Glass recycle: March 26

Now open 9 a.m.-Noon

CHELAN - Rotary of Lake Chelan 911 Glass Rescue is open on Saturday mornings from 9 a.m.-noon, at 23235 Highway 97A across from WalMart. They are charging a small fee per pound for glass drop-off. Buckets of the materials produced, sand and aggregate, will be available for purchase at $5 per 5-gallon bucket. City of Chelan residents are asked not to put glass into their blue recycle bins, but to bring it out on Saturday mornings. Their all-volunteer team relies on support from members of the community to make the operation run smoothly every week. They have tasks suitable for all ages and abilities. To volunteer go to www.911glassrescue.org, and click on the volunteer tab on the home page.

Food Bank food distribution:
March 26, 29

Volunteer gleaners needed

CHELAN - The Lake Chelan Food Bank food giveaway is on Saturday and Tuesday, 9-10 a.m. Distribution is drive-thru. They are located at 417 S. Bradley Street. The Food Bank is getting requests for pet food. Small bags of dog food are best. They can be dropped off at the Lake Chelan Mirror office, 131 S. Apple Blossom Drive, Ste. 109 (Chelan Business Center.)

The Lake Chelan Food Bank is looking for two teams of two people to help glean Safeway and Walmart once a month starting in April. They would pickup both Safeway and Walmart on Saturday, Safeway only on Monday and Walmart only on Tuesday starting at 7:30 am on those days. Everything is boxed and ready for pickup at the stores. They would ride with one of our current gleaners for training and introductions to the process. We just purchased a covered Historic Downtown Chelan was lined with parade watchers wearing their green to watch The Wayne Kelly Memorial Top Dog Parade on Saturday, March 19. There were lots of mom and dads with their children dressed in green, dog owners themselves dressed in green (one in red, white and blue and green), along with their pooches, men in kilts, motorcycles and even a couple of unicycles. Sparky, of Chelan Fire & Rescue even made an appearance.

The Shamrock Shuffle, a 5k Fun Run was held on Saturday, March 19 starting at Riverwalk Park. The Lake Chelan Lions Club in partnership with Lake Chelan Health & Wellness Foundation put on the run with a portion of the proceeds will fund scholarships for children to attend Camp Leo, a summer camp for children with diabetes. They raised approximately $2,500 with 82 runners and walkers participating, including new crowned Miss Lake Chelan Rocio Italia Sevilla (left).

Link Transit board moves to table
2022 route changes until next meeting

By MEGAN SOKOL, STAFF WRITER

WENATCHEE - After Chelan County residents voiced concerns with the proposed July 2022 Service Plan, the Link Transit Board decided to table acceptance of the plan until further notice.

Proposed route changes include streamlining Route 22, which connects downtown Leavenworth to downtown Wenatchee along with converting stops in Peshastin to on-call service. This would require residents of Peshastin to call in for a bus or to let a driver know ahead of time that they are stopping at Peshastin.

Planning Manager Cristina Barone presented the results from a community survey that asked residents how they felt about Phase One of the July 2022 Service Plan. The survey received about 800 responses, with an approximately 80% positivity rate.

The plan is estimated to increase bus service 7%, which would add an extra 1,500 hours. The current plan is fitted around the number of current Link bus operators.

Many residents claimed that the route changes were less accessible for those with disabilities and would cut services to certain areas near the Wenatchee VA clinic, along with reduced services in Peshastin and access to medical services.

Lance Fromm, Tony Sandoval, and Sarah Simonson expressed the need to keep the stop near the VA hospital to remain accessible for veterans.

East Wenatchee resident Dave Sanders referenced a possible discrepancy on a return route that connects Central Washington Hospital to Cascade Ave. He also noted a much longer ride time for his ride from the gym back to his home. Sanders stated that he is legally blind, so he must rely on public transportation.

"Subtracting service isn't what we should be doing," Sanders states.

Peshastin resident Melissa Reuter is uncomfortable with Peshastin becoming an on-call stop, stating she and her entire family relies on public transportation in order to get to and from work. She claims that the new change would require her to change her work schedule in order to get home in time.

"We're a small town but we live in the shadow of Leavenworth, Leavenworth has two buses, and that's great for the tourists on the weekend," Reuter states. "We matter, we live in the shadow of Leavenworth. We take the buses, we matter. I can't get home; do you have a plan for me to get home?"

Another Peshastin resident by the name of Kristin Umbarger submitted a written comment on her concern for Route 22, and whether there would be a consistent route between Peshastin and Cashmere.

Darra Link from Leavenworth wrote that they did not support the new route to Icicle Road, noting the burgeoning influx of tourists disrupting quality of life.

After the public comment period ended, Leavenworth Council Member Anne Hessburg, along with Douglas County Commissioner Kyle Steinburg and Waterville Councilwoman Joyce Huber, were uncertain as to whether they could approve the plan after hearing some of the public's concern.

Link Transit General Manager Richard DeRock stated that new changes will affect someone in the process, due to them having to trade-off certain services due to the lack of bus operators, cutting stops or routes that had the least number of riders.

