

Council debates code issue related to River Bend Drive, KOA access

By IAN DUNN
EDITOR

PART ONE OF TWO

The River Bend Park Association has advocated closure of the access to KOA through River Bend Drive once the new Zelt Strasse entrance to the park is opened. River Bend Park Association Attorney Steve Demarest has pointed out to the council there is a portion of the city code that states: "No entrance or exit from a park shall be permitted through a residential district nor require movement of traffic from the park through a residential district."

Now, city officials are talking about striking that portion of the code.

"This has come up because concerns from River Bend folks and their attorney who had drawn attention to that section of code," said Development Director Nathan Pate, at the March 12 study session. "Our attorney pays attention and listens when other attorneys show up. Our attorney said this section of code is vague. Staff has reevaluated that section. It is not necessarily a good section as written."

Pate said this is a criteria for siting new RV parks and does not work for existing RV parks.

"When someone speaks to it, there is confusion when talking about this code section or if the RV park chooses to expand, then this code language may be applicable," Pate said. "Our attorney said, we are hearing from their attorney. He said that section of code is vague and problematic. Today, we would like to talk about whether this code section is a good thing for council to consider and review and make changes."

Pate encouraged the council to consider the big picture. There are two RV parks in town.

"When talk about the criteria for establishing these uses, think of it in the big picture stuff. Now I know at the forefront is the concern brought to us by a neighborhood, but when we change codes, it is city wide and affects more than just one property or one neighborhood," Pate said. "When we have language that our attorney says is vague and staff agrees it doesn't work well, it's a concern that needs some council attention. Or if you chose to go a different route and say, I don't want anymore RV parks and you don't want to expand, this whole section can be removed."

Mayor Cheri Kelley Farivar said, in her memory, the council decided that section should be removed. Councilman Elmer Larsen this was established long ago for new RV parks.

"The planning commission inadvertently removed RV parks. The concern was, let's reevaluate it. When they returned, there was lots of study, and the planning commission actually struck that section,

PUD Commissioners halt work on applications from bitcoin and similar data operations

Moratorium is effective immediately to reduce operating and financial risks

SUBMITTED BY KIMBERLEE CRAIG

Chelan County PUD on March 19 stopped taking or processing applications, effective immediately, for electric service for cryptocurrency mining.

PUD board members unanimously imposed the application moratorium after reviewing impacts on utility operations from existing loads and applications for service. This pause will allow lessons learned to be adopted for the existing, under-5 megawatt (MW) rates and policies as well as to develop new rates and policies for above-5 MW loads. (Discussion begins at 00:44 on the board audio.)

General Manager Steve

Wright said impacts from cryptocurrency mining applications are hampering responses to the District's overall planned work, and threatens the county's electric grid capacity to meet planned growth. Public health and safety concerns due to rogue operators led to the cities of Chelan and Wenatchee acting to curb operations, especially in residential neighborhoods.

"We do need time to take a deep breath and work through the issues and this may be the best approach," said Commissioner Randy Smith. (01:11)

Commissioners set a public hearing on the moratorium for 1 p.m. on May 14. Approved applications with fees and charges paid will go forward.

Inquiries about and applications for cryptocurrency operations significantly increased as the price of bitcoin soared last fall. The trend continues with the number of applications filed so far this year approaching 2017's total.

There are 19 pending applications from cryptocurrency miners for up to 5 MW each, a potential total load of about 16.3 average MW. There are 22 approved and active high density loads in the county, totaling about 13.5 aMW, said Lyle Moore, Customer Service engineering supervisor. Typical countywide growth in a year is about 4 MW.

Staff also is finding rogue cryptocurrency operations requiring time and effort to investigate and respond, said Moore. Many are in homes without the grid equipment needed to serve heavy load, threatening the safety of neighbors and PUD workers.

Lindsey Mohns, Customer Utilities business manager, said with the moratorium in place, staff will:

- Review and update the existing Schedule 35 rate (under 5 MWs) including considering adding transmission costs and continue to develop rates, fees and processes for service requests of 5 MW or more
- Widely communicate the consequences of unauthorized operations including adding fees for investigation, monitoring and equipment damage
- Keep working with city,

City considers placing the clamps on any potential bitcoin operation

The Leavenworth City Council appears poised to set interim zoning controls regarding bitcoin high density power load uses. This was discussed at the March 13 city council study session.

In cooperation with the Chelan County PUD, city administrator Joel Walinski said without regulatory intervention, cryptocurrency mining in residential districts poses a life safety threat to the community due to the risk of fire.

The proposed interim zoning control would provide a framework that prohibits cryptocurrency mining in areas that wouldn't normally be expected to serve high density load electricity uses, specifically in residential areas.

"We had the presentation by the PUD. This has been discussed at the city of Wenatchee with the PUD. This is their wording. As long as the city council wants us to continue on. There is supposedly a bitcoin operator on Prowell Street," said City Administrator Joel Walinski.

Mayor Cheri Kelley Farivar said she recently received a video from Chelan County Commissioner Keith Goehner on a bitcoin mining operation on North Road. She played the video for the council.

