Dr. Kim Schrier visits Leavenworth Rotary

By BILL FORHAN Publisher

Washington's 8th District Congresswoman Dr. Kim Schrier held a mini-Town Hall at Leavenworth Rotary Club's Friday meeting. Dr. Schrier is in her first term as a Democrat representative. Her primary campaign issue was protecting and expanding the Affordable this country with pre-existing con-Care Act. She lives in Sammamish with her husband and son. She is the only woman Doctor in the House of Representatives.

saying she did not want to be to improve on it" said Schrier. political in her presentation. She just wanted to talk about issues she is working on and then take

Schrier started out talking about the ACA saying that as a doctor and woman with a pre-existing condition, she is a Type 1 diabetic, she was concerned about the efforts to repeal the ACA. She said she was concerned that a lot of talk show hosts and lawyers were probably not the best people to be making decisions about health care policy.

"There are 26 million people in ditions that could not get health insurance before the ACA and every big policy change we have made in this country there is a Schrier began her discussion first step and then additional steps "ACA was a very good first step but it needs many tweaks to make it better. I was concerned about the efforts to just toss it out the window"

> Schrier went on to say we essentially have one insurance provider here and that means it's a monopoly. The ACA will compete with private insurance and bring costs down.

We have also initiated a bill which has already passed in the house giving Medicare the ability to negotiate the cost of prescription drugs.

"It is insane that the largest purchaser of medications in the world cannot negotiate prices yet must provide coverage for every prescription drug available," said Schrier. "That one change will save over a half a trillion dollars over ten years."

Schrier also said she has a vaccination bill that will address the issue of misinformation about vaccines and try to improve the vaccination rates.

Schrier said she is concerned about gun violence particularly among depressed teenagers. She is not sure why there seems to be a growing trend of depression among teenagers but we must begin to address the problem. There is a bill on Mitch McConnell's (Senate Majority Leader) desk to expand background checks to insure troubled teenagers are identified before they get their hands on a gun.

Another thing Schrier ran on was a promise to root out corruption. She admitted that was an area she was having difficulty with but she and many of the new class of representatives have pledged not to take corporate PAC money. She did not want her constituents wondering if she voted in support of a bill because of donations from a corporate pack or because she thought the bill was in the best interest of the country.

In answer to a question about how do we get better cooperation between the parties on capitol hill Schrier said; "If you watch cable news all day you would assume that there are just a bunch of jerks in Washington who cannot get along and that we are just mad all of the time. That's not true. There are a number of bipartisan bills on Mitch McConnell's desk waiting to be moved forward. And I am not naïve, having 2 Republicans in 850-5340 support of a bill is not bipartisan. I'll give you a great example, there is a bill on McConnell's desk called the Farm Workforce Modernization Act. It does a number of great things to help with temporary farm labor for farmers all across the country. All of our Washington Representatives are in support of this bill."

In answer to a question on lobbyists Schrier said: Lobbyists don't know how to handle the new class of representatives that don't take money, but while we are concerned about the influence of money on policies, lobbyists are important. While we tend to cast them as bad, the reality is lobbyists often provide valuable insight to an issue. For example, if you have no lobbyists then organizations like The Alzheimer's Association doesn't have a voice in making important policy deci-

In answer to a question about the insufficiency of provider reimbursements from Medicaid Schrier said:

This is one of the problems in our crazy mixed-up medical care system. Medicare does not pay enough and Medicaid is even worse. It would be nice to have transparency in billing so everyone knew exactly what things actually cost.

We also need to address why health care in this country is so expensive and yet we get worse outcomes. The question you raise about the increasing need without the increase in funding is one of the great issues.

The great problem is that politicians are often more worried about their next election than about the long term implications of their decisions.

Celebrating the 75th Anniversary of the 6888 WAC Central Postal Directory Battalion

SUBMITTED BY KAREN BROWN-JOHN KENDRICK CHAPTER

Major General Mike Worden USAF retired, presented a tribute to the history of women in the US Army, Thurs. Feb. 20, atthe monthly meeting of John Kendrick Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the American Legion Hall, Post #10, in Wenatchee.

