State prison officials awaiting substance test

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

FORT MADISON – State Department of Corrections officials are still waiting on results of tests being done on a substance that was sent as part of ongoing investigation into what sickened an Iowa State Penitentiary staffer more than a week ago.

Cord Overton, a spokesman for the Iowa Department of Corrections said Friday, test results have not been received yet to identify what substance was on or in a bottle of eye drops that sent the staffer to the local hospital.

“I believe they are doing some extensive testing,” Overton said Friday.

The staff member became extremely ill after coming into contact with an unknown substance that is believed to have come from a bottle of eye drops.

Other staff at the institution quickly quarantined the substance, and the staff member was taken to the local hospital. Her condition was stabilized, and she was released to recover at home.

The substance that is suspected to have caused the staff member to become ill is in custody of the State Crime Lab in Ankeny for testing by the Division of Criminal Investigations.

Area students win FMAAA awards

HTC's Graham's 'Study Buddies' wins Best of Show

BY BRIAN RIGGS
Fort Madison Area Arts Association

FORT MADISON – April always marks the strong regional high school art competition at FMAAA gallery, featuring Central Lee, Eldon, Ft. Madison, Hamilton, Holy Trinity Catholic, and Keokuk.

Schools self-jury entering up to 22 pieces in the divisions of black-and-white drawing, color drawing, painting, mixed media, photography, and 3D. Overall Best of Show and 1st-3rd ribbons are awarded per division with honorable mention awards at juror's discretion. Lee County Bank is the sponsor for this month's exhibit with viewing available on Tuesday-Saturday from 10am-5pm.

The show was juried by tandem artists from Burlington, Karla Mundt and Fritz Goeckner. Fritz has the feature exhibition at FMAAA in November. Both of them are long-term members of Burlington Art Center and FMAAA. All jurors comment to the quality of the regional competition causing hardship when judging. By melding and compromising they came to a dual conclusion while “still having the ability to ride back in the same car together.” They looked for originality in concept that showed a different point of view over quality of technique.

FM woman arrested with meth

FORT MADISON – A Fort Madison woman was arrested by the Lee County Narcotics Task Force on Thursday after an investigation into alleged felony drug activity.

Emily Cox, 24, of Fort Madison, Iowa was arrested on Thursday at her residence in Fort Madison. Cox is charged with delivery of less than five grams of methamphetamine, within 1000 feet of a public park, class C felony with an enhancement. Cox also had another outstanding arrest warrant from another agency.

The arrest of Cox stems from an investigation by the Lee County Narcotics Task Force into allegations that she was involved in the distribution of illegal drugs in the Lee County area.

The Lee County Attorney's Office, Lee County Sheriff's Office, Iowa Division of Narcotics Enforcement, and the Fort Madison Police Department assisted the Lee County Narcotics Task Force in this investigation.

The defendant is presumed innocent until and unless proven guilty.

IFC operation interruption requires another restart

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

WEVER – This morning, Iowa Fertilizer experienced an unplanned interruption to our production. The plant will begin the restart process immediately. Iowa Fertilizer is deeply committed to communicating with all stakeholders and community members to ensure everyone is aware of these activities.

Company officials didn't elaborate on the details of the operations interruption when contacted Monday morning.

Over the next few days, higher than normal flaring, accompanied by higher than normal noise levels due to the flaring and other steam venting will be apparent at the site.

Company officials said the flaring during startups is, by design, safe and is harmless to the environment or the surrounding community. The flaring will have periods of changes in color and intensity as we advance through startup of our different stages of the process. Intensity at night could be amplified by the particular timing of a startup stage or due to low cloud cover.

Officials said Iowa Fertilizer is within full compliance of all air quality permits and regulations regarding these flares. The plant startup will be completed as soon as practically possible as it is our intent to get back to full production and no flaring in the next few days.

According to a post on the Iowa Fertilizer Company's Facebook page, where the news was released, "the Iowa Fertilizer Company will maintain our commitment and focus on safety, the environment and the well-being of our surrounding community during these startup activities. At Iowa Fertilizer, we take safety very seriously and work diligently to always be a good neighbor.

Iowa Fertilizer Co. is deeply committed to communicating with all stakeholders and community members to ensure everyone is aware of activities that may impact or be noticed in our neighborhood."

FMHS boys get soccer revenge on Panthers

Bowker handles keeper duties and records 10 saves in 2-1 win

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

FORT MADISON – The Fort Madison boys soccer team likes playing at home where they can spread out, get comfortable and win some games.

The Hounds got revenge on the Mt. Pleasant Panthers Monday night at the Baxter Sports Complex, where the visitors scored a 1-0 win over Fort Madison to open the season on March 30.

The Bloodhounds are coming off a 6-2 loss at Central Lee Friday night. The loss prompted Head Coach Kevin Wellman to put 6'4" senior Justin Bowker in as keeper Monday and the senior responded with 10 saves in the 2-1 win.

All the scoring was done in the first half with the Panthers finding the net early. Senior Nathan Rauenhuehler outraced the Hounds back defense and got a good angle to pop a high shot at Bowker, who had the ball go off his fingertips and into the top of the net for a 1-0 lead.

The Hounds Reuben Eid returned the favor at the 15-minute mark when he got loose in the 18-foot box off the Panthers' goal and fired a low shot off an assist from senior AJ Nolting, across the front of the goal low into the net to tie up the score.

Both teams would be kept out of the net until junior Austin Sexton scored unassisted where the Mt. Pleasant defense couldn't clear the ball in the box and Sexton was able to find an opening and pop it through.

Neither team would find the net in the second half, despite a flurry in the final two minutes by Mt. Pleasant to keep the ball on their third of the pitch, but only managing a couple soft shots at the goal, with the Bloodhounds mucking up any chance of a late rally.

The Panthers came into the game 5-1 with their only

loss to state powerhouse Davenport North 0-2 in the season-opening Fort Madison Invitational

“This was very good win for us,” Wellman said

Wellman said the Hounds play better on wider courses where they can spread opposing defenses out in the field and control the ball better.

On Friday, the Hounds played on the football field at Central Lee which is a much tighter field.

“Any ball on those fields is really a central ball and it makes the bodies tighter,” he said. “Most of our offense was to play to Austin and they keyed on him and at times he'd have eight people collapsing on him. So we were really crammed in there and weren't allowed to play in the lateral spaces as well as we wanted to.”

He said at home, they have more confidence in ball movement which moves defenses sideways and ultimately gets them out of position.

Wellman said Bowker's knowledge of the game is an advantage with him in the net, as opposed to his normal back defense position.

“We decided to let him play a sweeper keeper where the keeper can come out and play as a back field player if he needs to, or drop back into the net. That way he could use his knowledge of the game to clear the ball and not let Rauenhuehler run on it,” Wellman said.

“He knows what plays to make and we keyed on that in the second half with the wind in our face.”

The Hounds are 4-5 now on the year with a chance to go to .500 on the season when they host 2-3 Washington on Thursday at the Baxter Sports Complex.
