Board still accepting letters of interest for open position

CHELAN - At the Chelan County Public Hospital District No. 2 Board of Commissioners (Lake Chelan Health) regular March 23 board meeting Mary Murphy was elected board chair, and Jordana LaPorte was elected vice-chair.

The board is still accepting letters of interest for a board position after Lake Chelan Health Commissioner Phyllis Gleasman resigned from her position earlier this month.

The appointed member will serve until the next election.

Letters of interest should include candidate's credentials and experience, as well as reasons why they want to serve as a Lake Chelan Health board member.

The Board of Commissioners are looking for an individual who is dedicated to moving healthcare forward in the Lake Chelan Valley and has displayed a commitment to advancing medical services offered by Lake Chelan Health. Candidates must also have time to study, attend meetings, and serve as an advocate for projects supporting Lake Chelan Health.

Candidates must submit letters to Kylie, at PO Box 908, Chelan, WA 98816 or fax to 509-682-2452. Letters of Interest will be accepted until the Monday, April 5 special board meeting, at which time they will interview the candidates. A job description is available upon request.

At the April 5 board meeting the board will also review the bids submitted for the new replacement hospital. A ground breaking is tentatively scheduled for April 16.

Founded in 1948, Lake Chelan Health hospital is a fully-accredited 25-bed Critical Access Hospital with supporting Express Care and Specialty Care clinics in Chelan, Washington. The health system provides a 24-hour emergency room, surgical center, and inpatient services, as well as physical, speech and occupational rehabilitative therapy.

Where can I 'park my dog' in Manson?

MANSON - The last meeting of the Manson Community Council (March 16) featured an hour plus discussion about the shrinking dog park.

Robin Pittman

Real estate and governments have always been strange bedfellows, especially eminent domain cases and rights-of-way and easements and set backs and ... ad nauseum.

Now the Buckingham Family of Manson has decided, after being sued by Chelan County, that they would like the Manson Parks and Recreation District, or the county, to buy that same triangular chunk of land for $50,000.

No one is holding their collective breaths, so to speak.

12th District Reps. Goehner, Steele hold town hall

12th District Representatives Michael Steele, left, and Keith Goehner held a virtual town hall meeting last week.

By GARY BÉGIN, MANAGING EDITOR, NCW MEDIA

OLYMPIA - State District 12 representatives Michael Steele (R-Chelan) and Keith Goehner (R-Dryden) held a virtual joint town hall meeting Tuesday, March 23. The two were asked questions from both pre-submitted (online) and phone-in community members during the one hour plus session, hosted by a House Republicans spokesman.

Steele, in his third term in Olympia, cited the fact that rural citizens must travel further to obtain basic goods, in his response to a question about the program that was initiated last summer, which might charge a road usage fee per mile.

He stated he was part of the pilot project and noted that "it takes me 45 minutes just to drive from my home to Costco."

He went on to say that the state "must find other ways to raise revenues" other than relying on increasing the gas tax. "Shifting to alternative fuels" might be one way to level the driving playing field across the state, according to Steele.

One caller questioned the state voting tabulation system and said he has lost trust in the status quo because he felt many non-citizens were allowed to vote and to serve jury duty, all because they were registered as voters while getting drivers licenses.

Steele stated, "voting had always been an important part of his life ever since he would accompany his parents to go

Native American skeletal remains found

SUBMITTED BY WAYNE HARRIS,
CHELAN COUNTY CORONER

CHELAN - On Friday, March 19, at around 3 p.m. on the vacation rental property of The Lookout in Chelan, excavation work was being done, and the individual operating the excavator unearthed a human skull. As he briefly looked around, he also found an upper arm (humerus), shin bone (tibia), lower jaw (mandible), and some small rib fragments.

The operation was stopped and he called RiverCom to report the find. Detectives were notified, and they in turn notified the Coroner's Office. The two entities met at the site of the find in an attempt to ascertain what was found.

