KATIE LINDERT STAFF WRITER

The Chelan City Council convened on August 22, to tackle a multifaceted agenda designed to shape the future of the community. At the core of the session was an administrative report delivered by Tom Beckwith of Beckwith Consulting Group, in collaboration with representatives from the Historic Downtown Chelan Association (HDCA). The presentation centered around the ambitious initiative titled "Imagine Downtown Chelan." The strategy aims to outline a city plan for progress while preserving its heritage and identity.

Preserving Identity,

Envisioning Progress The core ethos of Imagine Downtown Chelan was summarized in the Open House Handout, distributed during the meeting. The design will maintain view corridors to the lake, help preserve community's identity, heritage, and sense of place while also making the downtown more attractive, user-friendly, and accessible for years to come. The initiative represents a commitment to making the city more attractive, userfriendly, and accessible for generations to come, includ-

CHELAN - In an inspiring show of unity and community pride, residents of the Chelan area came together with Chelan Fire & Rescue and the Chelan County Sheriff's department to support a cause close to their hearts - the Lake Chelan Valley Special Olympics. The event, held on August 4, in the Safeway parking lot from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., was nothing short of a grand celebration of compassion, camaraderie, and commitment. The day was marked by exhilarating water fights, where officials perched 10 feet high on a scissor lift engaged in spirited battles with enthusiastic attendees. As the fundraising effort gained momentum, these officials were gradually lowered from their elevated positions, symbolizing the collective determination to "Get Them Back on The Ground." More than just a fundraiser. the event also provided a platform for potential Special Olympics participants to enroll, making it a significant milestone in the journey of bringing the Special Olympics to the Chelan area. With 500 gallons of water splashed during the four-hour celebration and approximately 100 participants taking part, the event radiated an atmosphere of joy and community engagement. The overwhelming support of several hundred people, both in terms of participation and donations, added to the palpable sense of togetherness. The heartwarming result was an astonishing $2,344.49 raised, a testament to the Little Essentials Food Pantries: Available 24/7 to those in need

KATIE LINDERT STAFF WRITER

CHELAN - Chelan Valley Hope and the Lake Chelan United Methodist Church offer an opportunity for all those in need to stop by their free pantries to pick up essential food and hygiene products. While each entity's pantry is slightly different, their intent and diligence to keep these essential pantries stocked and available to the public is the same.

With many in the community in need of short-term assistance, the pantries provide a bridge for those waiting for their next paycheck or for someone passing through who may need a meal, or a toothbrush. Each operates on a "Take what you need, give what you can" principle, and exist largely through direct community donations of both shelf-stable food and personal hygiene products.

the vision. Actions

The authorization of City Staff to proceed with negotiations with the Chelan County Sheriff's Office for a Law Enforcement Services Agreement Amendment for a Code Enforcement Compliance Officer was set forth and unanimously passed. This paves the way for enhanced enforcement and a safer, more orderly Chelan.

The council also authorized Mayor Goedde to finalize and execute the proposed Memorandum of Understanding between the City of Chelan and Chelan Fruit. This agreement promises to foster collaboration and mutually beneficial growth for the city.

To further facilitate the city's progress, the council passed a motion allowing for a twelve-month bond extension for the eastbound turn lane improvements at SR150 and Crystal View Drive. This extension ensures that vital infrastructure projects remain on track.

The journey toward Chelan's revitalized future is an inclusive one. The council invites all residents to participate in shaping this vision at the next Chelan City Council meeting, a City Council Workshop Meeting scheduled for Tuesday, September 5, at 4 p.m. in Council Chambers, located at 135 E. Johnson Avenue, Chelan.

CHELAN/DOUGLAS COUN-TIES - RiverCom 911 along with partner law, fire and EMS agencies in Chelan and Douglas Counties are pleased to announce Text-to-911 is now available to Chelan and Douglas residents and visitors as of August 28, 2023.

Cell phone users will be able to send a short message via text message to 911 for emergency help when unable to make a 911 voice call. Text-to-911 is intended primarily for use in four emergency scenarios:

YOU CAN'

1) Individuals who are hearing impaired who need emergency assistance.

