Mark Donnell, Chelan Fire Chief to retire

CHELAN - In a surprise announcement at the Chelan Fire & Rescue board of commissioners meeting on Wednesday, June 16, Chelan Fire & Rescue Chief Mark Donnell announced his wish to retire, and that he did not wish to renew his contract with Chelan Fire & Rescue, which expires Dec. 31 of this year.

Chelan Chief Mark Donnell

Donnell took over as the Interim Fire Chief for Chelan Fire & Rescue in August of 2019 and was later named chief, after Tim Lemon left to be the Fire Chief of North Whidbey Fire and Rescue.

The board also passed a resolution to put a Levy Lid Lift on the November 2 ballot. The district currently collects 80 cents per $1,000 of assessed property value. The board will ask for $1.10. They can ask up to $1.50 per $1,000. The increase will help pay for a third firefighter on each shift and for equipment.

The board heard from several people in attendance about the need for the fire department improvements, with all the housing growth that is happening in the valley.

O God, Bless our Nation's Emblem; may it ever symbolize freedom and justice for all our people.

Help our citizens to always respect those high principles that are noble and right and that they might better understand the high ideals represented by our flag.

These tired and worn American flags have flown high and proud over the land of the free. They now need to be honored one last time for their service to all citizens.

The cleansing fire will put to rest these flags that we so honor. Dear Lord, our God, we pray for your divine guidance and caring love as we go about our daily lives. Help us to always love and protect the emblem of our Nation. Amen

Cong. Schrier visits Chelan, tours Emerson Village

By CLINT CAMPBELL, CHELAN VALLEY HOUSING TRUST

CHELAN - We're very grateful that Congresswoman Kim Schrier came to visit Chelan recently. During her visit, Mike Cooney was able to give her a tour of our sold out community, Emerson Village, as well as give her a tour of our new project Anderson Road.

Here's what she had to say:

"Like many communities across the district, the Lake Chelan Valley is facing a housing crisis. Much the area's workforce can no longer afford to live in town. To help address the problem, the Chelan Valley Housing Trust is working to provide attainable housing for home buyers with annual household incomes between $35,000 and $60,000. Because CVHT is a community land trust, the homes they build will remain affordable into perpetuity.

During a recent visit to Chelan, Mike Cooney and Tim Hollingsworth showed me around Emerson Village, hoping to build more than 40 additional homes." For more information on

This week's competition is All Fours (gross score of all Par 4 holes less ½ handicap). Our tee time is 8:30. Please check in by a.m.

June 10, 2021

Nineteen women enjoyed the beautiful golfing weather last Thursday. The week's competition was Eccle Nine (gross score Division 1: First Place was a tie between Linda and Janet Foyle, 27.

Division 2: First Place, Susie Clausen, 27.5. Second Place, Nancy Judson, 29.5.

Division 3: First Place, Judy Johanson, 22.5. Second Place was a tie between Joni Dedo and Nancy Parker, 27.

were chip-ins galore by Joan Carlson on hole 17, Linda Hahn on hole 4 and hole 16, Janet Foyle on hole 14, Nancy Judson on hole 18 and Judy Johanson on hole 10.

Six members traveled to The Yakima Elks Country Club to golf as the Country Club hosted Team play. Our club had a "Bye" so they were not in competition with the other teams. However, a good time was had by all.

Chlorine supply limited due to equipment failure at plant

SUBMITTED BY DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH (DOH)

OLYMPIA - Department of Health (DOH), Seattle Public Utilities (SPU), Tacoma Public Utilities, the City of Everett and partner agencies across the state emphasized on June 18 that drinking water throughout Washington remains clean and safe despite a chlorine supply interruption impacting regional drinking water and wastewater treatment utilities.

"We assure you there is no immediate impact to drinking water in Washington," said Lauren Jenks, MPH, CHES Assistant Secretary, Environmental Public Health. "We will continue to monitor and communicate updates as they happen."

The chlorine supply disruption is the result of an electrical failure at Westlake Chemical, based in Longview. Westlake supplies chlorine to water and sewer utilities in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Northern California. The situation is expected to be resolved within a couple of weeks.