"It's an un-permitted building. You can build any building in Chelan County under 280 square feet. It is 12x24. Looks like a little storage shed or garage. This is the noise it makes. This is what the next door neighbor hears from their deck 24/7," Farivar said.

The loud noise is from the fans and air conditioning needed to cool the building, because the servers generate so much heat, she said.

"It looks innocuous, but it is so noisy. They can't sit on their deck and have a nice iced tea. This in March, wait until July," Farivar said.

Councilman Jason Lundgren asked if the house had been wired for a high density load. Farivar said no, it is just huge box.

"The PUD, remember what they said, until show they're using a lot of power, they have to give it to them," Walinski said.

"It is a very annoying and safety consideration," she said.

"This is the first one I was made aware of in the Leavenworth community, not inside the city. There is another one on Prowell. This ordinance is timely and critical," Farivar said.

Councilman Elmer Larsen said it is a real safety hazard if it is right in your neighborhood.

The Chelan County PUD has decided to halt work on applications from bitcoin and similar data operations. The moratorium became effective immediately to reduce operating and financial risks. See sidebar story.

RV access: The council seems split on changing the code

but the community came back and said, they didn't want that section removed," Pate said. "So the planning commission said, no harm, no foul as it had been there for many years. That was forwarded back to the council when we did an amendment on RV parks."

There are some challenges with large vehicle parking, Councilwoman Mia Bretz said, so long term, having RV parks in different places for those large vehicles to gather is a good thing.

People travel to Leavenworth by driving, many in larger vehicles, she said.

"Right now, we have a lot where we encourage large vehicles to park. That is going to work for number of years. Allowing development of new RV parks in our code may allow that to become more productive commercial and RV parks could be parking could be at RV parks," Bretz said. "I think it is good to have that allowance. I don't know where a new one would go, because the size is pretty large."

Larsen said the section should be removed, because the new Zelt Strasse could also be eventually lined with residential property.

"If that is the thing that would stop the whole development, then why would we want it? They are using that to say, that park is illegal because it's doing that. That wasn't even on the table when we put this in. We thought it would be up on Ski Hill," Larsen said.

The KOA developed inside the county. Now, they want to annex, Farivar pointed out.

"I think the council made a statement, as KOA comes into town, we required much after many years of Chelan County requiring very little. The city council was the one that forced the issue and said KOA, if you want to come into the city, you build a new road. That is where the RV traffic is going to come," City Administrator Joel Walinski said. "That would be the main entrance. Changing this code is not going to change that intention of the city council. What we do see with this, if for example, if KOA changed the conditional use permit, which would implement this."

As the project progresses, Pate said there will residential homes along Zelt Strasse.

"If they live there for 10-20 years, like the River Bend folks, they come to us and say, hey city, we're a residential neighborhood, why are those cars going through there? The code section, if applied as people believe it should be applied, it would bar KOA from any access," Pate said.

This has been a really huge problem for this community, Bretz said, and she would hate to say its okay to do it again somewhere else. She believes there would be the same issues. She favored the ordinance only prohibiting the commercial traffic through low density residential.

"I would be cautious about changing the code. I don't think it is a good choice. The one thing that would be nice to allow someone to build a new one is to have two exits for emergency purposes. Maybe you have an emergency exit that would go through low density but otherwise it is not used," Bretz said.

Larsen said he would take out that section and use the conditional use process.

"You look at the neighborhood, look at the zoning. If the KOA was there before the neighborhood developed, why would you penalize the original property owner?," Larsen said.

That is a key point, Farivar said.

"The existing KOA was concurrent with the development of River Bend Drive. It preceded most of the homes that were built there. Most of the homes which built there, knew what they were getting into," Farivar said. "The truth is, if you build a new home in a neighborhood, you look at the neighborhood and see what the traffic is like and all of that information. I agree with Elmer that you can't preclude an historical access, just because the neighborhood has built up around it."

"It's the same kind of analogy, I want to build my home next to the orchard, then when orchardist sprays, I want to call the Department of Ecology. The orchard has been there 30 years, the homeowner has been there three months. How fair is that?"

Has the use of KOA changed or intensified in the past 10-20 years, Councilman Jason Lundgren asked. Has it been exponentially growing? Walinski he wouldn't use the word "exponentially" but it has grown, with cabins and such.

"They preceded most of this. The county has turned a blind eye. The idea that no access should come down that route is a disservice to the people that live there, when they need an emergency outlet," Larsen said. "I think that road is a godsend. I don't think it is wise to gate it. You need that secondary exit. Encourage KOA to move entrance, but if someone wanted to see the back road, they could go out that way."

KOA has agreed to move their main entrance, Farivar said.

"KOA will have a new entrance road off the Zelt Strasse. They will have a new entrance gate. They will expect all their traffic to use Zelt Strasse to enter," Walinski said.

The River Bend entrance should not be gated, Larsen said, for emergency access. Councilwoman Carolyn Wilson said she thought the entrance would be blocked off and only emergency traffic could use it. Farivar said that is what the River Bend Park Association requested, but the city has not agreed to that.