General Worden commemorated the 75th Anniversary of the 6888 Women's Army Corp (WAC) Central Postal Directory Battalion stationed in Paris France from Feb. 1945-Nov. 1946.

This equalized benefits and protections that the auxiliaries lacked. At its peak in 1945, the Air WACs boasted over 32,000 women in more than 200 enlisted and 60 officer occupational specialties. Eventually, 40 percent of the WACs went into the AAF, where they worked in an increasing variety of roles.

By January 1945, only 50% of AAF WACs worked in the assignment traditionally seen as appropriate for women, such as stenography, typing and filing.

Instead, Air WACs served increasingly as weather observers, cryptographers, radio operators, aerial photograph analyzers, control tower operators, parachute rigger, maintenance specialist and sheet metal workers.

To listen to the political talk after the event they were nearly universal in their praise of Elizabeth Warren.

> It was her best debate so far they said. She totally destroyed Mike Bloomberg.

The problem is the voters were not impressed. But more importantly, it shows how the media continues to be out of touch with voters.

Joe Biden who had a fairly lackluster performance in the debate came in second behind Bernie with 21 percent – less than half of Sanders 47 percent.

Buttigieg came in third with just under 14 percent. Klobuchar's campaign looks to be on life support.

Many of Sanders' complaints are real.

For example, he says the concentration of corporate wealth through mergers and acquisitions is harmful would agree with him on

We already have laws regarding anti-trust on the books.

The problem is neither party is interested in enforcing them.

I would agree with Bernie in breaking up companies like Amazon, Google, and the mega banks. Competition is what makes capitalism work.

Allowing big companies to buy out their competitors so they can ultimately charge customers more is not healthy.

The problem is electing Bernie who will attempt to shut down private insurance companies, increase taxes on billionaires and large wealthy corporations will not fix the problem.

Companies will simply move offshore or find tax havens to protect their wealth.

The trouble with socialists is they always make promises they cannot keep.

The people who are going to be harmed by Sanders policies are in Bernie's words, "nervous."

These are powerful people and it is unrealistic to assume they will simply give into a socialist's policy changes.

As President, Sanders will be limited in his ability to force real change. Unless he can drive a new majority of like minded Democrats in the House and the Senate, he will be forced to try and effectuate his changes through Executive Orders.

The reality is the Democrats have a big problem. They have no real viable candidate who can beat Trump.

Biden is placing his hopes on a win in North Carolina. If that happens it will likely splinter the party further. If not, Sanders is on a roll to get elected as the parties standard bearer.

I think we are on a course for a Trump landslide victory in November, but then maybe I'm just another out of touch media pundit.

Senate's bipartisan approval acknowledges hydropower's benefit to clean energy

SUBMITTED BY BRAD HAWKINS

I am very excited to share that the State Senate tonight approved my Senate Bill 6012, a hydropower tax incentive bill that helps acknowledge hydropower's important role in providing clean energy in Washington state.

Securing improved tax treatment for hydropower has been a top legislative priority for me and hydropower supporters for the past couple of years. The bill, approved today in an amended form, could significantly benefit Chelan County PUD and its customer-owners in the years ahead as they prepare for major modifications to existing generating units at both Rocky Reach Dam and Rock Island Dam.

Representatives from Chelan County PUD have been working closely with me and our other 12th District legislators over the tax incentive legislation to benefit Chelan County PUD customers and our state hydropower system.

Senate Bill 6012 was approved with a 39-9 vote and included a compromise amendment co-sponsored by me and Senator Reuven Carlyle (D-Seattle), to provide an exemption from the state sales tax for utilities that refurbish hydroelectric plants with oil-free turbine blades, likely to improve environmental conditions by reducing oil impacts in the Columbia River. The tax exemption, as approved by the Senate, does not apply to the local portion of the sales tax, which is an important revenue source to county governments.

