police pursuits statute.

One disappointment during the regular session was the state's inability to enact a new law to replace its expiring one on drug possession. With that major item not yet completed, Governor Inslee called legislators together for a special session on May 16. A bipartisan compromise was ultimately developed and approved to clarify our state's drug possession law and provide treatment options. This is a very positive step for our state.

The new law was necessary because in 2021, the State Supreme Court struck down Washington's felony drug possession statute as unconstitutional. In its ruling, the court determined that individuals could be incarcerated without knowingly possessing drugs Legislators approved a temporary measure later that year to classify drug possession as a simple misdemeanor while working toward a more comprehensive solution. The temporary measure expires on July

WENATCHEE - Ohme Gardens is hosting a concert, July 9, to raise matching money for grants to improve the gardens. "Music in the Gardens" will feature the community inspirational choir, GladSong, and there will be a silent auction of an original painting of the gardens by Ginger Reddington, of Twisp, donated by Kim Reid of Wenatchee. The gardens is located just north of Wenatchee.

"Ohme Gardens truly is a community treasure that the whole community can get behind," said Tim Meyer, director of GladSong. "The Ohme family had the vision decades ago to create an alpine meadow on the bluffs overlooking the Columbia River and the community can keep that vision going. We would like to see individuals and businesses step up in a big way," Meyer said.

Samantha Segaline, director of Ohme Gardens, said she hopes the concert will generate matching money needed to apply for a grant to restore and rebuild the gardens' Ox Yoke picnic shelter. She said the project may be completed for under $100,000 but that it might cost closer to $200,000.

1, so passing a new law soon became one of the highest policy priorities of the year.

During the regular session, I voted for Senate Bill 5536, which achieved bipartisan support in the Senate. Unfortunately, that bill failed to pass the House of Representatives, largely because a key number of progressive Democrats believed it was too strict on drug possession. Ultimately, the drug possession replacement bill approved during the May 16 special session was similar to the prior Senate bill. The final compromise was approved in the Senate by a vote of 43-6 and in the House by a vote of 83-13.

I voted for the compromise measure. An updated law was absolutely necessary because the temporary law was a failure as it sent the completely wrong message about drug possession. This new law establishes drug possession as a gross misdemeanor while also granting people two opportunities for limited jail times and fines. The third penalty could result in nearly a year in jail, which – at that point - seems very reasonable to me as a directive to get healthy.

Key elements of the new law include the opportunities for pretrial "diversions" for treatment. Drug convictions can be vacated if people successfully complete their programs. The new law and budget also invest millions of dollars in treatment programs and facilities so that people can get the help they need. The law applies uniformly throughout the state as well, avoiding differing local regulations but providing cities and counties some flexibility.

I am very proud of lawmakers

Leavenworth Adventure Park's Grand Opening

By Wesley Zhao

Correspondent

The mounds of steel upon the hill, the mark we loved to point at, has completed its metamorphosis. Leavenworth Adventure Park (LAP) opened to the public on June 1. During the grand opening John Sutherland, LAP's general manager and developer, offered a tour of the main attractions: a three story Leavenworth-Bavarian style building adorned with a tall mural designed by local Gibbs Graphics; the Alpine Ascent Climbing Wall (also designed by Gibbs); the Bavarian Bungee Bounce Trampoline (jumpers can "flip and fly up to 20 feet in the air!"), The Enchantments Mining Sluice (scavenger hunt for kids); and the Tumwater Twister Alpine Coaster, Washington State's first alpine coaster (there are 13 in Bavaria).

Sutherland, who lives in a condominium across the street and plans to stay indefinitely, cried while giving his grand opening speech. To better understand how he was feeling, especially being among people who prefer their view of Tumwater unobstructed by the Twister, Echo had a more in-depth conversation with Sutherland. This week, however, we cover the Park's main attractions; next week we cover Sutherland's story and perspective — why is he here?

