Tips to help you prepare for Winter from the Chelan PUD

An unusually strong cold front brought low temperatures and snow at upper elevations in Chelan County this past weekend – and cool evenings are expected through the week.

Chelan PUD is here to help its customers with tips for emergency preparedness and energy conservation as the temperatures continue to drop.

Stay informed:

- Customers are encouraged to follow Chelan PUD on Facebook and Twitter. These are excellent resources for updates on power outages, as well as tips.

- Remember to sign up for Chelan County safety and emergency alerts, as well. These updates can be sent directly via text, email, or voicemail.

In case of a power outage:

- If you see a downed power line, assume it is live and stay away. Do not attempt to remove tree limbs or other items from the power lines.

- Report a power or PUD water outage by calling our 24-hour line, 877-783-8123. Listen to the recording and stay on the line if you have information to add or a special need.

- Unplug electronics and turn off the heat/furnace.

- Leave one porch and/or indoor light on so PUD crews can see when the power has been restored.

- For additional tips on what to do during a power outage (including information on generator usage), please visit our page If the Lights Go Out.

If there is a concern about water pipes freezing:

- Winterize your water system in advance (disconnect and drain outside faucets, drain irrigation systems) and be sure that you know the location of the water shut-off valve for your home.

- Open cupboard doors under sinks, especially where plumbing is in outside walls, to let interior heat warm the pipes.

- Temporarily keep a steady drip of both hot and cold water at an inside faucet farthest from the meter to ensure that water continues to move through the system.

- If you plan to be away from home for more than a few days, don't set your thermostat any lower than 55 degrees.

Stay comfortable and save money on your energy bill with these conservation tips:

- Set your thermostat between 68 degrees and 72 degrees or lower if comfortable. Try lowering thermostat by 2-3 degrees when you're going to bed or will be away.

- Check furnace filters and replace if dirty. A dirty furnace filter restricts warm air and makes your furnace work harder.

- Close the drapes in the evening and on overcast days to keep the heat in; open the drapes on sunny days to help warm the house.

- For other tips and rebate offers, please visit our Winter Energy Conservation page.

Chelan County PUD line crews and the many employees who support them want to help you be ready if winter storms cause power or other utility service outages.

You can help by planning for winter's arrival.

With support from the community, Cascade Medical Foundation met their $100,000 goal for 3D mammography equipment. Thank you to everyone who supported this project! The lives we can save with early detection, and the peace of mind we can provide women in this community, are all due to a group of incredibly caring, dedicated people. Keeping the North Road Cemetery Fresh for Visitors

Submitted by Marci Muth

Twice a year, members from the Upper Valley Historical Society and community volunteers spend about two hours cleaning-up the North Road Cemetery.

The next North Road Cemetery clean-up is happening on Wed., Oct. 16th, at 11:00 a.m., weather permitting.

Many people drive by the North Road Cemetery without even knowing it is there.

The entrance to the cemetery is between the Amtrak train station and the railroad overpass.

Chris Orcutt, a lifetime resident of the Upper Wenatchee Valley, began organizing the semi-annual clean-ups six years ago after seeing Facebook photos of run-down gravesites and landscaping at the cemetery.

These photos were posted by an out-of-state Peshatin-Dryden High School classmate of Orcutt, who urged her to organize a group to clean-up the graveyard. Orcutt took action.

At that time Orcutt was a member of the Upper Valley Historical Society Board of Directors.

At a board meeting presided over by then-board president Karen Brennick, Orcutt pitched the idea to her fellow board members.

Brennick placed the clean-up on a subsequent board meeting agenda, and the rest became history with the first organized clean-up occurring in the spring of 2014.

Orcutt and Brennick, along with their husbands Ron and Gary and a few other 'regulars', have spent a few hours each fall and spring participating in the event.

"It is a fun, historically rich activity," said Orcutt. "It is a quiet setting, and gives one time to think about one's existence".

