Local veteran celebrates 100th Birthday

BY NORM MANLY, MANSON
AMERICAN LEGION

CHELAN - WWII Navy veteran, Mike Elavsky turned 100 years old on November 19, and several veterans visited him at Heritage Heights, in Chelan to kick off his 100th birthday party. He was presented with a special birthday card, signed by many folks wishing him well.

In 1942, Mike graduated high school and enlisted in the Navy Seabees, which at the time was assigned to the Marine Corps and were the ground support for the Navy. In 1943, he was stationed in San Diego and North Carolina for six months of training and then transferred to Hawaii where he spent most of his time supporting the bombing of Tokyo. Mike was discharged from the Navy in 1945.

Mike lived a full life, with a 60-year career in agriculture. He spent 14 years tending to a 1,200-acre dairy farm in Minnesota. He received a B.A. and M.A. in Education at Bemidji State University and taught for 12 years all across Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia. He settled down in Tonasket and worked on his cherry orchard in Wenatchee Heights for over 30 years. He sold it at the age of 83. Mike has lived in Chelan since 1996.

Helping Mike celebrate his 100th Birthday were Jim Taylor (Navy Seabee's), Bruce Knott

Columbia River Drug Task Force issues Safety Bulletin: Rainbow Fentanyl

By JESSICA PETERSON, CHELAN COUNTY SHERIFFS DEPT. PIO

WENATCHEE - On behalf of the Columbia River Drug Task Force (CRDTF) we want to make the public aware of different colored Fentanyl or what is considered “Rainbow” Fentanyl that has been confiscated by law enforcement in the Wenatchee Valley within the last month. CRDTF detectives have seen pictures of this multi-colored Fentanyl on suspect’s phones who reside in the Wenatchee Valley.

We want the public to be aware of this latest trend as the Fentanyl looks very similar to candy or children’s vitamins. Also, there have been drug seizures in Washington State, specifically in Eastern Washington, of colored Fentanyl powder that looks similar to colored chalk. We believe it will only be a matter of time before this type of Fentanyl will also make its way into our community.

We urge the public to talk with your children about the dangers of drugs, to include experimenting with any pills or powder that are given to them by an acquaintance, friend, or family member. Fentanyl is an extremely dangerous substance. For more information on the dangers of Fentanyl and to learn more please visit the following websites. <https://www.dea.gov/press-releases/2022/08/30/dea-warns-brightly-colored-fentanyl-used-target-young-americans>, <https://www.dea.gov/onepill> needed help. Ray was instrumental in the first responder response by helping to create the Chelan/Douglas County EMS response plan for the pandemic with Medical Program Director Dr. Jobe. Ray also created a video to educate the community about COVID and how to protect themselves and others from infection. Eickmeyer is passionate about health equity and ensured that no one in his community has been left behind in the COVID-19 response.

Early on, Ray stepped up and volunteered to use his staff and resources to deliver COVID-19 testing and vaccinations to meet the community where they were at. His team took on the responsibility to vaccinate first responders (police, fire, EMS, forest service, park service) for all of Chelan and Douglas Counties. Ray has been laser-focused on serving the most vulnerable people in his community, and he was the first in the state to provide mobile vaccination clinics to reach agricultural workers.

Governor Jay Inslee traveled to see Ray’s mobile vaccine clinic at Chelan Fruit, where 300 employees were vaccinated. He has coordinated, planned, and implemented mobile and mass vaccination clinics to jails, people experiencing homelessness, temporary and migrant agricultural workers in orchards, seven different school districts, colleges, adult family homes, assisted living facilities, homebound people, nursing homes, essential workers, the Colville Tribe, and more.

He also coordinated mobile vaccinations to remote villages and towns including Holden Village and Stehekin.

Rural Health Heroes of Washington will be honored in March 2023 at the National Rural Health Conference.

OPINION & LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rainbow Fentanyl: The colors that kill

Just about everyone loves rainbows. They rank among the visual sights of the natural world as some of its most thrilling and photographed. But leave it to the profiteers and predators among us to introduce a deadly new realm of rainbow exposure that warrants a watchful mindset over those we cherish. It's called Rainbow Fentanyl and every family needs to be aware for it.

