SUBMITTED BY COLUMBIA RIVER DRUG TASK FORCE

WENATCHEE - In 2022, the Columbia River Drug Task Force began receiving and collecting information from School Resource Officers and other sources of adult drug dealers providing a variety of drugs to juvenile students in the Wenatchee and Leavenworth areas. The drugs that were being given and sold included marijuana, marijuana infused items, nicotine, alcohol, molly, and fentanyl. There was also an overdose possibly associated with these adult dealers.

With all of this information, the CRDTF made it a priority to identify, disrupt, and arrest these dealers. During the investigation, one of the suspected dealers was identified as a Blake Wallace, a 22-year-old Wenatchee resident who has gang affiliations and is known by CRDTF.

Detectives discovered Wallace was using social media to advertise he was Wenatchee's "Plug" for puff bars, nicotine/marijuana infused cartridges, and marijuana. Detectives continued to follow up on leads and eventually were able to develop probable cause to arrest Wallace after observing him buying THC infused products and delivering them to juveniles for a profit.

Detectives arrested Wallace without incident on April 12. The CRDTF would like families in the Wenatchee Valley to take notice as there are individuals who are targeting our youth for drug sales over social media. The investigation is still on going.

Home to be moved to make way for more affordable housing

SUBMITTED BY CHELAN VALLEY HOUSING TRUST

CHELAN - What began with a bittersweet ending, the demolition of an old house to make way for a new affordable housing development, has turned into a happy ending.

The story began with Charlie and Debbie Guildner, who purchased the property on the corner of Nixon and Emerson for the purpose of enabling CVHT to build six townhomes. The new development includes a mix of two- and three-bedroom attached townhouses, all of which are priced affordably for homeownership to local wage-earners.

Originally, the existing house was to be donated to the fire department for a controlled burn. Thanks to Coy Habich, a local builder and businessman, who acted quickly to save the old Anderson house. He will be moving it to East Wapato Ave (behind the Apple Cup Cafe). Habich plans on renovating the home into multi-family housing.

One of the units will be dedicated as a low-cost rental.

Chelan Valley Housing Trust is proud to have been able to help preserve a home while at the same time helping to meet the community's affordable housing needs. The organization is committed to continuing to work with developers and other community partners to create additional affordable housing options in the years to come.

The house is scheduled to be moved sometime early morning on Wednesday, April 26. To learn how apply for a home, donate, or become involved visit chelanvalleyhousing.org.

Outdoor power equipment: Know your machine, review safety procedures, follow manufacturer’s guidance

ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA - Spring is here and as we get out our lawn mowers and other outdoor power equipment out from storage to work in our yards, businesses, and other green spaces, it’s important to keep safety in mind. “Think safety first,” says Kris Kiser, President and CEO of the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute (OPEI), an international trade association representing outdoor power equipment, small engine, utility vehicle, golf car and personal transport vehicle manufacturers and suppliers. “I can’t stress enough to review manufacturer’s safety guidance before starting up any equipment—especially your lawn mower.

Review your owner’s manual and do maintenance on your equipment,” said Kiser. OPEI offers these tips for readying and using your outdoor power equipment:

- Know not all lawn mowers are the same. Whether your mower is a garden tractor, zero turn mower or other, it has a unique design, requirements, weight classification, and other differences that impact how to use it safely. The newest machines have the latest safety standards.
- Know your specific machine. Many mowers may look similar, but the technology is ever evolving with evolving safety systems. They vary in design, power supply, performance, operating parameters, and more. Your manufacturer-supplied owner’s manual will guide you in these differences. Read your owner’s manual.
- When using mowers on slopes follow the manufacturer’s guidance to the letter.
- Do not disable or alter manufacturer-installed safety equipment.

