Salvation Army Red Kettle Campaign adapts to 2020 realities with drive-through event on Dec. 12

SUBMITTED BY JULIE M. MCCOY, RED KETTLE BELL CAMPAIGN

CHELAN - Like so many things in 2020, the local Salvation Army Red Kettle Holiday campaign will look very different this year. Thanks to the generosity of Campbell's Resort, the event will be a "drive-through" fundraiser in the Campbell's parking lot and will take place on Saturday, Dec. 12, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. As always, plenty of bell ringers will be on site bearing Holiday cheer, albeit from a safe distance. Donors will be directed to enter Campbell's parking lot from Woodin on the Southeast corner of the property and to exit on Manson Highway to the North. Donations will be touchless, with a large Red Kettle for donations replacing the smaller ones that in past years were placed at Chelan Safeway and Manson Red Apple. Donors will be directed to the supersized Kettle, where they may deposit their donations before picking up breakfast or lunch (available for purchase) from Campbell's Pub and Veranda should they so choose.

As always, all donations will remain entirely local. The proceeds will assist the clients of Chelan Valley Hope regarding the purchase of a glass crusher for $50,000 that would grind glass bottles into a fine product suitable for several applications including for use in sand traps on the city golf course.

The project would be a partnership between the Chelan Valley Wine Alliance, city of Chelan, Lake Chelan Rotary Club and possibly even involve input, financially and otherwise, from the Chelan County Board of County Commissioners.

Councilman Ty Witt said he believes there should be no problem getting volunteers to man the crushing station on a week-to-week basis and that the investment would be paid back quickly.

A possible funding source for the project would be the addition of a small charge to future winery licenses.

Councilmen Chris Baker,

John Olson and Erin McCordle as well as Witt, also a Rotarian, decided that a more detailed plan would be welcomed from the Rotary in order to also get County Commission input into the project.

Witt and Olson were happy about the huge amount of taxpayer input about the project, noting that 57 comments were received from the public in the positive column with only one against.

Councilman Tim Hollingsworth also stated it was important to get county cooperation for the project as it was fulfilling a regional recycling role, but the city was paying for it.

Learn about Climate Resiliency Strategy report during public meetings Dec. 2, 3

WENATCHEE - A multi-year effort that brought together more than 100 people from organizations throughout Chelan County has resulted in a draft Climate Resiliency Strategy report that builds a foundation for future climate resilience and adaptation work. It outlines strategies in several topic areas - including wildfire, snowpack and streamflow, flooding, and water supply - and calls out next steps for implementation and coordination.

The community will have opportunities to hear more details about the report and provide input during two upcoming meetings:

Wed., Dec. 2 - 9 a.m. to Noon

Thurs., Dec. 3 - 9 a.m. to Noon

The climate resilience planning effort aims to achieve two benefits: 1) improved communication and coordination, and 2) opportunities to advance projects that provide multiple benefits. Each of the four topic areas - wildfire, snowpack and streamflow, flooding and water supply - outlines how community partners are preparing for change, along with additional input from the planning team and the community engagement process.

"Although the projected impacts of climate change can seem dire, our future doesn't have to be," said Mike Kaputa, director of the Chelan County Natural Resource Department. "We have choices that can prevent the worst impacts of climate change."

In addition to the two December meetings, a round table meeting will be held in early 2021.

(CVH), who have been particularly challenged in this difficult year of COVID. Chelan Valley Hope is a grass-roots 501(c)(3) which provides those in crisis with a "hand up, not a hand out," tailoring a specific plan for each client in need. CVH was established in 2009 in response to a myriad of unserved local needs and is now in its 11th year serving the Chelan Valley. CVH currently serves an average of 700 to 1,000 clients annually, assisting with emergency shelter, housing resources, rent and utility assistance, vouchers for gas and groceries, car repairs, non-food pantry items, warm coats and gloves, and much more. In 2020, CVH has been called upon to assist those disproportionately im-acted by the Coronavirus, as well as families who tragically lost homes and possessions during the recent wildfires. As the virus continues to rage, the needs will continue to mount and undoubtedly to overwhelm some of our neighbors. This year's Salvation Army Kettle campaign seeks to "rescue Christmas" for some of the most vulnerable in our community.

