State framing county budgets

SHELL GAME: Supervisors disappointed in paths to get to mandated $3.50 levy

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

LEE COUNTY – The Lee County Board of Supervisors continue to be dismayed with how the state is reshaping the ability of counties to manage their own budgets.

In his report to the board, chairman Garry Seyb said the county is now playing a shell game with finances and the state has forced their hand.

The county had planned to reduce its general levy by 58.7 cents per year for the next four fiscal years to move from a current levy of $5.85 to the state's mandated FY 2029 maximum levy of $3.50. That's a difference of $2.35 or 58.7 cents per year.

Seyb said he had a long conversation with officials at the Iowa Dept. of Management who have indicated that the county cannot reduce their general levy from the $5.85 because then they wouldn't be at the state maximum on general levy, which triggers the general supplemental.

"We did receive word from the Dept of Management that we will not be able to reduce the $5.85 any until we drop it to 3.50. Their argument is a county must be at

Area Education Agency psychologists provide support

Submitted article

Editor's Note: This is the next in a series of articles provided by the Great Prairie Area Education Association outlining the services provided by the AEA.

LEE COUNTY - Did you know that Great Prairie AEA provides school psychology support for your school? School psychologists play a vital role in shaping the educational landscape, working tirelessly to ensure the well-being and success of students. Let's take a closer look at the diverse and impactful responsibilities that fill a typical day in the life of these dedicated professionals.

Liz O'Neill Rich is in her 25th year as a school psychologist. Her inspiration to pursue this career comes from growing up with parents deeply immersed in the psychology field. Witnessing their dedication to helping others navigate their inner worlds sparked a genuine interest. The decision to become a school psychologist isn't just following family footsteps; it's a personal calling, driven by a passion to contribute to the well-being and academic success of students.

Reflecting on her service, she acknowledges that the journey hasn't always been easy, but it has undeniably been rewarding. Every day, filled with diverse challenges and

Group wants to build pool of child care substitutes

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG

LEE COUNTY - An effort is underway to try to bolster the number of child care workers to help alleviate staffing problems for child care centers in the county.

The county was awarded a matching $10,000 grant two years ago for a Rural Child Care Market study which generated helpful data and ideas for helping solve a deficit of about 1,600 child care slots in the county.

One of the top ideas out of the survey, according to Breanna Kramer-Riesberg, the community outreach coordinator at the Lee County Health Department, was creating a pool of substitute caregivers to supplement the workforce in the county.

"We've received funding from the Lee County Charitable Fund and that will run for about six months into June. So we hope to enroll people for an initial trial period to see if the process works and see if people are interested," Kramer-Riesberg

Susan Teresa Haeger, 77, of West Point, Iowa, passed away at 11:30 p.m. on January 15, 2024, at her home, surrounded by her husband and four children.

Sue was born on May 6, 1946, in Lewistown, Montana to Edward "Red" Hanley and Selma (Wieglanda) Hanley. She married Reed Ross Haeger on August 10, 1968, in Lewistown, Montana.

HAEGER

She attended Marycrest College in Davenport, Iowa receiving her Bachelor's Degree in social work. Sue briefly worked in the field of social work in Lee County, Iowa. Reed and Sue's first business in West Point was Reed's Pizza. Although this business was short in duration, it was the beginning of many lifelong friendships. Sue started bartending at the Corner Tap, which she and Reed later purchased in 1983. In August of 2023, they celebrated 40 years in business. The Corner Tap was Sue's life, and countless loyal customers over the years will forever be Sue's "Corner Tap Family".

Sue loved nothing more than visiting with family and friends over a glass of wine, a mixture of Cabernet Sauvignon and Pinot Grigio being her drink of choice. She loved gravel travel with a "water bottle" and NPR playing on the radio. She loved a good campfire and great company to go with it. Listening to music was a favorite pastime of Sue's: from hosting bands at Reed's Pizza and the Corner Tap, to attending concerts, to tapping out a beat while listening to music from the jukebox. She and Reed recently celebrated 55 years of marriage, with many cherished memories of trips which included fishing, visits to family in Montana and Chicago, and countless other destinations.

