Beach cleanup, wildflower planting events March 25

CHELAN - "Restore the Shore" needs your help. Keep It Blue-Lake Chelan, the Lake Chelan Research Institute and the The Chelan Project from Chelan High School are teaming up to create the first annual community-wide beach cleanup Saturday, March 25, 10 a.m.-1 p.m. They also have support from Campbell's Resort, the City of Chelan, the Planning Association of Washington and Pilgrim Lake Services.

Those wishing to participate should meet at the Lakeshore Marina Parking Lot (between Lakeview Drive-In and the go carts across from Chelan Market). Please "bring your own bag", preferably reusable, because they want to minimize the environmental impact while everyone restores the beach. Students from The Chelan Project will be organizing groups to cover specific sections of beach.

Participants are asked to pick up all trash items and fragments of aquatic weeds on the beach and surrounding areas. Each fragment of milfoil can propagate into a new plant as the water comes back up this Spring. You will be preventing new milfoil growth and you will be reducing the total amount of organic carbon in near-shore environment by removing invasive plants and other organic residue.

Volunteers will bring their collected litter back to the parking lot where the City of Chelan Public Works will provide disposal bins. Volunteers can then go to Campbell's for their Keep It Blue memorabilia and refreshments, noon to 1 p.m. More information at: keepitbluelakechelan.org.

Wild flower planting opportunity

Come help plant wildflowers and support our native pollinators. Meet at the Lakeshore Marina on Saturday, March 25; drop in from 10 a.m.-1 p.m to help with the planting. The Lake Chelan Rotary Club is helping with the project. They will use a mix of drought resistant wildflowers that attract and support pollinators. All ages and abilities welcome. Bring your own rake if you have one. For more information: Paul Horne, City of Chelan Parks director, 509-682-8023, ext. 510.

Chelan receives generous donation from Wildlife Forever: A CD3 Waterless Cleaning System

MATTHEW OCKINGA
CORRESPONDENT

CHELAN - At the March 14 Chelan City Council meeting, the Council and community members spoke about efforts to improve water quality and cull invasive species in Lake Chelan. An aquatic gem in the middle of the Evergreen State, Lake Chelan has fallen victim to milfoil, trash and other invaders to its waters over the past few decades. Philip Long, Lake Chelan Research Institute Executive Director and Board Chair, addressed the council about this issue, saying that the overall water quality of Lake Chelan has improved in recent years.

"We're starting our annual cycle of sampling the midline of the Lake which is supported in a significant way by the City of Chelan," Long said. "The data for dissolved oxygen from last year looks really good. We can't tell the different from the dissolved oxygen diminishing at 100 meters depth in the Wapato Basin from 2022 and 1987, so real stability in the bulk lake."

Long mentioned the first annual community wide beach cleanup event on March 25. People are invited to clean certain parts of the lake by picking up trash and collecting milfoil on sand and water.

The event starts at 10 a.m. at the City Marina parking lot and participants are asked to bring their own reusable bags. This plan also involves planting local wildflowers to help pollinators near the Lakeshore Marina.

Everybody loves a parade and wearin' of the green

Historic Downtown Chelan was lined with parade watchers wearing their green to watch The Wayne Kelly Memorial Top Dog Parade on Saturday, March 18. There were lots of moms and dads with their children dressed in green, dog owners themselves dressed in green, along with their pooches, men in kilts, lots of candy tossed and even a couple of fire trucks from Chelan Fire & Rescue. CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT: Several preschools with students and parents marched the parade route; dogs of all sizes, shapes and dressed in their green apparel along with their owners, enjoyed the warm sunshine; Lake Chelan Food Bank collected pet food and monetary donations from parade attendees; Pat Kelly (carrying the green flag) marched in the parade named after his father, Wayne Kelly; a sign on a car reads: In Memory of Wayne Kelly, 1921-1991.

Walter named permanent director of Chelan County Community Development

BY JILL FITZSIMMONS, CHELAN COUNTY PIO

WENATCHEE — Deanna Walter, Chelan County assessor and interim director of Chelan County Community Development, is the new permanent director of the county's planning and building department.

Walter, who was appointed as interim director of Community Development in March 2022, will step down from her elected position on March 31 and take over the role as the department's director on April 1.

The Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) signed a contract for employment with Walter on Monday. "This past year, Deanna has brought stability and efficiencies to Community Development. She has filled six positions while prioritizing cross-training and better customer service at all levels," said Commissioner Tiffany Gering, BOCC chairwoman. "The board has called upon her twice now to step in and lead that department at times when it needed her leadership style the most – all while also serving as an elected official. In a time when it is difficult to hire planning professionals, much less directors, the board is fortunate that Deanna agreed to take on this position in a permanent capacity."

Serving in both capacities was not a long-term solution for Chelan County or its citizens, Walter said. "This was a very hard decision, one I did not take lightly. I loved being assessor, but I also recognize I can help Community Development, knowing the Assessor's Office is healthy," Walter said. "The Assessor's Office is efficient, it's customer service-driven and the employees there are a cohesive team. My decision to leave is based on my confidence that my team will thrive without me. I will work to bring these same qualities to Community Development to benefit the public we serve."

Walter's background includes:

- Born and raised in Wenatchee, she has more than 27 years of land use experience. She holds two bachelor's degrees, one in actuarial science from Central Washington University and another in urban and regional planning from Eastern Washington University.

- Walter started her land use career as a planner, first working in Kootenai County and later Spokane County. In 2002 she was hired by Chelan County Community Development as its assistant director. She left Community Development in 2005, moving to the private development sector.

- In 2009, Walter was recruited by former Assessor Russ Griffith to be the chief appraiser in the Chelan County Assessor's Office. Upon Griffith's retirement in 2010, Walter was promoted to chief deputy of the Assessor's Office. In September 2011, she was appointed county assessor. She first won election to office in 2012; she was most recently re-elected to office last year.

- Walter served two terms as president of the Washington State Association of County Assessors. In that role, she worked with legislators and the Washington Department of Revenue on legislation and best practices for appraisal and program administration across the state. Over the years, she has developed an expertise in levies, which require a special analytical skillset.

- Commissioners first appointed Walter as interim director of Community Development in February 2020 to reorganize and stabilize the department before new Director Jim Brown was hired later that year. She continued as interim assistant director until September 2020 to support the new director and onboard the new assistant director. Then, when former interim director Chris Young stepped down in March 2022, Walter was again asked to serve as interim director.

Since 2010, Community Development has had six directors or interim directors, not including Walter's two stints as interim director. This is a fact not lost on commissioners, Gering said. "These positions are difficult to fill. It's a difficult department to manage because of the many moving parts, both internal and external," Gering said. "But Community Development is not the same department it was just two years ago. The board is confident that under Deanna's continued guidance, this department is only going to continue to grow while meeting the needs of our community."

Next, the BOCC will appoint someone as a temporary interim county assessor by April

1. The Republican Central Committee will then provide the names of three candidates to the BOCC, which will appoint an interim assessor from the recommendation to serve until the 2023 election is certified. People interested in running for the position can file for election May 15-19. The new assessor then will serve the remaining three years of the vacated term.

As for Walter, she sees herself in the director's position until she retires in about eight years. "I was born and raised in this valley, and I've been a part of the county family since 2002. I'm committed to the county; I've devoted many years to serving its citizens," she said. "To the community, I'd add that cultural change in an office doesn't happen overnight, but we are hoping the public sees we are a work in progress and

Cridlebaugh hired as new Chelan County economic services director

BY JILL FITZSIMMONS, CHELAN COUNTY PIO

WENATCHEE - Chelan County commissioners announce the hiring of Ron Cridlebaugh of Quincy, who will fill a newly created administrator position titled economic services director.

Cridlebaugh currently serves as the director of economic and business development for the Chelan Douglas Regional Port Authority. He has served nine years with the port district, first with the Port of Douglas and then the regional port district when it was reorganized in 2019. In his role, Cridlebaugh has led the regional port's efforts in attracting new businesses to the region.

"The board of commissioners is excited to have Ron join our county team," said Commissioner Tiffany Gering, chairwoman of the Board of County Commissioners. "We look forward to the role he will play in shaping the economic future of Chelan County."

Cridlebaugh will begin working in the Commissioner's Office on April 3. He brings to the county more than 20 years of experience in economic development, personnel and grant management, small business development, strategic planning and tourism promotion. In his overall career, Cridlebaugh has worked with hundreds of businesses, helping them become more successful.

"I'm looking forward to taking my past experience and knowledge and work with the Board of County Commissioners and staff to make positive changes for the residents of Chelan County and our region," Cridlebaugh said. "We will be looking at what we can do as a governmental agency to enhance our business environment and attract business to the county. We will also be assessing our county-owned visitor facilities to find ways to give our residents and visitors the best recreational experience we can."

