High, elementary school construction on schedule

Construction of Cascade High School and Alpine Lakes Elementary School is progressing well, according School District Construction Liaison John Henri.

The high school is being constructed in several phases, by Lydig Construction.

"The first phase is the academic wing, where you can now see the foundation, and the two gyms, auxiliary and main. Those gyms are under we've demoed the old gym floor. That used to be a wood structure. We've taken that out and filled it with rock and put a slab in there, so now it's a slab on grade."

Asbestos has been stripped from the old gym, along with the popcorn surface on the roof, which you typically see in old houses. Currently, the duct work is being demoed, along with the boys' and girls' locker rooms.

In the main gym, the bleachers are being removed.

"We're taking the back-construction right now," Henri said. "The academic wing, the slabs are poured, the underground utilities are done. The stage within phase one, board down and moving them to the other gym. Putting new backboards in. We're taking the ceiling out. The kids could not play volleyball because it wasn't high enough," Henri said. "The auxiliary gym and main gym and locker rooms has to be done by the first of August, for school in September.'

The six classroom wing on the east end is currently being demoed. As soon as the slabs are torn away, Henri said they will start working on the earthwork for the new building, which will be the art room and band wing.

A lot will be going on this summer, with an extension of the slabs poured for the academic wing. It will continue through the administration wing, stage, band and potentially the art room.

"In September, the students will be going back into the same old high school, except two new gyms. The six classrooms we're demoing this summer, we've made arrangements for those to be in other classrooms. It will be almost like this past year," Henri said.

The academic wing, administrator wing, common and stage will have to be completely enclosed, so the work can continue through the winter, the interior completed and cleaned up for next summer.

The only real issues that have been encountered, he said, have been the unforeseen sight conditions under-

"From the early sight package last summer, we knew there was bad soil down there, but we didn't know where," Henri said. "We also knew there were big boulders. The architect's specifications clearly talks about what is required by the contractor and what is considered unforeseen sight conditions, like boulders. We've run into some unacceptable earthwork."

Henri said they ran into a dump with all kinds of debris.

"Looks like somebody dug a hole and put all kinds of stuff, construction materials.

On Sunday, June 25, Chelan County Mountain Rescue members and a Chelan County SAR Deputy recovered the body of Benjamin Gore (19) from Aasgard Pass. Gore disappeared into a crevasse on June 4 while glissading down Aasgard Pass. Initial attempts to locate Gore were unsuccessful due to the snow depth and fast running water. The body has been turned over to the Chelan County Coroner's Office and the family has been notified. CCMR member Jeff Paton reports the body was found in the exact same location at the man who perished last year in the same area. Automated city park systems will save money

By Ian Dunn EDITOR

Just like the typical smart home, the city of Leavenworth parks department set out to try some of internet based options for controlling systems in Lions Club Park. Early results are showing there is a great opportunity for savings on water and labor.

City Parks Supervisor John Schons explained the automated systems to the Leavenworth City Council at the June 13 study session.

"Any device that hooks up to electrical, you can replace it with a device compatible with Z-Wave, which is a short wave radio frequency. That is what Veralite and the other home automation controllers use to contact these devices," Schons said. "You can set them up to go on, go off at a certain time. Veralite is one we found that is pretty cheap to buy. The controller is very inexpensive. A lot of them have a monthly fee and this one doesn't. It is pretty user friendly."

Initially, Schons explained they were searching for options to lock the Lions Park restrooms in the evening.

"We contract normally with the senior center to lock the restrooms in the evening, because it wouldn't make sense to pay one of us overtime to come in at 10 or 11 at night," Schons said. "We thought maybe there was another way to go about this. That's what pushed us into researching this. We found this controller. That's what we're doing at Lions Club Park restrooms. That is the only place it is functional."

Schons said they have the right locks to do this on Front Street restrooms, but there is no nearby internet connection available. The controller device must hook directly to the internet via ethernet cable, not using wifi.

The system can control things like lights, outlets, deadbolts, fans, thermostats. Schons said you can program systems to go on or off at certain times each day.

"There are two outlets in Lions Club Park and six LED lights with a switch. I put those LED lights on it and I haven't had to touch anything in a year. They come on at sunset and go off at sunrise," Schons said. "With the outlets, it is the same thing. They come on at 5 a.m. and they go off at midnight, because we don't need people charging their laptops at 1 a.m."

Councilwoman Margaret Neighbors asked about the security of the system. Schons said it is password protected, but anything is hackable.