"We've left that decision up to public safety, fire and sheriff, to determine if that would best serve, whether that should be gated. I don't know if they've made a decision. I do know the sheriff's department regularly uses that to access the river for rescues," Walinski said.

Leaving the section of code in, Larsen said, could have a big impact on KOA down the road.

"If we leave this in, what happens if they modify, then now the new road goes through multifamily. Now, we're into residential again. You are backing yourself into a corner, where you tell KOA, you can't change or do anything, which will force us to shut you down," Larsen said. "That are some grandfathered-in issues here that we need to protect and not dig a hole we can't get out of."

Is it fair to say that a multifamily neighborhood should expect commercial traffic?, Farivar asked.

"If you consider the KOA is a commercial entity, to say that as we changed the zoning requirement and it can't go through low density residential, that doesn't feel fair to me to the multifamily residential," Farivar said. "I'm with Elmer. I think this has to be stricken from the code."

In part two next week, the Echo will explore more of the debate surrounding striking a section of code which is favored by some on the council and not others.

Council adopts higher income threshold for senior utility discount

BY IAN DUNN
EDITOR

The Leavenworth City Council has adopted new standards related to a senior utility discount. The city Finance Committee reviewed the utility discount and compared that discount to other communities to determine if changes needed to be made to the reduced rates on the Leavenworth rate and fee schedule, said City Finance Director Chantell Steiner, at the March 13 study session.

The present reduction in Leavenworth rates is 50 percent for low income and 75 percent for additional hardship that is at or below the Federal Poverty Level.

The committee believed the current income thresholds should be higher.

"It is not widely known. It is something we can do for our poorest residents. We have been doing it. We just feel like it's time to update the policy to a more current version of what the federal poverty level is and all that. The finance committee hashed this out and came up with the plan," said Mayor Cheri Kelley Farivar.

The committee found other communities were allowing discounts at a higher level, ranging from 205 to 280 percent above the FPL. The committee's new suggested income limits are at 250 percent of the FPL with an additional rate of 125 percent of the FPL for one or more persons.

The recommendation would increase the current limit for low income from $24,000 to $30,000 and for below poverty from $12,000 to $15,000.

"It's been 12 years since we've raised the level of this. Over a 10-year period, the income has jumped considerably. Many of our seniors in town do live on fixed incomes. We get these from time to time," Steiner said. "There are not a lot of them. I don't want you to think we're going to get this mad rush of people who are going to apply. It's not going to happen."

It's just a handful of our residents, Farivar said.

"It says, you must own the dwelling. What if somebody buys a small home for their parents? The children own it, but the parents are paying the bill. Can they live in an apartment or something?," Councilman Elmer Larsen said.

Farivar pointed out this was a policy, not a code, so it is not hard and fast. If that were the case, she said they couldn't consider the situation.

"I'm living here, but I don't own the residence. I'm just thinking there are some people in those situations. Not a renter, but that gets complicated because who owns it and who is getting the advantage," Larsen said.

Steiner said it can be an elderly person living with an adult child.

"If they request it, but are we really giving this to the low income senior or are we giving it to the young adult?," Steiner said.

If their combined household income is less than $30,000, Councilwoman Mia Bretz said the city should give them the discount. Steiner said the question is whether they should own the home or not.

"If I'm a landlord, and I know the city provides discount to a renter if they are low income, then I'm going to have the rent and you pay your own water and sewer. If you change it to renters, you will have people trying to finagle it," said City Administrator Joel Walinski.

Most of the people who would qualify for this already live in rental assisted housing, Farivar said. Steiner said the language is the language. It's not just Leavenworth, but other towns too.

"This is a widow who owns her house outright. She is living on Social Security only. That's what it takes to qualify," Farivar said.

Councilwoman Sharon Waters said that would be her if Social Security was all she had.

"That's something that has never been in question, it is the qualification level. We do have the little old lady living on Social Security and she is $35 a month over our current qualification. That is the heartbreak," Farivar said.

The city currently has 18 senior approved applicants in the discount program. One application is below poverty level while the remaining 17 are in the low income discount rate.

"I've had a couple in the last few years and that is it, right there. They come in and prove everything but they are just a few hundred dollars away," Steiner said.

Steiner said she will keep track and report back to the council. The council voted unanimously to increase the standards at the regular council meeting that night.

In order to qualify for the discount, you must be 62 or older and for the disabled qualification, you must provide a doctor's letter stating permanent disability. You can have no other assets or holdings besides your principle place of residence. You must live in the city service area as well as live and own the building. You also must meet or be below the income thresholds within the application for all household incomes. Also, you must verify/reapply every two years to continue in the program.

MOZART GOES TO CONEY ISLAND IN NEXT OPERA

 JAMIE HOWELL

Another shot at experiencing the Metropolitan Opera's live broadcast from New York is upon us this Saturday morning with a saucy new presentation of the MET LIVE IN HD: COSÌ FAN TUTTE coming to Icicle Creek's Snowy Owl Theater.