Please plan to "drive through" your donation to the 2020 Red Kettle at Campbell's on Dec. 12 and take part in some old-fashioned holiday cheer while supporting a worthy cause. And if you're interested in serving as a volunteer, please contact Kettle Coordinator Julie McCoy at julie@juliemccoylaw.com or 949-422-2819. Planning is underway for a safe event for donors and volunteers alike.

Tri-Commission meeting focused on fiber, wildfires

By GARY BÉGIN
MANAGING EDITOR

WENATCHEE (via Zoom) – Commissioners from three government entities in two counties as well as several guest speakers, met virtually Tuesday, Nov. 24 to discuss regional issues pertinent to both Chelan and Douglas counties.

The newly combined Chelan-Douglas Regional Port Authority, Chelan County Commissioners, and the Chelan County Public Utility District (PUD) spoke to each other via Zoom about:

- Perspectives on the 2021 Legislative Session
- 2021 TriCommission Legislative Priorities
- Public Works Board/Trust
- Fiber Buildout and Funding
- Tri-Commission Updates
- Chelan County Commission Climate Resiliency Strategy, update on COVID 19 Impacts, 2021 Business Plan
- Chelan Douglas Regional Port Authority, Economic Development Project update, Malaga Site (Lojo Orchards), update on COVID-19 Impacts, 2021 Business Plan
- Chelan County PUD Fiber Acceleration; 2021 Buildout, update on COVID-19 impacts, 2021 Business Plan

Chelan County Commissioner Bob Bugert spoke about wildfires, decline in snowpack, water supply and other impacts caused by climate change. He expressed hope that future partnerships with other government and NGO's would result in mitigating all of the above.

Chelan County Commissioner Kevin Overbay said the county was working with the Chelan-Douglas Health District and received $8 million for various COVID-19 relief efforts aimed at businesses and organizations. Overbay also said the county has distributed $500,000 to non-profits around the county as well as $250,000 to several fire/ems functions.

He mentioned COVID-19 vaccines could be ready by mid-December. Medical workers, especially long term care facility workers and patients, would be given priority.

Jim Kuntz, executive director of the Chelan-Douglas Regional Port Authority, said his entity bought 72.5 acres in Malaga at 5375 Malaga-Alcoa Highway for slightly less than $1.4 million, which averages to around $19,000 per acre.

He said the land was a much needed addition to low land inventories currently carried by the Port. Kuntz stated that a water hookup was about one mile away. He also said another parcel was located in Douglas County that was equally valuable to add so that Chelan-Douglas with remain competitive with Grant County as far as attracting new business ventures.

Kuntz also said Pangborn Airport was at negative 66.7 percent of passenger traffic, but that was actually better than many other airports around the state. The average is negative 79 percent.

He also expressed satisfaction that Pangborn flights remained at two per day, on par with all of the larger airports, even though Wenatchee is a much smaller market.

Talks are still ongoing with United Airlines, Skywest, Boutique Air and Alaska Airlines for other direct flights, but for some reason, Denver and Phoenix are the locations being mentioned the most.

As of this meeting, 880 checks totaling $4.2 million has been distributed to businesses in the bi-county region. The future bodes bright, according to meeting attendees, that the incoming Biden Administration will introduce a huge stimulus package, keeping the stock market and economy buzzing along at record high rates.

The Chelan County Commissioners decided not to raise the property tax rate by the 1 percent allowable by statute due to the dire straits of many small businesses and families.

Guest speakers State Senator Brad Hawkins and State Representative Mike Steele said they have spoken to Congressman Kim Schrier regarding getting more funding for fiber connections from federal coffers.

Hawkins offered to draft a letter to Schrier and said he thought it would show great solidarity and one-mindedness if all local elected officials in the area join in signing the letter.

It was suggested that Senator Maria Cantwell be contacted as she is a key link on U.S. Senate committees handling energy policies, especially if Democrats win the two runoff elections for U.S. Senate in Georgia, giving them a Senate majority and thus more power to that party to head these important committees.