Looking at the skull and corresponding with Dr. Kathy Taylor, the state forensic anthropologist, it was immediately determined that the remains belonged to a Native American. She immediately notified Dr. Guy Tasa, the state physical anthropologist with the Washington State Department of Archaeology and Historic Preservation. He contacted the Coroner's office and obtained as much information as available about the situation. He began writing letters to the local tribes, notifying them of the find and coordinating a time when the departments would all meet back at the site and determine what the next steps would be.

On Monday, March 23, Dr. Tasa, a representative from the Colville Tribe and the Coroner met at the site and discussed the situation. Dr. Tasa and his assistant walked the area and were able to

Twenty-five square feet of the dog park has been ceded back to its rightful owner, according to the law.

The Manson Dog Park had been involved in a “quiet title” two and a half year battle with the county, which, according to Director Robin Pitman of Manson Parks Department, was started with the Buckinghams complaining about trespassers on their land by locals and visitors looking for a dog walking experience as well as access to the lake.

The beloved dog park has been frequented for decades by neighborhood dog walkers and kids accessing the swimming area to Lake Chelan.

According to Rob Campbell, Manson Parks Department board member, the property’s owner Steve Buckingham, was willing to put up a fence, but thought the county should be responsible for maintenance such as mowing the grass.

That plan cannot ever reach fruition as it is illegal to spend public funds on maintenance of private property.

However, the MCC is considering whether or not it is worth it to purchase the odd-shaped parcel or maybe the entire Buckingham property.

It has been reported that Buckingham wants to build on that site, but his property lacks the proper set back to get planning department approval.

Keep reading the Lake Chelan Mirror for updates on this issue and you may eventually learn the secret to “where can I park my dog in Manson.”

The “Bring Fido” website states this about the Manson Dog Park: “Smallish off leash park and beach allows dogs to romp lakeside in a fenced off section. Grassy area nearby to sit down and relax while Fido plays. A busy road runs beside the park, so dogs must be leashed when outside the fence.”

homes to 12 home lots and a commercial lot.

Work is expected to start this spring, 18 months after the original designs were proposed.

Because of required road widths leading to each of the fingers, only 12 lots could fit, but there is no doubt the resultant homes will be considered “exclusive waterfront” homes on the south end of Lake Chelan.

Although specific floor plans and prices have not been set yet, the Lake Chelan Mirror did get a chance to get more facts in an exclusive interview with Chris Martin, Project Manager, Pacific Rim Land. Pacific Rim Land is a real estate and asset management company owned by the Goodfellow family.

Martin had this to say about this exciting new Chelan development:

“Thanks for the interest in our project. It’s been a long time coming. As I am sure you are aware this particular property has been met with challenges along the way. I am certain most people that have driven by this site have imagined an idea of what might ultimately be built. I certainly have. I currently do not have rendering with homes but will in the next month or two. We are selling 12 residential lots and one commercial lot. We will be building all the docks including the commercial dock. We are looking for the right entrepreneur to develop the commercial piece. Like most members of the community, we would love to see a boat-up restaurant take that site. Our civil plans are currently being reviewed by the city and our target is to begin moving dirt and begin sales within the next two months. If people would like to keep up to date on the project, they are welcome to send us their email on the website: chelanbay.com.”

The website showcases many of the fun and interesting things to do while in Chelan, all within comfortable reach by foot or car of the development.

An important disclaimer was placed at the end of the website: “The design images and plans depicted on this website are preliminary in nature and are subject to change in all respects. These preliminary plans and design images are illustrative of the potential development and should not be relied upon or used as a basis for an offer on any lots, construction plans, permit applications, or otherwise. The developer makes no express or implied warranties or representations with respect to the potential development based on such preliminary design and plan images, which are subject to revisions in all

and vote as a youngster.”

He advocated for enforcement of identification practices to stop non-citizens from serving on juries as well as voting. “There should be a higher bar” that voters must reach to be allowed to vote, Steele said. “Voting is a fundamental reality of being a citizen,” he concluded.

