Suspected thief leads LEOs on rural hunt

Deputies comb fields, timber looking for DM theft suspect

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

LEE COUNTY – Lee County Sheriff's deputies are looking for a man who led officers on a chase and then fled on foot into the woods near Ambrosia Lane just after 9 a.m. this morning.

Sheriff Stacy Weber said this morning, the only details of the suspect are a white male with a "salt and pepper" beard.

Weber said the man stole an F250 construction type truck in Des Moines and was spotted in Lee County when the chase started.

"We tried to initiate a stop and a chase ensued. I got in at the end when he came right at me on a gravel road going 75-90 mph. I spun around and chased him to a construction area where some people had bought some property and were going to build a home," Weber said.

"He drove past me and then headed into a field and into a wooded area where he drove through some trees and then into a creek bed, where he hit a tree and then bailed out. After that it was anybody's guess where he was."

Weber said both dogs were in Sioux City Monday getting certified and couldn't be used in the chase. Montrose police tried to deploy stop sticks during the chase, but the suspect was able to avoid them.

Deputies combed the timber and field lines in the area, hoping to flush the suspect out, and several other volunteer and

FORT MADISON – It docked a bit early, and the anticipation of seeing passengers walk out the nose of the ship was dashed with low water levels, but one of American Cruise Lines' newest ships landed at Fort Madison Sunday morning to about 150 greeters.

Central Lee voters to decide $12.9M bond today

DONNELSON – Voters will go the polls tomorrow to decide the fate of a $12.9 million bond referendum that will fund several large scale upgrades on the Central Lee School District campus southeast of Donnellson.

If approved, the bond would provide the district with funds to incorporate a new office at the main entrance of Central Lee High School that would improve security and allow staff to better monitor visitors entering and exiting the building.

This would add to measures already taken to enhance safety through the addition of secured front doors and a school resource officer. The district and Lee County Sheriff's Department have an agreement that puts a deputy on school grounds during school days.

Superintendent Andy Crozier said he would like to see that agreement continue even if the bond is passed Tuesday.

The funds would also be used for new classrooms for band and vocal programs, along with new preschool classrooms that would free up two additional classrooms to meet space needs at the elementary level. There would also be a new competition and performance gym for elementary, middle, and high school events and ADA-accessible locker rooms. Additional plans call for an expanded commons area for better

Rivers slowly dropping, but channel cats are biting

DES MOINES - The following is the weekly fishing report from the Iowa Department of Natural Resources for south-east Iowa lakes and rivers.

Iowa River (Columbus Junction to Mississippi River)

The Iowa is at a stable level. The NOAA forecast is for it to slowly drop a couple of inches this week. Channel Catfish - Good: Continue to fish the outer edges of the brush piles; grass frogs work well this time of year.

Lake Belva Deer

Water temperature is 75 degrees. The lake is getting petty green again. Largemouth Bass - Fair: Anglers are starting to pick up more bass in the shallow water with the cool weather. Bluegill - Fair: Bluegills are still out deep. Channel Catfish - Fair: Most catfish have moved into deeper water; start along the old creek channel.

Lake Darling

Water temperature is 75 degrees. The water is getting green in color again; need some rain to knock it back. Largemouth Bass - Fair: Anglers are still picking up some bass in shallow, but the catch rates have dropped a little. Bluegill - Fair: The bigger bluegills are still mostly in the deeper water (8-10 feet) around the rock piles and brush piles. A few smaller ones are in shallow. Channel Catfish - Slow: If we get some rain this Sunday, they might perk back up. Black Crappie - Fair: Anglers are starting to catch some crappies over the deeper habitat.

Lost Grove Lake

Largemouth Bass - Fair: Bass fishing slowed a bit over the Labor Day weekend. Anglers were still able to catch bass in 3 to 4 feet of water. Black Crappie - Fair: Anglers continue to pick up crappies out around edges of the flooded timber in 8 to 10 feet of water. Some anglers are finding them all the way down to 20 to 25 feet deep. Try vertical jigging or using a slip bobber and minnow. Bluegill - Fair: The nicer bluegills remain out in deeper water; smaller ones are in shallow.

Skunk River (Coppock to Mississippi River)

The Skunk River continues to slowly drop this week. There is still enough water to get around with jon boats. Channel Catfish - Good: Work the pools just downstream of the rock riffles, slow drifting crawdads or nightcrawlers to catch some nice eating size catfish. Don't forget to work the brush piles.

For more information on the above lake, call the Lake Darling Fisheries Office at 319-694-2430.

Coralville Reservoir

The lake level is 684.2 feet. Channel Catfish - Slow: Slow troll or drift cut bait. White Crappie - Fair: Use minnows or bright jigs over brush piles.

