Emergency declared for dam at Eight Mile Lake

By Ian Dunn Editor

The Icicle and Peshastin Irrigation Districts last week declared an emergency related to the dam at Eight Mile Lake. The dam itself, which was constructed in the 1920s, has not failed, but now it is being threatened due to the impacts of the Jack Creek Fire last fall.

The fire burned through a significant portion of the watershed above the lake. Tony Jantzer, the manager of the Icicle and Peshastin Irrigation Districts, said they were not initially concerned about the fire.

"After a severe burn like that, the Forest Service will do a severity burn analysis. We received a draft report in January. We forwarded that to the Dam Safety Office within the Department of Ecology," Jantzer said. "They did an analysis. Based on that report, they are upgrading the danger classification from a low risk hazard to a high risk hazard."

Jantzer said there are two major concerns.

"With a fire like that, it burned up a lot of the vegetation, so the snow melt will happen a lot faster than normal. Secondly, when it burns severe like it did, it also bakes the soil, causing it to lose absorbency. Rain and snow melt won't soak into the ground, it will just run off. Both of those things are going to push runoff, so it will be higher than normal." Jantzer said.

If the dam suffered a catastrophic failure, Jantzer said we could see flows as high as 20,000 cubic feet per second or 8,976,000 gallons per minute coming out of the lake. Historic flows on Icicle Creek are around 15,000 CFS.

The dam would most likely fail during a high water event during a time when Icicle Creek is flowing already at 10,000 CFS. Adding 20,000 CFS from a catastrophic dam failure and Jantzer said you could see the highest ever recorded flows.

The old dam is in poor condition. Jantzer said the districts have been thinking about replacing it for some time.

"The lake was originally designed with only a 20-foot spillway. It has sustained some damage over the years, which is an ongoing type problem," Jantzer said. "The earthen part of the structure has been over-topped many times. Now is about 5-feet lower than it was originally, which has helped. It acts like a spillway now."

Since Jantzer has been the manager of the districts for the past seven years, he has not seen much change at that dam. He said they have been working on plans to replace dams in the high lakes, but because they are located in the wilderness area, there are political ramifications.

"With all those concerns, we've been going slow, trying to make sure everything is working right. It's one of the major projects within the Icicle Working Group scope of work. We've been hoping to get it fixed that way, but based on the fire and the danger, we just can't do that. We're going to have to go fix it," Jantzer said.

The lake is currently seven feet below the full mark. The districts are planning to lower the lake another 13-15 feet before the major runoff happens.

"Right now, we have it as low as we can get it. Basically, in the dam, there is a big notch, where we put check boards in to raise and lower the level so it spills over the spillway. We have all those boards removed so the water is currently just barely going over the spillway," Jantzer said. "That spillway is about seven feet lower than the normal spillway. The water is about seven feet lower than the top of the dam. That is all we can do right now."

The lake is currently frozen solid with a foot of ice over the top. The valve to release water out of the lake is underneath all that ice, he said. The second problem is the outlet pipe that goes to the value is plugged, so they have to go up there, unplug the pipe and open the value.

"We plan on doing that, if we can work things out with the Forest Service, and the conditions allow in May. The highest runoff in that watershed hits in June," he said.

shed hits in June," he said. Of course, right now, it would be a very difficult hike up to the lake due to the snow. Jantzer said that is why they are waiting. He said they are going to need an excavator at the dam. The plan is to do the work on the dam this fall.

"It's partially concrete, masonry and earth now. The actual design of the dam, we are going to bid things out. We are going to look at the bids then select an engineering firm to design the dam. We will build whatever they say we can build. Most likely, it will have a concrete core," he said.

In order to do the work, the districts must go through the State Environment Policy Act or SEPA process, which can take months. Jantzer said that is why they declared an emergency, so the SEPA process can be sped up.

"We've already sent a SEPA checklist that we filled out to the Department of Ecology. The WAC (Washington Administrative Code) specifically states that if you are working on a dam with a storage capacity of over 40 acre feet of water, the Department of Ecology is the lead agency on that, Jantzer said. "Right now, we're still looking to see who in the Department of Ecology that lead agent will be. We sent it off to them and we're waiting for a response.²

The lowering of the lake should likely will not adversely impact the district, he hopes. Right now, there is 100 percent of normal snowpack. Jantzer said they are expecting a good, normal water year.

The lake is generally used for low water years.

"If the water year is normal or above normal, it shouldn't affect us at all. If it is below normal, yes it could affect us," he said.

Photo by Marlene Farrell Some P.D. students sample cubes of guava and quince jellies in the Mexico room. On a recent Tuesday night, students returned to Peshastin Dryden (P.D.) Elementary for a taste of the exotic and a glimpse at cultures from around the globe. Kids learned about 12 different cultures through food, music, dance, games and art.