"If you have a strong password, you are pretty safe. It is also low priority. It's not like we have gold bars in the bathroom," Schons said. "You can take a bunch of different devices and make them interact in a certain way, based on certain triggers you give it. We've had this for a year with really no bugs.'

Another system controls the sprinklers, he said. Schons said they found a home based irrigation system was not workable for the city needs. A local software designer offered a program to control the sprinklers.

Schons said they helped him work the bugs out of the systems, and put it through a stress test.

"This is a 16-station controller, which is at the pool right now. Each one of these devices controls eight stations, which are lines or zones. It is a row of sprinklers. It connects to wifi and to a webpage. It automates your irrigation," Schons said. "From a touch on my phone, I can turn off or on a line, change programs or take programs away. As you click it, you see everything connected to the system. There is a main brain which is located at the Council hears funding options for wastewater treatment plant upgrades

By Ian Dunn EDITOR

The city of Leavenworth must make required updates to their wastewater treatment plant by August of 2020. The Washington Department of Ecology is requiring the city to reduce the amount of phosphorus discharged into the Wenatchee River.

The city has been working on this for several years. City Administrator, Joel Walinski, spoke to the council on ways to fund this projected $13 million project at the June 13 study session.

"We've done the facility plan. It's been sent to WSDOE. They've looked at it and sent back comments. We're upgrading the plant to address some of their issues," Walinski said. "The good thing is, even if we take phosphorus out of the discussion, when we look at our planning calendars and growth over the next 20 years, we don't really need to increase the size of the plant to increase capacity."

The plant can deal with the growth rates in the city, Walinski said. This project is not about increasing capacity at the plant, it is about treating phosphorus. Walinski said tunding options through Rurai Development and WSDOE.

At this point, he said they are leaning toward the RD funding.

"If we just looked at the specifics of DOE funding, items are due Oct. 17. We don't find out we get funding until July of 2018, which stalls out our design phase which means we're not going to get to construction until 2020," Walinski said. "We needed to come up with a different funding mechanism. That's why we looked at RD funding. That allows us to get something on the books that keeps us inline with making our improvements by August

The RD funding is usually a mix of a low interest loan (1.3 percent) and a grant, if there is available funding. Typically, the loan period is 30-40 years. To get a grant, he said the city must agree to the 40 vear term.

One of the requirements of the RD loan is that the city must be financially distressed. Mayor Cheri Kelley Farivar asked if the city was financially distressed.

"We are going through that they have been looking at right now, in terms of what that means. We are linancially distressed because we don't have $13 million in the bank to pay for it. One of the things on the list...what is it going to take to go out and get a bank loan for $13 million loan and how high would the interest rates be?," Walinsk said. "That might bring us into the financially distressed.'

> Both Ecology and RD funding is split between a loan and hardship grant. Ecology goes with split of 56 percent loan, 46 percent grant. RD goes with a 55-45 split.

"That is based on what it does to your rates. You take the new rate and divide by the median household income. If it is greater than 2 percent, that makes you eligible," he said. "Those numbers get us there so we would qualify. That is another measure of financially distressed."

There is not a median household income calculated for the city, Farivar said, so the county median income of $43,000 would be used.

"Even with the grant and

School construction: Everything is proceeding on schedule

Last summer, we ran into some bad soil, bad odor, tree stumps, auto parts, rebar,

"They will start staging at the end of this week. The masons will start on one end of the building, the structural steel on the other," Henri said.

The slab has been poured for the new Alpine Lakes Elementary School. Next work involves the masonry and installment of the structural steel concrete. Look like stuff from the construction of the school in the '80s," Henri said. "This new one is more of a dump site. It did not smell bad. It just had debris. It had to be removed."

As you would expect, there is a contingency fund. This falls into the unforeseen site conditions category under the construction change order, which is in the budget.

Alpine Lakes Elementary The slabs at the Alpine Lakes Elementary School were poured last week. Right now, Henri said they are staging for the masonry for the new multipurpose room. The structural steel is ready.

"That is the sequence for the next two or three weeks. In another month, there will be a building standing there. That is going very well."

The project to put the water ditch which runs across the site into a pipe has been delayed. Henri said they did not expect to have approval from the Army Corps of Engineers until June, so they are expecting it any day. The process included getting a JARPA (Joint Aquatic Resources Permit Application) from the Corps in to order to install the pipe.

