

Rock slope scaling project on US 97A will bring highway closures

Project south of Entiat begins March 29 with two full weeks of hourly closures

SUBMITTED BY WSDOT

ENTIAT - Another rock slope scaling project to address an unstable slope along U.S. 97A begins Monday, March 29. The work will require two weeks of daytime highway closures from milepost 213.63 to 213.76, about a mile south of Entiat. Strider Construction has been awarded this project with a bid of $309,912.

Similar to the rock scaling work completed last summer, contractor crews will remove loose, unstable rock from slopes adjacent to U.S. 97A in an area where rock fall often reaches the highway. To complete the work, crews will close the road between 8:15 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays, with openings for 15 minutes on the top of every hour to allow traffic through the work zone. These extended closures allow the contractor to complete more work, shortening the project duration, and ensures the safety of travelers.

The closures will last two weeks, and work is scheduled to be complete by 5 p.m. Monday, April 12. April 13 and 14 there will be flagger controlled traffic with delays up to 10 minutes as the contractor wraps up the project. The highway will be open during non-working hours and on weekends.

Updates for the project will be shared on WSDOT's travel alerts page: wsdot.com/traffic/trafficalerts/Central.aspx, and on Twitter: twitter.com/WSDOT_East

Vaccine eligibility expanded, long-term care visitations resume

SUBMITTED BY OFFICE OF GOV. JAY INSLEE

OLYMPIA - Gov. Jay Inslee on March 18 announced that the statewide eviction moratorium will be extended through June 30, as well as upcoming vaccine eligibility expansion, including restaurant workers and Washingtonians 60 and older. He also announced that effective immediately, visitations at long-term care facilities and nursing homes may resume.

In addition, the state Department of Health (DOH) launched a new web tool to help people find open vaccination appointments near them.

Eviction moratorium extension

The governor announced that the statewide eviction moratorium will be extended through June 30. The moratorium, first put in place exactly a year ago today, has been a vital protection for families struggling with the persistent economic effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

"The pandemic's economic toll continues to burden many Washingtonians, particularly tenants," Inslee said during a press conference Thursday. "People need these supports right now. There is no other way to look at it."

Since the moratorium was first instituted, hundreds of millions of dollars have gone

Sheriff Burnett: Short Term Rental rules will only be enforced during normal work hours ... for now

BY GARY BÉGIN
MANAGING EDITOR,
NCW MEDIA

MANSON - At a recent Zoom meeting of the Manson Community Council (March 16), Chelan County Sheriff Brian Burnett explained that when the time comes to start enforcing Short Term Rental (STR) rules, it will be handled by a force of "code enforcement" sheriff's office officers who will be on duty Monday through Friday, during normal working hours.

Burnett went on to say that these officers must undergo similar police academy training on certain subjects like use-of-force, firearms and driving before they will be allowed on the streets to enforce STR issues.

This learning curve is expected to last four weeks, but some applicants may take less time if they are already previously experienced law enforcement officers.

Once these criteria are met, candidates for the three positions would also be required to learn code enforcement. Burnett expects the county offices responsible for STR rules will be teaching staff the new rules. That would mean Chelan County Community Development staff.

Burnett said there would be one position (new hire) for Leavenworth, one for Chelan and one supernumerary as in an "at

Mayor Goedde: 'Learned a lesson that we won't do again'

BY GARY BÉGIN
MANAGING EDITOR,

CHELAN - Something went wrong with a public works contract, but it was apparently hashed out in a special executive session, minus Councilmen Chris Baker and Tim Hollingsworth, Thursday, March 18.

The 4:30 p.m. meeting, a behind doors legal discussion, took place anyway in regards to a contract with KRCI Construction for repairs to "Lift Station #5."

The Executive Session was scheduled to last about 15 minutes by it doubled in size to half an hour before the city council emerged.

A short discussion was held and Mayor Bob Goedde called for a motion to rescind the awarded contract and eventually signing it again after a period of time due to problems with dates.

