

Kodiaks bring the Pear Bowl Trophy home

Photos by Bill Forhan

An excited Kodiak Football team hoists the Pear Bowl Trophy in victory at the end of Friday's game. For more photos of the game see page B1.

By BILL FORHAN

After a number of years dominating the valley rivalry, the Bulldogs endured a tough loss in this year's Pear Bowl.

Cashmere took an early first quarter lead scoring on a 39 yard pass from Quarterback Sam Phillips to Dominic Harrington.

But the Kodiaks came back scoring their first touchdown off a 15 yard run by Quarterback Cole Warnaca.

The game remained knotted through the rest of the first half leaving the teams tied 7 to 7 at the half. It looked like shades of last year where a close game ended in victory by the Bulldogs at 14 - 10.

The second half, however, was a different matter where both teams had learned to exploit the others weaknesses and score on big plays.

Following a big pass that left the ball on the 3 yard line the Kodiaks handed the ball off to big Offensive lineman Hunter Reinhart who punched the ball into the end zone to take the lead at 14 to 7.

The Kodiaks added to their lead with a 34 yard pass to Isaiah Dayton but the point after failed so the Dogs had an opening to regain the lead.

Cashmere took advantage of the opening and scored twice.

First on a big 60 yard scamper by Brooks Elliot followed up with a 17 yard pass to Elliot putting the Bulldogs back in the lead at 21 to 20.

The Kodiaks rose to the challenge with a 7 yard run by Isaiah Dayton late in the fourth quarter to go ahead 26 - 21.

The two-point conversion attempt failed leaving the Kodiaks vulnerable to a score by the Bulldogs.

The Kodiaks scored again with just over two minutes left in the contest on an 8 yard run by Ben Sunitsch to move the score to 33 - 21 making the Bulldogs hill a little tougher to climb.

Cashmere was undaunted and came back quickly with a 44 yard pass to Elliott that moved the score to 28 to 33.

With less than two minutes remaining Cashmere opted for the onside kick, but Cascade covered the ball and was able to take a knee and run out the clock.

It was a great game where both schools never gave up, playing with determination and great school pride.

City manager gives presentation on cities financial performance

By BILL FORHAN

It's a lot of numbers and charts. Many people's eyes glaze over and some find themselves drifting off, but it is important information that affects all of our lives. It really comes down to two important questions. First, how is the city doing financially and second, where do we go from here?

The city's report on Oct. 22 presented chart1. This shows the good news that city revenues have exceeded expectations by 45 percent, but the bad news is expenditure growth has exceeded the growth in revenue by $2.6 million creating an operating deficit of $1.65 million. According to city administrator Joel Walinski this is because the city uses a cash basis method of accounting and the expenditures for the design phase of the Water Treatment Plant project have been paid, but the city has been able to postpone borrowing from the construction account so the revenue to fund those expenditures has not occurred. This ultimately saves the taxpayers money because they don't have to pay interest on the loans.

Chart 2 shows city revenues by category. It's a subject that has been one of major concern this year. The point is if you add all of the categories total revenue is $12.6 million. We know a chunk of this is driven by our tourism business. For example, lodging tax is nearly all driven by tourists - in the chart $2.1 million or 17 percent.

A substantial portion of

A preview of 2020

retail sales tax revenue is also driven by tourism. Exactly how much is highly debated topic but it is clear Leavenworth gets substantially more from retail sales taxes than other communities our size. This means tourists fund much of the city services that would otherwise fall on local residents in the form of higher property taxes.