Chelan PUD Executive Director Steve Wright stated that the utility was in the process of replacing wooden telephone poles with metal ones to aid in wildfire mitigation efforts, but that this program was costly and also will take a while to complete.

Wright stated it was a $5 million effort and was especially important to the Leavenworth area, which is listed by the state as a major hazardous area, highest risk in the state, pertaining to wildfires.

Wright said the PUD is hiring a consultant to identify best practices in regards to wildfire risk assessment. Wright said recent talks were encouraging with Washington State Director of Natural Resources Director Hillary Franz, which allows for less stringent rules for taking down "danger trees."

Several of the meeting participants wished retiring Chelan County Commissioner Doug England a happy retirement and thanked him for his many years of service to the county.

For more information on various aspects of this meeting, go to the Chelan PUD, County and Port websites.

Supporting charities in times of crisis

By DENISE SOROM

Denise Sorom

Have you ever noticed how nonprofit organizations talk about the importance of unrestricted donations? How they dream of donations that support their general operating needs and not specific programs? Those unrestricted dollars provide nonprofits with stability, but in uncertain times, they also allow nonprofits to be highly adaptable and respond to the needs of their communities. 2020 has been a case in point at the Community Foundation.

Fiscal year 2020 started when the world still seemed to be chugging along as usual. CFNCW was here to execute its traditional set of grants and scholarships supporting a wide range of causes and students throughout North Central Washington – it was business as usual.

When the world turned upside down on us in mid-March, we stopped in our tracks and asked ourselves how best we could address the many crises that were crashing down on our community. We paused all the programs that are funded from our unrestricted dollars and created a series of initiatives to put our broken community back together.

• Helping Hands Grants were redefined to provide emergency assistance to nonprofits who were seeing huge spikes in demand due to the economic collapse that COVID spawned. Since March, over $147,000 of Helping Hands Grants have gone to local nonprofits and this is just the beginning.

• The Back to Basics campaign was conceived to help school districts support their most vulnerable students who were suffering due to school closures. Over $106,000 was granted to schools so they can help students with food, clothing, shoes, school supplies, personal hygiene products and other basic needs.

• The Nonprofit Reemergence Grant program was developed to aid our charitable sector as they adjust to the new realities of social distancing and the collapse of live, in-person programming.

• When the fires hit in September, we launched the NCW Fire Relief Fund to responsibly collect the charitable dollars that come rushing in during natural disasters and more importantly, ensure that those dollars directly help fire survivors rebuild their lives and livelihoods.

Through regular and frequent calls with leaders at a wide range of charitable organizations, we developed a keen understanding of what the nonprofit community was facing and how we could best help them weather the storm.

We forged partnerships with city and county leaders to make sure that charitable dollars did not overlap with governmental aid; and we developed unique collaborations to make sure that public and private dollars were making their way to the people who needed them most.

There is no way we could have done all this without the donors who have supported the Community Foundation over the years. The flexibility of unrestricted donations empowered our team to use its expertise to make our philanthropy not just responsive but anticipatory.

For those of you who enjoy supporting charitable causes, we urge you to consider unrestricted gifts to your favorite nonprofits. When you make your gift, simply note that the donation is unrestricted or to be used where it is needed most. If you are interested in supporting the Community Foundation in this way, you can become a Partner In Giving (or a "PIG" as we affectionately call them) with a donation of $50 or more or you can consider leaving a legacy gift in your will as all endowed funds help CFNCW do its grant-making work every year.

In the end, the real heroes of this story are YOU – the donors who chose to support charitable causes – who are stepping up to support this community when it needs you.

Coldwell Banker Cascades Real Estate supports local food banks, toy drives

SUBMITTED BY COLDWELL BANKER CASCADES REAL ESTATE

CHELAN/WENATCHEE - Coldwell Banker Cascade Real Estate, the leading residential real estate firm in Central Washington, has continued their investment in community non-profits this holiday season.

The firm made donations totaling $10,000 to local non-profit organizations this month, helping families provide necessities, food, and toys for the holiday season. Coldwell Banker Cascade Real Estate operates full-service real estate offices in Wenatchee, Chelan, and Winthrop and has served north central Washington residents for over 40 years.

