

City of Chelan planning improvements at Lakeside Park, public meeting June 16, 18

CHELAN - The City of Chelan is planning improvements at Lakeside Park. These improvements will address parking, swim area improvements, restroom capacities, increased ADA access, and an accessible artful playground. While many of the project parameters are broadly established, there is lots of room for the public to help refine the details of the final park program. Please join them to share your ideas.

June 16

Thursday, June 16, 6-8 p.m. at Chelan City Hall, 135 E. Johnson Avenue. This will be a public forum with a brief presentation of the project history, project parameters, then discussions with the design team to gather input from attendees.

June 18

Saturday June 18, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Interactive Inputs: Meet with project designers with Berger Partnership and Parks Director Paul Horne on-site at Lakeside Park, 2230 Terrace Avenue. This will be a more interactive informal session to gather insights from park users.

Large crowd gathers for Memorial Day celebration

Guest speaker Sheriff Brian Burnett

BY NORM MANLY, AMERICAN LEGION #108 POST SERVICE OFFICER

MANSON - The Manson American Legion's Annual Memorial Day celebration was held on May 30, at 11 a.m. on a cool but dry morning. We thank seven students from Manson High School for helping set up tables, chairs and preparing for the event and taking down after. We recognize, and thank members of the Lake Chelan VFW for supporting the event. A big thank you goes out to Manson Fire Chief, Arnold Baker and his crew for bringing Tower 51, their aerial platform truck. They set up on Highway 150 and raised their huge American Flag high above the formalities.

Commander McCullough commenced the remembrance celebration to a large crowd of over 125 people. Chaplain Dana Starkweather provided the opening prayer. The American Legion Posted Colors, Craig Pittson carried the American flag and Brian Strausbaugh brought the Post flag. The Lake Chelan Patriotic Singers, under the direction of Steve Davis led everyone in "God Bless America".

spoke of the United States military personnel that paid the ultimate price and the importance we never forget. "Comrades, this day is sacred with the almost visible presence of those who have gone before us. We honor the memory of those who gave their lives in the service of our country and of those others who have dropped their burdens by the wayside of life

Food Bank food distribution: June 11, 14

Volunteer gleaners needed

CHELAN - The Lake Chelan Food Bank food giveaway is on Saturday and Tuesday, 9-10 a.m. Distribution is drive-thru. They are located at 417 S. Bradley Street. The Food Bank is getting requests for pet food. Small bags of dog food are best. They can be dropped off at the Lake Chelan Mirror office, 131 S. Apple Blossom Drive, Ste. 109 (Chelan Business Center).

The Lake Chelan Food Bank is looking for two teams of two people to help glean Safeway and Walmart once a month starting in April. They would pickup both Safeway and Walmart on Saturday, Safeway only on Monday and Walmart only on Tuesday starting at 7:30 am on those days. Everything is boxed and ready for pickup at the stores. They would ride with one of our current gleaners for training and introductions to the process. We just purchased a covered utility trailer so they would need a vehicle capable of towing. If interested call 509-368-4151 or email info@lakechelanfoodbank.org

Glass recycle: June 11

Open 9 a.m.-Noon

CHELAN - Rotary of Lake Chelan 911 Glass Rescue is open on Saturday mornings from 9 a.m.-noon, at 23235 Highway 97A across from WalMart. They are charging a small fee per pound for glass drop-off. Buckets of the materials produced, sand and aggregate, will be available for purchase at $5 per 5-gallon bucket. City of Chelan residents are asked not to put glass into their blue recycle bins, but to bring it out on Saturday mornings. Their all-volunteer team relies on support from members of the community to make the operation run smoothly every week. They have tasks suitable for all ages and abilities. To volunteer go to www.911glassrescue.org, and click on the volunteer tab on the home page.

Mobile Food Pantry: June 9

MANSON - The Mobile Food Pantry will be at North Shore Bible Church on Thursday, June 9, noon- 2 p.m. All are welcome. It is a walk thru format and guests pick their own food. This will be a regular stop every second Thursday of the month.

Signups continuing for free Wildfire Ready Neighbors program for high-risk areas

CHELAN - Through the Wildfire Ready Neighbors program, people can access experts and resources that help them understand how to reduce risk on their property through actions they can take into their own hands. This includes trimming back brush, cleaning roofs and gutters, and removing debris like leafy piles. When every property in a neighborhood takes these steps, their individual homes create a large area that is less susceptible to wildfires.

This year, 219 Chelan County residents have signed up for the program and they are halfway to their goal of 440 sign-ups.

With summer just one month away and fire season around the corner, they need more Chelan residents to take action to build community resiliency.

Why it's good to sign up for the Wildfire Ready Neighbors program and get an evaluation?

