County moves to Stage 2 fire restrictions

SUBMITTED BY JILL FITZSIMMONS
CHELAN COUNTY PUBLIC INFORMATION OFFICER

WENATCHEE - On Friday, August 12 Chelan County moved to Stage 2 fire restrictions, and with that comes additional activity and travel restrictions.

People are prohibited from having campfires at their residences. People can continue to use commercially made barbecues, both gas and charcoal briquettes.

Stage 2 fire restrictions include:

- Additional educational signage will be placed at a variety of county roads, alerting people to activity and travel fire restrictions. The signage, or barricades, do not prevent people from using the roadway.

- People are prohibited from having campfires at their residences. People can continue to use commercially made barbecues, both gas and charcoal briquettes.

- Target shooting outside of gun ranges is prohibited. Hunting is still permitted in areas that are open.

Both the Valley and Mountain zones of Chelan County will be at an "extreme" fire hazard rating, which applies to the current conditions.

The local Fire Advisory Board, which consists of area fire chiefs and partner agencies, meets weekly during the summer to discuss whether fire hazard levels and stages should be changed. The board then makes a recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners. If commissioners are not in session, the Chelan County fire marshal has the authority to temporarily designate a fire hazard area and impose travel and activity restrictions. County commissioners then may approve the restrictions by resolution at their next regular meeting which was

Lightning causes fires in NCW

McGregor Mountain Fire contained

SUBMITTED BY NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

STEHEKIN - The McGregor Mountain Fire is now contained following a strong initial attack and continued work by park firefighters and North Cascades Smokejumpers. Helicopter support included approximately 1,000 gallons of water throughout the day Thursday, continuing into Friday operations. The McGregor Mountain Trail and Heaton Camp are now open.

No other fires were detected within the park complex following Thursday's lightning storm. With hot and dry weather in the forecast, fire personnel will continue to monitor the areas where lightning is detected.

Visitors should be aware of fire restrictions in areas of the park complex. Campfires or the ignition of wood, briquettes, or any fuel in fire pits, fire pans, and barbecue grills,

County Sheriff Conceal Pistol License application available online

SUBMITTED BY JESSICA PETERSON, CHELAN COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE

WENATCHEE - Sheriff Brian Burnett is excited to announce that the Chelan County Sheriff's Office will be taking its Conceal Pistol License application process to an online format with the implementation of Permitium's online services. Shifting to this online service option provides the residents of Chelan County the convenience and ease to apply from anywhere in the county. There are no additional fees being expended by the county to move over to the online option. We will still be offering the in-person application process to those who prefer this to the online submittal.

Chelan County residents now have the option to access a direct link from our website (<https://chelanwa.permitium.com/ccw/start>) where they can complete an application from home to apply for their new, renewal, or late renewal of their Washington State Conceal Pistol License, as well as pay online with a credit or debit card. A nominal credit card transaction fee will be charged to the applicant and charges will be viewable prior to transaction completion.

All New CPL applicants are still required to have their fingerprints taken. Applicants will have 30 days, from the date that their application is submitted, to complete the required fingerprints. Fingerprints will be taken at the main Wenatchee office located at 401 Washington St.; Level 1. Fingerprinting is available Monday thru Thursday between the hours of 9-11:30 a.m. and 1:30-4 p.m. We do not fingerprint on Fridays. No appointment is necessary.

For best results, we do suggest that you apply using a tablet, laptop, or desktop computer. The application is not optimized for smartphones and you may encounter technical difficulties.

CORRECTIONS

Some of the information in the Death Notice for Danny E. Wood of Chelan, Washington, was incorrect in the August 10 edition. A corrected notice appears on A4.

Chelan County Auditor Skip Moore received 15,311 votes, and 100% of the votes in the Primary Election held on August 2. His name was left off of the election results in last weeks' paper. The election was certified on August 16. The General Election will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 8. If you are not registered to vote, go to: www.co.chelan.wa.us/elections. Online and by mail voter registration deadline is Oct. 31. Register to vote in person by 8 p.m. at the Chelan County Elections office, at 350 Orondo Street, Ste. 306. Office hours are 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and they can be reached at 509-667-6818.

Chelan PUD asks for input with fiber survey

SUBMITTED BY RACHEL HANSEN, CHELAN COUNTY PUD

WENATCHEE - Chelan County PUD customers may get an email in the next two to three weeks asking for their input on how they access the internet, including use of fiber broadband service in their homes.

The survey, expected to be completed by the end of August, will also ask for input about the types of ways people use the internet, what they look for in service and their overall satisfaction levels with their internet service.

The survey, last performed in 2017, helps the PUD assess customer sentiment and areas of community interest as it continues to offer wholesale fiber service in Chelan County.

If customers are contacted and want to confirm the validity of the survey, they can visit chelanpud.org/contact.