Dates of a bid, award and approval of same, have always been a legally sacrosanct aspect of city councils, county commissions, school boards and other public governmental entities since nearly the dawn of the democratic system of government.

In this case, the bid was awarded one day too early, according to one city of-

Brush fire consumes three acres

At 3:10 p.m. on March 21 Chelan Fire and Rescue and Chelan County Fire District #5 were dispatched to a Brush Fire on Little Butte Ranch Road. Twenty mph wind gusts caused an ember from a smoldering burn pile to catch the nearby sagebrush and grass on fire. A second alarm was called as the fire was spreading quickly in the thick pockets of sagebrush. The erratic winds eventually shifted in the opposite direction helping crews to get around the head of the fire keeping it at about three acres in size. This was the first significant brush fire for Chelan Fire and Rescues new Brush 74 Heavy which is a six wheel drive 1,000 gallon brush truck with a high ground clearance allowing it to go over sagebrush and rougher terrain which proved very helpful on this call.

Festival scheduled for May 20-23

SUBMITTED BY LAKE CHELAN WINE & JAZZ FESTIVAL FOUNDATION

CHELAN— The Lake Chelan Wine & Jazz Festival Foundation

has opened its application period for organizations in the Chelan Valley seeking financial support for their philanthropic work in the community. Applications will be accepted between now and May 23, through the Giving link on the Festival website.

The Lake Chelan Wine and Jazz Festival seeks to celebrate the natural connection between great wine, delicious food, and the excitement of jazz music; and enjoy it all while experiencing the grandeur of the Lake Chelan Valley.

Because of the connection to the valley and all it has to offer, it is our goal to give back to that community through our support of local organizations that work to improve the lives of the valley's residents. We seek to identify and recognize those organizations that provide help to those who need it most in our community.

need" or "on call" basis.

Normal working hours in this case would mirror any other government agency's 8-5 or thereabouts office hours. Burnett said it may become more flexible in the future and might even be subject to evening and weekend shifts within the code enforcement department.

As of right now, Burnett is asking for some "slack" as the entire concept is a fairly new one in the realm of county law enforcement and he sounded sure that minor tweaks will be an ongoing chore before the kinks are ironed out, hopefully by the fall season.

As far as the expected deployment of these officers, Burnett stated it would be around mid-May to early June.

He said he still needs to work with his staff to formulate a job description, policies and procedures as well as deal with sworn and administrative personnel and their respective unions.

The codes are due to be officially on the books around April 5, in time for tourist season. Burnett said there was a distinct difference between the expected Memorial Day crowd and the July Fourth tourists.

He noted the 4th tourists were perhaps a bit more rambunctious, but the code enforcers would already have boots on the ground, and with a little mud on them, by that time.

Burnett said the Leavenworth/Plain and Chelan/Manson areas are the two parts of the county expected to receive the most attention when STR rules start to apply.

He said most if not all county residents, live in Commissioner Bob Bugert's (Leavenworth) district or, in the case of Lake Chelan, in Commissioner Tiffany Gering's district.

Perhaps the biggest surprise, as gauged by the reaction of MCC members, was the fact that these code enforcers will not be available 24/7 like the normal sheriff's office patrol deputies.

Burnett told them that in the meantime, complaints should be called-in to a non-emergency administrative phone voice mail for action beginning the following workday morning.

So, if you are complaining about loud noise or parking on a Saturday night, it isn't going to be handled by the Chelan County Sheriff Office (CCSO) department of code enforcement until Monday, depending on where your complaint might fall in the order of complaints received.

However, if you hear gunshots or see acts of violence or public safety concerns, then call the regular Rivercom emergency dispatch center and a deputy will be sent to that location asap.

Burnett said his office is experienced in serving warrants and legal notices and the like, but not in the area of STR's.