The Tumwater Twister Alpine Coaster's toboggans carry one or two people down a 2,700-foot-long track with a vertical drop of 234 feet. Riders self-operate a lever to determine their own speed up to 27 miles-per-hour (unless you get stuck behind less adrenaline-inclined riders, like I did – tourists!). Because of the flexibility in choosing your own speed, during the grand opening riders as old as 80 and as young as 3 cruised comfortably down the coaster's tracks. The

Leadership

Sonny's been working as a non-family member at a twofamily establishment, small enterprise, five guys in the shop, good people, good pay. It is, however, his first hiring in a secular job and he's learning a lot. Last week at Grandma's dinner table when he came to move his Bronco, we had an interesting conversation about status, reputation and accomplishment theft. What, you ask, is accomplishment theft? Quite simply it is when someone else takes credit for my work reaping the status benefits of my labor inhibiting my reputation growth. That's not all bad if I'm a politician but politicians don't run in the family. Fishermen do. Having worked with his Uncle Larry for many fishing seasons Sonny has an idea in his mind of what a boss is.

We were sitting at the table eating potato salad and Ruben sandwiches from Grandma's left-over corned beef dinner when Sonny said after being asked how work was going, "Well, the owner doesn't know who's doing the work. The supervisor's son is on his phone constantly. Jake, Jake Jr. and I do the hands-on work and the supervisor, and his son take the credit." Sonny frowned into his plate before looking up, "I like the work, Grandpa. Sometimes it's irritating when I'm halfway through a job and the directions for what they want change." He shrugged. "But I really like the work and the pay is good." Grandpa looked at Sonny for a moment then he said, "It's a small shop," he glanced over at me to see if I'd like to offer an explanation. I kept my mouth shut. Oh yes, I've been there. I wandered around corporate America for many years before meeting Sonny's father. I am very well acquainted with accomplishment theft. "No matter where you go," Grandpa continued, "those people are there. You just have to continue to do a good job and don't let it bother you too much." Grandma and I watched the two men at the table. I saw Sonny's face smooth out as he made eye contact with his grandfather. His shoulders didn't hunch as much; he leaned back; he sat straighter in his chair.

After dinner as Sonny and I headed down to look over the Bronco (pre-trip check) he said to me, "You know the owner of the shop doesn't have a clue what goes on in the field when we are getting the work done." "That's because he doesn't want to know," I said.

Sonny frowned at me. I don't think he believed me. Then he said, "Mom, Uncle Larry may act like he's not paying attention." I raised my eyebrows into question marks. That didn't sound like Uncle Larry to me. "You know? Like how well we are doing our jobs and who's doing what? But he knows. He knows everything that's happening on his deck. Everything. All the time."

"That's a captain's job." I said, thinking that sounded more like Uncle Larry.

"Well, Mom," Sonny told me, "The owner of this shop doesn't know what's happening on his deck. I think Jake and Jake Jr. are looking for other places to work." "That's a good indicator that you need to start looking too." I said, "And Sonny? Are you learning anything from this owner and his supervisor?" Sonny frowned, "The owner didn't know my name until last week and I bet he's forgotten it by now. And the supervisor takes credit for everyone else's work." I grinned, "Like maybe how NOT to lead?"

Grandma's Potato Salad

(Steve & Caren's favorite)4 medium to large potatoes boiled, peeled & diced

- 2 teaspoons minced onion
  1 Tablespoon minced pickle (optional)
- 4 hard-boiled eggs
- 2-3 Tablespoons mayonnaise
- Salt & Pepper to tastePinch dry mustard (optional)
- Paprika (optional)

Put diced potatoes, onion, and pickles in a large bowl. Peel eggs, separate hardboiled yolk from the white. Dice the hard-boiled egg white into the large bowl and put the hard-boiled yolk into a small bowl (cereal bowl size). Add the mayonnaise to the egg yolk and mush it together until it is smooth. Add pinch of dry mustard (or a squirt of the prepared type) if so desired. Taste then add salt and pepper to taste. Sprinkle with paprika to garnish. Serve as a side for hot dogs, burgers, sandwiches of all types, fried chicken, BBQ and most anything grilled.

Upper Valley MEND looks forward to summer

SUBMITTED BY UV MEND

In May, Upper Valley MEND volunteers helped neighbors in the Upper Valley and Cashmere with $65,404 of emergency financial assistance, including 14 families who were not evicted from their homes because they got help with rent or mortgage payments.