Coldwell Banker Cascade donated $4,000 to Serve Wenatchee's Fresh Hope Market, a local community food bank that provides a variety of items a family may need to fill the gaps month to month, ranging from food to hygiene products.

"Our firm was happy to support the great work of Serve Wenatchee. The Fresh Hope Market allows families to choose the fresh produce, meats, baked goods, and other food items they want and need. It's a great model," said Adam Rynd, owner and designated broker of Coldwell Banker Cascade Real Estate. The donation was made in conjunction with a local REALTORS® campaign that raised over $22,000 from several real estate firms.

An additional $4,000 donation was sent to the Manger Mall operated by Chelan Valley Hope and a $2,000 donation was made to the Manger Mall operated by The Cove Methow Valley. Both Chelan and Methow Valley Manger Malls provide toys to children, ages infant to 18, who may otherwise not receive presents on Christmas.

"Our Lake Chelan office has supported Manger Mall with toy donations for several years," said Rynd. "This year they were unable to collect toys. We felt it was especially important to help their efforts and expand our support to the Methow Valley. The cash donations provide gift certificates that local families can use in small businesses, helping both the recipients and businesses that are struggling due to the pandemic."

The holiday season can be a difficult time of year for countless families who work hard to provide for their loved ones. This year has been particularly challenging for many families due to increased unemployment from pandemic-related business closures. These donations from Coldwell Banker Cascade Real Estate are aimed at easing financial and emotional pressure on families working hard to make ends meet.

As the COVID-19 pandemic and related restrictions continue - Coldwell Banker Cascade Real Estate felt it was important to partner with all three local non-profit organizations to support their community efforts.

Deadline to comment on proposed gravel pit on Hwy 97A at Chelan city limits is Dec. 5

The Chelan County Department of Community Development is considering an application for a Conditional Use Permit (CUP 20-017) for an open mine gravel pit just north of the intersection of Hwy 97A and Willmorth Drive, at the top of the hill beyond Walmart, adjacent to the city limits.

The application is titled "a short term mineral extraction", but the application specifies that this is an open mine gravel pit. The intention is to extract one million cubic yards of rock and gravel and crush it on site over the next six years. The pit could be up to 250 feet deep. Up to 50 trucks per day would visit the site.

The intended open mine/gravel pit operation conflicts with the historical use and existing zoning of this property (Rural Residential 20) and adjacent properties (Rural Residential 5). Numerous adjacent home owners would suffer loss of use, and loss of value of their property, due to noise and dust.

The general public, using Hwy 97A, would be subjected to increased noise, dust, and risk of accident and injury while using Hwy 97A if this CUP is approved. The Hwy 97A access for this property is at the crest of a hill (from both directions) with limited sight distance, high speeds, and slow/turning traffic at the intersection with Willmorth Drive, with no turn lane.

The site is also directly adjacent to one of three major access points into our valley and the City of Chelan. Having an open mine/gravel pit at one of the entrances to our valley and City certainly does not send a welcoming message.

If this concerns you, or you would like more information, please contact the Chelan County Department of Community Development, 509-667-6225. Comments, by mail or e-mail, are due by Dec. 5, 2020. E-mail jamie.strother@co.chelan.wa.us.

A copy of the application is available on-line at: <https://co.chelan-wa.smartgovcommunity.com/PublicNotice/PublicNoticeSearch>

If you have time to review this issue and comment to the County Dept. of Community Development, that would be great.

Charitable promotion to benefit Community Center at Lake Chelan

Subaru of America designates CCLC as local donation recipient

SUBMITTED BY SEVEN ACRES FOUNDATION

CHELAN - Seven Acres Foundation, developers of the forthcoming Community Center at Lake Chelan (CCLC), has been designated as the local charity for the Subaru

"Share The Love" event, a major annual promotion put on by Subaru of America. Each year, Cascade Subaru in Wenatchee identifies an area non-profit organization to receive special recognition in the form of a charitable donation for each automobile sold within the promotion period.