He clearly made sure the MCC members and a couple dozen citizen listeners understood that there was a huge difference between a criminal act and a code violation. The latter may be subjected to a fine, like a barking dog complaint, if the issue isn't corrected. After the initial response by the officer, a $75 fine on second infraction or $150 on third violation may result in an issuing of an order to appear in court. Details not yet set.

Burnett said the regular CCSO patrol cars would be painted in silver and have lettering on the car stating: "Code Enforcement."

The enforcement officers would be armed and in uniform and that is why they must undergo police academy training, he said.

About 33 people, including

MCC, staff and invited guests, attended the meeting.

They were also witness to Burnett's description of taking on this code enforcement challenge when he said he didn't really jump at the chance to take on this responsibility, but realized it was the best thing to do for the citizens of Chelan County.

"I try to be a team player" with the close cooperation of the Commissioners and the Community Development Department," he said.

He then asked the MCC and the entire STR-affected area to give him "a little bit of grace and patience" as he was hoping to iron out the kinks by a year from now, once tactics and policies are worked out.

ficial. The same exact bid will most likely be approved again, but first a legal issue with a losing bidder must be handled, according to that same source.

The losing bidder filed a complaint about the date of the choosing of the winning bid and caused the issue to become a legal one.

After the vote to rescind was approved, Mayor Goedde said, "I hope we have learned a lesson that we won't do again." Then the meeting adjourned.

toward rental assistance — for both tenants and landlords. Additional rental assistance will be available through the recently passed American Rescue Plan Act from the federal government.

The governor signed two additional related proclamations yesterday; one relating to utility shutoffs and the other focusing on debt garnishment. Under the new proclamations, the utility shutoff moratorium is extended through July 31, and debt garnishment on federal pandemic payments is still prohibited.

Vaccine eligibility expansion

The governor also announced that the next two tiers of those eligible for the vaccine will become eligible on March 31 due to steady dose and vaccination rate increases.

There are currently around three million Washingtonians currently eligible for the vaccine, with another estimated two million eligible by the end of the month, bringing the total to five million by the end of March — a much higher number than initially predicted.

"Because our doses are increasing and our daily vaccination rates remain around our goal, we are thrilled to announce that we can get this vaccine to more Washingtonians sooner than we initially thought," Inslee said. "I encourage everyone, especially those who were among the first eligible but haven't gotten a dose, to take advantage of this life-saving instrument."

The expansion will open up appointments on March 31st for:

- Anyone with two or more comorbidities
- Anyone between the ages of 60 and 64
- Anyone living in congregate settings (correctional facilities, group homes for those with disabilities, those experiencing homelessness, etc.)
- Additional workers in congregate settings (restaurants, manufacturing, construction)

"As we advance through the next tiers of vaccine eligibility, we want to again encourage the people of Washington to continue to be patient," said Michele Roberts, one of the DOH leaders for the state's vaccine rollout. "Vaccine supply continues to increase and we have just a little more than a month before all adults are eligible on May 1st. Until then we encourage people to sign up as soon as you're eligible, go get that shot in the arm, and help us bring an end to the pandemic."

Detail on future phases is forthcoming. For information on eligibility, visit the Phase Finder tool on the Department of Health's website.

Long-term care visitations

Effective immediately, visitation at long-term care and nursing home facilities may resume, eliminating visitation phases, in accordance with guidance from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Outdoor visitation remains the safest, preferred option, but indoor visitation will be permitted for visitors or residents who are fully vaccinated. Compassionate care visits will still be permitted, regardless of vaccination of either party. "These new visitation guidelines are very welcome after a year that was filled with so much hardship and isolation," said Bill Moss, assistant secretary, Department of Social and Health Services. "Thanks to the effectiveness of the vaccine, infection control procedures and previous visitation restrictions, we are now seeing a steady decline in facilities reporting COVID-19, which means long-term care facilities can begin implementing a process for in-person visits."

Indoor visitation is not allowed if there is a current active outbreak in a facility or for residents with confirmed cases of COVID-19 or in quarantine due to exposure to the virus.