Elsewhere in this issue is a safety bulletin issued by the Columbia River Task Force warning the public about the dangers of counterfeit pills laced with Rainbow Fentanyl, a new twist to the deadly synthetic opioid. As the name implies it is deviously disguised as colored candy to make it more appealing especially to children.

As much of the public's attention was riveted on the COVID pandemic and its rising death toll, those caused by drug overdoses rolled along under the radar. In 2021 alone more than 100,000 of our countrymen died of drug overdoses, the leading killer of Americans between the ages of 18 and 45, according to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). Of that number more than 65 percent were fentanyl related. That comes as no surprise considering that fentanyl packs 50 times the potency of heroin and 100 times that of morphine.

A milligram is very small, only one-thousandth of a gram. It takes 28,000 of them to equal an ounce. It takes only two milligrams of fentanyl to deliver a fatal dose.

Families across the nation are dealing with the losses of loved ones from fentanyl overdoses and reliving the "would have, should have, could have" agonies after the fact. Mine included. Recently an 18-year-old niece on my wife's side of the family was found deceased in her college dorm room. The coroner's results identified the cause. She was steady and studious, the last person one would associate with a fentanyl overdose. But she was away from home for the first time, and this was college.

While vigilance of and communication with family and friends is vital, so is preparation in the event of an overdose. For the latter there is the antidote Naloxone also known as Narcan, a nasal spray that, if administered quickly, can keep an overdose victim alive until help arrives.

Do you know that in Washington State citizens can order free Naloxone kits by mail? The website for the Addictions, Drug & Alcohol Institute (adai.uw.edu) at the University of Washington has more detail.

The website stopoverdose.org shows locations closest to you where Naloxone/Narcan is available online or in person. The site also tells you what steps to follow for a person experiencing an overdose.

Worried about "getting involved" and accusations of drug possession? The state's 911 Good Samaritan/Overdose Law (RCW 69.50.315) protects both you and the overdose victim from drug possession charges.

The Washington State Department of Health website (doh.wa.gov) offers more information about Naloxone, detailed instructions about helping an overdose victim, and more useful information.

Consult your physician, pharmacist, or county health department, all good sources of factual information in this atmosphere of unreliable sources.

Fentanyl, first created in 1959, is an old painkiller all painted up in a new disguise to lure more partners into its web of addiction. Watch for it. Educate your children and friends about it. And keep Narcan close by. You never know whose life you might save.

Chelan Post Office in need of dependable workers

I have lived in the Lake Chelan Valley for 41 years, and by-and-large I have been satisfied with our local USPS service (junk mail notwithstanding), until November 2022. As I have done numerous times in past years, on October 31 I dutifully filled out and turned in a yellow "Hold Mail" card for the period of November 2 - 14, checking the option of visiting the Chelan Post Office on November 15 to pick up my held mail upon my

Just prior to picking up my held mail on November 15, I received a phone call from the City of Chelan, asking if I had moved because their monthly billing envelope had been returned to them as "Not Deliverable". No, I had not moved. I went straight to the City of Chelan office, picked up the returned envelope, and marched across the street to ask the post office why the envelope had been stamped

"Not Deliverable". The postal clerk, apparently having received similar complaints recently, apologized and asked what I could do to help her find new postal recruits who would be honest, competent, and dependable. Hence, the purpose of this letter to the editor.

When I next picked up my "held" mail, it was no more than 25% of the usual volume of mail that I had expected. Nor did it include held copies of the Lake Chelan Mirror and TIME Magazine. What other mail was missing, I wondered?

Well, on November 23 I received an email from my insurance agent in Wenatchee, asking why the billing for my next six months of automobile insurance had been returned to the insurance company stamped "Not Deliverable". I immediately mailed in a check to cover the auto insurance premium, hoping it would arrive in Seattle by the deadline. Then on November 25 I revisited the post office to show them this second "Not Deliverable" envelope. No one in the office could, or would, explain what happened.

