McCain murder trial starts today in Keokuk

FM man faces 1st-degree murder in death of Keokuk woman

PCC EDITOR

KEOKUK – The murder trial of a 25-year-old Fort Madison man is set to begin Tuesday morning at 9 a.m. in south Lee County Court.

Adam Golden McCain, 25, is charged with the stabbing death of CaLove Sackman, then 27, of Keokuk in February. The two had been in a relationship prior to the woman's death.

McCain is currently in the Lee County Jail on a $1 million cash bond.

Pretrial conferences wrapped up Monday in South Lee County Court in front of District 8B Chief Judge Mary Ann Brown.

In September, Brown ruled against McCain's efforts to have testimony given during his arrest on Feb. 5, stricken from the record. His attorney, James Beres out of the Burlington Public Defender's office, claimed investigators tricked McCain into giving incriminating information to officers as he spoke with a family member using one of the investigators' phones.

State law allows and requires those holding individuals in custody to be present when any phone calls are made during an arrest and subsequent questioning.

Lee County Attorney Ross Braden and 1st Asst. Jonathan Stensvaag are prosecuting the case for the state.

According to arrest records, McCain was arrested by Lee County Sheriff Joshua Wade during the late evening hours of Tuesday, Feb. 5. Wade had pulled in behind McCain's disabled vehicle and dispatchers matched the vehicle and description to a suspect Ke-

Candidates find own turf at forum

Bowker, Sorrentino differ on approach to priorities in 1st

FORT MADISON – Some separation was found Thursday during the City Council candidate forum held at City Hall.

BOWKER

At the evening forum hosted by Fort Madison Partners and the Daily Democrat, and moderated by Tri-State Public Radio's Jason Parrott, it was more commonly heard that the candidates agreed with each other more than had differing opinions.

In the contested race for the 1st Ward, Rebecca Bowker said she was a data driven candidate and would like to see the facts and figures on issues in front of the council before indicating where she would fall on issues facing the city.

"I will do what the constituents want with data-driven decisions and I plan on being available as much as I possible can to you in any fashion...I think it's important as elected officials that we have integrity, honesty, and follow a certain level of ethics and I feel really strongly and I plan on following that line," Bowker said.

But opponent Chris Sorrentino said the time for data driven analysis is over. Sorrentino said his hopes are to serve the people of the 1st Ward and everyone else in Fort Madison.

"I don't think that data driven is going to work anymore. We've been data driven for a couple decades and we're so far negative now it's not working. We need cold hard facts, we need money period. We need revenue, we need businesses and we need to make residents number 1. Data driven doesn't work anymore."

The only other contested race at the forum was for one At-Large seat between incumbent Kevin Rink and Jerry Hamelton.

Two other uncontested races are for the 5th and 3rd Wards. Chad Cangas is running unopposed for 5th Ward and wasn't in attendance. Twenty-one year old newcomer Tyler Miller was also in attendance and made his case for being elected despite not having an opponent.

OBITUARIES

STEPHEN TIBBITTS

Stephen Tibbitts went to be with Jesus Thursday Oct 3, 2019, in Granite Shoals, Texas. Stephen was born in New York, the second child to John and Helen Tibbitts. After high school, he attended the United States Air Force Academy and swam competitively all four years. He next attended medical school at Tulane University in New Orleans. He began his 20 year career in the Air Force in Biloxi, Mississippi where he met a captivating young nurse from Iowa named Diana DeGrange.

They were married September 6, 1980 and have three children. They were fortunate to spend four years stationed in Wiesbaden, Germany and travelled extensively throughout Europe. Upon his retirement from the Air Force, Steve worked 23 years as a private practice radiologist in Victoria, Texas. Steve volunteered at Parkway Church, coaching little league baseball, acted as swim team and soccer booster club presidents along with a host of other activities. He enjoyed the outdoors: biking, swimming, wind-surfing, snow-skiing, gardening, and spending time on Lake LBJ with his family and friends. Steve had just retired and was looking forward to more time with family, traveling with his wife, completing obedience class with his Australian shepherd puppy and his hobby of collecting and repairing antique clocks.

He is survived by his wife of 39 years, Diana and their children Jessica (Unruh, Zachary), Adam, and Luke. He has three grandchildren: Dylan, Harrison, and Sadie Unruh. He is also survived by his father and three siblings, Tibi, Connie, and Peter and their families. Steve has multiple brother-in-laws: David, Jeffery, and Eric DeGrange and their families.

He is preceded in death by his mother earlier this year and his in-laws, Elton and Bess DeGrange.

A Graveside Service will be held at 11:00 a.m. Saturday, October 19, 2019, at the Evangelical Cemetery in Donnellson, Iowa, with full military rites presented by the Donnellson American Legion Gillaspay Moodie Post #474.

The family asks for prayers for comfort and safe travels. Stephen has touched many lives and we anticipate lots of people traveling to celebrate his memory. We are thankful Stephen put his faith and trust in our Lord Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of sin and his salvation. We are greatly comforted that anyone who chooses to claim Jesus as Lord and Savior will see Stephen again someday in heaven.

Hamelton, Rink differ on city franchise tax idea

‘what does he know’ and at a certain point there is a learning curve, but I’m happy we have an experienced council here and I look forward to working with them.”

He gave all the other candidates his thanks for serving and running and said he looked to the work ahead.

Bowker said the council and city need to work as a cohesive team and that isn’t happening.

“Right now I see controversy and conflict and we aren’t going to make it if we divide ourselves.”

She said when the city overcomes that then budget issues can be tackled along with revenue generation and working as a team is the right way to get things done.