More specifically, here's how the event works. When anyone purchases a new or pre-owned certified Subaru from Cascade Auto Center from Nov. 19, to Jan. 4, 2021, they will be asked which of five different organizations they would like to have receive a $250 cash donation from Subaru of America. The group of possible donees includes four national charities and one local non-profit. This year's national organizations are Make-A-Wish Foundation, the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA), Meals on Wheels and the National Park Foundation. In addition to these four, Cascade Subaru selects a different area non-profit each year for the event, and this time around the Seven Acres Foundation has been chosen in support of the Community Center at Lake Chelan.

Ben Williams, Board Chairman of Seven Acres, said his group is especially honored to be designated as the local organization. "So many residents in the expansive Chelan Valley area will benefit from the Community Center, with its full-size gymnasium, 25-yard all-weather swimming pool, auditorium, kids and teens play centers, meeting rooms, etc. This facility is desperately needed, and as we've now moved forward into the construction phase of our project, we can't possibly thank Cascade Subaru enough for including us in their impressive group of five potential charitable recipients. Due to the Coronavirus pandemic, fundraising has been exceptionally challenging this year, especially for local non-profits such as ours. We've done surprisingly well despite this massive COVID-19 hurdle, but every dollar in the future is vitally important."

For more information regarding this event, visit www.cascadesubaru.com. To learn more about or donate directly to the Community Center at Lake Chelan, please go to www.ccatlakechelan.org or contact Raye Evans, Executive Director of the Seven Acres Foundation at raye@sevenacresfoundation.org.

Community solar success in Leavenworth

SUBMITTED BY LISA THERRELL

LEAVENWORTH - For six years now the sun has shined down on the 96 solar panels atop the roof of the Icicle River Middle School in Leavenworth. The energy captured from that sunlight has generated 147,424 kilowatt hours of electricity in those six years, which after running through four inverters, was put back into the energy grid. Local donors and investors funded the Icicle River Middle School Community Solar Project in 2014, with the project conclusion occurring this year.

The project was made possible through the Washington State Renewable Energy System Cost Recovery program, which was established to promote solar manufacturing in the state. The Icicle River Middle School project was the first and only community solar project in Chelan County, organized by the Earth Stewardship Group at Faith Lutheran Church in Leavenworth.

The project, which by design had to go onto a public property that was not federal, was funded by 20 donors and a total of 39 investors. Investors received cost recovery payments on an annual basis from the Chelan County Public Utility District for the remaining six years of the program, at the rate of $1.08 per kilowatt hour produced. This enabled investors to fully recover their investment and enjoy a modest rate of return. The P.U.D. then received a tax credit from the state.

In addition, the Cascade School District receives SNAP payments for the electricity produced. As of March 2020, the district had received a total of $8,666.92. Started in 2001, the SNAP program is designed to help make small-scale solar and wind power more cost-effective for customers. The program connects customers who want to produce solar and wind power with other local customers who want to support the development of new, renewable energy.

Courtesy Lisa Therrell

There are 96 solar panels atop the roof of the Icicle River Middle School in Leavenworth.

Jim White, Senior Energy Efficiency Engineer for the Chelan County P.U.D., says "to me, this community solar project is the truest form of public power. It is power generated by the public for the public."

For the project organizers, this was never about making money. John and Mary Schramm of Leavenworth were among ten project investors that were also donors. "We feel the environmental crisis, including climate change, is the most critical issue we face at this time," says Mary Schramm. "We therefore feel that any step we can take is important. We thought this project was especially significant and we're happy to be a part of it."

The project even helped Faith Lutheran attract its new pastor. Pastor Nancy Gradwohl says, "It was seeing faith in action that led me to answer the call to serve as pastor at Faith Lutheran. The congregation is active in social justice and Creation justice, as exemplified by spearheading the solar project at the middle school."

After the project concluded on June 30, the ownership of the solar installation transferred to Cascade School District. Because the electricity goes back into the grid, the Chelan County Public Utility District will reimburse the school district for energy produced based on off-peak market prices. The district will also continue to receive SNAP payments.