"When we put the application in, we had get a wetlands location. We put the historical study in. There was a designation in the study which concerned the Corps. They said we had to get further approval from the Colville Indian Tribes," Henri said. "We went back and forth. The Corps was helping us. We got the Colville to say it is not a culturally significant site. They signed a form stating it is not an issue. Once we got that, we had to submit it to the state. They had to approve and give us a number.

Henri said they've been told by the Corps that everything is ready. It is now just a matter of getting the number and issuing the JARPA permit. The school district will then put the water from the ditch into a pipe, then establish a wetland at the Poplar Street location. That should happen in the next week or so, he said.

The plan is to get the building into the dry before winter, just like the high school.

"You'll see the structural steel and masonry going in. We'll pour the slab on the second floor in a week or two weeks. They'll get that building in the dry, put the exterior siding on. Then, we'll work on the interior, plumbing, electrical," Henri said. "With the progress we're making, this should go really fast. We didn't run into any unforeseen site conditions. As soon as the Corps approves it, we'll get the pipe in the ditch next month. We'll put in the (stormwater) detention pond."

In terms of the new play fields, Henri said that is the responsibility of Fowler Construction, which is building the elementary school. Fowler is currently using that property to stage their structural steel and the pipe for the ditch.

"Once they get the major components and pipe gone, then we'll be in a position to do something. The soil is stockpiled from excess soil from the high school, elementary school and from Osborn," Henri said. "That is all stockpiled with the intention of using that to make the field bigger. That is why the piles are there. Once we get the survey done, then we can find what we'll do this summer, if anything.'

"We can't interfere with Fowler. Right now, we're trying to do this on a shoestring budget. We did not have a budget for this field," Henri said. "Our next effort will be to get as much done as we can. At some point, we need to figure out if we're going to do sprinklers and put turf in. If we don't get the full field done, is it worth it to spend the money on turf that might get torn up next spring?"

The tennis courts at Osborn Elementary School property are ready for paving, he said. Paving could occur this week.

Workers have already installed a new concrete floor surface in the old gym. Work continues to remove the duct work in the building. When the renovations are complete, the two gyms should look like new.

It is still an open question whether the new fields will be ready for next school year. The field includes a practice football field, several soccer fields and some areas for

After that, they'll put paint on it and do the fencing. It should be ready by mid-July.

Wastewater: Funding might consist of grant and low interest loan loans, this is the implication on what the new rate would be. This is if we only did the treatment and improvements only. This is if we did the treatment and the collection system. That is the whole package," Walinski said. "The best world scenario would be a $24 increase to the currently monthly fee for sewer utility. The one thing that isn't figured into this. There is a chunk of debt that is going away in 2019, 2020 on the existing treatment plant. It will drop the rate anywhere from $11 to $12."

Other things could also impact the cost, including what the council decides to do to improve the city's aged sewer collection system. Walinski said they may want to do priority one, part of priority two and none of priority three, in terms of the collection

The other piece is, the cost of the wastewater treatment plant upgrades is an estimated number.

"They put in a 20 percent contingency. They also put in an engineering contingency, which is based on a percentage, plus inflationary costs. Based on the percentages, there is a lot of movement on the price," he said. "What Varella (engineers) has done... and I've asked for it...give us the top number and we'll work our way down. I don't want people to be surprised with a $7 million project turns into a $9 million project. We could, over time, see it go from $13 million to $12 million."

Farivar wondered if they have factored in the city is converting some buildings across the street in order to accommodate the wastewater upgrade, including the city shop and Community Cupboard.

Walinski said that has been factored in.

"That would be another reason to go with RD, because you can use it for collection, but you can't use Ecology. It's an easier nexus to say, we need to replace the public works facility because of the expansion. They'll look at that, and say that is true. We'll give you funding," he said.

In terms of the funding pieces, the city spends its money first.

What that means is, you have your list of projects and we get to year two or three, a different council decides, we're not going to do the collection system, which is fine, you can do that," Walinski said. "But what you're giving back is the grant money. You can't give back the loan money, only the grant money. That's why we need the bridge loan because the money would not be available until construction begins."

City Councilwoman Margaret Neighbors said it doesn't make sense to her not to do deadline. the complete project, including the collection system.

"The condition of our current infrastructure and pipes. In 20 years, what would it be like?," Neighbors said.

Farivar asked what the penalty would be if the city did not meet the August, 2020

"There would probably be a daily fine that would be pushed on the city. It could be $400 per day," Walinski said.

