American Red Blood drive: Oct. 21

Those donors who have received the COVID-19 vaccine will be asked which vaccine they received. BREWSTER/CHELAN - There will be an American Red Cross Blood drive on Thursday, Oct. 21, Noon-5 p.m. at the Seventh Day Adventist Church, 17 N.W. Hospital Way in Brewster. The Oct. 20 blood drive in Manson is booked. The next blood drive in the Lake Chelan Valley is Wednesday, December 15, 1-6 p.m. at the Lake Chelan United Methodist Church in Chelan, at the corner of Johnson and Emerson.

To donate, simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org, call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enable the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age in most states (16 with parental consent where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements. Blood and platelet donors can save time at their next donation by using RapidPass® to complete their predonation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, before arriving at the blood drive. To get started, follow the instructions at RedCrossBlood.org/RapidPass or use the Blood Donor App.

Manson Grange honors Lesmeister's for 43 years of dedication, hard work

By Norm Manly, Community VOLUNTEER

An NCW Media Publication 129 years - 1891-2021

MANSON - Bob and Sue Lesmeister have been active members of the Manson Grange since 1978, recording 43 years of dedication, enthusiasm and hard work. At the Grange's monthly meeting on September 28, the couple was recognized for their efforts and years of service by a proclamation naming the upper floor of the Manson Grange Hall the "Lesmeister Ballroom". "They deserve every bit of the honor, says Gordon Lester, Grange Overseer. They have saved the Grange in so many ways, more times than we can count."

Bob was born in Appleton City, Missouri and raised in Manson and attended Manson High School. He then went on to Montana State University in Missoula, majoring in Chemistry with a Master of Science Degree. Sue was born in Seattle and lived in Burien during her elementary school years. Part of every summer her family spent vacations in Stehekin. Sue's family eventually moved to Stehekin where she completed high school, attending the University of Nebraska's Extension Division for students living remotely. Sue later attended Wenatchee Valley College and Central Washington University.

Bob and Sue met in Stehekin while he worked for the Forest Service during his college years. Sue said, "I remember meeting Bob as he passed through Stehekin and knew instantly he was the one. Bob and I were married in Seattle in 1963."

After graduation Bob worked at Boeing as a Research Engineer for 15 years. "An opportunity came to purchase the family orchard in Manson. Sue and I packed up and began this new adventure in 1978. During the winters when I couldn't work in the orchard, I drove snowplows for the Washington Department of Transportation. I worked 21 winters then shifted to full time for five years, retiring in 2006," Bob said.

"Our first home was in Federal Way where we started our family: Todd, Julie and David. I loved being a homemaker and rearing our three children, Sue said proudly. After Bob and I moved to Manson I went to work, helping start up our new farm. I was also able to fit in a 20-year career at the Lake Chelan Reclamation District."

The Lesmeister's became members of Manson Grange in 1978. Bob served various Grange positions: Treasurer, Master and Maintenance. "I liked the opportunity to serve the community as well as the fellowship and opportunity to learn," Bob stated.

Sue said, "After joining the Grange I quickly became very active and enjoyed all the new friends we made. I have served as Secretary, Rental Chairman and Chaired the Kiwanis Dinners every Wednesday for many years. I enjoyed the fellowship of Grange members and the opportunities to grow."

"I am finally retired – the orchard has been sold, so we are looking forward to new adventures such as fishing, vacationing in Stehekin and enjoying our new home, currently under construction in Entiat," Bob concluded.

The Manson Grange will miss the Lesmeister's energy and dedication but we are fortunate that several members from our community have stepped up and taken leadership positions. New Grange members have joined the Marketing, Rental and Fundraising Committees and positive changes are on the way. A new website, www.mansongrange. com along with new Facebook and Instagram accounts will help spread the word.

The Manson Grange Hall is the best kept secret in the Lake Chelan Valley. It's a great venue that can be rented for a variety of events, for a reasonable price. The Lesmeister Ballroom is a huge room with a professional stage, perfect for happenings like the annual "Stars and Stripes Auction" that raises funds for Manson's 4th of July Fireworks Show. The lower lever is spacious with a commercial kitchen, perfect for events like the Apple Blossom Breakfast.

The Manson Grange is currently looking for new members that will take an active role as we move forward. Membership is currently $46 a year, a small investment that will bring many rewards. For more information contact Norm Manly at 509-293-0225 or normmanly@yahoo.com Rivercom 911 Management still contending with understaffing telecommunicators at the time.