"We are very thankful this project was installed on Icicle River Middle School," says Mike Janski, principal of the school. "It is wonderful visual of how easy it can be to generate electricity. It also provides our School District with a monthly benefit that is appreciated today and into the future."

The project concluded without any major glitches. The years with more cloud cover, snow cover, or smoke had less energy production than the years where panels were clear. And the panels will keep on working for up to 50 years, with photons busily knocking electrons free from atoms inside the photovoltaic cells, creating electricity in the process.

THE WASHINGTON OUTDOORS REPORT

Fishing and hunting roundup

By JOHN KRUSE, THE WASHINGTON OUTDOOR REPORT

Fishing Reports:

Bob Loomis, Sales Director for Mack's Lure, went out with three friends to Banks Lake recently to try their luck for walleye. Their short afternoon of fishing went very well. Fishing metal Sonic Baitfish lures as blade baits they caught over 35 walleye averaging 20 inches in size. Loomis reports they were fishing ¼ ounce jigs 35 to 52 feet deep. The hot color? Glow white.

Rowland Lake in Klickitat County was planted on Nov. 18 and 19 with some 2500 trout from the Goldendale hatchery. What's impressive is the size of the fish put in here. The smaller rainbows weigh over a pound and the largest are tipping the scales at nearly nine pounds.

Pete Fischer at MarDon Resort shares the overall mild temperatures of November makes a fishing trip to Potholes Reservoir a worthwhile prospect. The fishing may not be on fire but largemouth bass and walleye fishing is fair and both species can be found at depths of 10 to 28 feet. One place where you can catch both species is the face of the sand dunes at the northwest end of the lake where a series of underwater humps provide structure for these fish.

If you want to go after trout here you have two choices. Boat anglers trolling #7 Berkley Flicker Shad plugs in various patterns are catching rainbows in front of the state park while shore anglers are having luck dunking marshmallows, powerbait and worms about 18 inches off the bottom at Medicare Beach on the east side of the reservoir. Find out more details about what patterns and lures are working best now at the MarDon Resort General Store.

Hunting Reports:

Pheasant hunters, to include yours truly, did not see or hear many pheasant in the Swakane Wildlife Area in Chelan County or the Quincy Wildlife Area in Grant County in the week prior to Thanksgiving. Typically, roosters are planted at release sites throughout Eastern Washington for a final time during this week but birds were few and far between for most hunters. The average hunter I spoke with didn't flush more than one pheasant per outing despite using dogs. WDFW biologists were unavailable for comment about whether less birds were released or not this November because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Courtesy John Kruse

On the waterfowl front Shelby Ross, owner of Ross Outdoor Adventures, says there are lots of ducks in the Columbia Basin and around Potholes Reservoir. Shelby says, "If there is wind the hunting is good. If not, it's tough." However, with colder weather coming Shelby expects a fresh push of northern birds and those birds will congregate to areas of open water as smaller ponds freeze up in the days ahead.

As for geese there are lots of them in the basin but they have been difficult to target during the mild fall days as their feeding times and locations have been unpredictable. Colder weather and freezing temperatures will make hunting better as the geese become more predictable as to when they head to the fields to feed.

Meanwhile, in Northeast Washington Daniel at Clark's All Sports in Colville reports turkey hunting remains good this fall and this should remain a solid prospect as long as the weather holds. As for the deer; hunters are seeing more bucks than last year but over all the numbers harvested appear to be below average.

Finally, Dan McCredy, owner of the McCredy Company Store in Goldendale, says not a lot of turkey were taken during the fall season in Klickitat County. The general deer season this fall was also very slow with not a lot of animals harvested. Part of this could be due to the lower number of deer and turkey hunters seen in the region this season. On other hand, there is high interest and a great deal of participation in the muzzle loader season for elk in Western Washington now with the areas around Trout Lake and Glenwood in particular drawing good numbers of hunters.

NCESD receives $35,000 grant for Creative Start Regional Grant supporting arts integration efforts in Early Learning Communities

WENATCHEE - The North Central Educational Service District (NCESD) has been awarded a grant of $35,000 to support and develop professional learning opportunities in arts integration that serve students and educators in preschool through 3rd grade.