Food insecurity is on the rise in the Upper Valley and Cashmere and more and more local families and seniors are using Upper Valley MEND's Community Cupboard. Numbers have increased steadily since the start of the year. In April, the number of households using the food pantry was 30% higher than April last year.

Upper Valley MEND's food programs manager, is looking for volunteers to help Upper Valley MEND meet the rising need: Community Cupboard; Wednesdays,10:30-1:30 p.m. Volunteers are needed to help check shoppers in and out, distribute grocery rescue, stock shelves, re-package bulk goods, and help create a welcoming Mobile space. Produce Pantry; partner with several organizations to provide gleaned produce to folks throughout the Wenatchee Valley. We are looking for volunteers to help staff the mobile produce pantry. Peshastin-Dryden Summer Meals Program, Monday and Wednesday, the week of June 26 to the week of July 31, 11-12 p.m. This service helps to provide lunches for students and families from the Peshastin-Dryden Elementary School.

Benevolent night at München Haus

Mark your calendars for a great evening out at München Haus August 1. This locally owned business has hosted a benevolent night to help meet the needs of struggling families in the Upper Valley and Cashmere since 2014. Help us make 2023's evening one to remember and turn out in force to support the community and this local business.

Medical, vision and dental care

Upper Valley MEND can help people without insurance or who are under-insured get the medical, vision and dental care they need. MEND's Free Clinic can help with medical issues and refer patients for a vision exam and connect them with Leavenworth Lions Club for help getting glasses. The Free Dental Program assists clients with accessing urgent and preventative dental care. Depending on the scope of the services needed, we either pay the entire cost or develop a cost share with the client based on what the client can afford.

Twister was designed by German company Weigand Sports.

The Alpine Ascent Climbing Wall has only four lanes and stands only 27 feet tall, but a local who regularly goes to the Wenatchee climbing gym still failed to ascend the "Most Challenging" route. The four routes vary in difficulty: easy, intermediate, advanced, and "Most Challenging." The wall is operated with an auto belay and the Park hopes to host an event with elite climbers. The Bavarian Bungee Bounce Trampoline is motor operated and looks a little frightening at first (or fun, if you like that kind of thing). There are four trampoline stations and jumpers wear a harness attached to two cables and bungees. Guests are welcome to attempt mid-air flips. The Gems of The Enchantments Mining Sluice, besides being a mouthful, is a type of educational scavenger hunt. Kids learn as they pan for 20 gems and get to bring home descriptions of the stones.

The Park has also developed backstory and mascot, Ludwig "Super Lou" the Bavarian tiger. Lou wanders around the park available for photos, but adamantly refuses to disclose the true identity behind the mask, even if you ask a lot. Food and beverages are offered on top and bottom floors, and the Park tried to stay local whenever possible: they carry Mela coffee and Danwiches. Reservations for specific time slots are encouraged, which helps manage parking and traffic flow (so far, according to Sutherland, reservations have prevented their lot from being full). Prices for each main attraction vary from $5 for children ages 3 to 6 (for a single Twister ride) to $69 for an adult ticket bundle (three tickets per each attraction). The Park will be open Thursdays through Monday in June and seven days a week starting July to September. They plan to offer a local discount but are struggling to figure out how to systematically offer it only to local residents.

three weeks of inspiring performances by renowned Festival Artists and Chamber Music Institute Young Artists in the spectacular setting of Canyon Wren Recital Hall, plus some special community venues.

This year's Festival brings together seventeen faculty artists and eighteen student artists from around the world to perform dynamic programs of classical music including music of living and underrepresented composers as well as beloved works from the chamber music repertoire. The Festival runs concurrently with Icicle Creek Chamber Music Institute, an educational program hosting accomplished college string players and pianists for intensive study with renowned faculty in the beautiful natural setting of the Icicle Creek Center for the Arts campus. ### Drug possession law for coming together to achieve a bipartisan solution on such an important and complicated issue, one where interesting combinations of Republicans and Democrats found themselves joining forces either voting for or against the various proposals. Some Republicans believed ideas did not punish drug possession enough while some Democrats believed they went too far. In the end, we found a solid compromise.