The economic services director is a new position at Chelan County and replaces the economic development director position previously held by Blake Baldwin and interim director Sasha Sleiman.

In October 2021, commissioners hired BERK Consulting of Seattle to assess the structure of those appointed offices under the Board of County Commissioners. Commissioners cited a need to re-evaluate the structure because of the expanding role a variety of departments were undertaking, including housing, homelessness, lands management and infrastructure development.

Among BERK's recommendations was to reconfigure the role of the county administrator position. At the time, more than a dozen unrelated programs or functions were reporting to the position. The consultant recommended an administrator position be created that focused on economic services.

Under the reorganization, Cridlebaugh will lead economic development efforts at the county level while overseeing the directors and managers of external programs, including Housing, Ohme Gardens, Wenatchee River Park, the Chelan County Fair and Expo Center, the Cashmere Airport and the Fire Marshal's Office.

The county administrator will focus on overseeing internal services and their directors and managers, including Facilities, Human Resources, IT, the clerk of the board, the budget director and the public information officer.

"This reorganization will create efficiencies in the way the county delivers services to our citizens while also reducing the span of control for the commissioners from 15 directors and managers down to six," Gering said. "It will also allow us to explore how to better fund some county programs. Several programs, for example, are funded heavily by grants. Part of the economic services director's job will be to identify additional revenue opportunities to save taxpayers money and build upon our local economy for the future."

Cridlebaugh added that he is excited to be undertaking the new position. "Chelan County is a wonderful place and I'm looking forward to building a new department that will have a positive impact on the people we serve," he said. "Building something new is exciting and allows you to look at things with a different lens and think outside of the box."

All-Valley nonprofit board event a huge success

BY HISTORIC DOWNTOWN CHELAN ASSOCIATION

CHELAN - On Friday March 10, 56 board members representing 25 nonprofit organizations from across the Lake Chelan Valley attended a training on board governance and best practices for nonprofit boards. The purpose of the event – to develop stronger and more engaged boards to create a vibrant culture of philanthropy and service in the valley.

The All-Valley Board Event was created by a newly formed group of Nonprofit Executive Directors from the valley who meet monthly to discuss nonprofit work and cover regular topics like fundraising, donor stewardship, board and committee development, volunteer recruitment, communications, and program delivery.

“We have all these amazing nonprofits that fill varied and diverse needs in the valley,” said Aimee Sheridan, Executive Director of Historic Downtown Chelan, “our boards are the engines that drive our success and our director’s group felt like bringing these volunteer leaders together in one place would create synergy and excitement around what we could all accomplish together.”

The Lake Chelan School district hosted the event in their board room and the training was facilitated by Chuck Orrestad of DNA Partners LLC, a consulting group that excels in leadership development and board governance. The agenda covered key concepts for healthy governance, the four functions of a governing board, common pitfalls of board, the role of the board, the role of a board member, and special considerations in being part of a small community.

After the training, participants in the workshop had time to share their key takeaways and set action steps they hoped to accomplish with their own boards. Many of the participants asked if this gathering

Chuck Orrestad said, “This was extraordinary. In all my years of doing this, I have not seen a group like this from so many different organizations come together to work toward a common purpose. It was inspiring.”

tor Paul Horne spoke about a generous donation from Wildlife Forever, a Minnesota-based nonprofit conservation charity, for a CD3 Waterless Cleaning System. This station, designed to help local boaters, has the ability to suck up unwanted invasive plants and store them until they can be suctioned out later.

Horne mentioned that no matter what backgrounds people come from, all can agree on the importance of clean, fresh water.

“One thing that unites pretty much everyone within this valley is the understanding the importance of the water quality to our economy and to our quality of life,” Horne said. “One of the biggest threats to that quality is the spread of invasive aquatic species. They are assiduous because they can piggyback on boats and recreation boaters can inadvertently spread them from water body to water body. They essentially out-compete the native species and cause ecological damage.”

The CD3 in the cleaning system stands for “clean, drain, dry and dispose”. The station includes an air compressor and a wet-dry vacuum in its technology. The station will be located on a boat ramp and contains education advertising about water conservation and quality.

“We hope that this is the first of many in the area,” Horne said. “We hope that this will be adopted at other marinas around the area once we hopefully see this one getting a lot of use.”