"The Wildfire Ready Neighbors program takes the confusion out of wildfire preparedness for residents and property owners. The free, customized plan you'll receive after signing up will help you understand all the proactive actions - from small to large steps - you can take to protect yourself and your neighbors from wildfire, and a free consultation from a wildfire expert can help assess any overlooked details on your property. Wildfires don't stop at property lines, so when it comes to preparing for wildfire, we all must take action to build community resiliency," said Chelan Fire District 7 Chief Brandon Asher.

Sign-up is simple: to get a free plan, participants just visit WildfireReady.com and click 'Sign Up'. They'll be asked to provide some basic info about their property and then they'll receive a free Wildfire Ready Plan customized to their unique needs to get them started. Steps may include: Clearing gutters of pine needles and leaves. Removing flammable materials within 5 feet of their home. Installing metal mesh panels in the openings around their home. Pruning and thinning trees and vegetation within 5 - 200 feet of the home; and many more...

Residents can also schedule a free consultation from a wildfire expert if they'd like an expert come out to assess their home and property.

For several summers, Chelan County has endured bone dry and hot conditions that create tremendous wildfire risks for communities. Last summer alone, 60 fires burned more than 36,500 acres.

MEMORIAL DAY

Originally established during the Civil War, Memorial Day honors the 1.17 million men and women who have died to create and maintain the freedoms outlined in our great Constitution.

Kathy Seureau, Past Quartermaster for the Lake Chelan VFW presented flowers at the base of the monument offering these encouraging words, “To commemorate the virtues of our dear departed heroes who served their country in time of need, I now offer our symbolic tributes. I place this red flower to symbolize the zeal of our departed comrades who have fallen in defense of the United States of America upholding brotherhoods, truth and justice. I place this white flower as a token of the purity of affection we have for our departed comrades. May each future generation emulate the unselfish courage of all men and women who fought for freedom. I place this blue flower, from nature’s bosom, which symbolizes truth and fidelity, as a token of our sincere respect for all departed comrades. This emblem of eternity bespeaks life everlasting, thus we immortalize all who gave their lives.

The wreath was brought forward by Carole Hansen and Norm Manly. Lukas and Rex Torgesen, students from Manson High School played Dueling Taps on their trumpets, a haunting tribute to the fallen.

Commander McCullough spoke again saying, “No sorrow for the loved ones left behind could dim the purpose in their souls. No weariness of march and watch could keep them from their hearts’ desire. No horror of the field or sea could beat their courage down. All who stand with us today, will you not consecrate yourselves with us to emulate their sacred service that those who rest in heroes’ graves may not have died in vain. Let us stand with bowed heads in solemn memory of our heroic dead.”

The Lake Chelan Patriotic Singers led the crowd singing the “Star Spangled Banner” followed by the introduction of our guest speaker, Chelan County Sheriff Brian Burnett. Burnett started his career in Law Enforcement with the Chelan County Sheriff’s Office in 1998. He is serving his third term as Chelan County’s elected sheriff.

Sheriff Burnett stepped to the podium and began his speech by talking about the importance of Memorial Day and that so many men and women have died protecting our freedoms and that we, as civilians need to do everything we can do to protect our freedoms as well.

He then shared a story about his son, the youngest of five boys. As a young boy, he was afraid of the dark and always wanted a hall light on. As he grew, we watched him play army with oversized camo from the military surplus store. When hiking or mountain biking, he would always pack the U.S. flag and a pole so he could mount and fly the flag from the top of the mountain. It was as if he had a calling on his life to serve his country.

“Currently, my son is in the Army Ranger Program and received the top award, Soldier of the Cycle for his 22-week AIT Infantry Training. Number one out of 165 soldiers. Out of all the things to be proud of, even with all of his outstanding awards or recognitions, the one I’m most proud of is the day he sent pictures home of his army uniform with his name, Burnett, on it along with his “Dog Tags”, said Burnett. “I’ve waited all my life for this and now it’s official.” He was called to serve and had a vision and he has stepped up to answer that call as so many of our fallen heroes have done to protect our freedoms.

American Legion “Appreciation Certificates” were presented to Manson Fire Chief Arnold Baker and Chelan County Sheriff Brian Burnett. The Commander McCullough ordered the Color Guard to “Retrieve Colors”. Chaplain Dana Starkweather gave the Benediction then Commander McCullough thanked everyone for attending. There were many positive comments regarding the event.

Maureen White, a Manson resident for many years said, “I’ve been here for 32 years and attended every Manson Memorial Day celebration. This year’s was the best. I love the fact you are including students to participate, the Manson Fire truck hoisting the American Flag almost brought tears to my eyes and I loved what Sheriff Burnett had to say. Great job!”

Lake Chelan VFW members in attendance were Brian Thompson, Chaplain - Dan Smith, Past Post Commander and District Commander - Kathy Seureau, Past Quartermaster, Bob Hoots and Larry Seureau.