What is most important is to recognize that people around us are struggling with drugs. They are not only endangering themselves but also destroying their families and creating huge burdens on government. The rise of drug use is correlated to increased homelessness, crime, and other issues, which impact every community. This new law strikes the right balance between extending a helping hand of compassion and a heavier hand of accountability. For the sake of everyone, let's hope it works.

- Colchuck Peak Avalanche update

SUBMITTED BY CCSO

Sheriff Mike Morrison reported Monday, May 29, the body of Jeannie Lee, a 60-year-old climber from Bayside, New York was recovered from the base of Colchuck Peak. Lee was killed in an avalanche on Sunday, February 19, along with two other climbers; see original release below.

A Chelan County Mountain Rescue volunteer was in the area on a personal trip when he located Lee's body. Snow has melted significantly with the warm weather recently. He hiked to the top of Colchuck Glacier where he made a call to RiverCom dispatch.

Chelan County Sheriff's Office was notified and deployed the CCSO helicopter. Two additional Chelan County Mountain Rescue volunteers were transported to the scene to assist with the recovery. Lee's body was transported to the Leavenworth Fish Hatchery at approximately 4:30 p.m. and turned over to the Chelan County Coroner's Office. The rescuers did not locate the additional missing climber, Yun Park of Palisades Park, New Jersey. Conditions still are not safe to conduct a thorough search of the area.

Background: Sheriff Mike Morrison reported on February 20, that deputies were contacted at the CCSO Leavenworth substation about an avalanche that occurred near Colchuck Lake the previous day. The reporting party, a 53-year-old Maryland man reported the group he was with had attempted to climb Colchuck Peak on Sunday February 19. There were six climbers in that group and the reporting party had stayed at their base camp that day.

The lead climber triggered an avalanche while attempting to climb the Northeast Couloir of Colchuck Peak. Four of the climbers were swept down the couloir approximately 500 feet. Three of the climbers died as a result of trauma sustained in the fall. They were a 60-yearold female from New York, a 66-year-old male from New Jersey, and a 53-year-old male from Connecticut. The fourth climber, a 56-year-old male form New York, sustained non-lifethreatening injuries and was able to hike back to base camp with the remaining two. They > were a 50-year-old male from New York and a 36-year-old male from New Jersey. When they arrived at camp, they sent the reporting party for help.

When Deputies took the report, An SAR coordinator started gathering resources. A total of 22 rescuers responded to the trailhead to assist with this effort. They were from Chelan County Mountain Rescue, County Volunteer Chelan Search and Rescue and ORV unit, Seattle Mountain Rescue, Tacoma Mountain Rescue, and Yakima Mountain Rescue. A group of four from Chelan County Mountain Rescue responded to the lake driven part of the way by the CCVSAR ORV unit. They reached the base camp at approximately 1:30 p.m. They were able to determine avalanche conditions were too hazardous to continue to the deceased climbers. They escorted the surviving climbers back to the trailhead. Rescuers were not sent back into the scene that day due to hazardous conditions. CCSO continues to work with Northwest Avalanche Center to assist in a recover plan. Colchuck Peak sits at the south end of Colchuck Lake approximately 8 miles south of Leavenworth.

I've been battling a heat rash from the hot weather we've been having recently. What's the best way to get rid of it?

Donna, a 75-year-old grandmother, developed redness and itching during a summertime heat wave in her groin area.

"I've tried putting Gold Bond® powder on it for the past 3-4 days, but it's not helping. What else do you recommend, instead?"

Heat rash, or prickly heat, can happen to anyone with active sweat glands. It's estimated that at least 40% of infants will get a heat rash at one point. Heat rash also afflicts people who sweat in the summer heat doing strenuous physical work, performing sports, exercising, even gardening.

Prickly heat or heat rash is caused by clogged sweat glands. When sweat builds up under your skin, it can become trapped, causing your pores to swell and rupture. This creates small red, raised lesions that burn or itch. These reddened bumps may be clustered in small clumps or spread out over larger areas.