This award is part of the Washington State Arts Commission Creative Start Regional Grants program which supports regional partnerships between Educational Service Districts, school districts, teaching artists, and early learning educators.

The North Central Educational Service District will work with the Apple STEM Network, Palisades School District, and other partners to offer two types of professional learning opportunities: Arts Integration Champion Cohorts and a series of stand alone Arts Integration workshops for early learning educators.

Arts Integration Champion Cohorts will participate in focused coaching cycles and engage in ongoing learning to support specific goals. Early Learning partners from other educational service districts (ESDs) have voiced interest in participating in a Train-the-Trainer Arts Integration Champions Cohort. This would allow staff from other regions to learn together and build local capacity for promoting arts integration practices. Migrant Early Learning partners from multiple regions have also expressed a desire to form a cohort to explore the intersection of arts integration and migrant education. These cohorts will dramatically increase the reach of this project outside of the North Central region.

Recognizing that early learning providers are entering this work at different levels of understanding, with different outside obligations, and with different, and with varying capacity to engage in new learning, this grant will also provide Stand Alone Professional Learning Opportunities. These workshops will be available to all members of the early learning community, with a focus on engaging Family, Friend, and Neighbor caregivers in a variety of ways.

Considering the principles for effective adult learning, this program will embrace arts integration (AI) practices within the arms of initiatives familiar to educators. This will allow teachers to more easily identify the "why", to feel more prepared to learn new practices, and to experience new learning through the lens of prior experiences. Two primary initiatives that will be woven into this work are Universal Design for Learning and Social Emotional Learning.

Capitalizing on the strong connection between Arts Integration and Universal Design for Learning (UDL), we expect to see increased implementation of inclusionary practices. Arts integration is powerfully aligned with the principles of UDL; the arts provide multiple ways for students to express and demonstrate their understandings, and multiple ways to engage students in learning experiences.

The arts are also a vehicle for Social Emotional Learning (SEL). Data from 2019 WaKIDS (Washington Kindergarten Inventory of Developing Skills) Whole-Child Assessment indicates that 79% of children entered kindergarten "ready" in the area of social emotional development and more than 20% of children entered with skills typical of 0-3 year olds. Arts-based SEL professional learning aims to close gaps in this area of development.

Josie Komorowski, Early Learning (P-3) Coordinator at the North Central Educational Service District, shares that, "there has not yet been an intensive regional platform for arts integration in early learning. Bringing an intentional focus to arts integration will allow other efforts to come together on a connected path leading towards improved quality of life, amplified celebrations of diversity, and greater success in school and beyond for our youngest learners, their families, and communities. This program will bring identity, cultural heritage, stories, and self to the picture. The arts help us feel connection and recognition and allow us to bridge division in our communities. We need this now more than ever."

The Washington State Arts Commission Creative Start Regional Grant will enable the North Central Educational Service District and its partners to:

Establish cohorts for ongoing professional learning opportunities

Offer stand alone professional learning opportunities

Engage in coaching cycles based on data with cohort participants

Highlight the importance of the arts in inclusionary practices and social emotional learning

Very Successful Business for Sale

My wife and I have decided to retire and have chosen to sell our business Your Family Name. Go to our website: www.yfn.net and see some of the products we sell.

Since opening in 2006 with the "Name Store". We have added some new great selling products. Our most popular are the Rhythm Magic Motion clocks, House of Jerky products and Almond Blossom nuts. We have 2 great employees and are great at running the store in our absence. People come into the store all the time and say "Oh we have been here before, we just like to come in when in town and checkout all your great and new stuff." We have a lot of repeat customers who love coming in for the Nuts and Jerky. We are not asking any "Blue Sky" payment for the store. We are just asking for someone to purchase the inventory at cost and take over this well-established business. The inventory will run in the area of $20K. As they say, the 3 things important to any business is Location, Location, and Location. This business is located at 933 Front Street, Suite D. Leavenworth—meaning traffic to our store is excellent. If interested, we can make ourselves available to you for training, or you can take advantage of our already trained employees, who are willing to stay on. Call Duane, 509-423-0553.