THE WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

State officials aren't sharing much about dead wolves found in Stevens county

By JOHN KRUSE, THE WASHINGTON OUTDOOR REPORT

Four wolves were found dead in Stevens County this winter in Northeast Washington but officials with the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife are saying very little about the incident. The wolves were discovered by two Stevens County Sheriff's Deputies on February 18 while they were patrolling the area of Churchill Mine Road a few miles south of the Canada border on snowmobiles. The deputies examined and photographed the animals and noted seeing no blood or bullet holes. They reported their findings to WDFW that day.

The wolves are part of the Wedge Pack and roam a territory where wolves have attacked livestock in the past. These attacks have injured or killed cattle, primarily calves and have led to lethal wolf removals from WDFW, the latest removal occurring in 2020.

WDFW remained silent

about these dead wolves until the end of May. In fact, the incident was not even mentioned in the latest monthly wolf update from the agency which incorrectly stated only one wolf was known to have been killed so far in 2022.

However, that changed May 26 when Eli Francovich, writing for the Spokesman Review, broke this story open after the Kettle Range Conservation Group issued a press release about the incident.

Chris Bachman, the Wildlife and Wildlands Director for the Kettle Range Conservation Group, stated, "WDFW is often criticized for its lack of transparency around wolf management. This is simple opacity. Four gray wolves reported killed and three months have passed without any information related to this event being shared with the public." Bachman went on to say, "I understand WDFW likely has an investigation ongoing, but why not engage the public and try to garner information? Three months have passed, what is happening to bring the perpetrators to justice?"

Bachman believes the wolves were poisoned. He told me he came to this conclusion after an assessment of the case by several experts, including a retired U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service investigator. An interview with Bachman about this incident is scheduled to air the weekend of June 11-12 on the Northwestern Outdoors Radio network.

WDFW did issue the following statement as this story came to light, "The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife is aware of and actively investigating dead wolves found in Stevens County. Because this incident is under active investigation by law enforcement, no further information is being provided at this time. Please report any information about the death or harassment of wolves to the WDFW Enforcement Hotline at 1-877-933-9847."

I contacted Julia Smith, the Wolf Policy Lead for WDFW, as to why information wasn't released earlier. She defended the lack of transparency stating, "Often, in order to avoid jeopardizing an active investigation, information is not released in order to prevent evidence destruction, protect officer safety, and ensure a case isn't compromised. We want to collect enough information such that a solid case can be referred to a prosecutor. Without sufficient evidence, a conviction cannot be made."

A similar case unfolded in 2021 in Northeast Oregon and Oregon State Police investigators, after several months, did announce a reward for information leading to a conviction in the case in the sum of $50,000 that was donated by various environmental and conservation organizations. I asked Smith why no similar rewards had been offered or pleas made to the public for help.

Smith replied, "Although we welcome and appreciate rewards being offered, offering a reward in itself isn't a compelling reason to make an investigation public. I've spent almost a decade working on wolves, and I cannot provide a single example of a monetary award leading to the conviction of a wolf poacher. The cash reward in Oregon has not resulted in any arrests to date. Typically, we get to the stage of offering rewards for information when there are no avenues of investigation remaining for law enforcement.

From my experience, the only thing that leads to convictions is evidence, and the only thing that leads to evidence is a sound investigation. WDFW chose to withhold information in this case to put law enforcement in the best position possible to carry out their investigation. We all want to see poachers brought to justice."

Free fishing and public lands entry

On a lighter note, June 11-12 are free fishing days in Washington, where no license is required to fish or harvest shellfish though all other rules apply. June 11 is also National Outdoors Day and no entry fee or user pass is required to park at developed National Forest or BLM sites or to enter State Parks, Department of Natural Resources Sites or state Fish and Wildlife Areas for the day. Camping fees are still required for overnight stays.

How important is saliva?

Keith is an active 88-year-old former college basketball player and retired physical education teacher. "When I started getting up 3-4 times a night to go to the bathroom, my urologist started me on this medicine."

He showed me a sample bottle of Vesicare® (Solifenacin), a drug marketed for overactive bladder. "I was on the 5mg tablets at first, but I didn't notice any difference, so the Doc upped it to 10mg tablets." "Are those working any better?" "I noticed some difference for the first couple of days, but now I can't tell any difference." "Any problems or side effects from it?" "What do you mean?"

"Keith, does your mouth feel dry since you started taking it?"

"Now that you mention it, yes. I want to drink more water, but I have to go to the bathroom more often whenever I do that. I've tried sucking on lemon drops, and that helps some."

It's estimated that over 30% of people older than 65 years have some degree of dry mouth. While healthy people can make up to 1.5 liters of saliva every 24 hours, people suffering from dry mouth, called xerostomia, make much less.