"This is a really rough rollout in many ways," DeRock explained. "I'm very frustrated by this because we are reducing frequency of service for Leavenworth, for example, because we don't have enough operators to fully get the schedule we wanted to, to get out there."

DeRock states that the new changes with the VA are due to inaccessibility for the bus to get in and out of the area, and that the route going from Sunset Highway and Cascade Ave. is hazardous for bus operators and has been urging for a reconstruction of that area for over a decade.

DeRock hopes to add services back once more bus operators are hired. Barone states that future proposals may include longer hours, however extending current services are limited due to a lack of bus operators. Barone later urged the council to go forward with the plan, reiterating that the proposed plan still had plenty of good elements that they can implement this year.

Hessburg did not agree that these changes provide more access to people and that this plan needs more time to address concerns that the public had with the plan.

"We are talking about outlying communities where they really heavily depend on this type of access for their livelihood and just one more step to get a bus close to them is the gap," Hessburg explained. "We have thousands in our community that need access to medical facilities, it needs to be a priority, on-site drop offs need to be a priority. I'm not seeing that happening at all. Saying that we just don't know how to do it is not a good answer."

Steinburg moved to deny confirmation of the proposed changes, with Hessburg seconding to table the plan until the next Link Transit board meeting. The board voted 6-0, passing unanimously.

Chelan County awards nearly $710,500 to tourism-related projects

SUBMITTED BY JILL FITZSIMMONS, CHELAN COUNTY PIO

WENATCHEE -- The Chelan County Board of County Commissioners awarded nearly $710,500 in lodging tax dollars to a variety of local tourism-related projects that are geared toward attracting more visitors to the county.

"The county's Lodging Tax Advisory Committee, which makes the award recommendations to the commissioners, has spent an incredible amount of time and energy determining where these tax dollars would be best spent," said Chelan County Commissioner Tiffany Gering, who chairs the committee. "We are excited to see how this money impacts our local economy."

The recent LTAC grant application period, announced earlier this year, was specifically for capital expenditures of tourism-related facilities owned or operated by a municipality or a public entity. Lodging tax dollars were awarded to five projects:

- The Chelan County Fair Board was awarded $24,904 for the renovation of the rodeo arena at the county fairgrounds. The upgrades will not only attract more out-of-area participants to established events such as the county fair but also will allow the facility to expand and attract new events.
- The Chelan County Natural Resources Department was awarded $250,000 for the expansion of the Wenatchee River County Park in Monitor. The expansion will be on 6 acres of county-owned land adjacent to the existing park and will include a trail system, potential camping sites and an area dedicated to park maintenance needs.
- Chelan County was awarded $60,000 to complete an inventory of county right-of-way that is used for recreation access. Some of these areas have recently experienced heavy congestion and parking and trespassing problems. The inventory will be used to evaluate the county's existing recreation access locations and then formulate a capital improvement plan that may include upgraded facilities at these access points. The plan also would be used to leverage larger funding for capital improvements.

- The Chelan County Expo Center was awarded $200,000 for the purchase of a mobile, hydraulic stage. The stage will be used for the Chelan County Fair entertainment as well as in the creation of additional festivals and concert events at the expo center.
- The Pybus Market Charitable Foundation was awarded $175,590 for its Westside Revitalization Project. The full buildout of the project will allow for a year-round, outdoor farmers market and the creation of other events and activities.

LTAC originally budgeted $560,000 on the 2022 capital project awards; however, after seeing the caliber of projects eligible for the funding, it was the committee's recommendation that an additional $150,000 be allocated, Gering said.

"These tax dollars are an investment in projects that LTAC believes will have a very real impact on our local economy," she said.

Lodging tax dollars are generated by local lodging establishments. In Chelan County, about half the money generated in a year is allocated to six local chambers as well as the Cascade Loop and TREAD. Another portion is used to operate the county's Visit Chelan County campaign. The remaining money is offered annually in the form of grants to tourist-related organizations. In December, commissioners approved the awarding of nearly $223,000 in lodging tax dollars to 17 tourist-related organizations for marketing efforts.

OBITUARIES

Gloria Jean Miller

September 23, 1931 – March 12, 2022
Chelan, Washington

Gloria (Dietrich) Miller, 90 years old, went to be with Jesus on March 12, 2022.

Gloria was born in Chelan, Washington, September 23, 1931 to John C. and Maude Dietrich. She was the second born of six children. Gloria was raised in the Lake Chelan Valley on her parent's apple orchard. In her younger years, Gloria and her older brother, John, made apple boxes for their father's orchard. She also baby sat her younger siblings and cousins on the weekends. While attending Chelan High School, Gloria worked at the iconic Ruby Theatre in downtown Chelan. She married Veryle Miller on March 3, 1951, just two days before he left for boot camp, and they moved to Temple, Texas. Gloria worked for Farmers Insurance and ran a sub Post Office. When Veryle was shipped overseas during the Korean War, Gloria returned home to Lake Chelan to work.