Indoor visitation is not allowed if there is a current active outbreak in a facility or for residents with confirmed cases of COVID-19 or in quarantine due to exposure to the virus.

Long-term care and nursing home facilities must follow Core Infection Prevention Principles, like symptom screening, environmental cleaning, PPE and testing, among other infection prevention tactics.

Public-private partnerships

In order to improve access for eligible Washingtonians to find and make vaccination appointments, as well as provide more resources for vaccination sites statewide, the governor announced a myriad of public-private partnership efforts stemming from the Vaccine Action Command and Coordination System Center.

"Our success in getting more than 2.5 million doses administered to date is thanks to the efforts of many dedicated providers and public health professionals, as well as the National Guard," Inslee said. "These public-partnerships with small and large Washington-based employers have helped us improve delivery of the vaccine to the people of Washington."

Last week, the Department of Health launched a new, user friendly web tool to help Washingtonians find a vaccination appointment. The web tool looks at various scheduling options from multiple providers to find a vaccination appointment easier and is available in multiple languages.

The web application was made possible by a number of partnerships with Washington companies, including Microsoft, Starbucks, Expedia, Costco, Prota Ventures, among others.

The state is also collaborating with Amazon to improve customer support for the state hotline for scheduling vaccination appointments. Starting next week, Amazon call center representatives will join existing hotline workers to schedule vaccine appointments for eligible Washingtonians who may have difficulty accessing or using technology needed to register online.

Finally, Challenge Seattle, an organization of CEOs from 20 of the largest employers in the Seattle area, will be publishing a Playbook for mass vaccination sites. This resource, for public and private organizations running or planning on setting up clinics, will help centralize best practices and lessons learned through the vaccine administration process here in Washington state.

"It's another great day to be from Washington state," Inslee said. "From protecting people's housing to helping people see their loved ones and getting more Washingtonians vaccinated, we're continuing to move forward toward recovery."

House fire, report of aircraft emergency keeps Chelan Fire & Rescue busy CHELAN - At approximately 10:28 a.m. on March 19 Chelan Fire and Rescue with help from Chelan County Fire District 5 (Manson) and Lake Chelan EMS responded to a Structure Fire at 114 E.

Center Street in the Lakeside area of Chelan. The first unit on scene reported a working structure fire in a small single-story home with flames out the rear of the house. Crews entered the structure and were able to quickly find the location of the fire for extinguishment. The single occupant of the home was able to make it out but did have a minor burn injury to one arm. The fire appears to have started in the attic area before dropping down into the house. The home is a total loss. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

Aircraft emergency: While on scene of the structure fire, Chelan Fire and Rescue was then dispatched for a reported Aircraft Emergency at Lake Chelan Airport. Rivercom advised that there was an inbound plane with possible malfunctioning landing gear with three souls on board. Crews staged along the runway and the plane was able to make a successful landing without incident.

OBITUARIES

Ryan Martin Wai Ung Petersen

Ryan Martin Wai Ung Petersen, 49, of Manson, Washington, passed away on March 7, 2021. We lost our beloved husband, daddy, son, brother, and friend. Ryan Petersen was a man of quiet strength, who often carried the world on his shoulders and took care of everyone around him. He was a hard worker and very capable. He could create, build, or fix anything, and had many artistic talents, such as painting, drawing, designing, and picking up musical instruments. Ryan at times seemed stoic, but was secretly funny, even goofy when he was in his comfort zone. He chose his friends carefully, held tight to his family, and was very loyal to all those he loved. He was powerful in body and spirit, and it felt like he would always be here. He leaves a great hole in all of our lives and will be loved and missed until we get to see him again in Heaven.

Ryan was born on December 20, 1971 to Bob and Cindy Petersen of Manson, Washington.