2) Individuals unable to make a voice call due to a medical emergency that renders the person incapable of speech.

3) Individuals in situations where speaking would put them in further danger such as reporting an in-progress home invasion, robbery, or domestic violence incident.

4) Individuals in areas with poor cell coverage where a voice call may not connect but a text message can be sent.

'Text-to-911 is another layer of protection for residents and visitors in Chelan and Douglas Counties," said Doug Jones, Executive Director of RiverCom. "Though you should always call 911 when you can, knowing you can text in certain situations and get immediate assistance is our valued reassuring and potentially lifesaving."

Texting 911 can be done by typing "911" in the field for a phone number. No other numbers need to be used. Texting should be done through your wireless phones' text messaging service and not from a third-party texting application.

Callers texting to 911 should follow these guidelines:

1) Provide your exact address or location.

2) Explain the type of emergency or help that is being requested.

3) Be prepared to answer any questions that the 911 telecommunicator texts back.

4) Use plain language; do not use abbreviations, symbols, emoticons or photos.

5) Messages should be as brief and concise as possible.

Chelan PUD commissioners update crypto, data center rates

SUBMITTED BY RACHEL HANSEN, CHELAN COUNTY PUD

WENATCHEE - Chelan PUD commissioners unanimously approved rate changes for crypto miners and data center customers Monday, August 21. Effective February 2024, rate 36 customers will pay a costof-production energy charge until collectively, they reach 10 megawatts (MW). Cryptocurrency and data centers currently use about 9 megawatts with another half megawatt anticipated later this year. When their collective energy needs exceed 10 MW, the rate will reflect a market energy charge.

intended to address the risks of these uses, and to protect residential rates and other rate classes from the associated impacts. The changes include:

- A size limit of 3 MW per service point for rate 35 and 36 customers.

- Data centers are included in rate 36

- Limits on where new services can be located to preserve the capacity and operability of substations and distribution equipment.

- Interruptability. For example, if there's an outage or some other issue with the electrical grid, Chelan PUD would prioritize continued service to other customer classes first.

- Security deposit up to 3

"These proposed changes represent a fair shake," said Commissioner Steve McKenna. "We're offering a rate capital charge.

structure that doesn't shut out small operations, with safeguards to prevent this type of customer from impacting everyone else served by Chelan PUD."

Rates 35 and 36 were adopted in 2016 and 2018.

Low water year offset by strong energy prices

In other news, commissioners heard updates on Chelan PUD's budget and energy trading that show Chelan PUD's financials are holding steady, even during a low-water year. According to the Northwest River Forecast Center, the January through July water supply forecast for the Columbia River at Grand Coulee ended up at 76% of normal. Low-water conditions mean hydropower generation at Rock Island and Rocky Reach dams are down, resulting in wholesale revenues about $36.8 million less than budgeted.

However, revenues from long-term slice contracts are up thanks to higher wholesale market pricing. Those factors combined, energy-related revenue is projected to be $4 million better than budget. Overall, Chelan PUD's bottom line is forecasted to be $119 million for 2023, about $16 million better than budget.

OBITUARIES

Craig Michael Monette

Chelan, WA February 10, 1960 -August 17, 2023

Craig Monette, 63, who was a beloved husband, father, grandfather, brother, uncle, friend, and mentor to so many, passed away unexpectedly of a heart attack at his home.

Craig loved life and lived every day to the fullest. He was an avid outdoorsman and loved fishing, hunting, hiking, shed hunting, riding dirt bikes, 4-wheelers, stand-up jet skis and snowmobiles. He took pride in his ability to fix anything with an engine and built several beautiful classic mustangs that you have probably admired driving around town. He never met someone that he couldn't share a story with, find something in common with, or find love for. He would give the shirt off of his back to help anyone in need. He was very involved with the AA chapter of Chelan and was a few days shy of celebrating his 35th year of sobriety, something that he was truly proud of. He had a passion of sharing his sobriety journey and was a beloved sponsor to so many that were able to get their own lives back. He had so much pride and value in his work ethic and was a legend within the asphalt community for his expertise and skill. We all drive on his roads every day! He loved his wife, Deborah, and they shared an amazing life together, full of lots of adventures in their almost 37 years. Above all of this, he was an amazing father that raised three daughters to be independent, strong women. Craig was a man filled with compassion, understanding, generosity, and a wicked sense of humor.

