

Farmers Market opens June 3

SUBMITTED BY CALI OSBORNE

The Leavenworth Community Farmers Market returns next week on Thursday, June 3 from 4-7 p.m. at 330 Evans Street. The Market Board is grateful to their title sponsor, Timberwood Construction, and is delighted to not only welcome back most of the community programs and events that were left out last season, but to expand on many of these offerings.

Among the returning programming, thanks to South Restaurants, are the Kids Makers Markets - a monthly invitation to kids 18 and under to attend the Market as vendors and sell their own (non-edible) creations! Also, thanks to generous donations from the Leavenworth Chamber of Commerce and Syndicate Smith, live music will return to the Market with a new headline: The Summer Music Series. Those contributions will also enable the Market to pay musicians roughly double what the budget allowed for in the past and improve equipment for the events.

The Market has already scheduled more than 45 vendors, including a number of local artists sponsored by Posy Handpicked Goods, so customers can expect a busy and full Market each Thursday from June 3 - October 14. The Market's newest location at 330 Evans Street can accommodate its rapid growth and thanks to sponsorship from Munchen Haus, the Market is prepared to support more vendors.

The Market Board is grateful to continue its partnership with the Cascade School District (CSD) by remaining on School grounds; however, this season they are excited to be setting up in grass (instead of a parking lot) on the lawn of the CSD Administrative building next to the old Osborn Elementary School.

Grass, music, kids activities and hopefully some dinner options are all going to bring back the charm that makes our Community Farmers Market so special. The Market is really fortunate to have the support of our community, our sponsors, our School District, and our City, as they have all made it possible for us to persevere and continue to serve.

Many of you will remember that the Market was designated an essential service last year and allowed to open as scheduled despite the pandemic. The Market remains an essential service in 2021, serving EBT and P-EBT customers as well as Senior/WIC Nutrition Program recipients. In fact, thanks to the State Department of Health, all EBT and P-EBT customers are able to participate in SNAP Market Match where every dollar they redeem at the Market doubles in value, up to $40 - if a customer redeems $40 from their EBT account, they get $80 to spend at the Market.

Due to the nature of the Market and its customer base, the Market Board kindly requests that all customers continue to wear masks in the Market when not eating or drinking until further notice. We want to ensure that the Market is welcoming and accessible for all people, regardless of vaccination status, and we hope our community will join us in our efforts.

If you are interested in participating in the Market as a vendor, musician, or Kids Maker, you can apply via the Market website: leavenworthfarmersmarket.org/become-a-vendor. The Market is also still accepting Sponsors, you can become a Market Sponsor by emailing leavenworthmarket@gmail.com.

ICE Unable to Track Most Illegal Immigrants Released Into Country

CHARLOTTE CUTHBERTSON

As thousands of illegal immigrants are released into the United States every week, the agency responsible for enforcement is unable to keep tabs on most of them.

Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) Acting Director Tae Johnson admitted to Congress that “there’s certainly some gaps in our ability to track” illegal immigrants being released.

After being apprehended at the border, illegal immigrants are processed by Customs and Border Protection (CBP) to determine who they are and whether they’re subject to being immediately turned back under the current Title 42 public health provision.

Single adults from Spanish-speaking nations are almost all subject to immediate expulsion under Title 42, according to Acting CBP Commissioner Troy Miller. But Border Patrol is also encountering more illegal aliens from non-Spanish speaking nations, in particular Brazil and Haiti.

Of the 178,000 illegal border crossers encountered

A group of illegal immigrants with Border Patrol after crossing the U.S.-Mexico border in La Joya, Texas, on April 10, 2021.

in April, around 62 percent were expelled quickly under Title 42, according to CBP data.

The remaining 38 percent (or 68,000 individuals) were released into the interior (family units), into Health and Human Services custody (unaccompanied minors), or ICE custody (single adults from non-Spanish-speaking nations).

In some border sectors, particularly the Rio Grande Valley in south Texas, the Border Patrol facilities have been so overwhelmed that many individuals weren’t released with the common Notice to Appear document that states a date and time to appear in court. Rather, they received a Notice to Report, which is an honor system that requires the person to check in at their closest ICE facility within 60 days.

“For individuals that are just released with a notification to report to ICE or to show up in court, then our ability to track those folks quite closely is much more limited,” Johnson said during a congressional hearing on May 13.

About 20,400 individuals have been released with a Notice to Report, and Johnson said ICE has no way to track those people or where they plan to reside, as the agency’s system doesn’t link to the information Border Patrol collects at the initial intake facility.

“Once they report to an ICE office, they’re put into our system of record, and at that point we can track those folks,” Johnson said. “But otherwise, we would just have to get a list from Border Patrol of the 20,000 cases and check them pretty regularly.”

Johnson said ICE has more success tracking individuals that are released under the alternatives to detention program, including those wearing an ankle monitor.

However, illegal immigrants regularly cut off their ankle bracelets or fail to honor their obligation to check in with ICE or turn up in court.

“Based on the number of individuals that we enrolled in alternatives to detention in FY20, we had about 11,000 individuals abscond from the program,” Johnson said. So far, in fiscal 2021 through March, Johnson said about 2,700 have absconded.

Under the agency’s narrowed criteria for priority removal, most of those who abscond won’t be a priority for ICE to track down unless they commit an aggravated felony. Nationwide, the agency arrested 645 illegal aliens for removal in March and 1,152 in April, Johnson said.

The Fall of Title 42

Johnson’s biggest concern is the impending removal of Title 42.

President Donald Trump implemented Title 42 in March 2020, which effectively closed the border to nonessential travel in attempts to mitigate the spread of COVID-19.

It allowed for Border Patrol to turn back illegal border crossers almost immediately, rather than be placed in ICE custody for a more protracted process through deportation proceedings under Title 8.

Once Title 42 is revoked, the 3,000 to 3,500 single adults that Border Patrol is currently arresting on a daily basis will have to be accommodated by ICE.

At the same time, ICE has less capacity than it did during the previous border surge in 2019. ICE had around 55,000 detention beds in 2019; however the capacity was reduced to 30,000 beds in the fiscal 2021 appropriations package.

