County VA needs drivers

Goals

Lee County Veteran's Affairs Administrator Nikki Sugars works on some veterans' services in her office at the North Lee County Courthouse Wednesday afternoon. The VA offices are in need of drivers to transport veterans to health visits at area VA clinics. Despite the shortage of drivers, the VA office is seeing growth in the number of veterans getting services.

LEE COUNTY – Lee County Veterans Affairs Administrator Nikki Sugars has her work cut out for her. But it's work on some pretty lofty goals she's set for herself.

Sugars is closing in on three years as the county's veterans administrator after serving as the county's election commissioner and deputy auditor.

Coming from a family steeped in military service, Sugars has been receiving rave reviews from veterans and county officials for her ability to connect much-needed services and compensation to about 25% of the county's 2,250 veterans.

Part of that service is getting veterans to and from medical appointments throughout the region including Quincy, Burlington, and Iowa City. A donated van from Disabled American Veterans is used to transport veterans, but the county has been running short on drivers for the past several years.

Sugars would like to get that corrected.

"Right now we have four, but one is on medical and may not be able to return and another is set to be on vacation, so we'll be down to just two drivers in February," she said.

When the number of drivers gets that low, Sugars said, at some point, she may have to decline rides and she doesn't want to do that. She said SEIBUS, a transportation system run by Southeast Iowa Regional Planning Commission, will take veterans to Iowa City if schedules allow,

Bird announces bill to increase penalties for trafficking

DES MOINES—As Human Trafficking Prevention Month comes to a close, Iowa Attorney General Brenna Bird today announced a bill to combat human trafficking. The bill heightens penalties for human traffickers and ensures victims receive the care they deserve.

The Iowa Office to Combat Human Trafficking reported a 151% increase in trafficking tips and leads from January through October 2021 to the same timeframe in 2022. Globally, an estimated 27 million people are exploited by the abuses of human trafficking at any given time, regardless of age, background, or nationality.

"Human trafficking is modern-day slavery, and it's time we treat it that way," said Attorney General Bird. "This bill requires prison time for criminal traffickers and offers necessary support to survivors. As the human trafficking crisis worsens, we are sending a zero-tolerance message. We won't stop fighting until victims get the support and justice they deserve. I'm grateful to the Iowa House and Senate for passing the bill through subcommittee."

State auditor "up in arms" over IFC sale

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

WEVER – Iowa's State Auditor Rob Sand has weighed in on the potential acquisition of the OCI Nitrogen Iowa Fertilizer facility in Wever by Koch Industries.

Sand penned a letter to the Federal Trade Commission and copied the U.S. Department of Justice's Asst. Attorney General for Antitrust Division on Tuesday.

Sand said the deal is essentially OCI Global reneging on its commitment to Iowa taxpayers.

"This is something that we saw and instantly understood to be dangerous to taxpayers," Sand said Wednesday in an interview with Pen City Current.

"You look at this and go 'hold on a second'. We just put 500 million bucks into this thing as a state and we did that to keep it out of the hands of Koch. We ought to be up in arms about it, so I'm up in arms."

Sand didn't know what weight the letter would carry but said speaking up about it could stop a bad thing from happening.

"Who knows? It's a letter and it didn't take us long to pen or do the work, but if saying the truth about this can stop a bad thing from happening, then we should."

Sand cited the more than half a billion in state, federal, and local incentives that were committed to OCI to lure the project to Iowa, that should encourage the owners to do the right thing and maintain their ownership of the facility.

He said putting the facility in the hands of Koch flies in the face of the state's reasoning for creating the largest incentive package in Iowa history.

"Then-Governor Terry Branstad's administration put together a package totaling more than half a billion dollars in state, federal, and local incentives to secure the deal. Less than a decade later, OCI Global is cashing out, with Koch Industries seeking to reap the benefits by buying the plant. But the fact that it

Grassley puts up bill to combat child trafficking

WASHINGTON – Sens. Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa) and Jon Ossoff (D-Ga.) introduced a bipartisan bill to strengthen federal child trafficking prevention initiatives. The Preventing Child Trafficking Act of 2024 would enhance cooperation among federal agencies by requiring the Department of Justice and Department of Health and Human Services to implement the Government Accountability Office's (GAO's) anti-trafficking recommendations.

Grassley is a staunch advocate for trafficking victims. Grassley and Ossoff authored a law to strengthen federal prosecution for those guilty of child sex trafficking. In January 2023, Grassley's legislation to enhance human trafficking prevention programs was signed into law. Grassley is also calling on federal agencies to act on evidence of suspected trafficking of unaccompanied migrant children.