My guess is that the mail carrier to my street address was not made aware of my "Hold Mail" request, and continued delivering mail beginning November 2 until he/she noticed that I wasn't picking up the mail, then he/

she began to retrieve the mail from my street box to bring it back to the post office and have them stamped "Not Deliverable".

Postal customers, please be aware that this can also happen to you. So do your best to help the postmaster find competent people to hire. Good luck.

Thanks,
Stephen Easley

OBITUARIES

Richard Michael Harris

Richard Michael Harris, age 70, of Chelan, Washington, passed away Wednesday, November 23, 2022. He was born February 7, 1952, to Vernon and Eleanor Harris at the Lake Chelan hospital. He graduated from Chelan High School, in 1970, and received his BS from Eastern Washington University, in 1975. He planned to major in music while being a part of the university's choir, and then later, changed his major to business. During his tenure at EWU, he met and sustained many lifelong friendships that were very dear to him.

After college Richard was hired by Seafirst Bank and started his banking career in Wenatchee, Washington. After a couple years, he took a job with Cashmere Valley Bank in Cashmere, Washington. In 1982, he became the manager of the Leavenworth branch, where he stayed until his illness forced him to retire, in 2015. After retirement, they moved to the “Riverhouse” north of Chelan on the Columbia River.

Richard met his wife, Jan Reinhart, in 1983. They had many adventures including high mountain horseback trips, boating on Lake Chelan, traveling in Europe, Hawaii, and driving all over North America. They also loved to watch their grandchildren and would often travel many miles to cheer them on. Richard was an avid hunter and loved being in the woods.

Richard is survived by his wife, Jan Reinhart; stepsons: Kirby Reinhart (Kris) and Ryan Reinhart (Angela). “Papa Rich” had five grandchildren that he was very proud of: Megan, Greg, Hunter, Jailyn, and Kellen. Richard also had three sisters: Verneta (Cliff) Carstens, Karen, and Jeanne (Howard) Thiemens; and many nieces and nephews.

CHELAN HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS RECAPS

CHS Boys Basketball

By Coach Anthony (Tony) Callero, Chelan High School Boys Basketball

Chelan Boys Varsity 64 Brewster 74 Nov. 29
CHELAN - In the opening game of the season for both teams, Chelan lost a non-league game 64 to 74 in Chelan.

The Goats leading scorers were junior guard Dylan Jay with 20, senior forward Braiden Boyd with 19, junior point guard Isaac Wilson with 10 and junior guard Ryan Rainville with 10.

For Brewster senior forward Kelson Gebbers led all scorers with 27 including 9-12 free throws for the game. He started the game fast, making all four of his three-pointers for the game in the first quarter.

Head coach Tony Callero said, "It was good to see the defense tighten up in the second half".

Gebbers was limited to one made second half field goal in part due to the defense applied by Dylan Jay. Jay and sophomore starter Jacob Allen both fouled out of the game trying to slow the Bears down.

The Bears took advantage of the fouling and hit 16-23 free throws while the Goats made 4 of 12. The free throw line proved to be the difference of the game as both teams made 26 field goals including eight three-pointers for the Goats and six for the Bears.

Chelan Boys Varsity 68 Ephrata 65 Dec. 2

EPHRATA - Chelan earned an improbable non-league victory on the road vs. 2A Ephrata when junior point guard Isaac Wilson hit a buzzer beating three point shot from the top of the key.

On the final play of the game, the Goats inbounded against a full court press and sophomore center Kellen Reinhardt found himself with the ball and just seconds to go.

Reinhardt drove hard to the hoop from the right wing and when the defense collapsed, he passed out to Wilson who barely beat the buzzer to give the Goats the win.

Wilson finished with a team high 22 points and was the only starter who did not foul out.

Junior forward Dylan Jay scored 15 and senior forward Braiden Boyd scored 13 but both players sat much of the game in foul trouble and both fouled out early in the fourth quarter.

The other two junior starters Ryan Rainville and Ian Garfoot also fouled out.

Senior Silas Tilbury entered his first ever varsity game during the tight, intense fourth quarter and helped the cause by grabbing two big rebounds and hitting one key free throw late in the game.