“Title 42 is absolutely critical,” Johnson said. “I don’t think it’s a situation where it’s going to just be lifted electively—we will be mandated, through some sort of court order, to lift it.”

Lawmakers Demand Reinstatement of Space Force Officer Who Was Removed for Denouncing Critical Race Theory

ISABEL VAN BRUGEN

A group of Republican lawmakers sent a letter to the acting secretary of the U.S. Space Force on May 19, urging him to immediately reinstate a lieutenant colonel who was relieved of his command after publishing a book that warned of the spread of Marxism and critical race theory (CRT) in the military.

Lt. Col. Matthew Lohmeier, a former instructor and fighter pilot, was relieved as commander of the 11th Space Warning Squadron “due to loss of trust and confidence in his ability to lead,” a Defense Department official told CNN on May 14.

The decision came after Lohmeier took part in podcasts to discuss his self-published book, titled “Irresistible Revolution: Marxism’s Goal of Conquest & the Unmaking of the American Military,” which warns against the spread of Marxism and CRT in the military.

During an appearance on the podcast “Information Operation,” Lohmeier criticized Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin’s agenda. The department deemed his comments to be “partisan political activity.”

In their letter, the two dozen Republicans expressed their alarm over the decision to relieve Lohmeier. They said it appeared to reflect the development of an “increasingly politicized environment” in the Department of Defense, which has now manifested in the Space Force.

The lawmakers criticized the use of euphemisms such as “diversity training” in describing CRT. Such terms, they said, are “grotesque distortions of reality.”

CRT has gradually proliferated in recent decades through academia, government structures, school systems, and the corporate world. It redefines human history as a struggle between the “oppressors”—white people—and the “oppressed”—everybody else—similar to Marxism’s reduction of history to a struggle between the “bourgeois” and the “proletariat.” It labels institutions that emerged in majority-white societies as racist and “white supremacist.”

Like Marxism, CRT advocates for the destruction of institutions, such as the Western justice system, free-market economy, and orthodox religions, while demanding that they be replaced with institutions compliant with the theory’s ideology.

Proponents of CRT have argued that the theory is merely “demonstrating how pervasive systemic racism truly is.”

“Those leaders who are complicit with this poisonous philosophy which promotes racial essentialism and collective guilt in our beloved military will be judged by history accordingly,” the lawmakers wrote. “Promoting critical race theory will disrupt the good order and discipline in the Space Force and eviscerate our nation’s ability to attract patriotic talent to serve in uniform and fight our wars.”

Signatory Rep. Doug Lamborn (R-Colo.) said in a statement that the military should focus on threats to U.S. national security and “not pandering to one political ideology.”

“I can’t imagine a better way to weaken ourselves in the midst of a great-power competition with China and Russia,” he said. “Lt. Col. Lohmeier listened to the Secretary of Defense and stood up against extremism on the left. He should be praised for his courage.”

Space Force officials didn’t respond to a request for comment by press time.

House Passes Bill Approving $1.9 Billion More for US Capitol Security

JACK PHILLIPS

The House of Representatives voted on May 20 to approve $1.9 billion to increase U.S. Capitol security in response to the Jan. 6 breach, with several left-wing “Squad” members voting either no or present.

The House voted 213–212 to approve the measure, which faces an uncertain future in the Senate, where 60 votes are needed to advance legislation.

Reps. Cori Bush (D-Mo.), Ilhan Omar (D-Minn.), and Ayanna Pressley (D-Mass.) voted no. Meanwhile, Reps. Jamaal Bowman (D-N.Y.), Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez (D-N.Y.), and Rashida Tlaib (D-Mich.) voted present. All other Democrats voted in favor and all Republicans voted against.

“This bill is not about politics. It’s not about settling scores,” Appropriations Committee Chairman Rosa DeLauro (D-Conn.) said on the floor of the chamber. “It’s about ensuring that every person who comes onto the Capitol grounds is safe and is protected. The funding is not optional.”

Republicans have said that while the GOP supports the U.S. Capitol Police and National Guard members who were deployed after the Jan. 6 breach, they view the bill as partisan and drafted without consideration for how the funds would be spent.

The bill would reimburse the National Guard for costs incurred when troops were deployed to the Capitol earlier this year, provide Capitol Police with overtime pay, and other resources. The bill would also create a response force that would aid Capitol Police during a crisis, as well as fortify doors and windows at the building.

“House Dems just passed a Capitol security bill that costs $3.5 million per member of Congress. Defund the Police for thee but not for me,” wrote Rep. Jim Banks (R-Ind.).

“It also provides $200 million to establish a force within the D.C. National Guard to respond to incidents at the Capitol, raising serious concerns about the role of our military on American soil.” Rep. Kay Granger (R-Texas) added.

Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.) indicated that the proposal needs another review when it heads to the Senate.

“We’re not sure what to spend the money on yet. So I think we are pushing the pause button here,” he said.

The three Democrats who voted against the measure said they don’t want to provide more funding for what they called police surveillance.

“This bill prioritizes more money for a broken system that has long upheld and protected the white supremacist violence we saw on display that day,” Bush, Omar, and Pressley said in a statement. Bowman, who voted present, told news outlets that he doesn’t want to provide “more funding to police budgets.”

The bill’s passage comes as the Pentagon confirmed at a news conference that the National Guard will be leaving the Capitol on May 23.

“We have received no request to extend it,” Department of Defense spokesman John Kirby said, referring to the National Guard deployment around the Capitol building.

20 Attorneys General Petition Biden Admin to Backtrack on CRT and '1619 Project'-Based Education Proposals

SAMUEL ALLEGRI

A joint letter by 20 state attorneys general directed to Education Secretary Miguel Cardona is asking the Biden administration to retract its education plans that would promote Critical Race Theory (CRT) and the New York Times' "1619 Project" in schools.

The group's criticism centers on recent proposals from the Department of Education that detail plans in April to provide grants under American History and Civics Education programs for a curriculum teaching diversity and the effects of "systemic marginalization."

The letter, led by Indiana Attorney General Todd Rokita, claims that the proposed priorities issued by the Education Department are a "thinly veiled" effort to insert CRT and the 1619 Project into American classrooms.