Heat rash can occur anywhere that sweat accumulates: your armpits, chest, upper back, belly, and groin. The blockage creates inflammation, pustules, or a yeast infection if it is severe enough.

Heat rash or prickly heat can also happen to people treating dry or itchy skin with heavy creams or ointments. Although soothing in winter, thick creams and ointments can plug up your hard-working sweat glands during hot, humid summer weather.

Keeping your skin dry is one key to relieving the itching and burning of prickly heat. One of the best ways to do that is by maximizing airflow to the skin to discourage sweating. Wearing loose, lightweight clothing during hot weather and using fans to improve airflow is essential. Fevers can cause profuse sweating and should be treated with appropriate doses of acetaminophen to decrease excess moisture next to the skin.

Another key to treating heat rash is avoiding oils, heavy creams, or ointments on areas that perspire heavily. This can include under your arms, your chest, around your groin, behind your knees, and under any skin folds.

Avoid using medicated or plain powders on red, irritated, or broken skin when treating prickly heat. Powders can clog inflamed pores and sweat glands, so it's best to stay away from them entirely until your skin has calmed down.

Heat rash can cause intense itching and an almost uncontrollable urge to scratch. Although scratching feels good, your relief is short-lived, as it will trigger an increase in inflammation and even more itching. Applying cloths dampened with cool water can help, along with non-prescription steroid creams containing 1% hydrocortisone. Hydrocortisone 1% cream is safe for small areas of broken skin or larger areas of intact skin in adults. You should avoid applying medicated creams directly over areas of damaged skin, especially the skin of children or infants.

Finally, avoid using hydrocortisone ointment when addressing heat rash because they are occlusive, which can block or clog your sweat glands.

If these strategies don't help the itching and irritation of heat rash, contact your doctor, as other conditions may look like heat rash at first but need to be treated differently.

Here are 6 Tips for Treating Prickly Heat or Heat Rash:

1. Increase airflow to the affected area.

Wear lightweight, loose clothing or no clothing at all. House fans can help circulate air over your skin.

2. Lukewarm sponge baths increase evaporation, helping to cool and dry the skin.

Avoid hot water for showers or baths, which can increase inflammation. Adding oatmeal or a product that contains oatmeal like Aveeno® to bath water helps soothe irritated skin.

3. Avoid using skin powders like Gold Bond®, especially on broken skin.

The powder can create clogged sweat glands. Avoid applying powders until the acute symptoms of redness and itching subside.

4. Avoid Benadryl® cream or spray. Use 1% hvdrocortisone cream instead.

Although Benadryl® (diphenhydramine) capsules and liquid can help relieve itching, diphenhydramine cream or topical spray should be avoided. Benadryl® can be absorbed into the bloodstream from areas of broken skin. Combing diphenhydramine pills or syrup with a skin cream also containing it can result in drowsiness and confusion.

5. Avoid applying heavy creams and ointments.

Ointments and heavy creams can block sweat glands. Keep your armpits, groin, chest, and skin folds as dry as possible. Tucking a light cloth like a pillowcase between skin folds helps absorb excess perspiration.

6. Cool it before you use it.

Refrigerating your medicated cream or aloe vera gel before applying it can provide additional soothing power.

Peshastin Library holds Community Engagement Events

SUBMITTED BY TIM DILLMAN

NCW Libraries

For residents who were unable to attend recent Peshastin Library engagement events there is still time to provide feedback through an online survey available www.ncwlibraries.org/ at locations/peshastin-publiclibrary/. Paper surveys will also be available at the Peshastin Library through June 30.

NCW Libraries and the Friends of the Peshastin Library partnered to host a series of informational sessions and community engagement events around Peshastin in May. The day of engagement included drop-in kiosks set up at the Peshastin Market, a stakeholder's event with local community leaders, and an evening town hall. The events were led by staff from NCW Libraries and Carolyn Carlberg, a designer with Library Forward.

The events were part of ongoing efforts by the Peshastin Friends of the Library and NCW Libraries to bring interior design upgrades to the Peshastin Library. Participants in the day's events had the opportunity to share how they currently use the library and dream about future upgrades, programs, and opportunities they would like to see offered at the library. In addition, participants had the opportunity to view and vote on several design directions and program possibilities for the future of the library.