Sue is survived by: her husband: Reed of West Point; three daughters: Kathleen "Katie" (Chris) Dailey of Terre Haute, Indiana, Jennifer "Jenny" Steffensmeier (Randy Larson) of West Point, Iowa, Megan (Bill) Kruse of West Point, Iowa; son: Ross (Erin) Haeger of Burlington, Iowa; thirteen grandchildren: Daniel Dailey, Jack Dailey, Claire Dailey, Isaac Steffensmeier (Courtney Abolt), Rachel Steffensmeier (Julian Holmes), Sarah (CJ) Richardson, Aaron (Taylor) Steffensmeier, Nathan Steffensmeier (Larissa Ferrill), Elton Kruse (Madelyn Swigart), Owen Kruse (Katie Beach), Emmett Kruse, Liam Haeger and Gordon Haeger; two great-grandchildren: Quincy and Calvin Richardson, and one on the way! Three brothers: Jerry Hanley of Maiden, Montana, Patrick (Marilyn) Hanley of Billings, Montana, Colonel Robert Hanley (Ret.) of Fayetteville, North Carolina; three sisters, Barbara (Keith) Bruski of Maiden, Montana, Mary Beth (Kenny) Roy of Lewistown, Montana, and Nancy Foecke of Donnellson, Iowa.

Sue was preceded in death by her parents; siblings: Sister Kathleen Hanley, CHM, Mark Hanley, Laurie Voelker, Edward Hanley, brother-in-law: Eugene Foecke, and son-in-law: Ben Steffensmeier.

A visitation was held Saturday, January 20, 2024, at Schmitz Funeral Home in West Point.

A time of remembrance was held Saturday with Father Gary Beckman officiating at Schmitz Funeral Home in West Point. A time of food and fellowship will be held at the West Point American Legion after the service. Following the luncheon, a celebration of life will be held at the Corner Tap.

Burial will be at a later date at Calvary Cemetery in West Point.

In lieu of flowers, memorials have been established in her memory for Iowa Public Radio, Southeast Iowa Regional Hospice or the University of Iowa Holden Comprehensive Cancer Center.

Schmitz Funeral Home of West Point is assisting the family with arrangements. Online condolences may be made to the family at www.schmitzfuneral-homes.com.

OBITUARIES

SANDRA O'SHEA MOORE

Sandra "Sandy" (White) O'Shea Moore, 75, of Keokuk, passed away on Friday, January 19, 2024, in Keokuk.

Sandy was born on September 20, 1948, in Keokuk, Iowa, the daughter of Harry E. White and Mary Lucille Meyers. She married Mike O'Shea, and they were later divorced. She later married Michael Moore, and they were later divorced. Sandy worked different jobs in her life, and in 1998, she worked as manager of the VFW Post 3508. She was employed there for sixteen years until her retirement in 2014.

MOORE

Sandy enjoyed being with her family, sewing and other crafts.

Sandy is survived by her three sons: Rick (Tracy) O'Shea of Morrison, Illinois, Tim (Tanya) O'Shea and Jamie (Rebecca) O'Shea, both of Keokuk. They were the loves of her life. She was also survived by ten grandchildren: Phillip O'Shea of the U.S. Marines, Tristan (Andrew) Zahnle of Camanche, Iowa, Tom and Tony (Ashley) Vanderleest of Morrison, Illinois, Brant and Tate O'Shea of Keokuk, Haley, Brooke, Lauren, and Landen O'Shea of Keokuk; four great grandchildren Brynn, Lexi, Bennett, and Oaklynn; her longtime companion Leon Ewart of Keokuk; her brother Harold White of Keokuk; two sisters Jean (Carl) Lawson of Keokuk and Janet Conover of Kahoka, Missouri; and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Sandy was preceded in death by her parents, her brother Harry E. White, Jr., her sister Kathy Wilsey, her brother-in-law Everett Conover, her niece Lori Conover Bollin and a special friend Tina Garthwaite Andrews.