"As the chief legal officers of our respective states, we write to express our deep concerns with the proposed priorities recently issued by the United States Department of Education. The proposed priorities are a thinly veiled attempt at bringing into our states' classrooms the deeply flawed and controversial teachings of Critical Race Theory and the 1619 Project," reads the letter in part.

It further argues that the new education proposals would "distort" the accuracy of history, rendering it at odds with state and federal law.

"CRT is an ideological construct that analyzes and interprets American history and government primarily through the narrow prism of race. Similarly, the 1619 Project seeks to 'reframe the country's history.'

Then-Rep. Todd Rokita (R-Ind.) (C) speaks at a press conference on Capitol Hill in Washington on July 18, 2017.

[CRT] distorts, rather than illuminates, a proper and accurate understanding of our nation's history and governmental institutions.

Letter by 20 state attorneys general

As such, it distorts, rather than illuminates, a proper and accurate understanding of our nation's history and governmental institutions and, therefore, is fundamentally at odds with federal and state law," state the attorneys general.

The ideas being put forward by the 1619 Project suggest that the United States was founded on white supremacy and oppression and that these are still fundamental aspects of society.

The letter was signed by attorneys general from Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, Utah, and West Virginia.

"The Department should not adopt the proposed rule or, at a minimum, should make clear that grants may not fund projects that are based on CRT, including any projects that characterize the United States as irredeemably racist or founded on principles of racism," they state.

Ibram X. Kendi's works are specifically cited in the new priorities that progressive politicians want to implement, with the claim that they would reduce discrimination and racism.

They assert that the biggest issue is the impact of the theories being promoted on students, and urge the department not to embrace the proposed measures.

In criticism of the potential adverse effect on students, the AGs refer to educator and political scientist Frederick Hess:

"Upon closer scrutiny, it quickly becomes apparent just how wholly Kendi's doctrine is at odds with American traditions of equality, free inquiry, and ordered liberty. Kendi holds that every single thing in the world—every action, idea, thought, and policy—is either 'racist' or 'anti-racist.'"

To illustrate their point, they give an example that demonstrates the unfairness of "equity"—a term that stems from the Marxist idea of absolute egalitarianism.

"Kendi helped lead the opposition against the selection process for the elite Boston Latin School, the Boston Latin Academy, and the John D. O'Bryant School of Math & Science," the letter reads.

"Relying heavily on a merit-based testing regime, Asian applicants received a disproportionately high number of the scarce 205 available seats. 'With COVID as a pretext, equity advocates set up a new system to fill the spots based on zip codes and grades, a plan that will result in a 24 percent reduction in Asians, an 18 percent reduction in whites, a 50 percent increase in blacks, and a 14 percent increase in Hispanics.'"

Another notable criticism is aimed at the proposal's alleged discrimination of students based on "privilege" or "oppressor" status based only on racial identity.

"Teaching this in a classroom clearly runs afoul of broad non-discrimination provisions adopted by many states to prevent the same sort of separatist teaching that the guidance attempts to integrate into schools through teachers and students," the letter maintains.

After attending the programs being put forward, the teachers would be violating Indiana law if they "indoctrinate students" discriminatorily, the coalition of attorneys general added.

The Department of Education told The Epoch Times: "We look forward to receiving the letter and responding directly to the signees."

Rubio Unveils Bills Targeting China's Collection of Americans' DNA

ISABEL VAN BRUGEN

Sen. Marco Rubio (R-Fla.) has introduced two bills to counter the Chinese regime's efforts to collect the genomic data of Americans through both legal and illegal means.

The Republican senator, who has been a leading voice in addressing the issue, introduced the Genomics Expenditures and National Security Enhancement (GENE) Act and The Genomics Data Security Act on May 20.

Beijing has for years been collecting large amounts of American health care data, using illegal methods such as cyber hacking, investments in American biotech companies, and partnerships with hospitals and universities to gain access to the sensitive information.

The National Counterintelligence and Security Center (NCSC) said in a fact sheet released on Feb. 1 that it poses serious privacy and national security risks.

"There is no reason for American taxpayers to be funding Beijing's research or for our policies to enable access to American's genomic data," Rubio said in a statement, announcing the legislation. "It's imperative that Congress take steps to confront this growing national security and privacy threat."

Rubio's office said that the GENE Act, which is co-sponsored by Sen. John Cornyn (R-Texas), would increase congressional oversight by requiring the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS) to include the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence and Senate Committee on Foreign Relations in its briefings.

It would also increase cross-agency awareness of "transactions of concern" by requiring that the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) be consulted on any deal that involves a genetic data transaction.

Lastly, it would direct CFIUS to rewrite its regulations to require mandatory filing for any deal that involves a company working with genetic information, Rubio's office said.

Meanwhile, the senator's second bill seeks to prohibit any National Institutes of Health (NIH) funding from going to support entities with direct ties to the Chinese regime.

It would also require that every Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendments Act certificate specify if a company with access to Americans' health data is directly tied to Beijing.

Vast amounts of genomic information (a person's entire genetic sequence) can fuel developments in the cutting-edge field of precision medicine (or personalized medicine), allowing China to overtake the United States to become a global leader in biotech, according to the NCSC. Such data can also be weaponized to target individuals in the country for intelligence and military operations.

A 2019 report found that at least 15 Chinese firms were licensed to perform genetic testing or sequencing on U.S. patients, giving them access to genetic data.

Americans' genomic information is particularly valuable to China due to the ethnic diversity of the U.S. population, the paper noted. This is because varied data sets are more useful in research to identify genetic diseases. The Chinese regime last year passed laws to severely limit the ability of foreign firms to access Chinese people's biological data.

Ohio Vaccination Rate Surges After $5 Million Lottery Announcement

New York, Maryland rolling out similar programs

ISABEL VAN BRUGEN

The COVID-19 vaccination rate in the state of Ohio has surged after Gov. Mike DeWine announced that five residents will win $1 million each as a monetary incentive for getting inoculated, health officials said this week.

Ohio's Department of Health said on May 20 that from May 14 to 17, vaccination rates for people 16 and older jumped 28 percent. The Republican governor announced the state's incentive program, named "Ohio Vax-a-Million," on May 12.