COSÌ FAN TUTTE is usually translated from Italian into "Women are like that," and subtitled La scuola degli amanti which translates to "The School for Lovers." First performed in 1790, this was Mozart having a naughty laugh with fiancé-swapping as his subject material.

Today, this comedy of the sexes has been updated by Phelim McDermott to a carnival-esque funhouse environment inspired by 1950s Coney Island, complete with bearded ladies, fire eaters, a live boa constrictor and a Ferris Wheel.

Fantastical sets, the endless complexities of love and Tony Award-winner Kelli O'Hara make COSÌ FAN TUTTE yet another magical doorway into the world of opera for the newcomer, and a tasty confection for the opera stalwart.

IN MY OPINION

Bill Forhan
Publisher

President Trump disappointed most of the people that voted for him last week when he failed to veto the Omnibus Spending Bill brought to him courtesy of our spendthrift Congress.

It seems the Republicans are bent on self-destruction to the delight of the Democrats who are willing to bankrupt the country for an opportunity to impeach Donald Trump.

At this point it appears that both parties are willing to sacrifice anything to protect their power and influence.

The bill was discussed by "party leadership." Who then dumped a 2200 page bill on the Congress overnight. It seems old tricks diehard. Don't give them a chance to read it just demand they approve it to avoid a government shut down.

Well the Republicans, and especially the Republican leadership, continue to show they are tone deaf to the voice of the people.

Trump was right. This is a horrible bill. The only good thing is the increased funding for the military but the cost of getting that increased funding is too high.

Trump has failed at his first confrontation with brinkmanship legislation. He should have vetoed the bill. Shut down the government and forced the Congress to override his veto or amend the bill. He didn't.

The result was the talk shows were overrun by angry voters who swore they would never vote for Trump again.

I understand their anger but turning against Trump is a victory for the establishment. The politicians that need to be defeated are the party leadership - Paul Ryan, Kevin McCarthy, Steve Scalise and our own Cathy McMorris-Rodgers. It is no surprise that our two liberal Senators, Cantwell and Murray voted to load more debt onto our grandchildren, but McMorris-Rodgers vote in support was.

Trump needs to hear from all of his supporters that he made a major mistake by not vetoing this bill. But hoping to drain the swamp by voting in more alligators is not the way to solve the problem.

Quite frankly listening to the angry "conservatives" calling in to tell everyone they were done supporting Trump, sounded more than a little disingenuous. I am sure many of those encouraging Republicans to stay home during the next election were not really Trump supporters. They were simply doing what the left does best. They were trying to utilize conservative anger to steal the next election. Do not be fooled by these activist manipulators who will use any dirty trick to advance their agenda.

Winning the war to take back America will require more than one election, more than one President. We must work hard to root out the Republicans who have proven they are not conservative and we must campaign hard against any liberal replacements.

Expect the politics of personal destruction to heat up as the left and the media digs up any dirt they can find on a conservative candidate while ignoring the dirty laundry in their own basket.

We need to be clear headed and single focused if we are going to look past the skirmishes we lost and energize the American people to stay the course we have begun by electing an outsider to be President.

So let us start by putting together a list of Republican representatives who did not vote to repeal Obamacare; Republicans who voted to fund Planned Parenthood; Republicans who voted in favor of the Omnibus spending bill. These must be our targets for replacement.

Many of these individuals are not in our home state but we must find ways to actively support their replacement with more conservative representation not with another spend thrift liberal Democrat.

Finally, we must bury the Whitehouse and our own Congressional representatives with letters of protest over this latest travesty. What is done can always be undone. Let us call for a repeal of this travesty and demand that they cut the pork out of this bill and that all members of the Congress be required to read it before it is signed into law.

Many activists ready to surf the Big Blue Wave

APPLES TO APPLES

Gary Bégin

Now, after we have witnessed one of the largest mass coordinated marches in American history last weekend, it is time to say Democrats are suddenly the recipients of several million new voters and future activists vis-a-vis gun issues.

I couldn't be happier and prouder of the students exercising their rights of free speech. Whether I agree with all of their ideas is another matter. I do agree that we, the so-called adults, have failed to keep them safe in schools.

That is why I believe the 18-45 age group will make the difference as to if this Democratic Blue Wave actually does take the nation by storm surge this November.

I picked that age bracket because it would include all 18-year-olds and most of their parents and teachers that are involved in the anti-NRA, anti-assault weapon picketing.

For perhaps the first time in American history, the youngest voters, that would be high school kids and their big brothers and sisters, the Millennials and their supporters, can actually vote in a larger block than Baby Boomers.

How can anyone blame them for wanting to end their own slaughter?

Even a cop that was supposed to protect them in Florida ran for cover. I am 100% pro-police, but it seems to me he should be stripped of his pension and criminally charged with dereliction of duty.

What's the point of hiring school safety officers unless they take their jobs seriously and get in there and stalk and kill those who are killing our kids?

I am not a macho maniac, but that's the job bud, you enlisted for it so then do it. I want an officer at every school from K-12 and every college too. I want a metal detector and limited access to guns on the inside for certain qualified staff members.

Unfortunately what I want doesn't mean squat.