- Walk your yard before mowing. Slopes, wet grass, and weather may impact equipment performance, as well as safe handling procedures. Pick up sticks and limbs that may have fallen to the ground over the winter and any loose objects that could be hit by a mower. Inspect trees for damaged limbs that may get in your way when mowing.
- Look over equipment before use. Check the air filter, oil level and gasoline tank. Watch for loose belts and missing or damaged parts. Replace any parts needed or take your equipment to a qualified service representative.
- Protect your power. Use only E10 or less fuel in gasoline-powered outdoor power equipment if it is not designed for higher ethanol blends. Add a fuel stabilizer if you don’t use up all the fuel in the tank right away. Burn off any fuel before storing the mower for more than 30 days. For battery-powered equipment, only use battery packs specified by the manufacturer. Follow all charging instructions as outlined in the owner’s manual. Be sure to store fuel and batteries safely. Keep batteries away from other metal objects, store them in a climate-controlled area, and never stack batteries.

- Keep children and pets away from machines during operation.
- Keep your mower clean. It will run more efficiently and last longer. Always remove dirt, oil, or grass before using and storing. Store equipment in a dry place, avoiding damp or wet environments. For information on safe fueling, go to www.LookBeforeYouPump.com. For more safety information visit www.opei.org

Now is the time to prep your lawn, garden for warm weather

STATEPOINT - It may feel like warm weather is still a ways off, but you should already be getting your lawn and garden spring-ready, according to experts. “One thing I don’t think people realize is that to get your grass, shrubs and other plants looking good in the spring...all that preparation starts right now,” says Major League Fishing bass pro, Brian Latimer, or “Blat” as he is known by fans. To help homeowners prep for spring, Latimer has partnered with lawn care equipment manufacturer, Exmark, to offer his four, go-to tips:

1. Pull Those Weeds. According to Latimer, the most important step in prepping your lawn and garden for spring is weeding. “I have a zero-tolerance policy when it comes to weeds,” he says. “Watch those sneaky weeds growing in your shrubs and ground covers, because those are going to be the first ones that show their heads in the spring.”

While weeding isn’t the most fun you can have in your yard, it’s worth the effort. Latimer also recommends putting a pre-emergent out now while cool-season weeds germinate. This is especially important if you have warm-season grass. While you can use pre-emergent on your planting beds as well, he recommends hand-pulling them if you can.

2. Tidy up with Selective Pruning. Pruning will make your shrubs look nice and tidy; however, Latimer recommends being careful in your efforts, avoiding plants that are budding. Pruning buds will keep your flowers from being as prolific in the springtime. You can check for buds by combing your hands through the foliage.

3. Get Rid of Pests. Certain spring pests should be treated for in the colder months. Latimer is especially wary of fire ants, as they’re one of the most active lawn pests in spring. Treating them early will minimize their activity and mitigate potential problems they cause when the weather warms up. “I can promise you they are going to be everywhere in warm weather, so treat them now,” he says.
4. Get Those Leaves up. Latimer knows that leaf blowing or raking is time-consuming, but he says that getting fallen leaves off the ground is essential. Not only are leaves on your lawn an eyesore, but they can also keep a lot of excess moisture from winter rain, snow and ice stuck in your soil. This creates the potential for root rot, active pests, and germinating weeds. Latimer offers more insights in “4 Tips to Prep Your Backyard for Spring,” a recent video from Exmark. To watch the video, visit Backyard Life, which is part of a unique multimedia destination with a focus on helping homeowners make the most of outdoor spaces. There you can also download additional tips and view other Exmark videos.

There’s no time like the present to plan for the future. With these great tips in mind, it’s time to brave the brisk weather and get your lawn and garden prepped for spring.

Practice being a “Master Backyarder” this Earth Day

ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA – The TurfMutt Foundation, which advocates for the care and use of our backyards, community parks, and other green spaces, says Earth Day (April 22) is the perfect time to practice being a master backyarder. “Backyarding” is the act of taking activities that we normally do inside, out to our yards and parks. Master backyarders el-evate back yarding, using their personal and community green space for everything from working and exercising to entertaining and relaxing.

