Cascade High School Presents The Butler Did It!

Lights! Camera! Action! On November 10, 11, and 12, the Cascade High School Drama department will be performing The Butler Did It. This classic whodunit will be the first production put on under the new leadership of director Dwayne Allen. "I grew up in Leavenworth. I got started in theater at Wenatchee Valley College, and then I went on to Western Washington University. I taught at private schools for 8 years and have now been teaching back at Cascade for 21 years," said

Allen Auditions for this play were on September 26, 27, and 28, and the cast has been hard at work since the first day of practice on October 3. The crew has had a lot of fun practicing this play according to cast member Danielle Totman: "Some of my favorite times were the giggle attacks we had during rehearsal."

For one cast member, however, this show is slightly bittersweet. "I'm sad that this is going to be one of my last shows at Cascade, but I'm excited that I can finish my high school career with a bang. I'll miss it for sure," said senior cast member Lauren Haiduc.

This play is about actors named Michael, Natalie, Claudia, and Sam, and their director Tony. These actors are putting on a play called The Butler Did It in which they play the characters named Aldo the Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Butler, Vicky Butler, and Detective Mumford.

The cast consists of six members:

Coal Fiano as Anthony (Tony) J. Lefcourt, Bohdan Hagadorn as Aldo the Butler (also Michael), Lauren Haiduc as Angela Butler (also Natalie), Breanna Loomis as Vicky Butler (also Claudia), and Danielle Totman as Detective Mumford (also Sam).

A lot of work has also been done behind the scenes by the tech and stage crews. "A lot of work has been put into the set. A bunch of the pieces of the set are intentional and were made to tell a story. I'm excited for everyone to see it," said Props Master Napiqua Gibbs. Backstage crew positions include stage crew, set construction, makeup and hair, costuming, tech booth, and props.

"My directing style is really student driven. I really love input from everyone, crew, and cast. As a director I give direction, but I don't decide where people end up going," said director Allen. Stage Manager Mackenzie McLeod and Assistant Stage Manager Rhonan Allen are in charge of making sure that the backstage is running smoothly.

"My job is essentially to help with anything that needs help with, and to make sure everyone is on track. I am a part of set building and lighting, and communication between everyone. I like the play given that it is another take on a classic murder mystery," said Rhonan.

"This play has really been a learning curve. Some things have been easier than I thought they were going to be, like the paperwork, but others have been harder, like scheduling all the rehearsals. I'm getting comfortable with the tech. but I miss our old theater. It had some really fun features that this new one doesn't have. I really love though, how many students are interested in tech and crew. It makes putting on the show so much fun," said Allen.

When he was choosing what his first play would be, Allen said he got the idea to do The Butler Did It because "I did this play in college with Kathy Smithson and Rod Molzahn." The tryout process is hard for everyone, those trying out and the director. "I was looking for that gut feeling when someone reads a part, and it just fits," explained Allen. Come see the show on November 9, 10, and 11 at 7 p.m. in the Cascade High School Auditorium. Entrance is by donation, and all funds will go to furthering the Cascade High School drama department. When everyone has motive and means, anyone could be guilty.

Join us for an intimate music experience featuring three amazing singer/songwriter/storyteller solo performances on Saturday Nov. 12 at Riverside Playhouse in Wenatchee. Tickets are $15 and are available through numericapac. showare.com or by calling 509-663-ARTS.

Steve Clem of Avalon Music and Dennis Broughton of Mountain Music Productions are renting the Riverside Playhouse, a nonprofit facility, and presenting this show in a non-profit manner. What profits are made will go back to the Riverside Playhouse.

Our goal is to have a place where local independent music artists can come and play and interact with an attentive audience. This theater is the perfect place for doing this and our plan is to continue these music events between other shows at the Riverside Playhouse.

Wayne Evans honed his songwriting skills in the clubs of Texas, Nevada and Washington. Wayne is a master of the guitar and has been a continuing mentor to musicians and songwriters throughout his career. Wayne's most recent solo album, Close to Home, was released in September. Evans performs regularly, leading the bands Junk Belly and Older and Wiser and is committed to expanding live music throughout North Central Washington.

Curtis Moore is a troubadour who has traveled the world and shares his life experiences through his music. Curtis is a gritty performer who will make you laugh and make you cry - sometimes in the same song. Curtis performs solo multiple times per week throughout Washington and also leads his band, The Stone Blind Horses.

Jones is a national lan songwriting and recording artist based in Seattle who writes poetic, personal narratives with an artist's flair. Ian's performances are melodic and soulful. His messages are clear and bold. Ian's most recent EP, Evergreens, immediately hit the charts and previews his full-length album, Results Not Typical, scheduled for release in 2023. The Riverside Playhouse is in Wenatchee at 233 B N. Wenatchee Ave.