The chlorine shortage does not impact all water and sewer utilities in the state, as some have their own onsite chlorine generators or have enough supply on hand to last several weeks. Based on the latest information, our largest water utilities should have enough supply to last until chlorine supplies resume. Please check your local water utility website for specific information.

DOH is working closely with our local, state and regional partners to proactively respond to this evolving situation. Washington utilities are working together to inventory needs and management approaches across the state.

At this time, there is no specific request of water customers, but we always encourage people to use water wisely. For more information on ways you can help with water conservation visit www.savingwater.org.

DOH is monitoring this situation and will hold a media availability next week to share further updates as needed.

The DOH website is your source for a healthy dose of information. Find us on Facebook and follow us on Twitter. Sign up for the DOH blog, Public Health Connection.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Chelan Valley Housing Trust thanks K&L Homes

The completion of Emerson Village has created five new attainable homes for Lake Chelan valley wage earners, families and seniors and has made affordable home ownership a reality. CVHT believes that people who work here should be able to own a home here.

This achievement was made possible by a groundswell of community support, public funding, and in no small part by CVHT's contractor, K&L Homes.

K&L was truly CVHT's partner in this project from the get-go.

Their support of the Trust's mission was reflected in their care, doing the highest quality work while coming in on budget.

No easy feat for a builder during Covid-19.

We wish to thank Kevin and Lano Aho with the rest of the K&L team for their extraordinary work and dedication.

Sincerely,
The Chelan Valley

Chelan-Douglas Community Action Council offers Rent Assistance program

SUBMITTED BY COMMUNITY ACTION COUNCIL

NCW - The Chelan-Douglas Community Action Council is offering a rent assistance program to qualifying individuals and households in Chelan and Douglas county. The program offers financial assistance for a combination of rent and utility arrears, current rent and utility payments, future rent payments, and other housing costs related directly or indirectly to COVID-19.

The purpose of the eligibility screening criteria is to target those most likely to become homeless but for this assistance. Households must meet all three of the initial screening criteria:

Experiencing a financial hardship directly or indirectly due to the COVID-19 outbreak that threatens the household's ability to pay the costs of the rental property when due.

At risk of experiencing homelessness or currently experiencing housing instability.

The following households are a priority:

Income at or below 50% Area Median Income (AMI).

Households with one or more individuals who are unemployed and have been unemployed for 90 days before application date.

United States citizenship is NOT an eligibility requirement of this program.

Households can receive up to 12 months of financial assistance. Financial assistance can include a combination of rent and utility arrears, current rent and utility payments, future rent payments, and other housing costs related directly or indirectly to COVID-19.

Rent arrears are when any rent payment is missed or past due, including when the current month's rent is past due.

80% AMIs
Household Size	Annual Income Limit	Monthly Income Limit
1	$38,850	$3,237
2	$44,408	$3,700
3	$49,950	$4,162
4	$55,500	$4,625
5	$59,950	$4,995
6	$64,400	$5,366
7	$68,850	$5,737
8	$73,300	$6,108

Assistance cannot be provided for arrears that were accrued before March 13, 2020.

Future rent is the rent after the current month and can be made up to three months at a time.

Households can receive assistance with future rent only, if the household does not have rental arrears and/or the provider has already assisted the household with rental arrears.

An additional three months of rent assistance can be provided if the household reappplies and is still experiencing housing instability, and has not already received the maximum amount of assistance (15 months).

After 12 months of assistance has been provided, households can receive an additional three months of financial assistance, totaling 15 months, if necessary, to ensure housing stability.

Utilities and home energy costs are separately stated charges related to the occupancy of rental property. They can include electricity, gas, water and sewer, trash removal and energy costs, such as fuel oil. Utilities that are covered by the landlord within rent will be treated as rent. Utility only payments are allowable. Future utility payments are not allowable. All payments for utilities and home energy costs should be supported by a bill, invoice, or evidence of payment to the provider of the utility or home energy service.

To qualify, applicants must provide verification of address, income, a current rent agreement, and an explanation as to how the household has been negatively impacted by COVID-19. The property owner must also verify accuracy for rent assistance, and the appropriate utility company must verify if financial support for utilities is requested and accept payment.