Sophomore Jacob Allen scored all four of his points from the free throw line in the fourth quarter where the Goats made 26 of 41 attempts compared to Ephrata who made just 12 of 24.

Head coach Tony Callero was pleased with Wilson's leadership all game but was quick to point out the contributions of the bench players. "We have four goals every game and Jacob Allen was key to us achieving two of those goals tonight. He took two charges and made 4 of 6 free throws."

Chelan opened Caribou Trail League play on Tuesday, December 6 at home vs. defending CTL champion Quincy.

to contain the Bears defensively. The first quarter finished with the Goats trailing 4-9.

The Goat's game plan was to keep the Bears off the offensive glass and to defend the hoop by not allowing their posts to get good positioning inside. Neither was successful tonight for Goats as Gimena Hurtado had her way offensively for the Bears scoring 10 in the 2nd quarter and 18 for the game. Despite a rough first half the goats found themselves only 7 points down.

The Bears had another big offensive 3rd quarter extending their lead to 12 as both teams entered the final quarter.

The Goats began to find some life in the 4th quarter with their defensive half quart pressure which converted into fastbreak points closing the gap to 7 with a couple of minutes to go in the game. The Bears prevailed however and took back the momentum in the final 90 seconds of the game giving the Bears a 45-34 victory over the Goats.

Scoring for the Goats was led by Kira Sandoval with 14 points. J.P. Perez finished just behind with 13. Joslynn Simmons added 3. Jailyn Reinhart and Arabelle Finch each contributed 2 points.

Varsity Girls 37 vs Ephrata Tigers 44 Dec. 2

EPHRATA - The Lady Goats of Chelan traveled to Ephrata to face off with the Tigers in their 2nd non conference game of the season Friday night. The Tigers were hosting their season opener and came out aggressive with their man to man defense rendering it difficult for the Mt. Goats to get into their offense easily. With Kira Sandoval out for tonight's game with a sprained ankle the Goats rallied together in the first quarter stretching the lead to 6 at one point before closing out the quarter ahead 14-10. It was the tenacity of the Tigers that allowed them to claw their way back gaining the 23-20 lead as both teams took the locker room at the half.

The Goats came out of the locker room with several in foul trouble but ready to battle again in the 2nd half. The Goats paced with the Tigers however and went into the 4th quarter still down by three with a score of 27-30 but not before Senior Joslynn Simmons' fouled out just before the third quarter concluded. Simmons, critical for the Goats in scoring had 12 on the night.

The Goats battled, closing the gap several times, but ran out of steam as the Tigers pounced on the Goats with a final score of 37-44.

Scoring for the Goats was led by Senior Guard, Joslynn Simmons with 12 followed by Senior Juliana Perez with 10. Jailyn Reinhart put up 8 points. Brynn Hughbanks added 5 and Jayden Simmons contributed 2.

The Goats begin CTL league play this Tuesday as the face the Quincy Jackrabbits at home.

Chelan High School wrestling

Dec. 3 Boys:

Chelan Boys did great this weekend at the Omak Invite. We had a lot of wins along with a ton of learning and improvements.

This month of December is all about learning what each athlete is best at and how we can use our strategy and knowledge to win in January and February when the big tournaments take place.

The whole team fought hard from the beginning all the way to the last match. Senior Tier-nan Davis lead the way with three pins and first place finish. Jason Pritchard, another senior, made it to the finals ending with second place. Dana Malone also placed fifth.

All of our returners have had massive gains from last year and we had many athletes who are new to our program and won several matches.

Along with our older guys our big freshman class wrestled great this weekend. Freshman, Zimri Kelling, won three matches taking second place and Freshman Sebastian Cisneros won four to come back and take third place.

"We have made massive improvements to our program and we are starting to make a name for ourselves. This first tournament was good to find out where we are standing and where we need to be. I'm excited for the rest of the season," said Coach Linton

The girls went to the Eastmont Ladycats Invite and competed very hard. Amiee Gordon took sixth place earning two pins along the way. The girls look to compete again on Wednesday, Dec. 7 at the Oroville Mixer.