The motion to accept the donation from Wildlife Forever passed unanimously. Councilman Tim Hollingsworth also proposed that the mayor salary for Chelan be increased by 20 percent to be more in line with similar sized communities. He commended the work of Mayor Robert Goedde and said that he and whoever the next mayor was deserved a raise. Council members Mark Ericks and Peter Jamtgaard echoed Hollingsworth’s sentiments.

In the airport board meeting, the Council reported that the runway at Lake Chelan Airport is currently clear from the snow. Despite the inclement weather the area has endured over the past months, the airport had over 290 aircraft movements (takeoffs and landings) over the winter, including around 100 in March at the time of the meeting. The Council said this would help bolster the case for a remodel of the airport.

Can stool softeners prevent constipation?

Q: After my knee replacement surgery, my surgeon recommended I take a stool softener for a couple of weeks to prevent constipation from my pain medicine. How does that work?

Many surgeons advise their patients to take a stool softener while taking pain medication during the first couple of weeks after surgery. They hope taking a stool softener will help you avoid the discomfort of constipation. This practice has been called into question because very little evidence proves it works.

The word laxative means "to loosen," similar to the word "relax" and "lax," which means to act loose or relaxed. A laxative works to "loosen" your bowels, relieving constipation. By encouraging the movement of stool through your intestines, a laxative can prevent or reduce the pain and pressure of constipation.

Stool softeners make your stool softer or "slippery," which makes defecation more comfortable but doesn't prevent or relieve constipation.

After you swallow it, food moves through your digestive tract, a series of tubes. In your stomach, gastric juices mix into your chewed food, which starts the process of digestion. From there, it moves as a liquid mass into your small intestine, where the absorption of vital nutrients begins.

Muscles running the length of your intestines start squeezing in a rhythm, which keeps the mass of food moving from one end to the other. To assist digestion and absorption, your intestines are lined with special cells designed to carry nutrients, medicines, and water out of your intestines into your bloodstream. What's left behind eventually becomes feces.

The longer food stays in your intestine, the more water can be pulled out of your stool. With less water, your feces becomes smaller, harder, and more painful to eliminate.

A stool softener can draw moisture back into or lubricate the food mass to ease the discomfort of constipation. Two common stool softeners are docusate and mineral oil.

Docusate is a surfactant, much like detergent or soap. It encourages water to move into your stool. Docusate can replace some of the water your body absorbs as the stool moves through your intestine. It may occasionally cause diarrhea or stomach cramps. Unlike mineral oil, docusate doesn't interfere with the absorption of nutrients or vitamins.

Mineral oil is a liquid refined from crude oil. Unlike docusate, it lubricates the stool instead of increasing its water content. Mineral oil is colorless and odorless. The product "baby oil" is a scented version of mineral oil.

Used over a long period, mineral oil can interfere with your body's absorption of fat-soluble vitamins like vitamins A, D, E, and K. This can eventually cause a type of vitamin deficiency. Mineral oil can also cause leakage of stool from the rectum.

Accidentally inhaling mineral oil when swallowing can cause life-threatening lung irritation. Mineral oil usually stays in your intestine. However, if you take docusate and mineral oil together, mineral oil can move into your body, away from where you need it to work.

Docusate and mineral oil are called emollients. They turn stool "mushy" but don't directly stimulate the muscles lining your intestine. ("Mush instead of Push"). Most people notice results within 2 days, but the full effect can take up to five days.

Here are 6 Tips on Using a Stool Softener Effectively:

1. Stay hydrated. Drinking enough fluids will help docusate do its job of moving water into your stool.
2. Avoid docusate sodium if you are on a sodium-restricted diet. Docusate has two forms, docusate sodium, and docusate calcium. If you restrict your sodium intake, choose docusate calcium instead of docusate sodium. Docusate calcium can be hard to find, so ask a pharmacist for as-nearly as bad. At liquid taste tests I've hosted, they rank consistently at the very bottom.

5. Choose a laxative for constipation prevention or symptoms.

There is little evidence that docusate can prevent constipation. Using a non-prescription laxative like Senakot® and Dulcolax® is much more effective. Docusate is also available in combination with a laxative like senna or bisacodyl. Look for Senakot-S® and Pericolace®.

The Contract

Unveiling the healing power of forgiveness

A novel by local writer William E. Forhan.

Nobel Prize winning author Gabriel García Márquez was quoted as saying, "All human beings have three lives, public, private and secret." In our modern world of the Internet search engines and DNA testing, keeping our private and secret lives separate is increasingly difficult. Sometimes they can come crashing in on our public lives when we least expect it.