Ian Dunn can be reached at 548-5286 or editor@leavenworthecho.com.

City officials talked about getting primary funding for the plant upgrades from Rural Development, because the timelines works better toward getting the work done by 2020. The city council must decide how much work is to be done on the collection system.

Automated park: Internet connected sprinklers actually check the weather

he said. The unit gets wifi via radio signal at the Festhalle.

"There is a transmitter which converts radio signal to wifi signal. It sends the data to run the stations," Schons said. "This is completely modular and you can expand it. You can run one zone individually, which is useful when looking for a leak"

Schons said the systems connects to the internet, monitors the weather forecast, and sets the sprinkler timers accordingly.

"On an 85 degree day, I need this much time for a lawn to stay green. It will go both ways, if it is really hot, it will go up to 110 percent. There is a cap. It will give you the extra kick to get you through the hot days," Schons said. "Here's where the water savings happen. The real water savings happen when it says it will rain. Instead of me getting in my truck and going to the 17 different clocks and 15 different zones on each of those clocks. That is a lot of reprogramming.

"I don't have to do that. It automatically will not water that day or the next day. That is 100 percent savings on those days. We're going to save a lot."

Cameras, rain sensors and flow meters could be added to the system, he said. Flow meters would be useful for detecting a leak. The system gauges what the baseline is a for a certain system, so if that deviates by 2 percent or more up or down, Schons said the system will notify you and it not only tells you, but it narrow it down from 16 zones to just one.

The only way it could be better if it told you which sprinkler head, Schons joked. Schons said 2014 was decent water year with some high usage. He checked the different in water usage between 2014 and 2016 and found some good savings on water.

"The city is one of the largest water users for the water utility and it is primarily for the irrigation water. As we've talked over the years, one of the efforts was to reduce the amount of water the city uses for irrigation, without sacrificing flowers or green grass," City Administrator Joel Walinski said.

The cemetery is the city's biggest grass area, where $2,300 per month is spent on water usage. Schons said he would like to knock 20 percent off that.

"From 2014 to 2016, that saved almost 168,000 gallons of water. That's only $250, but that is a lot of water, if you multiply that by five parks," said City Finance Director Chantell Steiner.

Special Medal available to American Veterans of the Second World War

Since 2014 the government of France has been awarding their highest medal, the Legion of Honor to veterans that fought to liberate France during the Second World War.

Many veterans worldwide have now received this great honor but many veterans may not even know it is available. The Legion of Honor is a very significant official medal that is the highest award granted by the Government of France. Living American Veterans who saw service in France or directly supported the French liberation campaigns, fighting in one or more of the epic battles including Normandy, Southern France, Northern France and the Ardennes or fought on French soil in other battles may be eligible.

There is no cost or fee involved. If you served in the United States Army, Navy or Air Force and you feel that you may qualify for this award and would like to apply, an application form must be completed and submitted along with certain supporting documents to the Consulate of France within your area. The form and detailed application information can be found on the website of the Consulate of France in San Francisco, http://sanfrancisco.consulfrance.org/spip. php?article2647

For assistance, please contact Mr. Guy Black, email korea19501953@yahoo.com and use the subject, American Veteran or send me a letter addressed to Legion of Honor C/O 515 – 95 Moody Street, Port Moody, BC V3H 0H2, Canada. Please do not send me your completed application. I am an unofficial volunteer and my goal is to make sure as many American veterans as possible receive this important tribute in recognition of their service and sacrifice for the cause of peace and freedom.

Unions don't want balance. They want to preserve their monopoly

Paul Parmley president of the NCW Labor Council, has some peculiar ideas about what constitutes a "balanced political process."

In his June 8 response ("Teachers' Unions Not Broken") to Jami Lund's May 17 guest opinion ("21st Century Unionism Starting in Central Washington"), Parmley accuses Lund and the organization he and I work for of wanting to "dismantl(e) a balance of political thought that has been the cornerstone of what makes our democratic institutions a beacon to the rest of the world."

In fact, just the opposite true. Absent right-to-work protections like those found in the majority of states, the playing field in Washington is nowhere close to being level because conservatives are forced to rely on voluntary campaign donations while liberal candidates can count on massive support from unions whose revenue is extorted from people compelled to give it.

On paper, teachers and other public-sector workers have the right to opt out of full union dues and pay only an agency fee that doesn't include what the union spends on politics. But in practice, the unions make this process so painful and complicated that few actually take advantage of it.