New hiring strategies, executive director hiring hopes to alleviate staffing workload

By Megan Sokol STAFF WRITER

WENATCHEE - At the Wenatchee Convention Center, Misty Viebrock waits in anticipation for one person to show up to her booth at the Wenatchee Job Fair. She looks at the crowd, in search of potential dispatchers to help fill her chronically understaffed Rivercom 911 Call Center.

'We did get to talk to, I would range, probably 15-20 people that stopped by that were interested," Viebrock confided. "Hopefully that results in maybe a few people applying, definitely was not a wasted day in my opinion."

In 2019, Rivercom processed nearly 48,385 calls with only 30

With the pandemic severely limiting the general applicant pool, Rivercom's understaffing problem becomes even more extreme.

"Many 911 centers, not only in Washington State but nationwide, do struggle and have struggled for years to staff their centers," Viebrock explained. 'Some do believe, in our industry, that COVID has really changed people and what's important to them."

Rivercom Board Member and Chelan County Commissioner Kevin Overbay maintains his stance on Rivercom's priority be focused on staffing. He also agrees with Viebrock in regards to staff recruitment issues and retention "You just don't have the workforce level that you've had in years past."

With the job requiring staff to work long hours and miss holidays with loved ones, employment opportunities that may leave dispatchers more time with families cause a sharp

Viebrock admits that there are many complexities to staffing problems and tries not to paint COVID-19 as the main culprit for Rivercom's staffing, but she does admit that it has impacted Rivercom's ability to motivate individuals to join the center.

'They realize long-term that this is not what [they] wanna do for the rest of [their] life, 'I'm missing out on Christmas morning with my children or missing out on my best friend's wedding,'" Viebrock said.

Another complexity within Rivercom's hiring process involves lengthy tests and training programs that new hires must complete before starting. Some of the main traits a telecommunicator needs are things that cannot be measured by testing.

Viebrock provides an example of one of these hard-earned traits called a "split-ear," where they listen to a 911 call in one ear and Police and EMT authorities in another ear. This can be a tremendous hurdle to new trainees.

We believe it is either a natural skill, it's not really something that you can learn to do, so you have it or you don't," Viebrock said. "It takes a very unique individual to be able to do the multitasking, of all the demands that are coming their way at one time. There are just aspects to the job that we simply cannot test for."

Rivercom claims to be ramping up their recruitment efforts and looking to potentially bring in 'lateral hires' from outside the area, which would reduce their training time.

Viebrock notes her confidence in collaborating with new Executive Director Lowell Porter. She believes that her institutional knowledge and his executive leadership would make the pair a dynamic team.

"I wish he was starting tomorrow.'

Porter will start working for Rivercom 911 on Nov. 1.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

By Carol L. Forhan, Survivor

Pink Ribbons, Pink Shirts, walks, runs, fundraisers, and now in 2021 because of the COVID-19 and the Delta Variant we return to virtual auctions, benefits, and other events that we hope will continue to help raise more AWARENESS and funds in our communities.

What is so special about this month of October?

It is like other months that bring awareness of a special need. Every disease or affliction now has a colored ribbon to commerate their cause, whether it is Heart Month, Diabetes Month, Alzheimer's Month, and so on. October 1-31 is a campaign month intended to educate people about the importance of early screening and detection of Breast Cancer. This month is personal for me. It was my personal fight with breast cancer at a young age with unknown causes. At the age of 43 I had my first mammogram,I had just learned how to do breast self-exam by watching CBS Journalist, Connie Chung on a TV program she presented on breast self-exam. I also had a close friend at the age of 39 years old diagnosed with breast cancer and she encouraged me to get a mammogram after I felt a lump in my armpit. I am so thankful for both of them and the encouragement of my friend I am sure she saved my life. I was then diagnosed with Stage 2Bbreast cancer with all of my lymph nodes involved on the same side.

Breast cancer effects 1 in 8 women who will get diagnosed with cancer in her lifetime, and some men actually get breast cancer as well. Many years of research has been done on this disease, and breast cancer comes in many forms and stages. We know about the BRAC genes and HER-2, but not all cancer is inherited. Great strides have been made in research to find the cause, different treatments and therapies then are developed to kill the cancer cells. Some treatments like surgery can make one lose a breast(s), some treatments will cause you to lose your hair, self-esteem and dignity, and unfortunately some will die.

We can replace a breast with a prosthesis or with reconstructive surgery or do nothing, our hair will grow back as well as our self-esteem and dignity. Many women work through the process day by day, whether at a job or career and/or keeping up a home, children, spouse, daily chores and just day to day living.