"The federal government can and must do more to prevent children from falling prey to the evils of human trafficking. By strengthening collaboration between federal agencies, our bill aims to more effectively prevent future instances of trafficking, prosecute criminals and safeguard vulnerable children," Grassley said.

OBITUARIES

JOHN K. BOGERT

John Kenneth Bogert, 67, of rural Donnellson, Iowa, passed away at 9:00 a.m. Friday, January 26, 2024, at his home

He was born on September 4, 1956, in Keokuk, Iowa, the son of Clifford

BOGERT

Marion and Evelyn Marie (Peel) Bogert. On October 7, 1978, he married Catherine Schier at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Fort Madison. They later divorced in 2008

He is survived by three children: Vanessa Bogert, Derek Bogert, and Shaye Bogert; and one sister Janice (Greg) Gobble. Also surviving are several nieces, nephews, and great nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents.

From the time he had his driver's license, John loved competing in the demolition derbies held in the area, especially at the Lee County Fair. He and his buddies would strategize with one another on how to take the "out of towners" out of the running. One year the prize was finally his and when the local paper reported his winning the Derby, it referenced him as the "Hometown Favorite." Some of his buddies went so far as to put a crudely constructed sign north of town announcing "Donnellson, Home of Hometown Favorite, John Bogert"

John loved conversation and managed to remember everything he had been told by Dad, Maurice and other elders who had imparted their knowledge to him on topics from local history, family history, farming and deer hunting. He was a member of the Franklin Township Deer Hunting Association through several generations of hunters and would regale any listener with not only details of the hunt but the pranks the hunters pulled on one another. He loved history and was an avid reader devouring books and watching documentaries on the World Wars and other major historical events.

He was devoted to family and friends his entire life. He was eager to help those that needed help or at least offer his sage advice on how to handle problems life throws at you. He dearly loved his kids, Vanessa, Derek & Shaye and his extended family Erinne, Emma, Garrett, Ashley & Daniel and their offspring. He prided himself on being the "Patriarch" of his clan.

A visitation will be held from 12:00 noon to 7:00 p.m. Monday, January 29, 2024 at Schmitz Funeral Home in Donnellson, where the family will receive friends from 4:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

A funeral service will be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, January 30, 2024 at St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Donnellson, Iowa with Tony Keefe officiating.

Burial will be in Evangelical Cemetery, Donnellson, Iowa.

A memorial has been established in his memory for St. Paul's United Church of Christ or Donnellson Fire and Rescue.

The average person is on their device 3+ hours per day.

Chiefs shut down Lady Hounds in SEC matchup

14-0 2nd Quarter: Keokuk holds Bloodhounds scoreless in 2nd quarter enroute to 52-29 win

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

KEOKUK – Fort Madison Head Coach Landon Bentley was kicking around the second quarter of Tuesday night’s 52-29 loss to Keokuk in his head for a bit after the game.

The loss drops the Lady Hounds to 6-2 in the Southeast Conference, a full two-games behind the Chiefs, and 11-4 overall. It was the second loss in three days for Fort Madison.

The two teams battled to an 8-8 tie in the first quarter, but Keokuk’s full-court pressure took its toll in the second quarter where they outscored Fort Madison 14-0. The Lady Hounds managed just six shots from the field in the quarter and missed them all. The constant pressure forced three consecutive turnovers midway through the period, but the Chiefs only managed three points off the miscues.

However, the Bloodhounds shooting went cold and only pulled down one offensive rebound in the set. Keokuk shot a cool 4-of-14 in the half but got to the freethrow line 10 times in the quarter to two for Fort Madison.

Bentley said the energy disappeared from his team in the second period.

“We talked about that at halftime, about bringing the energy back and playing our game again. I thought we did a fine job with their press – it didn’t affect us that badly except in that second quarter,” Bentley said.

“We broke the press and then we tried to play one-on-one and we got away from what was working in the first quarter. They go on a 14-0 run, and basketball is a game of runs, and that was a big one. So we gotta find ways to weather that.”

Fort Madison would get buckets from Irelynd Sargent and Hadley Wolfe to get things going in the third period. The Hounds would get within 11 on another Wolfe bucket with about four minutes left in the period. Keokuk senior Makenna Altgilbers hit back-to-back 3-pointers to push Keokuk’s lead back to 15 headed into the final period.

Wolfe would start the fourth with a made freethrow and Dayonna Davis scored on a put-back on Wolfe’s second from the stripe to cut Keokuk’s lead to a dozen.