Veterans Day Celebrates 101st Anniversary

SUBMITTED BY LINDA INGRAHAM,

President Cashmere American Legion Auxiliary

November 11, 1921 was the first Veterans Day. Armistice Day, as it was then called, was set aside by Congress to honor the veterans of World War I and marked the fourth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice with Germany. In June 1954, President Eisenhower signed a bill to honor all veterans on that day and the holiday was officially renamed Veterans Day.

Because of our veterans, we are united and live our lives in freedom, enjoying the rights guaranteed by our Constitution.

IN HONOR OF ALL THE MILITARY PERSONNEL WHO HAVE SERVED AND CONTINUE TO SERVE THIS COUNTRY, HAPPY VETERANS DAY! THANK YOU FOR YOUR COMMITMENT AND SACRIFICE.

We offer low-cost meal preparation, medication management, help with housekeeping, and more.

Call us at (509) 886-0700 to learn about our programs.

Serving Adams, Chelan, Douglas, Grant, Lincoln, and Okanogan Counties. aaccw.org - 1-800-572-4459

Some may think Veterans Day commemorates great victories or honors great war heroes or glorifies war. Veterans Day is more than that...it honors our citizen soldiers, the millions of Americans who served and are still serving their country when asked and the thousands who have died.

Since the Revolutionary War, ordinary young citizens have quietly put their affairs in order, kissed their families goodbye and put on uniforms. That takes courage when you're only 18-20 years old and filled with hopes and dreams and plans for your future.

These men and women are heroes. Because of their sacrifice and courage, our country is free today. Because of them, we have the rights and privileges we have always held dear. Freedom is not a cheap commodity. Throughout our nation's history, veterans have paid a heavy price. That is why we honor them. As we celebrate Veterans Day, keep in mind the enormous debt we owe to the veterans of this nation.

It is the VETERAN, not the preacher, who has given us freedom of religion.

It is the VETERAN, not the poet, who has given us freedom of speech.

It is the VETERAN, not the campus organizer, who has given us the freedom to assemble.

It is the VETERAN, not the politician, who has given us the right to vote.

It is the VETERAN, not the protester, who has given us the right to burn the flag.

It is the VETERAN, who lives by, respects and salutes the flag, who serves under the flag, whose coffin is draped by the flag.

Please take the time to locate and personally thank the veterans within your family, neighborhood and community. They are the true American heroes.

November duck hunting

By John Kruse

If you are a duck hunter, it's hard to beat November. The local ducks are joined this month by northern migrants who show up in big numbers. Usually the green-winged teal arrive first, followed by wigeon and gadwall, and after that, the big northern mallards and pintails.

One of the advantages of hunting ducks in November is the relatively mild weather. Marshes, ponds and other waterways favored by ducks are still ice-free for much of the month and hunters wearing a pair of hip boots or chest waders with one or two dozen decoys can put themselves into a good position to harvest a limit of seven ducks in a morning of shooting.

If you are looking for some November hunting tips here are a few for you:

SCOUT FIRST - Use your binoculars and hit the rural roadways to find out where the ducks are feeding and where they are loafing on the water. If you can put yourself in either place or in between these areas you'll increase your chances for success. Using Google Maps is another way to scout potential hunting locations before you even leave your home.

BE WILLING TO WALK Most duck hunters don't wander too far from their vehicles but they should because the places that are harder to get to, maybe a halfmile to two miles away from where you park, often offer good hunting with very little competition.

TRAVEL LIGHT - If you are going to be hoofing it you are not going to be able to haul three or four dozen decoys. That's okay because you can get by just fine with anywhere from as little as six to 18 decoys.

THE RIGHT DECOYS -Many hunters just throw out a mix of plastic hen and drake mallard decoys with heads in a forward facing, upright position. However, the ducks quickly get educated to the look of these spreads and will avoid them. Consider mixing in a few decoys of other species (pintails, wigeon and teal) and sprinkle in some feeder decoys that just show the bottom half of a duck in an upright position. Confidence decoys are also used by some hunters, one of the more common ones being a great blue heron decoy at the edge of a spread near the shoreline.

GIVE THOSE DECOYS SOME LIFE – A still decoy spread on a calm bluebird day is not going to attract many ducks. While electronic motion decoys are not legal in Washington State vou can use decoys with wings that spin in the wind or attach a string to a decoy and jerk on it, creating disturbance in the water when you do. Another option if you are hunting in a blind that is in the water is to use your feet to create a disturbance so that will make your decoys seem more lifelike.