The goal of the night? To get up to 12 stamps on their paper passport, and have lots of fun along the way.

Parents, grandparents, teachers and community members, representing each culture, welcomed children across invisible borders every time they stepped into a new classroom.

Students entering one room were greeted by the happy syncopated rhythms of choro music from Brazil. Justin Carvitto, dad and husband to teacher Melissa Carvitto, led a trio of mandolin, guitar and trumpet. He explained, "Choro is a music that was born from the cafés and streets of Rio de Janeiro in the 19th century." Their performance was a roda do Choro, a jam session, and kids could join in with shakers and other hand-held instruments.

Food was a highlight in the bord of Mexican treats. Even with the popularity of Mexican restaurants, most of the children experienced new flavors when they crunched on mild or spicy jicama, tried cubes of ate de membrillo and ate de guayaba (quince and guava jelly), and tasted bites of salty and sweet tamarind paste.

Following their ears again, children could watch a story unfold through the beautiful words, music and dance of Hawaiian hula, as performed by Momi Palmieri and teacher Vicki Harrod. Eager kids joined the dancers, mimicking the flowing hand motions, which represented swaying trees and ocean waves as well as emotions.

The cafeteria bustled with activity. Country representatives stood next to tables displaying traditional clothing, translated words, maps, photographs, artwork, and of course, more food samples. Chai tea was a popular item at the India table, as was sohan asali, a traditional almond candy from Iran.

> a popular one during the summertime. Jantzer said they are in discussions with the Forest Service about closing the lake for the summer, based on the potential danger and the fact they will be working up there all summer.

"That is a possibility. We haven't determined that yet. They'll probably leave the trail open so they can go to Little 8-mile so they can go up to Lake Caroline. There is some discussion on closing the Eight Mile Lake trail, but that is up to the Forest Service," he said.

To fund the dam replacement project, Jantzer said they have emergency funds set aside but they will also be looking for some funds from the state to help.

"We trying to get a grant from the DOE to help us with this. It's a water storage thing. This just doesn't impact the district but the whole watershed. We feel hopeful to get a grant to pay for the bulk of it,"

Jantzer said.

There are currently seven reservoirs within the wilderness. Jantzer said they represent the only water storage within the Wenatchee watershed. Of those reservoirs, Eight Mile Lake has the highest refill ratio, meaning it is most likely to refill even during extreme drought.

Currently, the districts are creating an Emergency Action Plan with assistance from the Chelan County Emergency Management, DOE's Dam Safety Office and Forest Service to notify potentially affected property owners.

She said, "I loved preparing for the culture night with my kids, seeing their pride and excitement about wanting to share their Swedish culture with their friends. It was also great for them to see all the other cultures represented, learning that a lot of families in our town have different backgrounds."

No one would go hungry, as dinner was served. The P.D. cafeteria has expanded its repertoire of scratch cooking, and they brought out one of their best that night. Karlyn brainstormed and put on this Lynn, the PTO event coordinator said, "Many people told me how great the chicken pozole and tres leches cake were." Children could bring home mementos from their "travels," including Hawaiian leis and hamsa hands, a symbol of good luck in many parts of North Africa and the Middle East. They treasured the pieces of paper that held their names using letters from a different alphabet. Kids stared in amazement to see their names transformed into Japanese brushstrokes and Farsi curves, curls and dots.

event. The PTO has moved from the idea of doing many events per school year to one big, high quality family event. The Culture Night, with over two hundred attendees, proves their success. "It was a really fun night for both the volunteers and the people attending," said Lynn. "I received many compliments personally, and I know the volunteers did too."

Once students visited all twelve countries, they turned in their passports. One lucky "well-traveled" child won the prize of an illuminated globe to remember all the places visited that night.

LEAVENWORTH ROTARY NEWS LEAVENWORTH ROTARY EXCHANGE PROGRAM

Each year Leavenworth Rotary Club sponsors a student to live and study in a foreign county. This year is a banner year for candidates of this program. There were two candidates chosen and our Club can only sponsor one student. Because these two students are so strong. Leavenworth Rotary reached out to other clubs in Washington and we were able to secure the support from a sister club in order that both of these young adults will be on their way for a areat adventure.

Leavenworth Rotary will sponsor Aiden Ringel who will be living and studying in Germany. Aiden is a freshman and studying hard in preparation for college. He enjoys swimming for the Velocity Swim Team in Wenatchee. His other passion is playing trumpet in the high school band. Aiden is looking forward to being fully immersed with his host family and their language and culture.

The Club's other exchange student is Sarah Lorenzen who will be sponsored by Ellensburg Rotary Club and travel to India for her exchange.