"It was great to hear from Peshastin residents about how supportive they are of the library and how much they already love the space," said Tim Dillman, a staff member with NCW Libraries.

"The library in Peshastin exists because the community has long been passionate about having a library and community members have continued to show strong support and use of the services and programs that are provided.'

The community engagement events were part of NCW Libraries Reimagining Spaces project, a multi-year interior redesign effort at all NCW Libraries branches throughout the five-county system. Library Forward and Forte Architects of Wenatchee have been hired by NCW Libraries to lead community engagement efforts and develop interior design plans. Peshastin is one of the first communities to begin its redesign.

Obituary & Memorial Policies

NCW Media, Inc.: Leavenworth Echo, Cashmere Valley Record, Lake Chelan Mirror, Quad City Herald. An Obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the community of the passing of the loved one. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data. Memorials are another way to let the community know about the life and memories of the person who has passed. A Memorial is different from an Obituary. An Obituary is usually current, while a Memorial can be written later. Obituaries and Memorials need to be typed and emailed as a Word Document. They can be placed in one or more papers - all publish weekly on Wednesday. Obituaries are priced by the number of words and include one color photo and go online at no extra charge. Memorials are priced per column inch. Please call for cost. *Payment is due at the time of placement. *Exception: Chapels, funeral homes who have an account, can be billed. There is no charge for a Death Notice - information is limited. Deadline is 4 p.m. on Friday - some exceptions may apply. # Over $1 Million in Scholarship Funds Awarded from the Tree Fruit Industry

SUBMITTED BY FAVIOLA BARBOSA

Washington Apple Education Foundation

The Washington Apple Education Foundation (WAEF) awarded 316 scholarship recipients to students this year. Of the 316 scholarships, 206 were awarded to renewing students, and 110 new students were welcomed to the WAEF family. These scholarships represent over $1 million sponsored by the tree fruit industry through various fundraisers, scholarships in memory of industry leaders and friends, and annual donations. To be eligible for a WAEF scholarship, students must submit one of our two scholarship applications:

Universal for students raised in families with direct ties to Washington's tree fruit industry or students interested in a Washington tree fruit career pathway; and Vocational/Technical for Washington State high school seniors or current college students on a pathway that aligns with potential work in the tree fruit industry.

Every WAEF scholarship recipient receives student support services to ensure their success through the Beyond the Scholarship Program. This includes workshops led by WAEF volunteers, virtual mock interviews, guided packages, and many more perks. WAEF delivers a successful program with a 90% retention rate for scholarship renewal awards. Additionally, our WAEF students complete their degrees within four years or less at a rate of 86%, and 79% of WAEF scholarship recipients are 1st generation college students.

Book Signing

By Washington's own award-winning author Deborah Swenson. Saturday, June 24, from 1-3 p.m. at the Book for All Seasons, downtown Leavenworth.

by Deborah Swenson

What does a Celtic Gift, a twentieth century physician, a nineteenth century gambler and evil villains have in common? A Western Romantic Suspense filled with action, danger and time travel. Emily Sweeney, MD and Caleb Young, attorney turned gambler are thrust into the desolate desert hills of 1880 Arizona. Two lives forged out of truths and trust.

Can their love survive, or will it take its last breath?

The Contract

A novel by local writer William E. Forhan.

Nobel Prize winning author Gabriel García Márquez was quoted as saying, "All human beings have three lives, public, private and secret."

In our modern world of the Internet search engines and DNA testing, keeping our private and secret lives separate is increasingly difficult. Sometimes they can come crashing in on our public lives when we least expect it.

Father Robert McCarthy is a middle-aged priest who is suddenly and unexpectedly confronted with his secret past. How he deals with the revelation of that past with his family, his congregation and the impacts of that secret life is inspirational. How McCarthy discloses the news of his college indiscretion requires him to take everyone involved on a journey of confession. That journey forces him to deal with issues of homosexuality, judgementalism, divorce and pride.

His pastoring skills and the depth of support from his wife help him bring forgiveness and restoration to many broken relationships.