	Actual (9/30/19; excludes fund balances)	Amended Budget (October 2019)
2019 Expenditure	$11,257,718	$19,356,463
2019 Revenue	$12,208,045	$17,701,660
Revenue Less Expenses	$950,327	-$1,654,803
Major Capital Project Funding Remaining
DOT Property Purchase (complete)	$479,177	$489,000
WWTP Engineering/Design	$946,199	$1,420,000
Pine Street (nearly complete)	$1,490,858	$1,863,000
SR2 Crosswalks (nearly complete)	$354,949	$365,000

VETERANS DAY NOVEMBER 11, 2019

SUBMITTED BY LINDA INGRAHAM,
President Cashmere American Legion Auxiliary #64

November 11, 1921 was the first Veterans Day. Armistice Day, as it was then called, was set aside by Congress to honor the veterans of World War I & marked the fourth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice with Germany. In June 1954, President Eisenhower signed a bill to honor all veterans on that day & the holiday was officially renamed Veterans Day.
Because of our veterans, we are united & live our lives in freedom, enjoying the rights guaranteed by our Constitution. Some may think Veterans Day commemorates great victories or honors great war heroes or glorifies war. Veterans Day is more than that...it honors our citizen soldiers, the millions of Americans who served & are still serving their country when asked & the thousands who have died.

Since the Revolutionary War, ordinary young citizens have quietly put their affairs in order, kissed their families goodbye & put on uniforms. That takes courage when you're only 18-20 years old & filled with hopes & dreams & plans for the future.
These men & women are heroes. Because of their sacrifice & courage, our country is free today. Because of them, we have the rights & privileges we have always held more dear. Freedom is not a cheap commodity. Throughout our nation's history, veterans have paid a heavy price. That is why we honor them. As we celebrate Veterans Day, keep in mind the enormous debt we owe to the veterans of this nations.

It is the VETERAN, not the preacher, who has given us freedom of religion.

It is the VETERAN, not the poet, who has given us freedom of speech.

It is the VETERAN, not the campus organizer, who has given us the freedom to assemble.

It is the VETERAN, not the politician, who has given us the right to vote.

It is the VETERAN, not the protester, who has given us the right to burn the flag.

It is the VETERAN, who lives by, respects & salutes the flag, whose coffin is draped by the flag!

TWISP: THE POWER OF COMMUNITY ON 11/12
 MASON ELLIOTT

The Icicle Creek Center for the Arts will be showing "Twisp: The Power of Community" in our Snowy Owl Theater on Tuesday, November 12th at 7 pm.

The 40-minute film celebrates the qualities of rural America that help one tiny town to thrive. It also asks, "In a society that seems increasingly polarized and confrontational, how do some communities manage to get along?"

Starting with a telling of the town's Native/white reconciliation process, the film also shares Twisp's successful opposition to a controversial mega ski resort development; its development of a homegrown safety net—from a teen suicide prevention program to an affordable housing initiative; its recovery from back-to-back summers of devastating wildfires; and its investment in art and local artists as an economic development strategy.

To accompany the film there will be a panel discussion will follow the screening with Pateros mayor, Carlene Anders, and members of the Methow Valley Citizens Council.

Obituary

Warren Moyles

January 15, 1933- November 1, 2019

At the close of a long life, well-lived, we must now say "Goodbye and Godspeed" to our beloved husband, father, brother, mentor and friend, Warren Moyles.

Warren transitioned peacefully from the embrace of his family to the arms of a loving Heavenly Father on November 1, 2019 following a long battle with Parkinsons and Lewy body dementia. He was 86.

Born January 15, 1933 in Tacoma, WA., to Walter Moyles and Madge McQuary Moyles, Warren joined two older sisters, Helen and Dorothy. These were Depression years, and his father, although a trained accountant, supplemented the family income by selling nylon stockings door to door.

The streets were Warren's playground, and as he grew older, he borrowed whatever sports equipment he could find and soon excelled at baseball and basketball, mixed with a generous measure of mischief. He developed his gift for music by learning to play the guitar and - upon his mother's strong encouragement to take singing lessons - by rather reluctantly entertaining at community events with a variety of vocal solos.

Family vacations were spent at a beach cabin on Vashon Island, where he and his dog, Tippy, would row out to meet passing freighters and ride the towering waves back to shore in their leaky little dinghy Sports at Stadium High School gave him a reason to keep his grades up, as did the Korean War once he entered what was then The College of Puget Sound on a full basketball scholarship.