Sarah is a freshmen at Cascade and is on the cheer squad, and is also in the drama club and loves playing softball. Sarah loves to do volunteer work and this past summer spent 9 days in Costa Rica doing community service. Leavenworth Rotary is confident both Aiden and Sarah will represent not only their country but their community of Leavenworth.

We wish them both safe travels and wonderful memories which will remain with them for their entire lives. "Bon Voyage"

SUBMITTED ARTICLE

Sen. Brad Hawkins has obtained full legislative support for his legislation to help Leavenworth respond to a boundary change for Washington's apple maggot quarantine area.

The Senate this evening unanimously agreed with changes made by the House of Representatives to Hawkins' Senate Bill 6055. His bipartisan ing tour that the boundary change created complications for the City of Leavenworth. Chipping the entirety of the brush is not realistic, and hauling the waste over 100 miles west for disposal is costly and has other disadvantages.

"The final bill represents a lot of hard work and compromise," said Hawkins.

The House amended it twice, including one amendment to shorten the duration of the pilot project and another to add details about a report due back to the Legislature. The amended bill was approved by the House unanimously, but Hawkins wanted a better deal for the City of Leavenworth. The Senate then took another vote, at Hawkins' recommendation, to "not concur" with the House amendments so that Hawkins and the House Environment Committee chair could negotiate a compromise, which they eventually did.

The House amended the bill again with the agreed-upon language, which the Senate approved today.

"It was quite a process, but I'm glad we finally could agree," said Hawkins. "My colleagues and I – on both sides of the aisle and in both Chambers – never gave up on it. I'm very proud and appreciative of our effort."

MUSIC THAT 'PAUSES THE PERPETUAL MOTION' JAMIE HOWELL

Singer-songwriter CARRIE NEWCOMER invites listeners to "pause the perpetual motion" of their lives with her new album, The Beautiful Not Yet. And Icicle Creek Center for the Arts invites you to take a pause this Friday night to join her live and in person at the Snowy Owl Theater.

"We live in an ever accelerating world where we are not encouraged to stop, reflect or pause the perpetual motion of our lives," Newcomer says. On the album and in a companion book of poems and essays, she explores how we might live more present, engaged lives, even in the face of division or uncertainty.

Newcomer, a remarkable musician, writer, teacher and activist, is in town as part of the Icicle Creek Visiting Artist Series. As such, she'll be teaching a public workshop on Saturday entitled "What We Need Is Here: The Art of Resistance and Welcome." It promises to be an engaging exploration into the ways we can resist a pervasive ideology of fear and division while embracing a new story of welcome and interdependence. Newcomer will incorporate music, discussion and creative exercise, but no previous experience with the creative arts is required.

Link Transit proposing new schedule, later service for Leavenworth

By Ian Dunn Editor

Link Transit is proposing a later bus schedule for most routes, and a revised schedule for outboard routes to Chelan and Leavenworth. Link Transit Marketing and Communications Manager tive but also from just ridership in general.

"Based on current ridership, the routes were proposing to add later routes are the ones that have the most ridership. It's officially every route in the Wenatchee and East Wenatchee area, except for route 7, which has low

File artwork

The changes in the Link Transit daily schedule would likely affect most daily riders. Link is looking for feedback on the changes.

Eric West said the changes are part of the resources they have available.

"We have some money put aside in our budget in 2018 to add a little bit of service. This is what we're able to do with that limited resource of about $450,000," West said.

A recent Link Transit survey revealed most favored later buses and more weekend service.

"Looking at what we are able to get the most bang for the buck in terms of ridership, we feel adding the addition of service during the week will probably result in higher ridership than adding more service on weekends," West said.

West said they have to be cognizant about their federal funding which is based on ridership and productivity. They do not want to jeopardize funding. If their productivity levels went down, the funding would go away.

He said they want to do the best thing from that perspecridership when you compare it to other routes," West said. "Those are the highest ridership routes in the Wenatchee area, so those were the ones we felt were more deserving of additional evening service."

Routes 21 and 22 to Chelan and Leavenoworth, West said they are consistently getting requests for later service on those routes. The last trip to Chelan leaves Wenatchee at 5:15 p.m. and 6 p.m. on the route 20, so it's not very late.

"People working past 6 p.m. that live in Chelan are kind of out of luck. We added later service on that route and we changed the frequency on it, going to every hour rather than half-hour frequency morning and evening, then the sporadic hour and 15 minutes, sometimes up to two hours," West said. "We realized that could have some impact on people's travel patterns, so we're really wanting to hear from people on that. The changes to the 21 and 22 are probably the most impactful for the people that presently riding."