Diamond Lake

Channel Catfish - Fair: Try stink bait or chicken liver. Bluegill - Fair: Use worms or small jigs fished in brush. Black Crappie - Fair: Fish brush piles or drift the basin with jigs.

Lake Macbride

Any sized motor may now be used at no wake speed (5 mph). Walleye - Slow. Black Crappie - Slow. Wiper (Hybrid Striped Bass) - Slow. Largemouth Bass - Fair.

Pleasant Creek Lake

The main ramp is still closed for repaving. Bluegill - Fair. Channel Catfish - Fair: Evenings are best.

For more information, contact the Lake Macbride Fisheries Station at 319-624-3615.

Hawthorn Lake

Largemouth Bass - Fair: Try rubber worms or spinnerbaits along the rock jetties and the face of the dam. Use topwater lures early and late in the day in the same spots. Channel Catfish - Fair: Use dead chubs or nightcrawlers in 4-8 feet of water. Bluegill - Fair: Try small jigs tipped with a waxworm. Sorting is needed for larger fish.

Suspect still sought in Monday chase

off-duty deputies patrolled the gravel roads off 300th Street between Old Highway 218 and Hwy 27.

Weber said he didn't have information on whether the suspect was still in the area or was able to contact someone for a ride. He advised residents in the area to lock up all their property and vehicles and report any suspicious individuals or vehicles in the area to local law enforcement.

"We don't know anything about him other than he didn't want to get caught today and he was in a stolen vehicle," he said.

"So lock everything up and use extreme caution if you see anyone on your property. Call us if you see suspicious vehicles and try to get a plate."

Iowa State Patrol and several local police departments assisted in the search.

just really appreciate American Cruise Lines choosing Fort Madison as a stop."

He said American Cruise Lines celebrating this new ship on its maiden voyage is a milestone in itself, which adds to the milestone that's being created in Fort Madison.

Randolph then presented the captain of the new boat with a green Fort Madison flag to keep on its voyages.

Varley said Hall Towing brought in a barge on Friday and hooked it up initially at no cost to the city.

He said the cruise line had concerns in the middle of the week about river levels and being able to hook up to the pier, so a barge was hooked up to the large cement barriers in the river and the American Harmony pulled up alongside.

Crew hands were out with squeegees pushing the late Saturday, early Sunday morning rain off the barge to allow safer walking for passengers disembarking for one of two tours through the area.

Marietta Stokes of Sammamish, Wash., spoke with Morawitz on the pier and said this was her first trip on this itinerary, but had taken several other cruises before.

Fort Madison Chamber Coordinator Savanna Collier and Fort Madison City Tourism Director Jean Peiton were on hand giving out information bags to the folks heading out on the Trailway buses for historic Fort Madison tours and tours of area agribusinesses.

Collier and Peiton also help with the guided tours through Fort Madison and north Lee County farms.

The city will see its first back-to-back docking days on Sept. 18 and 19th, which are the next scheduled arrivals.

student collaboration and improved building flow.

The board has presented a bond question that would not increase local property taxes. If passed, the tax rate in the Central Lee Community School District would be $12.19 per $1,000 of assessed property value.

The school district is using some of its sales tax revenues to offset a portion of the bond. Coupling that with the increased county valuations, the district was able to create a bond package that would not increase the current $12.19 per $1,000 equalized valuation on district tax payers' bills.

"I think the biggest thing is that people are using those 'now or never' words. I don't know if that's appropriate, but with the large valuation increase, taxes will go down with a no vote," Crozier said.

Crozier said if the district has to put up a referendum for a third time if this fails that he's not sure they'll be able to do it without a property tax rate increase.

The district held several community meetings and many VOTE YES committee meetings to help educate the district voters on the issues.

Crozier said the district also hired a communications firm to help with getting bond information to district residents.

"I think that was more thorough than last time and I feel people are very well-informed. Our strategy was better than last time," Crozier said.

"We gotta move forward one way or another. It's always nice to see this come to a conclusion and have some kind of final result. Either way, security will be an important factor for us as will the other aspects we want to improve with the master facility plan. But if this fails, we will go back to the drawing board and see how we go about getting these important goals met for the school district."

In 2018, Central Lee voters failed to pass a similar bond referendum with only 56.4% voting in favor of a $9.8 million bond. That figure represented a 64.6% approval in early absentee voting. State law requires a 60%+1 mandate in local school bond referendums.

The district was looking to expand the high school building, add common areas, improve entry ways in both district buildings to improve security, create a new childhood center, and improve parking conditions.

Voting Tuesday will take place from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Central Lee High School.