Many friendships develop in this cancer club, help and encouragement from another survivor, like the American Cancer Society's Reach to Recovery program.Support groups may become a part of your life for now, (if you choose too). We move on, some tell others of their survivorship some tell no one. When we do the survivors' page, in our NCW Media newspapers the first week of October, we are happy to show our smiling faces that we are surviving and thriving and showing others that life goes on. If you know of someone that didn't tell her story, then that is a personal choice and is respected.

Though it is scary, cancer does not have to be a death sentence, and cancer is not a one person disease, it affects the whole family.

A few things that are very important to remember and you will be reminded especially in October Awareness Month.

Get a mammogram. Know your family history.

Learn to do breast self-exam. If a relative like, mom, grandmother, or aunt have or had breast cancer, depending on your age, the current recommendation for a mammogram is 45 years old or earlier. Schedule a consultation with your doctor or health provider. Call the American Cancer Society for free information, 1-800-ACS, or www.cancer.org

When or if you are diagnosed, you have the right to get a second or even a third opinion. Surgery is not always the answer, talk to your team of doctors and nurses, and other caregivers. BE an advocate for yourself, or take someone with you to be an advocate. Ask questions, do your research, but do not just rely on internet information, it can be misleading. There are also some great books and magazines you can read. One of the best books about the breast anatomy therapies and other information, is Dr. Susan Love's Breast Book. There are different therapies and opinions out there. 31 years ago I was not expected to live "5" years; and years ago I heard the phrase

" I want to see Breast Cancer eradicated in my life time!" and it still hasn't been eradicated. I still have Hope and Faith that it will happen before my 4 granddaughters have to deal with it. I thank God everyday that I have another day to enjoy, by continuing my faith career as an ordained deacon in my church, a business owner, community leader and supporter of many causes. Have Faith my friend, I will support you as well. Sincerely, Carol Forhan, 31 years, Surviving and Thriving!

Breast Cancer Glossary

COMPILED BY CAROL FORHAN

Educate yourself on these terms when your doctor talks to you about breast cancer

Adjuvant therapy: Treatment such as chemotherapy, hormonal therapy, or radiation used following surgery to cure, reduce, or control cancer.

Aspiration: The use of a hollow needle and syringe to suction out fluid or cells from a cyst or tumor.

Atypical lobular hyperplasia: Abnormally shaped cells multiplying excessively in the normal tissue of a breast lobule.

Axilliary: In the armpit. Benign: Not cancerous.

Biopsy: Tissue or cells removed from the body and examined microscopically to determine whether cancer is present.

Calcifications: Small calcium deposits in breast tissue that can be seen by mammography.

Carcinoma: Cancer that arises from epithelial tissue (tissue that lines a cavity or surface); occurs often in the breast.

Chemo-prevention: The use of drugs or chemicals to prevent cancer.

Chemotherapy: Treatment of cancer with powerful drugs that destroy cancer cells.

Core needle biopsy: Use of a hollow needle to extract a sample of a lump or other suspicious tissue for examination.

Cyst: A lump or swelling filled with fluid or semifluid material.

Duct: A channel in the breast that carries milk from the lobule to the nipple during lactation.

Estrogen: A female sex hormone produced chiefly by the ovaries.

Estrogen receptor: A site on the surface of some cells to which estrogen molecules attach.

that incorrectly indicate that the tested disease or substance is not present.

False negative: Test results

Fibroadenoma: A benign, fibrous tumor commonly found in the breast.

Free radicals: Toxic atoms produced by chemical reactions within a cell.

The Self-Breast Exam

B ecause breast cancer is the most common cancer for women today, routine self-examination is an essential step in catching the disease early.

Cancer Association, 40 percent of diagnosed breast cancers are detected by women through self-examination.

By examining yourself on a monthly basis, by examining yourseif on a monthly basis, you will quickly become familiar with your breasts and the surrounding tissue and will easily be able to see or feel an abnormality, such as an unusual lump, changes in the skin or any sort of discharge.

ноw то Look

is a good start, it is not adequate for a full examination. To view each section of your breasts equally, you must stand in front of a mirror.

Check for dents, pulls and any sort of odd coloring. Be sure to check your breasts standing straight ahead with your arms resting at your sides, again straight ahead with your arms raised above your head, and again leaning slightly forward with your hands on your hips.

HOW TO FEEL

Just as you do with a visual examination, to properly feel your breasts for abnormalities, you must examine them in several positions.