Currently, the route 22 to Leavenworth operates every 30 minutes in the morning and afternoon. Midday, it is about every hour. West said they are proposing to go every 45 minutes all day.

"What that does, it allows us to use fewer buses, because we don't have to have those extra buses on the road four two or three hours in the morning and afternoon to have the higher frequency. So there is a little less cost involved," West said.

Currently, the last bus to Leavenworth leaves at 8 p.m. The new schedule would have that bus leave at 8:30 p.m. "It does affect some of those trips which are arriving in Wenatchee on the hour or half-hour schedule morning or afternoon," West said. "We want people to comment on those. If it is a positive change, great, we want to hear that. If it is a negative change, we certainly want to hear about that because we don't want people to be caught off guard, especially if this is something that doesn't allow them to ride the bus moving forward."

These are not final, by any means, he said. People can still comment for another monthand-a-half.

The last bus from Leavenworth would leave at 9 p.m. West said he believes people will appreciate the later service.

"What does that do to the folks that have been accustomed to getting on a bus at 6:30 in Leavenworth or 6:30 in Wenatchee to get to Leavenworth and you can't do that anymore," he said. "People have to be at work at a certain time and they have to leave at a certain time, so if they are impacted by 30 minutes or so, it might impact their decision to ride the bus."

Moving forward, West said it's going to be tough to meet everyone's needs. They want to keep their existing riders, but also attract some new riders. It's a balancing act.

The new service schedule will be implemented on July 2.

"We have a service plan that takes place the first Monday in July. That is typical when we make our changes because school is out so we're not impacting that market. People might be on vacation so their work schedule might be helter skelter that time of year. It's not a huge impact on people to change during the middle of summer rather than after school started when people's schedules are set," West said.

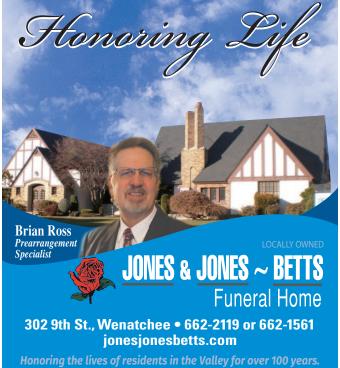

To comment, go to linktransit.com. There is a news article on the center of the page that will direct you to a list of each route Link is thinking about changing. At the top of the page, you can click on a specific route. That's an email link which will allow to send an email to their planner.

"You can comment, I don't like what you're doing to the 22. It needs to be done this way. Or it makes me have to do this to my schedule. Whatever the comment..we want to hear positive and negative. People have until April 17 to comment. We really want to get the word this is something we want people to take a close look at. Once it's done and on the books, it's tough to go back," West said.

The information will be available at the Columbia Station and at the Link facility at Olds Station. You can also call 662-1155 to get the information in another format. The hope is that most comments will come through the web.

"We really encourage people if they are a current rider or interested in anything at all in riding, to take a close look at these and see if these are going to work for them," West said.

Leavenworth city officials are continuing their discussions about adding public restrooms to the proposed new Link Transit station near Safeway. Development Director Nate Pate briefed the council at the Feb. 27 meeting.

"This is a discussion topic for council consideration for possible future action for cost sharing and funding. We've had lots of conversations about the Link Park & Ride and what they're doing out there," Pate said.

Pate said the present plans for the station include an area for bus drivers to rest, a small mechanical room and a restroom for employees.

"The city has been talking about adding public restrooms. Link said it was not necessarily part of their funding choices, but if the city wants to approach Link to get the unisex or family restrooms in the building, that would be welcome." Pate said. "They've come back with a concept plan. It's a pretty straight forward addition. Right now, it's identified as men's and women's. We'll probably make it unsex."

The estimated cost for the public restrooms is $95,000. Pate said he wanted to discuss this with the council prior to Link coming back with a proposal. In addition, there would be an agreement the city would maintain the public restrooms.

Another item for council consideration is the relocation of a gravel turnaround behind Safeway.

"It functions for heavy, large delivery trucks for Safeway, Marsons and anyone else. The relocation is necessary for folks who might get lost lookThe KOA has been there for 30 plus years, so they won't have clear understanding of the new location for awhile. We want them to get turned around and back up the right road without getting out on the highway," Pate said.

The turnaround benefits the city quite a bit, so Link is seeking to partner with the city, Pate said. Link is currently building the segment that connects to the highway along with other improvements.

"This additional right-ofway space adds cost to their project, just acquiring the land for use. There will be request from Link for future council consideration on sharing some of the costs for acquisition of that right-of-way. They are paying for the construction. They just don't have the land," Pate said.

The original plan for the new Link Transit Station only included a small bathroom for the drivers. The city would like the plan to include a public restroom

Councilman Elmer Larsen asked if there was an estimated cost. Pate said they do not.