Virginia Mason Franciscan Health, Confluence Health partner to expand access to specialty medications

VMFH Launches Madrona Health, a new specialty pharmacy, with Confluence Health

SUBMITTED BY ADAM MACDONALD, CORPORATE COMMUNICATIONS PROGRAM MANAGER, CONFLUENCE HEALTH MARKETING

SEATTLE and TACOMA - Virginia Mason Franciscan Health (VMFH) and Confluence Health announced the creation of Madrona Health, LLC, a new joint venture to expand specialty pharmacy services across the Pacific Northwest. This unique partnership will increase access to vital specialty medicines for patients with rare or complex conditions in areas that are typically underserved.

"Virginia Mason Franciscan Health is excited to partner with Confluence Health on this important initiative and I am grateful to the dedicated team who helped make it a reality, especially Dr. Peter Rutherford," said Ketul J. Patel, CEO of Virginia Mason Franciscan Health.

Madrona Health, previously known as VMFH Georgetown Specialty Pharmacy, currently serves 11 hospitals, several cancer centers, and hundreds of clinic sites across the country. Partnering with Confluence Health, Madrona Health will expand its services to North Central Washington, including Confluence Health's two hospitals and other care sites. VMFH and Confluence Health will own and operate the entity as a 50-50 joint venture serving their combined communities. Madrona Health will be licensed in Washington, Alaska, Idaho, Oregon, Montana, and Arizona, and will supply vital medicine to patients throughout the West, whether at home or during seasonal travel through a mail-order service. Madrona Health's service strives to reduce the burden on both patients and providers in obtaining specialty medications.

"Through innovative and strategic partnerships, VMFH continues to expand access to care throughout the Pacific Northwest. Working together with Confluence Health, Madrona Health will increase access to essential specialty medication for the patients who need it most, while bringing two dynamic organizations together in collaboration around the needs of our patients," added Patel.

"Madrona Health is built on the mutual respect and shared values of our two organizations. It is crucial that our patients in North Central Washington have access to life-saving medications, and we look forward to working with Virginia Mason Franciscan Health to ensure our patients receive the most advanced level of care and support," commented Dr. Andrew Jones, CEO of Confluence Health.

Specialty pharmacies offer an advanced level of support needed to provide patients with a broader range of services than traditional pharmacies, dispensing medications that treat complex or rare conditions such as cancer, HIV/AIDS, and other chronic conditions. These drugs require intensive clinical monitoring and are often high cost.

To facilitate the complex monitoring requirements, Madrona Health will work in tandem with health care providers, such as Confluence Health, to access patients' existing medical records to ensure a seamless experience. The Madrona Health model is designed to work closely with patients to manage their medication supply with refill reminders, help navigating insurance coverage, clinical support, and other tools for success.

About Virginia Mason Franciscan Health: Virginia Mason Franciscan Health (VMFH) works to expand access to care and improve the health of communities by building on the strength of more than 300 sites of care, eleven top-tier hospitals, 18,000 team members, and over 5,600 physicians and advance practice providers. VMFH delivers world-class clinical excellence from basic health needs to the most complex, highly specialized care. By bringing together the best and brightest healthcare minds in the region along with a commitment to investing in innovation, VMFH delivers the most advanced therapies and technologies for patients alongside some of the country's most prestigious experts and hospitals. VMFH is home to the Bailey-Boushay House, the first skilled-nursing and outpatient chronic care management program in the United States designed specifically to meet the needs of people with HIV/AIDS, and the Benaroya Research Institute, an internationally recognized center for autoimmune disease research. Additionally, VMFH is committed to addressing health care disparities by caring for the most vulnerable in the community, including the poor and underserved, by providing more than $300 million in community benefits, subsidies, or reduced-cost healthcare and programs. Learn more at www.vmfh.org.

About Confluence Health: Confluence Health serves the largest geographic region of any healthcare system in Washington State, covering over 12,000 square miles of Okanogan, Grant, Douglas, and Chelan counties. Confluence Health is one of only two locally-lead healthcare systems in the state with the purpose of maintaining availability and access to high-quality, cost-effective healthcare services for North Central Washington. The Confluence Health Board of Directors provides governance for Confluence Health, the Clinic, Central Washington Hospital, and Wenatchee Valley Hospital, and includes nine community board members and six physician board members.

Wenatchee River Ranger District

A Type 3 Incident Management Team will be taking over management of the Irving Peak Fire and the White River Fire today. Irving Peak Fire is estimated at 40-50 acres and located in very steep inaccessible terrain. No resources are assigned but the fire is being monitored. The White River Fire is 25 acres and 0% contained. It is located in the Sears Creek area. Firefighting resources there include three hotshot crews, two fire engines, and a bulldozer; additional resources have been ordered. Smoke is very visible from both of these fires. Recreationists are advised to stay away from the Wenatchee Ridge area where the Irving Peak Fire is burning, trail closures are pending. Also, a Level 1 fire advisory (stay alert) notice is in place for the White River drainage-<https://www.co.chelan.wa.us/emergency-management/pages/active-emergencies>.

The 1-2 acre Phelps Ridge Fire and the 1/5 acre Buck Creek Fire are both located in the Glacier Peak Wilderness and are unstaffed but being monitored.