STAY HIDDEN – Taking the time to construct a good blind will pay off. Hunters who don't take the time to do this are often spotted by the ducks which will flare away before coming in range. Be sure to use fresh foliage that matches the surrounding brush on your blind and whatever you do, don't look up at the ducks as they circle above your decoy spread because they will see your face and once again, flare off before you can get a good shot.

DON'T OVER CALL - Far too many hunters use their duck calls too much and instead of luring in the ducks, drive them away. Ducks get educated not only about decoy spreads but also about excessive calling so be judicious in the amount of calling you do. Limiting yourself to a few lone hen calls and feeding calls will likely work much better than a barrage of hail or come back

HUNT DURING THE WORK WEEK - Our state wildlife areas get pretty crowded during the weekend so if you can, schedule your duck hunt during the work week. In much of Eastern Washington, you can only hunt geese on Saturdays, Sundays and Wednesdays so if you want a crack at a mixed bag of waterfowl without too much competition, shoot for a Wednesday hunt.

CLEAN YOUR BIRDS IN THE FIELD AND COOK THEM FRESH – By cleaning your birds in the field, even if just removing the entrails and organs, you'll improve the taste of the meat and reduce spoilage. Likewise, freshly cooked duck makes for a great meal and will not have the gamey taste previously frozen birds tend to have.

By using these tips, you will put yourself in a great position to harvest some ducks this month. Good luck!

A WALK WITH PASTOR John Smith

A few weeks ago, I had written an article about how Christianity should influence our politics and I quoted George Washington. Mistakenly, I had quoted our dear beloved 1st President as saying, "It is impossible to rightly govern a nation with God and the Bible." The actual quote should read thus: "It is impossible to rightly govern a nation without God and the Bible."

So, here is my official retraction and correction and hopefully George Washington didn't spin too much in his grave in Mount Vernon.

Yet what leads me to write this piece isn't necessarily to correct my error (which should be done regardless) but rather to point out how my blunder eventually came to my attention.

Upon publishing, a dear reader called me and very graciously made me aware of my poor proofreading skills and how by accident, I completely turned Washington's quote on its head. It was her willingness to take time to reach out to me that made me realize two things: 1) people do actually read what I write and 2) I am very grateful for observant people in my life. We all need observant people in our lives. It is a common condition in all of us to have blind spotsthings we are just oblivious to. It is always the case that blind spots are revealed and how to correct them comes from people willing to be courageous enough to bring them to our attention. Yes, I say that it is courageous because you run the risk of hurting someone's feelings or making them feel embarrassed. For example, imagine speaking with someone, and you notice that they have something in their teeth. You can ignore it and continue in pleasant conversation until they move onto the next person, all the while that piece of broccoli remains lodged in between their teeth. Imagine how they would feel when they return home that evening, look in the mirror and feel ashamed and wonder why no one told them of their situation. Wouldn't it have been better to pull them to the side and quietly

let them know that they still carry a piece of salad in their choppers? Sure, they may flush with embarrassment for a moment and rush to the restroom to make themselves presentable. I know from experience that they would be grateful for the help. In that situation, a momentary experience of embarrassment and being able to correct the issue is better than an evening of unbeknownst shame.

Not only should we be willing to help others, but we should also be ready to receive correction. Defensiveness is a natural reaction when a blind spot is exposed. However, we must put that aside and see the motive behind the one bringing it to our attention. I admit I have many blind spots, and I have people in my life that help me see them. I could get angry with them or sad when they bring them to my attention, but what good would that do? Rather they are revealing these areas precisely because they care about me. The Bible puts it this way in Proverbs 15:32,"Whoever ignores instruction despises himself, but he who listens to reproof gains knowledge." To the dear saint who helped me with my last article, I thank you. I pray that when given the opportunity, I will be bold enough to help others in that way. In fact, I pray for all of us because, in this world, we definitely need each other.

Obituary & Memorial Policies

NCW Media, Inc.: Leavenworth Echo, Cashmere Valley Record, Lake Chelan Mirror, Quad City Herald. An Obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the community of the passing of the loved one. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data. Memorials are another way to let the community know about the life and memories of the person who has passed. A Memorial is different from an Obituary. An Obituary is usually current, while a Memorial can be written later. Obituaries and Memorials need to be typed and emailed as a Word Document. They can be placed in one or more papers - all publish weekly on Wednesday. Obituaries are priced by the number of words and include one color photo and go online at no extra charge. Memorials are priced per column inch. Please call for cost. *Payment is due at the time of placement. *Exception: Chapels, funeral homes who have an account, can be billed. There is no charge for a Death Notice - information is limited. Deadline is 4 p.m. on Friday - some exceptions may apply. Please call 509-548-5286 for more information Or email classifieds@leavenworthecho.com

The recommended whistle

BY RHONA BARON

Disclosure: I'm odd. I don't take sides unless absolutely necessary and I have never strongly affiliated with political parties, even in today's politically polarized fun house. I have faith in great ideas from diverse sources, innovation, and most of all collaboration.