"It's something we wanted to bring forward because it's not set quite yet with the dollar amount. We know estimated cost because we just built the Lions Club restroom. We have a good understanding of it. The right-of-way stuff...we'd like to have it fair be dedicated back to the city," Walinski said. "At some point in time, if Mr. Linn's (adjacent property owner) property gets developed, undoubtedly this road would be extended and this property could be vacated at some point. There is the possibility of cost recovery in the future."

Larsen said the restrooms are a necessity, as is the turnaround.

"We ought to have them at all our parking lots. The turnaround makes real sense because people bring trailers Safeway trying to get to the hotel or something. This way, it gives them a definitive turn around," Larsen said.

Farivar said whenever the city has an opportunity to build restrooms, they should take it.

"This is one of those opportunities to put restrooms in an area where there are none," Farivar said.

Councilwoman Sharon Waters suggested tapping Safeway for funding.

"Safeway, I would think would benefit from the restrooms, instead of people going into Safeway when they arrive, they go there. Link also benefits. Possibly there is tourist piece there to help pay for it," Waters said.

"You know, interestingly, Safeway's opinion is we like having them come inside because they buy stuff. People that use the restroom buy a drink or snack or lunch," Farivar replied.

When there is an estimate, Walinski said they will come back and talk about funding options.

"I'm a supporter of the bathroom too because I live over there. One concern I have is that, in the past, we've had people camping out in that area. The potential of them having their own private bathroom is a bit of a concern," said River Bend Drive resident Duane Goehner.

Walinski said the public works staff is looking at automatic locking systems, which would lock it up at 10 p.m. then open it in the morning.

"This is some new technology we're anxious to try in other bathrooms," Farivar said.

Cascade baseball team opens the season with impressive wins over Ephrata, LaSalle

By Ian Dunn Editor

The Cascade Kodiak baseball team has started off the season in fine style with wins over Ephrata and LaSalle. Head Coach Mike Kelly had a plan to pitch four guys in the opener March 13 at home against Ephrata.

His number one, junior southpaw Conrad Haase, did not disappoint with two solid innings. Cascade took 2-0 in the first inning. JJ Hall pitched in relief two innings, pitching out of trouble in the third, then went 1-2-3 in the fourth.

In the bottom of the fourth, Cascade scored three more times to take a 5-0 lead. Nate McMahon had a 2 RBI double. Tyler Miller took the mound in the fifth, giving up two runs as the Tigers cut the lead to 5-2. Miller working out of trouble in the sixth.

Sophomore TJ Thompson took the mound in the seventh, showing good velocity but struggling with command. He loaded the bases, two runs scored to cut the lead to 5-4. Then he recorded the third out on a strikeout to preserve the win.

"With that being the first game, you have an expectation and hope to execute but it doesn't always go that way. With set out with the plan this season with six guys who can throw strikes. We want to get them the opportunity to throw in games. Hopefully, from that develop some starters and the relief guys," Kelly said. Kelly liked the uny bio nitch off. He did really well, going scoreless and keeping his pitch count down. The same for JJ Hall, who did really well. Those two worked in combination throwing up zeros was a good way for us start to get our feet defensively," Kelly said. "We went to Tyler Miller. One of the challenges when you are rotating pitchers is moving guys around defensively. Sometimes that is difficult."

Kelly also liked the way Thompson was able to work out of trouble to preserve the win.

"He's thrown well in practice. It worked out really well. All kids have challenges with pressure, and he's no different," Kelly said. "It was a base loaded situation and he got it done. I was happy with that. That third strike punch out was awesome."

Shortstop Mason Kelly was 2-for-4 with a run and RBI. Miller was 2-for-2 with a run and RBI. McMahon was 1-for-3 with 2 RBI. Dillon Samuel was 1-for-2 with a run and RBI.

Cascade faced LaSalle on the road last Saturday. Kelly again planned to pitch four guys. The starting catcher, Ben Sunitsch, led off the game on the mound.

"Being one of the six guys in the rotation is our catcher strong arm and is consistent in the strike zone. I made the decision to start and go with four guys again," Kelly said. "We started with Ben in the first inning with our number two catcher, who is doing a good job. We struggled a bit catching the ball. We were down 6-1 in the second inning."

Kelly sought to settle his guys down, letting them know there a lot more innings to play. The Cascade bats came alive in the forth with four runs, then eight runs in the sixth.

Cascade won 13-9.

"We came from a deficit to beat a team pretty handily. It's a good character builder. If we want to be a good team, good teams don't always play with a lead," Kelly said.

Kelly pitched Sunitsch, Cody Enloe, Mason Kelly and Conrad Haase.

