Cathy Stroup Memorial Scholarship created for future elementary education teachers

Marlene Farrell
Correspondent

Cathy Stroup, who passed away suddenly in August, was renowned in Leavenworth for her outstanding 33-year teaching career, with a focus on first, second and third grade at Osborn Elementary.

Cathy's husband, Bob, who also taught for decades, has decided to start a scholarship in her memory. Creating this new opportunity for graduating Cascade Kodiaks serves to channel some of the sadness of her loss into something that will amplify the meaning of her life's work by paying it forward.

Bob, working with a lawyer and Dwight Remick, Cascade School District business manager, was able to design the scholarship so that the applicant must qualify to be considered by having a passion to pursue education, and specifically K-3rd grade elementary education.

A chance for a second scholarship installment can occur when the student declares an elementary education major at the end of sophomore year or the beginning of junior year of college.

The Stroup family and Cascade Education Foundation (CEF) will oversee the scholarship. CEF is accepting donations to the scholarship fund, and many people who knew Cathy and her positive impact on local youth have donated already.

Through creation of this scholarship, Bob and his family hope to smooth out the path for a candidate who exemplifies some of Cathy's many qualities.

Join NCW Libraries for Virtual Story Time

SUBMITTED BY NCW LIBRARIES

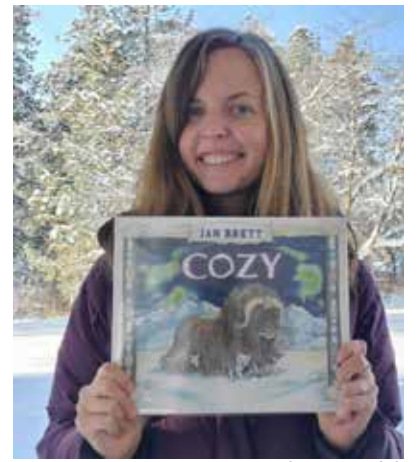

NCW Libraries offers a weekly, live virtual story time that connects young children and their caregivers across five counties through reading, song, and play.

The story time airs on the Zoom platform every Thursday at 9:30 a.m., led by Librarian, Clare Morrison, Peshastin

Upcoming story times include Jan 12: Read "Ten Ways to Hear Snow", about a girl who wakes up after a blizzard to a quiet town and realizes that snow actually changes sound. Jan. 19: Pajama story time (wearing pajamas encouraged). Jan. 26: Celebrate Lunar (Chinese) New Year.

At the beginning and end of the story time, the children are given the opportunity to talk with the librarians and each other. NCW Libraries started virtual story times during the Covid lockdown, when it was the only way to offer reading programs to children and families. The program continued even after libraries reopened and in-person story times resumed because families still enjoyed the virtual experience that engaged children from across the library district in the comfort of their own homes.

"It's a joy to see the kids participate with us," Woodruff said. "It's been a wonderful way to connect kids from our five-county area." Morrison added, "The flexibility of the Zoom Storytime format is a great complement to our regular in-person story times. We've had several preschool and elementary school classrooms participate who might not otherwise be able to make it to a library for Storytime. We've even had kids tune in from the car on family road trips!" Sign up for virtual story time at www.ncwlibraries.org and click on "Events". Then receive a Link to the Zoom event via email.

College at Cascade High School

Madeline Black
CHS Staffer

Cascade High School (CHS) offers free dual (high school and college) credit classes at multiple post-secondary schools across Washington state. A CHS student can earn up to 60 credits through Eastern Washington University (EWU), Central Washington University (CWU), Wenatchee Valley College (WVC), and the University of Washington (UW), while still having an authentic high school experience and without leaving the high school campus. "Students can use {dual credits} by transferring them to the university they want to go to," said Mrs. Schafer, who oversees scheduling students at CHS.

In addition to offering dual credit, these classes prepare Cascade students for the more difficult workload at college, allowing them to meet state graduation requirements, and help their families save money on college tuition. The average cost of a college credit is $600, so by taking just one college level course at CHS, students can save approximately $3,000.

Another benefit of taking these challenging courses while still enrolled as a high school student is the support of a high school teacher and staff. "It's much different because you're still in high school and technically it's college content. So, the teachers are a lot more lenient on some things and it's also way easier to get help when you need help than it would be in an actual college situation," explained '22 graduate Ruthie Biebesheimer.