He grew up on the shores of Lake Chelan and in the family's apple orchard by Antoine Creek, and spent many vacations visiting Hawaii, where his mother was born and raised. He loved the Hawaiian Islands, as well as his family there, and considered them to be like a second home. Ryan attended school in Manson, where he was an exemplary student and talented athlete. He was a force on the football field, where he instilled fear in any opponent who faced him. He graduated from Manson High in 1990, and headed for college at Pacific Lutheran University, in Tacoma, WA where he graduated with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design. He met Shelby there, and they were married in June of 1996. After college, Ryan and Shelby moved home to Lake Chelan, where Ryan joined his dad, Bob, in the orchard business. They ran the orchard side by side through the years, working the land they loved.

Ryan and Shelby built a life and family together, bringing three beautiful children into the world, Caleb, 22, Micah, 17, and Stella, 14. Ryan was dedicated to his family and to perpetuating the orchard until the day he suddenly left this earth.

Ryan is survived by his wife and three children, his mother, Cindy Petersen, two brothers, Wai Tim and Corey Petersen, and their wives, Kari, and Krysta. He also leaves behind brothers and sisters-in-law, nieces and nephews, cousins, aunts and uncles, and dear friends. He was preceded in death by his dad, Bob Petersen, and grandparents, Martin and Margaret Petersen and Park Liu and Mildred Chong.

Services were held to celebrate Ryan's life on Friday, March 19 at 2 p.m. at North Shore Bible Church in Manson, Washington. There was a graveside ceremony for family and close friends prior to the church service, at 11 a.m. at the Fraternal Cemetery in Chelan, Washington. Viewing was held on Thursday, March 18 at Precht Rose Chapel from 3-7 p.m.

If you would like to make a donation in Ryan's memory, the family would be honored by contributions to the Manson School District or the Manson and Chelan Fire/EMT Departments.

Please leave any thoughts and memories for the family at www.prechtrose.com. Services are entrusted to Precht Rose Chapel of Chelan.

NEWS BRIEFS

Comments for relocation of Stehekin road

SUBMITTED BY NORTH CASCADES NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

STEHEKIN - The public is invited to comment on an Environmental Assessment (EA) to reroute approximately 0.25 miles of the Stehekin Valley Road at milepost (MP) 5.5 in Lake Chelan National Recreation Area. The purpose of this action is to sustainably maintain safe and reliable vehicle access on the Stehekin Valley Road by addressing the threat of river bank erosion below the road near MP 5.5. Maintaining this access is essential for local transportation needs and ensuring the health and safety of the local populace, National Park Service employees, and visitors.

An EA analyzes the environmental impacts of the proposed project and a no action alternative to help determine whether the National Park Service should carry out the proposed action.

All comments on the EA are welcome, particularly those that identify ways to lessen the impacts of the proposed action or address if the document provides enough evaluation of the effects on the environment.

To review the EA and provide electronic comments visit <https://parkplanning.nps.gov/StehekinRoadReloEA2021>

Comments will be accepted now through April 13.

Hardcopy comments can be mailed to: Superintendent, 810 State Route 20, Sedro Woolley, WA 98284.

Area roads remain closed to prevent damage

SUBMITTED BY CHELAN COUNTY PUBLIC WORKS

NCW - Seasonal road closures on Oklahoma Gulch Road (Entiat) and Mountain Home Road (Leavenworth) will remain in effect until further notice. Both roads have not been re-opened as scheduled because of snow on the roadways. Road crews will monitor the two roads, and we will update the public when they are re-opened.

As a reminder, Horse Lake Road (Wenatchee) also remains closed until at least April

1. The seasonal closure will be re-evaluated at the end of the month to determine if it will be re-opened, as scheduled, on that date.

Horse Lake Road is among four seasonal road closures that are put in place annually by Chelan County Public Works. The closure on Horse Lake Road, which is done in conjunction with the closure of the Sage Hills trail system by the Chelan-Douglas Land Trust, is due to migrating mule deer that feed off the spring greenery after enduring the lean winter months. The number of deer in that area typically peaks in March, according to the land trust.