Under the "Ohio Vax-a-Million," which will be funded by existing federal pandemic relief funds, Ohio residents who are at least 18 years old and have received "at least" one dose of the COVID-19 vaccine are eligible to win the sum in once-a-week lottery drawings, the governor announced last week.

The first drawing will occur on May 26, DeWine said at the time, noting that the Ohio Department of Health will be the sponsoring agency for the drawings and the state Lottery will conduct them.

"This dramatic increase in vaccinations indicates that the Vax-a-Million drawing has been impactful in creating momentum for vaccinations throughout Ohio," Stephanie McCloud, director of the state's health department. "We are grateful that the drawings are helping spur Ohioans to take this important measure to protect their health, their loved ones, and their community."

A separate incentive for younger Ohio residents will see five vaccinated 12- to 17-year-old students receive full four-year scholarships to attend Ohio public universities, including tuition, room, board, and books.

New York and Maryland on May 20 also announced that they will be rolling out similar vaccine incentive programs.

New York Gov. Andrew Cuomo told reporters that New Yorkers who get vaccinated from Monday to Friday next week will be given a lottery ticket with a cash prize of as much as $5 million.

Meanwhile, a vaccinated Marylander will be chosen at random daily for a $40,000 prize, starting July 3 and ending July 4, Gov. Larry Hogan. He said that one person will receive a grand prize of $400,000.

Companies have also started offering incentives as part of an effort to encourage Americans to get vaccinated. For example, Krispy Kreme stores are offering one free glazed doughnut for people who show that they have had one or two shots of any COVID-19 vaccine.

OBITUARY

Gene Harold Tubbs

July 9, 1935-Feb. 14, 2021

K (Kathryn) Jeanne Tubbs

October 3, 1945- March 30, 2021

In Memory of:

Gene Harold Tubbs, age 85, of Upper Wenatchee Valley, crossed over peacefully with his wife K by his side on February 14, 2021. Gene was born on July 9, 1935 to Lloyd & Louise (Bertram) (Miller) Tubbs in Edwall, Washington. His father was employed by Great Northern Railway which soon brought them to live in Scenic, Washington. Gene graduated from Skykomish High after helping win the State Basketball Championship in 1954.

Gene was the middle child of two siblings; Sharon (Decker) & Duane Tubbs (both deceased). Growing up Gene was always a hard worker, working for the Railway shoveling snow in the winter and Forest Service in the summer.

Married and then divorced in 1972, he was given custody of the 3 children; Edward, Barbara & Milo. Then after marrying K Goman in 1974 had two stepchildren Marci & Tracy.

Gene was a wonderful husband to K, and a great father too. He loved to hike, bike, boat, explore, mine for gold, loved being in the woods, and always had a good joke to tell. His true love for life though was his wife K. He has been known to say the best thing he ever did in his lifetime was to marry K. It truly showed when you saw them together.

Survived by his wife K, by only 44 days; his son Edward Tubbs of California; daughter Barbara Laymance of Blewett Pass; and stepdaughter Marci Muth of Leavenworth, WA.

K (Kathryn) Jeanne Tubbs (Funk; Goman) age 75, left us to be with the Lord on March 30, 2021. She went peacefully with her daughter Marci by her side as they made the 'End of Life decision' while at Central Washington Hospital. This only 44 days after her husband Gene passed on Valentine's Day.

K was born October 3, 1945 in Bellingham, WA. to Ralph & Adelaide Funk, she was the youngest of 3 children. Brother Tom of Bellingham and sister Peggy (deceased). In 1963 she graduated from Everett High School, then attended Everett Jr. College for Business, Accounting, and Mathematics. She lived in Custer, Bellingham, Everett, Seattle, Edmonds, Wenatchee and Blewett Pass area. She married W. James Goman in 1964 and had 2 children; Marci & Tracy, then became a single mom. In 1974 K married Gene Tubbs and acquired 3 stepchildren; Edward, Barbara & Milo.

K was an unbelievably kind woman who always put everyone else's needs in front of her own. She had the unique ability to see things from another person's perspective. A wonderful quality as a terrific wife, mother, grandma, friend, co-worker etc. K was an artist, astronomer, bookkeeper, a great Christian, avid lover of nature and travel and she just appreciated the beauty of all things around her. Also known as the hat lady. She will be missed greatly by family, friends and her many fans.

Survived by her brother Tom and his wife Diane Funk of Bellingham; daughter Marci Muth, Leavenworth; Stepson Eddie Tubbs, California; and stepdaughter Barb Laymance, Blewett Pass.

Gene and K met through

PWP- Parents without Partners. They were married in 1974 at the Alps in Tumwater Canyon, hosted by Archie and Ester Marlin, it was a family affair to say the least. Just the right amount of kids to make up the wedding party. Before the ceremony their canoe tipped over on a trip to honeymoon island just above the dam. It was known as "A Wet Wedding" and that was only the beginning to all the adventures they shared in the next 46 years. They managed a KOA campground in Vantage, WA. Built and ran a restaurant in Dryden called Tracy's place. Named after Tracy as he was tragically hit and killed on his bike, by a car on Blewett Pass in 1978 on his 11th birthday. Their love held them together and the strong relationship with God that they both came to know since meeting. Their faith was tested again in 2001 when they lost Milo at age 38. They did a lot of traveling, (this picture) from their Hawaii trip. They had a boat. They bought property on Sprague Lake where family get-togethers were always fun. Gene and his friend Jim had a gold mine. They attended the Skykomish Old Timers picnic yearly, and always looked forward to seeing their old friends. They belonged to the Cashmere Baptist Church, were devout Christians and continued attending until their health kept them from such. Also survived by them are their many grandchildren, great grandchildren and even a great great granddaughter.

Services will be held at the Cashmere Baptist Church on Saturday, June 12, 2021 at 10 a.m. You are invited to view this service for Gene & K live by joining the churches website via facebook.