The shower is an excellent location for an exam, because the water helps your fingers glide over the tissue easily. Use the middle part of your first three fingers (rather than the finger

Move your hand from the outside of the breast towards the nipple and then back out to the edge. Do not ignore the fleshy part of your armpit, as this is also technically breast tissue

The other position you should perform a breast exam in is flat on your back. When you are lying down, the breast tissue lays evenly along the wall of your chest.

Lift the arm coinciding with the breast you are examining above your head (left arm with the left breast, right arm with the right breast), and perform the same movements as in the shower.

Use both light and firm pressure and be cog nizant of any pain. Keeping a journal of any abnormalities and follow-up doctor visits is a great way to stay on top of your overall breast Hematoma: A swelling formed of blood. Infrequently occurs at the site of surgery, such as in a biopsy cavity after a lumpectomy.

Hyperplasia: Excessive cell growth.

Infiltrating cancer: A cancer that has spread from its site of origin into surrounding tissue.

In situ: Latin for "in place." As part of the term "ductal carcinoma in situ," it means that cancer cells exist and are still contained within the ducts of the milk-producing gland.

Lobules: Milk-producing glands of the breast.

Lymphedema: An accumulation of lymph fluid in the arm, hand, or breast that may develop when lymphatic vessels or nodes have been removed or blocked by surgery, or after radiation therapy. It can appear immediately after treatment or many years later.

Lymph nodes: Small, beanshaped organs linked by lymphatic vessels. As part of the immune system, they filter out germs and foreign matter. Also called lymph glands.

Malignant: Cancerous.

Metastasis: The spread of cancer cells from the site of origin to another part of the body.

Metastases: Secondary cancers that form after cancer cells spread to other parts of the body.

Neoadjuvant therapy: Therapy with anticancer drugs or radiation given before surgery in order to shrink a tumor.

Palpable: Able to be felt.

Progesterone: A hormone produced by the ovaries and adrenal glands; essential for healthy functioning of the female reproductive system.

Radiation therapy: The use of x-rays at very high doses to treat or control disease.

Seroma: An accumulation of lymphatic fluid under an incision.

Breast Cancer Facts

COMPILED BY CAROL FORHAN, 31 YEAR SURVIVOR

The two main risk factors for breast cancer are: Being female and aging

Statistics

Breast cancer is the second most common cause of cancer for American women except skin cancer, and the overall cause of cancer death in women between the ages of 20 and 39.

In the United States, one in 8 women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime.

An estimated 276, 480 new cases of invasive breast cancer are expected to occur in women in this year with an estimated 48,530 additional cases of in-situ (non-invasive) breast cancer.

64% of breast cancer cases are diagnosed at localized stage for which the 5-year survival is 99%. There are more than 2.4 million women in the United States with a history of breast cancer. 42,170 or 1 in 39 women (3%) will die. But there are 3.8 million survivors in the USA.

In the United States, breast cancer is expected to be newly utes, and a woman will die from breast cancer every 13 minutes

Breast cancer in men

Though rare, 2,620 new cases of invasive breast cancer are expected to be diagnosed, in men in 2020. 520 will die. Black men have the highest breast cancer incidence over all, Hispanic men have the lowest. Median age of diagnosis for men in the U.S. is 68 years old.

Breast cancer in ethnic groups

African American women have a higher breast cancer death rate than women of any other racial or ethnic population.

American Indian/Alaska Native females have the lowest breast cancer incidence

Breast cancer and age

The risk of breast cancer increases with age: About 18 percent of diagnoses are among women in their 40's and 77 percent of women with breast cancer are older than 50 when they are diagnosed.

White women have a higher incidence of breast cancer diagnosed every three min- than African American women after age 40, while Africa American women have a slightly higher incidence rate before age 40.

Risk and recurrence of breast cancer

Postmenopausal women with early breast cancer are at their greatest risk of disease recurrence during the first five years after diagnosis.

The absolute number and percentage of recurrences in the first five years after surgery is much highest than the following five to 10 years.

Treatment received during these first five years is paramount in combating the disease.

Early Detection

One of the earliest signs of breast cancer can be an abnormality that shows up on a mammogram before it can be felt. The most common signs of breast cancer are a lump in the breast, abnormal thickening of the breast, or a change in the shape or color of the breast. Finding a lump or change in your breast does not necessarily mean you have breast cancer. Additional changes that may also be signs of breast cancer include: Any new, hard lump or thickening in any part of the breast/and armpit.

Change in size or shape. Dimpling or puckering of the skin.

Swelling, redness or warmth that does not go away.