Odder still, I am fiercely passionate about moderation and balance; still naive enough to believe that well researched, thoughtful journalism can support an informed citizenry that's equal to the task of partnering with local government. Just giving you a glimpse of The Whistle Team's philosophical undies before we reveal our recommendations for Leavenworth's once and future neighborhoods.

First, some happy news. The Whistle considers the Community Engagement Night on Nov. 1 to be a significant improvement on the crumbling "Residential Advisory Committee." Thanks to council person Sharon Waters for her initiative. The event gave folks an opportunity to learn and engage in a comfortable setting — that included pizza.

We appreciate getting results from the city's Urban Growth Area (UGA) survey which showed how deeply residents and visitors care about our future. Since the city has confirmed it will offer this event quarterly, The Whistle officially requests an additional table/station at each event for housing topics. Front and center, we'd like to see a transparent progress report on the Planning Commission's annual docket as the commission is tasked with recommending changes to city code and initiatives for the future of our neighborhoods

Speaking of the Planning Commission, it's time to refresh and balance the membership and the process by which the members are selected. The current process is unusually biased, and the mayor's appointments could be considered noncompliant with the PC's own membership requirements. In our researched opinion, the PC seems stacked to advantage the people who serve. We don't have space to scan the anatomy of the PC today, but will be back next week with a Whistle Stop.

For now, let's head back to the UGA survey where we made a public record request to review the community's written comments. Respondents expressed much enthusiasm for our beautiful mountain valley and we hope the city takes note! The Whistle Team is concerned about a lack of strategy to enhance, preserve, and protect natural features in the city and in the UGA. We note that the 2021 Comprehensive Plan "encourages" but doesn't require regulating the preservation of open space, vegetation, and corridors for trails that help link neighborhoods. Our Team thinks the city can do better. Why not ensure that open spaces for people and wildlife are identified and protected as housing density and subdivisions increase?

The Whistle strongly recommends developing a Green Infrastructure Master Plan along the lines of other Washington cities. The Green IMP will guide future developments in retaining vegetation and reducing nonpoint pollution from storm water runoff from sites. The city's Stormwater Study from 2016 provides important data to contribute to such a plan. Think about it. Green Infrastructure is both a physical"thing" and a planning and design philosophy. The infrastructure, such as open space, trail systems, and other green spaces represent an approach to "urban" planning that will improve the social, economic and environmental impacts that accompany new development. Again, It's all about balance, in this case with nature. As residential areas expand, what other kinds of balance should we seek? What about balancing the use of Accessory Dwelling Units for conversion to B and B's? Currently, there is NO LIMIT to the number of B and B's that can be established in Leavenworth. Likewise, there is no code limiting their density on a given block! What about balancing the look of new housing with the historic and small town feel of the older neighborhoods? A clear majority of people surveyed favored single family homes and historic character. Are we listening and changing code accordingly? Not yet. New code allows houses up to 35 feet tall to dwarf and compromise existing homes. New code also allows for various administrative deviations and zero lot line development. Again, this is a boon for builders but not for neighborhoods. And please, please stop saying the zero-lot line option will make a place affordable. We simply have no example of this being true in Leavenworth.

Here's hoping you find some moderation and balance in our sometimes-crazy world. Thanks for taking The Whistle's community surveys found at the bottom of The Echo's home page online. Visit us at LWhistle.com to comment, pro or con. Or just whistle.

We'll hear you!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Recently an opinion letter was published in the Leavenworth Echo about management issues at Cascade Medical Center (CMC). Among the issues cited were decreased quality of patient care, employee dissatisfaction with the work

As a small community, we are fortunate to have a resource like CMC under the direction of exceptional leaders. Many of us came to the Leavenworth area after we retired. In other areas where we lived, we experienced high turnover of medical staff and environment, and concerns about financial viability.

After reading the opinion letter you have to wonder if the individuals were writing about a Medical Center in another city or state. We, the undersigned, have been patients and supporters of CMC for many years. We have received exceptional care, have some of the best doctors and staff in the state, and haven't had to wait very long to be seen. In a national survey ranking the best critical access care facilities, CMC was ranked in the top 20 out of more than 1300 hospitals.

We have watched as CMC ambulance services have been increased and expanded, staff and management have been upgraded, computer programs and access to patient records have been improved, and finances have been strengthened.

long wait times to be seen.

Nearly all businesses experienced a downturn due to COVID related issues. Typically, the downturns led to financial difficulties and negatively affected morale. The authors of the opinion letter have tried to use temporary impacts from COVID to make sweeping and misleading conclusions about the status and management of our hospital.