The bonds of three families are ultimately restored through celebrations of life experiences including fishing, holiday gatherings, the discovery of unknown family connections and a wedding.

 Correlations between social media use and depression and anxiety, as well as poor sleep, online harassment, and low self-esteem, particularly for girls.

It is necessary for the current Administration to recognize the harms caused by unregulated social media companies who avoid accountability and corporate responsibility by trying to hide behind Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act. Both federal and state government must prioritize efforts to curb the online exploitation of children. It takes all of us doing our part.

Enough Is Enough (EIE) applauds the efforts of Surgeon General Vivek Murthy to shine a national spotlight on the harms of social media, stating it presents "profound risk of harm' for children. Protecting children from online exploitation is a nonpartisan issue that deserves wide bipartisan support.

EIE has been exposing the tragedy of the online exploitation of children for 30 years. Sadly, it often takes a public health crisis to get government and Congress to say Enough Is Enough. Parents cannot shoulder the entire burden of protecting their children in the digital age from online predators

Ohme Gardens

The gardens also need matching money for grants for lighting and paving its parking lot which easily will cost more than an additional $200,000 she said.

Ohme Gardens is owned and operated by Chelan County. "People hear that and assume we are county funded, but we are self-supporting. All of our operating revenue comes from admissions paid by visitors. We do not receive any county or taxpayer money for operations," Segaline said.

Annual operations are budgeted at about $400,000.

Some capital improvements qualify for county funding, but the far larger source is grants and donations through the Ohme Gardens Friends Society, Segaline said.

"Community support has dwindled in recent years, and we would like to turn that around. We're always looking for volunteers to help with everything from pulling weeds to caring for cacti on cactus point and helping with fundraisers.

The 9-acre gardens is a favorite tourist attraction, receiving about 25,000 visitors annually. It's a popular venue for weddings, concerts and other events because of its alpine trees, ponds, flowers, rock paths and scenic views of the Columbia River and Wenatchee. The 6 to 8 p.m. July 9 concert is $35 per person. Tickets are available at Ohmegardens.org. Admission includes a fruit and cheese plate. Wine and beer from concert sponsors will be sold. Tax-deductible donations to Ohme Gardens Friends Society will be accepted. All proceeds will go to the society. GladSong performs pop, country, jazz, and gospel pieces. GladSong's  $2022\,concerts\,resulted\,in\,$42,\!000$ raised for 11 charitable causes in the Wenatchee Valley. The choir had a benefit concert for the NCW Chaplain Foundation, on June 11, at Christ Center Church in Cashmere, and for a Leavenworth group providing weekend meals for underprivileged children, July 23, at Icicle Creek Center for the Arts Snowy Owl Theater. Information other summer concerts is available at GladSong.org. Sunnyslope orchardists Herman and Ruth Ohme began developing their backyard garden in 1929, planting trees and flowers and building paths. Ohme was quoted as saying, "It was a rock pile, but it had an inspiring view." The family opened the gardens to the public in 1939. The state of Washington bought it in 1991 and Chelan County operated it. The state gave it to the county in 2008.

Public Notices

WATER TRANSMISSION MAIN REPLACEMENT - WELL SITE TO MILL ST. The City of Leavenworth (City) is

soliciting qualifications from consulting firms (Consultants) to provide professional services for the bid-ready design of the Icicle Road water transmission main from the City's well site to Mill Street.