Pain in one spot that does not vary with your monthly

Pulling in of the nipple, nipple discharge that starts suddenly and appears only in one breast.

An itchy, sore or scaling area on one nipple.

It is important for women to practice the elements of good breast health. It is suggested women obtain regular mammography screening starting at the age of 45, or earlier if you have a family history.

Obtain annual clinical breast exams, perform monthly breast-self exams and obtain a risk assessment from a physician.

OBITUARIES

Cameron Lee Morehouse

Born on March 7.1951, in Richland Washington to C. Merle Morehouse and Lois E. (Livermore) Morehouse. The third of six children. He left us too soon on September 5, 2021.

He was known by "Skip" to all those who loved and cherished him. The family lived in Pasco until 1965 and relocated to Chelan where Skip graduated in 1969. He went onto the University of Washington graduating with a degree in Oceanography.

He worked as a general contractor doing remodels and maintenance for several clients. He also mentored his nephews teaching them skills they still use today in their livelihoods.

Skip was civic minded and cared about his community serving on the city counsel.

He is survived by daughter Kaylee, father Merle, brothers Dennis, Ritchy (Sharon), Rob (Christie) and sister Pamela (Don); seven nieces and nephews and five great-nieces and nephews. He was proceeded in death by brother Bruce, niece Shan and mother Lois.

A Celebration of Life will be held later in October.

Larry Eugene 'Pappy' Collins

Larry Eugene 'Pappy' Collins passed away peacefully in his sleep September 24, 2021. Well-known fixture in the Lake Chelan Valley that brought many a smile to the faces of all who knew him. He was a father. grandfather, brother, cousin, decorated Army and Navy veteran and friend that will be greatly missed.

Born June 6, 1949, in Chelan, Washington to Fred and Vera Collins. Larry was raised and attended school in Manson. Being an avid athlete, he won various awards in wrestling, football and baseball.

At 20, Larry joined the Army and served in both Germany and Korea. Later he joined the Navy, the Navy Achievement and National Defense medals being among his many distinctions, to retire in 1992 at the rank of Chief Petty Officer.

After leaving the service he joined his mother in the apple orchard business. When not working, he enjoyed time with his family, especially watching his children participating in sports. An avid Seahawks and Mariners fan, he collected sport memorabilia as well as coins in addition to enjoying fishing the various lakes in the valley. His greatest joy, however, was being a grandfather to his many grandchildren.

He is preceded in death by his father Fred Collins, uncle John Smith, aunt Florence Escamilla, sister Mary Jo Christofferson, sister Linda Morris, aunt Dorothy Collins and grandparents Everett and Emma Smith.

He is survived by his mother Vera Goss of Wenatchee, sister Virginia McKee of East Wenatchee, sister Brenda Martin of Lacey, sister Irene Soth of Wenatchee, his children Heather Tippen of Manson, Maya Neal of Wenatchee, Michelle Collins of Spokane and son Larry Collins of Manson. His grandchildren are Zander and Kyla Neal of Wenatchee, Joseph Tippen of Manson and Zayleigh and Zyker Collins of Spokane.

Larry will be interred at Fraternal Cemetery in Chelan on October 15, 2021. A Celebration of Life ceremony will be held at the Manson Grange on the same day at 3 p.m.

Workplace Giving alive and well in NCW

By Denise Sorom, Director of COMMUNITY PHILANTHROPY

On a Thursday morning last winter, we opened our database system here at the Community Foundation of North Central Washington to discover that one generous soul had made gifts to no less than 26 different funds over our online system. The donor supported 12 local non-profits, 10 scholarships, three of our competitive grant programs as well as our Partners in Giving program.

That donor, Sarah, is an employee with Confluence Health who had used her Workplace Giving Card to make her donations. All year Sarah had been deducting a modest amount from her paycheck to load onto her charitable giving card and Confluence had matched those deductions dollar for dollar. When it came time to spend her giving card, she used our system to find a variety of causes that were important to her. She told us: "I try to give to programs that provide opportunities for people that may not be able to afford them otherwise. I look at programs that are helping to elevate and support our youth-CASA, Alatheia, YMCA, etc. I feel strongly that when kids get to experience teams and connection, they grow up to be better people."

Sarah's generosity of spirit was exactly what we were hoping to preserve when we took on Workplace Giving as a service offering a few years ago. At the time, the closure of the United Way of Chelan and Douglas County meant their Workplace Giving program was no longer available to scores of employees who were supporting local charities.

