Leavenworth Mayor Carl Florea addresses the crowd following his swearing in ceremony on December 31.

Mayor Carl Florea takes oath of office Announces termination of City Manager's employment contract

By BILL FORHAN, PUBLISHER

Mayor Carl Florea was sworn in at a ceremony in city hall at 10 a.m. on Dec. 31, 2019 in front of a crowd of supporters.

Florea won the election with nearly 55 percent of the vote.

Following the completion of his swearing in ceremony,

Florea, who was a Lutheran Pastor, delivered a short "sermon," on his plans as Leavenworth's new mayor.

He said he was anxious to get started with fulfilling his goals and addressing the issues he outlined during his campaign.

While he did recognize there was tension between the business community and the citizens during the campaign he said he recognized the local economy was primarily driven by tourism and he did not see that changing.

"Tension is not a bad thing," said Florea. "It is only a problem when it leads to animosity or rancor" Florea said some 50 years ago the community came together with project LIFE - Leavenworth Improvement For Everyone.

Not everyone agreed with what was proposed back then. He wanted to start a new project LIFE where we all work together to address our problems. He said he looked forward to addressing community concerns over traffic, parking and affordable housing while balancing the needs to maintain our strong economy.

Florea also announced that he intended to replace city manager, Joel Walinski. While he had no problem with Walinski's job performance he wanted someone who was more aligned with his vision and campaign goals. Walinski's employment contract will be terminated as of the end of February 2020.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the City Council is Tuesday, January 14.

Opinions

The year matched the decade

2019 was an amazing year for investors. U.S. stocks gained nearly 30%, European stocks rose more than 25%, the Chinese stock market gained 22%, Japanese stocks rose nearly 20%, and gold climbed 17%. Even the bond market had a banner year, rising nearly 10%.

Similarly, the last decade made a lot of investors happy, as the S&P 500 tripled.

One major reason for the amazing performance of the stock market both in 2019, and over the decade, was simply a trick of timing.

As the decade began, we were just digging out from the Financial Crisis. Similarly, as 2019 began, we were recovering from the last two months of 2018, when the S&P 500 dropped nearly 20%.

Had the decade started a few years earlier, or had the year started a few months earlier, the performance wouldn't be nearly as impressive.

BRAD BLACKBURN
Financial Opinion

Another similarity between 2019 and the decade was how strong the stock market was in the face of a merely decent economy.

While the stock market has tripled since 2010, our GDP only grew by a quarter. Similarly, in 2019, the S&P 500 gained 30%, while our GDP will be a solid, but unimpressive 2%.

So, what does all this mean for 2020 and the coming decade?

Unfortunately, when the stock market outperforms the economy, it essentially steals gains from the future.

As a result, the next year and the next decade have very little chance of living up to their predecessors.

While it's been a great ride for investors, we are left with something resembling a bubble.

However, just because there's a bubble, that doesn't mean it will disastrously pop.

The best way to deflate a bubble is for the economy to catch up to the stock market.

That happened in 2018, which was the best economic year of the Trump presidency so far – and yet the S&P 500 fell nearly 5%.

As strange as it sounds, that may be the best-case scenario for 2020.

If the stock market can tread water while the economy picks up speed, we'll look a lot better going into 2021.

Of course, the opposite is also true. If the economy weakens, the stock market will not be happy.

As for what the coming decade will bring, I won't even venture a guess.

However, my realistic hope is for more slow and steady growth, which has served us well.

It seems that slower growth leads to longer growth, as this has been the longest economic expansion in modern history.

The economy has steadily grown – without overheating. Perhaps that's the secret.

Slow growth isn't exactly a great story for the stock market, especially with the stocks already overvalued. But, we're in an okay place right now.

A lot of people have jobs and the economy has momentum. It's not a bad starting point.

WOZZECK THE MET: LIVE IN HD

MASON ELLIOTT

Opera at the Icicle Creek Center for the Arts with The Met: Live in HD showing Wozzeck on January 11th. Highly regarded for its emotional power and brilliant score, this will leave you on the edge of your seat.