To apply, contact the Chelan-Douglas Community Action Council office at (509) 662-6156 to schedule an appointment and ask for "Rent Assistance."

IRS Denies Tax Exemption to Texas Religious Group Because Prayer, Bible Reading Boost the Republican Party

MARK TAPSCOTT

An IRS official denied tax-exempt status to a Texas group that encourages church members to pray for state and national leaders, regardless of their party affiliation, because it benefits “the private interests of the [Republican] Party.”

“You do not qualify as an organization described in IRS Section 501(c)(3). You engage in prohibited political campaign intervention,” wrote Stephen A. Martin, director of the IRS Office of Exempt Organizations Rulings and Agreements, in a May 18 letter to Christians Engaged, the Garland, Texas-based prayer group recognized by Texas officials as tax-exempt.

“You are also not operated exclusively for one or more exempt purposes within the meaning of Section 501(c)(3), because you operate for a substantial non-exempt private purpose and for the private interests of the D party.”

The “D party” is a reference to the Republican Party, according to a novel “legend” that Martin provided at the top of his letter to the Texas group.

Martin’s letter was made public on June 16 by the First Liberty Institute, a Plano, Texas-based public interest law firm that specializes in religious freedom litigation.

Martin also noted that the group’s activities “educate believers on national issues that are central to their belief in the Bible as the inerrant Word of God.”

“Specifically, you educate

IRS headquarters in Washington on June 17, 2018.

Christians on what the Bible says in areas where they can be instrumental, including the areas of sanctity of life, the definition of marriage, biblical justice, freedom of speech, defense, and borders and immigration, U.S. and Israel relations,” he wrote.

“The Bible teachings are typically affiliated with the D party and candidates. This disqualifies you from exemption under IRS Section 501(c)(3).”

Christians Engaged President Bunni Pounds said in a statement issued by the First Liberty Institute: “We just want to encourage more people to vote and participate in the political process. How can anyone be against that?”

First Liberty Institute is appealing Martin’s decision on behalf of Christians Engaged.

“The IRS states in an official letter that Biblical values are exclusively Republican. That might be news to President Joe Biden, who is often described as basing his political ideology on his religious beliefs,” First Liberty Institute counsel Lea Patterson said in the statement.

“Only a politicized IRS could see Americans who pray for their nation, vote in every election, and work to engage others in the political process as a threat. The IRS violated its own regulations in denying tax-exempt status because Christians Engaged teaches biblical values.”

In the appeal letter, First Liberty said, “By finding that Christians Engaged does not meet the operational test, Director Martin errs in three ways 1) he invents a nonexistent requirement that exempt organizations be neutral on public policy issues; 2) he incorrectly concludes that Christians Engaged primarily serves private, nonexempt purposes rather than public, exempt purposes because he thinks its beliefs overlap with the Republican Party’s policy positions; and 3) he violates the First Amendment’s Free Speech, and Free Exercise, and Establishment clauses by engaging in both viewpoint discrimination and religious discrimination.”

Martin’s letter and decision are certain to ignite a new firestorm of protests among congressional Republicans, conservative and religious freedom advocacy groups, and civil liberties defenders, as happened during President Barack Obama’s Oval Office tenure.

The IRS under Obama singled out hundreds of conservative, Tea Party, and evangelical tax-exemption applicants for special treatment that included long delays and multiple requests for detailed information about the beliefs and activities of officials associated with the groups.

Multiple lawsuits were filed against the IRS by such groups, and the Department of Justice (DOJ) agreed in two separate settlements to compensate them for undisclosed amounts.

The DOJ also acknowledged that the IRS had targeted the groups on the basis of their political and religious activities and beliefs for “heightened scrutiny and inordinate delays.”

“The act of praying for our country and our leaders is about the most nonpartisan and patriotic thing that Americans can do. Millions of citizens do it every day,” Rep. Ted Budd (R-N.C.) told The Epoch Times on June 16.

“The IRS was wrong to deny tax-exempt status based on the false belief that the Bible somehow only belongs to one political party. The IRS still has a long way to go to ensure religious liberty for all.”