Rising rapidly to team captain, high-scorer and inspirational award winner, he had found his niche. He joined the Kappa Sigma Fraternity and studied for a Biology major. Sweeping out the gymnasium after hours and weekend trail-clearing work in nearby Wright's Park earned him just enough money to buy a dilapidated Model A with a rumble seat, which - although without brakes - served for several years to transport him and his buddies to games, soda shops and sock hops.

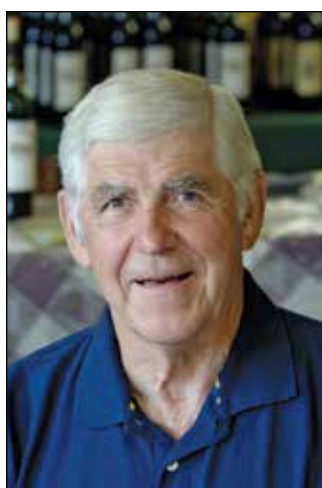

A brief stint in the Air Force followed graduation, then a return to C.P.S. to earn a Master's Degree in Physical Education. He continued his basketball involvement by organizing, coaching and playing on A.A.U. teams in the Pacific Northwest League where he met - aggressively - such early-day stand-outs as R.C. Owens, and Elgin Baylor.

Still, a career in teaching and coaching beckoned, which found Warren signing successive contracts with North Kitsap, Clover Park and Shoreline School Districts. It was at Shoreline that a certain French teacher caught his eye, and a first date soon became a long-term commitment to the love of his life, Julie LePenske. Ironing out the ups and downs of courtship took some time, but their simple marriage ceremony at the home of her parents was the beginning of a lifelong adventure.

Opting to teach overseas for the Department of Defense, Warren and Julie were posted first, to Germany, where daughter, Kristin and son, Michael were born - then to northern Italy, where they learned to appreciate the local wine and pasta and finally, to Korea, where the children completed high school.

Along the way, Warren served as regional sports coordinator, school administrator and coach, dabbling on the side with art, music, drama, travel and community service and making many wonderful friends of all nationalities. Upon retirement to the upper Wenatchee Valley, Warren and Julie settled near Cashmere where - against all advice - he planted grapes and became a pioneer winemaker, setting in motion a trend which has since grown into an area-wide industry.

A lifelong learner, Warren explored the world with confidence and curiosity.

Quick to offer a helping hand or an encouraging word, he was a man of deep Christian faith, who sought God's guidance in all his endeavors. He loved his family and was loved by them in return.

He is survived by his wife for over 50 years, Julie, Cashmere, WA., daughter, Kristin (Clint), Elk, WA., son, Michael (Angela), Colorado Springs, CO., sister, Dorothy Beeles, Tacoma, WA; and grandchildren Soren Janson, Annika Janson and Elizabeth Moyles.

Fatality reported on Aasgard Pass

Sheriff Brian Burnett reports a 60-year-old Dallas, Texas resident - Robert Jake Colburn - was killed in a climbing accident while descending Aasgard Pass approximately 15 miles southwest of Leavenworth.

On Oct. 31, 2019 at approximately 11 p.m., RIVER-COM Dispatch received a 911 call from Colburn's son, he advised that his dad had not returned to camp after climbing Aasgard Pass. Colburn was last seen around 3 p.m. as he was descending Aasgard on his way back to camp.

This morning a Chelan County Sheriff's Office helicopter inserted a team of four Chelan County Mountain Rescue (CCMR) personnel into the area. At approximately 1:30 p.m. Colburn was located at approximately the 7,300-elevation level on Aasgard Pass, he was pronounced dead at the scene. Rescue personnel reported that it appeared Colburn had slipped and fallen several hundred feet. The victim was hoisted from the scene and transported to the Leavenworth Fish Hatchery.