Sunitsch was 1-for-2 with a run and 2 RBIs. McMahon was 2-for-3 with 2 runs and 2 RBI. Enloe was 1-for-1 with 2 RBIs, 2 runs and 3 walks.

Cascade hosted Royal on March 20. Results were not available before press time. They open the league schedule with a double header at Omak on Saturday. The Kodiaks host Cle Elum next Tuesday.

Fastpitch softball team opens the season with impressive win over Wenatchee

By Ian Dunn Editor

The Cascade Kodiak fastpitch softball team opened the season at home on March 15 against 4A Wenatchee. The Panthers took the early lead with three runs in the first inning, two from a homer by Riley Phillips. After that, hurler Sarah Paulson settled down and threw three scoreless inning through the fourth.

The Kodiaks took the lead in the bottom of the second, scoring four runs. Madison Hardy had an RBI double, while Madeline Schiefelbein and Truh Merriman each had an RBI.

Cascade took a 5-3 lead in scored twice on three hits and an error, to cut the lead to 7-6. In the bottom of the frame, Cascade exploded for 7 runs on 3 hits and 7 walks to take a 14-6 lead.

Wenatchee did not go quietly, scoring 7 runs on 4 hits and 3 Cascade errors. With the tying run on first, Merriman got the strikeout to preserve the win, 14-13.

"It was a very good effort for our first game of the season. I was proud of the way the kids competed, but the game did show us we have a lot to work on. It was a strange game where both teams played well for the most part. Then in the sixth and seventh the wheels ff a bit for both said Cascade Head Coach Todd Gilbert. Paulson pitched 4 innings, giving up 3 hits, 3 earned runs with 6 strikeouts and 2 walks. Merriman pitched 3 innings, giving up 8 hits, 2 earned runs with 4 strikeouts and 1 walk. Paulson was 2-for-3 with 2 runs, 3 RBIs, a double and 2 walks. Merriman was 1-for-3 with 1 run, 3 RBIs, a double and 2 walks.

On March 16, Cascade hosted Lynden Christian. Cascade took a 1-0 lead in the first on an RBI single by Andrea Sorensen. Paulson was sharp for her four innings of work, shutting out the Lynx. But Merriman struggled in relief.

LC scored 8 runs in the fifth on 9 hits and a key throwing error by Merriman.

'With one out and runners at 1st and 2nd on a comebacker to the pitcher we attempted to turn a 1-6-3 double play to end the inning. Unfortunately, the throw was off target and went into center field allowing a runs before the inning was over," Gilbert said. LC added 2 more runs off Merriman in the 6th, one earned on a solo HR by S. Vanloo, the pitcher. In the top of the 7th, LC added 2 more runs off Kaija Lovelady who saw her first pitching appearance of the season.

Cascade lost 12-2.

"The girls competed and played well for four innings, then the errors hurt us again. We definitely have to get more consistent on defense. However, it is early in the year and this team works hard so I'm confident it will come around. LC pitcher, S. Vanloo, threw well today. She went all 7 inning, allowed 2 ER, on 4 hits, while striking out 8 and walking 1," Gilbert said.

Paulson pitched 4 innings, giving up 2 hits and no runs along with 8 strikeouts and 1 walk. Merriman pitched 2 innings, giving up 11 hits, 3 earned runs with 1 walk. Lovelady pitched one inning, giving up 3 hits, 2 earned runs with 1 strikeout.

the third, thanks to an RBI single by Colby West. The Panthers capitalized on two Kodiak errors score a run in the fifth to cut the lead to 5-4. In the bottom of the frame, Cascade scored twice more on a two RBI double by Paulson. Cascade led 7-4.

In the sixth, Wenatchee

On March 20, Cascade hosted Ephrata. Results were not available before press time. On Thursday, they host Cle Elum. Next Tuesday, they open league play at Chelan.

Soccer team begins the season 2-2 against good competition

By Ian Dunn Editor

Last season, Cascade was undefeated all the way to the state semifinals. Coach Pete Spiegel predicted his team probably would not be undefeated again. Boy, was he right. The Kodiaks lost their very first game of the season at Ephrata, 3-1.

For the Kodiaks, it was only their third time on a field on March 10.

"The first game is one where you are able to shake the jitters out and get your feet under you. We didn't play up to our potential, but didn't play poorly either," Spiegel said.

The Tigers opened the scoring in the 20th minute on a cross that was misplayed. Ephrata scored again before half and went to the locker room up 2-0.

"We tried a different formation and it paid dividends in the second half. Freshman Efren Guerrero found Arturo Avila at the penalty spot and he snuck it past their goalkeeper. This breathed new life into our team," Spiegel said.