Temporary weight restrictions also remain on roads in the five county road districts. Visit our website for more details, including updates, on weight restrictions: www.co.chelan.wa.us/public-works/pages/traffic-alerts-and-restrictions

Noxious weed survey begins April 1

SUBMITTED BY CHELAN COUNTY NOXIOUS WEED CONTROL BOARD

WENATCHEE - The Chelan County Noxious Weed Control Board, in accordance with RCW 17.10.190 reminds land owners that the noxious weed survey season will begin again April 1.

It is the obligation of all land owners under RCW 17.10.140 to eradicate all Class A noxious weeds and control and prevent the spread of all Class B and Class C noxious weeds listed on the Chelan County Noxious Weed List. These plants invade our croplands, rangeland, forests, parks, rivers and lakes, causing both ecological and economic damage that affects us all.

To help protect Chelan County's resources and economy, the Chelan County Noxious Weed list has been adopted for 2021 and includes all Class A and Class B Designate species from the Washington State Noxious Weed List, and selected Class B Non-Designate and Class C species. The list is posted on the Chelan County Noxious Weed Control Board website and is also available by request from the office.

Chelan Football

Chelan falls to Ephrata, 22-20

SUBMITTED BY COACH TRAVIS DOMSER

EPHRATA - Well it was a fun back and forth game last night (Saturday, March 20).

Our Goats played tough but it wasn't enough to pull out a win. Our kids played with great effort, and bounced back well from a deficit and penalties, but we just did not execute some things to our potential, and we were not as fundamentally sound as we were in our first two games. No disrespect to Ephrata, they are a big physical team that made one less mistake than us.

Big home league home game this week against Quincy!
Score Chelan 20 - Ephrata 22
Reed Stamps - 9 completions 150 Yards and 2 tds
Quinn McLaren - TD reception
Gunner Gleasman - TD reception - 1 sack 2 TFL's and 6 tackles
Ethan Kehl - 1 rushing TD

THE WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

Outdoors round-up

By JOHN KRUSE, THE WASHINGTON OUTDOOR REPORT

PACIFIC NORTHWEST SPORTSMEN'S SHOW – The first sportsmen's show in the Pacific Northwest went off without a hitch in Redmond, Oregon earlier this month and that sets the stage for what will be the largest sportsmen's show in the nation to occur between March 24 and 28 at the Expo Center in Portland. That would be the Pacific Northwest Sportsmen's Show, combined with the Portland Boat Show. The event is expected to draw thousands of socially distanced and masked attendees from all over Oregon and Washington interested in booking trips, getting deals from retailers or dealers and learning new skills at seminars. Tickets can only be purchased online – and for specific times – at thesports-hows.com

BERKLEY BIG BASS TOURNAMENT – The Berkley Big Bass Tournament, canceled twice due to Covid pandemic restrictions, is “a go” for April 10. So far 87 teams are signed up for this one-day event taking place at MarDon Resort and Potholes Reservoir. The rules are interesting. You are only allowed to fish with Berkley hard baits and soft baits. Every hour, for seven hours, the biggest bass weighed in is worth $3,000 (if caught by an angler using an Abu Garcia rod or reel). At the end of the tournament, each of the hourly winners is given an envelope. One of those envelopes will have a piece of paper with a single word on it... SKEETER. Whatever team is holding that envelope will win a Skeeter fiberglass bass boat from Nixon's Marine valued at over $42,000. I'll be fishing this tournament with my best friend. However, if Las Vegas bookies were making odds on our chances of winning, I'm guessing they would be about 300 to 1.