He is survived by his wife, Deborah Monette; daughters: Arianna Galdarisi (Daniel), Jessica Maddox (Dean), and Shaleesha Escalera; brothers: Verne (Tami) and Sam; sister, Debra; and his six grandchildren: Alex, Aniyah Rose, and Ben Galdarisi; and Ava, Blake, and Eli Escalera. He was preceded in death by his mother, Donna; father, Wally; and brother, Leigh.

Words cannot express how much Craig will be missed, not only by his family, but by the countless friends and lives he touched. He left little pieces of himself in everything he did, so there are many ways that he will be remembered and carried on in each of us. A riverside Celebration of Life will be held on September 9, 2023, in Entiat, Washington. If you would like to attend, please contact the family to RSVP at 907-268-0575 or 580-483-4273.

In lieu of flowers, please make a donation to your local AA chapter or Toys for Tots at your local police department.

customer service. We strive continually to offer excellent communication between our staff, suppliers and our valued customers. We are on a five-year plan to not only offer HVAC (Heating Venting Air Conditioning) but a onestop shop, offering electrical, plumbing and gas," said owner, Bart Pollard. Bart Pollard was born in the Ellensburg area and lived in Spokane and Bellevue and Kirkland before graduating from Lake Washington High School in 2002. Like many other graduating seniors, Bart did not have a plan for his future. He made the decision to attend Bellevue College, taking general courses. "Even after my college years, I could not zero in on a profession that excited me. The best thing that happened during my college years, I met Jill, my wife." Bart said. In 2006, Bart was encouraged to explore a program through the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW), the Puget Sound JATC program that provides opportunities to "earn while you learn," through paid on-the-job training, along with classroom instruction. This was a five-year commitment for Bart and for the first time he felt he had found his calling. Bart began the apprenticeship program in 2007 and completed the program in 2012. During those five years Bart attended classroom instruction three months followed by three months on the job training, then repeating the process. "I totally believe the trades are a perfect fit for some students. It opened the door to my life's work and I'm grateful," Bart said.

With nothing to tie them down, Bart, Jill and the kids packed up and moved to Kauai, Hawaii, a dream they both shared. There was plenty of electrical work available and Bart worked for several companies, increasing his knowledge of all things electrical. In 2019 they made the decision to move back stateside but didn't want to live on the westside of the mountains. Chelan was their number one pick.

The Pollard's opened Goldie's, a smoothie, Açaí bowl and health food café in Chelan, November 2020. Goldie's motto is "At Goldie's we seek to nourish your mind, body, and spirit through the food we make, the experiences we create, and the wellness inspiration we share". Jill and her business partner, Elle Manthey own Moonpenny, a boutique next door to Goldie's. It opened in July 2020.

The idea of opening a heating and cooling business started to take form early 2021. "Chelan Valley Heating and Cooling was born out of desire to provide better customer service, create well trained and wellpaid trade jobs, and develop a stronger business model. We are still a new business and still refining our processes. I believe we are building a business our employees and the community can truly be proud of and is reflected in our high standards," Bart stated.

On a personal note, from Norm Manly, our heat pump quit working December 2022. We were not having much luck with repairs until I met with Sage, one of CVHC's technicians. He came out the same day and ordered parts and a week later were back in operation and at a very fair price, customer service at its best.

REDUCE REUSE RECYCLE

A few years ago, I purchased a small box of treeripened peaches directly from a farmer. They were perfectly ripe, ready to eat fresh, and I wanted to make peach cobbler. My paternal grandmother often made fruit cobbler by putting tablespoonfuls of drop biscuit dough onto a fresh fruit filling. Her cobblers were a deep-dish fruit pie, with fluffy soft biscuits on top instead of pie crust on top and bottom. Although I looked and looked through her recipes, I couldn't find one for "cobbler.'