The Icicle Road transmission main was identified in the Citv's 2018 Water System Plan as needing replacement in order to address peak hour demand deficiencies in the water distribution system and replace the aging steel main. The Water Transmission Main Replacement -Well Site to Mill St. project will replace and upsize approximately 5,400 feet of existing 12-inch diameter domestic water transmission main from the City's groundwater well site on Icicle Road to the intersection of Icicle Road and US 2 and along US 2 to the intersection of US 2 and Mill Street. The water main is anticipated to be located within the limits of Icicle Road and US 2 and, if necessary to connect to the existing water distribution system, along City-owned access roads to both the well site and the Icicle Road Reservoir. The existing transmission main is anticipated to remain live until the new main is in use in order to convey water to the City. The complete Request for Qualifications (RFQ) document can be found on the City of Leavenworth's request for bids/proposals webpage: https://cityofleavenworth.com/doc uments/category/requests-for-bids -proposals. It is the sole responsibility of the Consultant to obtain any RFQ updates or addenda from the City's website. Submissions shall be sent electronically to Andrea Fischer, City Clerk, at afischer@cityofleavenworth.com by 2:00:00 PM on Monday, June 26, 2023. Late or incorrectly submitted submissions will be automatically disqualified from consideration. Any gualifications received after the specified date and time will automatically be rejected and will not receive any further consideration by the City. The City of Leavenworth in accordance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act (Section 504) and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), commits to nondiscrimination on the basis of disability, in all of its programs and activities. This material can be made available in an alternate format by emailing Andi Zontek-Backstrum, PE, CIP Manager/Deputy Public Works Director at

WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

Salmon, salmon and shad

BY JOHN KRUSE

WENATCHEE RIVER IN LEAVENWORTH OPEN FOR SALMON FISHING

The Wenatchee River from the US Highway 2 bridge to the mouth of the Icicle River is now open for Chinook salmon fishing, thanks to a healthy run of springers heading back to the Leavenworth National Fish Hatchery. The limit is three hatchery Chinook per day through June 30. Bait is allowed but you have to use barbless hooks. No motorized watercraft are allowed in this section of the Wenatchee River.

SUMMER FISHING ON THE COLUMBIA

Fishing for summer Chinook, sockeye salmon and steelhead opens up on the Columbia River on June 16 and stays open until July 31. The open area is from the mouth at Astoria to the Hwy. 395 bridge at Pasco. The Columbia from Richland to Priest Rapids Dam will also be open during this time. The forecast for Upper Columbia River summer Chinook this year is 85,400 fish, which is about 6,000 more than last year.

PATEROS SALMON BAKE

The Pateros Booster Club will be sponsoring a salmon bake on Saturday, June 24 starting at noon in the park. The cost is $15 a plate which includes not only salmon but also salad, water and rolls from the Sweetwater Bakery. In addition to a good meal there will also be seminars and demonstrations from the Colville Tribe about salmon conservation, the local salmon hatchery, Native

Marc Bush and a happy client with an American shad

American beadwork and basket weaving.

REGISTER NOW FOR THE WENATCHEE SALMON DERBY

The Peter Flohr Memorial Salmon Derby takes place July 14-15 between Rock Island Dam and Wells Dam on the Columbia River. There will be $7500 worth of cash and prizes given away at the event for the heaviest boat limit of fish and for the heaviest fish caught by a single angler. Last year that latter winner was Greg Kite who caught a 20.41-pound Chinook salmon. Derby tickets cost $75 and can be purchased at www. wenatcheesalmonderby.com. Proceeds from the event will go to the Coastal Conservation Association.

SHAD FISHING IS HEATING UP

The annual run of American shad up the Columbia River is building steam. Over a 100,000 shad a day are being counted at the Bonneville Dam fish ladder. Marc Bush, owner of Twisted Waters Guide Service, recently took two clients shad fishing near Beacon Rock State Park and the two, Drew Monsey and his father Martin, caught 104 shad in short order, with Drew out fishing his dad by 11 fish. If you would like to book a trip with Bush you can go to his Facebook page or his website at www. twistedwaters-gs.com.

You don't need to have a guide to have success catching shad. Two great places to fish for them from shore are just below Bonneville Dam and also below the John Day Dam. Simply cast a 1/16-ounce jig or shad dart and use anywhere from ¼ to ½ ounce of lead above it, depending on the current. Then, let it swing downstream with the current and wait for a bite before reeling in the jig and casting again.

Shad typically run between one and three pounds but they are scrappy fighters and fun to catch. Kids in particular enjoy the non-stop action when the shad run is going strong. The state record for shad is a 3.85-pound specimen caught by Tom Magnuson out of the Columbia River in 2005.

Some anglers will keep the shad to eat but others, myself included, cut these fish in half and use them for crab bait. They are a very oily fish and work very well when it comes to attracting crabs. Shad also work well as bait for sturgeon fishing and for catfish too.