OBITUARY

Walfram "Wolf" Noack

January 17, 1932 – May 21, 2021

Walfram "Wolf" Noack, of Leavenworth, died on May 21, 2021. He was born to Ernest and Charlotte "Lotte" (Berge) Noack in Neustadt in Sachsen, Germany, on January 17, 1932. He married his loving wife, Margaret "Peggy" Muetze, on March 20, 1971, who preceded him in death.

He will be missed by many, including his surviving children, Frank (Christie, fiancée) Noack, Harold "Tom" Noack, Jason (Marcella, fiancée) Noack, and Suzanne (Adam) Braun; his brother, Guenther "Ernie" (Linda) Noack; grandchildren, Brad Lee (Julia) Noack, Nikola "Nikki" Noack, Ethan Noack, and Julianna "Juju" Noack; and great grandchildren, Miles, Levi, and Elliott Noack. He was preceded in death by his parents; wife; his brother, Roland (Marimel, surviving) Noack; son, Ronald Noack; and twin sons lost in childbirth.

Wolf grew up near Dresden, Germany, during World War II and the Communist Era of East Germany, where he trained as a traditional pastry chef. In 1953, he escaped into West Berlin to a refugee camp and was flown to Hamburg. He moved to Chicago in 1954 to join his parents and brothers who had already escaped East Germany.

For many years, Wolf worked for Jewel Bakery until beginning his journey as a successful business owner in Batavia, Illinois. In 1976, he purchased and operated Dick's Townhouse Tap, a tavern. The tavern was used as a setting in the Robert Conrad movie, Coach of the Year, in 1980, where Wolf had a cameo appearance as the bartender. In 1986, he and his wife opened Noack's European Pastries, a popular European-style pastry shop that attracted customers from Chicago and its suburbs. Noack's pastries and wedding cakes were so well enjoyed that the bakery was featured in the Chicago Tribune.

After retiring, Wolf moved his family to Leavenworth, Washington, in 1998, where he founded and led the Edelweiss Tanzgruppe, a German folk dance group, in 2001. Wolf was a very active member of the Leavenworth community, participating in many groups and events including Projekt Bayern, Our Lady of the Snows Church, and showcasing his famous European pastries at the various festivals. In 2015, he made Mountain Meadows his home, where in typical Wolf-style, he quickly filled the community with stories of his life's adventure, samples of his pastries, melodies on the piano, and naturally became well-known and friendly among all of the staff and residents.

Throughout his life, Wolf never had idle hands but rather an endless enthusiasm for hobbies and projects. He enjoyed painting, playing piano, home improvement projects, gardening, driving, and always baking special cakes and pastries for friends and family. Once he had an idea, Wolf couldn't be talked out of anything. His wife, Peggy would often have an inspiration and before you knew it Wolf was building, organizing, and creating. As a couple they complemented each other perfectly, with Peggy's creative visions and Wolf's eagerness to stay active.

Until the very end of his life, Wolf enjoyed being out and about, sharing stories with friends and strangers over a beer or dessert. Wolf was recognized and loved by countless people wherever he went. In the last years of his life, Wolf said that his strategy for staying young and living life was "to always have plans and something to look forward to."

A Catholic funeral Mass will be celebrated in the Leavenworth-Wenatchee, WA, area, with burial to follow at Mountainview Cemetery in Auburn, WA. Funeral and burial details will be provided on the Leavenworth Echo webpage, <https://www.leavenworthecho.com/>.

We are here to serve families in Leavenworth, Peshastin, Plain and the entire Upper Valley.

Masks Are Still Required At Libraries

MICHELLE MCNIEL

NCW Libraries is still requiring all visitors to wear a mask, including those fully vaccinated.

The latest guidance from the CDC has loosened mask recommendations for fully vaccinated individuals, and the library district is encouraged by climbing vaccination rates and declining infection rates. Here is why masks are still required when visiting libraries and bookmobile locations:

- Fully Vaccinated rates throughout our service area average 32%. In some counties the rate of fully vaccinated individuals are in the low 20%.
- The guidance from the governor and the CDC does not apply to health care settings, homeless shelters, or schools, and the federal order requiring masks on public transportation remains in place. The service population of libraries is more akin to hospitals, schools, homeless shelters, and public transportation than it is to retail shops and restaurants.

- We want our libraries to be free, open, and accessible to everyone and to do that all patrons can protect our most vulnerable populations by continuing to wear masks and limit their time inside our library buildings.

• L&I guidance has not been updated by the state yet. In the absence of clear guidelines regarding our requirements as an employer, lifting the mask requirement for patrons would be premature.

• WA DOH has not provided updated industry guidance specific to libraries. We have used this guidance throughout the pandemic to inform our decisions and policies.

“Our libraries serve a lot of families with young children and other vulnerable folks who can't yet be vaccinated,” said Deputy Director Kim Neher. “Continuing to mask up ensures that libraries can be a safe, welcoming, and accessible place for every community member.”

NCW Libraries has responded creatively throughout the pandemic to meet community needs, expanding access to free public WiFi around all buildings, expanding digital services, providing mail order books and DVDs and offering curbside pickup.

WVC announces fall 2021 reopening plans and vaccine expectations

SUBMITTED BY LIBBY SIEBENS

Community relations executive director

Wenatchee Valley College has announced instruction plans for fall quarter 2021. Though most classes will remain online and remote this fall, there are plans to offer more classes in-person.

Classes will be offered in a variety of formats, including in-person, hybrid, online, and optional (in-person and/or online). Any classes with in-person components will follow any health and safety guidelines set forth by national, state and local health agencies.

As of now, unless required to do so by the state, WVC will not require vaccinations for students or employees in fall. However, the college is awaiting further guidance from state and public health agencies.

WVC president Dr. Jim Richardson released a statement this week announcing the opportunities for more in-person classes, and encouraging students and employees to consider getting vaccinated.

“Looking forward, we must consider how to provide the most opportunities to our students while still ensuring the safety of everyone on our campuses,” he wrote. “While the decision to get vaccinated is a personal one, making the choice to get vaccinated protects not only our campus communities, but our friends, families and the communities we live in. Vaccinations help prevent the spread of COVID-19, which in turn allows us to open up our campus further and provide more in-person opportunities. Health and safety on our campuses is something we are all responsible for.”