I wanted peach cobbler instead of peach pie, so I kept looking. I searched on the Internet but didn't find anything close enough to try. Then I consulted my favorite cookbooks. I didn't locate a recipe for "fruit cobbler" until my Discover Dayton cookbook.

My husband, Charlie, was born and grew up on a farm outside Dayton, Ohio. We met in 1982 while he was working at Sunrise on Mount Rainier. In 1985 we moved to Ohio, living on one of the family farms while working in downtown Dayton.

Before we returned to Washington State in 1990, I purchased a Discover Dayton cookbook, the main fundraising project of the Junior League of Dayton at that time. My copy is from its fourth printing in 1984.

With 354 pages of recipes featuring many local favorites, the Discover Dayton cookbook is over an inch thick, consisting of 5 main sections, distinguished by alternating white and brightcolored pages.

The first section, Appetizers, is printed on lime green paper. Savory Side Dishes follows on crisp white pages. Elegant Entrees stand out on mustard yellow paper, while dessert recipes grace the white sheets of the next grouping, Sweet Endings. A final section shares recipes contributed by Dayton area restaurants, printed on cranberry red paper.

Between Company Cheesecake and Baked Cheddar Apples, I found Five Generation Peach Cobbler on page 244, contributed by Mrs. George L. Word (Paige Early). It had a pie-like top crust for the cobbler, which I suspected would be more work than a drop biscuit version. I was right; it was.

Pulling the cobbler out of the oven, I asked myself, "Will it be worth it?"

After my first bite, I was hooked. I have seen people return for seconds, even third helpings at potlucks. Best peach cobbler EVER!

Five Generation Peach Cobbler

5 cups fresh peaches, peeled, pitted and sliced

3 tablespoons flour

1-1/4 cup sugar 1 teaspoon cinnamon

4-6 tablespoons butter

Slice peaches into a heavy, greased baking dish measuring approximately 9 inches around and 3 inches deep. Mix together flour, sugar, and cinnamon, and sprinkle over peaches. Dot with butter. CRUST

- 1 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder

2 tablespoons sugar

1/3 cup shortening (I use butter) 1/3 cup milk

Sift together dry ingredients. Cut in shortening until the mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Pour milk in all at once, and stir with a fork. Roll dough out on a floured board until it is the size of the baking dish – it will be ¼ to ½ inch thick. Place crust on top of peaches. Bake in preheated 425-degree oven for about 30 minutes.

How to help keep your child safe and healthy this school year

STATEPOINT - As students return to classrooms, doctors say that it's important to ensure that children are up to date with routine childhood vaccinations.

"The evidence around vaccinations is abundantly clear; they're safe, effective and will help protect you, your loved ones, and your community from preventable diseases. If you have questions about vaccines, their safety, or effectiveness, please speak to your physician. We are here for you, eager to answer your questions, and ensure your family is protected," says Jesse M. Ehrenfeld, M.D., M.P.H., president of the American Medical Association (AMA).

In an effort to promote a safer. healthier school year for everyone, the AMA is sharing these vaccine facts and insights:

 Vaccines are safe, effective and save lives. Routine childhood immunization is highly effective at preventing disease over a lifetime, reducing the incidence of all targeted diseases, including measles, mumps, rubella, polio, and chickenpox. For the U.S. population in 2019, vaccines prevented more than 24 million cases of disease. · The benefits of vaccines can be quantified. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), vaccination of children born between 1994 and 2021 will prevent 472 million illnesses, almost 30 million hospitalizations and more than 1 million deaths, saving nearly $2.2 trillion in total societal costs, including $479 billion in direct costs. • Vaccination rates have fallen. Even before the rise in vaccine misinformation and disinformation associated with the COVID-19 pandemic, vaccine hesitancy was increasing, elevating the risk of community outbreaks, which put underand unvaccinated children at risk for serious illnesses, like measles. According to a mid-January 2023 report from the CDC, vaccination coverage decreased in most states for all vaccines among kindergarteners for the 2021-22 school year when compared with the previous school year, which was already below prepandemic levels. • Speak to your child's physician. With increased misinformation around vaccinations, it is critical that you seek out reliable, evidence-based sources for information. These sources may begin with websites like getvaccineanswers.org, but they should also include your child's physician. Physicians can also answer questions on the new monoclonal antibody therapy, nirsevimab, available for infants and children under the age of 19 months, for the prevention of RSV disease.