“Master backyarders also understand the benefits of our yards and other community green spaces to the environment,” explains Kris Kiser, president, and CEO of the TurfMutt Foundation. “Every day is Earth Day for master backyarders. They plant for pollinators, know to put the right plant in the right place, and recognize their backyard as an important part of the connected ecosystem.”

This year, the TurfMutt Foundation encourages everyone to use Earth Day as an opportunity to practice being a

4 misconceptions homeowners have about floods

STATEPOINT - Many people look forward to spring when the weather warms up and flowers start to bloom, but it also marks the start of the peak time of year for flash flooding in the United States. According to NOAA, 75% of flash floods happen between late April and mid-September. And while you may not want to think about it, when water backs up and overflows, it generally goes where it doesn't belong and can cause serious damage to your home.

Unfortunately, many homeowners have misconceptions about floods, leaving them unprepared. Here are four of the biggest myths:

1. Homeowners insurance policies cover flood damage. A typical homeowners policy covers water damage from a sink or bathtub overflowing but won't help with flood damage caused by storms – something many homeowners only discover after it's too late. However, some insurance companies offer coverage to help fill the gaps, so you don't have to pay out of pocket for repairs and replacements. For example, Erie Insurance now offers Extended Water coverage, which covers damage caused not only by natural disasters, but also by sewer and drain backups.

2. Only people who live in flood plains need flood insurance. A national survey commissioned by Erie Insurance found that 53% of homeowners think only people who live in high-risk flood zones should buy flood insurance. However, 25% of flood claims are filed by people who live outside those areas. Additionally, FEMA says floodwater only needs to get a mere 3 inches high to make it likely that you'd need to replace drywall and baseboards.

3. There's nothing you can do to prevent flood damage. Nothing is foolproof, but there are ways to protect your home from water damage. Install a sump pump along with a battery backup and regularly test it. Improve drainage around your home by clearing leaves and debris from gutters, storm drains and downspouts. You can also install water sensors to alert you of water or leaks within your home. If a storm is on the way, plan ahead by placing valuables and sentimental items into plastic storage bins, moving items off the floor (especially if they are stored in basements and lower levels of a home) and by making a home inventory. A list of all your personal possessions, along with their estimated values, will help if you need to file an insurance claim.

4. Insurance can only help you after an incident. Many homeowners don't realize they may be able to get reimbursed for taking steps to protect their homes when flooding is imminent. As one example, under certain circumstances Erie Insurance will reimburse homeowners up to $10,000 for materials such as sandbags and the sand to fill them, fill for temporary levees, pumps or plastic sheeting and lumber used with these items, as well as labor. "We encourage homeowners to not underestimate the risk of flooding, and to be aware of the significant amount of damage that even a small amount of water can cause," said Michelle Tennant, vice president of product management, Erie Insurance. "Talk to your independent insurance agent about your home and your neighborhood to make sure you have the coverage that's right for you." To learn more about protecting your home from floods, visit erieinsurance.com/extended-water.

Life is unpredictable. So is weather. But one thing is certain: if it can rain (or snow), it can flood. Make sure you're protected with the right type of insurance.

Spring cleaning: Don't toss that 'Junk,' It may be valuable!

STATEPOINT - It's time to hit the garage, basement, attic, and closets for that age-old task of spring cleaning! Before hauling unwanted possessions to the curb, you may be surprised to learn they might be valuable -- especially if you have sports cards and memorabilia gathering dust.

With prices of sports cards rising in recent years, take time to determine if yours are valuable and how to best sell them.

"Older sports cards and memorabilia aren't just highly collectible; they can be worth lots of money. Recent sales of scarce vintage cards have topped anywhere from thousands of dollars to tens of thousands, even hundreds of thousands. "And really rare cards can go higher," says Al Crisafulli, Auction Director at Love of the Game Auctions, an internet sports auction house that helps families identify and sell valuable items. Crisafulli has assisted people in selling such keepsakes as a grandparent's autograph collection and an uncle's childhood baseball cards, for tens of thousands of dollars. In one life-changing event, he helped a family determine that a baseball bat that spent decades protecting their home was used by Hall of Famer Lou Gehrig -- and Love of the Game Auctions sold it for almost half a million dollars. Today, that bat could bring more than a million dollars.