The deductions that local employees made from their paychecks every month amounted to hundreds of thousands of

When leaders of both Denise Sorom

Confluence Health and the Chelan County PUD asked if there was any way that we could step up and take over this program for their employees, we didn't hesitate to say yes. Thanks to the trust of the community and relationships with the dozens of nonprofits that make up our charitable landscape in North Central Washington, we created the program to make it happen.

Workplace Giving - as an option for supporting these nonprofits – continues to be a charitable giving option for donors in our community. As of today, the numbers are inspiring:

• Over 200 employees from Confluence Heath and the Chelan County PUD participate in Workplace Giving.

• Since 2017, they have donated $423,676, every penny of which has gone out to charitable causes throughout our region. This is a remarkable difference from most Work place Giving programs, where the intermediary organization takes a percentage to cover their costs.

• The Workplace Giving Card that we developed gives the donors great flexibility. Donors can choose from more than 70 local nonprofits, over 100 scholarships, and several grant programs. Donors can also use their cards on Give NCW and Give Methow.

As Sarah told us: "Thanks for the cool process with our Giving Cards. It was fun!" Making philanthropy fun and accessible is what gets us up every morning. Thank you to Sarah and thank you to all our Workplace Giving donors for caring for this place we call home.

FALL SPORT SPREVIEW

Entiat High School Volleyball Team

By Trinada Caro STAFF WRITER

ENTIAT - Heather Long, head coach of Entiat High's volleyball team has been coaching for 10 years and is assisted by Karen Lopez who is in her second year of coaching. The Entiat Tigers have three returning starters this year: seniors Savannah Thrift and Vanicia Cole and returning sophomore Jordan Long. There are three new players to the team this year: senior Melissa Swanson-Hill and juniors Kaylee Darlington and Caylee Johnson.

When asked how the Tigers did last season Coach Long says, "We did okay, had a few of our games cancelled due to a shortage in referees. (It's) hard to really evaluate our team when we weren't playing a pre-season or our regular league schedule."

Who do you see as your toughest team(s) to beat this year? "Pateros is always circled on our schedule but already in the scores I have seen, MLCA (Moses Lake Christian Academy) and Wilson Creek will be some tough competition."

When asked who she thought were standouts this year Coach Long said, "any of my starters could have a great game on any night. This year we are pretty even when it comes to players making plays. When all of them are having a great game at the same time. It's awesome to watch."

Comments on this season: (We are) "excited to be back to playing a regular season. Kids are excited to be playing again with a possibility of a post season. My hope is everyone continues to do what needs to be done to keep having game

Entiat High School Football Team

By Trinada Caro STAFF WRITER

ENTIAT - In his ninth season coaching at Entiat High, Brian Bailey (Head Coach/ Offensive Coordinator) says, "We hope to compete for a League Championship this fall in the Central Washington B League (CWB), and a return trip to the State Playoffs. (We) have made the State Playoffs 6 out of the last 7 seasons." Backing up Coach Bailey to help make that happen is Edwin Medina, second season Assistant Coach/Defensive Coordinator, who also played under Coach Bailey and was head coach of Entiat's middle school last spring.

Coach Bailey has been coaching for 20 seasons at High School football level, nine seasons at Cashmere High, one season at Wenatchee High, one season at Foothills Middle School (Wenatchee) and nine seasons at Entiat High School. Returning to the field are two seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, six freshmen and one eighth grader. In addition, there are five freshman/eighth graders who are all new to the team.

I asked Coach Bailey if his numbers were up or down from the previous season and he said, "Numbers are similar to last spring but are down quite a bit from the 2016-2019 seasons." Last season the Tigers were 2-4 last spring (COVID Season) They lost our first four games then won their last two. Bailey says, "We improved a lot throughout. Last full-season in fall 2019 we were 10-3 and reached the State Semis & finished third in State 1B."

The toughest opponents this year are Liberty Bell and Soap Lake, which are "our two toughest League Opponents."

Inspector General Audit Finds 'Widespread' Problems With FBI's FISA Applications

JACK PHILLIPS & KEN SILVA

Justice Department Inspector General Michael Horowitz issued a report on Sept. 30 on the FBI's applications to surveil U.S. citizens, finding "widespread" failure that "raises serious questions" and criticizing agents for not fixing flaws spotted in previous audits.

The inspector general (IG) reviewed about 7,000 applications for Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA) warrants—the same used to surveil former Trump campaign aide Carter Page in 2016—and found that the agency had failed to follow key rules, the Woods Procedures, in the program. In December 2019 review, Horowitz discovered 17 significant errors and omissions in the FISA surveillance application targeting Page.