On the other hand, what these new, young activists want really does matter because they are our nation's future. Us older geezers better get out of their way. That demographic, if disciplined enough, can take over the political landscape for the next several decades.

For years we have not allowed kids to drink until 21, but we are quick to send them to war. I heard something on TV last weekend that made a lot of sense. One Muslim wannabe terrorist had a bomb in his shoe and ever since then millions of us have had to remove our shoes at airports. Yet we have had many school shootings and almost nothing has changed.

Chances are the "kids" mean exactly what they say and sing and chant and scream: Never again. They intend to push every candidate for every office to swear a solemn oath to put more and more restrictions on assault weapons and to not take money from the National Rifle Association.

Even here, in little Wenatchee, there was a private party at the Eagles Club last Saturday for Friends of the NRA, but are the local kids willing to cross mom and dad and vote "blue." Will the Democratic candidates have enough guts to state they are against assault weapons even in gun counties and states? They might. Will any Republicans do the same? I seriously doubt it.

Will the young stay home like most of us come voting day? That would be a shame. The real test is if they can maintain this fervor of theirs until November. It is a known fact that a flash in the pan is exactly that. As is a shooting star as is the phrase "that was yesterday's news."

The litmus test has been set for November. It used to be abortion or jobs or exotic thoughts about war and peace, but in the mind of every parent nationwide will be the idea that little Johnny isn't coming home anymore because of some moron with an assault rifle.

Meanwhile the kids in those same schools will be wondering if it could be their school next.

Remember Mothers Against Drunk Driving and how they single-handedly changed DUI laws across the nation? Today's mothers will be an even greater force to be reckoned with. It is quite possible that 10 months from now the Congress will turn blue whether us "adults" like it or not.

Trump getting impeached will be just the beginning of what promises to be a massive turnover of political power. The GOP is bent on destroying itself for a fistful of blood-stained dollars.

Building a wall on the southern border for billions of dollars will not yield as much safety for the average American as figuring out how to protect our flesh and blood as they pursue state-obligated education.

When I was a kid in the 1960s there were race riots in the schools, but the only weapons anyone had were knives and razor blades, chains, sticks and lots of friends. Today, it just takes one mental case to destroy the world as we know it. BTW - the geniuses out there who fancy themselves constitutional experts on gun rights ought to remember they only had swords, knives and muskets back when the founding fathers talked about a "well regulated militia" and a right to bear arms.

They also owned other human beings and didn't allow women voting rights either. Times have changed and these youngsters are ready to take over. Candidates mock this youthful movement at their own peril.

Cooking With Teri

Recently I was looking at some old photos of my family and friends at Easter. Every Easter my brothers and sisters were all dressed alike in new Easter clothes. My sisters and I all had on fancy dresses, white patent leather shoes, white gloves and straw hats. My only brother at the time had on a suit with slacks or bermuda shorts. By the time my brother Tommy was born we did not want to dress alike anymore. We all had traditional Easter baskets brimming with chocolate bunnies, waiting to be replaced by Easter eggs. We always colored eggs the Saturday before Easter, each of had at least a dozen to color. We used food coloring and I recall my mom bought us the "tablets" to dye eggs and it was so exciting to watch the water turn to beautiful colors in cups. For some reason only one metal dipper came with the kit so we used spoons. My brother Bill as he got older liked to make really strange colored eggs and would sometimes pollute our true colors by too much mixing of dyes. My mom laid out newspapers on the table with cookie cooling racks for the eggs to dry. When the eggs dried we would use cheese cloth and lightly rub the eggs with cooking oil to make them shiny.

The best colored eggs I have ever seen were made by my great-granny Gooden. Granny could make a silk purse out of a sow's ear. She was born in 1888 in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia and was the most industrious woman I have ever known, she lived to the age of 90 in her own home. Granny would make her own dyes out of herbs, plants, and tea. The colors were amazing and she made an egg for everyone that was coming to Easter dinner. Granny's Easter dinner is a whole story into its self. I was blessed to help her make the dyes and color the eggs on many occasions. There was nothing I enjoyed more than spending time at her house and with my grandmother who lived next door. I miss these two special women everyday and I am so grateful to have had them in my life.

Easter is a time of renewal, and I like to think that remembering those that have left us is part of that renewal. Happy Easter and I hope you enjoy this Easter favorite.

Kenneth R Hunnicutt

Ken Hunnicutt passed away on March 17, 2018 while lovingly surrounded by his wife, children, and grandchildren. He will be deeply missed for his captivating stories, big laugh, and generous heart. Ken was curious, adventurous, and eager to support the dreams of others. Despite struggling with emphysema for years, he never missed an opportunity to spend time with his family and loved keeping up with the travels and pursuits of his children and grandchildren. He was the first to help anyone who needed it and was always ready to welcome friends and strangers into his home. Throughout his life, Ken was a mentor to many young men who worked for him and will be particularly missed by his grandsons, sons-in-law, and grandson-in-law.