The key is understanding what makes old sports collectibles valuable. To help, Crisafulli is sharing some tips:

Older is Usually Pricier
Cards from the 1960s and earlier are collectible, and those from before the 1940s can be worth a lot of money, especially those depicting stars. Do you have cards of

Hall of Famers, such as Mickey Mantle, Babe Ruth, Honus Wagner or Ty Cobb? Even non-stars from the early days of a sport can be worth big bucks, especially if the cards have no creases and retain sharp corners and original gloss. If you have very old cards from the 1880s through the 1930s, look for tobacco, gum, and candy brands, such as Old Judge, Piedmont, Sweet Caporal, Goudey or American Caramel. If you want to sell sports items for the most money, consider a specialty auction, such as master backyarder. Here are a few ways to do just that:

- Remember the "Golden Rule" of Backyarding: Right plant, right place. Putting the right plant in the right place is the key to successful master backyarding. It goes beyond identifying plants that will do better in sun versus shade. Master backyarders select plants that will thrive in their climate zone and work to create a backyard that supports their family's lifestyle. To learn more about selecting the right plants for your yard, refer to the USDA's Plant Hardiness Zone Map.

- Plant with pollinators in mind. Master backyarders understand that our yards and community parks are an important part of the connected ecosystem, providing food and shelter for pollinators. They plant with birds, bees, butterflies, bats, and other creatures in mind.

- Water wisely. After getting their new plants started, master backyarders only water when necessary. They install watering solutions -- like smart controllers on irrigation systems -- to help use water efficiently while maintaining a living landscape. They remember that over-watered grass gets lazy, growing roots in a horizontal pattern. But with less water, grass sends its roots deeper -- vertically -- seeking water. By working harder, grass does a better job performing its environmental superpowers like sequestering carbon and releasing oxygen.

- Bone up on backyard benefits. Master backyarders are tuned into the many benefits of spending time in backyards and community parks, and they use the outdoors for all sorts of activities like dining, entertaining, working and even vacationing. For humans, back yarding benefits include lower stress, increased happiness, and improved memory. For the health of the planet, green space captures carbon, produces oxygen, and prevents runoff.

- Watch Lucky Dog on CBS for inspiration. Master backyarders aren't too proud to take their back yarding cues from their furry friends. After all, no one loves and appreciates yards and green spaces more than dogs. On Earth Day, the TurfMutt Foundation will be featured on the CBS show Lucky Dog. This episode highlights the Mulligan's Mutt Madness pet adoption event at Equip Exposition, which helps rescue dogs find forever homes. Watch Lucky Dog on Earth Day to get inspired to create the yard of your -- and your dog's -- dreams.

Research shows new car safety features can help with crash reduction

STATEPOINT - At a time when highway fatalities are on the rise, new research shows that the widespread adoption of the latest vehicle safety features could mean fewer crashes and safer roads. However, it could be a while before we see the full benefits of these advancements.

“With drivers holding onto their vehicles for 10 years or more, it could take many years before the fleet fully turns over,” says Rini Shero-ny, senior principal engineer, Toyota Collaborative Safety Research Center. But what if every vehicle on the road was fully equipped with crash-prevention features? And how do engineers identify which new vehicle safety features to prioritize next? To find out, Toyota Collaborative Safety Research Center and Virginia Tech teamed up to research the potential benefits that different safety systems have in various crash scenarios.