When workers are given a fair chance to opt out, they do so in droves. And the unions know it. That's why the prospect of their members exercising – or even knowing about – their constitutional rights is so terrifying to them and the leftist politicians who benefit from this unfair monopoly.

Notwithstanding his laughably stated concerns, the last thing Mr. Parmley and the union leaders for whom he shills have in mind is fairness and balance. What they desperately want is to preserve a status quo under which the campaigns of candidates he doesn't like can only be funded by people using their own money while his friends have almost unlimited access to someone else's.

Vote Yes For The Fire Levy!

We have all come to live in the greater Leavenworth area for many different reasons, but our passion for community, caring for our neighbor, and our placement at the wild edge of the Cascade Mountains are things that unite us all. By voting Yes on Aug. 1, together, we can support our local Fire Department No. 3's mission to be at the front lines protecting the people and lands we care so deeply about.

Our local Department, on a tight and limited budget, continues to accomplish amazing and heroic acts for our community. However, as the workload has rapidly grown, more resources are needed to keep pace. Increases in the areas population as well as the expanded development of personal and commercial assets requiring protection have placed our Department on an unsustainable path. A successful levy would allow FD3 to continue to meet the critical needs for the future in part by providing staffing needed to ensure full 24/7 support, implementing needed fire prevention programs, updating equipment, providing high quality safety training, and allowing FD3 to be on sound footing financially

Support Fire District 3 Levy

As residents of the area, my family and I actively encourage voters in the upcoming Aug. 1 election to vote Yes for the fire levy.

We all feel a special connection to the Leavenworth area.

This connection may be based on our appreciation of the natural wonders of the surrounding mountains and forests, the unique mix of downtown shops and restaurants, or the basic fact that this is where we live, the place we call home. However, the potentially devastating impact of fire is a constant risk. A risk that is all too familiar to all of us! A risk that requires the ever vigilant protection provided by the dedicated fire fighters of Chelan County Fire District 3 (CCFD#3).

My encouraging you to vote Yes is motivated, in part, by the fact that our family has a five-generation history in the area. My grandparents (Edgar and Hazel Connon) settled up the Chumstick in 1920, my mother and her sister and brother were born and raised there, my brother and I made frequent family visits to my grandparents for over 40 years until their passing, my wife and I brought our daughter and son to visit my parents when they built a home in 1983 on land settled by my grandparents, and, more recently, our grandchildren regularly visit my wife and I at a house built on the same land. Calling Leavenworth "home" is a legacy that we have actively pursued and want to see continued for future generations and a Yes vote would help preserve that legacy for ourselves and other families in the area.

A second reason I am encouraging you to vote Yes on the fire levy is based on my experience and involvement with a planning committee that conducted a thorough, 2-month long assessment of whether or not an increase in the financial support provided the fire district was warranted. The committee was composed of 15 concerned area residents and documented the operational and financial needs of CCFD#3 and the ever-increasing demands placed on the department. CCFD3# faces some exceptional operational challenges; they are responsible for protecting our community against both structural and wildland fires, as well as responding to a myriad of non-fire emergency calls. Moreover, the unprecedented growth of the Leavenworth area both in terms of population and the number of personal residences and commercial buildings being built and planned to be built means that the department is facing even greater future challenges. In reviewing these and other factors, the committee concluded that the current operating budget of CCFD3# is not adequate to meet the future needs of the Leavenworth area and unanimously recommended that the CCFD#3 fire commissioners pursue the

A Yes vote for the fire levy will ensure that the fire fighters of CCFD#3 will receive the support they need (in terms of advanced training, updated equipment, and an increase in the number of fire fighter personnel) to protect our expanding community well into the future.

For the safety of both our community and our fire fighters and for the sake of future generations of residents, I encourage you to vote Yes on Aug. 1!

Don't unincorporate

First negotiating a new contract be it for police services or for paving the streets is a difficult task and I appreciate the city council for working on this task. I reviewing the 6/21/2017 article entitled "Council digs into Sheriff contract", I found myself agreeing with some of the council's comments and disagreeing with other comments.

I honestly believe when negotiating this contract the council should ask for the "full meal deal". If you don't purchase the "Hummer" and go with the "KIA", what happens if you need some of the services that the KIA contract doesn't come with? For example, the city needs Search & Rescue, but that service is not in the contract. Now instead of the city paying a "flat rate" for this service, they are now going to be paying the "a-lacarte" price which includes the deputy(s) salaries to include overtime, the vehicles needed to respond to the call for service, the equipment needed for the call, etc. Another example is that Oktoberfest could go sideways anytime during the three weekends it's held. I'd want the "Hummer" package if that happens.