Cle Elum Ranger District

There are six fires on the Cle Elum Ranger District and all are located within 2 miles of Thorp Mountain approximately 11-13 miles northwest of Cle Elum. A closure is pending for the Thorp Mountain area, please stay clear of that area as helicopters and other fire suppression resources are working there. All the fires are less than an acre in size with the exception of the Thorp Mountain Fire which is 4 acres. Helicopters continue to drop water on this fire to aid in fire suppression efforts. The ¼ acre Malcolm Fire, located 13 miles north of Cle Elum, was contained and controlled this morning.

Naches Ranger District Firefighters responded to a new human-caused fire located south of Rimrock Lake on the Naches Ranger District last night. It was an escaped campfire which grew to about 1/10 of an acre in size.

Methow Valley Ranger District

Hikers at Hart's Pass reported seeing smoke in the Pasayten Wilderness in the Methow Valley Ranger District; rappellers are enroute.

Forest Service fire crews were out until midnight Friday, August 12 responding to illegal campfires on the Naches and Cle Elum Ranger Districts. Please obey the campfire ban and don't put unnecessary strain on firefighting resources. Firefighters are already responding to the fires from lightning that came through on August 11. Responding to human-caused fires pulls resources away from being available to respond to new incidents and puts unnecessary strain on firefighters. Do your part, don't cause a spark!

OBITUARIES

Patricia Jean McClellan

Patricia Jean McClellan was born on February 17, 1937, in Duluth, Minnesota to parents Harold Edmunds and Hazel Hodgen. Patty attended Manson High School and was proud to be the 1956 Manson Apple Blossom Princess.

She married her husband, Don McClellan, on July 28, 1956. Shortly after, Don and Patty moved to Boron, California, where she worked as a dental assistant for about eight years. The couple was able to relocate back to Manson, Washington, with their three children, Kelly, Lori, and Russ. Once home, Patty became a mainstay at the local Seafirst Bank, where her legendary smile and kindness became well known. She stayed until she retired. Anyone lucky enough to meet Patty walked away feeling blessed. She always had a smile and kind words for all, was one of the most gracious and generous people on the planet, and was never without a smart outfit and matching jewelry. Patty was truly loved by all.

Patty passed away on November 28, 2021, at the age of 83. Her final days were spent surrounded by her family and loved ones. She was preceded in death by her husband Don on April 24, 2020. Patty is survived by her three children, Kelly, Lori, and Russ, along with her eight grandchildren, Tony, Briana, Kiel, Chris, Joshua, Tyler, Taylor, and Mason, and 12 great-grandchildren.

A public Celebration of Life will be held at the North Shore Bible Church, 123 Wapato Point Pkwy, Manson, Washington at 3 p.m. on Saturday, August 20, 2022. Short reception to follow.

Farmers Market: August 17, 20

MANSON - The Market takes place every Wednesday and Saturday starting at 8:30 a.m., when Market Manager, Gordon Lester rings the opening bell. If you're looking for produce better show up early as it goes fast. Besides vegetables and fruits, you will find local honey, custom made soaps, baked homemade treats for people and pets, various artisan handcrafted goods and much, much more. Members of the Manson Volunteer Firefighter Association bring the fire truck on Saturdays. They sell tee shirts and other items to raise money for the many causes they support.

Household hazardous waste drop off:

August 17-19, 23-26, Sept. 3

Latex paint now being accepted

WENATCHEE - Drop-off Saturday is Sept. 3 at the Chelan County Moderate Risk Waste Facility on Highway 97A. The facility is open the first Saturday of the month, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Every week, they are open Tuesday through Friday the same hours. Bring those household hazardous wastes on by your MRWF. They are now accepting latex paint. This is a free service to Chelan County residents. For a full list of items that the facility does and does not accept, go to the facility's website: <https://www.co.chelan.wa.us/solid-waste-management/pages/household-hazardous-wastes>.

Obituary & Memorial Policies

NCW Media, Inc.: Leavenworth Echo, Cashmere Valley Record, Lake Chelan Mirror, Quad City Herald

An Obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the community of the passing of the loved one. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data.

Memorials are another way to let the community know about the life and memories of the person who has passed. A Memorial is different from an Obituary. An Obituary is usually current, while a Memorial can be written later.

Obituaries and Memorials need to be typed and emailed as a Word Document. They can be placed in one or more papers - all publish weekly on Wednesday.

Obituaries are priced by the number of words and include one color photo and go online at no extra charge. Memorials are priced per column inch. Please call for cost. *Payment is due at the time of placement. *Exception: Chapels, funeral homes who have an account, can be billed. There is no charge for a Death Notice - information is limited.

Deadline is 4 p.m. on Friday - some exceptions may apply.