Goehner and Steel both said they were happy that Secretary of State Kim Wyman could be trusted to run elections fairly and be on guard for voting anomalies.

Phyllis from Manson questioned the two, both growers, as to what can be done to help small farmers to compete with massive corporate farms in the light of more property and employment taxes. Steele said “Property owners were hard-hit,” by the pandemic.

“Property taxes were just one way of shifting burden from one group to another,” said Goehner, who noted that “in the last nine years, the cost of running state government has gone up 80 percent.”

Steele said the passage of the payroll tax, HB1087 should have undergone a logistics analysis before the law passed.

Steele also said there was a reason for separation of powers in a democracy and part of that was for him and others elected by their constituency to do what he was elected to do.

Having the governor enact executive decisions showed a “lack of collaboration” and led to frustration among legislators, according to both men.

Goehner said the emergency powers vested in the executive of the state were meant for unforeseen emergencies and not for “sustained emergencies” such as the COVID-19 pandemic, which crippled economies statewide.

“More heads are better than one,” Steele said. Goehner agreed stating, “A broader base of input was needed for statewide declarations.”

On a more positive note, both men agreed that state forestry management was vital to lowering the dangers of reoccurring massive wildfires.

“It’s important that we recognize the role forest management plays” in regards to habitat, clean air, clean water and the reduction of fire particulates into the air, Goehner said.

Steele said it was a good thing that State Director of Public Lands Hilary Franz was able to help steer HB1168 through acceptance in the House as it will “help reduce greenhouse” production.

Although Franz is a Democrat, she holds one of the few statewide posts that attract bipartisan agreement from both sides of the mountains.

Regarding HB1054, Goehner and Steele voted against attempts by the Democratic majority to reduce law enforcement’s ability to fight crime, but to no avail.

“There is already so much liability involved,” said Goehner about fighting crime. “We must ensure tactics, equipment” and hiring and training of officers does not hamper police departments.

Steele said the state “should not reduce resources” when it comes to law enforcement.

The Growth Management Act (GMA) also came up during questioning, but Goehner noted “a lot can be done without being mandated” by Olympia.

Steele, who spent years on the Chelan City Council agreed.

“There should be balance in the GMA,” not just in regards to the environment,” he said. Steele said more government regulation wasn’t the answer.

SEPA and NEPA rules also play a part in regulations besides the 30-year-old GMA, according to both men.

“The State Environmental Policy Act (SEPA) process identifies and analyzes environmental impacts associated with governmental decisions. These decisions may be related to issuing permits for private projects, constructing public facilities, or adopting regulations, policies, and plans.

The SEPA review process helps agency decision-makers, applicants, and the public understand how the entire proposal will affect the environment. SEPA can be used to modify or deny a proposal to avoid, reduce, or compensate for probable impacts,” according to the SEPA website.

NEPA, or National Environment Policy Act, enacted in 1970, mandates governments “to use all practicable means and measures, including financial and technical assistance, in a manner calculated to foster and promote the general welfare, to create and maintain conditions under which man and nature can exist in productive harmony, and fulfill the social, economic, and other requirements of present and future generations of Americans.”

After restoration success, Ecology proposes site-specific rulemaking for Chelan River

PUD requests changes after salmon return to river, comment by May 21

SUBMITTED BY DEPT. OF ECOLOGY

LAKE CHELAN – Following a decade of restoration work, the Chelan River now has year-round water flows and new habitat for salmon spawning. Given these achievements, the Department of Ecology is considering site-specific water quality standards that reflect the unique nature of the river.

The proposal to revise water quality standards for the river is based on a request from Public Utility District No. 1 of Chelan County (Chelan PUD). Chelan PUD operates a hydropower dam project at the outfall of Lake Chelan to the river. In the late 1990s, as part of the dam relicensing process, Ecology required Chelan PUD do a 10-year monitoring, evaluation, and adaptive management program to evaluate whether the restoration work would lead to the river supporting salmon spawning and survival. (See

Courtesy Dept. of Ecology

Restoration work on the Chelan River, some of which can be seen here, has created a new home for Summer chinook and steelhead.