COLUMBIA GORGE FISHING PICKING UP – Wendy Boyer at Gorge Outfitters Supply in Rufus says walleye fishing has been picking up for anglers on the Columbia River and increasing numbers of smallmouth bass are being caught as well. Washington state creel checks from the weekend of March 13th confirm that. In The Dalles Pool seven bank anglers kept five walleye and 59 walleye were caught by anglers fishing from 27 boats. Bank anglers in the John Day Pool struck out but for boat anglers the fishing was solid with anglers in 103 boats catching 211 walleye and

57 bass. MULTI SEASON HUNT TAGS DUE SOON – Tagging out on a deer or elk is not always an easy thing to do in the Evergreen State but one way to improve your odds is to hunt for more than one season this fall. That's where the multi-season hunt tag comes into play.

You have until March 31 to enter into a drawing for one of these tags and it only costs $7.10 if you are resident hunter to do so (per species).

A random drawing will occur in mid-April and if you win, you'll get to purchase this special tag which enables you to participate in not only the general rifle season this year, but also the archery and muzzleloader seasons as well. You still only get to harvest one deer (and/or elk) each season, but having the ability to hunt all three seasons definitely increases your odds of bringing home meat instead of eating lean tag soup.

The applications can be purchased online through the WDFW website or from authorized license dealers.

SPRING TURKEY PROSPECTS – Spring turkey hunting season is just around the corner with a youth taking place April 3 and 4 and the general hunt opener happening on April 15. That means now is the time to pattern that shotgun (using a life-sized turkey paper target of course) and buy your new license with a turkey tag. It's also time to start scouting and contacting private landowners to seek permission to hunt on their property.

Treating the side effects of medicines

My doctor started me on medicine for my diabetes last week. Ever since then, I've had loose stools. My wife thinks I should take some over-the-counter diarrhea medicine for it, but I'm not so sure. Is that okay? – Jack.

Should you treat a side effect from taking a medicine with another medication?

Good question, Jack. The answer depends on how severe or dangerous the new symptom or side effect is and how important it is to continue taking the medicine which most likely created your problem. Some medications are more important than others, like the difference between stopping an allergy pill compared to an antibiotic.

First, is the side effect you are experiencing severe or mild? Drugs can trigger many types of unpleasant reactions, from annoying to life-threatening. Side effects can range from a sour stomach or headache to blotchy hives and swelling of the tongue and throat.

An allergic reaction to a medicine can show up unexpectedly, even if you have taken it previously with no problems. An antibiotic like amoxicillin can be taken for years with no problem whatsoever. Yet, the next dose could trigger a severe allergic reaction.

Most side effects caused by medication aren't nearly as dramatic as breathing problems. Many are just temporary inconveniences and resolve within a week of taking a new medicine. Other side effects can be successfully addressed by adjusting the dose of the drug.

With Jack's issue of diarrhea from a new medicine, he is not alone. Several medications used to treat diabetes can cause loose stools and diarrhea. To minimize this inconvenient side effect, doctors will start with the lowest dose. As your body tolerates it, the amount is gradually increased until your blood sugar is under control or you're taking the maximum recommended dose. Jack's loose stools should improve within a week or so, and he can safely use a non-prescription anti-diarrhea medicine until then.

If you experience side effects after starting a new medicine or after a dose increase, always let your doctor know right away. The drug dose could be temporarily decreased to give your body more time to get used to it.

In some cases, side effects are not just annoying or uncomfortable but critical warning signs of something more serious. One example is having diarrhea when taking an antibiotic, especially if the diarrhea is severe or persists after you have finished the entire course.

When a drug triggers a side effect, another consideration is how important it is for you to stay on a medication that could be causing side effects. Heart medicines and antibiotics are examples of drugs that should not be stopped abruptly unless you experience a severe reaction or under your doctor's advice.

Here are 6 tips on treating side effects of medicines:

1. Document when you take your first dose.

The best way to tell if a new symptom is caused by medicine is to verify that it showed up AFTER you started taking it.

2. Call 911 for any severe allergic reaction.

Shortness of breath or swelling or itching of your mouth are signs of a severe and life-threatening reaction. Don't call your doctor; call 911.