Also assisting in the rescue were members of Chelan County Volunteer Search and Rescue.

Cascade Boys Win League Championship

Cascade High School's boys cross country team placed 1st at the league meet in Wenatchee on Tuesday Oct. 29, earning a berth to the state cross country meet in Pasco on Nov. 9. They beat 2nd place Cashmere 29 to 45 (small score wins).

The Kodiaks were led by junior Landon Davies in 2nd place, running the 5k course at Walla Walla Point Park in 16:36.

Landon continues to get faster as the season progresses. He was followed by sophomore Derek Richardson in 3rd, sophomore Owen Bard in 5th, sophomore Jacob Redman in 9th, and junior Jerome Jerome in 10th. Everyone had great races, which was necessary to beat a fast Cashmere team.

Jacob Redman performed especially well, running his best time by 20 seconds and finishing in the #4 spot for the first time.

On the girls side, junior Zoe McDevitt and freshman Tillie Leroy qualified for state as individuals by finishing in the top 14 in the girls varsity race.

Zoe finished in 7th place, and Tillie made it in at 14th by an amazing finishing sprint.

Tillie beat her previous best time by a full minute!

Junior Celeste Villalobos came really close to making it to state, finishing in 16th place.

The girls varsity team took 3rd overall out of the five Caribou Trail League teams.

Our Junior Varsity teams did exceptionally well, with the boys taking 1st place, led by freshman Anthony Villalobos and sophomore Judah Wilks, and the girls took 2nd place.

Last year the boys varsity team tied for first at the state meet, but lost on a tiebreaker. They are currently ranked 3rd in state by posted times, so they will have to run hard and have exceptional races to have a chance at winning.

They're training hard and hoping for the best!

What do you do when its first and goal from the 3 yard line? You give the ball to the biggest guy on the team. In this case Offensive Lineman Hunter Reinhart who at 275 blasted the ball into the end zone to put the Kodiaks ahead.

The Washington Outdoors Report

A coastal artillery piece at Fort Flagler State Park near Port Townsend.

The Weekly Round-Up

HUNTING:

Elk season for modern firearm hunters opens November 2nd and runs through the 13th in Western Washington. According to WDFW, the Willapa Hills in SW Washington and areas adjacent to Olympic National Park offer your best chance to bag an elk this year.

The white-tailed deer season in Northeast Washington was a less than stellar this fall. WDFW employees manning check stations in Deer Park and Chewelah during the second weekend of the general deer season say hunter numbers were down significantly compared to last year and so was success. In Chewelah 23 hunters were checked with 2 whitetail bucks and at Deer Park 62 hunters were checked with 12 bucks (eight of them white-tails), along with two moose. It is thought wet weather coupled with the fact there is no doe harvest during this general season contributed to the lower numbers of hunters in the field.

Hopes for an early arrival of waterfowl from Canada do not seem to be materializing in Eastern Washington despite the cool fall weather. In the upper Columbia Basin lesser Canada geese number in the low thousands. They have been joined by several hundred snow geese, a species becoming more common east of the Cascades.

Things are looking better in Western Washington. Kevin John at Holiday Sports in Burlington says in the last week a big push of both ducks and snow geese have arrived in the area, especially near Stanwood at Port Susan. There is a lot of unharvested feed in the fields of Skagit County and John thinks they should hold ducks and geese throughout the season.

FISHING:

Kevin John (with Holiday Sports) suggests a little-known fishery worth trying from now through March is for saltwater steelhead at Whidbey Island. These fish are mainly wild ones you have to release and run 8 to 14 pounds. Anglers cast for them from the beach and no waders are required since the steelhead are close in. Spoons, spinners and a lure called the Whidbey Special (available at the store) work well. Fort Casey and Bush Point are two good places to go for these steelhead.

John says coho salmon fishing on the Skagit is also going well from Lyman to Marblemount with some anglers reporting 15 to 20 fish days. Twitching jigs or fishing eggs in the upper reaches is are effective techniques.