Please call 509-682-2213 for more information
Or email ruthk@lakechelanmirror.com

Chronic Disease Support Group: August 18

CHELAN - With the support of Aging and Adults and Tender Loving Care for Seniors, an Alzheimer's Support Group for Chelan/Manson area has restarted. They are now opening this meeting to family caregivers of people who have any serious chronic conditions: cardiac, pulmonary, neurologic (post stroke, Parkinson's Disease, MS) and others. Meetings will be the third Thursday of the month, 10 a.m.-12 p.m. at Chelan Valley Hope, 417 S. Bradley Street. Aging and Adults is providing the facilitator, Bob Poindexter, who has great experience in leading support groups. Please join them to be encouraged by spending time sharing with others who are on this journey. For more details please call Claudia Swenson, Manager, TLC for Seniors, 360-561-6090.

VFW #6853 Post Coffee/Donuts: August 19

CHELAN - Every Friday VFW Post #6853, located at 427 S. Bradley Street is open 9-11 a.m. for donuts and coffee and conservation. Veterans are invited to join them every Friday.

St. Andrew's Pie Sale: August 20

CHELAN - After a two-year drought, the Episcopal Church Women (ECW) of St. Andrew's Parish are donning their aprons and pulling out the pastry flour for the annual Home-Made Pie Sale, this coming Saturday morning, August 20. "The doors swing open at the Church Hall promptly at 10 a.m.," ECW Pie Sale Chair Marci Hale said. "Then it's everyone for themselves. I can't remember a sale where there was even a crumb left, let alone a slice. The early bird gets the pie." All fresh-baked 9-inch pies are priced at $25 but cost only $5 per single slice. Pie a la mode is $6. "Most of the flaky desserts have fruit filling however there are always a few fun exceptions," added Hale. "That is what's so exciting — to see the proud ECW members bring in their favorites. Considering we are in the midst of apple, pear and cherry orchards, and it is the height of berry season; there is always a good variety from which to choose." St. Andrew's Episcopal Church is located in Historic Downtown Chelan at 120 E. Woodin Avenue. Built in 1897, St. Andrew's is the oldest permanent structure in Chelan and is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Eucharistic services are open to the public at 10 a.m. on Sunday morning. They can be reached at 509-682-2851, email: mainbox@standrews-chelan.org.

Glass recycle: August 20
Open 9 a.m.-Noon

CHELAN - Rotary of Lake Chelan 911 Glass Rescue is open on Saturday mornings from 9 a.m.-noon, at 23235 Highway 97A across from WalMart. They are charging a small fee per pound for glass drop-off. Buckets of the materials produced, sand and aggregate, will be available for purchase at $5 per 5-gallon bucket. City of Chelan residents are asked not to put glass into their blue recycle bins, but to bring it out on Saturday mornings. Their all-volunteer team relies on support from members of the community to make the operation run smoothly every week. They have tasks suitable for all ages and abilities. To volunteer go to www.911glassrescue.org, and click on the volunteer tab on the home page.

Food Bank food distribution: August 20, 23, 27

Volunteer gleaners needed

CHELAN - The Lake Chelan Food Bank food giveaway is on Saturday and Tuesday, 9-10 a.m. Distribution is drive-thru. They are located at 417 S. Bradley Street. The Food Bank is getting requests for pet food. Small bags of dog food are best. They can be dropped off at the Lake Chelan Mirror office, 131 S. Apple Blossom Drive, Ste. 109 (Chelan Business Center.) The Lake Chelan Food Bank is looking for two teams of two people to help glean Safeway and Walmart once a month. They would pickup both Safeway and Walmart on Saturday, Safeway only on Monday and Walmart only on Tuesday starting at 7:30 am on those days. Everything is boxed and ready for pickup at the stores. They would ride with one of our current gleaners for training and introductions to the process. We just purchased a covered utility trailer so they would need a vehicle capable of towing. If interested call 509-368-4151 or email info@lakechelanfoodbank.org

We take Donations for Chelan Valley Hope and Lake Chelan Food Bank

What's the difference between branded and generic medicines are similar, the FDA assumes that the generic medicine will work the same as the branded one.

The active ingredients of generics must be equivalent, but the inactive ingredients don't have to be. Sometimes those differences change the way you absorb your medicine. Just like meatballs contain more than just meat, tablets and capsules can contain more than just their active ingredient.

When a medication's dose is a tiny bit of powder, more volume will be needed to create a tablet or capsule. The added powder is called a filler or diluent. Lactose, sucrose, kaolin, powdered starches, and cellulose are examples of fillers.

Food coloring can be added to medicines, causing reactions in people sensitive to dyes. An adhesive compound called a "binder" is usually added to help the powdered medicine press into a tablet. Binders work similarly to the raw egg in a meatball recipe: by assisting the meat and rice to form into a ball.

Generic manufacturers use less expensive versions of fillers, dyes, and binders, allowable by the FDA as long as the active ingredient is the same concentration as the original medicine. Making generic versions of extended-release or long-acting forms is more complex than duplicating a simple tablet. It's trickier to get the generic versions of these to act the same as the original.

With most generics made overseas, the COVID pandemic disrupted the supply chain of generic medicines. Many pharmacies couldn't get medication from the generic manufacturer they typically used before COVID. Rather than run entirely out, pharmacies had to order drugs from unfamiliar manufacturers. Most generic medicines are made outside the country, where there is little control over the product's source or manufacturing quality.