If the city dis-incorporated, I agree that the sheriff's office would still have a duty to respond to calls for service in the city; when a deputy was available, and we all know too well that our deputies are spread too thin now! Mayor Farivar asked a question according to the article which was "... we just say we expect you to protect the city residents just like the county residents" referring to what if the council protested and didn't sign the contract? What I don't think the council is understanding, you're not living in Tacoma, Seattle or Spokane, where the number of officer's per shift outnumbers that of the Chelan County Sheriff's Office. I would guess that in Seattle or Tacoma there are more officers assigned to a specific sector of the city per shift, that is equal to, or outnumbers what Chelan

County has on-duty in the entire county. Look at the deputy who was involved in the shooting near the Starbucks a year or so ago.

The shooting occurred, both the deputy and the suspect entered their vehicles, the pursuit started towards Wenatchee and from what I recall, the first back-up officer wasn't able to engage until the pursuit was leaving the city limit's or east of there.

Now replace the deputy with a citizen who resides within the city limits of Leavenworth. You as the citizen, would probably get assistance from a deputy within 10-15 minutes, in some instances less; but when every second counts, you'd like that deputy there a lot sooner; I know I would! My point; don't disinger prograte!

incorporate!
Finally, I want to address visibility of deputies in the city. Visibility is a big deterrent of crime. Our deputies use to have an office located upstairs in City Hall, but that went away for some reason and they are located out of town at the Fire Station.

Bring them back to City Hall, where they can be more visible to the town. I hope when they were moved to the Fire Station it wasn't a "We're not backing you" move from the City.

Everett Yuhas

Everett passed away at his home in Leavenworth, Washington with his loving wife at his side. His life was cut short by cancer, he was barely 62.

Everett was as a lineman for the Vineland, New Jersey, PUD. After 22 years he moved to Maui, Hawaii. There he met Pauline at Gold's Gym. He was the big, buff, nice guy. Three years later, they moved to Leavenworth and built their dream home, "The Pirate House."

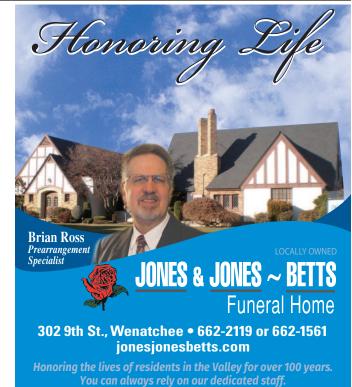

Everett was a perfectionist in all that he did. His pride and passion was his yard and working on it. After years of labor, he transformed a field of wheat to an Eden worthy of Better Homes and Gardens. He could be seen every morning perfecting perfection on his meticulous landscaping.

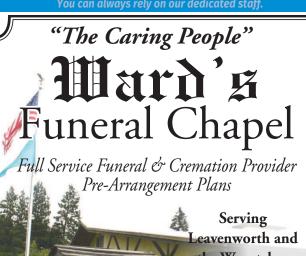

Everett's other passion was his wife Pauline. Rarely were they seen apart. They were totally dedicated to each other and profoundly in love.

Bigger than life, Everett was a man found in fiction. His personality was infectious. Fun, funny, engaging, caring and thoughtful. He was a rare gem, one of the good ones. He will be forever missed and remembered.

Everett is survived by his wife, Pauline, adored sister, Cindy Johnson, brother in law and "blood" brother, Richard Herzog, Pauline's twin, Phyllis Radke, sister in law, Julie Newman, brother in law, Walter Goldstein and father in law, Allen Gold-

Cooking With Teri

AL Fresco Dining

Summer has finally arrived and most of us find ourselves spending more times outside enjoying the weather. Barbecuing and eating outside are one of my favorite things to do. I also like experimenting with different flavor combinations, food pairings and finding new things that can be grilled. Having a wide selection of fruits and veggies makes cooking a lot of fun. Right now we have local greens, herbs and cherries to add to our menu and they take little prep before serving. It is also a good time to try more white wines, lighter beers and fruity cocktails. Sangria and lemon are always easy to make and can really make a meal more festive. So relax and make some simple snacks, have a cold drink and just chill, it's Summer make it fun and easy. My recipe this week is quick and tasty, great for a little get-together or just for a great snack. Enjoy!