There were many special people in Sandy's life, most of which she called friends. She wanted to say thank you to all of them for being in her life. You all made her laugh, cry and gave her happiness. You were always there when she needed you or wanted to talk or go to lunch. She appreciated and loved all her friends and the difference they made in her life, especially Diana, Anne, Kathy, April, Carey, Pam, and Tina.

Sandy's life will be celebrated with a memorial service at 5 pm on Thursday, January 25, 2024, at DeJong-Greaves-Printy Funeral Home in Keokuk. Visitation will be held on Thursday from 4 to 5 pm at the funeral home directly before the service. A Celebration of Life will follow immediately after the funeral service at the Keokuk Yacht Club. Memorials may be directed to the American Cancer Society, the Shriners, or Southeast Iowa Regional Hospice.

Tributes and condolences may be left at www.dejongsfuneralhome.com.

DeJong-Greaves-Printy Funeral Home of Keokuk is in charge of arrangements.

STANLEY C. LAFRENZ

Stanley C. (Charlie) LaFrenz died Saturday, January 20, 2024 at Blessing Hospital in Quincy, Illinois. In his own words, his obituary follows:

Charlie was born December 12, 1942, in Fort Madison, IA, to Joseph S. and Eva Lancaster LaFrenz. He was raised by his mother, Eva and step-father, John H. Orozco. He attended Ft. Madison schools and graduated from Ft. Madison High School in 1961. He graduated from Burlington Junior College and then attended Northeast Mo. State College in Kirksville, Mo. In 1966, Charlie enlisted in the Army Security Agency and after basic training, was sent to the Defense Language Institute to study French and then to Ft. Devens to learn traffic analysis. His final assignment was a unit in Bangkok, Thailand, working in French and Crypto/ Traffic analysis during the Vietnam War. While still at Devens, he wrote essays and built displays for the Legacy of Freedom Program receiving several letters of commendation. While in Thailand he volunteered at Dr. Piera's orphanage and other programs. He was honorably discharged in Jan. 1970.

After loafing for a while, Charlie returned to what was then Northeast Mo State University, earning a BA in French with minors in Spanish and history. With BA in hand, he returned to his former career of bar tending, mainly at Caesar's and the Country Club in Fort Madison. With some GI bill funding remaining, he decided to try something new and attended Bill Hill's Academy but, after 3 years of showing poor talent for hair design he decided he was not successful in this endeavor. As he approached his 40's he realized it was time to use his education and enrolled at Western Illinois University and after two years, earned his teaching certificate. He spent his teaching career at Central Lee Middle School, teaching Language Arts, and Exploratory Spanish, retiring at age 65.

Early in Charlie's teaching career, he was invited to play Bridge and was partnered with Janet Fife, his future wife, and the rest is history. Together, they bought a great old house on Grand Avenue in Keokuk and were married in front of the fireplace in May 1997. With Janet, also a teacher, they spent their summers traveling throughout Europe, dancing wherever they found a dance floor. When Janet's daughter Menda married and had 2 children, Charlie became "Papa Charlie" to Jada and Jacob.

Charlie's love of dancing brought him great joy. He also had a passion for Russian Imperial history and spent much of his spare time reading biographies.

Charlie is survived by his wife, Janet, her daughter Menda (Carlos) and her children, Jada and Jacob of Washington D.C. Also surviving are his brother, John D. Orozco (Louise) and their children, Erin (John) and Ben (Bree) as well as their children all of Colorado who affectionately know him as "Uncle Charlie." He also leaves behind his father's 2 children, Barbara (LaFrenz) Johnson and Wayne LaFrenz, his dear friends the Sloat family, dear cousins and friends, and his dog Jasper.