Residents ask Orcutt and Brennick why volunteers are needed to clean-up at this old cemetery.

The answer is that there is no endowment to maintain this cemetery, so the area is at the mercy of family members who have loved ones buried in the cemetery and volunteers.

Grizzly Bear introduction into Chelan County?

By GARY BÉGIN/NCW MEDIA

Only a sparse crowd of about 15 people attended the Confluence Technology Center meeting in Wenatchee, Tuesday, Oct. 1 about introducing 250 surplus Montana Grizzly Bears, to hear mostly negative testimony and a hard cold truth uttered by Chelan County Commissioner Bob Bugert, "We are not the decision makers." Pictured above is, from left, Bugert, Commissioners Kevin Overbay and Doug England.

Corruption in Washington is killing our country

The Democrats and Republicans are at war. The Democrats declared the war when they lost the 2016 election. They convinced themselves that the Republicans stole the election.

Apparently, the Democrats believe that the American people made a mistake when they elected Trump and it is their duty to remove him any way they can.

The Republicans for their part have been patient. They tolerated 3 years of investigations and stories of corruption but it appears their patience has ended. Last Sunday's talking heads in the media were hit with a buzzsaw of angry responses to their latest accusatory questions.

Rudy Juliani was especially vehement in his accusations of political partisanship in the media.

Instead of responding to the questions posed by Fox News reporter Howard Kurtz he launched into a campaign accusing the media of political bias by ignoring the corruption of Vice-President Joe Biden. Kurtz tried to interrupt several times and divert the focus of Juliani's attack but was unsuccessful. Juliani was relentless in pointing out the corrupt activity of Joe Biden and asking why he shouldn't be investigated.

A similar attack by Republican Senator Ron Johnson occurred a little later on NBC's Meet the Press with Chuck Todd. When accused by Johnson of media bias a frustrated Todd said, "I have no idea why Fox News propaganda stuff is

IN MY OPINION
Bill Forhan
Publisher

popping up here."

Then he accused Johnson of trying to avoid answering his question by attacking the media. The problem here is Johnson did answer the question but it wasn't the answer Todd was looking to hear.

All of this stems from the current spin by the Democrats that President Trump is attempting to solicit help from foreign governments in his campaign for reelection. Dems claim that Trump is seeking to have the Ukrainian government dig up dirt on Biden in the coming election.

There is a slight problem here. Joe Biden, himself, is on tape talking about how he did exactly what the Democrats are accusing Trump of doing. Uncle Joe proudly told the story about how he, in 2016, told the Ukraine government that they weren't going to get a $1 Billion Dollar Loan unless they fired the prosecutor who was investigating corruption in a Ukrainian energy company. The problem is that Biden's son was on the Board of the company under investigation.

Trump and his supporters argue that the request for information is not about digging up dirt for the campaign but investigating corruption.

Democrats are arguing it's another example of Trumps using foreign governments to support his election and another example of why he should be impeached.

The problem is for three years now we have witnessed nothing but obstruction, investigations and vitriol. It is amazing that President Trump has accomplished anything. But despite the Democrats best efforts to derail his Presidency the results so far are pretty impressive. We have the lowest unemployment rate since the 1950's and the stock market is booming.

Most of us who voted for Trump did so because we believed it was time to drain the swamp and it was evident none of the regular cast of characters were up to the job. The swamp has responded with a vengeance that only serves to support our theory that the corruption will not end without a fight.

What is especially troubling at this point is the speed at which "justice" has been pursued. We had over two years with an "independent prosecutor" that found nothing.

We've had 3 years of the Inspector General looking into abuse of the FISA, Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court, by the FBI and possibly CIA. Still no one has been indicted. A couple of the FBI individuals have been fired but should be in prison. Instead they are regular media consultants.

What seems clear is the level of corruption in the Federal Government is deeper than almost any of us imagined. This has to change but it is not going to change unless there are consequences to the individuals involved. That includes the politicians who let this happen as well as the unelected bureaucrats who abused their power.