October 2020 blog)

“Establishing new salmon habitat on the Chelan River is a great achievement, reflecting years of work by Chelan PUD, fishery managers, tribes, and stakeholders,” said Vince McGowan, Water Quality Program Manager. “These targeted, site-specific updates to the water quality standards reflect what conditions we now know are achievable on the river to support salmon spawning, rearing, and migration.”

Ecology is proposing to modify state water quality standards at Chelan PUD’s request. The proposed changes require formal rulemaking and are site-specific, meaning if finalized they would only apply to the Chelan River.

Currently, state water quality standards designate the aquatic life use of salmon spawning, rearing and migration for the entire Chelan River. The designation was assigned by default without an evaluation of whether this use was existing or achievable in the river.

This is the first time Ecology has proposed such a change under a tool provided by Clean Water Act regulations, called a Use Attainability Analysis (UAA). The UAA allows Ecology to “consider the physical, chemical, biological, and economic factors that affect meeting a designated (water quality) use.”

Chelan PUD has requested Ecology conduct a UAA to consider:

Revisions to the aquatic life use designation to reflect the highest attainable uses in the river; and,

Site-specific criteria for temperature and dissolved oxygen in the water that protect the highest achievable aquatic life use designations.

Specifically, Chelan PUD is requesting Ecology consider changing the aquatic life use designation to “migration for naturally limited waters” on the upper and middle sections and to “salmonid spawning, rearing, and migration for naturally limited waters” in the lower section of the river. This means there would be different standards for different parts of the river.

Ecology is accepting comment on the draft rulemaking language, including a draft Technical Support Document and draft Implementation Plan until May 21. Public hearings will take place online on May 11 and 13. All draft documents, hearing information and instructions on how to comment can be found on the rulemaking website.

The work completed by the Chelan PUD and the Natural Science Working Group is outlined in the Chelan River Use Attainability Analysis and Site-Specific Criteria Development report, published by the Chelan PUD in December 2019.

Roe v Wade: Bold new film presents a look back on abortion

BY BILL FORHAN, PUBLISHER

Nick Loeb and Cathy Allyn have produced and directed a new film to be released on Friday, April 2, about how the public and Supreme Court were manipulated to pass the historic bill that legalized abortion on demand.

It is a highly controversial film with a cast of notable actors including Corbin Bernsen, Jon Voight, Stacey Dash and John Schneider. The film tells the story about how activists manipulated the courts and public opinion to legalize abortion. It originally premiered at the Vienna Independent Film Festival where Voight won an award for best supporting actor.

The film is an excellent portrayal of the way the proponents of abortion made their case. Building public support by twisting the challenges of Christians and those on the right who opposed it. Since its legalization more than 60 million unborn children have been killed through abortion in the U.S.

While abortion was originally promoted as only to be permitted during the first trimester, it has since advanced to the point where many abortion rights activists approve of infanticide.

It will come as no surprise that the movie is highly criticized by the left with little more than personal attacks on the ineptitude of the producers and the laundry list of actors who refused the part after reading the script. Facebook has refused to run advertising for the movie.

Having personally screened the movie I can say it is well done and a compelling story not just about abortion, but about the state of our regulatory process and judicial ineptitude today.

None of our local theaters are planning on screening the movie. You can view the trailer for the movie on our website. Producer Nick Loeb tells me the movie will be available through PVOD (Premier Video On Demand), Amazon, iTunes, Google play and On Demand. It is now available for pre-order on iTunes, <https://itunes.apple.com/us/movie/roe-v-wade/id1559069549?ls=1>

Managers for The Lookout were also onsite, and they were given the legal requirements of the next steps. The site will be further investigated by an archeologist after proper permits are obtained. The process will continue to include the Colville Tribe representatives and may take up to 60 days.