4 Tips on Taking Generic Medicines:

1. Check your pills before you leave the pharmacy.

Don't assume a different shape or color is "just another generic." Because generic medicines don't have to match the appearance of the branded version, the color or form can change whenever your pharmacy uses a different manufacturer. Check for and challenge any changes in your medicine's shape or color to ensure you have the correct medication in your pill bottle.

2. Double-check with Google.

When getting medications by mail, you can double-check their identity at home. In a Google search box, type the shape (round or oblong), color, and any markings you see on the pill. If there is a line across the tablet, add the word "scored." You will get names, doses, and color images that you can use to match up to your mystery pills. If you are still unsure, call your pharmacy to double-check what should be there.

3. Ask your doctor.

Let your doctor know if you have a poor experience after switching to a generic medication. If your doctor documents the problem, you may qualify for an exception from your insurance company. Many insurance companies will let you return to your original branded medication with appropriate documentation. However, sometimes they will charge you a higher copayment.

4. Report it.

If you notice a difference when switching from a brand name medicine to the generic version, ask your doctor to report it to the FDA. The FDA's MedWatch program tracks any adverse events caused by medicines.

Q: When one of my medicines became available as a generic, my insurance plan forced me to switch. Ever since I haven't felt the same. My doctor insists that it is the exact same medicine, but if that's so, why doesn't it work as well?

Generic medicines are considered equivalent to their brand-name counterparts but are not identical. Although the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) requires all generic drugs to meet the same standards as brand name products, they don't have to match them in every way.

Before they can sell a generic version of a medication, their manufacturer must show the FDA that their product contains the same amount of active ingredients at each strength that the brand name comes in. Generic medicines must also match the form and route of administration of the original or "innovator" medicine, whether it's a tablet, capsule, liquid, or injection.

In addition, the manufacturing processes, quality control, and testing for generics must meet the same standards as branded medicines. Some generics are even made in the same facility as the branded version.

Generic drug manufacturers must prove to the FDA that their generic is equivalent to the original branded medicine. They do this by testing human volunteers' blood after taking each version. If the blood levels from the generic and brand

Buyer beware: 'Ironing Out' the facts on vitamins and supplements

(STATEPOINT) The supplement industry is booming, with more than four in five Americans taking vitamins or supplements, according to a recent Harris Poll on behalf of the American Osteopathic Association. Despite their popularity, the FDA doesn't test the effectiveness, safety or quality of supplements or their ingredients.

To help you navigate this largely unregulated industry, NovaFerrum, a leading manufacturer of iron supplements for children and adults whose products have been clinically proven safe, effective and well tolerated, offers the following primer:

- Good sourcing. Where it comes from is almost as important as what's in it. Manufacturers can cut corners by working with lower-quality global suppliers or operating in places that require little oversight. Look for products sourced and manufactured in the United States, such as NovaFerrum.
- Proper dosage. There is wide variation in the amount of active ingredients in each supplement. Some iron supplements, for example, contain only slightly more iron than a glass of tap water. Make sure you get what you're paying for. On the other hand, taking too high a dosage can be dangerous. Know the Tolerable

Despite their popularity, the FDA doesn't test the effectiveness, safety or quality of supplements or their ingredients.

Upper Intake Level or UL (the maximum amount you can ingest without negative side effects) of each supplement you take.

- Truthful product claims. Don't be fooled by product claims not backed by third parties. The "certified gluten-free" symbol on food packaging means stringent steps were followed to prevent gluten cross-contamination and that the food has been independently tested by a third party. Similarly, many products are listed as vegan, kosher and halal, but smart consumers know to look for those that are vegan-verified and Etimad Halal or Kosher certified.
- The right ingredients. While organic is a good thing when you buy vegetables, when it comes to products that require a shelf-life, this might not be the best approach. Some popular "all-natural" supplements have been recalled due to bacterial contamination. Without some level of preservative, harmful bacteria can grow in liquid supplements and make users seriously ill.

- Trustworthy brands. The supplement industry has experienced a number of lawsuits and recalls for issues related to ineffectiveness and adverse reactions. Do your homework.
- Science-backed products. Don't trust your family's health to a formula cooked up in a kitchen sink. Seek scientifically proven solutions based on years of pharmaceutical and health care experience and recommended by licensed medical professionals. Choose only supplements that have voluntarily undergone full-scale, multi-year clinical trials to prove that they're safe, effective and well-tolerated.
- Easy ingestion. Look for infant and children's products that actually taste good enough that they'll take them. The pediatric drops and chewable tablets from NovaFerrum, for example, come in flavors like chocolate and raspberry grape. Also, when it comes to iron supplements, stick with formulations that reduce iron-related gastrointestinal side effects often experienced by people of all ages.

- Doctor-approved solutions. What you put into your body impacts your health in myriad ways, so choosing a supplement is essentially making a medical decision. Don't rely on slick advertising. Always get your doctor's counsel.