In South Central Washington, the Klickitat River has been a hotspot for both Chinook and coho salmon during the last half of October. Creel checkers have found anglers averaging close to two salmon apiece.

THINGS TO DO OUTSIDE:

Veteran's Day is a free day to visit Washington State's Parks, no Discovery Pass is required. It's also a great day to visit one or more of our parks that were former military installations. Many of them were constructed in the late 1800's and all of them offer scenic vistas and viewpoints. They include:

1. Fort Worden in Port Townsend which is where the movie "An Officer and a Gentleman" was filmed.

2. Fort Townsend, established in the 1850's to protect area settlers and used in World War II to defuse enemy munitions.

3. Fort Flagler, southwest of Port Townsend which together with Fort Worden and Fort Casey, were built to form a "triangle of fire" for any enemy ships attempting to attack Seattle and Bremerton.

4. Fort Casey on Whidbey Island with extensive fortifications to explore and a beautiful lighthouse to see.

5. Fort Ebey, a lesser known destination on Whidbey Island that housed coastal artillery in World War II.

6. Cape Disappointment - Formerly known as Fort Canby State Park, still has a few military fortifications though most visit here to enjoy the beach, the lighthouses and the Lewis & Clark Interpretive Center.

7. Fort Columbia - part of a triangle of defensive forts at the mouth of the Columbia River (along with Fort Canby and Fort Stevens). Located east of Ilwaco and Cape Disappointment near the bridge to Astoria.

NOTICE OF ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW INTENT TO ISSUE FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT (FONSI)

PURSUANT to R.C.W 43.21C and 40 CFR 1506.6(b), NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT on October 25, 2019 the United States Department of Interior; U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (LEAD AGENCY) did complete an environmental assessment (EA) relative to the environmental impact of the following described proposal:

Due to age and maintenance issues, the Leavenworth Summer Theater (LST) must rebuild the existing stage facilities located at the Leavenworth National Fish Hatchery complex. Since a rebuild is required, the USFWS and LST have determined that relocating the stage facilities and associated infrastructure to a new location would lessen impacts to the daily operations of the main hatchery complex and to surrounding residences. The relocation would also avoid on-going maintenance and human health and safety issues resulting from the proximity of the existing facilities to the main hatchery complex.

The proposed location for the rebuilding of the LST stage facilities is located approximately 1700 ft south of the existing location and is accessed off of Cyo Road. The location is undeveloped but already modified in nature and is utilized as an existing gravel storage area. Access to the site would utilize existing trails and roads. The public parking located off of Cyo Road would be expanded into an area which is modified in nature and is already utilized as a gathering space. No mature vegetation would be removed as a result of the proposed project. The proposed site is located no less than 445 ft from surrounding offices, businesses and residences and is located outside of shoreline jurisdiction.

The lead agency for this proposal has determined that the project does not have a probable significant adverse impact on the environment subject to the stipulated mitigations under the National Environmental Policy Act Rules. The lead agency has determined that there are no probable significant adverse impacts that cannot be mitigated and is considering the issue of a Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI). An environmental impact statement (EIS) is not required under RCW 43.21C.030(2)(c). This decision was made after review of a completed environmental checklist and other information on file with the lead agency. This information is available to the public on request and may be reviewed at the Leavenworth National Fish Hatchery Office, 12790 Fish Hatchery Road, Leavenworth, WA 98826 during normal business hours. Comments on this determination should be addressed to: Julia Pinnix, Visitor Services Manager, Leavenworth Fisheries Complex /NEPA Official, 12790 Fish Hatchery Road, Leavenworth, WA 98826 or via email at Julia_pinnix@fws.gov. Federal NEPA standards require that the public must be notified of its privacy rights. Before including your address, phone number, e-mail address, or other personal identifying information in your comment, be advised that your entire comment-including your personal identifying information-may be made publicly available at any time. While you can ask us in your comment to withhold from public view your personal identifying information, we cannot guarantee that we will be able to do so. How do you know if you have dry skin?