In 1955, Gloria and Veryle began farming apples in the Lake Chelan Valley. They raised their two children Mark and Kara on their orchard and taught them the values of hard work. Gloria loved her children and there was nothing she wouldn't do for them. She cherished her time with them and attended all their functions including horse shows, 4-H meetings, and Cub Scouts. Gloria enjoyed snowmobiling at their cabin in Twisp, Washington, camping with friends and family, and reading anything non-fiction or health related. She also liked sewing and riding Honda motorcycles with her husband and friends. She loved to bowl and was on the Aston's bowling team for many years at Chelan Lanes.

One of Gloria's greatest joys was becoming a grandma. She loved her two grandchildren, Resa and Calin. Gloria and Veryle enjoyed taking them camping, playing card games, and going to all their sports games and activities. When they became great-grandparents, Gloria and Veryle loved taking their grandchildren and great-grandchildren to Suncadia each October for the Fall Festival. Gloria celebrated her 90th Birthday with the family at Suncadia this past fall.

In retirement, Gloria and Veryle enjoyed traveling and spending time with their family. They often went to Lake Havasu, Arizona, and it became their winter home. When their grandson, Calin, began playing college basketball, they stayed home during the winter to travel to as many games as possible. In 1999, they had a new home built overlooking the Chelan gorge. Gloria planted many flowers and enjoyed caring for them via her golf cart.

Gloria was an avid writer and loved to send and receive letters. I am sure many of us reading this now have received one of Gloria's amazing handwritten birthday or just-thinking-of-you cards. Her kindness and love for Jesus, her family, friends, and animals are found in her special letters to us.

Gloria was preceded in death by her husband, Veryle Miller; daughter, Verylene Miller; son, Mark Miller; mother, Maude Dietrich; father, John C. Dietrich; brother, Delbert Dietrich; and sister, Karen Hall.

She is survived by her daughter, Kara (Harold) Schell; granddaughter, Resa (Jeff) Tucker; grandson, Calin (Britt) Schell; brother, John (Leola) Dietrich; sister, Sharon Little; sister, Glenna Reeves; many nieces, nephews, and seven great-grandchildren.

Please help us in celebrating Gloria's life on Saturday, April 9, 2022, at 11 a.m. at the Berean Baptist Church, 515 E. Woodin Ave., Chelan, Washington. Following will be the Interment at Chelan Fraternal Cemetery and Reception at Campbell's Resort from 1:30-3:30 p.m.

In Lieu of flowers, the family would be grateful for memorial contributions to Chelan Valley Hope or the Wenatchee Humane Society.

Please leave any thought and memories for the family at www.prechtrose.com Services have been entrusted to Precht Rose Chapel, Chelan, Washington.

Roland William "Ron" Sloan

August 23, 1932- March 12, 2022
Chelan, Washington

Roland William "Ron" Sloan, of Chelan, WA, passed away on March 12, 2022, of natural causes. Ron was born on August 23, 1932, in Tacoma, Washington, to John Delbert and Alice Knittle Sloan. He grew up in Morton, Washington. He graduated from Morton High School in 1948, and went on to Central Washington University, where he graduated in 1952, with a Masters in Science. He served for four years in the U.S. Air Force.

On August 4, 1952, he married

Nancy McGlenn, in Spokane, Washington. They made their home in Chelan, Washington, their entire married life, until Nancy passed away on September 7, 2011.

Ron worked for seven years as a teacher in the Chelan School District teaching science. He then went on to work for 2 years at the Lower Taven, and finished his career at Entiat High School, working there for 12 years. During this time, he also worked as a carpenter and land developer. Ron was also the mayor of Chelan. He enjoyed being outdoors; especially golfing, hunting, and trap shooting.

Ron was preceded in death by his wife, Nancy; and son, Delbert "Del" Sloan.

He is survived by son, Danny Sloan and wife, Patricia, of Chelan, Washington; granddaughter, Christy Sloan, of Chelan, Washington; grandson, Cory Sloan of Seattle, Washington; grandson, Dylan Sloan of Chelan, Washington; and three great-grandchildren: Tula, Del, and Dominik, all of Chelan, Washington.

A Celebration of Life will be held on March 26, 2022, at 10 a.m., at Precht Rose Chapel, 332 E. Woodin Ave., Chelan, WA, with Pastor Brian Ross officiating. Services have been entrusted to Precht Rose Chapel, Chelan, WA.

Obituary & Memorial Policies

NCW Media, Inc.: Leavenworth Echo, Cashmere Valley Record, Lake Chelan Mirror, Quad City Herald

An Obituary is a way for family member(s) to commemorate a loved one's life and to notify the community of the passing of the loved one. Obituaries are also used for historical and ancestral data.

Memorials are another way to let the community know about the life and memories of the person who has passed. A Memorial is different from an Obituary. An Obituary is usually current, while a Memorial can be written later.

Obituaries and Memorials need to be typed and emailed as a Word Document. They can be placed in one or more papers - all publish weekly on Wednesday.