For more information on NovaFerrum, its iron supplements or its clinical trial, visit novaferrum.com. "Whether you're taking supplements for athletic performance, to fill nutritional gaps or to boost wellness, it's essential to make smart choices," says Patrick Monsivais, CEO of NovaFerrum. "The good news is that with a little research, you can determine which are effective and made from high-quality ingredients, and which are a waste of money or, worse, potentially harmful."

FBI's Trump Home Raid Improperly Intrusive, Circumstances Indicate: Lawyers

PETR SVAB

There's reason to suspect that the FBI search of the Florida residence of former President Donald Trump was improperly intrusive, according to several lawyers. The raid prompted a rebuke from Trump and Republicans more broadly and further escalated political tensions in the nation.

About two dozen FBI agents entered Trump's Palm Beach resort of Mar-a-Lago at about 9 a.m. on Aug. 8 and left about 10 hours later with "a handful of boxes of documents," one of Trump's attorneys on the scene, Christina Bobb, told Insight.

"I didn't actually get to oversee the search, they wouldn't let anybody see what they were doing," she said.

It isn't clear what legal basis the FBI had for the raid. The agents had a search warrant signed by a judge. However, the affidavit explaining the basis—its probable cause—was filed under seal, and Trump's lawyers weren't allowed to examine it, Bobb said.

In general, the agents were looking for "what they deemed to be presidential records," she said.

"I don't think there was anything of substance."

Trump's legal team will take steps to obtain the affidavit, according to Bobb.

There has been a dispute between the National Archives and Trump about whether he has documents that should be stored at the archives under the U.S. Presidential Records Act.

Trump has been cooperative on that front and had previously invited the FBI to Mar-a-Lago to examine the White House records he had in storage at the time, Bobb said.

"Nothing had been hidden, and nothing had been kept secret from them, which makes this all the more ridiculous," she said.

Potentially Illegal

"I'm stunned and dismayed," Marc Ruskin, a 27-year FBI veteran and former federal prosecutor, told Insight. "The disregard for traditional norms and apparent lack of concern with the appearance of impropriety is indicative of an abandonment of even a veneer of independence and objectivity."

Former federal prosecutor Mike Davis went even further, saying the raid may have been illegally invasive.

"Under the case law, you can't do a home raid if you can secure the documents through less intrusive means," he told "Bannon's War Room" on Aug. 9.

The FBI had to first determine that requests for the documents or even subpoenas wouldn't be sufficient, said Davis, who formerly advised Sen. Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa) on judicial nominations and now heads The Article III Project.

"There's zero evidence" that Trump wouldn't have cooperated, Davis said.

"There was no allegation or evidence that he [Trump] was destroying any of this evidence or putting it into the wrong hands. This is banana republic-level tactics from the Biden Justice Department," he said.

Even if Trump took classified documents, he took possession of them when he was still chief executive and had the authority to declassify them, according to Davis.

Bobb suggested that the invocation of classified documents was a disingenuous attempt of "shrouding this in a national security blanket."

"They don't want to disclose what they're doing, because what they're doing is wrong. And so they want to hide it behind the premise of 'Oh, it's a matter of national security and classified documents, so we can't disclose to you what we're doing or why we're doing it. But just trust us. We're not lying to you," she said. "Well, no, the American people aren't going to stand for that anymore."

Even if the DOJ tried to charge Trump with withholding documents, it wouldn't hold up because the statute in question requires a "willful" violation, and Trump would have had to have "some malicious intent" to take specific documents, according to Bobb.

"They would have to lay the foundation that Donald Trump actually packed up his own office" or ordered somebody what specifically to take, she said.

History of Missing Documents

If Trump had documents that should go to the archives, it would add him to a lineup of former government officials.

Former FBI Director James Comey took his handwritten notes when he was fired by Trump in 2017. His home wasn't raided. He handed the notes to FBI agents who came to interview him.

The Obama administration didn't just fail to hand over documents; tens of thousands of its documents went missing or were destroyed. No homes were raided.

Former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton failed to hand over tens of thousands of emails and documents from her server, claiming that they were of a personal nature. The FBI was able to retrieve some of the documents, revealing that many were work-related. Moreover, the documents were under congressional subpoena at the time when a Clinton aide deleted them.

Immediate Skepticism

The raid prompted an immediate wave of skepticism, particularly because the FBI and the Department of Justice (DOJ) have a history of misrepresenting, breaking protocol, and even forging evidence in their case against Trump and members of his campaign.

"After six years of unfounded, absurd investigations of President Trump, the presumption is that any investigation of President Trump is politically motivated, and the burden of proof is on FBI/DOJ to prove otherwise," Will Chamberlain, senior counsel at the Internet Accountability Project, wrote in an Aug. 9 Twitter post.

In 2017, the FBI and DOJ obtained two extensions of a spying warrant on former Trump campaign aide Carter Page even though the warrant was based on false or unsubstantiated allegations. The FBI later acknowledged that spying based on the extensions was illegal.

The FBI also has a history of harsh treatment of people associated with Trump. His aides have been arrested at gunpoint, handcuffed, and "perp-walked," and their homes and offices have been raided in pursuit of trivial or non-violent offenses, even when the targets were cooperating with the government.