Photos by Chuck Vandenberg/PCC

Keokuk’s Allison Ames (10) scrapes Fort Madison’s Aija Jenkins’ glasses off playing defense in the third period of Wednesday’s 52-29 Keokuk win in Keokuk.

Wolfe would score again on the Lady Hounds’ next possession to make it a 10-point game, but then the Chiefs scored 12 unanswered to make it 45-23.

Sargent would end the run with a bucket followed by a full time-out by Bentley, but sophomore Kendra Boatman would hit a three out of the timeout for Keokuk. The two teams went into foul mode the rest of the way, with Fort Madison hitting just three of eight down the stretch. Keokuk hit 3 of 6 in the final few minutes and their fouling kept Fort Madison from getting any traction from the floor.

“Keokuk’s a great team. They’re a solid basketball team and, when they got that energy, they kind of ran away with it. We tried to battle back,” he said.

“At halftime I said we have to find a way to believe. I felt like not everyone on our team, not all 15 girls, believed we could win. They wanted to win, but there’s a big difference.

Bentley was content to have the Lady Hounds sit in the half-court defense and not put any pressure on the Chiefs until they were down by almost 20 and were forced to pick up the pace.

“Watching film, I thought they struggled a bit more running their half-court offense. We didn’t want that to be a foot race. That was the game plan,” he said.

The Hounds ran into foul trouble early with Halle Menke picking up her fourth foul about two minutes into the second half and was left on the bench until about 3 minutes left in the game.

Bentley said having to play without her in the paint was part of the problem in the second and third periods.

Wolfe led Fort Madison with 10 points. Davis had seven, while Sargent and Jenkins each added four.

The Hounds travel to Washington on Friday night for another Southeast Conference matchup.

Fort Madison’s Dayonna Davis splits a couple of Keokuk defenders on a drive through the lane Wednesday night in Keokuk.

Keokuk boys run past Bloodhounds in fourth quarter

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

KEOKUK – An uncharacteristic string of late turn-overs all but ended Fort Madison’s hope of a run at the Southeast Conference title this season.

The Bloodhounds (5-3, 7-7) fell a full two games back of front-runner Mt. Pleasant (7-1, 11-4) after falling on the road to Keokuk 56-46 in a rare Wednesday night make-up game.

“One of our goals to win conference just became extremely hard, if not impossible, But the season’s not over. We’ve got Washington Friday, followed by Clark County, followed by Keokuk, Muscatine, and Ottumwa. It’s all about post-season seeding now and, if we can get a few more wins, we’ll see what happens,” said Head Coach Ryan Wilson.

Fort Madison came out with confidence, hitting three 3-pointers to open the game including two by senior Leif Boeding both from the right side of the half-court offense for a 9-4 lead early. But Keokuk’s 6-9 Jaxon Clark scored nine of Keokuk’s first 11 points including a 3-ball that cut the lead to just two. Fort Madison would get buckets from Carson Rashid and Dayton Lamar, who leaped above Clark to score on a jumper in the lane.

Keokuk’s Bodie Beagles countered with a bucket at the other end to tie things at 13 and then Brenton Hoard would hit a 3-ball at the horn to give Keokuk a 16-13 lead after one.

The Chiefs shot just 3-of-10 from the field in the second quarter. The Hounds also hit on three buckets from the field to hold the deficit at three through the period and trailed 24-21 at the half.

Clark would open the scoring for the Chiefs in the third period with a bucket but Lamar would score again inside off a Dear 3-point miss. Senior Hunter Cresswell would score inside off a nifty pass in from the blocks from Boeding to tie things up at 26.

The two would tie things up again at 31 and a three from Trammell Smith would give Keokuk a 34-31 lead. Cresswell would convert two freethrows with about :45 left in the period to cut the lead to one and Rashid missed a three at the horn to leave Fort Madison down by 1 at the end of the third period.

Keokuk would then go on a 15-4 run to start the fourth period with Fort Madison’s only buckets coming from Lamar on a pass from Rashid and then Cresswell scored inside on a slide from Dear driving from the top of the offense.

Clark would score seven for Keokuk in the middle of the run giving Keokuk a 49-37 lead. Fort Madison wouldn’t get closer than 10 the rest of the way while the Chiefs hit 9-of-10 freethrows down the stretch to ice the game.

Wilson said fatigue could have been a factor in the late Keokuk run.

“Coulda been legs, I don’t know,” Wilson said.