When the investigation is completed, all of the skeletal remains will be placed in a cedar box and interred at the small cemetery on property that belongs to the Wapato Tribe, near the Mill Bay Casino.

The public are strongly advised to stay out of the area as it is an active Native American excavation site, to be turned over to local law enforcement, the Coroner, or the proper representative from the Colville tribe.

Franz, local fire chiefs to gather and explain ways to mitigate forest fires

WENATCHEE - A new statewide program, Wildfire Ready Neighbors, will kick off April 5, 10:30 a.m., at 174 Boodry St., Wenatchee. This initiative will bring together entire communities to take action on homes and properties in high risk counties, Chelan, Okanogan, and Spokane, before wildfire strikes.

The need to get prepared has never been more important. In 2020, the Washington State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) responded to more than 1,600 wildfires statewide. More than 800,000 acres burned and 298 homes were lost. One of the most devastating seasons on record.

Commissioner Hilary Franz, fire districts and Chelan County community members will show and explain how to mobilize to become more resilient.

He graduated from Everett High School in 1952 before attending Montana State University where he obtained his master's in Chemical Engineering. He joined the Weyerhaeuser Company in 1958 and remained there until he retired in the early 1990's. Following retirement, he divided time between Yuma, AZ, Arizona and Chelan, Washington.

Bif loved Jesus and baking pies. He enjoyed regaling others with stories, attending weekly prayer breakfasts, and cooking for a crowd. Able to strike up a conversation with just about anyone, he had a huge heart, opening his home to dignitaries, missionaries, and foster children with equal enthusiasm. He loved his family and generously supported several ministries. He attended Entiat Warehouse Community Church.

Preceded in death by his wife Jerrie and son Raymond, he is survived by his children Doug (Janet), Brian (Patty), Rob (Faye), Ron (Janet), Teresa, and Tamara (Mark), 16 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

A celebration of his life will be held at 2 p.m. on Monday, June 28 at Entiat Warehouse Community Church, 14816 Hwy 97A.

Virgil McClosky

Virgil McClosky, a businessman in suburban Detroit who fell in love with Chelan on a cross-country trip in 1971 and moved his family there not long after, died March 18, 2021, at his home above Lake Chelan. He was 92.

Mr. McClosky died of natural causes and surrounded by family in the house he and wife Frances built overlooking the business they had owned and operated, Cove Marina, on the South Shore 12 miles from town.

Virgil Mitchell McClosky was born Sept. 11, 1928, in Layland, West Virginia, the youngest of the 11 children of Russian-Polish immigrants Michael and Frances McClosky. He moved to the Detroit area as a teenager.

He met Frances Maria Dula in Melvindale, at Melvindale High School, where they graduated in 1947. He attended Wayne University for two years while working at a dairy and restaurant during the school year and on Great Lakes freighters between terms. After a year as a fireman, he was drafted into the Army and served in Germany as a Morse code operator.

Virgil and Frances married on April 19, 1953. In Allen Park, another Detroit suburb, they started a family and founded Frances Market, a thriving neighborhood grocery. He also established and ran a catering service, plus Alwick Drugs and Virgil's Dairy Bar, which specialized in burgers and milkshakes. Frances helped with the thriving businesses while also raising their daughter and five sons.

The family enjoyed cross-country car trips in the summers, and it was on one of those treks that they visited Chelan. Captured by the surrounding beauty, Virgil decided that would be their new home.

They bought the Cove Marina in 1972. Life was busy, with Virgil, Frances and their now-teenage sons running boat moorage, a convenience store, a restaurant, a bar, motel rooms and a boat repair shop. They also ran a charter business taking sightseers up the lake to Stehekin and taking diners from Manson across the lake to their restaurant.

After they sold the marina in 1990, Virgil and Frances started their retirement by seeing America from their RV for a few years. Once they were back, Virgil could not handle retirement, so he developed and sold residential lots, which kept him active and outside for the rest of his days.