Shoe on the Other Foot

The Trump raid increased the already polarized political playing field, as Republicans can now argue that home raids of former presidents are acceptable.

"They're setting a very dangerous precedent where you can do a home raid of a former president of the United States," Davis said, noting that such a thing has never happened "in our 250 years as a republic."

Already, Republican lawmakers are promising to subject the DOJ and the FBI to intense scrutiny, with the expectation of reclaiming the majority in the House after the November midterms.

"When Republicans take back the House, we will conduct immediate oversight of this department, follow the facts, and leave no stone unturned," House Minority Leader Kevin McCarthy (R-Calif.) said in an Aug. 8 statement. "Attorney General Garland: preserve your documents and clear your calendar."

Judge's Epstein Connection

The search warrant was issued by U.S. Magistrate Judge Bruce Reinhart in the Southern District of Florida. Reinhart was a senior prosecutor in the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of Florida when the office reached a nonprosecution agreement with Jeffrey Epstein, who was later indicted for sex trafficking children and died by apparent suicide in a New York jail.

Upon leaving office, Reinhart went into private practice and represented multiple Epstein associates and employees in civil cases against Epstein by his alleged victims.

Reinhart was appointed a magistrate judge in 2018 by the district judges in the Southern District of Florida.

The warrant was issued on Aug. 5, the day after FBI Director Christopher Wray testified to the Senate Judiciary Committee and was questioned about multiple whistleblower reports alleging the politicization of the bureau. Wray cut the questioning short because he said he had to urgently travel. Flight records indicate he flew in the FBI private jet to his vacation retreat in the Adirondacks, according to New York Post columnist Miranda Devine.

Nothing had been hidden and nothing had been kept secret from them, which makes this all the more ridiculous.

Florida Elections Supervisor Issues COVID-19 Voting Procedures That Appear to Challenge State Law

PATRICIA TOLSON

A supervisor of elections for a Florida county has repeatedly overstepped his authority to implement COVID-19 mandates and voting procedures that appear to challenge numerous state laws, according to documents obtained exclusively by The Epoch Times just days before the start of Florida's 2022 primary election cycle.

Early voting in Florida runs from Aug. 13 to Aug. 20, and "each county's Supervisor of Elections may offer more days of early voting from one or more of the following days: Aug. 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, and 21." Florida's primary Election Day is Aug. 23.

In a letter dated Nov. 4, 2021, Paul Stamoulis, the supervisor of elections for Florida's Charlotte County, informed "all applicants interested in serving as a Poll Worker" that they were "required to complete an enclosed Certification form," verifying that they had "been inoculated for the COVID-19 virus."

Applicants were told they had to identify the type of vaccine they received and the dates the vaccine was administered. By signing the form, applicants were also acknowledging that they understood they would be required to wear a mask or a face shield, covering their nose and mouth, "at all times." Applicants who could not "comply with this new policy" for "whatever reason" were told they were "ineligible to work the 2022 Elections."

On April 2, 2021, seven months before Stamoulis mailed his letters, Gov. Ron DeSantis signed executive order 21-81, banning vaccine mandates and vaccine passports, saying such measures "would create two classes of citizens based on vaccination."

A month later, on May 3, DeSantis issued executive order 21-101, which suspended all local COVID-19 restrictions and mandates on individuals and businesses, and further stated that "no county or municipality may renew or enact an emergency order or ordinance, using a local state of emergency ... that imposes restrictions or mandates upon businesses or individuals due to the COVID-19 emergency."

The order was effective immediately. The same day, DeSantis signed executive order 21-102 suspending all remaining states of emergency as of July 1, four months before Stamoulis mailed his letters.

Due to immediate backlash, Stamoulis rescinded this vaccine mandate policy.

But after his failure to force a vaccine mandate on local poll workers, Stamoulis has released a new set of polling room procedures that would prohibit voters from entering any one of their three early voting locations.

According to page eight of Stamoulis's "Polling Location Pandemic Procedures 2022" manual, Stamoulis wanted poll deputies to take the temperature of every voter—including accompanying children or any assistants they might bring—who wants to cast a ballot during Charlotte County's 15-day early voting period.

Under the heading, "Changes During COVID," the new manual says "each location would be provided with a thermometer," and "Deputies stationed at the entry to the polling location" will be responsible for that thermometer throughout the day. Deputies will also "instruct that Everyone wishing to enter a polling location is to have his or her temp checked (kids, assistants, poll watchers, etc.)."

If anyone registers a temperature of 100 degrees or more, "claims to be uncomfortable entering the location," or "claims to feel ill and does not want to enter the polling location" or "refuses to have their temp taken," that would trigger a costly and time-consuming procedure.

'Alternate Voting' Procedures

Any of those situations would activate "alternate voting" procedures.

The deputy must stop attending to their other outside duties—which include ensuring that only voters and qualified individuals are admitted into the polling room, maintaining the peace outside, and ensuring enforcement of the 150-foot "no solicitation zone"—in order to find the clerk, who also would need to step away from their assigned duties.