Sorrentino agreed the biggest challenge to the city is lack of revenue and he said the city needs to reach out to businesses and make it appealing to them. He said he’s had conversations with “big box” companies and if elected he would reach out to them and work to bring them in.

He said any cuts would have to exclude firefighters and police force.

“Won’t touch those. Cutting any staff would have to come at an extreme level. I don’t believe in cutting staff because you can’t come back from that and if you do it’s a massive challenge.”

Bowker said a franchise fee isn’t off the table, but she said her biggest concern is the impact it would have on the elderly. She said current plans would cost her about $6 a month. She said nuisance abatement fees and fines could be an additional source of revenue.

Sorrentino said any form of increased fees and taxes is something he wouldn’t support. And nuisance fees would cost the city more to collect than the revenue would generate.

“I don’t care if you want to dress it up and make it smell like roses and put a pink bow on it. Our citizens are paying their fair share and then some,”

he said.

Hamelton said it’s time for a change in the city.

“I think it’s time for a change and people recognize it’s time for changes. We need a new set of eyes and what we’ve been doing for the past four years is not working, obviously,” he said.

He suggested ordinances could be introduced that will resolve some of the conflict and future conflict that the next council or six councils down the road will incur, such as only the City Council can terminate a police chief or city council member.

“That would take away a lot of the flip-floppity things that are going on and all the controversy that is constantly hovering over the city,” Hamelton said.

“I see there’s a lot of problems financially and a lot of that’s not the fault of the council, it can be found everywhere. But I think there’s decisions that could be made with a little more thought as to our future and our kids’ future and having money left over for generations to come,” he said.

Hamelton also said introducing a franchise tax on residents is bad idea and was full-throated against any additional bonding or taxing.

“I think it is morally corrupt for a city to tax its citizen anymore than we are already taxing them. Trust me, if they could tax you more, they would,” he said.

“People are sick and tired of being taxed – and bonds. Enough is enough. They have to learn to spend the money they have and if that means one piece of the cake at a time, then that’s the way it’s gotta be,” he said.

Rink said he proposed a franchise tax years back and would like to take a different approach this year and garner more information.

“Hopefully that can increase some of our revenue here to us, but who it would be and how it would be structured, we haven’t broke the ice on that yet.”

Rink said local economic development groups would have insight and direction to help the city move forward.

Rink also said during his closing that he wanted to institute a Coffee with a Councilor round table where residents could come in once or twice a month and share concerns with council and city officials.

A forum featuring mayoral candidates Matt Mohrfeld and Rodney Hoskins II will be held Wednesday beginning at 6 p.m. at City Hall.

Central Lee beat Pekin 25-11, 25-9 and Mt. Pleasant 25-15, 25-16 and lost to HTC, and Burlington Notre Dame in three games 25-18, 14-25, 10-15.

Mya Merschman had 39 kills on the day to lead Central Lee. Abby Wellman was 32 of 34 serving with four aces and had 33 digs. Chloe Weber went 23 of 24 serving with 24 digs for the Lady Hawks.

Central Lee will host the Crusaders on Tuesday night before Class 3A Region 8 post season play kicks off Oct. 23 against West Burlington with the winner going up against No. 2 West Liberty on Oct. 29 at West Liberty.

The championship match for the right to go to state out of that region will be played Nov. 4 at Washington High School.

Holy Trinity will start post season action on Oct. 28 facing the winner of Winfield-Mt. Union/Burlington Notre Dame at Shottenkirk Gymnasium in Fort Madison. After the clash with Central Lee Tuesday, the Crusaders wrap up the regular season at the Mediapolis Invitational on Thursday.

Mediapolis is currently No. 2 in Class 2A and sports a sparkling 30-1 record with their only lost on Saturday to Iowa City Liberty at the Pella Invitational. They’ve lost just six games all year.

FMHS goes 3-1 at Durant Invite

BY PCC STAFF

DURANT – Fort Madison took three wins into the finals match against Maquoketa and came up short of the title at the Durant Invitational Saturday.

The Hounds downed Davenport West 21-11, 21-13 and then Grinnell 21-19, 21-15 before beating host Durant 21-8, 21-12 to advance to the title match against Maquoketa where they fell 16-21, 13-21 to end the day.

“We reduced our errors on the day and kept the ball in play. Our front row was able to get touches while blocking and which allowed us to set our defense. We served well throughout the day and put pressure on the serve receive the first three matches,” Head Coach Kent Bailey said.

“While playing Maquoketa we ran out of steam and their height bothered us. Overall, our kids played well. It was good seeing them gain confidence in our first match against Davenport West, and we built on that throughout the day.”

Westercamp goes for 141 loss

BY PCC STAFF

DONNELLSON – The Central Lee Hawks were shut out by Williamsburg until the final two minutes when Dalton Westercamp got free on a 13-year touchdown run to cap a 47-9 loss at home Friday night.

Williamsburg scored three times in the first quarter on two long runs of 35 and 49 yards and then a 16-yard touchdown pass to take a quick 21-0 lead.

Senior Kaden Wetjen accounted for five of the Raiders seven scores. Wetjen finished the day with 125 yards on the ground and two scores, but also had two 60-yard punt returns for touchdowns on special teams. He had 135 return yards on three punt returns.

Wetjen then picked off an Adam Boeck pass at the Warrior's 15 and ran it back 85 yards for another touchdown.

Westercamp had a nice night for Central Lee averaging close to six yards per carry for 141 yards and a touchdown on 24 carries.

Evan Pohren had 4.5 tackles, four were solo and two of those were for losses.

The Hawks are home again this week taking on Eddyville-Blakesburg-Fremont before finishing off the season on the road at Davis County.