Charlie's body has been donated to the University of Iowa College of Medicine. After science is finished with his remains, he is leaving his estate to his niece and nephew, Erin and Ben, so that they may take some of his cremains to all the places he has been around the world to sprinkle some here and there.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be given to the Keokuk-Hamilton Dam Museum or Planned Parenthood or other organization of your choice. A celebration of life will be held on Sunday, January 28, 2024 from 4:00 to 6:00 pm at the Keokuk Yacht Club. King-Lynk Funeral Home & Crematory in Fort Madison is assisting the family. Online condolences to the LaFrenz family may be left at the King-Lynk Funeral Home & Crematory website: www.kinglynk.com.

Initiative would give $300 stipend at end of training

She said funding is available for 25 trainees and that would be a big start for the program.

“We estimated the need would be greater. The biggest need is full-time staff. Ideally this would be for people to try out the career and hopefully this leads to more full-time positions being filled.”

State Department of Human Resources requirements mandate a certain staff to child ratio and that ratio is what is causing some centers to reduce the amount of children they can accept because of the worker shortage, or if centers have staff calling in sick.

Kramer-Riesberg said the substitutes would be a stop-gap measure for current shortages, but hopefully transitions into filling some of the shortages permanently.

“It’s not a full solution to the bigger problem of more staff in general, but does help with ratio and keeping kids in the centers.

“We do think this would be great fit for hourly staff folks, but not to draw them away from the schools. It’s another route for people,” she said.

“Maybe certain people prefer babies or two-year-olds without a full commitment to an 8-5 shift throughout the week. Teacher’s aides and paraeducators don’t get paid during the summer, so this could make that more a year-long work cycle for those people. We see it as a complement position rather than competitive.”

Kramer said the industry usually has a pay range in the area of $10 to $15 per hour and she would presume that would be what the substitutes would get paid, but she said that would be up to individual child care centers.

The program is called the Child Care Substitute Workforce Development Initiative. Interested individuals would be eligible for a $300 stipend upon completion of the required 17 hours of training. Most of the training, with the exception of some in-person first aid training, is online. The group would also provide assistance in connecting substitutes to early childhood care providers in the county.

Currently, about 60% of providers surveyed are currently hiring full or part-time staff. Few licensed centers are operating at full capacity due to short staffing. Substitute pools for early childhood care providers exist nationwide with some states, like Tennessee, investing in statewide technological infrastructure to support widescale substitute pools similar to those operating amongst school districts.

Some larger centers in Lee County have a couple of substitutes on staff to fill-in, however, the concept of sharing substitutes and creating a recruitment and orientation procedure will be new to Lee County.

Results of the child care needs survey indicated that 77% of parents with children ages 0 to 5 (not in Kindergarten) and 64% of parents with children ages 5 to 12 found it somewhat difficult or very difficult to find child care. Obstacles named were almost exclusively related to lack of openings or not enough spaces.

In addition, over the last 12 months, 56 parents (of 209 total respondents) have declined employment or withdrawn from the labor force due to child care and 95 parents have limited employment due to child care challenges, such as forcing them to work fewer hours or only being able to accept positions that have hours when they can secure child care. Access to child care directly correlates to improved income, expanded employment opportunities, and more stable work performance for families. The child care workforce challenge must be addressed to improve economic and broader workforce development in Lee County.

Preliminary recruitment strategies will focus on targeted populations like retirees, school staff (child care sites have more students during breaks when school is not in session), high school students, seasonal jobs (i.e. lifeguards), and current school substitutes. Offering a $300 training stipend will provide incentive to complete the full 17 hours of required training and try the profession with little to no risk.

Consider Employee Wellness Program with Southeast Iowa Regional Medical Center
Tara McAlister, Wellness Specialist with Southeast Iowa Regional Medical Center, updated the Council on the 2023

Employee Wellness Program Outcomes and presented a proposal to continue the Wellness Program for 2024. The cost to continue the program in 2024 will be $4,045. At this time 15 employees are interested in participating. Crouner stated that he would like to see all employees at least take part in the initial screening process even if they don’t participate in the program throughout the year. In addition to the cost of the program, employees who participate in seminars, challenges, monthly exercises, and preventative exams will receive points. At the end of the year, they will be eligible to receive an incentive based on the number of points they receive. The incentive ranges from 4 - 16 hours of paid time off or a payment of $150 - $350 based on the number of points they receive. No changes were proposed for the incentives.