The college offered a vaccine information session to students and employees on Tuesday, May 11, and hosted a Chelan-Douglas Health District vaccination clinic on Thursday, May 13.

WVC has been operating mostly remotely since winter quarter 2020. Those who are on campus or are visiting campus are being asked to practice good hygiene, social distancing and to stay home if sick. A symptom form is required for anyone visiting campus. To learn more about WVC's response to the COVID-19 pandemic, visit wvc.edu/PublicHealth.

Q My doctor says I need to take a calcium supplement. Which one is the best and how much of it do I need to take?

Your muscles, nerves and blood vessels depend on calcium to work properly. If there is not enough calcium in your blood for your muscles and nerves, your body will grab calcium right out of your bones to make it up. Over time, you lose more and more bone until something gives: your hip breaks or your backbone collapses.

How do you know if you are getting enough calcium to prevent this from happening to you? The Institute of Medicine recommends 1000mg daily of calcium for men and women up to age 50, and 1200mg for adults older than 50 years of age. The National Institutes of Health recommends more calcium for postmenopausal women: 1500mg daily for women who are postmenopausal but not taking an estrogen supplement, and 1500mg for all women age 65 and older. These recommended amounts of calcium refer to the actual amount of calcium mineral in each pill, also called elemental calcium. For example, each Citracal® tablet contains only 21% of elemental calcium, and Caltrate® has 40% elemental calcium in each tablet.

If you are taking a medicine to prevent or treat bone loss (such as Fosamax® or alendronate, Actonel® or risendronate, Boniva®, or calcitonin nose spray) it's extra important to get plenty of calcium every day because these medicines work by putting calcium back into bones. It's important to have enough calcium in your body so these medicines can do their job.

You'll get about 300mg of calcium daily from your diet, including beans, nuts, and green vegetables, with an additional 300mg of calcium for every 8 ounce glass of milk, fortified orange juice, yogurt, or 1.5 ounces of cheese you consume. Most men need 600mg and most women will need 600mg to 1200mg daily of a calcium supplement.

Most calcium supplements have either calcium carbonate or calcium citrate, with brand names and generics to choose from. Calcium carbonate is nearly twice as concentrated in elemental calcium as calcium citrate. The most concentrated are TUMS® antacid tablets, available as 500mg, 750mg and 1000mg each. Caltrate®, OsCal®, and Viactiv® each contain either 500mg or 600mg of calcium carbonate. Citracal® has calcium citrate in a variety of strengths, from 200mg to a slow-release form containing 600mg. Citracal® Gummies use tricalcium phosphate.

It's best to pick a calcium supplement that you are willing and able to take regularly. A bottle of calcium pills sitting on the shelf because they're too big to swallow won't help your bones! Here are some tips to help you out:

6 Tips For Selecting A Calcium Supplement:

1. Most women need 1000-1200mg of elemental calcium as a daily supplement. That's two each of calcium carbonate or about four each of calcium citrate for women, and half of that dose for men over 60 years of age. Most calcium supplements show calcium content on the label by a serving size of 2 each.

2. Take supplemental Vitamin D to help your body absorb calcium.

Vitamin D is now recommended as 600 IU daily for folks up to 70 years of age and 800 IU daily for those over 70. You can also get Vitamin D from salmon (800 IU per 3 ounces), canned tuna (150 IU per 3 ounces), fortified milk (about 120 IU per 4 ounces), and fortified orange juice (80 IU per 4 ounces). Most calcium supplements contain Vitamin D but you can also take it separately.

3. Maintain an adequate water or fluid intake to avoid kidney stones.

Calcium is not very soluble in water, and can form painful crystals or stones inside your kidney. Calcium citrate is less likely to do this than calcium carbonate supplements; talk to your doctor first before taking calcium if you have had kidney stones in the past.

4. Choose calcium citrate if you take any medicines for stomach acidity, stomach ulcer, or hiatal hernia.

Prilosec® or omeprazole, Prevacid® or lansoprazole, Zantac® or ranitidine, and other medicines like these reduce the acid in your stomach. Calcium carbonate needs an acidic stomach to be completely absorbed; calcium citrate is well absorbed regardless.

5. If you have trouble with constipation, avoid calcium carbonate.

6. Take advantage of chewable calcium if you can't swallow large pills.

If you hate to take big pills like me (I tend to gag on them or get them stuck partway down), try smaller tablets (Citracal® Petites), caramel-like chews (Viactiv®), or new gumdrop-like “gummies” (Caltrate®, Citracal®).

As always, I welcome your questions and comments.

Mask Mandate Still In Effect For Public Transit

SUBMITTED BY ERIC WEST

Marketing and Communications Coordinator

Even with the recent change in CDC guidance regarding the continuing need to wear masks to protect against COVID-19, and Washington State adopting this guidance, those using public transit buses and facilities are still required to wear face coverings, per the Federal order effective February 2, 2021. This requirement will be in effect until September 13, 2021.

Link Transit is required to adhere to this Federal order and will continue to enforce mask wearing for all passengers while on board buses, or at transit facilities like Columbia Station. There are some exceptions to this requirement.

For more information, please contact Link Transit Guest Services at 509-662-1155 or visit www.linktransit.com

Face Coverings Update

SUBMITTED BY VERONICA FARIAS

Chelan-Douglas Health District

East Wenatchee. – On May 15, Washington State Secretary of Health, Umair Shah, MD, MPH, amended Order 20-03 regarding face coverings

The amendment follows the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) May 13 Interim Public Health Recommendations for Fully Vaccinated People which states that fully vaccinated people no longer need to wear a mask or physically distance in any setting, except where required by federal, state, local, tribal, or territorial laws, rules, and regulations, including local business and workplace guidance.

Face coverings are still required – regardless of vaccination status – in certain health care settings like hospitals, long-term care, or doctor's offices; as well as in correctional facilities, homeless shelters, or schools.

Please note, face coverings are still mandatory for individuals who are not fully vaccinated. People are considered fully vaccinated two (2) weeks after they have received the second dose in a two-dose series (Pfizer or Moderna) or two (2) weeks after receiving the single-dose Johnson & Johnson vaccine.