Ken's life was built around the water. He was born on May 21, 1943 and grew up in Moses Lake with his parents Elsie and Merle and his sister Linda where he became an avid water skier. As a young man, he served four years in the U.S. Navy. In 1964, he married his beautiful wife Jerri. Together they spent over 35 years commercial fishing on Prince William Sound near Cordova, Alaska. In the early years, Ken ran his seine boat with the help of only his wife and two school-aged daughters, Tami and Niki. In the later years, he was joined by his grandchildren Jessica and Brandon, who he taught to spot whales and look for 'jumpers.'

In retirement, Ken moved to Leavenworth full time where he spent several years growing hay and learning to be a farmer. He loved watching his grandsons Carson and Nate play football and baseball.

When he wasn't working, Ken enjoyed snowmobiling, skiing, building massive homemade sleds, racing his jet boat up and down the Columbia river, and riding horses with friends.

Frank J. Fassnacht

Frank J Fassnacht, 90, of Wenatchee, passed away peacefully Tuesday, March 20, 2018 at his daughters home in East Wenatchee. Frank was born Nov. 6, 1927 to Frank and Rose (Sehorn) Fassnacht in Subiaco, Arkansas. He attended St. Benedicts school there.

During that time, he met and then married Josephine (Jody) McKinney in 1950. They made Leavenworth their home for the next 49 years, where they raised their four daughters, before moving to Wenatchee in 1999.

Frank worked for 13 years at the Yes Sir Garage in Leavenworth as parts manager. In 1966, Frank and Duane Brown together bought Alpine Chevron in Leavenworth and managed it until 1976. He then worked for the city of Leavenworth until retiring in 1989.

Frank was preceded in death by his parents and sister Cecilia of California. He is survived by his wife of 68 years Jody; two brothers Joe of Puyallup; Andy of California; sister Marie of California. Four daughters, Marcia (Marc) Buchanan of Wenatchee; Sally Taylor of East Wenatchee, Linda Orcutt and Kathy (Tom) Radach both of Leavenworth. Nine grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Frank was a lifetime active member of the Catholic Church. He was a Leavenworth volunteer fireman for 32 years. He was a 68 year member of the Wenatchee Eagles.

Frank was always friendly to everyone and would go out of his way to help someone in need. His first love was for his family. He loved family gatherings and holidays with all the kids were special to him. Many times he would rent a house at Ocean Shores to spend vacation time with family. Frank and Jody would enjoy fishing for perch at Fish Lake. They especially liked annual trips to Reno or Jackpot and often loaded the family in the back of the station wagon and drove to California to visit family. He will be forever missed.

A celebration of Frank's life will be held on May 19 at the Leavenworth Fire Hall from 2-4 p.m. A donation can be made to the Alzheimer's Foundation. Arrangements made by Wards Funeral Chapel, Leavenworth.

Cascade baseball team rolls over Royal, 14-7

Cascade junior pitcher/first baseman, Conrad Haase, shows good form at the plate. The Kodiaks beat Royal 14-7 last week in Peshastin to improve to 3-0 on the year.

By IAN DUNN
EDITOR

The Cascade Kodiak baseball team was to open league play last Saturday with a double header at Omak, but the games were cancelled due to snow. No reschedule date has been announced. The only action for the team was a home game against the Royal Knights on March 20.

The Knights won state 1A football this past season, so they had some talent, but they were no match for the Kodiaks. Cascade won 14-7 to improve to 3-0 on the season.

"We led off offensively with Ben Sunitch hitting a double off the wall. That was certainly inspirational and got the kids going, which was fun. Mason (Kelly) had a hit behind him. The young guys near the top of the order got things going early," said Cascade Head Coach Mike Kelly.

Cascade recorded only six hits, but out of those hits were 10 RBIs.

"We had some good situational hitting. We had a couple hit and runs that we executed well. For the most part, once we got into their bullpen, they had a tough time. That accounted for 16 walks. We had guys on base, and we executed," Kelly said.

Sophomore shortstop Mason Kelly was 2-for-3 with 3 RBIs with 3 runs scored and 2 walks. JJ Hall was 2-for-2 with 3 RBIs and 3 walks. Sunitch was 2-for-2 with an RBI and 3 runs scored.

Kelly said his pitching staff is taking shape, slowly but surely.

"We started the first couple games, sending guys out there. We have legitimately six guys that can go out there and start a ball game. Ben Sunitch is going to spend the majority of his time behind the plate.

In actually, we have five guys that can come in and throw," Kelly said. "All have had an equal amount of work with two innings each, keeping them around 30 pitches. The plan against Royal was to start Conrad and then JJ Hall. Both of those guys have done well early on. Both did very well until they were in that 45-50 pitch range, where they both kind of hit the wall."

Pitching against Royal was Conrad Hasse, JJ Hall and Tyler Miller.

"The plan was to stretch them out just a little, get them close to 60 pitches. Conrad has good velocity and some off speed stuff. JJ had good pop on hit fastball and is continuing to develop the second and third pitch. The off speed will be important for both those guys," Kelly said.

Cascade played a non-league game against Cle Elum on March 27. Results were not available before press time. The Kodiaks play a key double header at Okanogan (1-1, 2-1) on Saturday. The Bulldogs feature sophomore pitching ace Connor Ashworth.