Trump haters want us to believe that none of this would have occurred if Trump had not been elected. That is undoubtedly true. The problem is corruption this deep doesn't happen in three years. It has been rotting for some time. It is definitely time to root it out.

It is time for all true Americans to take sides and demand the swamp be drained. Those who continue to support the questionable politicians and unelected bureaucrats who have made their careers through the politics of personal destruction do not understand what made America great in the first place. They need to be sent packing.

We have entrusted our government to career politicians for far too long. Career politicians have lost sight of the fact that their first responsibility is to look out for the average American citizens who elected them.

Building ever larger, more intrusive agencies that try to micro-manage our individual lives will not work. How have they worked so far? Have Education or Energy really had a positive impact on our society? How about Health Care?

My wife often complains to me about a lot of problems she encounters. It has taken me years to figure out that that does not always mean she wants me to solve them for her.

Unfortunately, politicians often make the mistake that complaints mean they need to develop a large new program to fix problems. Often they just need to make sure the current programs are actually working.

What we need to do today is to write to all of our Democrat representatives and tell them to knock it off. It is time to get to work.

Drop the Impeachment investigation and commit to ending their persecution of our duly elected President.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Disappointed

I am frustrated and saddened by Mr. Forhan's editorial on Oct. 2nd, in which he decries the student-led climate strike in Leavenworth.

Mr. Forhan doubts the legitimacy of scientific consensus on climate change. However, "real" scientists include those who have earned the honor to be in the National Academy of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine (NASEM), a scientific advisory body established by President Lincoln in 1863.

The NASEM website declares, "Scientists have known for some time, from multiple lines of evidence, that humans are changing Earth's climate, primarily through greenhouse gas emissions.

The atmosphere and the Earth's oceans are warming, the magnitude and frequency of certain extreme events are increasing, and sea level is rising along our coasts.

A solid foundation of scientific evidence on climate change exists. It should be recognized, built upon, and most importantly, acted upon for the benefit of society."

The scientist Mr. Forhan admires, named Patrick Moore, is not a climate scientist. His background is in forestry, and a check on Wikipedia shows he's had close ties to many industries, including logging and salmon farming, so one should consider how these influences could affect his judgment.

Mr. Forhan describes the engaged youth as "zealots" of the new "religion" of climate change, attempting to antagonize those who have different opinions than he does.

In fact, the students hold a range of religious beliefs, which is not actually relevant, because the science of climate change is based in our natural world. Religion deals entirely with the supernatural, so the two do not overlap.

The high school did not inculcate ideas into these teens. The school merely gave an avenue for the students to express their American rights to freedom of speech, assembly and petition.

If Mr. Forhan had attended the Climate Strike rally, he would have been as impressed as I was at the articulate and thought-provoking speeches.

These students weren't mad at the preceding generations. They recognized our knowledge of climate change is evolving, so we must be willing to adapt to counteract the global temperature rise.

Claire Nelle, a senior, said, "This is not an unsolvable problem." It wasn't finger pointing. "Forge a pact with yourself to be a better steward of our planet," she said.

Mr. Forhan, think about the mathematics. In the 60's you reference, there were only 3 billion people on the planet. Now there are 7.5 billion, and most of us use a lot more resources per person. Be willing to rethink your ideas. This is not a generational, us-versus-them issue. We all need to work together to come up with creative solutions.

After the Climate Strike and rally last Friday, the students returned to school where they could continue learning not only history, science and literature, but also how to think for themselves. I would be wary to recommend education be in the hands of parents alone. Maybe, Mr. Forhan, you should read the book, Educated. It might change your mind too.

Obituary

Lila Helen Lyons

Died at home September 30, 2019. She was born to Arthur and Eva (Farnham) Burke, April 30, 1921 in Taroda, Washington. She was predeceased by husband Joseph M. Lyons (2002) shortly after their 60th anniversary, son Timothy (2019) and siblings Floyd, Evelyn and Irma.