Virgil was preceded in death by son Stephen and by 10 brothers and sisters: Stella; Nellie, Bertha, Mary, Helen, Joseph, Sophia, Frances, Stanley and Walter.

He is survived by Frances; daughter Jane (Gary) Schleppebach; and sons Doug (Carole); Carl (Linda); Tom (Ulla Cantila); and Mark (Edee) McClosky. He leaves 19 grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and two great-grandkids.

Plans for a service have been postponed by the pandemic.

Please leave any thoughts and memories for the family at www.prechtrose.com.

Services are under the direction of Precht Rose Chapel of Chelan.

The Chelan High School Mountain Goat football team started their team practices this season on Feb. 16, and were seen on Thursday, Feb. 18, practicing in a snow storm, with the temperature in the high 20's. "We are truly excited and thankful we get to practice and play," said Coach Travis Domser, at that time. There are 44 players on the team this year, 32 of those are returning players, and there are eight seniors. They have three wins and one loss, which puts them in a position to play for a league title.

Bill Lippincott, a former Cashmere High School football coach, was the one who originally started up the hype about the coveted Bronze Shoe trophy. Lippincott coached Cashmere into a winning team beginning in 1949. The Bronze Shoe trophy was molded from Lippincott's old football shoe. Lippincott moved to Chelan in 1953 and began coaching the Chelan Goats into a winning team. That is when the rivalry between the two teams officially began. Now, the two teams compete each year to see who will be the champions and take home the ultimate prize of the Bronze Shoe.

Wednesday, March 24
CHELAN - Tonight (March 24) was an emotional senior night for us. We have three standout seniors on the team this year; Elly Collins, AJ Gueller and Katie Rainville. These three have put in countless hours working on improving their skills. In set 1 we started out a bit flat tonight. It took us quite a few points to get going. Set 2 and 3 we found our rhythm. We ended up sweeping Brewster in 3 with scores of 25-15, 25-8 and 25-8.

Stats:
Elly Collins 8 kills, 12 digs, 12/12 serving with 2 aces
Katie Rainville 12 kills, 4/5 serving
AJ Gueller 4 kills, 1 block
Olivia Strandberg 3 kills, 1 block, 7 digs, 34/35 serving Sasha Dandridge 19 kills, 2 digs, 7/8 serving Ally Williams 2 kills, 43 assists, 1 dig, 4/4 serving Morgyn Harrison 2 assists, 8 digs, 8/8 serving

Saturday, March 27
Chelan finished the season 12-0 with wins against Wenatchee and Eastmont. Chelan faced Wenatchee and swept them in three with scores of 25-16, 25-20 and 25-9. Chelan then continued their undefeated season by taking down Eastmont in three with scores of 25-16, 25-17 and 25-14.

I am very proud of how my girls played. The seniors on the team have now gone two years undefeated, with the last loss their sophomore year at state (first round against Lynden Christian). The seniors have left quite a legacy (4th at state freshman year, 7th at state sophomore year, 1st at state junior year and senior year undefeated but no opportunity to defend title). They have set the bar high for so many of the youth in the valley.

Stats vs Wenatchee
Elly Collins 9 kills, 1 block, 13 digs, 12/12 serving Katie Rainville 9 kills, 5 blocks, 1 dig, 4/4 serving AJ Gueller 2 kills, 1 assist, 4 blocks
Olivia Strandberg 14 kills, 1 assist, 6 blocks, 13 digs, 18/18 serving Sasha Dandridge 7 kills, 1 block, 8 digs, 5/6 serving with 2 aces
Ally Williams 1 kill, 38 assists, 1 block, 2 digs, 17/18 serving with 3 aces

Eleven brave women were in attendance for the competition of Par 5s and Par 3s which is a total of all par 5 and par 3 holes less 1/2 of your handicap.