Arizona Audit Finishes With Hand Count, Closing In on End of Paper Evaluation

ZACHARY STIEBER

The 2020 election audit in Arizona’s largest county is projected to end by June 26, officials said in a new update.

Audit teams led by Florida-based Cyber Ninjas finished counting virtually all of the nearly 2.1 million ballots earlier this week, with fewer than 100 braille ballots remaining to be counted.

Workers were shifted to performing evaluation measures on the ballots after they finished the counting.

Teams are looking at “anything related to whether the ballot was authentic,” Ken Bennett, a former Arizona secretary of state who’s serving as the state Senate’s audit liaison, told The Epoch Times last week.

That includes examining ballots for folds if they were said to have been mailed in, using microscopic cameras to determine whether marks on the ballots are properly aligned, and looking at the depression made in the oval to figure out whether it was filled out by hand or by a machine.

Audit teams have finished counting virtually all of the nearly 2.1 million ballots, with fewer than 100 braille ballots remaining to be counted.

Workers are also re-counting some boxes of ballots as a sampling method to compare to the original count, Randy Pullen, a former Arizona Republican Party chairman who serves as another spokesman for the audit, told reporters.

Pullen declined to give an estimate on how many ballots were left to inspect. But at the current rate of examining more than 100,000 ballots per day, auditors expect to complete the evaluation phase by June 26, Bennett’s team said on June 16.

Auditors have been conducting the audit at Veterans Memorial Coliseum in Phoenix since April, after the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors refused to let the election review take place at county offices. Hundreds of machines used in the 2020 election, along with the ballots cast in the contest, were transported to the coliseum, which is roughly 1.5 miles from the state Capitol.

The Arizona Senate has control of the coliseum through June 30.

But audit teams are still expecting to do some work in July, with their final report not expected out until August.

Teams are still examining data pulled from the machines as the ballot evaluation continues, according to Bennett.

A final decision hasn’t been made yet about a proposal to pull in a California-based nonprofit to tabulate votes using ballot images.

“Still working on that,” Bennett recently told The Epoch Times.

If the proposed work happens, the Arizona Senate would have three sets of numbers to compare—the original tabulation, the auditors’ figures, and the nonprofit’s tabulation.

Arizona senators have said they’ll use the findings from the audit to inform future election integrity bills. The Arizona Senate ordered the audit in December 2020, citing public concerns about how the 2020 election was run.

Florida Gov. DeSantis Pardons Violators of Masks Mandates, Social Distancing Rules

ISABEL VAN BRUGEN

Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis on June 16 announced that all Floridians who were arrested or fined for violating mask mandates or social distancing requirements will be pardoned.

In a 3-1 vote, the four-member Board of Executive Clemency approved the Republican governor’s decision to officially pardon those who were arrested or fined for violating local government orders.

“This action is necessary so that we can recover, have a good transition to normal operations, and also just a recognition that a lot of this stuff was way, way overboard,” DeSantis said of the move.

DeSantis said the pardon applies to civil and criminal penalties handed to individuals or businesses “punished for breaking unscientific, unnecessary directives.”

Voting to deny the pardons was Democrat Nikki Fried, who is currently State Agriculture Commissioner and is running to unseat DeSantis next year.

“Our local governments stepped up to protect the people of our state. They did what was best for the interests of their communities,” Fried said.

It isn’t clear how many Floridians will be pardoned as a result of the state clemency board’s decision. DeSantis’ office did not immediately respond to a request for comment by The Epoch Times.

The decision to pardon Florid-

Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis departs after signing into law Senate Bill 7072 at Florida International University in Miami, Fla., on May 24, 2021.

ians who violated local government orders follows an executive order issued by the governor on May 3 that suspends all local pandemic emergency mandates effective July 1.

DeSantis signed Senate Bill 2006 last month, passed by Florida state lawmakers in April, granting the governor the ability to override local emergency orders. The bill also includes a ban on vaccine passports that were to levy fines of $5,000 per violation.

The Republican governor at the time described his executive orders as the “evidence-based thing to do,” adding that proponents of lockdowns “really are saying you don’t believe in the vaccines, you don’t believe in the data, you don’t believe in the science.” He added: “We’ve embraced the science on it.”

The order suspending local emergency mandates only affects governments, not businesses.