Father Robert McCarthy is a middle-aged priest who is suddenly and unexpectedly confronted with his secret past. How he deals with the revelation of that past with his family, his congregation and the impacts of that secret life is inspirational. How McCarthy discloses the news of his college indiscretion requires him to take everyone involved on a journey of confession. That journey forces him to deal with issues of homosexuality, judgementalism, divorce and pride.

His pastoring skills and the depth of support from his wife help him bring forgiveness and restoration to many broken relationships.

The bonds of three families are ultimately restored through celebrations of life experiences including fishing, holiday gatherings, the discovery of unknown family connections and a wedding.

Construction to begin April 3 on multi-lane roundabout on Highway 97A in Wenatchee

Navigating detours during US 2/97 and Easy Street roundabout construction

BY LAUREN LOEBSACK, WASHINGTON STATE DEPT. OF TRANSPORTATION

WENATCHEE - Change can be hard. Whether it's adjusting to a new job, learning a new city or having to replace your beloved old phone with a new one, figuring out how to navigate your new world can take some time.

Change is coming to the intersection of US 2/97 and Easy Street in Wenatchee, and we know it will take time for some of you to adjust.

On April 3, construction kicks off on a multi-lane roundabout at that intersection and while this project will improve safety and traffic flow, we know for some people, roundabouts can be a pretty intimidating change. The good news is the vast majority of people – even those initially against it – end up seeing the benefits of a roundabout over a signalized intersection. But for many, that does take time and can be a learning curve.

The multi-lane roundabout will replace the existing traffic signal, creating a more consistent flow of traffic and while we can't promise there will be no collisions, roundabouts have been proven to reduce the severity of collisions. The project will also add improvements like transit pullouts and an extension of the Apple Capital Loop Trail to provide better options regardless of how you get around.

What to Expect

To complete the work, Easy Street will be closed from the US 2/97 and Easy St. intersection to Ohme Garden Road north of the highway and approximately 250 feet south to the Circle K and Subaru dealership accesses. The northbound State Route 285 off-ramp to eastbound US 2/97 will also be closed.

These closures will be in place 24 hours a day through Change is coming to the intersection of US 2/97 and Easy Street in Wenatchee. The multi-lane roundabout will replace the existing traffic signal, creating a more consistent flow of traffic. the major construction of the roundabout and is scheduled to reopen in mid-June. During construction, crews will build a temporary roundabout at the Euclid Avenue intersection to the US 2/97 eastbound on-ramp as well as a four-way stop at the intersection of Easy St. and School St. in Sunnyslope to accommodate traffic flow for the detour.

Lots of North-South Detours

If you regularly travel through the area, the thing to remember is that east-west traffic on US 2/97 will be maintained throughout the construction of the roundabout. Any north-south traffic will be detoured. While the detour will probably seem frustrating for regular commuters, the closure allows the contractor to finish the project a lot faster than they would without it.

Here's a breakdown of how the detour will affect your travel, depending on which direction you're headed:

- Eastbound US 2/97 to north Easy Street: If you're returning home to Sunnyslope from Cashmere or Leavenworth or you need to get to the Easy St. Park and Ride and you usually turn left onto Easy Street, you'll take the detour through the intersection and take the Maps of the detours can be found at:

off-ramp to Euclid Ave. then take a left and head north to the roundabout at US 97A and Ohme Garden Rd.

- Eastbound US 2/97 to south Easy Street: If you're traveling from Cashmere or Leavenworth to the Penny Rd. Park & Ride, the car dealerships or the gas stations and would normally take a right turn at the signal, you will need to take the detour east through the intersection to the Euclid Ave. off ramp and turn right to Penny Rd., then right onto Easy St.

- SR 285 to eastbound US 2/97: Leaving Wenatchee to travel east over the Odabashian Bridge to East

Wenatchee or Orondo will require you to take the Easy Street off-ramp and take a right on Penny Rd. to Euclid and use the ramp to access eastbound US 2/97 over the Odabashian Bridge.

- SR 285 to north Easy Street: If you are heading north from Wenatchee toward Forest Services offices and the Sunnyslope area, you'll take the Easy Street off-ramp and take a right on Penny Rd. and follow the detour north to the US 97A/ Ohme Garden Rd. roundabout to turn left onto Ohme Garden Rd.

- Southbound US 97A to south Easy Street: When traveling from Entiat or Chelan to the car dealerships or the gas station, instead of using the US 2/97 ramp and taking a left at the signal, you'll take Euclid Ave. to Penny Rd. and take a right at Easy St.