Obituaries are priced by the number of words and include one color photo and go online at no extra charge. Memorials are priced per column inch. Please call for cost. *Payment is due at the time of placement. *Exception: Chapels, funeral homes who have an account, can be billed. There is no charge for a Death Notice - information is limited.

Deadline is 4 p.m. on Friday - some exceptions may apply.

Mountain Goats participate in Yakima Valley Invite

SUBMITTED BY COACH MARTY ROTH LISBERGER

March 19 match
YAKIMA - Chelan traveled to Yakima on Saturday, March 18 to participate in the 1st ever Yakima Valley Invite, facing off against a mix of 4A, 2A and 1A schools. It was a large tournament featuring over 150 athletes spread over three sites utilizing 33 courts! Highlights:
The #1 doubles team of Piper Grossberg and Arden Paglia defeated Wapato and West Valley before falling to Selah in the championship match (under terrible windy conditions) to finish 2nd overall.
The #3 doubles team Maya Cowan and Yuly Nunez knocked off Selah and Wapato on their path to the championship before losing a heart-breaker to Othello in the 3rd set tiebreaker. They also finished 2nd overall.
The Mountain Goats traveled to Okanogan on Monday, March 19.

Ephrata at Chelan, non-league

March 18 match
CHELAN - The team scores will look bad, but they don't tell the full story. The Chelan girls were missing two of the top four players on the ladder, and the boys were missing almost half of their varsity roster. Despite those absences, we were competitive top to bottom against a talented 2A opponent...but lost every close match. I don't like moral victories, but huge props to our JV players who filled in, almost pulled off wins, and had fun doing it. I continue to believe that our strength is our depth, and that showed again tonight.
Girls:
Ephrata 5, Chelan 0
#1 Singles: Lexie Diem def Arden Paglia 6-4, 3-6, 6-1
#2 Singles: Emily Pugh def Makayla Griffith 7-5, 6-1
#1 Doubles: Anna Pugh/Molly Evenson def Piper Grossberg/Caelan Rothlisberger 6-1, 6-3
#2 Doubles: Kacie Shannon/Addie Mills def Jamie Bekel/Maya Cowan 6-1, 6-3
#3 Doubles: Campbell Grizzle/McKell Johns def Yuly Nunez/Marissa Manda 6-1, 6-0
Boys:
Ephrata 5, Chelan 0
#1 Singles: Kyle Stewart def Nate Harding 3-6, 6-3, 7-6
#2 Singles: Josh Mullings def Teagen Moody 6-7, 6-2, 6-1
#1 Doubles: Jobe Van Housden/Chase Addink def Cody Sanderson/Luke Christopherson 6-3, 6-2

#2 Doubles: Tino McDonnell/Estevan Contreas def Aiden Avery/Jagjot Dhaliwal 6-3, 6-4
#3 Doubles: Jackson Whetstone/Owen Devine def Mason Davis/Tristan Sanderson 7-6, 4-6, 6-4

Chelan at Wenatchee

March 15 match
WENATCHEE - Although this was much akin to the EWU Eagles traveling into Husky Stadium for a non-league opener, we're grateful to be able to play this match against such good competition and I hope we can keep them on our schedule indefinitely. Wenatchee's top singles players on both the boys and girls side are very talented, but we were able to rally with them and played a lot of great points. I was impressed by our depth, which I believe may be the strength of our team. The bottom of our varsity ladder was strong vs the Panthers, and I have no problem doing 10 deep into our "bench"!

Girls:
Wenatchee 3, Chelan 2
#1 Singles: Chloe Andrewjeski (W) def Ally Williams 6-2, 6-2
#2 Singles: Heather Hayes (W) def Caelan Rothlisberger 6-0, 6-0
#3 Singles: Avery Thomas (W) def Maya Cowan 6-3, 6-3
#1 Doubles: Piper Gross-

berg/Arden Paglia (C) def Kaitlyn Murphy/Abby Carlson 6-3, 6-3
#2 Doubles: Makayla Griffith/Jamie Bekel (C) def Ava Kerr/Abby Wyatt 6-1, 6-0

Boys:
Wenatchee 7, Chelan 0
#1 Singles: Evan Mueller def Nate Harding 6-0, 6-1
#2 Singles: Ben Borden def Charlie Bordner 6-2, 6-0
#3 Singles: Martin Diaz def Cody Sanderson 6-3, 6-2
#4 Singles: Aiden Shattack def Sam Bordner 6-1, 6-3
#1 Doubles: Andrew VanLiew/Kai Bromily def Luke Christopherson/Aiden Avery 6-0, 6-1
#2 Doubles: Kirk Nelson/Austin Bromily def Jagjot Dhaliwal/Mason Davis 6-0, 6-3
#3 Doubles: Ben Lewis/Kush Patel def Caleb & Tristan Sanderson 6-7, 7-5, 6-2

Chelan Jamboree

March 12 match
CHELAN - Chelan hosted CTL rival Omak and former CTL rival Okanogan on Saturday for the first jamboree we've been able to participate in since the pandemic began. We had over 30 players under warm sunny skies and calm conditions. Perfect March day for tennis.
The Chelan boys and girls were able to win 20 out of the 21 matches they played on Saturday. However, we can't let that go to our heads, as both opponents were missing key players today. I expect our match-ups later this season vs Omak and Okanogan to be far more competitive.