3. Inform your doctor.

Most primary care clinics have an “after-hours” phone number or an answering service that answers phone calls that come in after they are closed for the day.

If you experience a rash, itching, or hives, DON'T take any more medicine. Contact your doctor immediately, instead. If you develop any mouth or tongue swelling or tingling or any problems breathing, call 911 instead of your doctor.

4. Know when to re-dose. If you vomit more than 30 minutes after taking your medicine, DO NOT REDOSE. After 30 minutes, your body has had enough time to absorb most of the drug. Nausea is the most common side effect of antibiotics, and they can't help you if you don't absorb the entire dose.

Try eating something bland or drinking something soothing, then repeat the dose in about an hour. If you vomit it up again, contact your doctor right away to get a different antibiotic, even if it is after hours.

5. Don't mix liquid antacids with antibiotics.

Liquid antacids like Maalox and Mylanta contain minerals that bind to many antibiotics, preventing them from being fully absorbed.

6. Apply medicated patches to alternative sites.

To reduce skin irritation, try applying medicated patches to your buttocks instead of your abdomen. Pre-medicating a new patch site with non-prescription hydrocortisone 1% cream or Voltaren gel may also help prevent itching.

'Tax day' now May 17: Treasury, IRS extend filing, payment deadline

SUBMITTED BY THE IRS

WASHINGTON — The Treasury Department and Internal Revenue Service announced last week that the federal income tax filing due date for individuals for the 2020 tax year will be automatically extended from April 15 to May 17. The IRS will be providing formal guidance in the coming days.

“This continues to be a tough time for many people, and the IRS wants to continue to do everything possible to help taxpayers navigate the unusual circumstances related to the pandemic, while also working on important tax administration responsibilities,” said IRS Commissioner Chuck Rettig.

“Even with the new deadline, we urge taxpayers to consider filing as soon as possible, especially those who are owed refunds. Filing electronically with direct deposit is the quickest way to get refunds, and it can help some taxpayers more quickly receive any remaining stimulus payments they may be entitled to.”

Individual taxpayers can also postpone federal income tax payments for the 2020 tax year due on April 15, 2021, to May 17, 2021, without penalties and interest, regardless of the amount owed.

This postponement applies to individual taxpayers, including individuals who pay self-employment tax. Penalties, interest and additions to tax will begin to accrue on any remaining unpaid balances as of May 17. Individual taxpayers will automatically avoid interest and penalties on the taxes paid by May 17.

Individual taxpayers do not need to file any forms or call the IRS to qualify for this automatic federal tax filing and payment relief. Individual taxpayers who need additional time to file beyond the May 17 deadline can request a filing extension until Oct. 15 by filing Form 4868 through their tax professional, tax software or using the Free File link on IRS.gov. Filing Form 4868 gives taxpayers until Oct. 15 to file their 2020 tax return but does not grant an extension of time to pay taxes due. Taxpayers should pay their federal income tax due by May 17, to avoid interest and penalties.

The IRS urges taxpayers who are due a refund to file as soon as possible. Most tax refunds associated with e-filed returns are issued within 21 days.

This relief does not apply to estimated tax payments that are due on April 15. These payments are still due on April 15. Taxes must be paid as taxpayers earn or receive income during the year, either through withholding or estimated tax payments.

In general, estimated tax payments are made quarterly to the IRS by people whose income isn't subject to income tax withholding, including self-employment income, interest, dividends, alimony or rental income. Most taxpayers automatically have their taxes withheld from their paychecks and submitted to the IRS by their employer.

State tax returns
The federal tax filing deadline postponement to May 17, 2021, only applies to individual federal income returns and tax (including tax on self-employment income) payments otherwise due April 15, not state tax payments or deposits or payments of any other type of federal tax. Taxpayers also will need to file income tax returns in 42 states plus the District of Columbia. State filing and payment deadlines vary and are not always the same as the federal filing deadline. The IRS urges taxpayers to check with their state tax agencies for those details.