My first version of Senate Bill 6012 was introduced last year as an effort to promote equal tax treatment between hydropower clean energy sources and non-hydro clean

Parents, Wake Up

Comprehensive sex education (CSE) sounds vague enough, but what is it really?

The Washington legislature is pushing CSE as the latest and greatest mandated sex education program for public school children from kindergarten to 12th grade. Mutual masturbation to condom and oral dam use will be taught in a classroom format. It claims to do so in an age appropriate, culturally neutral, scientific way. But why? Have parents been beating down the legislators'and school boards' doors demanding CSE? Have the schools made the programs easily accessible to parents so they can see what the Teacher's Guide requires before the program is installed? Have there been public meetings where school board members answered questions from the public regarding this program? The answer to all those questions for the Methow Valley School District is "NO".

No debate or open discussion prior to the Planned Parenthood Get Real program being accepted into our school district.

Access to the 600+ pageGet Real program is not easy. (It should be posted on the school district website, or at least the Teacher's Guide should be.)

The only school board meeting on CSE was a "listen only" meeting on Oct. 2019 where no questions were answered, and there have been no answers provided by the school board

Public school sex education is becoming a vehicle for teaching gender fluid ideology and indoctrinating children into sexual behaviors far beyond "age appropriate" or "culturally neutral".

How you can get too much Magnesium

Last week 84-year-old Martha was walking to her mailbox when she lost her balance and fell over onto the sidewalk.

Luckily, her next door neighbor was walking his cockapoo and saw the whole thing, calling 911 when she wasn't able to get back up.

Martha's head, heart, lungs, and kidneys checked out fine, but the magnesium in her blood was a little too high.

Asked if she was taking any magnesium supplements, Martha said, "No, I only take a thyroid pill for my thyroid and a pain pill at night for my arthritis."

I asked Martha, "Have you taken any laxatives lately?"

"Why, yes, nearly every night. My pain pill helps my arthritis but it binds me up, so I take a laxative for that."

"Which one?"

"It's in a blue bottle. Phillips®, I think." "Do you ever take anything for stomach acid, burning, or indigestion?"

Mylanta® best." "How about Epsom Salts? Do you ever

"Sure. I soak my feet sometimes when they ache. I've been doing that a little more lately. It seems to help.' Although she wasn't taking a magnesium supplement, Martha was getting magnesium through taking Mylanta® antacid, Phillips® Milk of Magnesia laxative and using Epsom Salts.

Magnesium is a vitally important mineral, essential for the function and maintenance of nerves and muscle as well as making new bone cells. Having too little magnesium interferes with correcting calcium or potassium deficiency and can lead to osteoporosis and high blood pressure, while too much magnesium causes diarrhea, muscle weakness and sedation.

Magnesium hydroxide is a milky liquid and a major ingredient in the antacids Maalox® and Mylanta®. It's also the main component of Phillips Milk of Magnesia®.

Magnesium is also sold as magnesium citrate, a clear, effervescent solution of magnesium with sodium bicarbonate and citric acid added to make it bubbly. Magnesium citrate is a laxative sold in small glass bottles as citrate of magnesia.

Magnesium citrate and hydroxide are salts of magnesium marketed as saline (salt-based) laxatives.

Magnesium salts pull water out of your body and into your intestine as they go through, softening your stool and relieving constipation in as little as 30 minutes to 3 hours. While these laxatives do their work inside your intestines, you can absorb some of the magnesium as well.

Up to 20% of the magnesium in each dose of milk of magnesia or citrate of magnesia can be absorbed, raising your magnesium level like Martha's.

Martha was also getting magnesium from her use of Epsom Salts. Magnesium sulfate crystals were originally obtained by evaporating the mineral waters found in the town of Epsom, England, which produced nearly pure magnesium sulfate.

Today, Epsom Salts are produced by evaporating water from the sea. After extracting the more desirable sodium chloride (table salt) from seawater, the brine left over contains nearly pure magnesium sulfate (Epsom Salts).

Soaking in a concentrated salty solution of Epsom salts dissolved in hot water can help decrease swelling and relieve aches and pains.