Unfortunately, the Tigers scored again in the 65th minute as there was a miscommunication between players.

On March 13, Cascade played at Sultan. It was raining as the team headed west. The Kodiaks put pressure on the Turks from the start and did not let up. The Kodiaks were up 5-0 at the half.

"Sultan was out-matched, they just weren't able to play at our speed. Arturo Avila kept his scoring streak intact, scoring two goals. Efren Guerrero scored two, Julian Alvarez had two and Danny Sandoval had the nicest goal of the night, settling a high pass and slotting it into the upper corner. We were able to play a lot of players who typically don't get a chance to see varsity action," Spiegel said.

Cascade won 7-0. On March 15, Cascade played at Quincy. The Jacks were coming of a close loss to a very good Wenatchee team, so Spiegel knew it would be a tough match up. In the 23rd minute, Ricky Barragan hit a free kick to the head of Jose Valdez for the team's first goal. Cascade led 1-0 at the half.

In the second half, Arturo "Cholo" Avila scored his first goal off a corner kick from Eddy Camarena.

"Cholo broke free from his defender and headed the ball home. On his second goal, Julian Alvarez sent Cholo behind the Quincy defense. His left footed shot beat the goalkeeper to make the score 3-0," Spiegel said.

Quincy responded, but keeper Jose Mendoza kept coming up with big saves.

"He wasn't able to stop a shot from the spot after we were called for a penalty however. Cholo scored his last goal on a free kick as the game ended," he said. The Kodiaks prevailed 4-1. Last Saturday, they traveled to Seattle to play King's Academy. Kings was able to score a goal in the first half and made that stand up as they won 1-0.

"Their defense was especially strong. We tried to play the ball long too much instead of trying to work the ball up the field," Spiegel said.

On March 20, Cascade hosted 2A Selah. Results were not available before press time. On Thursday, they open league play at home against Okanogan. On Friday, they play at 2A Prosser. Next Tuesday, they are at rival Cashmere.

"This coming week we will be able to play on our own field. We are excited," Spiegel said.

Cascade golf team opens the season at Quincy

By Ian Dunn Editor

The Cascade High School golf team played their first match of the season against Quincy at Clockum Ridge on March 15. Due to the lack of numbers, the Kodiaks could not field a team score for both the boys and girls. Cascade only had three boys and Quincy only had one girl.

"So no team score, that's okay. This was a first day out and a score for all of our golfers. Some were posting their first 9 hole score ever. Great day for golf. I saw all smiles on my team. They are anxious to get out on the course," said Cascade Head Coach Randy Alexander.

Maddie Hontou led the girls with a solid 97. Jacelyn Bain had a 102. Emma Halseth shot 113 and Natalie Craig 137.

"Again, I downplay this time of the year for us due to how much we have been on any course. Rock Island a couple times and Highlander driving range, and Desert Canyon , which was a modified scramble format just to get the kids out and experience golfing.. I knew we would be rusty. This was really our first time out on a course," Alexander said.

Tim Wells led the boys with an 83. Stefan Zucktriegel shot 96 and freshman Isaac Cortes shot 110.

"Tim and Stefan have started right where they left off last year, so I am looking forward to their progress as the season moves on. Isaac Cortes is an inspiring first year golfer. Isaac has golfing experience and am looking to watch his golf game grow," Alexander said.

On Thursday, Cascade plays an all girls match at Ephrata. Next Tuesday, they open league play at Okanogan.

Trade wars are not 'good and easy to win'

My first thought when I heard Trump's plan to slap partisan agreement on that point. Of course, Trump isn't really a guy who believes in experts or common wisdom.

It's easy to see why tariffs are appealing. If imported steel is 25% more expensive, American steel producers can raise their prices and still be competitive with imported steel. As a result, they'll make more money, and buy more equipment, and hire more could encourage Trump to hit right back. It's hard to stop a trade "slap fight" from turning into a trade "fistfight" and then a trade war.

This is why tariffs are such a risky strategy. In an effort to help American steel producers, you're hurting consumers, and any industry that buys steel, and any industry that other countries retaliate against – and adding a lot of President Trudeau, and yet he didn't bother to know this very basic fact. Can you imagine being that unaware and unprepared - and apparently proud of it?

Being aggressive about trade is one of the rare things Trump has been consistent on throughout his adult life. You can find clips from the 80's where he calls for tariffs on Japanese carmakers. Trump has 3 more years to fight this battle, and plenty of power as President to make it happen. There's already talk that he's working on a tariff plan for China. From a guy who tweeted that trade wars are "good and easy to win," that shouldn't be a surprise. I sure hope all the experts are wrong.