Competition winners were:
Division 1: First place, Linda Hahn, 27. Second place, Nancy

Judson, 28.
Division 2: First place, Loa Servis, 34.
Division 3: First place, Karen Erickson, 30.
There were no birdies or chip-ins so the chip-in pot will carry over to this week.

THE WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

Skunked

BY JOHN KRUSE, THE
WASHINGTON OUTDOOR REPORT

You are never too old to eat a slice of humble pie, that's for sure. My problem is, when it comes to recent fishing expeditions, I've been on a steady diet of this less than delicious dessert.

If you would have asked me last October what I thought of myself as a fisherman, I would have shared so many stories you would think me a braggart. Truth be told, it was one of the best fishing years of my life when it came to catching trout, walleye and bass. I got skunked once last year while my best friend, Rusty Johnston, cleaned up on bass at our favorite lake. However, I was usually the one that ended up with the biggest bass or walleye on our combined outings and caught more fish too. Trust me, in the 40 plus years we've fished together, that hasn't happened too often. Rusty's "a pretty good stick", as anglers like to say when they are describing those who have the ability to reel in good numbers of fish no matter what the conditions.

In addition to those outings with my friend, Rusty, I went on a number of solo trout trips not only in Washington, but also in Montana and Wyoming and every one of them was successful when it came to catching trout. Mind you, it helps when you are fishing rivers that literally have more than a 1,000 fish per square mile but to the casual observer of my Facebook page, I was looking like "a pretty good stick" too.

Then came 2021 and the appearance of a skunk whose persistent stink stays with me. I caught fish the first time out with Rusty this year going after carp but on the five trips I've taken since then with Rusty, my daughter, Faith or by myself? Not a fish to be found...At least, not by this angler.

Humans are great when it comes to self-deception and I'm just as fallible as anyone.

Courtesy John Kruse

Ready to go kayak fishing.

The first time out I blamed the weather, which was valid, since the winds were gusting to 40 mph. The second time? I blamed an approaching cold front which must have put off the bite for my daughter and I going after trout at the Quincy Lakes. The other three trips though? That's where doubt crept in to take up residence with that stinky skunk. You see, the next two trips were with my friend, Rusty. And each and every time while I failed to catch a single fish, Rusty was catching them. Trout, bass, he caught them both and handily too. It would be fair to say my friend Rusty had found his mojo...and I had lost mine.

In desperation, I loaded my kayak into the back of the truck for a fifth trip. This time I headed to the north end of Potholes Reservoir and fished flooded areas close to shore that are normally magnets for bass this time of year. I cast a variety of offerings into the water for four hours but after all that I turned around to see that pesky skunk in the back of the boat, just sitting there staring at me.

At this point I had a couple of ways to deal with this situation. My initial game plans of curling up into a ball or pouting like a petulant child didn't hold much appeal for me. Instead, I focused on other things. Number one, I was out in nature and it was a beautiful day. Second, the bird life was abundant. Ducks, geese, hawks, and several bald eagles were seen and heard on this trip and many of the other ones too. Good company? I had that too on several of these trips and going fishing with friends or family is certainly an event to be treasured no matter the end result.

Finally, being a duck hunter, I couldn't help but notice a couple of mallard decoys that were washed up amongst a wave of broken willow limbs floating near shore. They were in good shape and still had both their cords and their weights. Some duck hunter had probably lost them in high winds this past season but that hunter's loss was my gain as I hauled in the hen and drake decoys. Suddenly, I felt empowered. I had caught something after all. It wasn't the fish I was after, but it was something I could use. It was enough for me to shoo that skunk out of the back of my kayak. He had to move anyway because that's where I tossed the decoys.

Here's hoping your next fishing trip brings you many fish but on the off chance you do get skunked, remember the real reasons you are out there and see if you can find something else of value to reel in.