Classes provided range from CWU Physics to WVC Childhood Development. The classes are self-selected, and while there are benchmarks suggested prior to enrollment, any student can take part. Most of the courses are designed for enrollment during students' junior and senior years. Freshman and sophomore students who are considering college and wanting to challenge themselves are encouraged to take "honors" designated and advanced level courses.

Enrollment alone is not enough to ensure earning credit. Students must pass dual credit classes with a "C" or higher in order to earn college credits. High school credits are still awarded to students who pass with a "D."

Most credits provided at CHS are directly transferable to universities in Washington state and many out of state colleges. They also help to make a student's college and scholarship application resume stronger. Credits that do not transfer directly are counted towards college elective course credit. "[CHS staff] try to spread [the courses] out over the year so that we can offer them all at different times, so that kids that are interested in taking those classes have the opportunity to take as many of them as they can. We spread them out over the whole year, because we're such a small school, in order to offer those, we spread them out, so that the upper end kids that want to take classes like that have the availability to take all of them," said Schafer.

CHS's College and Career Counselor, Mrs. Rieke, meets with students to help them understand their options for life after high school and begin to design their college schedule. "I hope that they can use [dual credit courses] to reach their goals whether that be a degree or a certificate. Maybe they get some sort of prerequisite out of the way or, at a minimum, I'm hoping that they at least get a base to be able to apply to another college course," said Rieke.

In addition to offering "honors" courses, specifically designed to prepare students for college level work, for sophomore and freshman students, the CHS English department offers a college class at both the senior and junior levels. Their junior year, they can take Ms. Robison's EWU writing class that covers seven distinct types of college level writing. If they feel comfortable with their abilities, they can move on to the EWU Reading course taught by Ms. Rosenfield, their senior year. The reading course involves class discussions and comprehension of complex texts such as Dracula and Lord of the Rings. Rosenfield would recommend her class to "anyone who thinks that they want to go to college, especially if they want to save some money when they go to college. People who are looking for a little extra challenge, who maybe are bored by traditional English classes, or there's not enough going on. People who think that they would enjoy reading higher level literature and discussing it."

The history department also offers many college-level coursework within CHS. U.S. History is a graduation requirement at CHS, and any CHS student can take the college level history class during their junior year. History teacher, Mrs. Renner-Singer, teaches the EWU U.S. history course at Cascade. "We have to follow the requirements of Eastern Washington to do the five credits. [Students] learn the same content as a standard U.S. History class, but the textbook is college level. There's more reading,

Rep. Mike Steele reappointed ranking member on House Capital Budget Committee

SUBMITTED BY KELLEY PAINE

Sr. Public Information officer

Rep. Mike Steele, R-Chelan, has been reappointed to serve as the ranking member on the House Capital Budget Committee when the Legislature convened for the 2023 session on Monday, Jan. 9.

Steele has been the lead Republican on the committee since 2021, serving as the assistant ranking member prior to that. This continued assignment makes him a top negotiator and budget writer for the state's two-year construction budget.

The Capital Budget Committee approves money for the construction and repair of public buildings and other long-term investments, such as land acquisitions and transfers. Additionally, the committee considers grants and loans to local governments or nonprofit organizations for infrastructure, broadband, housing, and cultural and heritage facilities.

"It's an incredible honor to be reappointed to this leadership role," said Steele. "The capital budget is unique in that it is by far the most bipartisan committee in Olympia. Both sides of the aisle work together to prioritize and advance projects that not only improve long-term economic goals, but also enhance renewal, health, and growth for rural and urban communities alike."

The 12th District lawmaker was also reappointed to serve on the House Appropriations Committee and Education Committee.

The Appropriations Committee considers the operating budget and related legislation, budget processes, and fiscal issues such as pension policy and compensation. The Education Committee considers issues relating to kindergarten through twelfth grade (K-12) education.

"Serving on the Appropriations Committee gives me a unique opportunity to protect our citizens' hard-earned tax dollars, advocating for a fiscally prudent state budget - while working against irresponsible state spending," said Steele.

"How we educate our youth, teaching them to think critically and be prepared for life, is incredibly important to the future of Washington state," added Steele. "I'm deeply thankful to have been selected to continue as a member of the Education Committee in the coming session."

and writing. Then we have to do a big research project with a writing component with it," said Renner-Singer. She would recommend the class to anyone who "can take on a larger workload."

Mr. Allen's EWU Phycology course is also offered through the history department. "There are a lot of projects in the class. So, the class is a lot of note taking. It's not like your typical 'here's a worksheet, read the book, do the worksheet.' It's 'here's the information and here's a project where you have to apply that information that you just learned to the project,'" said Allen.