Your salivary glands are responsible for secreting saliva. They can be damaged by radiation to the head and neck for cancer treatment or impaired by autoimmune diseases like Sjogren's, rheumatoid arthritis, or lupus. And like Keith experienced, some medicines can decrease tear production, saliva secretion, or both. Saliva is vital for a healthy mouth. June is Oral HealthMonth, a collaboration between the American Dental Association and the Colgate company. Their goal is encouraging people to maintain healthy habits that protect their teeth, like brushing, flossing, and seeing a dentist regularly for cleaning and fixing cavities.

Moisture from your saliva helps you chew food and swallow it without choking and helps you enjoy your food more by spreading it over your taste buds.

Saliva also protects the lining of your mouth and teeth from injury and infection, helps prevent food particles from sticking to your teeth, and contains essential antibacterial compounds that prevent tooth decay and gum disease.

Dry mouth symptoms like Keith experienced are not just a nuisance. Without enough saliva, the lining of your mouth will become more easily damaged as your usually moist tissue dries out. Food will stick to your teeth and tongue without saliva's moisture, dramatically increasing plaque formation, tooth decay, and gum inflammation.

When your gums get too dry, they tend to shrink and become more sensitive. This can significantly affect the fit and comfort of dentures. The dryness in your mouth often makes you want to drink more fluids. When Keith drank more water to relieve his dry mouth, he urinated more frequently, which cancelled out his goal of needing fewer trips to the bathroom when taking his Vesicare.

Mouth dryness can sneak up on you and create serious dental problems before you realize it. Keith's habit of sucking on lemon drops adds to his risk of having more cavities and inflamed gums because he has less saliva to help rinse the sugar out of his mouth.

Here are 6 Tips on Dealing with Dry Mouth:

1. Ask your doctor or pharmacist.

One common reason for dry mouth is that it is a side effect of a medicine. Ask your doctor or pharmacist if any of your medications could be causing your dry mouth. Keith ended up switching drugs, which really improved his frequent urination symptoms.

2. Avoid chewing or smoking tobacco.

The nicotine in tobacco can interfere with saliva production.

3. Avoid chewing gum or hard candy sweetened with sugar.

Sugar encourages bacteria in your mouth to produce more acid, which attacks your teeth and gums. Switching to a sugar-free gum or mint containing xylitol will decrease your risk of caries.

4. Take extra good care of your teeth.

Brush and floss twice a day with a very soft toothbrush to reduce damage to your mouth. See your dentist regularly for cleanings and follow-ups.

5. Try an over-the-counter saliva substitute.

Saliva substitutes come as sprays, gels, and even small discs that you stick inside your mouth where baseball players put chewing tobacco. Over 80% of my pharmacist colleagues recommend Biotene® dry mouth relief spray and Biotene® Oral Balance clear gel.

6. Ask your dentist or doctor for a prescription-only saliva stimulant.

If non-prescription products don't help, ask your doctor or dentist for pilocarpine drops. These are eye drops you put in your mouth just before eating to directly stimulate your salivary glands.

June 2, 2022

There's a lot going on at the golf course. A major remodel inside will be open soon. Thirty-three players came to compete last Thursday. The Competition was Monthly Medal (low gross and net by division and fewest putts).

Division 1: Low Gross: First Place: Jan Artim, 86. Second Place: Linda Reister, 92. Third Place was a tie between Ann Minden and Nancy Storaasli, 97.

Low Net: First Place: April Talley, 73. Second Place was a tie between Jaclyn Starr-Evans and Candace Farnsworth, 75.

Fewest Putts: Jan Artim, 30.

Division 2: Low Gross: First Place: Nancy Judson, 99. Second Place: Linda Hahn, 100. Third Place: Susie Clausen, 101.

Low Net: First Place: Sherry Ochsner, 74. Second Place: Julie Allison, 75. Third Place: Roxanne Emerson, 79.

Fewest Putts: Lou Rolfe, 32.

Division 3: Low Gross: First Place: Nancy Parker, 104. Second Place: Judy Johanson, 108. Third Place: Loa Servis, 112.

Low Net: First Place was a three-way tie between Joni Dedo, Karen Erickson and Barb D'Ettorre, 75.

Fewest Putts: Judy Johanson, 34.

No birdies were made but there were three players with chip-ins: Bernie Rayner on hole 13, Karen Holst on hole 13, Susie Clausen on hole 16.

Thursday, June 2 was also the final round of our Apple Blossom match play tournament. Jan Artim and Linda Hahn made it to the final and battled it out in a very competitive round. Jan Artim was one up going into hole 18 and then won the 18th hole, so she won 2up on 18. Kudos to Jan for winning the Apple Blossom Club title for 2022.

This week's competition will be Ecce 9: pick your best 9 holes out of 18 less ½ your handicap.