Winter Trout and Christmas birds

By John Kruse, The Washington Outdoor Report

WINTER TROUT OPENER:

Staci Lehman, a spokesperson for the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife in Eastern Washington, shared reports from the Winter Trout Opener that occurred on Black Friday, November 25, at several lakes in our region. In her words, "Fourth of July (Lake) fished pretty well for those willing to put in a little effort to get to open water. Most people who did were rewarded with limits. Overall, the fish were a little smaller than in years past, but were still really nice (only two of the 50+ fish checked were over 20 inches. Most were 15-18 inches).

Hog Canyon (in Spokane County) was 90% ice covered. Staff observed several people ice fishing, but only checked one angler who walked down to the open water and caught 3 fish about 14 inches.

The one lake that was stocked for this event (North Elton Pond) in Yakima County was very successful. Staffer Joe Tucker says he arrived around 10 a.m. and searched a while to find somewhere to fish – due to the lake being about three quarters iced over. He ended up bushwhacking along the South end of the pond to find some non-frozen water where he limited out in 45 minutes. He was using roughly a 1-ounce barrel weight with around 3 feet of leader, and a size 6 hook, with garlic scented power eggs to float the bait above the weeds.

The fish were very nice sized, hovering around a pound. One went over, and the rest were just below this weight. They ranged 14-17 inches. The trail to get to the "fishable" part of the lake was overgrown, with lots of logs to cross, and a small stream to cross, but it was a successful trip. There were multiple Kayakers in the water and everyone that was fishing the unfrozen area of the pond were catching fish."

AUDUBON CHRISTMAS BIRD COUNT

It's once again time to participate in the annual Christmas Bird Count. Put together by the Audubon Society, it's billed as "the nation's longest-running community science bird project."

If you have not participated in this event before, here's how it works. Between December 14 and January 5, both novice and experienced bird watchers will meet up with a coordinator and then go out and count the birds they see by number and species within a defined circular map area that is used every year. Last year's volunteers surveyed birds in 1,842 circles across the nation. The one-day counts are tallied and you can see both statewide and national trends regarding the populations of birds for this time of year. You will want to contact the coordinator for your area in advance or sign up online to participate at <https://www.audubon.org/conservation/join-christmas-bird-count>.

The trends are interesting. Some birds, like the American bald eagle, have been doing well with numbers up over 5 percent on average each year since 2009. Likewise, the California valley quail has done well adapting to our habitat with a 2.8 percent year over year increase. Also, up this year, our state bird, the goldfinch, which saw a 2 percent increase per year over this timeframe. On the other hand, western meadowlark numbers are down 2.2 percent and snowy owl numbers have decreased each year by 1.6 percent in our state.

Are you wanting to participate and want to find a circle near you? Here's the ones in our region that have openings for participants:

COLVILLE - Compiler: Barbara Harding, Email: stellerijay@hotmail.com, Count Date: Dec. 17.

OMAK/OKANOGAN - Compiler: Matthew Danielson, Email: mattie\_rubio@hotmail.com, Count Date: Dec. 18.

LEAVENWORTH - Compiler: Joe Veverka, Email: joe\_everka@yahoo.com, Count Date: Dec. 20.

Dates for bird counts in the Goldendale, Wenatchee, Chelan, Bridgeport, Grand Coulee and Chewelah Circles have yet to be determined. Check the Audubon Christmas Bird Count website for updates. Then, sign up, break out your bird guides, your binoculars, and spend a day in nature looking for birds and having a good time while you are at it.

