have never seen so many examples of projects from kindergarten age with over 60 works from Central Lee, Ft. Madison, and HTC. Nothing like starting the next for criminal activity and said if residents see something they should say something.

The chili supper is held yearly at both Fort Madison and Keokuk locations.

"It's just a friendly competition between two communities to see who can raise the most money," McMillen said.

McMillen also mentioned that the Crime Stoppers would be sure to continue on with the chili supper annually, and that anyone interested can get more information about it on the group's Facebook page.

ported to University of Iowa Hospital and Clinics for further medical assistance.

This incident remains under investigation, and the penitentiary has been placed on "restricted movement" for the time being.

The assault is the third reported at the prison since July.

The attack comes just days before a fundraiser for officer Jesse Burgher who was stabbed multiple times by an inmate at ISP with two homemade weapons on Oct. 18, 2017. That fundraiser is set for Saturday from 11 a.m. to midnight at the LULAC Club in Fort Madison.

Another incident involving close to 50 inmates broke out on July 1 that resulted in a prolonged lockdown at the facility.

generation of creators out early! Typically give a projection of project types per grade. With 700+ cannot do it but instead will give you a sampling of one grade.

Third grade Richardson and Lincoln has an interesting trading card project with each student creating their own work in small scale. And they are riveting, expect them to have more trade value than Pokeman cards. Third graders at Holy Trinity each did their own individual take on clowns displaying emotion.

You can tell what those clowns are thinking! Central Lee third grade has flown the coop with a bird project nested upon a scratchboard background.

Maybe some Angry Birds?

That was sampling of one grade, come see the inspiring works at each grade level this month.

This show is special due to the educators involved. Thanks always to such a talented crew of regional art educators: Mrs. Kaity Price, Mrs. Diane Mitchell, and Mrs. Amy Hellige for Ft. Madison public schools; Mrs. Ann Canida and Mrs. Jaime Jones for Central Lee; and Mrs. Lois de Prima and Mr. Steve Rung at Holy Trinity.

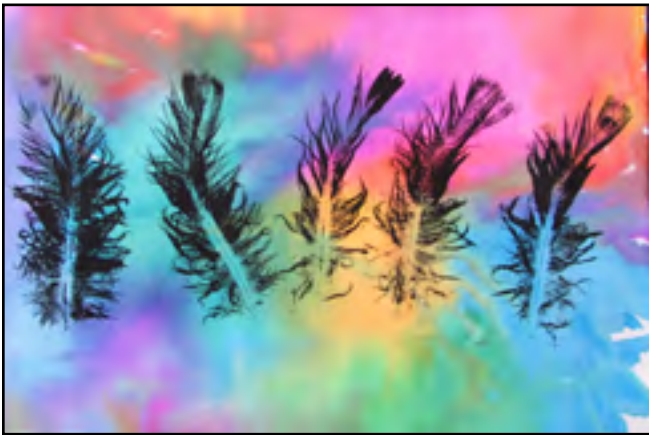

A special mention of recognition is certainly due to Lois, as she is leaving her role with Holy Trinity (which she began after retiring from Ft. Madison!).

Many, many years ago in the mighty C,B,&Q depot, Lois stopped by to see me to pitch the importance of a K-8 level art show at the gallery to represent developing creators in the school system.

Was so happy to have taken her advice as this annual (except when actually hanging the show) has been a consistent staple in the FMAAA menu of cultural achievement. It seems to improve year after year.

Be sure to see how Lois teams with her sister, Linda Hardy, for September Feature Exhibit in 2018. See how these talented Twins activate to form a myriad of mediums at FMAAA.

This "Feather Print" by Holy Trinity Catholic's Taylor Nelson is one of more than 700 displays by area students at the Budding Artists display currently running at the FMAAA.