Chelan-Douglas Health District realizes that verifying those who are fully vaccinated is a challenge, but is confident that Chelan and Douglas county residents will honor and respect current guidance and continue to wear face coverings when people from outside their household are present or in a place that is generally accessible to people from outside their household.

Further guidance from Washington State Department of Labor and Industries regarding face coverings for employees and the workplace will be communicated as soon as it is available.

Trailhead for Cashmere Canyons Preserve Officially Open

Public now has access to over 11 miles of trails on private land

SUBMITTED BY KATHY PEVEN
Chelan-Douglas Land Trust

WENATCHEE — The Chelan-Douglas Land Trust (CDLT) and Hay Canyon Ranch LLC opened the Cashmere Canyons Preserve to the public on Saturday, May 15. Although the preserve has been quietly open for the past month, it was officially opened with a small ceremony at the trailhead attended by Chelan County Commissioner Bob Bugert, Cashmere Mayor Jim Fletcher, Christine Mahler of the Washington State Wildlife & Recreation Program and representatives from the Washington Fish & Wildlife Department, as well as landowners, Jabe Blumenthal, Julie Edsforth and Don Poirier, CDLT Executive Director Curt Soper, key Land Trust staff and supporters.

Cashmere Canyons Preserve is a 2100-acre preserve, privately-owned and protected for critical wildlife habitat. The preserve is permanently protected by a conservation easement held by CDLT who will also manage the trail system. The CDLT and the landowners have worked for the past two years on the development of a suitable trailhead to allow for public access to the preserve's over 11 miles of hiking trails. The preserve is open daily from dawn until dusk for foot traffic only. Dogs and bikes are not permitted on the property.

The preserve has incredible wildflower displays and expansive views to the Entiat Mountains and the Wenatchee Valley down to the Columbia River. The property's varying elevation, habitats and connectivity to other public lands make it valuable wildlife habitat and particularly resilient to the effects of a changing climate.

"Our hope is that 100 years from now, when the population of the valley has doubled or tripled, there will still be places where one can see deer and bear, cougars and coyotes, rattlesnakes and raptors, and on lucky days walk in total solitude surrounded by a sea of wildflowers; where people can be neither above nor separate from nature, but in its midst. If that's still possible, it won't be by accident nor the result of 'business as usual.' It will happen, or not, because of the conscious choices and investments made by the people and institutions of the Wenatchee Valley today," Said landowner Jabe Blumenthal.

Protection of and access to the preserve was funded by the Washington State Recreation & Conservation Funding Board's WWRP (WA Wildlife & Recreation Program), a competitive biannual grant program, the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation through The Nature Conservancy Climate Resiliency Program and matching donations from Hay Canyon Ranch LLC.

The Chelan-Douglas Land Trust is a local non-profit working to conserve our land, our water, and our way of life. The Land Trust has a 36-year record of working collaboratively with property owners and communities to identify and protect the region's most important natural landscapes forever. The Washington Outdoors Report

Outdoors Roundup

By JOHN KRUSE

There's a lot of news to cover this week when it comes to the outdoors in our region so let's get to it:

Fishers Breeding In Chelan County – The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife reports the birth of first wild fishers in the North Cascades in a half century. Fishers are a house-cat sized member of the weasel family and were eliminated in Washington by the mid-1900s. They are listed as an endangered species.

Between 2018 and 2020, WDFW, the National Park Service, Conservation Northwest and the Calgary Zoo released 89 of these animals into North Cascades National Park and the Mount Baker-Snoqualmie National Forest. Four young kits from one of these fishers was seen on a trail camera set up near its den in Western Chelan County.

Ice River Opens To Salmon Fishing – Despite very low returns of Spring Chinook up the Columbia and Snake Rivers this year, state fisheries biologists believe they will have enough of these hatchery-raised chinook salmon return to the Leavenworth hatchery to provide a fishery. Salmon fishing opened on May 22 and is scheduled to go until June 30 though it may close sooner than that if the number of returning fish is lower than expected. Traditionally, the end of May and early June provide the best fishing on this small stream. The limit is two hatchery chinook salmon a day with a minimum size of 12-inches.

Trout Stocked In Lake Roosevelt – Speaking of hatchery fish, WDFW along with the Spokane and Colville Tribes are teaming up to plant some 485,000 fish this month in 151-mile-long Lake Roosevelt. The fish are all triploid rainbow trout and they contain an extra set of chromosomes that renders them sterile but turns them into eating machines. Many of the fish are only 8 to 12-inches long right now but within a few months they'll grow to 18-inches. Others being released in the lower third of the lake already weigh around one pound.

Potholes Bass Fishing Hot – Bass fishing is very good in the sand dunes of Potholes Reservoir right now. Largemouth bass are in shallow water on spawning beds and walleye are also in this area of the lake as well. For the bass fish less than six feet deep with weedless jigs and craw trailers, plastic worms and shallow running or lipless crankbaits. My long-time fishing partner Rusty Johnston and I fished this part of the lake last week and hooked some 20 bass, the vast majority of them between 2 and 3 pounds, along with a bonus 3-pound walleye.

If you prefer trout, Pete Fisher at MarDon Resort suggests trolling for them near Perch Point or in front of the state park. If you don't have a boat Medicare Beach on the east side of the lake is the place to go or you can explore some of the seep lakes below Potholes Reservoir which have also been producing good numbers of rainbows.

Catfish Are Biting In The Gorge – According to staff at Gorge Outfitters Supply, Catfish catches out of the mouth of the John Day and ponds adjoining the Columbia River near Rufus have been great and there have been lots of big cats caught too. This should make for an interesting annual Gorge Outfitters Supply Catfish Derby on May 29th and 30th. Entrants will be fishing the lower John Day River arm for this contest hoping for a big fish prize. In addition to prizes for big catfish there will also be raffles, and included in your entry fee is dinner and country music after the contest ends. You can register at the store in Rufus for $55 and get details at the Gorge Outfitters Supply Facebook page.