On October 31, 2022, the resignation of the Personal Representative of the Estate of Jason B. Winters was approved by the Court, and the person named below has been appointed as Successor Administrator of this Estate. Any person having a claim against the decedent must, before the time the claim would be barred by any otherwise applicable statute of limitations, present the claim in the manner as provided in RCW 11.40.070 by serving on or mailing to the Administrator or the Administrator's attorney at the address stated below, a copy of the claim and filing the original of the claim with the court in which the probate proceedings were commenced. The claim must be presented within the later of: (1) Thirty days after the Administrator served or mailed the notice to the creditors as provided under RCW 11.40.020(1)(c); or (2) four months after the date of first publication of the Notice to Creditors. Creditors who have already properly filed and served a claim do not need to file a new claim.
Pursuant to RCW 11.40.150, the time between the date of resignation of the former Personal Representative and the date of first publication of this Notice (or, in the case of actual notice to a creditor, the mailing of this Notice to that creditor) is added to the time within which a claim must be presented or a suit on a rejected claim must be filed. However, this does not extend the twenty-four month self-executing bar under RCW 11.40.051. If the claim is not presented within this time frame, the claim is forever barred, except as otherwise provided in RCW 11.40.051 and RCW 11.40.60. This bar is effective as to claims against both the decedent's probate and nonprobate assets. Date of First Publication of Notice to Creditors: September 16, 2022 Date of First Publication of Notice of Vacancy and Succession: December 7, 2022 DATED this 30th day of November 2022, at Seattle, Washington.

Steps you can take to care for yourself during the holidays

STATEPOINT - With seasonal stressors like end-of-year work deadlines, gift shopping and hosting potentially weighing on you, plus all those extra sweets and indulgent foods to nibble on, the holiday season may be the happiest time of year, but it's not always the healthiest. Here's how to take better care of yourself to feel your best this holiday season.

Protect Your Skin
You may be aware that the more free radicals you have in your body, the more skin damage can accumulate over time. But did you know that exposure can be particularly high during the holiday season? There are a few reasons for this. One is that cooler temperatures are linked to sugar cravings, making sweet treats especially hard to resist at a time of year when there are so many to choose from. Increased sugar intake can boost the production of advanced glycation end products, and ultimately unwanted free radicals. In general, diets high in fat, sugar, and processed foods can contribute to free radical production, as can stress.

Fortunately, you can take steps to protect your skin from the inside out during the holidays and beyond. Fernblock PLE (Polypodium leucotomos extract), the natural antioxidant in the dietary supplement Helicare Daily Use Antioxidant Formula, can help neutralize free radicals and the damage they cause. Dermatologist-recommended, Helicare aids in eliminating free radicals to help maintain younger-looking, more resilient skin.

"Along with the cheer of the season comes skin hazards," says New York-based dermatologist, Rachel Nazarian, MD. "But the holiday season is the perfect time to gift your skin additional protection from the damaging effects of free radicals. You can do this by incorporating a supplement like Helicare into your routine in addition to using a topical broad-spectrum sunscreen."

Move Daily
Be sure to take time for yourself each day to receive the combined physical and mental health benefits of movement. Head outdoors for a morning or afternoon walk to get some fresh air, improved blood circulation and some mood-boosting sunlight during the short, dark days of winter. To promote agility, flexibility, and relaxation, take a few minutes to unwind with some meditation or gentle yoga.

Preventing scams and fraud this holiday season

STATEPOINT - Scams and fraud are more deceiving these days, reaching you in more ways than ever before. The FTC reported 2.8 million fraud reports from consumers in 2021 alone, with reported fraud losses increasing 70% from 2020 and more than $5.8 million. Scammers begin their traditional uptick at the start of the holiday season, and identity theft protection expert Carrie Kerskie says being aware of what new cyber and phone fraud trends to look out for is your biggest defense against unwanted fraud stories, "Unfortunately when it comes to technology, privacy and identity theft, the same old advice that was given 10, 15 years ago is still the gospel of what you're supposed to do. And that is outdated. None of it works. It's not true, it's not relevant anymore."

Scammers have expanded from targeting consumers with only traditional email and phone calls. The most recent trending scams are occurring using person-to-person payment platforms or P2P, remote access software and even public Wi-Fi. Kerskie says the most desirable accounts to criminals include bank accounts, mobile phone accounts, credit card accounts and Amazon accounts. Now, with P2P payment platforms, criminals can get access to your bank account and use it to transfer money within moments. The latest tactic that concerns Kerskie is using remote access software to gain access to everything on your computer without having to directly ask you for things like your social security number, bank account or credit card number. While many workers use remote access software safely from their companies' IT departments, criminals are also using this software in their scams.