In announcing the official pardons, DeSantis highlighted a case which saw the arrest of Mike Carnevale, a Broward County gym owner who refused to enforce mask orders. DeSantis granted clemency to him and his wife.

“Floridians like Mike and Jillian Carnevale should have never faced criminal charges for not requiring masks in their businesses,” the governor said. “Today, we took action in Florida to reject the overreach of local authorities through unnecessary and unscientific mask mandates.”

He added: “No business should face economic ruin and be punished for alleged violations of local orders that are unreasonably restrictive of rights and liberties.”

CHELAN GIRLS BASKETBALL

Tuesday, June 15 - final home game against Cascade

BY COACH NICK LONGMIRE, CHELAN GIRLS BASKETBALL

CHELAN - The Lady Goats have produced some fairly even scoring stats this season. It is a toss up of who the scoring leader will be from game to game which can make it hard for our opponents to prepare as they may not know who will be a threat from game to game.

Last night against Cascade the Goats got off to a slow start only scoring 11 in the first quarter. We haven't been a great rebounding team and have given up a significant amount of offensive boards. In addition to the development of our boxing out we have made a deliberate decision to be intentional with each offensive possession of the ball and control the tempo as much as possible. We want to limit the amount of trips our opponents get on offense to pace our energy throughout the game but to also limit scoring opportunities for our opponents.

Tuesday, Senior Booh Huddleston and Sophomore Joslynn Simmons both contributed 9 points each from the perimeter. Senior Katie Rainville added 7 points. Aliyah Finch, Kira Sandoval and Hayley Watson contributed 6 points each. Morgyn Harrison had 5 points, Juliana Perez 3 and Beau Nordby 2. Final score of the game Chelan - 53 Cascade - 19.

Thursday, June 17 - against Cashmere
Tonight's game against the

Cashmere Bulldogs was one we have been preparing for over the past couple of weeks. We knew the game would be tough, the environment would be tough as the Bulldogs are well coached and have some players who can score and pressure us.

During the first quarter the Mountain Goats were able to hang with the Bulldogs. It wasn't until the 2nd quarter that we fell behind and gave up some strong penetration to the hoop due to a lack of help defense. We had a plan to contain Riley Johnson as best we could beyond the perimeter which proved to be difficult without our backside help defense as she led all scores for the game with 22. At halftime the Goats trailed the Bulldogs 17-32.

We made some adjustments at the half which included some different looks defensively to slow them up and cause them to make some mistakes. It helped us but we were still keeping pace with them trading baskets. In the 4th quarter we began making a run and cut the lead down inside of 10 points. The Goats were able to hold the Bulldogs to 4 points in the 4th quarter. It wasn't enough in the end however.

Aliyah Finch led all Mountain Goat scores with 11. Kira Sandoval added 10 and Katie Rainville 9. Morgyn Harrison contributed 7, Joslynn Simmons 3 and Booh Huddleston 2. The final score: Mountain Goats - 42 Bulldogs 51

Friday, June 18 - against Omak

The Chelan Lady Goats traveled to Okanogan county for an expected show down based on the last time we met up with Omak. Omak gave us a different look defensively with their traditional 1-3-1 zone defense compared to the man defense they chose a couple of weeks ago.

We once again, despite discussing that Omak was hungry for redemption, came out flat and found ourselves in an early 6-0 deficit. We had to kind of "figure out" our strengths and weaknesses with their zone. We haven't played a lot against a 1-3-1 and had to look past the pressure we were seeing and feeling from the top. Once our movement opened up and we found the gaps we started finding some offensive success.

At the end of the first half we found ourselves in a 21-17 lead. We knew that Omak could score quick so we made some adjustments defensively and emphasized controlling the tempo, maintaining possession and getting intentional shots late on the shot clock to limit Omak's offensive possessions. After three quarters we had a 33-28 lead. Omak cut into that lead however and the game came down to 3 points with 30 seconds to go. After a series of free throw exchanges we landed on top with a final score of 44-40 in favor of the Goats.

Senior Booh Huddleston and Junior Aliyah Finch led Chelan with 13 a piece. Joslynn Simmons added 9 points. Kira Sandoval with 3 and Morgyn Harrison, Hayley Watson and Katie Rainville finished with 2.