Chelan vs Okanogan: Chelan girls won 5-0, Chelan boys won 5-0
Girls #1 Singles: Caelan Rothlisberger won 8-3
Girls #2 Singles: Maya Cowan won 8-0
Girls #3 Singles: Yuly Nunez won 8-1
Girls #1 Doubles: Piper Grossberg/Arden Paglia won 8-1
Girls #2 Doubles: Makayla Griffith/Jamie Bekel won 8-1
Boys #1 Singles: Nate Harding won 8-1
Boys #2 Singles: Charlie Bordner won 8-4
Boys #3 Singles: Teagen Moody won 8-3
Boys #1 Doubles: Cody Sanderson/Rylen Moody won 8-2
Boys #2 Doubles: Luke Christopherson/Aiden Avery won 8-0

Chelan vs Omak: Chelan girls won 4-1, Chelan boys won 5-0
Girls #1 Singles: Arden Paglia lost a close match to Marissa Grillo, one of the top singles players in the CTL, 6-8. It was great tennis by both players.
Girls #2 Singles: Makayla Griffith won 8-2
Girls #3 Singles: Jamie Bekel won 9-7

Girls #1 Doubles: Ally Williams/Piper Grossberg won 8-1
Girls #2 Doubles: Caelan Rothlisberger/Maya Cowan won 8-0
Boys #1 Singles: Cody Sanderson won 9-7
Boys #2 Singles: Rylen Moody won 8-2
Boys #3 Singles: Sam Bordner won 8-0
Boys #1 Doubles: Nate Harding/Charlie Bordner won 8-0
Boys #2 Doubles: Chelan by default

Extra matches:
Also, we had a couple Chelan players play some extra matches in place of a short-handed Omak squad- Charlie Bordner won singles 8-3
Sam Bordner/Caleb Sanderson won doubles 8-0
JV:
Omak also brought down 6 JV girls, so we had three Chelan JV doubles teams pick up wins in their first ever high school matches:
Ellie McLemore/Danika Dietrich
Melissa Gonzalez/Irene Hernandez
Jailyn Reinhart/Brynn Fielding
Even with all the great wins, possibly the highlight of the day for me was watching a mix of Chelan JV and varsity stay after the jamboree was over, and kept playing, because they didn't want to be done. They had already been there for over 5 hours!

CHELAN HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL

Mountain Goats win doubleheader over Pullmann Greyhounds

SUBMITTED BY COACH PAPASEDERO

WSU CAMPUS - The Goats opened their 2022 season by taking both games of the double header vs. the Pullman Greyhounds, The games were played at Bailey Brayton stadium on the WSU campus.

In game one, the Goats sent junior lefthander Braiden Boyd to the mound, and he responded by throwing 4 plus innings, allowing one hit, and striking out 9, earning his first win of the season. The Goats offense was lead by Colt Funk, Reed Stamps, and Ethan Kehl, who each had 2 hits each. The result was an 8 -2 victory in the first game of the season.
Game 2 featured more of the same for the Goats, as they cruised to a 15-1 win. Reed Stamps earned the win on the mound, with the potent Goats offense rapping out 15 hits in the mercy rule shortened contest. Colt Funk and Austin McCardle both homered in the game. Ethan Kehl, Funk, Noah Loew, McCardle, and Ethan Strandburg all recorded multi hit games as the Goats easily earned their second win of the early season.

Our home opener at Mountain Goat Field vs, Liberty Bell was on March 22. First pitch was at 4:30 p.m.
Go Goats!

CHELAN HIGH SCHOOL SOCCER

Vs. Liberty Bell

March 19
CHELAN- We won 6-0 yesterday(March 19) home game vs. Liberty Bell. 2 goals by Martin Ramirez. 2 goals by Miguel Zarate. 2 goals by Juan Pablo Perez.

Vs. Moses Lake

March 17
MOSES LAKE - We traveled to Moses lake and ended up losing to a well balanced Moses Lake team. Final score was 4-2. Although we lost, I'm proud of how we came out after halftime (losing 3-0 at half) and played a much better game 2nd half scoring two goals.

Two beautiful goals off set pieces. The first scored by senior Alven España and our 2nd goal scored by junior Juan Pablo Barajas.
Also would like to mention our keeper sophomore Landon Johnson as he was busy tonight and had 11 saves, playing a good game.

THE WASHINGTON OUTDOOR REPORT

The Moses Lake Carp Classic

By JOHN KRUSE, THE WASHINGTON OUTDOOR REPORT

The common carp is considered a trash fish here in the United States and harmful to the lakes, ponds and reservoirs it inhabits but it hasn't always been that way. The carp is a prized catch in Europe and considered good table fare. In the 1800's, carp were brought from Europe to America for both recreational and commercial fishing purposes. According to the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife, they were introduced into the Pacific Northwest in 1880 when a sea captain living in Troutdale, Oregon received 35 German carp from California which he placed in his pond. The carp proliferated and within a year there were an estimated 7,000 carp in the captain's pond. In May of 1881 the carp nursery flooded and several thousand carp escaped into the Columbia River. Fast forward 12 years and commercial anglers were offering to supply carp as fertilizer to farmers for $5 a ton.