The team took real-world crashes and reconstructed the data, performing multiple crash simulations. They started modeling with more traditional “passive” safety features, like the latest vehicle structures, and extended their work to include such technologies as automatic emergency braking, lane-keeping assistance, blind-spot warning, etc. Assuming full deployment and optimal activation of safety features, such as those that were modeled, their research showed that over half of all U.S. crashes could be avoided and nearly 60% of moderate to serious injuries could be mitigated. At the same time, the research also identified what types of crashes are likely to still occur even if these safety features were deployed. The research center has made the study’s data, found at toyota.com/CSRC, publicly available so that automakers, policymakers, technology research universities and tech companies can work together to continue to make safety gains and fill the crash prevention gap.

“While drivers can’t avoid every danger on the road, our research shows that safety systems have the potential to be very effective in reducing the risk and severity of crashes,” says Shero. “It’s important to know that most automakers offer features like lane departure warning, automatic emergency braking, audio warnings and steering assist (often with additional functionality). When you search for your next car, consider these features, even possibly opting for those that do not come standard-equipped. We hope that as drivers continue to adopt and use such technologies, we will be able to realize more of the accident mitigation and prevention benefits that they can offer, resulting in safer roads for everybody.”

Postcards, Photographs

We all have keepsakes of vacation destinations, but most aren’t valuable. However, photographs and postcards depicting sports stars and ballparks can be significant. Look for early “real photo” postcards from the 1900s through the 1940s, which are photographs printed on postcard backs.

As with sports cards, star power matters, so preserve those Babe Ruths as opposed to images of your great grandma’s baby cousin once removed. And when it comes to photos, look for old markings on the back, such as photographer, publication, and date stamps.

Memorabilia

Set aside old advertising posters depicting sports stars and food, tobacco, or sporting goods brands. Ads from magazines aren’t valuable, but those used as store displays and for other marketing purposes can be pricey. Tin signs from the 1960s and earlier can be highly prized, but reproductions aren’t.

Your family’s sporting goods, such as balls, gloves, and bats, can be valuable. Pre-1950s uniforms and catcher’s masks, helmets and other equipment are highly collected, especially when endorsed by star players. Top condition brings the highest prices, but even used equipment can be valuable.

“The golden rule is the older the sports card or item, the more valuable it usually is. Pre-1975 pieces start to get interesting and are worth researching,” says Crisafulli.

Don’t just clean out your “junk” this spring, examine it closely to potentially maximize its value.

OBITUARIES

Edwin James Hunter

Edwin James Hunter, better known as Buzz, slipped quietly away in his sleep, with no fanfare, as the Hunter men tend to do, on the morning of April 3, 2023. Buzz was born to Cecil and Dorothy Hunter while they were living in Thorp, Washington on January 15, 1933. He was the second oldest in a family with four children: Dick Hunter, Mary Brothers and Don Hunter. Theirs was a busy life which included farming and helping on extended family ranches in the Washington area. Schooling happened in Selleck and Enumclaw. Buzz worked as a helper on ranches in Eastern Washington doing what was needed to help support his family. In his early teen years, Buzz got into rodeo, and earned some belt buckles and a few bucks. When he was nearing 16, he went to work logging in the nearby woods. He loved the mountains, trees and wildlife he encountered, which then led him to start trapping. Many stories of his times hunting and trapping were told around a cup of coffee. The ‘pet’ cougar who came and went and played with Buzz. The assorted wild creatures he helped through the years, which we experienced, made his life, and his families much richer. In 1952, during a school break, Buzz met Sally. She was warned of his bad-boy ways by others in the community, but that didn’t deter her. Sally is one to make up her own mind, and she did. He joined the Air Force in March of 1953. Buzz proposed and they were married while she was still in her senior year of high school, just before he was to be shipped out from Great Falls, Montana. Sally borrowed some money from the egg lady in Selleck, then with her Mom, hopped a bus and traveled to Great Falls, where Buzz and Sally tied the knot. Buzz was shipped out a couple days later to England, and Sally headed back to Selleck to finish school. In 1955, Buzz and Sally moved to California for the Air Force, living in the Mojave area in a little house. They moved to Lancaster where they had their first daughter Elaine. In 1957 the time came to move back to Washington State, to Seattle, where they had their first son, Glenn. Soon after they moved to Selleck, then back to Seattle and settled into life after being in the Air Force. Buzz worked in the woods logging, then for Olympic Prefab housing in Alaska for a period of time, and also flew small planes working for Kenmore Air. He often did side hustles to keep the money coming in, as well as hunting and fishing to keep food on the table. The family moved to a home in Mountlake Terrace around 1960, where they had their second daughter, Leanne. Buzz was hired for the City of Seattle as a tree topper and high rigger, a perfect job for his skill set. During his off time, he spent it teaching his kids hunting, fishing and survival.