"We match up really close with them. We are both young, just getting better and better. We have a notable increase in our ability with the kids just growing physically and mentally. I would expect the exact same thing with Okanogan," Kelly said. "A couple of very competitive games. We're hoping to get a couple. The way our league is this year, you going to have to win the series of each of the teams to have a shot at a league title."

Cascade hosts 2B Colton next Tuesday.

Cascade track and field team opens the season at Wenatchee.

By IAN DUNN
EDITOR

The Cascade Kodiak track and field team opened the season last Saturday in Wenatchee, at the Ray Cochran Relays. It was a big meet with plenty of 4A schools, but the Kodiaks performed well.

The girls did very well, according to Cascade Head Coach Bill Davies. Junior Gianna Pistorosi placed second in the pole vault and sixth in the high jump. The girls' 400 meter relay team of Zoe McDevitt, Kascia Muscett, Jagui Guzman and Carina Hernandez placed.

"Kascia ran a big PR in the 400 at a time of 62.4 seconds. She also placed in the triple jump. Kascia should be very competitive this year and has a great chance to make it to state," Davies said.

The boys' 4x400 relay team was also outstanding, Caleb Payne, Jace Seely, Steven Tvetin and Carter Bailey.

"This is the best distance group I have coached in many years. It will be fun to see how they do this year. The boys 4x400 was also outstanding. They placed fifth out of 13 4A schools," Davies said. "All the boys ran 55 seconds or better. They will continue to get faster as the season progresses. We have a very competitive district, but I hope to see great things for this group."

Cascade competes at a Chelan meet on Thursday. On Friday, they are at the Eastmont Invitational.

Tennis team completes busy week with matches against Pateros, Entiat and Ephrata

By IAN DUNN
EDITOR

The Cascade tennis team had three matches last week, but in only one of the matches could the full varsity team actually play. The Kodiaks started the week on March 19 with a home match against 2B Pateros.

Pateros was only able to bring four boys, but they did put together some good matches. Both Sam Keziah and Finn Johnson won at singles.

"They are both finding their early season game but playing good tennis. I look forward to a successful season from both of them. At doubles, Raven Dawson and Giovanni Luchesi won in straight sets 6-4, 7-5. They have never played together before and had fun with the challenge," said Cascade Head Coach Mark Hassinger.

The team played at 2B Entiat on March 20. Again, they did not take their normal lineup. The Tigers only had three boys. Dawson won in singles, 6-0, 6-0. Arthur Drake and Giovanni Luchesi won doubles in straight sets. On the girls' side, everyone won in straight sets.

"Kolby Hunt played number one singles, Maddie Vandel played number two singles and Dorothy Espinosa and Carmen Herrera played number one doubles," Hassinger said.

Cascade hosted 2A Ephrata on March 21. The Tigers brought over 30 players. The Kodiaks girls lost 3-2, while the boys won 3-2. In her first match of the year, Megan Evans lost her first set 2-6, but came back to win the next two, 6-2, 6-4.

"She had some rust from not playing last year. And, this was her first match this year. She settled down and took care of business in sets 2 and 3," Hassinger said of Evans.

Number two singles, Kolby Hunt fought a hard battle, but lost 6-4, 6-4. Number three singles, Maddie Vandel won 6-1, 6-2.

"She is moving really well on the court and has great court awareness. She played her freshman year but has not played for the last two seasons. It's great to see her back on the court and I look forward to great things from her," Hassinger said of Vandel.

At number one doubles, Carmen Herrera and Dorothy Espinosa lost a close match, 6-3, 7-5. Hassinger said they are still trying to figure things out at doubles, but expects them to have a great year. At number two doubles, Hassinger played a couple freshmen without much experience, Molly Wisner and Stella Johnson. They lost 6-3, 6-3. "They are very new to the game and as the year goes on, they will rise to the occasion," he said.

For boys, Hassinger said it appeared the Tigers played their stronger players at doubles while Cascade played their stronger players at singles. It worked out well.

Finn Johnson played number one singles and won 6-0, 6-0. Sam Keziah played number two singles and won 6-0, 6-0. Raven Dawson played number three singles and won 6-0, 6-1.

"At number one doubles, Giovanni Luchesi and Arthur Drake lost 6-2, 6-2. Both players are new this year and still figuring things out. At number two doubles, we had first year players Luke Haferman and Josh Pederesen. They put up a great fight but lost in three sets 6-4, 2-6, 5-7. All in all a good match," Hassinger said.

Cascade hosted Chelan on March 27 for their league opener. Results were not available before press time. On March 30, they host a non-league game against Connell. On Saturday, they return to league play at home against Okanogan.

Cascade girls' golf team plays tough Ephrata squad

By IAN DUNN
EDITOR

The Cascade Kodiak girls' golf team on March 22 played CWCW powerhouse Ephrata at the Lakeview Golf Club. The 2A tigers feature the defending individual state champion, Kenedy Peters, who has a full ride scholarship to WSU and recently set the scoring record of 64 at Highlander during an all girl invite.