Since that time carp have gotten into lakes and rivers all over the northwest. They are not classified as a game fish but instead as a food fish and no license is required to fish for them with either a rod and reel or a bow and arrow. There is also no limit on how many you can harvest.

2021 Carp Classic winner Marc Noel (L) with Tournament Director Ty Swartout.

Ty Swartout is a member of the Moses Lake Watershed Council and is also the Tournament Director for the annual Moses Lake Carp Classic, a bow fishing tournament that removes a good number of these fish from the lake.

I asked Ty why carp are bad for lakes and other game fish. Swartout replied, "The way they feed is to root through the vegetation on the bottom. The also spawn and thrash in shallow water." He went on to explain that in doing so they kick up the mud and sediment on the lake floor. This releases chemicals like phosphorus and nitrogen that can contribute to algae blooms. Blue-green algae blooms have become an issue in Moses Lake in recent years and can be toxic to humans, wildlife and pets. The mud the carp kick up also covers eggs from desirable game fish like bass and panfish which have spawning beds in the same areas the carp congregate. This kills the eggs and the gamefish populations suffer.

Swartout says there are an estimated 400,000 to 500,000 carp in Moses Lake. These aren't small fish either. During the last two tournaments the biggest fish brought to the scales weighed between

An angler with a fish taken at the Moses Lake Carp Classic.

25 and 26 pounds.

Swartout says he has four goals in mind when it comes to the Moses Lake Carp Classic.

1. To raise education and awareness for the community in regards to damage that carp cause to Moses Lake.

2. To take some carp out of the lake.

3. To work with the state to update laws on the mitigation of carp and the damage they inflict.

4. To provide a fun, safe, exciting competition with awards provided by great sponsors.

This tournament is put on by the Washington Bowfish-ing Association. Last year 100 anglers shot out of 26 boats, making it the biggest carp fishing event in the state for 2021. They ended up harvesting 200 carp weighing some 2200 pounds. The tournament before that in 2019 saw fewer anglers but more carp harvested (500). Swartout explains the harvest could reach 1,000 carp if the sun is shining, the winds are light and the water is clear on tournament day.

This year the Moses Lake Carp Classic takes place May 21 out of Connelly Park in Moses Lake. The entry fee is $60 for all prize categories. The biggest fish brought in will net the winning angler a thousand dollars plus a unique metal art plaque. There are also cash prizes for the Big 10 (the heaviest ten fish weighed in by each team) and for the most fish harvested. Finally, there is a bonus prize of $300 for the biggest koi brought in. Yes, people have released goldfish into the lake and they have grown over the years.

Swartout says local businesses in the community are great about supporting this event and donate a number of items that are given away at a raffle at the end of the tournament. Every angler entering the tournament gets one raffle ticket and has a good chance of winning something.

As for the future? Ty Swartout says with the support of the Moses Lake Watershed Council and the Grant County Conservation District they plan on making this a two-day tournament next year which should put even more of a dent into the carp population.

Registration for the Moses Lake Carp Classic takes place between 6 and 6:30 a.m. on May 21 at Connelly Park. The tournament runs from 7 a.m.-5 p.m. If you have questions about participating, want to help out or donate a prize for the raffle contact Ty Swartout at 206-459-2342 or by email at swartoutfamily@comcast.net

State wants to hear how you like to recreate

Survey deadline March 31

SUBMITTED BY STATE OF WASHINGTON AND CONSERVATION OFFICE

OLYMPIA-The Washington State Recreation and Conservation Office (RCO) wants to know how and where you like to recreate as it begins to draft a plan that will direct millions of dollars in state and federal funding to parks, trails and ball fields.

RCO is asking residents to take an online survey that asks questions about the kinds of activities they do outdoors, where they do them, and how often. RCO will use the information to craft a statewide recreation and conservation plan that will help prioritize funding for the next 5 years.

"This survey gives us a chance to see what activities are emerging so we can plan for them," said Megan Duffy, RCO director. "It's really important that we hear from all corners of the state and from people who do all different kinds of activities. The information is really helpful in writing the statewide plan and it guides us in providing grants to the communities and activities that are the most popular and are most in need."

Take the survey, maybe win $200

The survey takes less than 15 minutes and will be open until March 31. Participants will be entered into a drawing to win a Visa gift card up to $200.

Survey in English: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/3HM8B7S>

Survey in Spanish: <https://es.surveymonkey.com/r/HLLJBK3sp>

"Funding is always limited," Duffy said. "The survey will ensure that the investments we make are strategic. This is your chance to tell us what you think and where you want to see the money spent."

Getting the most out of taking antibiotics

When my daughter Maureen was a toddler, we would visit my mother-in-law's house. Having over a dozen grandchildren under the age of 8, she kept a giant toy box in the corner of her living room. It contained building blocks, crayons and coloring books, and empty prescription bottles with child-resistant lids.