THE WASHINGTON OUTDOOR REPORT

How to really pre-fish a lake!

By JOHN KRUSE, THE WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

I was lucky enough to spend a week in Fort Worth, Texas this month covering the Bassmaster Classic, an annual event put on by B.A.S.S. called the "Super Bowl of Bass Fishing". This year's three-day tournament took place at Lake Ray Roberts, a reservoir built by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in the 1980's. The lake, with over 29,000 acres of water, has brush piles in the deep water for habitat and closer to shore, dead trees and tree stumps. The shore itself is bare in some places but most of the shoreline is surrounded by trees or brush.

The 54 anglers fishing the Bassmaster Classic were allowed three days to pre-fish this lake. This time was important, since no major tournaments had been held here before by B.A.S.S. and most of the anglers had never fished this body of water before.

So, how does a tournament angler break down a lake and figure out where the fish are and what they'll bite? I got to find out when I spent the final practice day on the boat with Chris Johnston, a resident of Ontario, Canada who fishes the Bassmaster Elite Series for a living.

Johnston told me on his first practice day he quickly determined the bass were not off shore in deep water as many expected. Instead, because of unusually high water in the lake, the bass were hanging out close to shore in cover.

Courtesy John Kruse

Chris Johnston pre-fishing at Lake Ray Roberts.

Next, Johnston had to figure out what kind of cover the largemouth bass preferred. He found it wasn't the dead trees, flooded grass or small trees that held most of the bass. Instead, it was the freshly flooded green leafy bushes, which were thick on top but bare below, that provided the bass both cover from predators and shade from the bright Texas sun.

With this knowledge in hand, Johnston set out to fish as much of the lake as he could over the next two days where this grassy brush was found. Starting out on the final practice morning, I sat in the back of Johnston's boat and watched him flip a lure into the brush, covering an entire bay for an hour and a half without a bite. When asked if this depressed him, he smiled and replied, "Oh no. We just eliminated an area I don't need to fish during the tournament."

We headed to another part of the lake and Johnston began flipping his lure into the green brush again near shore. In a 25-yard stretch Johnston got bit by bass five times in just a few minutes. Johnston marked this location as a waypoint on the map on his bow-mounted fish finder and explained this was a "high percentage area", a place he could quickly race into, fish, and then leave for the next "high percentage area." Over the course of the day Johnston found four of these key areas he was looking for to fish during the tournament. Johnston said his goal was to find close to 40 of these high percentage areas during his practice days.

There are two key things to remember if you are going to pre-fish like this. First of all, this tactic works best when conditions are stable. If a major cold front or storm comes in, where the fish are and how they behave can change. Likewise, it's hard to cover an entire lake to eliminate the marginal areas and find all the high percentage areas by yourself. Johnston was fortunate his brother, Corey Johnston, was also fishing this tournament and the two essentially split up the lake and shared the pre-fishing information they learned with each other.

Last but not least, it's important not to hook the fish you find while pre-fishing. As Chris Johnston explained, nobody wants to win the pre-fishing event by catching a whole bunch of bass because that is a surefire way to have a poor tournament performance.

The reason? Those bass might leave the area you hooked them in. Even if they don't leave, they will likely not bite anything again for up to three days and when they do bite, it probably won't be on the same lure you hooked them on the first time. Bass may not be the smartest fish in the water, but they are smart enough to learn. That's why Johnston fished on the last two practice days with a soft plastic lure and weight with no hook. With the bites he got, Johnston would try to figure out the size of the fish biting based on the weight of the pull on his rod. Needless to say, when he got into what he thought was a big one, that became a prioritized place to return to.

In the end, Johnston's pre-fishing went very well. He finished in the top tier of anglers every day of the competition and ended up in 8th place, catching just over 40 pounds of bass and earning a $21,000 paycheck for his efforts at the Bassmaster Classic.

Mastering motion sickness

Last month I traveled to Bellingham to help one of my sisters who needed hip replacement surgery. Most of the 4-hour drive was on an interstate highway.