Moved by Crouner, seconded by Newberry, to approve the 2024 Employee Wellness and Incentive Program as presented. Motion carried by the following votes:

Budget law forcing counties to shift expenses around

max levy to have general supplemental,” Seyb said.

“We get two gears. We either run at $5.85, which is overdrive and overtaxing county residents, or we can run in $3.50 where we cannot afford to run and decimate county services. Let that sink in a bit.”

Seyb then outlined a workaround where the county would in essence be playing a shellgame and moving expenses currently paid out of general supplemental into general basic to reflect the need for the $5.85. The move would then reduce the need in general supplemental.

Budget Director Cindy Renstrom said she would have to move $984,000 from general supplemental into general basic. That dollar figure reflects the 58.7 cents per 1,000 the county was planning to reduce the general basic levy.

“We are reducing your taxes, but not the general fund levy itself. Your overall tax rate will drop the ¼ of the amount that is needed to get to 3.50 by 2029. It’s bookkeeping and a shellgame that we should not have to play,” Seyb said.

“We don’t have a choice but to play with general supplemental to reduce taxes. I want to be as clear as I can and that’s as clear as I can be without feedback from state level.”

Seyb said he’s been in contact with State Sen. Jeff Reichman and State Rep. Martin Graber and both have agreed to look into the issue at the state level.

“Neither one of them had a clear grasp of why that would be that way, but they were both going to look into it. Both are concerned the county was going to have to do that,” Seyb said.

“We’re going to make it this year, but I don’t know how we’re going to make that work next year.”

Renstrom said with the new mandate for 2029 at $3.50, the county would then have to move those expenses back to the general supplemental to get in line with the mandate.

Renstrom said there are 40 counties in the state that are currently over the $3.50 levy and said communications have been started with other county auditors and many of them were planning the same course of action Lee County was, but now are in the same boat.

“We sent messages to other auditors that a lot of counties were going to drop theirs down and are finding they cannot do that. At this point, I’m going through the budget and will have to move $983,710 out of General Supplemental and into General Basic,” she said.

In other action, the county board approved Schickedanz Construction as the contractor for the new Lee County EMS facility in Keokuk. The contract for the building is close to $1 million and construction is expected to start in March.

School’s rely on AEA to assist with special needs

triumphs, has been a testament to the impact of her chosen profession.

One of the heartening stories shared is about Arison, a child with Down syndrome who exudes boundless happiness and a love for books. The joy of working with such a remarkable child highlights the rewarding aspects of being a school psychologist. It’s a job that extends beyond assessments and paperwork; it’s about forming meaningful connections with students and making a positive impact on their lives.

The evolution of school psychology in the school setting over the past 50 years is evident. From its early days of evaluating children for special education eligibility to the present, where school psychologists are recognized as core team members, working collaboratively with other experts, consultants, and social workers. Together, they form a dedicated team focused on determining the best instructional methods, curriculum, and learner support needed to ensure every child makes progress.

Each day presents a fresh set of experiences – from addressing the needs of children with complex requirements to those with minor concerns. The focus is always on supporting students’ psychological, educational, and emotional well-being through activities like assessments, consultations, academic and behavioral interventions, special education support, and more.

Another student diagnosed with autism is now thriving thanks to the advocacy of his mother and the team of AEA staff and teachers. “Our speech pathologists have played a crucial role in implementing a communication device in two languages,” explains Liz. “He has successfully learned a work break system, thanks to the collaborative efforts of our school social worker, who helped implement it. His classroom teachers, embracing the challenges of autism, English Language Learner (ELL) status, and bilingualism, have contributed to his thriving journey.”

In the ever-changing landscape of education, Liz’s journey remains a testament to the enduring value of the work. “When a worried mother or father reaches out, expressing concerns about their child, I am able to say, “I will carry that worry for you and we will come up with a plan,” Liz expresses. Every day may be different, but the underlying commitment to fostering the well-being and success of students remains unwavering.