Over the past decade, water shortages are becoming more common, limiting the availability of unlimited fresh water for irrigation, especially in the states of the American Southwest and California. Large swaths of green grass require constant watering to look healthy, and people in areas with water rationing are swapping their water-guzzling lawns for plants and features that look nice even when water access is restricted. Without unlimited water available year-round, people are trading their lawns for landscapes with xeriscaping.

Xeriscaping comes from the Greek word xero, meaning dry. There are 2 main principles in xeriscaping: choosing plants and landscape features that don't need as much water, and using gardening techniques that direct water only to where it's needed and avoiding losing water through evaporation or runoff.

Dry skin is a common problem, and the medical term for it is xeroderma, which uses the same Greek term (xero) as does xeriscaping. Successfully treating dry skin is similar to xeriscaping because it's all about getting enough water to your skin cells while also minimizing losing water from your skin by evaporation.

How do you know you have xeroderma, or dry skin? Skin areas that are scaling or flaking, redness, skin cracks and itching are all signs of xeroderma. Dry skin is considered the "gateway" to other skin issues, and treating it successfully helps prevent future skin problems.

All day long we lose water through small gaps in our skin cells by a process called trans epidermal water loss. Water from our body is continuously being released by and through our skin, not just when we perspire from exertion or excitement.

As we age our skin produces less sebum, an oily substance that slows down evaporation through the skin, and trans epidermal water loss through evaporation can increase dramatically, especially in dry, windy or cold conditions. In the winter in cold climates we heat our homes, making the air inside even drier.

Frequent bathing actually encourages dry skin. After taking a bath or shower water evaporates from the cells making up the surface of your skin unless you can trap that water by applying a moisturizer before the water has a chance to evaporate.

Moisturizers improve dry skin by adding flexibility to the surface cells of your skin and by blocking evaporation. With many lotions, creams and ointments available, the more occlusive, thicker and "greasier" the moisturizer, the better it will block trans epidermal evaporation and trap water next to your skin. One of the greasiest but best at doing that is petroleum jelly, known as Vaseline®. Moisturizers can also contain compounds that encourage water to stay on your skin, like lactic acid, salicylic acid, glycerin, urea and ammonium lactate.

A new addition to moisturizers is compounds called ceramides. Ceramides are found in high concentrations in healthy skin and at lower concentrations in dry or less healthy skin. Three essential compounds from this family have been shown to improve skin texture, skin integrity and dryness, found in a brand of moisturizer called CeraVe®.

Here are 6 Tips for Relieving Dry Skin:

- 1. Keep your body hydrated. Getting enough water also helps your skin look younger. By drinking extra fluids in the early part of the day you'll avoid having to get up multiple times at night.

2. Minimize your caffeine intake.

I love caffeinated coffee, but it increases water loss by stimulating urination. Not just found in coffee, caffeine hides out in energy drinks like Red Bull, Monster and 5-Hour Energy. One of the best ways to quit caffeine without the misery of a withdrawal headache is to switch to tea, which has half the caffeine as coffee.

3. Humidify your house.

Use a humidifier if you live in a dry climate or when heating your home. Warm, dry air accelerates trans-epidermal evaporation.

4. Shower and bathe with warm, not hot water.

Using hot water encourages water loss from the skin. Bathing or showering with cooler water is better for dry skin.

5. Pat skin almost dry, then apply moisturizer to seal the water in.

Apply moisturizer to damp skin within 10 minutes of stepping out of your bath or shower or washing your hands. This maximizes the ability of your moisturizer to trap water in your skin cells.

6. Avoid using bath oil in your tub, despite what people may advise you.

Bath oils create a slippery surface inside your tub, not only making getting in and out of your bathtub a risky activity, but leaving you a slimy mess to clean up.