Their second son, David was born in 1962, then in 1965 their third son, Paul joined the family. The Hunter family lived in Mountlake Terrace until 1978, when Buzz retired from the City of Seattle. They moved to Granite Falls, Washington along the Canyon Creek River. Perfect for fishing, the area was also great for hunting deer and bear. In 1983 Buzz and Sally, moved to Chelan, Washington to a 42-acre property up Union Valley. They purchased this property sight unseen in the mid 1960’s, planning to use it for retirement. That time finally arrived. Buzz and Sally moved into a small trailer while they built their off-grid log home. They carved out a new life, figuring out ways to do things, using what they had. They took on odd jobs to keep the bills paid, and settled into life, enjoying the quiet and the wildlife that were constantly around. Once, while Buzz was checking on the well at the bottom part of the property, he stepped next to a tree and felt as if he was being watched. As he slowly turned, there was a cougar, standing there, sizing him up. After a bit of a staring match, the cougar slinked off. There were many opportunities to watch the deer and bear that frequented the area. Buzz also loved the sky. Watching the clouds and aircraft that flew through. Studying it became a favorite pastime. He often would tell Sally about the different military aircraft that came through. Buzz and Sally celebrated their 69th wedding anniversary on January 12, 2023 at their favorite restaurant in Chelan, the Apple Cup. On January 15, Buzz turned 90. At his last doctor appointment, he told the nurse, with a smirk, that he would consider quitting smoking when he turned 91. Buzz was able to drive until he left us, which was a blessing. He had gotten a pedicure the week before and was planning on a haircut the following week. Sally commented that he went to Heaven with clean toes. Buzz was private concerning his walk with God. Around 1973 he took some time to speak with a pastor friend, and at that time accepted Jesus as his personal Savior and was baptized in a private ceremony. There was no fanfare here on earth, but in Heaven there was a big celebration. Buzz is survived by his wife, Sally Hunter, his five children, Elaine Ferreira, Glenn (Gem) Hunter, Leanne (Larry) Dupuis, David Hunter and Paul Hunter. His 17 grandchildren: Jayme, Bernadette, James, Joshua, Nathaniel, Janea, Martine, Holly, Ellissa, Ken, Jasmine, Cheyanne, Jaid, Zach, Jason, Christina and Ryan. And his 26 great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his parents, Cecil and Dorothy Hunter, his brother Dick Hunter, brother-in-law, Joel Scholz, sister-in-law, Gay Scholz and a grandson, Dakota Hunter. Buzz - Dad, Grampa and Great-Grampa-will be missed. A Memorial Service to honor Buzz will be held at the Chelan Berean Baptist Church, 515 E. Woodin Ave., Chelan ,WA. on April 29, 2023 at 2 p.m. There will be a coffee time following the service. Feel free to wear flannel and jeans. The Chelan Lady Goats improve to 5-0 in the CTL and 7-1 overall

Boys: Chelan 4, Quincy 1
#1 Singles: Rylen Moody (Ch) def Harrison Hyer 4-6, 6-1, 7-5. Entertaining match! Both players performed very well, and Rylen continues to be clutch at the end of close matches.
#2 Singles: Isaac Dearie (Q) def Luke Christopherson 2-6, 6-1, 7-6 (7-5)
#3 Singles: Cray Silva (Ch) def Robert Bensch 6-0, 6-4
#1 Doubles: Wade Sanderson/Sam Bordner (Ch) def Alex Gonzalez/Cody Kennedy 6-2, 6-0