How candy can kill your pet

Easter is the holiday most associated with candy. According to the National Confectioner's Association, Americans purchase more candy at Easter than at any other holiday, surpassing even Halloween and Valentine's Day. Over 75% of Americans make an Easter basket each year. Bunnies made out of chocolate are the most popular Easter candy. In 2018, Americans spent $935 million on chocolate, purchasing over 100 million chocolate bunnies.

It's traditional to hide colored eggs and chocolates in preparation for a Sunday morning Easter Egg Hunt. While toddlers wander about in the spring sunshine, their older siblings and cousins dash past them. Their goal? Finding brightly colored eggs lurking under bushes, hidden along hedges, tucked into tufts of grass, and nestled behind flower pots.

Easter Egg hunts are fun for little ones and entertaining for older adults. Unfortunately, the chocolate bunnies and other treats nestled in Easter baskets can be dangerous to our pets. Chocolate smells wonderful to dogs. They seek it out and eat it with enthusiasm.

Cats rarely eat enough chocolate to cause them harm. In contrast, most dogs will eat any chocolate that they can smell and find, even entire bags of candy containing chocolate. For small dogs, this can be enough to cause poisoning and death.

Why is chocolate so dangerous to our pets?

One of the compounds found naturally in chocolate is theobromine. Theobromine is closely related to caffeine. If enough of it were concentrated in a capsule or tablet, it would have a similar effect, increasing your energy level and mental focus.

Theobromine is found in all parts of the cacao bean. The hard outer cacao shells, which are removed during processing, and the delicious inner beans used to make Hershey's kisses, Dove's bars and chocolate bunnies all contain theobromine.

The danger to animals wasn't realized until someone started recycling the discarded cacao beans' shells by adding them to animal feed. Suddenly, baby ducks, chicks, baby goats, and young calves were dying, all with similar symptoms: vomiting, diarrhea, confusion, and seizures, followed by collapse and death. These tragic deaths were eventually traced to animal feeds that contained recycled cacao shells.

How much chocolate is dangerous to your pet? The smaller your dog is, the less it takes for them to be poisoned. The more concentrated the chocolate, the more theobromine it will contain and the more danger your pet will be in.

In general, the darker the chocolate, the more poisonous it is to a pet. A small, 6-ounce bag of semi-sweet chocolate chips has enough theobromine to kill an 18-pound dog. Baking chocolate squares are particularly dark and potent, with 2 squares enough to make a 50-lb. dog sick or kill a 20-lb. dog.

Puppies and elderly dogs seem to be more affected by theobromine, so it takes even less chocolate for them to be poisoned.

If chocolate is so dangerous to our pets, could toddlers and small children be at risk, too? Thankfully, no, because our human bodies are very good at detoxifying theobromine. Humans and animals have particular proteins called enzymes which are designed to break down and detoxify compounds like theobromine. In humans, these special enzymes work twice as fast as the ones in dogs, cats, and other animals.

Despite christening chocolate-rich cake and dessert recipes Death by Chocolate, it's pretty much impossible for humans, no matter how small, to die from eating chocolate.

5 tips on how to protect your pet from poisoning from candy

1. The darker the chocolate is, the more dangerous it is.

Be especially vigilant about keeping dark chocolate and semi-sweet chocolate chips out of reach. One small 8-ounce bag of Toll-House chocolate chips is a fatal dose for a 20-lb dog.

2. Size matters:

How much chocolate it takes to poison a dog depends on their size, with small dogs especially at risk. What a black lab can get away with ingesting can be fatal to a Yorkie or Shih Tzu.

3. Avoid repeat ingestions.

Multiple incidents of eating chocolate close together are dangerous even to big dogs because they detoxify chocolate a little at a time. Another ingestion within 24 hours can turn a harmless incident into a painful death.

4. White chocolate is nearly as dangerous.

White chocolate is also a danger because of its high-fat content. Dogs seek it out because it smells like chocolate. Fat from white chocolate can trigger a painful and fatal condition in dogs called pancreatitis.

5. Find out more.

You can find more information about foods dangerous to your pets online at www.petpoisonhelpline.com.