Her early years were spent on a wheat ranch and a farm, later moving to Seattle as a young woman where she met Joe Lyons at their boarding house. Married in 1942, he worked at Boeing until drafted in 1944. After the war, they moved to his home town of Wenatchee to raise their family, where they enjoyed scouting, camping, skiing, and time at their cabin at Lake Chelan. Lila was employed for many years at the Wenatchee Valley College, first in the library then as assistant to the Dean of Education. After retiring, they moved to Leavenworth and enjoyed an active life with golf, skiing, hiking, church & community activities, and hosting many parties at their home on the river.

Lila worked diligently with Joe to turn their property into a flowered woodland delight. They also travelled extensively to Hawaii, Mexico, across Canada, the East Coast, UK and Europe.

Lila was an extensive collector of antique glassware and English pottery and for several years kept a booth at an antique store. She volunteered much of her time to local citizenship classes teaching English, Upper Valley MEND's Community Cupboard and the Free Clinic. Friends looked forward to the weekly Bible study classes and bridge groups at her home.

Survivors include sons Michael (Ellen) and John, both of Seattle, daughter Terri (Steve) Warehime of Maryland, Ashley Lyons (Tim deceased) of Texas, Marni Moore of Bellingham, 6 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren; Aletha (Lyons) Cusick of Wenatchee, and many dear friends. A memorial service was held at Faith Lutheran Church in Leavenworth Tuesday, October 8 at 1 p.m., fellowship followed. Donations in Lila's name may be made to Upper Valley MEND: info@uvnmnd.org

We are here to serve families in Leavenworth, Peshastin, Plain and the entire Upper Valley.

Keeping the North Road Cemetery Fresh for Visitors

Some memorials remain spotless and are often well-kept by friends and loved ones.

It is when family members move or pass away that you see more and more neglected plots and gravesites.

Additional volunteers are needed to keep it going. That's why, when Matt Cade, the current board president, was contacted by Natasha Martin with Sleeping Lady inquiring if he knew of any short, once a month volunteer opportunities, he immediately thought of the North Road Cemetery clean-up.

After an exchange of emails, Cade told Orcutt and Brennick that "Natasha Martin, Sleeping Lady's Rooms Division Director and a few fellow employees will be joining us on Oct. 16 for our cemetery clean-up as part of their Sleeping Lady Cares initiative."

Orcutt and Brennick hope to see other new faces at the Oct. 16 clean-up and encourage people to bring their gardening gloves, rakes, and other gardening tools.

For more information, contact Chris Orcutt at info@leavenworthmuseum.org or 509-548-0728.

Local Fire Districts Receive $720,000 to Replace Aging Equipment

SUBMITTED

Chelan County Fire Districts 3, 6, and Lake Wenatchee Fire and Rescue are pleased to announce the receipt of a Regional Assistance to Firefighters Grant award to support the purchase of new self-contained breathing apparatus for all three departments.

The three departments were awarded $722,629 in federal funds to replace their aging equipment.

Self-contained breathing apparatus are necessary to keep firefighters safe inside burning buildings or in other hazardous environments where the air is dangerous.

Self-contained breathing apparatus are one of the most important, and expensive, pieces of protective equipment firefighters wear. With each unit costing over $6000, federal assistance makes a significant difference.

"This equipment is critical to our operations," stated Chelan County Fire District 6 Chief Phil Mosher, "and we would not be able to make this region-wide replacement without grant funding."

The departments came together almost one year ago to start working through the regional application.

According to Lake Wenatchee Fire and Rescue Chief Mick Lamar, "We train together and support each other on active incidents. But up to this point we have had equipment that was mutually incompatible. It made sense to do this together."

To date this year, the Assistance to Firefighters Grant Program has awarded $315 million dollars to over 1830 fire departments across the country.