The final 20 miles weren't. Instead, the narrow road wound back and forth simultaneously as it rose and dipped. Roads like these always triggered my motion sickness. As a child in the back seat of our station wagon, I always managed to lose my lunch over a particularly twisty section of road between Aberdeen and Ocean Shores, Washington.

When I heard that my youngest sister and her family were headed to Bellingham to visit Sara, I joked about feeling queasy just driving that rural road. And found out that my 19-year-old niece also suffers from motion sickness.

For some people, acupressure helps. For example, activating a particular pressure point by wearing an elastic band around your wrist can reduce nausea. This medication-free approach is available as Sea Bands®.

Ginger is another natural option for motion sickness relief, as 500mg to 1000mg of powdered root every 4-6 hours. Ginger is available as fresh ginger root, capsules of ground ginger, or small chunks of sweetened, crystallized ginger. My personal favorite form is crystallized ginger.

Using my apothecary scale leftover from pharmacy school, I found the best results when taking chunks of crystallized ginger the size of a full-strength aspirin tablet. Unfortunately, ginger ale, ginger tea, and ginger flavored gum don't have enough ginger to provide reliable relief.

Dramamine® for motion sickness is a popular non-prescription remedy. Be careful, however; Dramamine® has two different formulas: an original and a "less drowsy" version.

The original version of Dramamine® contains dimenhydrinate, a close cousin of diphenhydramine (Benadryl®). Dimenhydrinate often causes drowsiness and needs to be taken frequently every 4-6 hours.

The last time I took Dramamine®'s original formula for motion sickness was on a flight home from Orlando to Seattle. After crossing 3 time zones going westbound, I lost track of time, and it wore off just when I needed it most.

Meclizine is my preferred motion sickness remedy. You can buy it 3 ways: Dramamine® Less Drowsy Formula, Bonine®, and generic meclizine tablets., all without a prescription. I just bought another bottle of the 25mg chewable tablets of meclizine earlier today to refill my supply, at about $7.00 for 100 tablets. If you are concerned about drowsiness, try taking ½ pill or choose the lower strength of meclizine, 12.5mg tablets.

I never leave home without chewable meclizine 25mg tablets. It's inexpensive, chewable, and rarely causes drowsiness. Best of all, one dose lasts 24 hours!

For more relief, you can try adding ginger or acupressure to meclizine. Avoid taking Benadryl® (diphenhydramine) and dimenhydrinate (the original Dramamine®) together. This combination can cause drowsiness, dry mouth, and constipation.

If either meclizine or dimenhydrinate plus ginger and Sea-Bands® doesn't help you, ask your doctor about a prescription for scopolamine patches. Although it is more potent than Dramamine® or Bonine®, scopolamine has more side effects.

Scopolamine patches (Transderm Scop®) are worn behind your ear for 2-3 days at a time. They can cause fatigue, blurred vision, dry mouth, constipation, and urinary retention.

Here are 5 Tips on Mastering Motion Sickness:

- 1.Face forward.
- If possible, sit facing forward on cars, trains, boats, and roller coasters to reduce motion sickness symptoms.
- 2.Keep cool.
- Sit or stand where you get fresh air or a cool breeze. Getting too warm always makes my motion sickness worse, so I wear layers to avoid getting overheated.
- 3.Be prepared.
- Motion sickness medicine takes time to work and is most effective when taken as a preventative. You should take motion-sickness remedies at least 30 minutes before experiencing the motion of a boat, car, or plane. Don't forget to re-dose as needed.

When taking short-acting nausea medicines like ginger or dimenhydrinate (Dramamine®), always bring another dose with you. Then, if your outing is delayed, you can repeat it before the first dose wears off. (Trust me!)

4.Choose meclizine.

When picking out motion-sickness medicine, watch out! There are two formulas of the motion sickness medicine Dramamine®, always placed side by side on the shelf. I strongly recommend meclizine, which works for 24 hours. Meclizine is the ingredient in Bonine® and Dramamine® Less Drowsy Formula, and generic costs less than brand name versions.

5.Meclizine works for dogs, too.

If your dog gets carsick, meclizine can help. For most dogs, the dose is 25mg once daily; if your dog weighs less than 20lb or already takes medication, please check with your veterinarian first.