As a pharmacist, I was very uncomfortable having my daughter "play" with child-resistant tops of medicine vials. Each time we'd visit her, I would make sure I found and removed all the medicine vials from Grandma's toy box before letting Maureen near it.

This irritated my mother-in-law because she could not understand my objection to providing something that would engage her grandchildren.

I tried explaining that the purpose of putting a child-resistant top on medicine vials was to prevent them from being easily opened by a child. By treating pill bottles with child-resistant tops like toys, eventually, her grandchildren would discover how to open any medicine bottle quickly and easily.

What does this have to do with antibiotics, and how to get the best out of them?

Antibiotics work by interfering with how a particular type of bacteria survives and multiplies.

To be effective, an antibiotic attacks a bacteria's weakest points. One common target is the membrane surrounding and protecting each bacteria, called the cell wall. Penicillins and similar antibiotics physically attach themselves to specific proteins essential to building and maintaining the cell wall. Once this happens, the protein molecules can't support the cell wall anymore, causing it to rupture. The bacteria dies.

The more an antibiotic comes in contact with a bacteria, the more likely it is that bacteria will eventually find a workaround and survive to multiply despite you taking the antibiotic.

Bacteria multiply themselves constantly. Eventually, a slight error occurs, and they mutate into a similar but not identical organism. If a bacterial cell mutates in a way that keeps an antibiotic from successfully attacking them, it can multiply unhindered. This creates a strain of bacteria that the antibiotic can no longer target. We call this developing resistance.

It's like giving my daughter more opportunities to learn how to open a child-resistant top. Given enough time, eventually, she'll figure out how to open it. When attacked by an antibiotic, if bacteria are not killed fast enough, some of them can manage to change themselves just enough to allow them to survive the attack. If they are no longer affected by that antibiotic, it becomes useless against them. This is called "resistance."

Suppose you don't take a large enough dose of antibiotic or don't take it long enough. In that case, the targeted bacteria can find a "workaround" by accidentally mutating into something the antibiotic can't fight against.

The biggest challenge of using antibiotics is to ensure they "cure" the infection without helping create a new strain of bacteria resistant to its attack.

Many of our older antibiotics used to be more effective. Over time, with repeated courses of treating infections, bacteria have changed just enough to keep them from being targeted.

Resistance to antibiotics is one of the most severe threats to medical care today. What if you got pneumonia which could NOT be cured because there were no antibiotics left that worked?

Viruses work differently than bacteria. Like pirates, they target specific cells and enter them. Once inside, the virus replaces the building blocks of your own DNA and RNA with its own. It hijacks your own cells to produce more viruses, instead.

Smaller than most bacteria, viruses move into and work inside our cells, protected from attack by antibiotics. Their outer covering has a very different cell membrane or cell wall than bacteria. Antibiotics can't attack viruses effectively, so don't work for viral infections.

Here are 4 Keys to Taking Antibiotics Effectively While Discouraging Resistance:

1. Speak Up.

If an antibiotic causes vomiting within an hour of taking it, eat some food before trying it again. If you can't keep an antibiotic down for at least an hour, call your doctor for something else.

2. Get to the Finish Line.

You may feel wholly recovered when only partway through taking an antibiotic. Don't quit early.

3. Don't Hoard Leftovers for Future Infections.

Using only one or two doses of an old antibiotic to "catch" an infection before it gets going encourages resistance.

4. Not All Infections Are Bacterial.

Many infections are actually caused by viruses, NOT bacteria. Taking antibiotics for these infections won't help you. In fact, antibiotics can interfere with our immune systems' response to viral infection.

Kyiv, Ukraine, stands motionless and empty after the news of the Russian invasion in February 2022.

American Living in Kyiv Recalls Escaping Ukraine: ‘It’s Surreal’

Man recounts arduous journey, from hearing the first missile hit Kyiv to escaping across the Romanian border

JACKSON ELLIOTT

The first thing David heard about Russia’s war on Ukraine was the explosion near his apartment in Kyiv.

David, an American who asked not to use his full name, has lived in Ukraine on and off since 2015. After COVID-19 travel restrictions ended, he visited Kyiv again.

At about 4 a.m. on Feb. 24, a resonant “kaboom” woke him, he told The Epoch Times. He knew instantly that it had to be a Russian missile.

“It woke me up. And that was the first,” he said. “It was so loud that I was like, ‘Okay, we’ve got a war on our hands.’”

To David and other Ukrainians, Russia’s missiles and invasion came as a shock. Russia President Vladimir Putin had never done anything like this in Ukraine before, he said.

“Everybody said, ‘There’s no way Putin’s going to do this. This is insane,’” he said. “He bluffs, but it’s only to negotiate. He never goes all the way.”

Todd Gallagher, a Baptist missionary serving in Vinnytsia, Ukraine, agreed. When he advised his church to stock up on supplies in case of war, they laughed at him.

“I wasn’t really too offended by it, but I’m like, ‘Come on, guys. We’ve got to be smarter than this,’” Gallagher said.