American Medical Association President Jesse M. Ehrenfeld, M.D., and his son Ethan.

• Don't let cost be a barrier. Programs like Vaccines for Children (VFC) are federally or local health department.

STATEPOINT

"Make an annual well-child visit and immunizations a part of your household's backto-school routine," says Dr. Ehrenfeld. "Doing so will protect you and your family from a number of preventable illnesses. It's something I do for my own children, and I urge you to do so, too."

Join Senator Hawkins for his 7th Annual Listening Tour Sept. 5-8

BY SENATOR BRAD HAWKINS

OLYMPIA - As your state senator, it is very helpful for me to hear directly from you, but I know it can be difficult to come to Olympia during the legislative session. That is why I created an annual 12th District "listening tour" after my first election to the Senate seven years ago. These listening tours have really helped me hear directly from constituents on issues important to your communities, and the discussions each fall prepare me for the legislative session.

7th annual listening tour: September 5-8

This year's 12th District listening tour will be split between the traditional areas of the 12th District and the new areas of the district resulting from last year's state redistricting. The first portion of the tour will take place on Tuesday, September 5 for Chelan County and

Senator Brad Hawkins

East Wenatchee residents. The remaining tour will take place September 6-8 in the King and Snohomish counties portion of the new 12th District. Past listening tours have taken me throughout the 12th District and helped connect me with issues important to all communities of the district, such as Leavenworth, Cashmere, Quincy, Wenatchee, East Wenatchee, Pateros, Twisp, Chelan, Grand Coulee, Bridgeport, Waterville, Rock Island, Mansfield, and Mazama. Many of these areas are no longer within the 12th District boundaries, which is why this year's stops include visits for Wenatchee and the recently added communities of the district. It is always helpful to hear directly from you, the people I serve, on issues important to your community.

September 6-8 "listening tour" in new areas

With last year's redistricting changes, the 12th District has added many communities. The new 12th District boundaries include much of East Wenatchee, all of Chelan County, and portions of Snohomish County (Index to Monroe) and King County (North Bend to Duvall). Approximately half of the population of the new areas include the cities of North Bend, Carnation, Sultan, and Monroe with the other half of the new area located in unincorporated King and Snohomish counties. A new feature of the new 12th District is the Cascade Mountains, including Snoqualmie Pass and Stevens Pass. I have worked hard throughout the year to outreach to all communities in the district and will continue my efforts by dedicating a good portion of this year's listening tour to westside communities.

Meet with me in-person or by video conference

While I am looking forward to in-person meetings for this year's listening tour, group meetings can still take place by Zoom or as traditional conference calls. My office will schedule the meetings approximately 20 minutes apart to accommodate as many groups as possible. If you are interested in an appointment, either in-person or via Zoom, please contact me at senatorbradhawkins. org or 360-988-3674. Listening tour ideas successful in the Legislature

Hosting a listening tour each year allows me to hear directly from you in preparation for the upcoming session. Ideas shared during past listening tours have even turned into successful legislative action. As examples, a suggestion by Leavenworth officials to dispose of brush and yard clippings resulted in a bill that became law in 2018. A funding request related to the Saddle Rock trail in Wenatchee became reality when it was included in the state capital budget two years ago, and a road paving project to a popular fishing location in Okanogan County was recently funded. A biochar demonstration project in the Methow Valley to reduce wildfire risk was also funded, as well as significant future improvements to the city of Wenatchee's Community Center utilized by Pinnacles Prep School. Funding for the new Wenatchee Vallev YMCA was also recently secured in the capital budget. All were ideas first discussed with constituents during past listening tours. Besides legislative ideas, I also collect helpful comments that prepare me to make better decisions to represent you in Olympia.