Magnesium chloride is also available as a spray to rub in for relief of muscle cramps.

Your body absorbs some of the magne-"Sometimes. I like the mint flavored sium chloride through your skin as you spray it on or soak in it.

> I find soaking in warm Epsom Salts very helpful when needing to remove a deep splinter.

Instead of digging around after it, soaking the area first shrinks and softens the skin around the splinter, making it much easier to see and remove.

Here are 5 Tips on Take Magnesium Safely:

If you have kidney problems, avoid ogetting extra magnesium. Avoid magnesium-containing antacids and laxatives along with topical magnesium sprays if you have any kidney problems.

2. Watch out for multiple seem.

In addition to taking a magnesium supplement, your body can also absorb magnesium from other sources, like some antacids, liquid laxatives, Epsom Salts and magnesium sprays.

Mnow the signs of getting too much • magnesium. If you notice diarrhea, cramping, weakness or low blood pressure you may be getting too much magnesium, like Martha was.

Pay attention to your laxatives. If 4 • you need a laxative on a regular basis, try using powdered Miralax®, which works just as well as milk of magnesia or magnesium citrate but without the risk of absorbing extra magnesium.

Don't mix magnesium with • antibiotics. Avoid taking magnesium 1 hour before and 2 hours after certain antibiotics. Magnesium attaches directly to some antibiotics, keeping your body from absorbing them properly to fight off your infection.

Mountain Meadows Senior Living Campus Announces 2019 EMPLOYEE OF THE YEAR Alena Rodstol

Alena Rodstol, evening shift personal caregiver, has been chosen as the 2019 Employee of the Year by Mountain Meadows Senior Living Campus. She was selected by popular vote from community residents, staff, volunteers, and family members from a larger group made up of 2019 "Employee of the Quarter" candidates. Others vying for the title were Brittany Lanning, memory care caregiver and Conrad Delury, dietary assistant.

Alena has been employed for nearly 2 years. She is known for consistently going above and beyond, providing exceptional resident care, creating an atmosphere of teamwork and dedicated service, and being flexible by working various shifts when needed. The residents think of her as their "shining star"!

The Board, staff, and residents of Mountain Meadows ask you to join them in thanking Alena for her service and congratulating her on this special recognition!

The use of Personal Flotation Devices may become mandatory for anyone under 18 in a human powered boat in Washington - Nicole Lewis kayaking in the Columbia River near Bateman Island and Richland.

Catch limits are being raised for bass and other warmwater species in 77 lakes across the state this year - Russell Johnston with an early spring largemouth bass from Downs Lake near Sprague.

The Politics Of Fish,

STORY BY JOHN KRUSE

The States of Washington and Oregon have taken a number of actions in the last week that will affect both our fish populations and those who fish for them. Here's a brief rundown of the four issues at the forefront this week:

GILLNETS TO REMAIN IN THE COLUMBIA RIVER IN 2020:

The Directors of the Oregon and Washington Departments of Fish and Wildlife released a joint announcement on Valentines Day as to how salmon will be allocated between commercial and recreational anglers in the Columbia River this year.

The main thing that stands out in this announcement is gillnetting will again be allowed on the mainstem of the Columbia River for fall Chinook, a practice that was supposed to end in 2019.

The Northwest Sportfishing Industry Association and Coastal Conservation Association say this new rule opens the door to increased gillnetting on the river, a charge WDFW denies.

All this comes at an inopportune time for WDFW which is hoping for support from the state legislature to fill a gaping 26-million-dollar budget shortfall.

MANDATORY LIFE JACKETS?

Currently, personal flotation devices (PFDs) are required to be used by children under 12 in small boats but a bill introduced in the State House proposed making the wearing of life jackets mandatory for boaters of all ages.

The original bill (HB 2443) made this mandatory on a lot of powered fishing boats under 19 feet in length as well as drift boats, row boats, canoes, kayaks and stand up paddleboards (SUPs).