In preparation, he gave his Ukrainian father-in-law money to buy and store

A Ukrainian baby who received formula and diapers sent by Baptist missionary Todd Gallagher.

Everything just sort of shudders. Almost like clockwork, at 4 a.m. every morning, you’d hear explosions.

David, survivor

Suddenly, there was martial law. You couldn’t go anywhere. It was like mass hysteria. It was like a ghost town practically immediately.

food in the church. So far, it’s been crucial to keeping the community fed, he said.

Russia’s previous invasions were always marked by a cunning ability to push the line and steal territory without starting a war, David said.

Then tanks rolled into Ukraine.

David, a former New Orleans resident, said that in many ways, the war has felt like a hurricane. He stocked up on food and water, and hunkered down. Then the Russian military smashed through the cities in its path. He described the sound of missiles hitting Kyiv.

“Everything just sort of shudders. Almost like clockwork, at 4 a.m. every morning, you’d hear explosions,” he said.

David wanted to leave, but he couldn’t travel because he’d just had major surgery. But his apartment building was fairly safe, he said. It was in the middle of a rough wall of other buildings. A Russian missile would have to be aimed directly at it to hit it.

A City Under Siege

Kyiv changed overnight, David said.

“Suddenly, there was martial law. You couldn’t go anywhere. It was like mass hysteria,” he said. “It was like a ghost town practically immediately.”

For 10 days, David waited to recover until he was well enough to travel and leave the country. Each night around 4 a.m., missiles would strike the northern side of Kyiv, he said.

Otherwise, life was strangely normal. The power and internet stayed on, people still bought groceries at stores with near-empty shelves. But some businesses were closed, and explosions echoed in the distance.

“It’s really is surreal. That’s all I can describe of it,” he said. “It was almost like a dream. I’m like, ‘What the hell just happened last week?’”

Despite the shock of the invasion,

Ukrainians are willing to fight, David said.

“You can see the resolve in everyone’s eyes,” he said. “They’re absolutely stone-faced determined. There’s no one scared. Everybody’s calm. I didn’t see excitement or worry, or people wringing their hands.”

They’re motivated by memories of the cruelty of Soviet Russian rule, David said. The Soviets killed millions when they ruled Ukraine, and because they remember that history, Ukrainians are willing to fight to the death against the Russians, he said.

“Everybody has a family story about living in the USSR, and none of these are good,” David said. People either knew of kids or family members who disappeared, or their personal effects were stolen. “These people know what’s in store for them if they lose.”

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky has also been a major factor in Ukrainian morale, David said. When the president showed he was willing to stay and face death, people decided they were willing to die for him.

“They were willing to die for this man because he was willing to die for them,” David said.

“They’re fighting tooth and nail. Men and women together are doing everything that they can do to fight this war.”

Gallagher told The Epoch Times that Ukrainian militias are being equipped for war in towns across the country. Because of Ukraine’s tight cultural bonds, citizens are willing to unite and sacrifice to fight the invaders, he said.

“Those are things that have united and sparked the unity. The militias, the civilian militias, the little guerrilla units that Russia just didn’t count on are especially keeping Russia at bay,” he said.

Fleeing Invasion

On March 5, David left Kyiv in a car with a few other people. A guard on one of Kyiv’s bridges told him they were only allowing military vehicles through, but let him and his group pass anyway.

First, David stayed at an acquaintance’s house. Then he slept in a church where the windows had been blown out by a bomb blast. He heard air-raid sirens all night as the Russians bombed a nearby military base.

In the four days it took to reach the Romanian border, he had only two meals, David said. But what he got was enough.

“That water bottle made all the difference in the world,” he said.

He also recalled the moment when a man with two young children begged David to take his two children over the border.

“Here I am, a stranger, and he’s handing me his kids,” David said.

Gallagher was the one to help drive David on the final stretch across the border. Although David and his family had a chance to leave, they stayed in Romania so they could send aid into Ukraine.

The Russian invasion has left Ukraine, one of the world’s most fertile countries, without food, Gallagher said. Now, many Ukrainian families depend on donations from missionary organizations such as his church for food. That crisis is worst in the small towns.

A couple of weeks before the war, Gallagher took his family on vacation to Romania. While he was there, his car was damaged in an accident, stranding them there for a few weeks. When the war started, his family considered leaving for the United States, but they reconsidered, choosing to help war refugees.

The most needed items for Ukrainians now are food, medicine, blankets, toiletries, and diapers, he said.

Gallagher depends on donations for these crucial items, he said. All the money he collects from his church’s donation page goes toward buying supplies for the needy in Ukraine.

When David arrived at the Romanian border, a long line of Ukrainian refugees stretched for miles, he said. While some waited in cars, many others were on foot in the freezing sleet.

The refugees wore winter coats, but often carried little else, David said.

According to Gallagher, the vast majority of refugees are women and children. Ukraine isn’t allowing men from 18 to 60 years old to leave unless they have at least three children. Many Ukrainians are hoping against hope for the war to end soon.