Those tasks include assisting voters casting a provisional ballot, providing assistance to the EViD operator/inspector who operates the electronic poll book when they are unable to locate a voter in the registry, ensuring the maintenance of adequate supplies, filling in for poll workers who are on breaks, and managing the overall voting process within the polling site.

Under the "Deputy and Clerk Responsibilities" heading, the clerk is directed to go outside and, while "wearing a mask and single-use gloves," explain the new alternate process and "request the voter's photo/signature identification and inform the voter they will be right back."

The clerk must then go back inside and interrupt the check-in procedure of a voter—who already went through the temperature screening process—in order to have the EViD operator/inspector force the machine to issue a voting pass, since the voter hasn't yet provided a signature for verification purposes.

The clerk then must return outside with the voter's ID, voting pass, signature slip, ballot, and secrecy sleeve. After the voter signs the signature slip, the clerk then compares the signature with the signature on the voter's ID. If they match, the voter is directed to a voting booth outside in the Florida summer heat to mark their ballot.

The deputy then juggles their normal duties with monitoring the voter to make sure they don't leave with the ballot and/or that they aren't approached by a third person. Once the voter has completed their ballot, they are told they must take their ballot to the deputy, who is not permitted to touch the ballot, so the deputy can go inside to get the clerk, who must again stop what they were doing inside in order to go back outside to get the voter's ballot.

The clerk then must tell the voter that they are going to take their ballot inside to the polling room, where the ballot will be added to the tabulator. In the meantime, a third poll worker, the assistant clerk, also must halt their inside duties, which includes covering for the clerk in their absence, in order to document the procedure for the voter with a "recording device," leaving no one left to assist voters and other poll workers with ballot casting and check in issues.

lot going from the voter to insertion into the DS200, the manual states. Then, the clerk "returns to show the voter the video that their ballot was tabulated."

"Once the voter sees the video, it is deleted (in front of the voter)."

Florida Election Laws

According to Florida Statute 102.031, "No photography is permitted in the polling room or early voting area." The state's Voter's Bill of Rights states that an elector has the right to "vote free from coercion or intimidation by elections officers or any other person."

According to Florida Statute 104.20, "Any elector who, except as provided by law, allows his or her ballot to be seen by any person; takes or removes, or attempts to take or remove, any ballot from the polling place before the close of the polls; places any mark on his or her ballot by which it may be identified; endeavors to induce any elector to show how he or she voted; aids or attempts to aid any elector unlawfully; or prints or procures to be printed, or has in his or her possession, any copies of any ballot prepared to be voted is guilty of a misdemeanor of the first degree."

Forcing a voter to have possession of their ballot outside of the polling location, where anyone could walk up and see it, subjects the voter to committing a third-degree felony.

When asked by The Epoch Times about his policies and procedures that appear to violate at least three executive orders and several statutes in Florida's election laws, Stamoulis said in an email: "Regarding the sanitizing and social distancing issues, please see Governor Ron DeSantis' Executive Order."

DeSantis signed executive order 20-149 on June 17, 2020, which was superseded by the three aforementioned executive orders.

"Masks are optional but not required of voters or poll workers in Florida," Stamoulis said.

However, his manual clearly states on page six, under the heading, "What We Expect Our Voters to Do for Our Community," that voters are expected to "arrive with sanitized hands and a face mask." Under the heading "What We Will Do for You," it says poll workers will "provide masks for those without." "We are awaiting a ruling on the temperature issue," Stamoulis said.

However, on the last page of his manual, Stamoulis states that "the supervisor of elections is the final authority when it comes to decisions surrounding COVID in our offices and polling locations."

"In response to me being the final authority on COVID issues, please be advised that I follow the law in all matters, including Executive Orders, no exceptions," he said.

DeSantis's Office Responds

The office of the governor disagrees.

"Florida law is the final authority when it comes to elections in the state," DeSantis's press secretary Christina Pushaw told The Epoch Times. "Supervisors of elections must follow state law. If a supervisor is found to be in violation of the law, the governor has the authority to suspend that person from office."

Under state law, Pushaw asserted that Floridians can't be required to wear a mask by any government official or entity, which means that a mask mandate for voting wouldn't be permissible.

"Beyond the mask issue, this document as a whole is concerning because it could scare citizens into thinking they must comply or simply not show up," Pushaw said. "In other words, this could be seen as voter suppression. It needs to be rectified to be clear to voters about their rights."

"We do not accept 'COVID protocols' that could suppress legal votes or prevent anyone from voting in person."

As a result of reporting on Aug. 5 by The Epoch Times' sister media NTD News about Stamoulis's efforts to implement polling procedures that violate Florida laws, "the Florida Department of State has addressed the issue." Stamoulis's office told NTD that "the Polling Procedures Manual has been revised" and "all clerks and poll workers have been notified via email of the prohibition against temperature screening and the alternate voting procedure."

Stamoulis didn't respond by press time to a request by The Epoch Times for an update on how the policy had been revised.