25% tariffs on steel imports (and 10% on aluminum) was something like this: "The global economy is finally clicking on all cylinders, why are you messing with it?" Upon more reflection, I think that was exactly the right response. However, Trump is right that there's a problem. While global trade has absolutely benefitted America, we are getting a raw deal in some ways (including steel). The question is how to solve that problem.

There's a broad consensus among financial and economic experts that trade wars hurt everyone. Even among politicians, there's remarkably bi-workers – and everyone is happy.

Unfortunately, that's not the end of the story. Higher steel prices mean that anything with steel in it will have a higher price, which hurts consumers. It also hurts any business that makes stuff with steel because their prices will go up for raw materials. Goldman Sachs predicted the tariffs could cost Ford & GM $1 billion just this year.

The biggest worry for the markets is what puts the "war" in "trade war." Other countries around the world will probably retaliate against American industries, which uncertainty. So, there are a lot of losers in this deal, and only one winner: Steel manufacturers.

Unfortunately, I don't think Trump understands any of this. He recently bragged to a crowd of supporters that he complained to Canadian President Trudeau about our trade deficit with Canada - even though he "had no idea" if that was true or not (it's not true by the way, according to the Commerce Dept, we actually have a $2.77 billion surplus with Canada). Just think about that for a moment: Trump talks endlessly about trade deficits, and was talking to Canadian

The Korean Peace Talks: Phase Juan

PINGPONGBANG - I was blessed recently to view the Korean Peace Talks Phase Juan as I supped on some chamomile tea and discussed brand name versus generic brand ice cream outside of a local rumor mill - read Café André.

The vision, clear as the ring of a bell on a capital ship, took form as a chrysalis morphs into a Monarch butterfly. Ambassador Kys My Mun was working four sides of the isle as the South Korean head of negotiations.

Ōn the one hand was the falsely aggressive North Koreans. He offered them 10 billion boxes of ramen noodles to feed their people for a few months. They also received 100 million cases of Coors, a move to please the Colorado vote and keep the poor in the Hermit Kingdom hydrated with pure Rocky Mountain water.

On another hand was the falsely aggressive Americans. He gave them nothing, but a nationwide 10% discount on all Kia models for the next six months only. Then came the Chinese. He told them Kia dealerships were available for China, but only if they guaranteed 50 millions sales per year.

Forty dealerships to start - 40 more by 2025.

Then we have the Russians. Ambassador KMM thought hard about what to do with them. Finally an epiphany. Vladimir Putin will have unlimited access to American gasoline retail markets. That's just for Vlad. He will kick back 10% to the Republican National Committee and 30% to the Trump Foundation For a Greater America. The Russian people will get a 10% discount on all Kia models for the next six months.

As an added incentive, he also gave Kim Jong Un all rights to harvest any offspring from, or allegedly from, Dennis Rodman. He also gets a free movie pass to whatever movie he wants to see, but the theater must be in Seoul. He must mingle with the masses and then have massive amounts of quality time in the favorite bar of Kia auto workers.

Putin must also learn to cross dress like Rodman and attend EEO training for former Communist spies trying to straighten out their lives. The EEO classes will be held in Kiev. Attendance is mandatory

Another olive branch for the Americans. They get to choose the color of their Kia for no extra charge. They will also get franchise rights to sell kimchi throughout the land under the brand name Eat KimChi, Live Forever.

Needless to say, Trump's perfectly attuned peace talks will light the fire on the economy in four countries and reap trickle down money for millions upon millions of middle class in all countries. Incidentally, there will be rewards for the rich folks who get these franchises going and invest, invest, invest.

In case you didn't know, the North Korea does have a middle class and it consists of the bureaucrats and the middle ranks of the military. Back to the deal.

To ensure Americans, especially president Trump and the GOP, go for the overall package, Ambassador KMM will place a Kia factory in Birmingham, Alabama and another in Detroit to remind everyone, including American auto companies, that Asians are pro-America and voters in Michigan and Alabama better respond in-kind or no more kimchi for them.

One last perk for Russians and Jong Un as well - a customized Kia with headlights that turn into rockets capable of shooting nerve gas into former spies or even stepbrothers - what's not to love comrade?

During the Donald Trump campaign events he would play the Rolling Stones classic "You Can't Always Get What You Want" at the end of the rallies. On the other hand, when you are the greatest deal maker in the world, everyone with skin in the game shall be rewarded, that is "get what they want.'

So sayeth The Tweet Manifesto, in bookstores soon, maybe. (It will be written in federal prison by Paul Manafort.)

(To explain the "Juan" in the headline, Trump was alleged to have said, "Wait Juan minute, what about The Wall, can we get those Asians to pay for it?" He was trying to make a joke at the expense of Mexicans, but only his children laughed along with his inner circle of lapdogs.)