"We understand that over 8000 applications were received this year so this is a very competitive process," said Kelly O'Brien, Chief of Chelan County Fire District 3. "Our award is in the top 3% in terms of amount, so to be successful at that level is something that makes us incredibly proud."

A committee made up of members from each department is busy working through the acquisition process.

The new equipment is estimated to be in service in the Spring of 2020.

This much-needed upgrade will enable all three departments to ensure the safety of the men and women working hard to protect their communities.

Leavenworth Invite Well Attended

Submitted by Dale Massey

The Leavenworth Invitational cross country meet was hosted by the Cascade High School cross country team at the Leavenworth Ski Hill on Saturday Oct. 5. Over 500 runners from 16 high schools and 7 middle schools competed on the hilly, 1.4 mile course, which was run twice by the high school runners. It was a beautiful day that saw some great running, including a new course record by Shea Mattson of Selah who ran the 2.8 mile course in 14:28.

Cascade High School's boys cross country team placed first overall with a score of 77. Selah HS was 2nd with a score of 91, and Eastmont was 3rd with a score of 116. Junior Landon Davies led the Kodiaks in 4th place overall with a time of 15:22, followed by sophomore Derek Richardson in 8th place with a time of 15:48. Sophomore Owen Bard was next in 16:11, followed by junior Jerome Jerome in 16:24 and sophomore Lien Hagedorn in 16:50.

The Cascade High School Girls team took 6th place overall, and 3rd place in the small schools division. They were lead by junior Zoe McDevitt who placed 5th with a time of 19:31. Rounding out our five scoring runners were sophomore Tiera Groff, freshman Tillie Leroy, senior Isabel Rodriguez, and junior Bijou Zehm.

Icicle River Middle School also ran well. They dominated the 7th grade girls race, with Caroline Menna taking first, Alice Farrell second, Savanna Rowles fourth, Napiqua Gibbs fifth, and Mia Dreis seventh. In the 8th grade girls race Eliza Tveten took fourth and Isabel Menna took fifth. The top 7th grade boy finisher was Jonas Johnson in 5th, and the top finishers in the 8th grade boys race were Jasper Bard in third and Jaxson Coble in 4th. The 6th graders also ran well, with Jewel Leroy placing second and Bohdy

Zoe McDevitt, Tillie Leroy, and Tiera Groff lead the way for Cascade as they work to break out of the crowd in the beginning of the race

Hagedorn placing seventh. The high school team's next race is the Nike Hole in the Wall Invitational in Lake-wood next Saturday. It's a fast course, so we're hoping to post some fast times and get lots of 5k personal records. Otherwise we're ramping up our training, looking to peak at the CTL Championships in Wenatchee on Oct. 29.

Breast Cancer Awareness Month

BCA Caring Role

Coping with illness can be a difficult undertaking, especially with something as serious as breast cancer.

When someone close to you is suddenly diagnosed with breast cancer, you may be left wondering how to help.

Whether you're giving emotional support, assisting with doctor appointments or doing everyday chores that your loved one is unable to complete, you are a caregiver. Accepting the new role of caregiver may be tough.

You may experience a total lifestyle change and try to put your loved one before your own needs. Ignoring your own needs can cause you to become less effective as a caregiver.

A CAREGIVER'S ROLE

The role of a caregiver varies by situation.

The National Cancer Institute defines a caregiver as "the person who most often helps the person with cancer and is not paid to do so."

Caregivers typically serve as aides or companions and assist with cooking, transportation and everyday chores.

A good caregiver is crucial to the emotional and physical support system for a cancer patient.

CARING FOR YOURSELF

It may seem that your wants and needs are second-tier to those of your affected love done.

The experts at The National Cancer Institute point out that fulfilling your own needs will make you a more effective caretaker.

It may be hard to talk to your loved one about how you're feeling when you know that they are dealing with so much already.

But having an outlet to express yourself and your feelings can help you maximize your ability as a caregiver.