The most recent audit of the agency's Woods Procedures—rules that the FBI follows to ensure that FISA applications are "scrupulously accurate"—found sweeping "non-compliance" that "raises serious questions about the adequacy and execution of the supervisory review process in place at the time of the applications we reviewed," Horowitz said, stating that the FBI's quality-control officials apparently missed these problems.

His office also identified 183 FISA applications that had a missing or incomplete Woods file, which is a document meant to ensure the accuracy of statements made to the secretive FISA court. The report also found hundreds of other cases where there were instances of noncompliance with the agency's Woods procedures.

"A failure to adhere to the Woods Procedures ... could easily lead to errors that do impact probable cause—and therefore potentially call into question the legal basis for the government's use of highly intrusive FISA warrants," Horowitz wrote.

Horowitz recommended that the FBI attempt to make "additional efforts to communicate and emphasize to its workforce the importance" of the bureau's own standards when applying for FISA warrants.

In a statement released after Horowitz's report, the FBI told media outlets on Sept. 30 that it appreciated the IG's "determined focus on the FBI's FISA process, especially given the significant changes and policy enhancements that we have worked to make in concert with, and in many instances, prior to the issuance of this most recent OIG Audit Report."

The federal law enforcement bureau will accept Horowitz's recommendations detailed in the report and has adopted about half of them already, according to the statement. FBI officials didn't immediately respond to a request for comment.

The audit report is an extension of a report that was issued by Horowitz in March 2020, when he reviewed 29 FISA applications. According to that report, the inspector general couldn't review four of the applications because A failure to adhere to the Woods Procedures ... could easily lead to errors that do impact probable cause—and therefore potentially call into question the legal basis for the government's use of highly intrusive FISA warrants.

> Inspector General Michael Horowitz

the FBI wasn't able to locate them. Of the 25 he could review, all of them had flaws—209 errors in total, Horowitz said.

"Our testing of FISA applications ... identified apparent errors or inadequately supported facts in all of the 25 applications we reviewed, and interviews to date with available agents or supervisors in field offices generally have confirmed the issues we identified," he said in his March report.

Horowitz lamented in the Sept. 30 audit that the FBI hasn't taken his earlier report seriously.

"In response to the findings in our December 2019 FISA report and March 2020 [report], the FBI Director publicly acknowledged the seriousness of the identified problems and announced numerous steps the FBI was undertaking to address them," he said.

"However, we believe certain public statements from the FBI and NSD in 2020 failed to recognize the significant risks posed by systemic noncompliance with the Woods Procedures, and during our audit, some FBI field personnel minimized the significance of Woods Procedures non-compliance."

The IG report was likely referencing statements FBI Director Christopher Wray made to Congress in February, when he told representatives that they shouldn't "lose any sleep" over the December 2019 IG report.

"The vast majority of the FISAs we do, both the initial applications and the renewals, are the kinds of applications that I am quite confident—we don't know each other, but you wouldn't lose any sleep over, and we wouldn't want to grind to a halt," Wray told Rep. Jim Jordan (R-Ohio) at the time.

Following the release of the latest report, Jordan took to Twitter to blast Wray for downplaying earlier concerns.

"Feb. 5, 2020: FBI Director Christopher Wray dismisses concerns about the FISA process. Says Americans shouldn't 'lose any sleep' over it. Today: IG Horowitz releases damning report about the FBI's broken FISA process," Jordan wrote.

"It was worse than we ever thought."
The FBI's failure to adhere to surveillance rules has led to criminal charges in some instances.

After Horowitz's findings were released in 2019, special counsel John Durham later filed charges against former FBI Attorney Kevin Clinesmith for falsifying a document used in a FISA application to surveil Page. He pleaded guilty in August 2020.

In August, Durham's office indicted Michael Sussmann, a lawyer who represented the Democratic National Committee, for allegedly lying to the FBI when he spoke to a top bureau official, James Baker, in 2016. On Sept. 17, Sussmann pleaded not guilty to the charge.

According to the indictment, Sussmann had passed along a claim alleging that there was a secret communications channel between a Russian bank and the Trump Organization. Durham alleged that Sussmann told Baker that he wasn't representing a specific client, but was actually secretly representing Democrats, Clinton's campaign, and an unnamed technology company executive.

Sen. Feinstein Introduces Bill to Require Vaccine Proof or Tests for Domestic Air Travel

JACK PHILLIPS

Sen. Dianne Feinstein (D-Calif.) introduced a bill on Sept. 30 that would require travelers to show proof of CO-VID-19 vaccination, a negative test for the CCP virus, or proof of a full recovery from the virus before embarking on domestic air travel.