There are a variety of challenging math and science classes offered for upperclassmen as well. Mr. Massey's University of Washington Calculus courses are offered for students who are confident in their math capability and would like to move on to more difficult mathematics. "It starts with Pre-Calc. And so, you're supposed to take Pre-Calculus first and then Calculus I and Calculus II. I think anyone who does well in Algebra II could easily handle it and maybe should take them," explained Massey.

Other college-level classes offered at CHS include WVC Childhood Development, EWU Phycology and WVC Natural Resources (which students at any grade level can enroll in). While some courses are offered annually, others are offered based on student interest and may fluctuate slightly from year to year. Senior Vanessa West will graduate from CHS this year with 51 college credits. "These classes have prepared me for taking harder courses when I go to a university and taught me why time management is important, because the workload is a lot more than core classes," said West. Senior Brendan Fallon has earned approximately 45 college credits during his time at CHS. Taking college level classes "definitely made [high school] more challenging, but I think that's a good thing," said Fallon. "Because I want to go to college and it's good to practice that level of work right now with the support of my high school."

Senior Vincent Slette will be graduating this year with 35 college credits and a variety of certifications related to fire fighting. "I wanted to save money and many teachers encouraged me to take college courses for two reasons: because they are higher level - you learn more- and you save a lot of money. In addition, you don't have to take them at college, and they are easier at the high school, because you have regular access to a teacher," said Slette.

quality of life across the region."

The foundation provided added incentives to encourage and motivate giving, such as Funday Monday in which donors won $1,000 to use on Give NCW any way they chose. There was also an option to "Give to All" to support all participating organizations and have your donation matched, thanks to our Partners in Giving. "Our Partners provide unrestricted gifts that are invaluable to our organization," said Stipe. "We've been able to award additional grants, increase scholarship awards, and provide additional opportunities for nonprofits. This year the $50,000 match to Give to All was met and provided each nonprofit with over $1,400 in extra donations. We're so grateful to be able to have inspired and motivated giving with this match."

This year, Give NCW was open to any 501c3 nonprofit organization located in Chelan, Douglas, or Okanogan counties and had received at least one of the foundation's competitive grants in the past. They were able to raise funds for specific projects or their core operations. Twenty-one nonprofits raised over $10,000. To learn more, visit www.cfncw.org/givencw.

The Community Foundation of North Central Washington's mission is to grow, protect, and connect charitable gifts in support of strong communities throughout Chelan, Douglas, and Okanogan counties. Established in 1986, the Community Foundation manages $148 million in assets through 600+ individual funds and has awarded over $46 million in grants and scholarships.

How to maximize the value and timeliness of your tax return

Courtesy StatePoint

Tax season doesn't need to create headaches, fears, or anxieties. By gathering important tax documents in advance and understanding your filing and refund options, you can have confidence that you've maximized the value and timeliness of your tax return.

STATEPOINT - Research shows that if you're dreading tax season, you're not alone.

According to the Pew Research Center, 47% of Americans say they are bothered a lot by the complexity of the federal tax system. Other taxpayers stress over getting the details right. In a Credello survey, 22% of respondents say not maximizing their refund is their biggest fear around doing taxes, while another 22% said their biggest fear is making a mistake.

"Many Americans rely on their tax refund to make ends meet. Accessing those funds should be fast and easy," says Chad Prashad, president, and CEO of World Finance.

To help you get a handle on your taxes, World Finance is drawing on its 26 years of filing expertise to offer these timely tips:

- Get ready early. As soon as your employer provides your W2, you can file your taxes. Having all other documentation and receipts ready to go will help expedite the process, which means you will get your tax return faster, too. Collect the necessary materials in one place before filing.
- Consider significant life changes. Did you move in 2022? Have a baby? Get married? Change jobs? Each of these monumental life events can have an impact on your taxes, so be sure to disclose these factors when filing or to the professional filing on your behalf.
- Know what's new. Visit IRS.gov to learn about any changes to tax filings that are applicable to you. A tax services professional can also help you identify relevant updates. World Finance tax pros have year-round training to stay on top of the latest tax filing requirements and are ready to tailor tax services to each tax customer's financial situation.
- Review and adjust. Once you know what your return is going to be this year, make any necessary adjustments to your W2 to make sure you're withholding enough during the year. If this is your first year working with a professional tax service, have them review your previous years' filings as well. You may be able to recover additional refunds if anything was missed. World Finance offers this service for no additional charge.