Support groups can offer a great amount of therapy as you can discuss your feelings with people in similar situations.

Talking with others can be a way of forcing yourself to relax.

This can be difficult with the amount of stress and feelings you may be experiencing, but even a weekly group setting can help you put things in perspective.

Early Detection is the Best Protection.

Warts and Wart Removers

Six months ago, I noticed I had a small round, raised spot on the pad of my right index finger. It was hard and flat, a light gray in color.

I looked more closely at it. It wasn't a blister or a burn. It wasn't part of a rash.

It didn't itch or burn, but it was tougher than the skin around it.

A month later, it was STILL there.

Two months later, it was STILL there. It stayed just like it was: a small, round, raised, flat and light gray spot on the pad of my finger.

Hmm. Could it be a wart? When I showed it to my doctor the following week at a checkup, he confirmed my suspicion. That spot on my finger was a wart.

I'm not alone. After acne, warts are the most common and annoying skin condition that people want to get rid of.

Warts are a viral infection of the outer layer of your skin called your epidermis. It's caused by the human papillomavirus, or HPV.

There are about 100 different subtypes, and the infected skin grows into a thickened mass that juts out from the normal skin surrounding it.

They can be different colors, too, such as light gray, yellow, brown, even gray-black.

Warts are more often found on your hands and feet, and children are more likely to be affected than adults.

There are several main types of warts found in humans, including common warts, flat warts, palmar (on the palm of your hand), planar (on the sole of your foot), and genital warts.

Most warts are fairly flat but some grow outward with a "bushy" cauliflower-like appearance.

Although annoying and unsightly, most warts are benign unless they are on an obvious place, like on your face, or grow on a weight bearing surface, like the bottom of your foot.

When a wart creates pressure or pain when you walk on it, it should be removed as soon as reasonably possible.

How do you remove a wart?

Most treatments work by damaging or destroying the infected skin, triggering your immune system to address the wounded area, which attacks the virus that is living there and helps eliminate it.

If you do nothing, nearly half of all warts will eventually go away by themselves, without any treatment, within about 2 years for children and within 2-5 years for adults.

Most wart treatments involve applying a topical product to the wart for several weeks to about 3 months.

For many people, this will work, but some warts stubbornly refuse to die.

Going to the doctor gives you the option of freezing the wart or using a very concentrated chemical on it, more expensive and possibly leaving a scar.

The 2 most common approaches are to chemically "peel" the skin over time with a liquid or gel containing salicylic acid or other caustic chemical.

There are wart removal products with salicylic acid and others that cause a freezing effect, both available without a prescription.

Most Compound W® formulations contain salicylic acid as a concentrated liquid or as a patch.

Here are 6 Tips to Help Treat Warts Effectively:

- 1. Remove the Top Layer First. To enhance the penetration of your remedy into the wart, ALWAYS soak it in warm water for at least 5-10 minutes, and then remove the upper layers of the wart with sandpaper or an emery board.
- 2. Never Reuse Emery Board or Sandpaper. I prefer to use sandpaper so I can throw it away. DON'T reuse the sandpaper or emery board used on your wart because it is now contaminated with the HPV virus that you just scraped off, and could re-infect you.
- 3. Protect The Skin Around Your Wart. Avoid using abrasives like sandpaper or emery boards on the normal skin around your wart, and apply your treatment ONLY to the wart itself. Injuring nearby healthy skin makes it easier for a wart to spread.
- 4. Give it Time. It takes weeks to respond to wart removal treatments and up to 3 months for warts to completely go away, and no treatment works on everyone. If you don't notice improvement after 2 months, try something else.
- 5. Try Salicylic Acid First. Concentrated salicylic acid has the best overall track record for removing warts. I suggest using the most concentrated version of gel, then covering it with a bandage or even duct tape.
- 6. Combine Your Approach. For stubborn warts, both freezing and using a topical agent will give better results than using only one at a time.