Whether you are able to participate in the upcoming listening tour or not, please know that my position exists to serve you. Please feel free to reach out to me and my office anytime. For immediate assistance, call our Legislative Hotline at 1-800-562-6000. Please like and follow me on Facebook @ SenatorBradHawkins for my latest updates.

I appreciate hearing your thoughts and ideas about state government and thank you again for the opportunity to serve as your state senator.

News from Residents Coalition of Chelan County

SUBMITTED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS, RESIDENTS COALI-TION OF CHELAN COUNTY (RC3)

We continue to be active in monitoring development activity especially in the Leavenworth (98826) and Manson/Chelan areas. We also are keeping an eye on short term rental related activity.

Leavenworth Area News

In Leavenworth, the amount of development going in, both commercial and residential, continues at an almost unbelievable pace. If you have never checked the City's permit portal, it is worth a look. Each orange dot represents some type of land use activity, from a new housing development to a hotel to a new sign to a grading permit. Leavenworth has recently approved two large residential projects: Leavenworth Meadows and Alpenglow. Leavenworth Meadows, located between Titus Road and Chumstick Highway, that will include 172 residential units at full buildout. RC3 provided detailed comment letters on the SEPA (State Environmental Policy Act) environmental documents for the Alpenglow project. We found the environmental analyses and proposed mitigation lacking and addressed our concerns in formal comment letters to the City. Despite our objections, the project has been approved with essentially no mitigation for its impacts on traffic and infrastructure. Similarly, the traffic mitigation for the Leavenworth Meadows project was also lacking.

There have been approximately 300 residential units (single family homes and apartments) approved in the city over the past 4 years and with the two above mentioned projects and various infill housing, over 500 units will be built in the next 5 years. This totals about 800 units. According to the 2020 census, Leavenworth had 1,210 housing units. While this amount of growth may be shocking, the real story is that very few of these units will be affordable to families all the talk about affordable housing, we are not building it here in Leavenworth.

It is also worth mentioning that there is a new hotel proposal working its way through the permit process. A 129 room La Quinta Hotel is proposed to be built behind the Safeway store.

Manson/Chelan Area News

In the Manson/Chelan area, there has been a significant amount of controversy over the City of Chelan's proposal to use tax increment financing or "TIF" to raise $18 million in order to build water infrastructure in east Chelan with the goal of enticing new development. The way a TIF works is that the City would issue bonds to build the improvements to the water system, and as the new private development occurs, property values will rise and Chelan will use the property tax generated by that development to pay back the bonds.

The development that the City aims to attract with the construction of this new infrastructure is overwhelmingly new housing. In fact, a the HiLand Farms subdivision in North Chelan.

The Chelan City Council voted on May 24, 2023 to form the "Tax Increment Area" which the TIF would serve, but deferred a final decision on whether to utilize TIF until December 1, 2023. On that date, the Council will revisit the May vote and either reaffirm it or rescind it, depending on their final decision on TIF. Only Councilmember Chris Baker voted "no" on creating the TIA, reading from a prepared statement explaining the reasons for his vote. Chief among those were (1) concerns about the enormous risk inherent in using TIF as a financing mechanism and (2) the overwhelming community outcry in opposition to TIF, including the voices of numerous prominent leaders in the community.

Chelan Falls News

In other news from the Lake Chelan area, Wenatchee Petroleum of Wenatchee, WA has received approval to install two 30,000-gallon propane storage tanks at 20 Chestnut Street, Chelan Falls. The property in quesof the Chelan and Columbia Rivers and is approximately 500 feet from an established residential neighborhood. The sliver of property is also sandwiched between two beloved Chelan PUD parks, Powerhouse and Chelan Falls. While propane is nontoxic, according to Dr. Brian Patterson, PhD, the risk to the adjacent properties and those who live in or frequent them is from the potential of an explosion.

We commented on this project raising concerns about public safety. And, we have pointed out to the Chelan County Community Development Department that the application falsely states that the adjacent PUD property is "undeveloped." Property developed as a park (as is the case here) is not undeveloped. Despite our concerns, the project was approved.