- Westbound US 2/97 to south Easy Street: Heading west from East Wenatchee over the Odabashian Bridge to the Penny Rd. Park & Ride, the car dealerships or the gas station, instead of taking a left at the intersection signal at Easy St., you'll take the Euclid Ave. exit, turn right and follow Penny Rd. to Easy St.

- Westbound US 2/97 to north Easy Street: If you're travelling west from East Wenatchee over the Odabashian Bridge headed to the Sunnyslope area, you'll take the off ramp to US 97A and use the US 97A/Ohme Garden Rd. roundabout to turn left onto Ohme Garden Rd. to access Easy Street.

- North Easy Street to westbound US 2/97 and SR 285: If you're heading from Sunnyslope and need to go to N. Wenatchee Ave. or west to Cashmere/Leavenworth, you will need to use Ohme Garden Rd. to the roundabout at US 97A and take a right onto southbound US 97A to the US 2/97 on ramp since the US 2/97 and Easy St. intersection will be closed to north-south traffic.

- North Easy Street to EB US 2/97: When traveling from Sunnyslope east to East Wenatchee/Orondo, you'll use Ohme Garden Rd. to the US 97A/Ohme Garden Rd. roundabout and take a right to go south to Euclid Ave. then use the eastbound ramp to get on US 2/97 Odabashian Bridge.

Art installation

When the roundabout is close to being finalized, the City of Wenatchee's contractor will install the city entry art feature. Artist C.J. Rench created the sculpture.

When the roundabout opens to traffic

Again, we know this is going to be a big change for some of you. While roundabouts are designed to improve safety for drivers, pedestrians and cyclists, it may feel a little awkward at first. Here are some tips for driving through multi-lane roundabouts:

- Yield to drivers already in the roundabout
- Do not change lanes in the roundabout
- Never stop in the roundabout
- Give trucks and oversized vehicles both lanes
- Use your turn signal before you exit

It's important to be aware of pedestrians and bicycles in roundabouts. At the US 2/97 and Easy St. roundabout, the crosswalk ramps are set further back from vehicle traffic, allowing more time for drivers to react to people crossing before merging into or exiting the roundabout. Triangular islands between lanes of vehicle traffic provide a safe place for pedestrians to wait for traffic to go by. Be sure to be alert and work together so everyone is safe!

Bicyclists can choose to ride through the roundabout with traffic or walk their bicycles through the pedestrian crosswalks.

We're excited for this improvement to this area and while we know it'll take time to get used to, we're confident that people in the area will soon see a safer, smoother trip through this busy intersection.

PUD Commissioners consider draft agreement for Confluence Parkway proposal

SUBMITTED BY RACHEL HANSEN, CHELAN COUNTY PUD

WENATCHEE - Chelan PUD commissioners are considering a land exchange agreement with the City of Wenatchee that attempts to strike a balance between regional transportation needs and stewardship of public lands.

The City of Wenatchee's Confluence Parkway project is a proposed 2.5-mile bypass to alleviate traffic congestion along North Wenatchee Avenue. The two-way arterial would run along the edge of Horan Natural Area and Confluence State Park, which are owned by Chelan PUD.

The land exchange would trade a long, narrow parcel of land along the western edges of Horan Natural Area and Confluence State Park – about 5 acres total owned by the PUD – for roughly equivalent property from the City.

The draft agreement includes a range of mitigations intended to address concerns brought forward by more than 1,000 public comments, and a year of due diligence. The measures include:

Noise abatement: The City will build a noise wall and earthen berms with landscaping in areas where road noise is expected to have the greatest impact.

Trail improvements: The City will reroute the Apple Capital Recreation Loop Trail away from Hawley Street and the railroad tracks for better safety and user experience. The new pedestrian bridge will be about twice as wide as the existing one.

The draft agreement also commits the City to reimburse the utility to relocate two water wells that support Confluence State Park, and replace state park staff housing that is in the path of the proposed roadway. In most cases, the city will cover the relocation of electrical transmission and distribution lines in coordination with roadway construction.

Several people spoke in favor of Confluence Parkway, citing reduced traffic accidents, improved response times for first-responders, better options for bus and bike commuters, and improvements to the Loop Trail.

Commissioners deliberated and voted March 20 on the draft agreement, which must also be approved by the Wenatchee City Council.

Chelan PUD is one of several key agencies involved in the review process. Over the next year, the project will require approval from the Federal Highway Administration and Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.