Composed during and in the aftermath of World War I, Berg's dark exploration of a soldier besieged by the evils of society, is staged by Kentridge in a ramshackle warren of stairs, ramps, discarded furniture, and debris. His own theatrically animated charcoal drawings, along with other projected drawings, maps, and film clips, evoke a nightmarish world of crashed planes, searchlights, ghostly gas masks, and battlefields.

We can't wait to see you!

As always, make sure to check out icicle.org for information about events and everything happening on campus. And, make sure to follow us on both Facebook and Instagram for up to date information and what goes on here on campus! We hope to see you soon!

Spring's a popular time of year for weddings

Spring is a popular time of year for weddings for a number of reasons. The weather gives you options not available during the potentially hot summer months or unpredictable winter and fall.

For the most part, you can count on spring's mild temperatures and its steady weather patterns — especially in late spring. The spring also gives you flexibility when it comes to planning a bridal shower. Friends of the bride have long put their heads together to pull off a memorable shower experience that all involved parties remember for years to come.

Here are some of the most important things to remember when throwing a shower:

- Decide on a date that is ideal for all attendees usually a weekend day when getting off of work isn't an issue.

- Choose your venue and make sure you book it months ahead of time.

There's nothing worse than having to go to your backup plan just because you didn't plan ahead.

- Plan (and stick to) your budget. Set a budget for the entire event and make sure you follow it during both the planning and execution phases. Your fellow bridesmaids will likely pitch in to help you avoid overspending on this special event.

SHOWER IDEAS

Below are some ideas for what kinds of spring bridal showers you can plan for your friend or family member. Don't forget to incorporate the bride's likes and dislikes into the festivities. For example, if the outdoors isn't really her thing, a daylong event filled with lawn games probably isn't your best bet. Be creative, be practical and most of all be fun.

SPA PARTY

A spa bridal shower is a great way to relax the bride during this anxious time. Consider booking your local spa or hiring a couple of professionals to come to you. A DIY spa station could include a massage table, a facial space and a mani-pedi seat. Be sure to play relaxing music and deck your place out with soothing decorations.

stay trim and fit for her special day? Set up a food-themed party to let your guests indulge on deli sandwiches, cheese and crackers, vegetables and fruit salads.

PERFUME BAR

If your venue allows it, a perfume bar is a unique addition to your bridal shower. This is a great complement to a spa location. Ask the company's management if they would permit you to put together a table area full of perfumes for sampling throughout the shower.

RECEPTION ENTERTAINMENT

Lawn games let your guests wind down after your formal ceremony. They also make for great conversation and friendly competition that bring out the best in your friends and family members. Lawn games are not only fun but inexpensive, as well. You can even build them yourself. Decide which lawn games you're hoping to incorporate and head to the hardware store for lumber and other necessities. Some of the most popular lawn games include bags, Frisbee golf and lawn darts. Make your own scoring systems and rules to make things more interesting.

Here are a few more ideas:

HORSESHOES

Horseshoes is a time-tested lawn game perfect for all ages. Minimal equipment is needed for setup, making it the perfect DIY lawn game for your reception. You can likely find a horseshoe set at your local hardware or toy store. Or you could make your own by purchasing a few steel rebar rods about 1 inch thick and getting your hands on some actual horseshoes. Check in with family members who have horses or even your local horse veterinarian to see if they have any extras lying around.

You'll have a legitimate horseshoe lawn game set up in no time.

FOR THE KIDS

Let's say you plan on having four or five lawn games set up for the adults at your reception. This is a good number that allows rotation between games and includes plenty of guests in the fun. But what about the kids? Children's lawn games can include pin-the-tail-on-the-donkey, potato sack races or simply smaller versions of the adult games you have set up. Whatever you choose, be sure to assign someone to supervise the activity to ensure optimal safety.

The wedding dress

The wedding dress. So many hours of research, fitting and re-fitting for only a few hours of glory. But once your special day comes and goes, deciding what to do with the gown can be a difficult choice for many brides. Should you keep it stored away as a memento of your wedding day or let it go?