Criminals also try to access your information in settings like coffee shops or libraries using public Wi-Fi. A laptop or smartphone using public Wi-Fi can easily fall victim to scams. An easy fix is to use your smartphone's wireless data and hotspot to help keep your personal information secure. Kerskie says there are ways to keep scammers and fraud at bay ahead of the holiday shopping season.

Prioritize Privacy: Kerskie says, if it's easy for you, it's easy for a criminal. Privacy means having strong and unique passwords with a minimum of 12 characters, and pins using random numbers and taking advantage of extra security. Enabling multi-factor authentication on your various apps and accounts will also protect yourself from potential threats. Use Available Resources: Take advantage of the free anti-fraud safeguards offered by your mobile carrier. In the case of T-Mobile's Scam Shield, services include enhanced caller ID, scam ID and blocking, which flags suspicious calls and gives customers the option of blocking those numbers. Additionally, customers can get a free second number to keep their personal number personal, or even change their primary number completely.

Validate or Eliminate: Whatever potential threat you come across via email, text message, letter or even a phone call, try to validate the information. If you cannot confirm the information is true or confirm the senders' validity, throw it away, block the phone number or email address and report it as spam or junk mail. Understanding how potential cyber threats and fraud work will help protect you this holiday season and beyond.

Inflation Outpacing US Wages, Creating Worst Pay Drop in 25 Years

AUTUMN SPREDEMANN

Residents in the United States have less to celebrate on payday as inflation-adjusted wages endure the harshest pay cut in a quarter century, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas.

The bank’s report revealed that the median decline in real wages was a little more than 8.5 percent for most of the U.S. workforce in the past 12 months—“the most severe faced by employed workers over the past 25 years.”

Hardworking Americans are watching their purchasing power dwindle as prices have risen across the board under President Joe Biden. The impact is particularly noticeable in grocery stores and at the fuel pump.

Food-at-home prices soared by more than 13 percent this year. Concurrently, the cost of regular gasoline catapulted by 49 percent, and diesel users suffered a 55 percent increase between January and June.

Another analysis shows inflation has been outpacing American wage growth for 18 months straight. While average earnings per hour rose by 5 percent, consumer prices spiked by more than 8 percent. That equates to an almost 4 percent decline in real hourly wages as of October.

But more important than numbers, Americans are feeling the effects in nearly every aspect of daily life.

Tough Times

“Judging by our dwindling savings, we may no longer be able to be a single-income household,” Dennis Shirshikov told The Epoch Times.

Working as the sole provider for his wife and three young children, Shirshikov said that his family has been trimming household expenses wherever they can.

“We’ve already cut back on food and clothing shopping trips,” he said. “We’ve taken the kids out of day care, and we’re working on other ways to budget and save.”

Shirshikov says that he’s fortunate to work as a remote strategist for Awning.com since he lives in a rural part of New York. The comparatively lower cost of living in his area has been a silver lining amid the nation’s towering inflation.

“My heart goes out to all the families out there living in cities with multiple children right now. This is a tough time indeed.”

In one survey of 3,000 Americans this year, 41 percent of respondents listed the cost of raising a family as their top concern for 2022. For some, conscious shifts in spending habits have become integral to surviving the widening paycheck-inflation gap.

“I’m more conscientious overall about my spending than I have been in years past,” Melanie Edwards told The Epoch Times.

Edwards works as a digital product manager for the Olipop soda company. She says that high inflation requires creativity to navigate, especially as the holidays approach.

“Inflation has affected my holiday spending and purchasing habits. Gone are the days of waiting until the last minute to buy a gift,” she said. “I’m shopping much earlier than I ever have to snag deals. I’m also forgoing some name brands or designers to save money.”

Falling Behind

Adding to this economic snowball effect is an affordable housing crisis.

Builders have fallen behind on new homes and rentals for 20 years, creating a housing shortage of 5.5 million.

Less mileage per paycheck due to inflation and a federal rate hike that topped 6 percent in September has left Americans struggling to keep a roof over their heads.

“Due to a decrease in real wages, which ultimately leads to a decline in one’s purchasing power, potential home buyers suffer a lot. And although wages are higher than before, they aren’t adjusted for inflation,” Shaun Martin told The Epoch Times.