“We didn’t take care of the basketball. We talked about that before the game, taking care of the basketball and then we turned it over a lot late. I thought we did a great job of getting to the basket and either dumping it or shooting an open shot, but in the fourth quarter it seemed like we got a little passive. I’m not sure what the reason was for the change there.

“They did a good job of digging in on us and getting deflections and steals but we just turned it over in the fourth quarter and that was the ball game.”

Lamar led Fort Madison with 13 points followed by Cresswell with 12. Boeding had 10 to round out the Bloodhounds in double figures.

More than 800 Lee County veterans being served and for a cost. The cost using the DAV van is absorbed by the county. The only other transportation available is a bus from the VA Centers that has to come down from Iowa City when it's available.

Sugars said drivers just need to have a clean driving record and a desire to help the area's veterans.

"This is a volunteer position and all you have to have is a good driving record, and some ambition to help these people."

She said any people who have even one day a week or even one day a month and are looking for ways to assist area veterans are encouraged to apply. The position requires some training on a regular trip to the VA hospital in Iowa City, but it's minimal.

The lack of drivers has been an issue for several years and Sugars said it has been labor intensive to coordinate everything while still trying to help veterans find other assistance, including housing and compensation for health issues created by the individual's service.

Despite the focus on getting veterans to area health clinics, Sugars has been able to make huge strides in the services her office provides.

She set a goal in 2022 to surpass $1 million in assistance to the county's veterans in 2023. She found out last week that number was $1,012,000.

She's also taken the number of veterans being served from about 300 when she took over to more than 500 now, a number she said pales in comparison to what she wants to accomplish.

"I won't be happy until we have 2,274 veterans being served," she said.

"I suspect I'm going to be here for a while. These men and women served. They put their lives out there. I'm going to do everything I can to help them."

She said in some cases she helped veterans who have been trying for three decades to get compensation, but have failed because they were trying to do it on their own. With some guidance and a few specific inquiries, Sugars, or her assistant Joshua Weeks, can get some benefits.

"Depending on their specific situation, if they were hurt or got sick from being in a certain area at a certain time, sometimes even for just one day, we can get compensation for them. They just need to come in and talk to us," Sugars said.

At 100% compensation, veterans can see assistance of $3,000 per month.

"That's a huge life changer for most of these people."

She's spent a good part of the past three years getting the word out to area veterans and that has paid some dividends. But she said another hurdle is the veterans coming to terms with the idea that it's okay to ask for help.

Sand says IFC/Koch deal is a "terrible thing"

wouldn't be owned by Koch was a justification for the massive commitment of tax dollars in the first place," Sand wrote in his letter.

He said that's the biggest reason why the deal should be blocked.

"Once we make that investment, it's supposed to bring lower prices. Otherwise, if you only have one person, they can name their price. The idea was to promote competition and that's a good thing - I like competition. If farmers' prices go up because of consolidation, that will drive costs up for everyone else that they need to pass through."

Taking a stand and pushing back on the deal isn't a concern for Sand as far as future economic development in the area because of what the state has been willing to do to attract business and industries.

"No. If they come to the state with their hand out asking for 500 million, then they should be concerned that they would do what they said they would. And if some feel like they've got to be quiet about it, then let the watchdog do it," he said.

"I think this is a terrible idea and I don't have a problem speaking out about it."

Sand referenced former Governor Terry Branstad in his letter to the FTC and DOJ, where Branstad espoused the benefit of providing competition in the fertilizer industry.

"In 2013, promoting the largest tax incentive package in Iowa history, Governor Branstad said, 'the Koch Brothers don't want the competition [...] We want competition.' I agree with the former governor. This deal should be rejected."

Sand said he didn't have any insight into what the outcome of the pending deal will be, but said opposition to the sale has to be made public.

"I genuinely don't know what the outcome of this will be. This isn't a thing where I'm trying to assess probabilities, but trying to make the better outcome more likely," he said.

"And we appreciate folks down in southeast Iowa contacting us about issues that are important to them, and we encourage them to do so."

Rob Sand is Iowa's 33rd State Auditor. He was elected in 2018 after serving seven years as Iowa's chief public corruption prosecutor in the Iowa Attorney General's Office.

Bird proposal would focus on human trafficking

Attorney General Bird's proposed bill passed out of subcommittees in the Iowa Senate and House of Representatives. The bill will do the following:

Require human traffickers convicted of level "B" felonies to serve a mandatory minimum of 50% to 70% of their sentence without parole.

Provide victims of human trafficking access to an advocate for support during criminal proceedings.

Provide court-appointed counsel during criminal cases for witnesses with a mental disability.