Feinstein said in a statement that her "U.S. Air Travel Public Safety Act" would ward off a potential COVID-19 surge during the holiday travel season. Studies have shown that vaccines don't necessarily prevent transmission of the virus amid "breakthrough" cases being reported, although federal health officials have said that vaccines protect against the development of severe cases and hospitalization.

"Ensuring that air travelers protect themselves and their destination communities from this disease is critical to prevent the next surge, particularly if we confront new, more virulent variants of COVID-19," Feinstein said. "This bill complements similar travel requirements already in place for all air passengers-including Americans—who fly to the United States from foreign countries. This includes flights from foreign countries with lower CO-VID-19 rates than many U.S. states.

"It only makes sense that we also ensure the millions of airline passengers that crisscross our country aren't contributing to further transmission, especially as young children remain ineligible to be vaccinated."

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention currently requires air passengers coming from a foreign country to test negative for the CCP (Chinese Communist Party) virus or to have recovered from it.

Last week, the White House stated that all foreign visitors must show that they're vaccinated against COVID-19 before boarding a plane heading to the United States. They also have to provide a negative test result within 72 hours before getting on a plane.

Restrictions on non-U.S. citizens were first imposed on air travelers from China in January 2020 by then-President Donald Trump and then extended to dozens of other countries. Separately on Sept. 27, the Biden administration extended its pandemic-related restrictions at the country's land borders with Canada and Mexico that bar nonessential travel such as tourism through Oct. 21, and it gave no indication if it would apply the new vaccine rules to those land border crossings.

The administration also recently mandated CCP virus vaccines for green card (permanent resident) applicants, beginning in October.

"In general, individuals applying to become a lawful permanent resident, and other applicants as deemed necessary, must undergo an immigration medical examination to show they are free from any conditions that would render them inadmissible under the health-related grounds," the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services stated.

Health Care Giant Northwell Denies Some Benefits to Workers Fired Over Vaccine Mandate

PETR SVAB

Northwell Health, the largest health care provider in New York state, is denying some benefits to employees it's firing because they refuse to comply with the state's COVID-19 vaccination mandate for health care workers.

Those terminated lose all employer contributions to their retirement plans for this year unless they're older than 62. They are also denied payouts of any of their remaining paid time off (PTO), according to a FAQ sheet recently emailed to the workers and obtained by The Epoch Times.

Employees leaving the company are normally afforded payouts of up to 150 hours of PTO, the person who provided the sheet told The Epoch Times.

"Withholding vacation payouts is unethical and will place even more financial strain on employees terminated from their jobs as they are also not eligible for unemployment," the person, who requested anonymity, said via email.

Northwell spokesman Jason Molinet told The Epoch Times the company "cannot specifically comment on personnel issues," when asked about the benefits issue. He provided a statement saying that Northwell's workforce, about 76,000-strong, is "near 100 percent vaccinated."

"Northwell has taken a rapid, aggressive approach to move successfully toward full vaccination compliance while maintaining continuity of care and ensuring that our high standard of patient safety is not compromised in any way," the statement provided via email reads.

A mural on a Northwell Healthcare building in New Hyde Park, New York, on May 5, 2020.

"Regretfully, we have had to exit a few hundred employees, but we are pleased to report that most team members are opting to be vaccinated so as to avoid being terminated."

Thousands of nurses and other hospital workers have been put on leave, slated to be fired, as the state's vaccination mandate deadline for hospital staff arrived on Sept. 27. At least some hospital systems have given their staff some time to change their minds and get the shot in order to return to work.

Workers fired over the mandate could be left without access to unemployment insurance unless they legitimately asked for a health or religious exemption, "because these are workplaces where an employer has a compelling interest in such a mandate," the state's Department of Labor says on its website.

New York, and New York City in particular, has been at the forefront of mandating the vaccines in more and more areas of society. Besides the state mandate for health care workers, the city requires vaccination for teachers, other school staff, government employees, staff and seated customers in restaurants, as well as staff and customers in theaters, gyms, cinemas, and other establishments.

The novel vaccines, developed in record time and still in the process of clinical trials, are known to cause severe side effects such as myocarditis, mostly in young men, and blood clots, though authorities and experts say these are rare and pose a lower risk than the disease itself. While the vaccines also don't necessarily prevent one from contracting and spreading COVID-19, clinical trials indicate they minimize symptoms.