Martin is a real estate and financial expert at We Buy Houses in Denver, Colorado.

He says that with higher interest rates, many potential buyers are unable to secure a mortgage or even a regular loan.

Coupled with diminished buying power, home sellers have raised their prices. Landlords are doing the same with rentals, which Martin said is especially problematic for salaried workers.

He also noted that it’s too early to say when things will get better. That’s why Martin has made efforts to diversify his revenue.

“I decided to increase my streams of income by investing in different available options. It will increase my inflation-adjusted income,” he said.

Generating more money and savings has been no easy feat for America’s lower- and middle-class earners this year. For households making between $30,000 and $100,000, 75 percent said that their income has fallen behind the cost of living, according to a Primerica survey.

“Most of the people I know belong to the middle class. The middle class is especially hit with inflation ... this also means that with the increase in necessary expenses, the middle class has significantly less disposable income than before,” Derek Sall told The Epoch

Times.

Sall is a financial adviser and the founder of LifeandMyFinances.com.

He said that one of the consequences is a drop in demand for specialty consumer goods, resulting in the shrinkage of affected industries.

“People enjoy being able to spend money on treating themselves. Without it, they become unhappier and overall population satisfaction decreases,” he said.

He noted that this chain reaction leads to overall lower productivity and motivation at work, putting already volatile household incomes at even greater risk.

Yet despite the challenges, it’s important to try to save money, Sall said. Even minor changes to routines and monthly bills can have a net positive effect.

“Going through subscription services such as Netflix or Amazon Prime and getting rid of those is a start. Investigate whether prices for expenses such as cable or phone providers can be changed,” he said.

Homeowners Should Brace for Property Price Drop: Data, Experts

PETR SVAB

Real estate prices have declined over the past several months, but there could be much more to come, data and experts indicate.

The median home price has dropped by about 7 percent since its peak in June. It’s still up by about 6 percent since October 2021 and more than 35 percent up since early 2020, according to data from Zillow, a listing site.

Other market metrics have recently dropped far more precipitously, however. Sales volume, for instance, is down by more than 24 percent since last year. Construction was started on less than 120,000 private housing units in October, down from more than 150,000 in April, according to the Census Bureau’s seasonally adjusted data. Prices of lumber, the most common residential construction material in America, dropped by nearly 70 percent since February and are now roughly at the early 2020 level.

The housing market has been pummeled by the Federal Reserve’s lifting of interest rates this year, which has boosted mortgage rates from less than 3 percent in September 2021 to more than 7 percent in early November. The rates have since eased to roughly 6.5 percent.

This indicates that the market has yet to reach its bottom.

“We expect a drop of 15-to-20% over the next year, in order to restore the pre-Covid price-to-income ratio,” Ian Shepherdson, chief economist at the Pantheon Macroeconomics, wrote in a note last week.

Fannie Mae’s Economic and Strategic Research (ESR) Group expects home prices to hit a low point in the second quarter of next year with a recovery the year after.

One major factor is that 80 percent of mortgage holders have locked in rates of at least 2 percent lower than the current rate, which makes them unwilling to look for a new house, the ESR said in a recent forecast.

“The economy continues to slide toward a modest recession, which we anticipate will begin in the new year, with housing leading the slowdown,” said Doug Duncan, chief economist at Fannie Mae.

“Higher interest rates have ignited the typical reduction in residential fixed investment, which historically has led into either an economic slowdown or recession. From our perspective, the good news is that demographics remain favorable for housing, so the sector appears well-positioned to help lead the economy out of what we expect will be a brief recession.”

Dropping house prices are bad news for those who bought theirs during the record-high prices of the past few years. They can easily find their mortgages underwater unless they put enough cash down.

Prospective homebuyers still don’t have much to look forward to because even at lower asking prices, houses will remain expensive when the higher mortgage rate is factored in.

One factor keeping a bottom under the market is low inventory, which is currently about 36 percent below the October 2019 level.

“It’s hard to imagine a significant drop in pricing. Inventory is just too low,” Jonathan Miller, president and CEO of Miller Samuel, said in a recent Bloomberg interview.