Fee changes proposed at selected Forest Service recreation sites in central Washington

SUBMITTED BY VICTORIA WILKINS
Public Affairs Officer

Wenatchee – The Forest Service, an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is proposing to raise fees and establish new fees at certain Forest Service recreation sites in the Okanogan-Wenatchee National Forest and the Tonasket Ranger District of the Colville National Forest and is soliciting comments from the public now through July 31, 2021.

Fee changes are being considered to allow the forest to continue to provide services, such as garbage collection and drinking water, and to provide for the health and public safety expected by visitors at recreation sites. These fees will also be used for large scale maintenance and improvement projects at sites where fees are collected.

"Raising fees will help offset the increased costs of maintenance at the sites," said Forest Recreation Program Manager Suzanne Cable. "The last time fee increases occurred on recreation sites in the Okanogan-Wenatchee Forest was in 2010."

Public input on the proposed changes is a welcome and a valued part of the overall process. Forest Service staff will evaluate and later present the public comments and input to a citizen advisory committee. The advisory committee will review all recommended fee changes before making recommendations to Forest Service Regional Forester Glenn Casamassa, top manager over all national forests in Oregon and Washington. Changes would not go into effect until after Casamassa's approval.

"Once approved, the dates the fee changes go into effect will vary," Cable said. "We don't plan to increase fees at all approved locations at the same time."

The proposal includes changing fees at over 60 recreation sites including campgrounds, lookouts, trailheads, and rental cabins across the forest and establishing new fees at 25 sites. Sites with proposed changes can be found at this link: www.fs.usda.gov/goto/rec-fee-proposal "Recreation fees and money collected from overnight rentals and campgrounds is kept on the forest to operate and maintain these sites. Besides routine operation and maintenance, monies are used to chip away at major projects to reduce backlog maintenance, fix old or install new picnic tables and toilets, and more," Cable said.

Forest Service staff hope to present the proposed fee changes to members of the Resource Advisory Committee for review fall or winter of 2021. The public is welcome to comment in writing prior to advisory committee meetings. The exact meeting times, location, and agenda will be announced on the forest website and through local media.

Comments on the proposed fee increases should be mailed to Okanogan-Wenatchee National Forest, ATTN: Recreation Fees/Suzanne Cable, 215 Melody Lane, Wenatchee, WA 98801, or emailed to SM.FS.FeeProposal@usda.gov. Comments must be received by July 31, 2021 to be considered.

Questions on fees proposed for specific sites should be directed to the District where that site is located.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lest we forget...

In the most recent issue Bill Forhan, Publisher put a spotlight on what has been brewing with the current Mayor and City Council regarding the cities revenues and what organizations and their events really contribute. It appears that they have no real knowledge what Leavenworth is...it is tourist town and that produces the revenue that goes into the city coffers. Why would you want to upset many of the events by dictating to organizations on your rules and the way you want the event to look and feel. In my opinion if government gets involved you can be assured the events will just continue to go down in attendance and the people that suffer the most are those folks that have given their time and hard work to produce a great event for our tourists not to mention local businesses.

Bill Forhan is correct that the contribution of $35,000 is not enough for ALFA. For years my wife and I spent hours working for Autumn Leaf Festival and spending our own funds to go to the many festivals and to walk with that float. Like so many we did this because we believe in Leavenworth and were happy to promote it to literally hundreds of thousands of people. Today that tradition of volunteers continues and the least the city can do is give them the funds they need to promote Leavenworth. This has been an ongoing request for as many years as I can remember.

The city does give funds to many events but not all of their funding is the same. For six years I held the International Dance Festival downtown but they only gave us limited funds for two years and said that is all that the event will get because the event has to be "self-sufficient". They never understood that it was a FREE event for locals and tourists. We held the event for all those years and it was only because local businesses were happy to support the event financially.

It would seem to me the city should be happy and embrace those organizations that are willing to put their time and effort in producing events. This leads me into the vibes they are giving as to their desire to end Oktoberfest. Why would you want Oktoberfest to go away? This event is now over 20 years old, has brought thousands of tourists to this town and a huge amount of revenue. Yes, there were problems through the years but Projekt Bayern listened and has spent a great amount of money to solve those problems. For example, total monies spent on security, sheriff, free taxi service and state patrol in 2019 total $135,000. Projekt Bayern listened and addressed the problems through the years on many levels.

I wonder what the 350-400 local employees are feeling on reading the news about Oktoberfest perhaps going away? The total paid to those employees in 2019 was $300,728. I heard one employee say to me... "Christmas will not be the same if I can't work at Oktoberfest!" The city indicates it was paid $50,000 per year for use of the parking lots and the agreement has come to an end and they have now signaled that they do not want to renegotiate the agreement but in turn indicate a desire to see this event go away. However, they received much more then this and the actual total in 2019 was $70,931. They have received other funds through the years and they seem to forget all about the help provided to the them by Projekt Bayern. Perhaps they need to do some real research on what has taken place over the last 20 years.

Four important areas will cease if Oktoberfest goes away...the huge tax revenue to the city, the revenue that all those local businesses and lodging receives; salaries to local employees and lastly all the monies Prokekt Bayern uses to fund various projects which many folks forget or do not realize. The list of projects that Projekt Bayern has funded is too long to list here...however, the total monies spent through the years is over $673,000 and $263,000 was monies used to fund city projects...like $22,000 for murals on the Festhalle, or Gazebo remodel of $115,000, another $164,00 for Lion's Club Park bathrooms and to satisfy the city requirements Projekt Bayern stepped up and paid $65,000 for paintings on Cascade Medical Center!

This is the event you want to go away!

A quick thought on Christmas Lighting. During my tenure as Media Relations Director at the Leavenworth Chamber I was asked to MC Christmas Lighting and each year I was amazed at the crowds...but more than that was the feeling one felt from seeing the wonderment in the smallest child to that elderly couple seeing the lights once again. When the lighting was over the folks seemed to be so happy and they left with a smile on their face and couldn't stop talking about the evening. Can there be any better reason to make sure Christmas Lighting continues?

Let's continue with the many wonderful events that make this the "Bavarian Village" and the reason millions come each year to our small but wonderful town.

I agree with Mr Forhan that it is time Mayor Florea and Council members "Remember how we got here!"