#2 Doubles: Caleb & Tristan Sanderson (Ch) def Abraham Santiago/Luis Gutierrez 6-2, 6-0
That 4-1 team score on the boys' side is very deceiving. At 5:45pm, after the threatening rain had passed to the north, all three singles matches were a virtual dead heat and could have gone either way. That's a solid road win for the Goats against a tough Quincy squad. The Chelan boys improve to 5-0 in the CTL, and 6-2 overall.

Chelan JV wins:
Candice Ducrucq/Irene Hernandez 8-6
Brooklyn Foyle/Estee Flynn 8-1
Signe Lillie/Josie Bekel 8-0
Nyjae Sullivan/Estee Flynn 8-3
Ian Garfoot/Sawyer Jeffries 8-2
Kyle & Sean Rynd 8-7

Chelan hosted Omak on Tuesday, April 18.

Chelan High School Golf

SUBMITTED BY KIRK EINSPAHR, CHELAN HIGH SCHOOL HEAD
GOLF COACH

April 12 - Girls
GAMBLE SANDS- Weather (winds) were much improved for the Girls Gamble Sands Invitational held on Wednesday April 12.

Team scoring was led by Liberty High School (Issaquah) taking 1st in the 3A/4A division and overall with a 361, with Eastmont coming in 2nd at 389. In the 1A/2A division, Ephrata came in 1st with a 386 (and 2nd overall). Chelan only had 3 team members and was unable to post a team score. For the CTL teams, only Omak was able to post a team score, coming in 6th in the 1A/2A division with a 431.

Taking individual honors was 11th grader Kylie McGrath from Liberty High School in Issaquah with a 2-over par 74. Jayme Dwight (10th grade) from Ephrata came in 2nd with a 75, and a tiebreaker gave 3rd to Liberty's Audrey Park (10th grade) at 76 - scorecard tiebreaker with Hailey Blancas (11th grade) from Montesana High School.

For Chelan, 2nd year player Kira Sandoval (12th grade) came in with a 104 (tie for 34th) and Arabelle Finch (11th grade) scored a 108 (tie for 47th).

The Chelan girls team will head to an Invitational match at Burlington-Edison next Monday, April 17 and both Chelan teams will head into league play next week with matches at home on Tuesday, April 18 with Quincy and again at home on Thursday, April 20 with Cascade. With just four home matches total this year, we need to take advantage of our home course as much as we can this next week.

April 11 - Boys
GAMBLE SANDS - On Tuesday, April 11 the Chelan

Golf, Team Hosted golfers representing 28 teams at Gamble Sands. With the final golfers finishing the course at the 6 1/2 hour mark, it was a long and windy day for all.

Results as follows:
Overall team winner: Sehome (310) and also 1A/2A team winner
3A/4A team winner: Gig Harbor (322)
Individual winner: Baylor Larrabee (Ferndale - 3 under 69)
2nd Place (tiebreaker): Carson Clinton (Chelan - even par 72)
3rd Place: Wes Bothel (Sehome - even par 72)

For the teams from the CTL, Chelan was followed by Omak (422), Cascade (466), and Quincy (not enough players for a team score).

I was very happy and encouraged by the Chelan boys team who showed a great improvement overall from their last outing at the Jack Barnes Invite (Three Lakes GC) before spring break. Carson Clinton (9th grade) had a great day and even with some close misses still came out even par - his best score as a Chelan golfer in his young career. As this was only our 4th match and one practice on our own golf course, we have a lot of improvement still to make, but it's nice to finally have an open golf course to practice on and to see some scores settling down - a good trend to be on.

A big thank you to my Assistant Coach Amber Finch for running this and the girls tournament (Wed., April 12) and all the hard work she puts in concerning it, and to the volunteer parents who helped with scoring (Clintons, Domser).