Short-term Rental News

Things have not been quiet on the short-term rental front. A somewhat obscure part of the county zoning code has come to light as a possible loophole which could allow large STRs in called Small Scale Recreation and Tourism allows tourist oriented uses such as retreat centers, lodges and cabin rentals. The zoning code is not clear in making a distinction between lodges and short-term rentals. Both allow transient occupancy for periods of less than 30 days. While the Small Scale Recreation and Tourism is intended for uses that have minimal impacts on the surrounding area, there is currently not enough clarity in the code to ensure that large short-term rentals don't try to exploit this confusion in the code to try and put socalled "lodges" in residential neighborhoods.

This matter is under discussion before the Chelan County Planning Commission now. We have testified and continue to monitor their discussions. Stay tuned....

The Washington Outdoors Report

Dove Hunting

By John Kruse

Washington's mourning dove hunting season opens up September 1 and goes until October 30 with a daily bag limit of 15 birds and possession limit of 45 birds. This is a popular season for a niche group of hunters. In 2021, 3,626 hunters reported harvesting 42,458 birds, for an average of nearly 12 doves harvested per hunter. There were likely many more hunters in the field than this since typically only 50% of hunters report their harvest and reporting your dove harvest is not required anymore. Most dove are harvested in Central Washington or Southeastern Washington, where abundant grain fields and nearby water sources attract these birds. The bulk of the dove will stay in our area until the first day the temperature drops to freezing, at which point many of the birds will migrate south to warmer climates. Like many human snowbirds, many of the mourning dove end up in Arizona or Southern California for the winter.

LOCAL PROSPECTS: Grant and Adams CountyPaula Clements with WDFW says they don't do surveys but they do dove banding every year between July and the end of August. If you harvest a banded bird, Clements requests you call the number on the band and report where you harvested it. This gives biologists an idea of what hunter harvest looks like for birds. Grant County is consistently one of the best locations to harvest dove. Last vear a little more than 9.500 dove were shot there and in Adams County some 1800 birds were taken by hunters. Clements expects a harvest similar to last year.

Clements says scouting is key when it comes to having success on opening day. Scoring private property access where there are grain fields is also helpful. You can find both public lands and private land access through WDFW partnerships on the WDFW hunt planner web map available at www.wdfw.wa.gov.

Klickitat County-Speaking with Stephanie Bergh, this area's district biologist for WDFW, she said they don't do any surveys or banding of doves in Klickitat County so she doesn't have a good read on how things are going to be this year. One challenge hunters face is the fact that there is little public land suitable for dove hunting in the county. In fact, in 2021 no dove were harvested in Klickitat County though in 2020, 600 birds were harvested by eight people.

Biologists were unavailable for comment in the Wenatchee and Omak District offices prior to this column's publication deadline.

Dove hunting tips:

Troy Rodakowski is a wellknown Pacific Northwest outdoors writer and avid dove hunter who has some good advice for those venturing out for dove. To start with, dress for success and that means wearing camouflage. Hunter orange clothing is not required for dove hunting and Rodakowski points out dove are very wary and have excellent eyesight. Rodakowski suggests looking for dove in areas near food and water. Grain fields, water sources and recently burned areas where lots of seeds are present are all places that attract these birds. In terms of feed look for cut wheat, oat, barley or millet fields. Trees next to these fields are often places where doves will roost after feeding.

Dove are the most active in the morning and in the evening so hunt for them early and late in the day. Rodakowski also recommends using multiple dove decoys, and not just one or two, to attract curious birds to fence lines or trees where you are hunting.

When it comes to preparing those birds to eat after the hunt, Rodakowski loves to cook up dove poppers! He breasts out the birds and rolls the breasts in brown sugar and chili powder. He then wraps each breast in maple bacon and either grills them up or bakes them until the bacon and dove meat are cooked. Rodakowski will sometimes add a little jalapeño pepper to spice them up or a few drops of honey to sweeten the poppers.

Dove hunting is a low-key and sociable pursuit that helps get you ready for other wing-shooting opportunities that become available this fall. If you haven't done so before, give it a try this season.