An amended bill that passed the State House now eliminates the length of the boat and now says PFDs would be required for anyone between the ages of 13 and 18 using a human powered watercraft except for competitive rowers, surfers and those on stand-up paddle boards if the user is tethered to the board with a leash or (and I'm not making this up) participating in yoga on a SUP in a designated swimming area or within 100 feet

There is no doubt this bill will save lives. However, some question whether our state government is acting too motherly by mandating the use of life jackets in vessels that may only be floating in two feet of water.

The bill got its first hearing by the in 10-fish daily limit. No minimum size. the Senate on February 18th.

SOME FISH ARE MORE EQUAL THAN OTHERS:

In Washington State, cold-water fish such as salmon, trout and steelhead are definitely more equal than their warmwater brethren bass, walleye and catfish.

In recent years limits were abolished for these warmwater fish on the Columbia River below Chief Joseph Dam to help with the survival of steelhead and salmon smolts.

This will undoubtedly impact a world class walleye and smallmouth bass fishery on the Columbia sooner than later as anglers keep as many fish as they want.

Now the Washington Dept. of Fish and Wildlife has announced expanded limits for warmwater species in 77 lakes across that state where salmon pass through as well as in all rivers and beaver ponds

Those limits are:

- Largemouth bass: Change from 5 to a 10-fish daily limit; anglers must release fish between 12 and 17 inches, and only one fish may be over 17 inches.
- Smallmouth bass: Change from 10 to a 15-fish daily limit; only one fish may be over 14 inches.
- Channel catfish: Change from 5 to a daily limit; only one fish may be over 22 inches.

In the short term this will provide lots of meat for anglers who enjoy catching and keeping these fish.

In the long term though, a number of quality fisheries will be turning into notso quality ones soon as fish in both size and number are depleted.

A few examples include Silver Lake in Cowlitz County known for a great largemouth bass fishery, Osoyoos Lake in Okanogan County which is one of the better smallmouth bass destinations in the state and the Palouse River in Southeast Washington where anglers go for big catfish in the spring.

As to whether or not these rules will significantly help salmon and steelhead which face a host of other survival issues? That remains to be seen.

COLVILLE RIVER IS OPEN FOR YEAR AROUND FISHING:

Last but not least, another rule change from WDFW returns year-round fishing to the Colville River from the mouth of the river at Lake Roosevelt upstream to the bridge in the small town of valley.

Parents as Guilty as Kids When it Comes to Too Much Screen Time

(StatePoint) Parents spend nearly the same amount of time with devices as they do with their kids, according to new research from The Genius of Play, a nonprofit initiative dedicated to raising awareness of play's vital role in child development.

The results of the OnePoll survey of 2,000 parents of schoolaged children ages 5-18 suggest that families should be finding more screen-free ways to spend time together. Half of the survev's respondents have been asked by their child to put their phone away, and 79 percent believe that their relationship with their children would benefit if everyone spent less time on

Tips for Students and Teachers to Get Through the Midyear Slump colorful right out of the box. One (StatePoint) There comes a certain point during every school year when students and educators alike are at risk of suffering from a midyear slump. One solution to staying motivated? Adding some color and vibrancy to everyday tools used in the classroom. Here are five ideas for doing so:

 A change of scenery has the power to inspire. Students can revamp their lockers and desks at home with new decorations, artwork and organizational tools, like a color-coded bulletin board. Teachers can make the same updates to classrooms to give students and themselves a fresh in addition to the standard black. The ability to hook up to any portable music player so that the user can play any music downloaded to the device offers versatility in lesson planning, practice and performance.

· Any calculator can be easily customized with skins, but if you want to keep it simple, some models are stylish and such example is the fx-9750GII. Available in black, blue or pink, this can be a great way to give young mathematicians a fun and useful tool to see them through finals, college entrance exams

• If you didn't purchase new accessories like backpacks, gym bags or laptop cases at the beginning of the school year, maybe it's time for a refresh. Slick new carrying essentials can give a student greater confidence while traveling from home to the classroom, and help brighten the school day.

By embracing colorful tools, students and teachers can work their way out of the midyear slump for a strong finish to the school year.