Cascade Head Coach Randy Alexander said they looked forward to playing against her. Cascade lost 394 to 481.

"I knew we had our hands full going down here. I just wanted to get the girls our to play 18 holes at a different course and see how we do. The weather did play a small factor for all golfers," Alexander said. "As soon as we arrived there was a gully washer of a rain/hail storm to completely soak everybody right out of the gate. Then it just stayed cool and breezy for the rest of the day."

Alexander felt the girls played pretty solid for this early in the year. Jacelyn Bain was absent due to previous commitment, so Emma Nielson was brought up to varsity.

"She played well at Quincy the week before. She will be fun to watch and improve. I expect her to start pushing the girls for a spot up the roster if it arises," Alexander said of Nielson.

Peters shot 79 for Ephrata, which was above her handicap of 1, which means she averages one stroke over par.

"Maddi Hontou got to play alongside her. It was good for her to watch and pay with a golfer of her caliber. Maddi had an up and down day. She started off with a solid 47 on the front but staggered a bit down the stretch and finished with a 105," he said.

Emma Halseth followed with a 109, Emma Nielson 130 and Natalie Craig a 138. The Leavenworth Golf Course is due to open on April 1. The team has a work party scheduled there today.

The boys' team played at Okanogan on March 27. Results were not available before press time.

"Okanogan doesn't have a girls team so Ken (Bauman, assistant coach) and I felt it would be best to keep the girls home and have a good practice. Okanogan Valley's course is still flooded over so only 6 holes are playable. Players play those 6 holes 3 times," Alexander said.

Next Tuesday, the team plays at Omak.

Kodiak softball team drop game to Ephrata

By IAN DUNN
EDITOR

The Cascade Kodiak softball team played only one game last week. Their March 22 home game against Cle Elum was rained out. No reschedule date has been announced. Their only game was a March 20 home contest against 2A Ephrata.

Cascade lost 10-5. "Even though we have lost our last two games, the team has shown improvement in our defensive play in each of those games. Now, we need to find a way to avoid the one big inning," said Cascade Head Coach Todd Gilbert.

Sophomore Truh Merriman took the loss, giving up 5 earned runs on 3 hits over 7 innings, with 3 strikeouts and one walk. Merriman was 2-for-3 batting with 2 runs scored. Andrea Sorensen was 1-for-2 with a run and 2 RBIs. Kayla Bittle was 1-for-4 with a run and 2 RBIs.

"Today our hitting came around late as well. We had 8 hits and hit several balls very well that either went right to a defender's glove or they made a very good play. While things are progressing well, we definitely need to improve our base running," Gilbert said. "We had several mental errors on the basis and ran ourselves out of scoring opportunities as a result. We will just have to keep working and improving."

Sarah Paulson pitched 4 innings, giving 2 earned runs on 2 hits with 8 strikeouts and 3 walks.

Cascade is 1-2 on the season. They opened the season at Chelan (0-1) on March 27. Results were not available before press time. The Kodiaks play a double header at Okanogan (1-0) on Saturday.

Cascade soccer team beats Selah, Prosser

By Ian Dunn
Editor

The Cascade Kodiak boys' soccer team improved to 4-2 on the season with pair of hard earned victories over 2A Selah and 2A Prosser last week.

On March 20, Cascade hosted Selah in their first home game of the season. The Vikings jumped on the Kodiaks with a goal in the first 10 minutes on a well devised corner kick play. But after the goal, Cascade started rolling.

"We started to piece together passes and started to use the width of the field to our advantage. Finally, after 30 minutes, Cholo (Arturo Avila) struck. He received a pass on the left side of the 18, took a touch to his right and let fly a laser that beat the goalie into the upper right corner. Few players are able to execute such a goal," said Cascade Head Coach Pete Spiegel.

At halftime, it was 1-1. Cascade made some half-time adjustments that really helped. Spiegel said they were able to do a better job on marking their best player, who created havoc for them in the first half.

"By containing their best player, we didn't have to defend quite so much. Ricky Barragan and Julian Alvarez, playing at our center back positions were stout in the back and were able to step up to the ball and then start our offense by transitioning quickly," Spiegel said.

Jose Rivera made perhaps the nicest assist of the season. Keeper Jose Mendoza set him a punt, which Rivera one touched to Cholo who was breaking to toward the goal. Cholo took the one touch around on the on-rushing goalie and put the ball home.

The last stages of the game, Efrén Guerrero scored on a hustle goal, assisted again by Rivera.

"It was a well played match and a well deserved win. Everyone played well," Spiegel said.

On March 23, they travelled three hours to Prosser. The Kodiaks won 1-0, but Spiegel said they did not play well.

"Raul Mata scored his first goal of the season on a penalty kick. Jose Mendoza was the man of the match, notching the shutout. We were the better team, but had trouble stringing much together. Hopefully it was just because of the long trip," Spiegel said.

The Kodiaks hosted Cashmere on March 27. Results were not available before press time. Cascade plays a non-league game at always tough Brewster on Saturday.