• Consider a tax refund loan. After filing, you can potentially take out a loan for the amount of your expected refund. This is known as a tax refund loan and an option to consider if you need your refund as soon as possible.

• Work with a professional. Filing your taxes with a software program is a low-cost option, but only if you have time to dedicate to the task, and the know-how to get your biggest possible tax return. Working with a reliable, trusted tax preparation service can help ensure your taxes are filed correctly, and your return is as substantial as it can be. Look for a service that offers transparent pricing, flexible filing options and same-day Tax Advance Loans, such as World Finance. For more information, visit loansbyworld.com/taxes.

Tax season doesn't need to create headaches, fears, or anxieties. By gathering important tax documents in advance and understanding your filing and refund options, you can have confidence that you've maximized the value and timeliness of your tax return.

Cold Hardiness Monitoring - Back again for 2022-2023
 WSU Viticulture will continue with grape cold hardiness monitoring for the 2022-2023 winter season. Observed cold hardiness data for the Prosser, area is updated approximately every 7-14 days at: <https://wine.wsu.edu/extension/weather/cold-hardiness/>
 This webpage also has several resources on preventing cold damage and how to respond after cold damage has occurred.
 Given cold hardiness monitoring cannot be done on a large scale, a cold hardiness model is available on AgWeatherNet. You do need a (free) registered AgWeatherNet Account to see the model: <http://weather.wsu.edu/>
 When low temperatures are forecasted use the model on AgWeatherNet to help prioritize which locations, and varieties, you should start with for follow-up scouting.
 The resources available on the WSU Grapevine Cold Hardiness Monitoring page above can be used to help you develop a bud collection and assessment plan. They also provide worksheets to develop pruning strategies to compensate for potential crop loss, should cold damage occur.

shared space during delays in the Osborn Elementary construction. Bergren said, "[The shared space] was so successful and fulfilling that we subsequently opened the dividing wall between our new classrooms and continued team teaching for several years."

Bergren admired her colleague, saying, "Cathy was an exceptional educator, calm, consistent, fair and always ready with a hug for whomever needed it. She was the consummate professional—punctual, organized, prepared and devoted to learning and teaching. She was open to new ideas and was always working to improve herself."

Former principal, Tim Lawless said, "I thank God I had the privilege of watching Cathy teach and for the honor of calling her friend. Imagine how many hundreds of students have benefited from having Mrs. Stroup as their teacher."

Cathy and Bob both loved their jobs as teachers. "She was at the roots and I was up in the branches," Bob said, referring to his work mostly at the high school level, and her focus on young children, building a base for success, teaching fundamentals, developing good habits, nurturing a love of learning and a belief in each child's ability to advance and thrive.

While Bob thinks Cathy would shy away from the attention of connecting her name to this scholarship, he also mentioned that friends have said, "Cathy would be honored by what you're doing with this scholarship."

Bob stated a firm belief in the need for future teachers who demonstrate the strengths and dedication that Cathy brought to her career as a teacher. This scholarship is one way to recognize the importance of choosing this noble profession. The scholarship application details are still being finalized, but the application will be open this spring for this year's graduating seniors to apply. If you would like to donate to this scholarship fund, mail a check to CEF (PO Box 683, Leavenworth, WA 98826) and write Cathy Stroup Memorial Scholarship in the sort line.

PUD commissioner appointed to national public power council

SUBMITTED BY RACHEL HANSEN
Senior Communications Strategist

WENATCHEE — Chelan PUD Commissioner Garry Arseneault was appointed to the Policy Makers Council, a group that advocates before Congress on behalf of more than 2,000 public power utilities nationwide. Arseneault will serve a three-year term.

"I'm honored to represent not only Chelan PUD, but all public power utilities across the nation," Arseneault said. "There are several significant issues being discussed in our nation's capital, and it will be beneficial to have a seat at the table."

The Policy Makers Council, an affiliate of the American Public Power Association (APPA), is comprised of 45 elected or appointed governing officials from communities around the country.

Twice a year, the council meets in Washington D.C. to advocate on issues such as the Columbia River Treaty, grid security, and other issues of interest to public power utilities.

Arseneault is stepping in for Commissioner Randy Smith, who recently retired from the Policy Makers Council after 10 years, including a year as chairman in 2020.

Arseneault has been involved in APPA as a representative of Chelan PUD since 2014.

Arseneault will also serve as president of the Washington Public Utility District Association until his term ends in April 2023.