KEEP IT

When deciding to keep your gown, it's important to determine why. Are you hoping to one day hand over your dress to your daughter? If so, keeping the gown in a basement, attic or back of the closet may not be an ideal storage option. Garment profes-

Garment professionals recommend you properly clean and store your gown for optimal life span.

sionals recommend you properly clean and store your gown for optimal life span. Simply shutting it away and forgetting about it can lead to a ragged, faded garment after even a short period of time.

DONATE IT

If you have no future plans to give away your dress to a family member or friend, why not donate it to charity? Organizations such as Brides Against Breast Cancer use donated dresses to put on their Nationwide Tour of Gowns effort, which raises funds to contribute to programs for cancer patients and their families. Check in with your local charitable organizations or consignment shops to see if there is a need for donated dresses in your area.

SELL IT

Another option for your gown after your wedding is selling it to make back some of your own costs. This may be a great option if the dress is very valuable and if the company you bought it from has a flexible buy-back program. There are also a variety of online options for selling your gown. Many companies buy and sell pre-owned wedding dresses. Just don't expect to get top-dollar out of these bargain services.

Go green for your big day

According to a poll by the Clinton Global Initiative and Microsoft, 66 percent of millennials believe there is solid evidence of global warming, and about 75 percent say it is of human activity. In turn, these environmental advocates are taking action by planning weddings that rely less on disposable products and fossil fuels and more on sustainable practices that can lead to a healthier environment. Follow our suggestions below to integrate a little of this approach into your spring wedding.

CHOOSE EARTH-FRIENDLY VENDORS

One of the most meaningful steps you can take is to enlist the services of Earth-friendly vendors. These businesses are committed to following environmentally sound processes when producing and delivering their products, which can range from paper flower bouquets to sustainable invitations. There are card companies that print their materials on 100 percent post-consumer recycled paper or alternative non-tree fibers. Some businesses pledge to plant a tree for every order you make with them. Knowing you had a positive impact on the environment in your wedding planning will give you that extra feeling of satisfaction.

CHOOSE LOCAL VENUES

The less distance you put between your church and reception hall, the less pollution you are inviting into the atmosphere through the burning of gasoline in the vehicles of your wedding party. This seems like a small step, but consider how many cars will be traveling around town on the day of your wedding. Inviting 200 guests means you're probably also inviting 50 to 100 vehicles onto your community's roadways. That's a large carbon footprint you could lessen by keeping things confined to the same building or ones that are close in proximity.

RECYCLE YOUR FLOWERS

Many companies across the country collect flowers after weddings and repurpose them for delivery to nursing homes and shelter facilities. By choosing to participate in such an arrangement, you are passing along some of the beauty of your wedding to even more people around you. These companies also keep your flowers out of landfills by composting them into usable materials for gardens and other uses. Look around in your area for these types of services or offer to do it yourself in collaboration with your local nursing homes or shelters.

Choosing performers

Music is one of the most important parts of any wedding celebration. Finding the perfect musical act or DJ can be a frustrating exercise if you're not prepared for the search.

Before deciding on your final choice for music, ask some basic questions along with any others specific to your wedding.

Do you perform original music or play cover songs?

This is a question for a band you are consider hiring. You want to make sure their musical preferences match what you're looking for. Weddings are generally an atmosphere where cover bands may be a better fit, but this is up to you.

What is your price range, and can I get a quote on paper?

Making sure you have a written quote will help resolve any confusion come payment time.

How many weddings have you performed for in the past couple of years?

This answer may be one of the most important, as you want to make sure the company is experienced and up to the challenge.

Will you be providing the equipment and song list? Can you take requests?

A "no" answer to any of these questions could lead to more work for you as you try to coordinate what will be played during your ceremony.

Do you only play one event per day?

You want to make sure you have the full attention of the musical act or DJ during your wedding.

Are you easy to get in touch with if I have questions throughout the music planning process?

A good musical act or DJ will surely answer "yes."

A good follow-up question is for a list of references just to make sure you can conduct a little follow-up research.

Do you also do announcements?

It's a great bonus to have your wedding band or DJ make announcements throughout the night. That's one less thing for you to worry about.
